fly gee noun in circus and carnival usage, a clever, sarcastic, sophisticated man with a flexible approach to the truth US, 1981 fly girl noun an attractive, sexually alluring young woman US, 1986 fly-in noun an extravagant party for homosexual men in which men fly in to the party from all parts of the country US, 1982 flying adjective 1 experiencing the euphoric or mind-altering effects of a drug. A shortened form of 'flying high' or 'flying in the clouds' US, 1942. 2 making great progress, doing exceedingly well IRELAND, 1992. 3 in poker, full, as in a full house US, 1967 flying a noun an extremely obnoxious person. The 'a' is usually understood as ASSHOLE US, 1968 flying arse noun nothing at all, the very least amount. A variation of FLYING FUCK UK, 2002 flying banana nickname 1 a military transport helicopter, especially the Piasecki HRP US, 1950. 2 an H-21 helicopter. Vietnam war usage with variant 'banana' US, 1957 flying boxcar nickname a transport aircraft, especially a C-119 US, 1918 flying brick noun any heavy aircraft that is difficult to control US, 1944 flying brickyard nickname the Orbiter Space Shuttle. A derisive reference to the 34,000 heat resistant tiles designed to protect the craft during re-entry to the earth's atmosphere; construction began in 1975, and the first mission was flown in 1983 US, 1994 flying carpet noun a livery taxi. New York police slang; an allusion to the large number of immigrant drivers US, 1997 flying coffin noun any dangerous aircraft, such as a glider used by paratroopers. A reference to the gliders' vulnerability to artillery US, 1918 flying douche noun ► take a flying douche used as an intense expression of 'go to hell' US, 1965 flying duck used for all senses of 'fuck'. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 flying Dutchman noun a drug dealer US, 1992

Flying Edsel nickname ► see: EDSEL flying firetruck noun nothing, the very least amount. A barely euphemistic variation of FLYING FUCK UK, 2003 flying flapjack nickname the XF5 U-1 experimental military hovering aircraft US, 1973 flying fox noun a device for crossing or transporting goods across rivers, ravines, or the like AUSTRALIA, 1901 flying fuck noun nothing at all, the very least amount. Usually couched in the negative US, 1946. ► take a flying fuck get lost! US, 1926 flying fuckland noun a fantasy world; used for registering disbelief UK, 2000 flying gas station; gas station in the sky nickname a KC-135 aircraft used for inflight refuelling of jet aircraft US, 1991

Flying Horsemen nickname during the war in Vietnam, the First Air Cavalry Division. An elite reconnaissance unit US, 1989

flying Jenny noun a US Army shortwave radar set US, 1947 flying lesson noun 1 the reported US and South Vietnamese practice of pushing suspected Viet Cong or captured North Vietnamese soldiers from helicopters to their death US, 1991. 2 the act of throwing a prisoner or guard off a high tier in a prison cellblock US, 1992 flying orders noun instructions given to a truck driver by a dispatcher US, 1971 flying Oscar nickname a Boeing-Vertol CH-47 helicopter, the US Army's prime cargo helicopter in Vietnam. So named because of the likeness to an Oscar Meyer™ hotdog US, 1991 flying pasty noun excrement, wrapped and thrown from a prison window. The term survives where modern sanitation is not easily available UK, 1996 flying prostitute nickname a B-26 bomber aircraft. Like the lady of the night, the B-26 had no visible means of support US, 1943 flying saucer noun a morning glory seed, thought to have psychoactive properties US, 1971 flying saucer cap noun a military service cap US, 1971 flying sheep's dick noun nothing at all, the very least amount UK, 1992 flying sixty-nine noun mutual and simultaneous oral sex. A variation of SOIXANTE-NEUF UK, 1984

flying squad noun a fast-moving, versatile group US, 1967 flying telephone pole; telephone pole nickname a surface-to-air missile, especially an SA-2. Vietnam war usage US, 1977 flying ten noun a ten-dollar advance on pay given to a soldier when newly assigned to a base US, 1956

Flying Tiger Air Force noun a collection of American mercenaries who flew air raids in support of Chiang Kai-shek's losing effort on mainland China US, 1971 flying triangle noun LSD UK, 2003

flying twenty-five noun a pay advance in the military US, 1956 flying wedge noun a group of people in a wedge-shaped formation, advancing rapidly into a crowd. A practice and term used by police, security workers and American football players US, 1970 fly in the ointment noun anything that spoils the perfection of a finished article. Of biblical inspiration (Ecclesiastes 10:1) UK, 1833 fly in the sky noun an aircraft, especially a police helicopter US, 1976

Flynn ► in like Flynn 1 easily, quickly, without effort US, 1945. 2 in poker, said of a player who bets before it is his turn US, 1951 fly-over noun the inability of a mail plane in rural Alaska to land and deliver mail US, 1972 fly's eyes noun the testicles semi-exposed through tight pants. It can also refer to the act of a male exposing his testicles by pulling his underwear tightly between them with the object of terrorising people with the spectacle AUSTRALIA, 2000 flyspeck noun Tasmania. A reference to the size of Tasmania relative to mainland Australia AUSTRALIA, 1966

flyspeck 3 noun any miniscule, unreadable font US, 1991 fly-trap noun the mouth UK, 1795

fnarr! fnarr! used for expressing amusement at a double entendre. A rote catchphrase response that, for a while, threatened to replace actual laughter with young people UK, 1997

FNF noun used by prison officers to categorise prisoners who are held as a result of a Friday night altercation. An initialism of 'Friday night fracas' UK, 1996

FNG noun a newly arrived soldier in Vietnam. A 'fucking new guy' US, 1966 fnudger noun a person who cheats at marbles by advancing over the shooting line. Perhaps an alteration of 'fudge' AUSTRALIA, 1974

FOAD used as shorthand in Internet discussion groups and text messages to mean 'fuck off and die' US, 2002

FOAF noun a friend of a friend. The most common source for an urban legend or other apocryphal story US, 1991 foaklies noun inexpensive imitations of Oakley™ sunglasses US, 2003 foam noun beer US, 1908 foamer noun 1 a railway fan whose love for railways is obsessive US, 2004. 2 a glass of beer US, 1959 foamie noun a surfboard made from polyurethane US, 1965 foaming at the mouth adjective very angry. From a symptom of utter madness UK, 1961 foamy noun a glass of beer US, 1983 foamy cleanser noun in hold 'em poker, an ace and a jack as the first two cards dealt to a particular player. Building on the synonymous AJAX, a branded cleaner and obvious homophonic leap from 'ace-jack' US, 1981

fob noun a Samoan NEW ZEALAND, 1998

FOB noun a foreign exchange student; an international student US, 1993

FOB adjective 1 lazy, inefficient; flat on his behind US, 1955. 2 fresh off the boat. An initialism usually applied to recent immigrants, but in the usage of Hawaiian youth applied to visitors to the islands US, 1981 focker noun a fucker (in all senses). Filtered through a Northern Ireland accent UK: NORTHERN IRELAND, 2001

focus noun vision, eyesight US, 1947

FOD noun foreign object damage to an aircraft US, 1989 foeitog!; foei tog! used as an exclamation of pity or sympathy, and as a cry of 'shame!'. An Afrikaans term, foei (shame) tog (nevertheless), that has some currency among speakers of South African English SOUTH AFRICA, 1910 fog noun 1 a person who is profoundly out of touch with current trends and his social peers US, 1983. 2 steam US, 1954 fog verb to shoot and kill someone US, 1913 fog and mist; foggy noun drunk. Rhyming slang for PISSED UK, 1992

fogey noun an increase in military pay US, 1878 foggy adjective ► haven't the foggiest to be unclear in your mind. With ellipsis of idea or notion UK, 1917 fogscotcher noun a rainbow appearing in a fog about to dissipate CANADA, 1963

fogy; fogey noun an old person with out-dated ideas and values UK, 1720 fogy; fogey adjective old-fashioned, or unusual. Recorded in use among Leicestershire teenagers UK, 1984 foil noun 1 a quantity of illegal drugs wrapped in aluminium foil AUSTRALIA, 1994. 2 heroin UK, 2003. ► put on the foil in ice hockey, to apply tinfoil layers (illegally) under the gloves to increase the impact of punches in fights CANADA, 1977

foilhead noun a person with highlighted hair US, 2001 fokkin adjective used as an intensifier. A variant spelling of 'fucking' based on Irish pronunciation UK, 2003 fold noun money UK, 2000 fold verb 1 to fail, to cease to be operational, used of a business venture or theatrical production UK, 1928. 2 in poker, to withdraw from a hand, forfeiting your bet US, 1963. ► fold hands to stop working TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 folded noun drunk US, 1997 folding; folding stuff; folding green noun paper money, hence money US, 1930 folding lettuce noun money, paper money. A lesser variant of FOLDING STUFF US, 1958

Folex noun an inexpensive imitation of a Rolex™ wristwatch US, 2003

folkie noun a folk singer or musician; a folk music enthusiast US, 1966 folknik noun a member of the folk music counterculture of the 1950s and 60s US, 1958 folks noun a group of your friends US, 1997 follies noun the Quarter Sessions. An ironic comparison between justice and vaudeville. The Courts Act 1971 replaced the Quarter Sessions with the Crown Courts UK, 1950 follow-cat noun a person who imitates others TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1982

follow-pattern adjective copied, derivative, imitative BARBADOS, 1965

follow through verb to accidentally defecate at the conclusion of a fart UK, 1997 follow your nose! a catchphrase addressed to a person seeking directions UK, 1664 follytricks noun politics JAMAICA, 2003

FoMoCo nickname the Ford Motor Company US, 1971 fond of her mother; good to her mother adjective homosexual. A euphemism based on a stereotype UK, 1992

f-one-j-one noun Fiji AUSTRALIA, 1996

fong noun 1 any alcoholic beverage NEW ZEALAND, 1985. 2 a kick. With variant 'fon' IRELAND, 1962

fonged adjective very drunk NEW ZEALAND, 1965

fonk noun a male homosexual BAHAMAS, 1982 foo noun in computing, used as an arbitrary, temporary name for something US, 1983 food noun bullets UK, 2001

foodaholic noun a compulsive eater US, 1965 food boat noun in prison, a financial alliance between several prisoners to pay for food UK, 1996 food chain noun a pecking order or hierarchy US, 1998 food coma noun the drowsiness often experienced after eating too much US, 1987 foodie noun a person who has a passionate interest in the latest trends in gourmet food UK, 1982 food stamps noun in poker, a player's cash reserved for household expenses pressed into action after he has lost his betting money US, 1996 foof noun the breast. Usually in the plural UK, 2002 foofoo noun 1 the vagina UK, 1998. 2 a prissy or girlish man US, 1848. 3 cologne, perfume US, 1928. 4 something that is purely decorative without adding functional value US, 1986 foofoo dust; foofoo stuff; foofoo noun 1 heroin US, 1998. 2 cocaine UK, 2002. 3 talcum powder. Also called 'foo stuff' and 'foofoo powder' UK, 1962 foof gas; phou gas noun an explosive mixture in a buried steel drum serving as a defence around the perimeter of a military base US, 1978 fook 'fuck' in all senses and forms. A phonetic rendering of accented English UK, 1997 fool noun used as a term of address, sometimes suggesting foolishness and sometimes not US, 1986 fool adjective silly, foolish; often a pejorative intensifier. In conventional use from C13 to late C19. Now especially used in the US, often in the phrase 'that fool thing' UK, 2003 fool around verb to have a casual sexual relationship US, 1937 fool file noun the mythical library of the stupidest things ever said US, 1991 fool-fool noun a simple-minded fool. By reduplication JAMAICA, 1994

foolio noun a fool; a social outcast US, 1994 foolish powder noun heroin; cocaine; any powdered drug US, 1930 fool killer noun a notional creature called upon to dispose of fools US, 1853 fools seldom differ used as a derogatory retort to the catchphrase 'great minds think alike' UK, 1977 foop noun ► one swell foop used as a humorous reversal of 'one fell swoop' US, 1972

foop verb to have sex BARBADOS, 1998

fooper noun a homosexual male. Apparently back-slang of POOF US, 1975

foops noun a fart TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 foot noun ► on the one foot in front of the other caper on the run UK, 1984. ► put your foot in it to do or say something tactless, to blunder UK, 1823 foot verb to run fast US, 1965 football noun 1 a tablet of Dilaudid™, a central nervous system depressant manufactured by the Knoll Pharmaceutical Company US, 1972. 2 a tablet of dextroamphetamine sulphate and amphetamine sulphate (trade name Diphphetamine™), a central nervous system stimulant US, 1966. 3 a simple musical accompaniment used when a performer is ad libbing US, 1973. 4 the briefcase carrying the communication equipment that enables the president of the US to launch a nuclear attack US, 1968 football team noun a very sparse moustache. There are eleven men – or hairs – on each side. The UK version of Australia's cricket team UK, 1984 foot burner noun a walking plough US, 1958 footer noun the game of football (soccer). An early example of the Oxford University -ER, a slangifying process UK, 1863 footie; footy noun 1 the game of football (soccer) UK, 1940. 2 the game of rugby union NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 3 a football AUSTRALIA, 1983. 4 a pedestrian police surveillance operative UK, 2002 foot-in-mouth disease noun the tendency to say that which ought not to be said US, 1968 foot it verb to walk, especially a considerable distance. Originally US black US, 1972 foot on the till noun in horse racing, used for describing the position of a horse that is racing well AUSTRALIA, 1989 footpounder noun an infantry soldier US, 1986 footprint noun the portion of a tyre that contacts the track US, 1972 footrest noun an accelerator pedal US, 1976 foots noun theatrical footlights US, 1919 footsack! go away! An anglicised pronunciation of Afrikaans voetsek (a curt command to a dog, offensive when applied to a person) SOUTH AFRICA, 1855 footsie noun foot-to-foot contact, usually out of sight such as under a restaurant table US, 1944 footwarmer noun 1 a linear amplifier for a citizens' band radio US, 1976. 2 a walking plough CANADA, 1954 foozle noun in golf, a mis-hit shot UK: SCOTLAND, 1869

for Africa adverb hugely, in large amounts, greatly SOUTH AFRICA, 1970 for-and-aft cap noun a military garrison cap UK, 1940 for a start-off adverb to begin with UK, 1959 forbidden fruit noun a youthful, attractive male who is under the age of legal consent. Homosexual usage US, 1979 force noun in stage magic, any method of ensuring that a particular card (or other object) is chosen UK, 2003. ► the force the police UK, 1868 for cheese cake! used for registering anger or surprise. Euphemism and rhyming slang, FOR CHRIST'S SAKE! varied as a pun 'for Jesus' sake!' UK, 1998 for Christ's sake! used as an expletive, if not employed as a prayer. Recorded in conventional use since late C14; as an expletive since 1944 UK, 1386 for crying out loud! used for registering anger, irritation, surprise, astonishment, etc. Probably a euphemistic replacement of FOR CHRIST'S SAKE! UK, 1924 for days adverb to a great degree US, 1981 for days! 1 that's the truth! US, 1968. 2 used for expressing amazement US, 1970 fore-and-after hat noun a military garrison cap US, 1931 foreground verb to assign a high priority to a task US, 1991 forehand adjective (used of surfing) facing the wave AUSTRALIA, 1985 foreign adjective (used of a betting chip) from another casino US, 1982 foreigner noun an illicit employment using the time and materials of your legitimate employer; any work done while claiming unemployment benefit UK, 1943 for England adverb (to perform an everyday action) to an extravagant degree UK, 1999 forever and a day adverb an indefinite but considerable length of time. An intensification of 'for ever' UK, 1823 forever-forever used as a motto by the Black Guerrilla Family prison gang US, 2000 for fake used as a sarcastic reply when asked 'for real?' US, 2003 for free adverb free, gratis. The 'for' is redundant US, 1942 forget it! don't worry about it! US, 1903 for God's sake! used as an expletive, if not employed as a prayer. In conventional use by 1300; as an expletive it is widely recorded since 1932 UK, 1932 for it adjective due for punishment; in immediate trouble UK, 1925 fork verb 1 used as a euphemism for 'to fuck' US, 1999. 2 to ride (a horse) US, 1882 fork and knife noun 1 life. Rhyming slang, generally used in the phrases 'not on your fork and knife' and 'never in your fork and knife' UK, 1934. 2 a wife. Rhyming slang UK, 1937 forked adjective in computing, unacceptably slow or dysfunctional. Probably a euphemism for FUCKED US, 1991 forked-tongued adjective duplicitous. Ascribing stereotypical snake-like qualities; best remembered (although possibly apocryphal) from cowboy films in the phrase 'white man speak with forked tongue' US, 1961 forklift noun in poker, a substantial win US, 1996 fork out verb to pay UK, 1831 fork over verb to hand over UK, 1820 forks noun the fingers. Originally a pickpocket's term UK, 1812 form noun 1 a criminal record UK, 1956. 2 a person's character or true nature AUSTRALIA, 1944. 3 the situation, organisation or position UK, 1948. 4 women viewed as sexual prospects US, 1953. 5 high spirits. Generally used with 'in' as, for instance, 'he's in form tonight' UK, 1877. 6 luck. From 'form' as 'a record of a racehorse's past performance' AUSTRALIA, 1962 formal adjective ► go formal to wear a clean flannel shirt US, 1997 formerly known as known as. A wildly popular construction after recording artist Prince announced in 1993 that he had changed his name to The Artist Formerly Known as Prince US, 1993 for mossies adverb for no special reason, for amusement SOUTH AFRICA, 1973 form player noun in horse racing, someone who bets based on information found in a racing form US, 1976 formula one noun a hammerhead shark. Used by surfers AUSTRALIA, 1991 for Pete's sake! euphemistic for 'God's sake!' UK, 1924 for real adverb ► see: FE REAL for real? used for expressing surprise and perhaps doubt US, 1995

Forrest Gump; forrest noun 1 an act of defecation. Rhyming slang for DUMP formed from the title of a 1994 Oscar-winning film and its eponymous leading character UK, 1998. 2 an unpleasant place or location. Rhyming slang for DUMP UK, 1998 for Ron for later on. Punning on a diminutive of the name Ronald UK, 2000 for shame! used as a humorous admission that you have been cleverly ridiculed US, 1963 for sure! used as an enthusiastic, stylish affirmation US, 1978

Forsyte Saga noun lager. Rhyming slang, after the 1970s television dramatisation of the series of novels by John Galsworthy (1867–1933) UK, 1979

Fort Apache nickname the police station in the 41st precinct, New York. An allusion to the American West and the wild, lawless character of the neighbourhood US, 1976

Fort Bushy noun the vulva and female pubic hair US, 1961

Fort Fucker nickname Fort Rucker, Alabama. Home of the US Army Aviation Center for both fixed wing and helicopter training US, 1991

Fort Fumble nickname the Canadian National Defence Headquarters in Ottawa CANADA, 1995

Forth Bridge job noun anything needing constant amendment, or renewal or updating. An allusion to the job of painting the Forth Bridge – the painters are reputed to start again at the other end as soon as they have finished the job UK, 1984

Fort Head nickname Fort Hood, a US Army installation. From the preponderance of drug use there during the Vietnam war US, 1968 for the love of Mike! used for registering exasperation, disbelief, surprise, exaltation, etc. A euphemism 'for the love of Christ' or, possibly, 'Moses' UK, 1959 for the love of Pete! used for registering exasperation, disbelief, surprise, exaltation, etc. A euphemistic 'for the love of God'; probably American Irish Roman Catholic origins; a variation of FOR PETE'S SAKE!, on the model of FOR THE LOVE OF MIKE! UK, 1949 forthwith noun an order to a police officer to report immediately US, 1958

Fort Knox noun in shuffleboard, a number that is well hidden or guarded US, 1967

Fort Liquordale nickname Fort Lauderdale, Florida. A nickname earned from the invasion of heavy-drinking college students each spring US, 1982

Fort Lost in the Woods nickname Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri US, 1974

Fortnum & Mason; fortnum noun a basin. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of a London department store. UK, 1998 fortnum cut noun a short back and sides haircut, mockingly called a basin cut or a pudding-basin cut. Formed from rhyming slang for FORTNUM & MASON (a basin) UK, 1998

Fort Piss nickname Fort Bliss, Texas. Home to the US Army Air Defense Artillery Center US, 1991

Fort Pricks nickname Fort Dix, New Jersey. A major training, mobilisation and deployment centre. The scene of frequent demonstrations against the Vietnam war US, 1974

Fort Puke nickname Fort Polk, Louisiana. Home to the JRT Operations Group, the 2nd Armored Cavalry Regiment, the 519th Military Police Battalion and the Warrior Brigade US, 1974

Fortrash noun the FORTRAN computer language US, 1991

for true adverb ► see: FE TRUE

Fort Screw Us nickname Fort Lewis, Washington. Home of the I Corps US, 1991

Fort Smell nickname Fort Sill, Oklahoma. The primary field artillery training facility during the conflict in Vietnam US, 1991

Fort Turd nickname Fort Ord, Monterey, California US, 1991

fortune cookie noun 1 an aphorism or joke that appears on a computer screen when a user logs in US, 1991. 2 in poker, a bet made without having seen all of your cards US, 1996

fortuni adjective gorgeous UK, 2002

Fort Useless nickname Fort Eustis, Virginia. Home to the US Army Transportation School, with training in rail, marine, amphibious operations and other modes of transportation US, 1974 forty-deuce nickname 42nd Street, New York US, 1987 forty-fin noun a millipede BAHAMAS, 1982

forty-four noun a whore. Rhyming slang UK, 2003 forty-going-north adjective leaving or moving quickly US, 1993 fortyleg noun a centipede BARBADOS, 1965

forty-miler noun a new and inexperienced carnival worker or one who never travels far from home with the carnival US, 1935 forty-niner noun a cocaine user. An allusion to the gold rush of 1849, with cocaine serving as 'gold dust' US, 1992 forty-pounder noun a 40-ounce bottle of alcohol CANADA, 1998

forty-rod noun strong, cheap whisky US, 1961

Forty Thieves noun the mostly white, all wealthy shop owners on Front Street, Hamilton, Bermuda BERMUDA, 1985

forty-three verb to keep apart from the main prison community for 'safety of self or others' UK, 1996 forty-weight noun 1 strong coffee. Inviting a comparison with motor oil US, 1976. 2 beer, especially Iron City™ US, 1976 forty winks noun a nap, a short sleep UK, 1872 forward noun any amphetamine or other central nervous system stimulant US, 1966

FOS adjective full of shit, literally or figuratively US, 1978

fo' sheezy; fo' sheazy; fa' sheezy; fo' sho sho certainly US, 1999 fossick verb 1 to search for gold in abandoned mines or mining refuse. From the British dialect of Cornwall AUSTRALIA, 1852. 2 to rummage about in searching for something AUSTRALIA, 1855. 3 to poke about a place AUSTRALIA, 1941

fossicker noun a person who fossicks AUSTRALIA, 1852 fossil noun 1 an old person with outmoded ideas and values US, 1952. 2 a parent US, 1957. 3 in computing, a feature that is retained after it is no longer needed in order to preserve compatibility US, 1991 fother mucker noun used euphemistically for 'motherfucker' in all senses. A Spoonerism; in the Brite Bar in New York it is possible to buy a 'Fother Mucker' cocktail US, 2003 fougasse noun napalm-thickened petrol, used in an improvised flame-thrower. Korean and Vietnam war usage US, 1989 foul adjective unpleasant, unfriendly. Conventional English rendered slang with attitude US, 1999

foulball noun a despised person US, 1925

fouler noun a very bad mood IRELAND, 2003 foul-up noun an instance of something being botched or ruined US, 1943 foul up verb to botch, to ruin US, 1942 found-in noun a person arrested for patronizing an illegal bar or gambling club CANADA, 1960 fountains of Rome noun in homosexual usage, urinals in a public toilet US, 1987 four noun 1 a capsule of Empirin™ with codeine, designed for pain relief but abused by users of central nervous system depressants and opiates US, 1977. 2 a four-ounce glass of beer AUSTRALIA, 1972. 3 yes; an affirmative. Also written as '4'. An abbreviation of the conventional citizens' band radio code 10–4 US, 1976 four-banger noun a four-cylinder engine US, 1953 four-be-two noun a prison warder. Rhyming slang for SCREW UK, 1996 four bits noun a fifty-year prison sentence US, 1990 four-by noun a prison warder AUSTRALIA, 1983 four-by-four noun 1 a vehicle with four wheels and four-wheel drive US, 1993. 2 a whore. Rhyming slang UK, 2003 four by too's noun in twelve-step recovery programmes such as Alcoholics Anonymous, used for describing why recovering addicts don't attend programme meetings – too busy, too tired, too lazy or too drunk. A play on 'two-by-four', the dimensions of the most common timber used in construction US, 1998 four by two noun 1 a Jewish person. Rhyming slang, originally military. Variants include 'four by', 'fourby' and 'four-he' – but 'three by two', a civilian variation, is now obsolete UK, 1936. 2 a prison warder. Rhyming slang for SCREW AUSTRALIA, 2001 four-colour glossies noun any literature that contains some useful information but which emphasises style over substance US, 1991 four-cornered adjective caught in the commission of a crime US, 1992 four-deuce noun an M-30 4.2 inch heavy mortar. Vietnam war usage US, 1968 four-ex fever noun a state of drunkenness caused by XXXX™ lager AUSTRALIA, 1996

four-eyed adjective wearing glasses US, 1878 four-eyes noun a person who wears glasses US, 1865 four five noun a .45 calibre handgun US, 1994 fourflusher noun a liar, a fraud US, 1904 four f's noun used as a jocular if cynical approach to male relationships with women – find them, feel them, fuck them, forget them. A pun on 4F draft status, which meant that a man was physically unfit to serve US, 1942 four-laner noun a truck driver who prefers large interstate motorways US, 1971 four-letter man noun 1 an unpleasant person. Euphemistic disguise for the letters s h i t or c u n t US, 1923. 2 a male homosexual US, 1949 four-letter word noun a profanity, especially although not always one with four letters, and usually the word 'fuck' US, 1936 four-lunger noun a four-cylinder engine US, 1971 four-on-the-floor noun 1 a car with a four-speed transmission with the gear shift mounted on the floor US, 1968. 2 use of the bass drum on every beat, especially in disco music. Playing on the automotive term US, 1980 fourpenny dark noun cheap wine AUSTRALIA, 1955

four percent noun a mild beer that was for a time sold in the west CANADA, 1962 four plus adverb to the utmost degree US, 1961 fours noun 1 in poker, four of a kind US, 1967. 2 the fourth landing or floor level in a prison UK, 1996 fours and dors noun a combination of number four codeine tablets and Doriden™ sleeping pills, which produces an opiate-like effect on the user US, 1989 four-square noun in new car sales, the work sheet used by a sales representative US, 1989 four-star adjective excellent. From a common rating system used with hotels, restaurants and the like US, 1935 four-s time noun the time before going out on the town; in the armed services, the pre-liberty period. The s's are 'shit, shave, shower and shine' US, 2001 four-striper noun a captain in the US Navy US, 1914 fourteen noun 1 an M-14 rifle US, 1985. 2 the Grumman F-14 Tomcat, a long-range strike-fighter aircraft. Vietnam war usage US, 1978 fourteen and two noun a typical punishment of 14 days restricted to barracks with two hours of extra duty each day. Punishment imposed under Article 15 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice for minor misconduct by military members US, 1991 fourteener noun any one of the 54 peaks over 14,000 feet in the Colorado Rocky Mountains US, 1997

Fourteen Feathers noun Thunderbird™ wine. On account of the 14 feathers on the label's bird US, 2003 four-tens noun a work schedule of four ten-hour days a week. A schedule that became popular in the US in the late 1970s and early 80s, keeping the basic 40-hour working week but creating an additional 52 days a year off work US, 1979 fourth of July noun a tie. Rhyming slang UK, 1931 four to the floor adjective 1 in music, a four bar beat; describes most modern dance music UK, 2002. 2 falling-down drunk. Suggesting the drunkard is possibly a musician and is probably on 'all fours' UK, 2002 four-trey, the country way noun a roll of seven in a craps game US, 1957 four-twenty noun 1 marijuana. Also written as '4:20'. False etymologies abound; the term was coined by teenagers in Marin County, California, and does not refer to any police code US, 1969. 2 any time that is considered the appropriate time to smoke marijuana. Also written as '4:20'. Coinage is credited to California students in the 1970s then, via the scene surrounding the Grateful Dead into wider usage US, 2004 four-way noun a mixture of four drugs, usually psychedelics and stimulants US, 1992

four-way adjective willing to engage in four types of sexual activity, the exact nature of which depends up on the person described and the context US, 1971 four-wheeler noun 1 in trucking, a passenger car US, 1986. 2 a nominal Christian, originally specifically a Catholic, who only goes to church for his or her baptism, marriage and funeral. Shorter form of 'four-wheel Christian'. The four wheels are, in turn, on a pram, a wedding-car and a hearse UK, 1969 four wheel skid noun ▷see: FRONT WHEEL SKID four-year lesbian noun a woman who takes lesbian lovers in college, planning to return to the safer waters of heterosexuality after graduation from college US, 1995 four zero adjective 40 years old. This entry stands as an example of all variations from 20 to 90 UK, 2000 fox noun 1 a beautiful woman or girl US, 1961. 2 in poker, the sixth player to the left of the dealer US, 1988

fox verb 1 to follow; to spy on NEW ZEALAND, 1905. 2 to slaughter a horse for fox food CANADA, 1980

fox and badger noun the penis. Rhyming slang for TADGER UK, 2003

fox and hound noun a round of drinks. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of a pub UK, 1992

Fox Charlie Charlie; Friendly Candy Company nickname the Federal Communications Commission US, 1976

foxcore noun rock music played by women UK, 2003

fox hunter noun an Englishman AUSTRALIA, 1989

foxie noun 1 an attractive girl US, 1979. 2 a fox terrier AUSTRALIA, 1906

foxtress noun a beautiful woman or girl UK, 2005 foxtrot yankee! fuck you! From the military phonetic alphabet – FY US, 1991 foxy adjective attractive, beautiful. Usually but not always applied to a woman US, 1895 frabjous adjective joyous, wonderful. A nonsense word coined by Lewis Carroll (C.L. Dodgson), and used vaguely in various contextual senses UK, 1872 fracture verb to have a strong, favourable effect upon someone US, 1946 fractured adjective drunk US, 1953

frag noun 1 a fragmentation hand grenade or bomb US, 1943. 2 a fragment from a bullet or artillery shell US, 1966. 3 a fragmentary order US, 1962 frag verb 1 to kill a fellow soldier, usually an officer and usually with a fragmentation grenade. A term coined in Vietnam to describe a practice that became common if not widespread in Vietnam US, 1970. 2 by extension, to score a 'kill' over another player in video and computer games, especially Quake™ US, 2002. 3 to dispatch by a fragmentary order US, 1967. 4 in motor racing, to cause an engine to explode, sending pieces of motor through the engine block US, 1992 ragged-out adjective over-stressed. Military, from US military abbreviation of 'fragmentary/fragmentation.' UK, 2001 fraggle noun 1 in prison, a mentally ill inmate. A Fraggie is a television puppet character from Jim Henson's Fraggle Rock, 1983–87; this excerpt from the theme lyric may well explain the derivation: 'Dance your cares away, / Worry's for another day [...] Let the Fraggles play'. Jim Henson also created The Muppets which also serve as models for the slow-witted UK, 1996. 2 (among Canadian Forces personnel) an avionics technician CANADA, 1995

fraggle juice noun in prison, medication given to mentally ill inmates UK, 1996

Fraggle Rock noun 1 a section of a prison dedicated to psychiatric criminal care UK, 1996. 2 (among Canadian Air Force personnel) the Air Command Headquarters in Winnipeg CANADA, 1995 frag list noun a frag order. Vietnam war usage US, 1986 frag order noun an order setting the day's specific military objectives. Shortened 'fragmentation order'. Vietnam war usage. US, 1961 fraho; frajo noun marijuana. Originally a 'cigarette' or 'marijuana cigarette' US, 1952

'fraid so I'm afraid so. Often answered with 'fraid not' US, 1895 fraidy cat noun a cowardly person UK, 1910 frail noun a woman US, 1899 frak! used as a non-profane oath. Used by spacecraft pilots, especially Lt. Starbuck on the US television series Battlestar Galactica (ABC, 1978–80), and briefly in popular speech US, 1979 frame noun 1 the general circumstance, especially of a crime. Conventionally a frame fits the picture; figuratively applied UK, 1970. 2 the body US, 1052. ► in the frame under suspicion of involvement in a crime that is being investigated UK, 1996 frame verb to incriminate a person by contriving false evidence US, 1899 frame dame noun an attractive and sexually active, if not too bright, girl US, 1979 frame job noun a conspiracy, especially one where blame for a misdeed is placed on someone US, 1973 framer noun a bed US, 1973 frames noun eyeglasses US, 1972 frame-up; frame noun manufactured evidence that is intended to incriminate US, 1908 frammis noun a commotion US, 1954

France noun used as a euphemistic substitute for 'hell' BARBADOS, 1965

France and Spain; franny noun rain. Rhyming slang UK, 1931

Francis Drake noun a brake. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of celebrated circumnavigator and national hero Sir Francis Drake, 1540–96 UK, 1992 franger noun a condom. Perhaps an alteration of FRENCH LETTER AUSTRALIA, 1981

frangler noun a condom AUSTRALIA, 1988

Franglish noun French and English mixed or blended in the same sentence CANADA, 1964

frank noun a frankfurter, a hot dog US, 1925

Frank and Pat noun talk. Rhyming slang for chat, based on long-running characters Frank Butcher (from 1987) and Pat Evans (from 1986) in BBC television soap opera EastEnders UK, 2002

Franken- prefix in combination with a noun denotes a freakish, genetically modified or ugly form of that thing. After Mary Shelly's 1818 novel Frankenstein but from the images provided by C20 Hollywood US, 1992

Frankie Boy nickname Frank Sinatra, American singer (1915–1998) US, 1963

Frankie Dettori noun a story; the facts or circumstance. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the champion jockey (b.1970) UK, 2002

Frankie Fraser; frankie noun a razor. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of 'Mad' Frankie Fraser (b.1923), an ex-gangster with a reputation for violence and a celebrity profile UK, 2001

Frankie Howerd; frankie noun a coward. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a popular comedian, 1917–92 UK, 1984

Frankie Laine; frankie noun a toilet chain (to flush the lavatory); hence a handle that operates a cistern. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a popular American singer (b.1913) UK, 1992

Frankie Vaughan; frankie noun 1 pornography. Rhyming slang for PORN; formed from the name of Liverpool-born singer and actor Frankie Vaughan (b.1928). Also used as an adjective UK, 1979. 2 a prawn. Rhyming slang formed from the name of a popular British singer, 1928–99 UK, 1984

Frankie Vaughno noun pornography. An extension of the original rhyming slang for PORN, to match PORN UK, 2002

frantic adjective exciting, thrilling US, 1934

frap verb to whip US, 1894

frapping adjective used as a euphemism for 'fucking' in its different senses US, 1968

Fraser and Nash; Frazer-Nash noun an act of urination. Rhyming slang for SLASH (an act of urination); from Frazer-Nash, a sports car manufacturer until 1939 UK, 1974 frat noun a college fraternity US, 1895 frat around verb to idle, to gossip instead of studying US, 1963 fratistic adjective displaying characteristics associated with college fraternities US, 2003 frat dick noun a boorish member of a college fraternity US, 1989 fraternity brother noun a fellow prisoner US, 1949 frat mattress noun a girl who is sexually attracted to and available for college fraternity boys US, 2001 frat rat noun an obnoxious, aggressive, arrogant example of a college fraternity member US, 1958 frat tuck noun a shirt worn tucked into the trousers in the front but hanging loose in the back US, 2001 fratty adjective characteristic of college fraternity behaviour, style, or language US, 2003 fratty bagger noun a stereotypical fraternity member who dresses, talks, and lives the part to a fault US, 1973 frau noun a wife. A jocular borrowing from German UK, 1821 frazzle-assed adjective worn out US, 1951

frazzled adjective 1 confused US, 1883. 2 drunk US, 1906 freak noun 1 a person with strong sexual desires, often fetishistic US, 1922. 2 a devotee, an enthusiast US, 1895. 3 a member of the 1960s counterculture. Originally a disparaging negative, turned around and used in a positive, complimentary sense. Widely used from the mid-1960s; hurled as abuse at the original hippies, the term was adopted by them and turned back on the critics by the self-confessed 'freaks' with an ability to FREAK OUT themselves and others US, 1960. 4 a habitual drug user. Usually suffixed to a defining drug US, 1967. 5 used as a term of endearment. Teen slang US, 1954. 6 a dance with strong suggestions of sexual movement, first popular as a 1975 disco dance and then again in the late 1990s and early 2000s. Used with 'the' unless used as a verb US, 1979. 7 a nonsensical novelty song US, 1948. 8 a wrestler whose huge size is obviously the result of the use of anabolic steroids US, 1996. 9 in poker, a wild card, which may be played as a card of any value US, 1949. ► get your freak on; get your freak out to enjoy a sexual perversion US, 2003 freak verb to panic US, 1964

freak adjective 1 in jazz, unorthodox US, 1955. 2 attractive US, 1994 freaked adjective disturbed, unsettled, nervous US, 1967 freak house noun 1 an abandoned building used as a temporary residence for drug addicts who have been evicted from their own dwelling US, 1995. 2 a room, apartment, or house where amphetamine addicts gather to inject the drug US, 1970 freaking adjective used as an intensifier where 'fucking' is to be avoided US, 1928 freaking A! used as a euphemism for 'fucking A!' in expressing surprise US, 2002 freakish adjective sexually perverted US, 1929 freak jacket noun a reputation for unconventional sexual interests US, 1967

freaknasty noun a sexually active woman who shares her activity with multiple partners US, 2001

freaknik noun a mass celebration of black students in the streets of Atlanta, Georgia, during college spring break US, 1992

freako noun a weirdo; a sexual deviant; a habitual drug-user US, 1963 freak off verb 1 to have sex, especially with vigour and without restraint. An extremely subjective verb, perhaps referring to homosexual sex, perhaps to oral sex, perhaps to heterosexual anal sex US, 1967. 2 to go, to leave US, 1970 freak-out noun 1 a celebratory event, a gathering together of counterculturalists to enjoy music and drugs. A response to the critics who called them 'freaks', via FREAK OUT (to panic) US, 1967. ► see: RAVE. 2 an uninhibited sexual exhibition US, 1969. 3 a temporary loss of sanity and control while under the influence of a psychoactive drug UK, 1966. 4 a complete panic and loss of control US, 1970. 5 a member of the 1960s counterculture UK, 1970 freak out verb 1 to lose sanity while under the influence of LSD or another hallucinogen US, 1967. 2 to panic US, 1964. 3 to make someone feel unsettled, astonished, or bizarre US, 1964. 4 to snap under intolerable pressure UK, 1979. 5 to behave in a crazed manner as a response to an emotional stimulus US, 1966 freak show noun a fetishistic sexual performance US, 2001 freak trick noun a prostitute's customer who pays for unusual sex US, 1971

freaky noun a habitual drug user UK, 1969 freaky adjective 1 odd, bizarre US, 1895. 2 sexually deviant UK, 1977. 3 characteristic of the 1960s counterculture US, 1971. ► get freaky to have sex US, 1996 freaky-deaky adjective acting without restraint, especially in a sexual way US, 1981 freckle noun the anus. Popularised by the Barry McKenzie cartoon strip AUSTRALIA, 1967

freckle-puncher noun a male homosexual AUSTRALIA, 1968

Fred Astaire noun 1 a chair. Rhyming slang UK, 2003. 2 a hair. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of the American entertainer, 1899–1987 UK, 1992

freddy noun an amphetamine tablet, especially a capsule of ephedrine US, 1992

Freddy Fraternity noun a stereotypical college fraternity member who looks, dresses, talks, and lives the part US, 1995

Fred Nerk; Fred Nerks noun used as a name for an unknown person AUSTRALIA, 1967

Fred's nickname Fortnum & Mason, an upmarket grocers and department store in Piccadilly, London. Upper-class society usage UK, 1982

Fred's out used as a warning that you have farted US, 1973 free noun the world outside prison US, 1966 free verb ► free the tadpoles of a male, to masturbate UK, 1999 free adjective unaffected by any conventional values. A critical if vague word from the 1960s counterculture US, 1967 freeball verb (used of a male) to dress without underwear US, 1997 freebase noun nearly pure cocaine alkaloid which can be obtained from powdered cocaine hydrochloride and is then burnt and inhaled US, 1979 freebase verb to remove the impurities from cocaine to advance and heighten the effect. By ellipsis from 'free the base' US, 1980 free baser noun a user of freebase cocaine US, 1979 freebie; freeby noun something that is given away at no cost US, 1928 freebie adjective free of charge US, 1946 freeco noun something of value given away for free TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1985

freedom bird noun an aeroplane bringing troops back to the US from Vietnam US, 1971 freeganism noun a political/ecological philosophy of consuming food and drink that is past its use-by or sell-by date and would, therefore, otherwise be thrown away. A combination of 'free' and 'veganism' US, 2003 free, gratis and for nothing adjective costing nothing. Tautological UK, 1841 free green peppers noun a sneeze by a food preparer. Limited usage, but clever US, 1996 free it up verb to disclose information US, 1997 freelancer noun a prostitute unattached to either pimp or brothel US, 1973 freeload verb to cadge; to subsist at other people's expense US, 1942 freeloader noun a person who manages to eat, drink and socialise at the expense of others US, 1936 free lunch noun used as a symbol of something that is provided freely US, 1949 freeman noun ► on the freeman's gratis, for free UK, 1999 freeness noun 1 an open-invitation party TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1948. 2 a free event BARBADOS, 1965

Freep nickname the Los Angeles Free Press; the Detroit Free Press US, 1971

free pass to bankruptcy noun a credit card US, 1971 free ride noun 1 used as a metaphor for attaining something without effort or cost US, 1899. 2 in poker, the right to stay in a hand without further betting, most commonly because the player has bet his entire bankroll on the hand US, 1963. 3 an orientation flight on a military aircraft US, 1983 free-rider noun a motorcyclist who shares a gang's philosophy but does not formally join the gang US, 1992

Free Shoes University noun Florida State University. A back-formation from the initials FSU, playing on the role of athletics and the sponsorship of athletics by a major shoe company at the university US, 2000

freeside adjective outside prison US, 1960 freestyle noun heterosexual intercourse UK, 2000 freestyle verb to improvise and perform a rap lyric, often a capella US, 1995 freeware noun computer software provided free of charge US, 1983 freeway noun in a prison dormitory, the aisle through the centre of the room. Alluding to the constant foot traffic US, 1996 freeway surfer noun a person who embraces the mannerisms of surfing, owns the equipment needed to surf, but who chooses to watch from the safety of the car US, 1987 free, white and 21 adjective possessing free will and able to exercise self-determination US, 1949 free world noun life outside prison US, 1960 free-world adjective civilian; from outside prison US, 1967 free-world gal noun a male prisoner who practised homosexuality before entering prison US, 1972 free-world punk noun a male prisoner who engaged in homosexual sex before prison US, 1972 freeze noun 1 cocaine. From the numbing, cooling effect US, 1984. 2 a small amount of cocaine placed on the tongue US, 1989. 3 a rejection of affection. Colder than the proverbial 'cold shoulder' US, 1942 freeze verb 1 to stop moving completely UK, 1848. 2 in draw poker, to decline the opportunity to discard and draw any new cards US, 1971. ► freeze your nose to use cocaine. From the drug's numbing effect on mucous membranes US, 1972. ► freeze your nuts to be extremely cold UK, 2007 freeze-out noun a poker game in which all participants must play until they lose all their money or win all the other players' money US, 1975 freezer noun in poker, an early call made even as other players continue to raise their bets US, 1967. ► the freezer Antarctica ANTARCTICA, 1993 freeze up verb to become paralyzed with fear. An occupational hazard of those who work high above the ground US, 1989 freight noun the cost of something, especially a bribe US, 1950. ► pull freight on the railways, to quit a job US, 1977 freight train noun a wave breaking powerfully in perfect formation US, 1987

French noun 1 oral sex, especially on a man US, 1916. 2 an open-mouthed, French kiss US, 1978. 3 profanity US, 1865. ► excuse my French!; pardon my French! employed as an apology for a use of spoken language which may cause offence. Often used in a cursory manner or with insincerity. The original intention, presumably, was to allow the apologee the pretence not to have understood a 'foreign' word; now the apology is a cliché which merely acknowledges an inappropriate use of robust unconventional English UK, 1936

French verb 1 to perform oral sex. The term derives from the widely held belief that the practice is very common in France US, 1923. 2 to French kiss; to kiss with open lips and exploratory tongues US, 1955. 3 in drag racing and hot rodding, to fit the bonnet (hood) over the headlights to create the appearance of recessed headlights US, 1968

French blue noun a manufactured combination of tranquillizer (methaqualone) and stimulant (amphetamine) taken recreationally UK, 1964

French bull-hook noun a deceptive explanation BAHAMAS, 1982

French date noun oral sex performed on a man by a prostitute US, 1972

French deck noun a deck of cards decorated with art ranging from naughty and nude to pornographic US, 1963

French dip noun precoital vaginal secretions US, 1987

French dressing noun semen. An allusion to FRENCH (oral sex) US, 1987

French Embassy noun a premises of the Young Men's Christian Association. An allusion to the association between the YMCA and homosexual men who enjoy FRENCH (oral sex) US, 1963

French fits noun tremens. Possibly combines a conventional fit of the SHAKES with an allusion to the stereotypical French characteristic of shrugging US, 1940

French fries noun 1 3 inch sticks of crack cocaine with ridged edges US, 1993. 2 the thighs. Rhyming slang UK, 2002

French harp noun a harmonica US, 1983

Frenchie noun a light-skinned person; an unlikeable person SAINT KITTS AND NEVIS, 1998 ► see also: FRENCHY

French inhale verb to draw cigarette smoke into the mouth and then allow it to drift out and upwards for inhalation through the nose. The French credit is presumably to signal how sophisticated such technique is thought to be US, 1957

French joint noun an over-sized, conical marijuana cigarette US, 1997

French kiss noun 1 a kiss with the mouths open and tongues adventuring. With variant 'Frenchie' US, 1949. 2 an act of urination; urination. Rhyming slang for PISS UK, 1992

French kiss verb to kiss with the mouth open and the tongue active US, 1918

French lay noun oral sex US, 1972

French leave noun a departure without intimation; flight UK, 1771

French lessons noun oral sex US, 1970

French letter noun a condom. In the mid-C20 so common in use as to be almost conventional; however usage inevitably diminished with the advent of the contraceptive pill. In post-AIDS society 'French letter' is now just one among hundreds of newer slang terms for the condom. Unusual variations are 'American', 'Italian' or 'Spanish' letters. The French repaid the compliment with capote anglaise (a condom), literally an English hooded cape, which abbreviates as capote; interestingly, when 'French letter' is abbreviated the nationality remains and it becomes a FRENCHY or a FRENCHIE UK, 1856

French loaf noun four. Rhyming slang, on back slang 'rofe' (RUOF) UK, 1974

Frenchman's acre noun an arpent or since the 1970s, a hectare, French measures of land CANADA, 1992

French massage noun oral sex AUSTRALIA, 1985

French postcard noun a photographic postcard depicting anything ranging from simple female nudity to full-blown sexual activity US, 1926

French safe noun a condom US, 1870

French screwdriver noun a hammer US, 1987

French tickler noun a condom with external protrusions marketed as giving pleasure to the wearer's partner US, 1916

French trick noun oral sex performed by a prostitute US, 1972

French wank noun an act of sexual gratification in which the penis is rubbed between a female partner's breasts UK, 1997

Frenchy; Frenchie noun 1 a French or French Canadian person, often as a nickname UK, 1883. 2 a fundamentally honest gambler who will cheat occasionally if the right opportunity arises US, 1967. 3 a condom. A familiar shortening of FRENCH LETTER UK, 1998. 4 an act of oral-genital sex US, 1957

Frenchy; Frenchie adjective French UK, 1883

freq; freak noun a radio frequency US, 1969 frequency noun a level of understanding US, 1959 frequently outwitted by inanimate objects adjective extremely incompetent. US naval aviator usage US, 1986 fresca noun an affectionate pat on the head. From the film Caddy Shack US, 1984 fresh verb to flatter US, 1989 fresh adjective 1 good, sharp, stylish. Possibly shortened from 'We're fresh out the pack / so you gotta stay back, / we got one Puerto Rican / and the rest are black', an early 1980s signature routine by

- Grand Wizard Theodore and the Fantastic 5 MCs US, 1984.
2 impudent. Possibly from German frech (impudent) US, 1845. 3 bad smelling BARBADOS, 1965
- fresh and sweet adjective very recently released from jail US, 1982
- freshener noun any alcoholic drink US, 1969
- freshen up verb to clean, to smarten, to revive. An example of a conventional term, 'freshen', being made colloquial by the addition of an unnecessary adverb UK, 1937
- fresher noun a university freshman UK, 1882
- fresh-fucked adjective energised and happy, whether the result of recent sex or not US, 1994
- freshie noun a freshwater crocodile AUSTRALIA, 1964
- freshies noun 1 in snowboarding, the first tracks in virgin snow US, 1995. 2 fresh fruit and vegetables ANTARCTICA, 1990
- fresh meat noun 1 a person, especially a virgin, seen merely as a object for sexual conquest UK, 1896. 2 a newly arrived soldier. Also referred to as 'new meat' US, 1908
- fresh money noun in horse racing, the cash actually brought to the track and bet on a given day US, 1947
- fresh-water American; fresh-water Yankee noun a person who has never been to the US but speaks with an American accent and embraces other American mannerisms TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1961
- fress verb 1 to eat greedily or to excess. From the German for 'devour' US, 1968. 2 to engage as the active partner in oral sex. From the sense 'to eat greedily' US, 1998
- fret adjective enthusiastic; excellent IRELAND, 1999
- Freud squad noun psychiatrists. UK Doctors' slang, punning on 'fraud squad' UK, 2003
- Friar Tuck; friar; friar's used for all noun, verb and expletive senses of 'fuck'. Rhyming slang, often in phrases like 'not give a friar's', from the name of one of Robin Hood's band of merry men. Friar Tuck is also the source of a popular Spoonerism UK, 1956
- Friar Tucked adjective thwarted. Rhyming slang for FUCKED UK, 1996
- frick and frack noun the testicles US, 1980
- fricko noun a chicken stew CANADA, 1951
- friction noun a match TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1953
- Friday car; Friday afternoon car noun a car that is constantly going wrong. Hence anything that is imperfect may be prefixed by 'Friday' or 'Friday afternoon'. From the notion that car-factory workers may skimp on the last shift of the week UK, 1979
- fridge noun 1 a refrigerator US, 1926. 2 (usually of a woman) a person who is sexually unresponsive. A play on 'frigid' US, 1996
- fried adjective 1 drunk or drug-intoxicated US, 1923. 2 mentally exhausted US, 1980. 3 in computing, not working because of a complete hardware failure US, 1981. 4 sunburnt US, 1989
- fried, dried, and swept aside adjective said of bleached hair that suggests straw US, 1997
- fried, dyed, combed (swooped) to the side adjective used as a description of a black person's hair that has been chemically straightened US, 1980
- fried egg noun the insignia of the US Military Academy US, 1908
- fried eggs noun small female breasts UK, 1997
- friend noun in poker, any card that improves a hand US, 1988.
 ► have a friend visiting to experience the bleed period of the menstrual cycle UK, 1889
- friend verb 1 to engage in sexual foreplay. Reported in Toronto as a term used by Trinidadian teens CANADA, 1993. 2 to have sex; to take part in a romantic relationship TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1971
- friendly adjective used as a coded euphemism for 'passive' in sadomasochistic sex US, 1987
- Friendly City nickname Port Elizabeth, South Africa SOUTH AFRICA, 1951
- friend of Dorothy noun a homosexual. Thought to be from the Judy Garland character in The Wizard of Oz; Garland is a gay icon AUSTRALIA, 1988
- friend of Pedro noun someone in possession of cocaine. PEDRO (cocaine) has lots of friends UK, 1999
- friends verb to court. Used only in the present participle BARBADOS, 1965
- fries noun pieces of crack cocaine. Shortened from FRENCH FRIES US, 1994
- frig noun ► give a frig; care a frig to care, to be concerned – usually in a negative context UK, 1955
- frig verb 1 to masturbate UK, 1998. 2 to digitally stimulate/explore the vagina as a part of sexual foreplay. A nuance of the sense to 'masturbate' UK, 2003. 3 to dawdle or waste time US, 1975
- frig used now as a euphemism for 'fuck' in all its senses UK, 1879
- frig about verb to waste time doing little or nothing UK, 1933
- frigger noun used as a euphemism for 'fucker' IRELAND, 1996
- frigging adjective 1 damned AUSTRALIA, 1948. 2 used as a euphemism for 'fucking', usually as an intensifier. With variant 'fricking' UK, 1893
- frigging adverb damned well AUSTRALIA, 1948
- frigging- infix damned AUSTRALIA, 1983
- frigging hell! used for registering surprise, anger, amazement. Euphemism for FUCKING HELL! UK, 1982
- frigging in the rigging wasting time idling when on duty. From a bawdy ballad AUSTRALIA, 1962
- fright noun an ugly person UK, 1832. ► he (she) wouldn't give you a fright on a dark night said of a person with a reputation for meanness. Glasgow use UK, 1988
- frightener noun a scare UK, 1965. ► put the frighteners on to scare someone UK, 1958
- rightful adjective used as a general-purpose intensifier UK, 1752
- rightfully adverb very, extremely UK, 1809
- frigidaire noun a sexually frigid woman. An allusion to the refrigerator brand US, 1949
- frig off verb to go away, to leave. Often in the imperative US, 1961
- frig up verb to botch, to ruin US, 1933
- frillies noun women's underclothing, especially insubstantial 'feminine' garments UK, 1937
- fringe noun thin strips of material attached to the G-string worn by a striptease dancer US, 1981
- fringe verb to get something from somebody else by imposing on their hospitality or generosity US, 1947
- fringes noun the eyes US, 1947
- fringie noun a person on the fringes of a gang, not a hardcore member US, 1966
- frios noun marijuana mixed with phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust UK, 1998
- frip adjective lousy. Youth usage US, 1949
- frisbee noun 1 a biscuit from an army c-ration US, 1991. 2 an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigations US, 1993
- 'Frisco nickname San Francisco, California. Never used by San Franciscans, and a sure sign of a tourist US, 1849
- Frisco speedball; Frisco special; San Francisco bomb noun a combination of cocaine, heroin and LSD. Up, down and out – all at once; a combination of a SPEEDBALL (cocaine and heroin) with the drug that made FRISCO (San Francisco) psychedelic US, 1969
- frisk verb 1 to search the person for illicit goods UK, 1789. 2 to laugh UK, 1996
- frisker noun a pickpocket UK, 1802
- frisky noun cocaine US, 1986
- frisky powder noun cocaine US, 1955
- frit noun in Quebec, a French fried potato CANADA, 1986
- Frito noun a woman who is sexually expert. A pun on the Frito Lay company name – a 'good lay' US, 1967
- fritterware noun computer software that is seductive to users, consumes time, and adds little to functionality US, 1991

fritz noun ► on the fritz broken US, 1902

Fritz noun a German UK, 1915

fritz verb to break US, 1918 friznaughti adjective drug-intoxicated US, 1995 frizzle adjective very cold NORFOLK ISLAND, 1992

'fro noun a bushy Afro hair style US, 1970

frob noun any small object US, 1991 frob verb to manipulate dials or settings US, 1983 frobnicate verb to manipulate dials or settings US, 1983 frobnitz noun any device the name of which is unknown, escapes the speaker's mind, or is not relevant US, 1991 frock noun women's clothing; a theatrical costume UK, 2002 frock verb to decorate as a military officer. From the C19 sense of 'investing with priestly office' US, 1986 frock and frill noun a chill, a cold. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 frock billong lallies noun trousers. A combination of Tok Pisin, a Melanesian pidgin, billong (belong) and polari FROCK (clothing) and LALLY (the leg) UK, 2002

froffy adjective poor and shabby looking BARBADOS, 1998

frog noun 1 a social outcast US, 1968. 2 a promiscuous girl US, 1995. 3 a French Canadian CANADA, 1966 ► see: FROGEATER. 4 a condom. Probably as a play on FRENCH LETTER or FRENCHY (a condom) AUSTRALIA, 1952. 5 the French language UK, 1955. 6 one dollar US, 1962

Frog noun a person from France. Like all the 'frog' terms for the French, it refers to the eating of frogs UK, 1778 frog verb to fail (a test or exam) US, 1968

Frog adjective French. Said with unkind intensions US, 1910 frog! used for expressing disgust US, 1991 frog and toad; frog noun the road. Rhyming slang UK, 1859 frog-choker noun a heavy rain CANADA, 2002

frogeater noun a French person; a French-Canadian. This term, highly derogatory along with 'Frog', has passed out of use, and in any case could be more aptly applied to the Acadians of Louisiana, who are fond of frog-legs from the bayous US, 1812

frogeyed sprite noun an Austin-Healy Sprite UK, 1992

Froggie; Froggy noun 1 France UK, 1999. 2 a person from France US, 1870s froggy adjective 1 aggressive US, 1939. 2 used to describe a dry mouth after smoking marijuana. Probably from the phrase 'frog in the throat' (hoarse) UK, 2002

Froggy; Froggie adjective French UK, 1872

frog hair noun a very short distance US, 1958 frog-march; frog's march verb to push someone forward holding them by their collar and the seat of their trousers UK, 1884 frog salad noun in carnival usage, any performance that features scantily clad women US, 1981 frog show noun a dance performance that features scantily clad women US, 1973

frogskin noun 1 money, paper money; a one-dollar note US, 1902. 2 a condom NEW ZEALAND, 1998

frogskins noun a wetsuit and other cold-water garments US, 1991 frog-spawn noun tapioca pudding. One of the joys of a public school education UK, 1949 frogsticker noun a knife US, 1972 frog-strangler noun a torrential downpour US, 1942 frog-walk verb to forcefully carry somebody face-down US, 1960 frolic noun a New Brunswick work bee and party CANADA, 1964

from arsehole to breakfast time all the time, all the way UK, 1984 from away adjective from any place other than the area of the eastern Canadian coast speaker's own local region or town. Exactly opposite of 'from around here', this term is flexible in application and odd in that the object of the preposition is a word not ordinarily used in the noun position CANADA, 1985 from here to there without a pair in poker, used for describing a hand of sequenced cards. Conventionally known as a 'straight' US, 1951

frompy adjective unattractive US, 1948 from way downtown – bang used as a humorous comment on a witty remark, a correct answer, or other verbal victory. Coined by ESPN's Keith Olberman to describe three-point shots in basketball US, 1997 frone noun an ugly woman US, 1947

frone adjective terrible UK, 1945 front noun 1 a person's public appearance; stylish clothing US, 1899.

2 the genitals; sex BAHAMAS, 1982. 3 the beginning. Especially in the phrase 'from the front' US, 1959. ► at the front used of a drug that is taken before another UK, 1978. ► more front than Selfridges/Harrods/Buckingham Palace/Albert Hall/Brighton/Brighton beach/Woolworths/Myers audaciousness; impudence. Puns 'front' (cheek) with the exceptional frontage of Selfridges, a very large department store in Oxford Street; Harrods is another impressive London shop; Buckingham Palace is the Queen's official London residence; the Albert Hall is a major concert venue; and Brighton is a seaside resort on the south coast – 'front' in this instance abbreviated from 'seafront'. In Australia, Myers is a large department store in Melbourne UK, 1958. ► out front owing someone who has extended goods to you for payment later US, 1989. ► the front the main road or street within the area of a Teddy Boy gang's influence UK, 1959. ► up front in advance US, 1970

Front nickname ► the Front 1 Piccadilly, as an area of homosexual commerce and prostitution UK, 1964. 2 Oxford Street, London UK, 1977

front verb 1 in jazz or popular music, to be a band leader, or lead singer of a band US, 1936. 2 to lie; to project a false image of yourself US, 1993. 3 to show up; to make an appearance AUSTRALIA, 1968. 4 to confront someone AUSTRALIA, 1945. 5 to appear before a court AUSTRALIA, 1941. 6 to provide something of value to someone with the expectation of being paid later US, 1989. 7 to back down from a physical confrontation US, 1987. 8 to pretend, to fake US, 1993. ► front an air biscuit to pretend innocence of generating a guilty fart UK, 2002. ► front it to face up to a difficult problem or situation; hence, to leave a Vulnerable Prisoners' Unit and return to the main prison UK, 1996 front and back noun a sack, the sack. Rhyming slang UK, 2003 front bottom noun the vulva and vagina UK, 2003 front botty; front bum noun the vagina AUSTRALIA, 1988 front bumpers noun the female breasts. An elaboration of BUMPER UK, 1973 front door noun 1 the vagina. As opposed to the BACK DOOR (the rectum) UK, 1890. 2 the leading vehicle in a convoy of citizens' band radio users US, 1975 front doormat noun a woman's pubic hair UK, 1980 fronter noun 1 an inexperienced swindler working on a scam by telephone who makes the initial call to potential victims US, 1988. 2 a person who appears to be something he is not and who does not deliver on promised action US, 1997 front line noun an urban area where a mainly black community may come into conflict with an adjacent white community or with the laws of white society. West Indian and UK black usage UK, 1978 front-liner noun a person in a youth gang who is capable of murder US, 1995 frontload verb to drink at home before going out for a night of drinking on the town US, 1999 front-loading noun a technique for observing the dealer's down card in casino blackjack as the dealer tips the card up to slide it under his up card US, 1991 front man noun someone who is employed to cover for a criminal operation by posing as the legitimate owner/leader or by acting as spokesperson US, 1934 front money noun 1 money paid in advance for the purchase of drugs US, 1978. 2 money needed to start a venture US, 1925 front off verb 1 to place yourself in a highly visible position US, 1960. 2 to sell drugs on credit US, 1995 front porch noun in poker, the earliest position in a hand US, 1996 front-running noun support given to a person or team only when they are doing well US, 1970 fronts noun legitimate, square, unaltered dice US, 1950 ▶ see: GOLD FRONTS front street noun ▶ on front street in the open; in public US, 1992. ▶ put on front street to inform on, to betray US, 1995 front up verb to appear in front of, to confront, AUSTRALIA, 1945 front wedgy noun the condition that exists when a tight-fitting pair of trousers, shorts, bathing suit, or other garment forms a wedge between a woman's labia, accentuating their shape. The WEDGY brought around to the front of the body US, 2003 front wheel skid; four wheel skid; four-wheeler noun a Jewish person. Rhyming slang for YID. Intentionally offensive UK, 1943 front yard noun in trucking, the road ahead of you US, 1977

frosh noun a freshman (first-year student), either in high school or college US, 1915 frost verb to anger. Often in combination with a body part US, 1895. ▶ frost someone's balls to anger someone US, 1994 frost boil noun the irregular road surface caused by frost heave CANADA, 1995 frosted adjective 1 angry US, 1956. 2 bejewelled, well-ornamented UK, 2005 frosted face noun the photographic depiction of a woman's face covered with semen. American heterosexual pornography has long shown a fascination for ejaculations on a woman's face. In the late 1990s, this fascination expanded to embrace the depiction of multiple ejaculations on a woman's face. Any Internet search engine will uncover dozens of sites boasting 'frosted faces', a term that puns on the branded cereal 'Frosted Flakes' while inviting a visual comparison with the cereal's sugar glaze US, 2001 frost freak noun a person who inhales freon, a refrigerant, for its intoxicating effect US, 1970 frosty noun a cold beer US, 1961

frosty adjective cool, calm, collected US, 1970

frot verb to rub against another person for sexual stimulation, usually surreptitiously UK, 1973 froth noun in horse racing, a double. Rhyming slang from 'froth and bubble' to 'double' AUSTRALIA, 1989 froth verb to engage in an abusive verbal attack UK, 2001 froth and bubble noun trouble. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1955

frothing adjective (used of a party) populated by many girls US, 1988 froudacity noun lying about something you know nothing about. A blending of 'audacity' and 'fraudulence' TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1967

frou-frou adjective fussy, overly fancy US, 1951 frown noun lemon syrup or fresh lemon added to a coca-cola US, 1946 frowney; frowney face noun the emoticon depicting a frown – :(US, 1991

froyo noun frozen yogurt US, 1998 froze adjective 1 cocaine-intoxicated. Evocative of the C18 meaning of the word as 'drunk' US, 1974. 2 frozen UK, 1930 frozen adjective 1 excellent. Teen slang US, 1954. 2 dull, lacking action NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 3 in pool, directly touching (a ball or the rail of the table) US, 1984 frozen chosen noun the people who work in Antarctica US, 1997 frozen Chosin nickname the Chanjin Reservoir, identified on Japanese maps as the Chosin Reservoir, scene of heroic military action by the US Marine Corps in the winter of 1950–51 US, 1952 frozen custard noun the vagina of a frigid woman US, 1977 frozen fireworks noun jewellery US, 1979 frozen mitt noun 1 a rejection; a brush off. A variant of 'cold shoulder' UK, 1915. 2 an intentionally unwelcoming reception. With 'icy mitt' as a variant UK, 1903 frug verb to dance. Originally a fashionable dance which was contrived and flourished briefly in the mid-1960s. Its re-emergence is as an ironic generic for all non-specific dancing UK, 1999 fruit noun 1 a homosexual, especially an obviously homosexual male person US, 1900. 2 an eccentric or even mentally unstable person. A shortening of FRUITCAKE US, 1959. ▶ do your fruit to go mad; to lose your temper. Probably suggested by BANANAS (crazy, mad); UK, 1978

fruitbait noun a man who attracts the attention of other men US, 1973 fruit basket noun the male genitalia when offered to view from behind. Strong homosexual overtones: BASKET (the male genitals) combined with FRUIT (a homosexual) US, 2001 fruitbat noun a crazy person AUSTRALIA, 1992

fruit boot noun 1 a style of shoe popular in the 1950s and 60s, ankle-high suede shoes with crepe rubber soles conventionally known as 'desert boots'. English mods embraced desert boots made by Clarks, and their popularity spread to the US, where they were labelled 'fruit boots' because of their perceived popularity with perceived homosexuals US, 1964. 2 an in-line skater. Derogatory UK, 2000 fruitcake noun 1 an eccentric or even mentally unstable person US, 1942. 2 a blatantly homosexual man US, 1960 fruit copper noun an amateur racing car driver, especially in sports car races US, 1993

fruiter noun a homosexual US, 1918 fruit fly noun a heterosexual woman who befriends homosexual men US, 1965 fruit fuzz noun a police officer assigned to an anti-homosexual vice operation US, 1979 fruit hustler noun a homosexual prostitute; a criminal who preys on homosexual victims US, 1959 fruiting noun promiscuous behaviour US, 1982 fruit jacket noun a prison record identifying a person as a homosexual US, 1986

fruitliner noun a White Freightliner truck US, 1971 fruit loop noun 1 an effeminate homosexual man. An elaboration of FRUIT, from the brand name of a popular breakfast cereal US, 1989. 2 a psychiatric patient US, 1994. 3 the cloth loop on the back of a man's shirt US, 1966 fruit on the sideboard; fruit for the sideboard noun something easily obtained; unexpected financial gain. It is claimed this originated with the famous Sydney bookmaker Andy Kerr AUSTRALIA, 1953 fruit pinch noun an arrest of a homosexual man US, 1970 fruit ranch noun a mental hospital or a psychiatric ward US, 1985 fruit roll noun the violent robbing of a homosexual US, 1973 fruit salad noun 1 a display of military medals UK, 1943. 2 a pooled mix of different types of pills contributed by several people and then consumed randomly US, 1969. 3 a group of stroke patients who cannot care for themselves US, 1978. 4 a person of mixed race FJI, 1992. ▶ do the fruit salad to expose your genitals in public US, 1994

fruit show noun a display in which a prostitute will stimulate and masturbate herself utilising any of a variety of fruits or vegetables, especially when advertised as a service UK, 2003 fruit tank noun a jail cell reserved for homosexual prisoners US, 1981 fruity adjective 1 of language or content, very rich or strong; sexually suggestive; amorous UK, 1900. 2 obviously homosexual US, 1940 frumpy adjective poorly dressed, rumpled, messy US, 1947 frups noun a fart TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987

frupse noun nothing at all. Something that is 'not worth a frupse' is 'worthless' BARBADOS, 1965

fruta noun a homosexual. A literal application of Spanish to English slang US, 1997 fry noun 1 crack cocaine US, 1994. 2 crack cocaine mixed with embalming fluid or LSD. Probably from 'fry your brains' but the presence of embalming fluid in this potentially lethal mixture suggests FRY (to execute by electrocution) US, 1998. 3 marijuana mixed with embalming fluid or LSD UK, 2003. 4 LSD US, 1992. 5 a car accident in which an occupant or occupants of the car are burnt US, 1962 fry verb 1 to put to death by electrocution US, 1928. 2 in computing, to fail completely US, 1983. 3 to use and be under the influence of LSD US, 1993. 4 of a drug, to destroy or impair the mind by extreme intoxication; of a drug-user, to experience the consequences of LSD US, 1996. 5 to alter the mind irreparably US, 1972. 6 to straighten your hair, chemically or with heat US, 1945. 7 in motor racing, to overheat (an engine or component) US, 1993

fry daddy noun a marijuana and crack cocaine cigarette US, 1989 frying size noun said of children of elementary school age US, 1954 fry stick noun a marijuana cigarette laced with embalming fluid or phenacyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust UK, 2003 fry-up noun a quickly cooked collation of any foodstuffs prepared by frying UK, 1967

FTA fuck the army. A popular sentiment shared by those both in and not in the army during the Vietnam war. Country Joe McDonald of 'Look's Like I'm Fixin' To Die Rag' fame, took an anti-war show named 'FTA!' on the road to GI coffee houses in 1971 US, 1968

FTW used as a defiant stance against everything – fuck the world US, 1972

FUBAR adjective 1 used as an expression of disgust because a situation is fucked up beyond all recognition. Of the many military acronyms with a prominent 'F' coined during World War 2, one of the few to survive US, 1944. 2 drunk. A sense created by using 'fucked up' to mean 'drunk', not 'botched.' US, 1985 fuck noun 1 the act of sex UK, 1675. 2 a person objectified as a sex-partner UK, 1874. 3 a despicable or hapless person UK, 1927. 4 used as an intensifier. Often used with 'the', as in 'Get the fuck out of here!' US, 1934. 5 an extreme example or degree UK, 1928. 6 something of no value UK, 1790. ► and fuck and so on, etc UK, 2002. ► as fuck an intensifier, used in combination with an adjective. Other examples include: 'heavy as fuck', 'daft as fuck', 'queer as fuck', etc UK, 1999. ► couldn't organise a fuck in a brothel used of an inefficient person UK, 1961. ► for fuck's sake!; fuck sake! used as a register of exasperation or impatience US, 1961. ► for the love of fuck used as an expression of exasperation or entreaty UK, 2005. ► like fuck like hell; very much UK, 1995. ► running fuck at a rolling doughnut an extremely difficult manoeuvre or operation UK, 1979 fuck verb 1 to have sex UK, 1500. 2 to damage beyond repair UK, 1775. 3 used as an intense verb of abuse, as in 'fuck the police' UK, 1915. 4 to confound AUSTRALIA, 1998. ► be fucked in the car to have had something done to you that you did not deserve CANADA, 1969. ► fuck a duck to shirk, to avoid work. Vietnam war usage. US, 1933. ► fuck a duck! used for registering surprise UK, 1940s. ► fuck anything that moves applied to a person's rampant sexuality. The variations of this catchphrase are manifold, all formed on 'fuck anything' – with 'a hole', 'a crack', 'a cock', 'a dick', 'a vagina', 'hair on it', 'breasts', 'tits', 'a heart beat', 'a pulse' etc; that moves; on 'two legs'. UK, 1977. ► fuck in the ass to victimise; to force into submission. Figurative US, 1995. ► fuck the arse off to have exceptionally vigorous sex. Applied to conventional sexual intercourse; despite the use of 'arse', anal sex is neither included or precluded. Usage is generally something of a boast UK, 2000. ► fuck the dog to idle instead of working US, 1935. ► fuck the fucking fuckers used for expressing contempt and defiance of and towards just about everyone US, 1980. ► fuck them if they can't take a joke during the Vietnam war, used as a cynically humorous retort when things went wrong. Multiple variants US, 1980. ► fuck up the arse to betray. Combines FUCK (to damage) with 'up the arse', which makes it personal UK, 2001. ► fuck you very much! used as a humorous expression of defiance US, 1980. ► fuck your fist to masturbate US, 1966. ► who do you have to fuck? used as an impatient enquiry: who do I have to persuade?, who is responsible for something? how can I do or get something? Probably hyperbolic US, 1968

fuck adjective ► a fuck sight a lot UK, 2001

fuck! used as a simple exclamation UK, 1929. ► do you fuck!; will you fuck! used as a strong and disapproving denial: no you did not, no you will not UK, 1961. ► is it fuck! used as an emphatic negative UK, 1984. ► will I fuck! used as an expression of strong disagreement. Often applied in the third person: 'will he fuck!', 'will they fuck!' UK, 1961 fuck prefix used to create a non-specific type within a recognisable series, e.g. 'fuckism', fuckology. Dismissive UK, 1991

fuckable adjective sexually appealing UK, 1891 fuck about; fuck around verb to play the fool, to waste time; to make a mess of; to inconvenience UK, 1922 fuck-a-doodle-doo! used as an ironic exclamation of delight UK, 1994

fuckaholic noun a person obsessed with sex US, 1981

fuck all; fuckall noun nothing, nothing at all UK, 1918 fuck almighty! used in despair when others may call upon God. Euphemistic use of FUCK for what might otherwise border on blasphemy UK, 2001 fuck and blind verb to swear. A frank variation of EFF AND BLIND UK, 1974 fuck-around noun 1 a promiscuous person FJI, 1992. 2 a young street ruffian FJI, 1984 fuck-arse around verb to play the fool, to waste time; to make a mess of; to inconvenience UK, 2000

fuckass noun a despicable person UK, 1960

fuckass adjective despicable US, 1961 fuckathon noun an extended bout of sex US, 1968

fuckbag noun a despicable person US, 1989 fuck book noun a sexually explicit book, usually heavily illustrated US, 1944 fuckboy noun a young man as the object of homosexual desire US, 1971 fuckbrain noun an idiot. A variation of the equally derisive FUCKWIT UK, 1997 fuck buddy noun a friend who is also a sex companion US, 1972

fucked adjective 1 ruined, spoiled, potentially doomed UK, 1955.

2 extremely weary, exhausted UK, 1984. 3 drunk or drug-intoxicated US, 1965. 4 insane, crazy, senseless US, 1970

fucked if I can it is very unlikely that I will be able to do something UK, 2000

fucked off adjective 1 fed up, disgruntled, annoyed, angry US, 1945. 2 having been told to fuck off or to have been on the receiving end of a similar injunction or intimation UK, 1998

fucked up adjective 1 drunk or drug-intoxicated US, 1944. 2 mentally unstable; depressed; anguished; UK, 1939. 3 despicable US, 1945. 4 ruined, spoiled, broken US, 1965

fucked-upness noun a depressed or ruined condition UK, 2003 fucken adjective used as a general intensifier. A variant spelling of FUCKING UK, 2001

fucker noun 1 a man, a spirited person. Often used affectionately or derisively; not generally a term of abuse unless combined with an appropriate adjective e.g. 'dirty', 'miserable', etc UK, 1893. 2 a contemptible person UK, 1890. 3 a nuisance, an awkward thing US, 1945

fuckery noun 1 oppression; the inherent corruption of a dominant society US, 1978. 2 things, concepts US, 2002. ► like fuckery vigorously UK, 2000

fuckface noun an offensive or despicable person US, 1945 fuckfaced adjective despicable, ugly US, 1940 fuck-features noun a contemptible person AUSTRALIA, 1972

fuck film; fuck flick noun a pornographic film US, 1970 fuckhead noun used as an all-purpose insulting term of address or descriptive noun for a despicable, stupid person US, 1966 fuckhole noun the vagina UK, 1893 fucking noun sexual intercourse. Well known but, aside from macho bragging and fantasising, kept safely between the sheets in a book or a bedroom; however in 1996, advertising the title of Mark Ravenhill's successful play, Shopping and Fucking, challenged and, perhaps, changed some media taboos UK, 1968 fucking adjective + adverb used as an attention-getting intensifier US, 1857

-fucking- infix used as an intensifier. One of the very few infix intensifiers used in the US or UK US, 1921 fucking AI used as an expression of surprise, approval or dismay US, 1947 fucking Ada! used for registering annoyance, frustration, etc UK, 1962 fucking arseholes! used as an exclamation of surprise, anger, amazement. An intensification of ARSEHOLES!; often lazily or deliberately reduced to 'KIN' ARSE OLES UK, 1984 fucking hell! used as an exclamation of surprise, anger, amazement. An intensification of HELL. Often lazily or deliberately reduced to 'KIN' ELL or run together as a single word UK, 1974

fucking machine noun a lustful lover AUSTRALIA, 1971

fucking new guy noun a recent arrival to combat. A key term and key concept in Vietnam US, 1977 fucking well adverb used for emphasis UK, 1922 fuck-in-law noun someone who has had sex with someone you have had sex with. Leading to a punning exploration of the 'sex degrees of separation' between people US, 1995 fuck it! used as a general declaration of rejection or dismissal; may also imply resignation to a situation UK, 1937

Fuck KKKanada! verb in Quebec, used for denigrating the Canadian confederacy CANADA, 2002

fuck knows noun an uncertain measure of time. Clipped from 'fuck knows how long' UK, 1997 fuck knuckle noun an annoying or despicable person; an idiot; a jerk AUSTRALIA, 1981

fuck load noun a considerable quantity US, 1988 fuck machine noun a very active sexual partner US, 1992 fuck-me adjective extremely sexually suggestive US, 1974 fuck me! used for registering disbelief, despair, surprise, satisfaction. Often used in a wry or semi-humorous manner; since the 1950s usage is likely to provoke the rejoinders 'not now' or 'later' or 'no thanks', etc. Also used in many combinations and elaborations, all with same sense. Often ironic UK, 1929 fuck me blue! used as an elaborate variant of 'fuck me!' US, 1988 fuck me harder! used as an elaborate and graphic expression of frustration US, 1991 fuck-me's noun very tight, form-fitting trousers on a man US, 1972 fuck movie noun a pornographic film US, 1967 fuck no used as an emphatic negative, 1979

fucknut noun a contemptible person US, 1988 fucko noun used as a jocular if derisive term of address US, 1973 fuck of a noun a considerable or notable quantity or example of something US, 1928 fuck-off noun 1 a person who shirks their responsibility and duty US, 1947. 2 a truant UK, 2000 fuck off verb 1 to leave, especially to leave immediately; also used as a threatening injection to inspire an immediate departure; 'fuck off!' UK, 1929. 2 used for dismissing a foolish statement UK, 1974. 3 to treat someone as unworthy of respect or notice US, 1962. 4 to postpone, to cancel UK, 2002

fuck-off adjective 1 obvious, unmissable UK, 1999. 2 describes an attitude of not caring for the opinions of others UK, 1999. 3 incompetent US, 1953 fuck off and die! go away – and don't come back! An emphatic variation of FUCK OFF. Abbreviated for text messaging as FOAD UK, 2000

fuckola used as an embellished 'fuck' in any of its senses US, 1998 fuck over verb to treat another person with contempt or cruelty in any way; to mistreat, to hurt emotionally or physically, to betray, to victimise, to cheat US, 1961 fuck pad noun a room, apartment or house maintained for the purpose of sexual liaisons US, 1975

fuckpole noun the penis US, 1966 fuckries noun trouble; wrongs. West Indian and UK black patois UK, 1994 fucks! used as an expression of anger, frustration or resignation. An elaboration of FUCK! UK: WALES, 2001

fucksome adjective sexually desirable UK, 1937 fuck spider! used for expressing extreme frustration SINGAPORE, 2002 fuck stick noun 1 the penis. Used by Saigon prostitutes during the Vietnam war, adopted by US soldiers US, 1976. 2 a despicable person US, 1958 fuck-struck noun infatuated or obsessed with someone because of their ability in sex US, 1966 fuck that for a lark!; fuck this for a lark! no chance!; used as an emphatic dismissal of any activity or notion that you have no wish to subscribe to UK, 1984 fuck the bourgeoisie used as a slogan by the hippie counterculture. The first time many young people heard of the bourgeoisie UK, 1970 fuck this for a game of soldiers!; fuck that for a game of soldiers! used as an emphatic dismissal of any activity or notion that you have no wish to subscribe to. A military variation of earlier 'fuck that for a game of skittles'; in turn an elaboration of 'fuck that' UK, 1979 fuck truck noun any car, truck or van used for sexual encounters AUSTRALIA, 1974 fuck-up noun a chronic, bungling, dismal failure (person or thing) US, 1944 fuck up verb 1 to spoil, to destroy UK, 1916. 2 to make a mistake US, 1945. 3 to fail dismally US, 1970. 4 to cause drink or drug intoxication, especially if extreme UK, 1970 fuckwad noun 1 the semen ejaculated at orgasm UK, 2000. 2 a contemptible fool; a despicable person; used as a general purpose pejorative. The negative suffix '-wad' intensified US, 1974 fuckwit noun an annoying or despicable person; a fool; an idiot. A blend of FUCK and NITWIT of HALF-WIT AUSTRALIA, 1968

fuckwit adjective stupid UK, 2003 fuck with verb 1 to meddle with; to interfere with; to play around with UK, 1999. 2 to impress US, 2001 fuck-wittage noun a state of stupidity UK, mid-1990s fuckwitted adjective idiotic AUSTRALIA, 1971

fucky adjective 1 trendy, sexy, stylish UK, 2003. 2 lustfully erotic AUSTRALIA, 1989. 3 used as an intensifier, replacing 'fucking' UK, 2000 fucky-fucky noun sex. Vietnam war usage US, 1961 fucky-fucky sauce noun semen US, 1972 fuck you! used contemptuously as an expression of disdain, dismissal or disbelief UK, 2001 fuck you and the horse you rode in on! used as an emphatic and insulting rejection US, 1971 fuck-you lizard noun a Vietnamese Tokay Gecko lizard. US soldiers in Vietnam thought that the gecko's call sounded as if the gecko was saying 'fuck you'. In polite company, the lizard was called an 'insulting lizard' US, 1970 fuck-your-buddy week noun a notional designation of the present week, explaining rude behaviour by your superiors US, 1960 fuck yourself!; go and fuck yourself! used as an expression of dismissal UK, 1879 fuck you sideways! used contemptuously as an expression of disdain or dismissal. An intensification of FUCK YOU! UK, 2001

fucky-sucky noun a combination of oral and vaginal sex US, 1974

fucky-sucky verb to engage in oral and then vaginal sex US, 1996

FUD noun uncertainty and doubt US, 1997

fuddle-duddle! used as a euphemism for 'fuck off'. Said by Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau in the House of Commons 16th February 1971 CANADA, 1979 fuddy noun an old-fashioned person. An abbreviation of FUDDY-DUDDY US, 1958

fuddy-dud noun an old-fashioned, inhibited, conventional person US, 1904 fuddy-duddy noun a fussy, old-fashioned, narrow-minded person US, 1904

fuddy-duddy adjective fussy, old-fashioned, narrow-minded US, 1907 fudge verb to cheat US, 1958 fudge used as a euphemism for 'fuck'. Based on the opening sound (as is 'sugar' for SHIT) UK, 1766 fudge factor noun an allowance made for possible error in estimating the time, material, or money needed for a job US, 1962 fudge nudger noun someone who engages in anal sex, especially a male homosexual UK, 2003 fudgepacker noun a gay man. Someone who packs 'fudge' (excrement), thus a graphic description of a participant in anal intercourse US, 1985 fudger noun a planespotter who claims greater success than is true UK, 2003 fuel noun 1 cocaine US, 1984. 2 marijuana US, 1993. 3 marijuana adulterated with psychoactive chemicals US, 1992

fuelled adjective very drunk US, 1997

fueler noun a drag racing car that does not use petrol as fuel US, 1970 fuel-tank justice noun a fistfight to settle a dispute at work. This type of conflict resolution often took place behind a fuel tank, near the work location but out of sight, usually after work US, 2001 fuel up verb to eat quickly US, 1991

fuate noun a hypodermic needle. From Cuban Spanish fuate (a whip) US, 1973

FUFA an army deserter during the Vietnam war – fed up with the fucking army US, 1990

fufnick noun in the car sales business, a car part or mechanism that has been altered in appearance but not in substance US, 1953 fufu noun 1 an eccentric person; a crazy person CAYMAN ISLANDS, 1985. 2 a homosexual US, 1993

fug used as a euphemism for 'fuck' in all its variant uses and derivatives US, 1958

Fugawi noun a mythical tribe or people, so named because after years of wandering they asked, 'Where the fuck are we?'. Military origins US, 1989 fugazi adjective crazy. Coined during the Vietnam war US, 1980

fugazzi adjective wrong. A disguising of FUCK and, possibly, ARSE UK, 2002

fugging adverb used as a euphemism for the intensifier 'fucking' US, 1983

fugly noun an extremely ugly person AUSTRALIA, 1970

fugly adjective very ugly. A blending of FUCKING (or 'funky') and 'ugly' US, 1984 full adjective 1 drunk US, 1844. 2 heavily drugged. A shortening of 'full of drugs' UK, 1978. 3 pregnant TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1976 full as a bull's bum adjective extremely full AUSTRALIA, 1971 full as a fairy's phone book adjective extremely full; very drunk. Alluding to the allegedly inherent fickle nature of homosexual males AUSTRALIA, 1978 full as a family jerry adjective completely full AUSTRALIA, 1982

full as a family po adjective extremely full; very drunk AUSTRALIA, 1982

full as a goog adjective extremely full; very drunk AUSTRALIA, 1941 full as a pommie complaint box adjective extremely full; very drunk AUSTRALIA, 1985

full as a state school adjective extremely full; very drunk AUSTRALIA, 1945

full as a teddy bear adjective very drunk CANADA, 1998

full as a tick adjective extremely full; very drunk AUSTRALIA, 1892

full-auto adjective (used of a firearm) fully automatic US, 1992

full belt adverb at top speed AUSTRALIA, 1901

full bottle noun full speed or maximum volume. A Londoners' term UK, 1977 full bull noun a colonel in the US Army US, 1962

full chart noun a sale with maximised profit realised from financing the sale US, 1980 full dress adjective of a motorcycle, fully equipped and accessorised US, 1973 full dresser noun a factory stock Harley Davidson Electra-Glide motorcycle with every possible accessory. Biker (motorcycle) usage US, 2000 full eek noun a face that is fully made-up UK, 2002 full French noun oral sex performed on a man until he ejaculates US, 1973 full Greek noun in pinball, a shot up and then back down a lane with a scoring device, scoring twice US, 1977 full guns adverb to the maximum US, 1947 full hand noun the state of being infected with multiple sexually transmitted diseases US, 1964 full harva noun anal intercourse UK, 2002

full hit noun everything UK, 2001 full house noun 1 a combination of several non-existent diseases US, 1947. 2 infection with both gonorrhea and syphilis US, 1981. 3 a state in which a person is infested with more than one form of parasite, such as head and body lice UK, 1977. 4 in drag racing and hot rodding, a highly modified engine US, 1948 full house and no flush noun the situation in which all available latrines are occupied US, 1947 full house mouse noun in hot rodding, a small car with a fully modified engine US, 1965 full monty; full monte; monte noun everything required within a given context. Usage widely popularised by the success of the film The Full Monty, 1997. Three plausible etymologies are well-rehearsed: from the nickname 'Monty', given to Field Marshal Montgomery, 1st Viscount of Alamein (1887–1976); the card game called Spanish Monte or Monte Bank; an abbreviation of Montague Burton, a high street menswear and tailoring company, retailers of a complete suit of clothing UK, 1985 full moon noun 1 a woman's menstrual period US, 1954. 2 buttocks of the large variety US, 1997. 3 a large slice of peyote cactus US, 1970

Full Nanaimo noun a garish dress outfit simulating official naval attire CANADA, 1989

full of beans adjective vigorous, energetic, in high spirits, full of life UK, 1854 full of gob adjective talkative; too talkative UK, 2002 full of run adjective (used of a racehorse) in good racing form US, 1951 full of shit adjective (of a person) deliberately or congenitally stupid, misleading or misinformed US, 1954 full of yourself adjective conceited, self-involved UK, 1866 full-on adjective maximum, complete, absolute, very US, 1970 full out adverb completely, intensely US, 1918 full personal noun sexual intercourse, as distinct from masturbation, when advertised as a service offered by a prostitute UK, 2003 full sails adverb in trucking, driving at top speed with the wind behind you US, 1976

full screw noun a corporal in the army UK, 1995 full service noun in the coded language of massage parlours, sexual intercourse US, 2002 full stop; full stop – end of story a catchphrase used as a firm signal that a matter is at an end. Verbalised punctuation, exactly matching US use of 'period' UK, 1976 full-timer noun a person who lives in a recreational vehicle all year US, 1997

full tit noun an all-out effort NEW ZEALAND, 1998

full tub noun in poker, a hand consisting of three cards of the same rank and a pair. Conventionally known as a 'full house' US, 1988 full up to dolly's wax replete with food; entirely full AUSTRALIA, 1945

full weight noun a package of drugs that weighs as much as it is claimed to weigh US, 1992 fully adverb very US, 1982

fuma d'Angola; fumo d'Angola noun marijuana. Portuguese, meaning 'smoke of Angola' US, 1969 fumble verb in college, to do poorly and receive a notification of academic deficiency US, 1968

fumble fingers noun clumsy hands US, 1986

fumed-up adjective marijuana-intoxicated UK, 2002

fumigate verb to take an enema before or after anal sex US, 1972 fummydiddle verb to waste time or to bungle US, 1975 fun noun a grain of opium US, 1964 fun verb to tease, to joke US, 1967 fun adjective amusing, interesting, light-hearted US, 1950 fun and frolics noun the testicles. Rhyming slang for BOLLOCKS, recorded as Anglo-Irish, 1960 fun and games noun 1 a (very) agreeable time; love-making, petting and/or sexual intercourse. The sexual sense is, of course, a specialisation of the general sense UK, 1961. 2 ironically, a disagreeable time; a brush with an enemy. Originally navy usage when the enemy was at sea UK, 1948 fun bags noun the female breasts US, 1965 fun book noun a collection of discount coupons given to guests by casinos US, 1991 fun box noun in skateboarding and foot-propelled scootering, any manufactured obstacle (usually made of wood) that provides varying configurations of ramps and surfaces for the boarder to employ US, 1992

funch noun sex during lunch US, 1976

Fun City nickname New York. Coined by Mayor John Lindsay in 1965 US, 1966

fundage noun money US, 1993

fundie; fundy; fundy noun 1 of religious faith, fundamentalist; a fundamentalist, especially a Christian fundamentalist but also applied in non-religious uses UK, 1982. 2 an expert, a teacher SOUTH AFRICA, 1937 funeral noun ► it's your funeral; your funeral it's of no concern to me (regardless of what the business, circumstance or situation that is being referred to is) US, 1985 funeral train noun a long line of cars whose progress is impeded by one slow driver who refuses to pull over and let them pass US, 1962 fun factor noun the ratio of a car's power to its weight US, 1992

fungee; fungy noun a fruit dumpling or a deep-dish blueberry pie CANADA, 1952 fungoo! fuck you! Often accompanied by graphic body language US, 1942 fun hog noun an obsessed enthusiast of thrill sports US, 1992 funk noun 1 a strong human smell; the smell of human sexual activity US, 1917. 2 semen; smegma US, 1976. 3 a genre of dance music that combines soul, blues, gospel and jazz with irresistible beats and rhythms. From the sense as 'the smell of sex' US, 1958. 4 a depressed state of mind UK, 1820

funk! used for expressing anger or disgust US, 1963 funk; funk it verb to lose your nerve, to have your courage or determination give way UK, 1857

funked out adjective drug-intoxicated US, 1971 funki dred noun a young black man who wears his hair in dreadlocks as a part of his fashionable style – not as a profession of Rastafarianism. Deliberate misspellings of FUNKY (fashionable) and 'dread' (a dreadlock wearer) UK, 1994 funk out verb to become exhausted BAHAMAS, 1982

funky adjective 1 sexual in a primal sense, earthy US, 1954. 2 bad, distasteful, dirty, smelly US, 1946. 3 earthy, fundamental, emotional, and when applied to music, characterised by blues tonalities US, 1954. 4 fashionable US, 1969. 5 in computing, descriptive of a feature that works imperfectly but not poorly enough to justify the time and expense to correct it US, 1991

Funky Fourth nickname the Fourth Army Division US, 1991

funky-fresh adjective fashionable, stylish US, 1982

funky yellow noun a variety of LSD UK, 1996

funny adjective 1 homosexual US, 1962. 2 odd, strange; hence, unwell UK, 1806 funny bomb noun a fragmenting explosive. Army use US, 1991 funny bone noun the extremity of the humerus, specifically that part of the elbow over which the ulnar nerve passes; a notional part of the body that is stimulated by comedy. A pun on 'humerus' and 'humorous', stressing the funny-peculiar sensation that is felt when the nerve is struck UK, 1840 funny book noun 1 a pornographic book or magazine US, 1976. 2 in trucking, a driver's daily log book US, 1976

funny boy noun a male homosexual US, 1977 funny bunny noun an eccentric US, 1966 funny business noun dishonest enterprises, criminal activities UK, 1891 funny car noun 1 in the language of car salesmen, a small car, especially a foreign-made car US, 1975. 2 in drag racing, a car with a drag racing chassis and engine covered with a fibreglass replica of a conventional car body US, 1960s funny cigarette noun a marijuana cigarette US, 1949 funny fag noun a marijuana cigarette. Formed on FAG (a cigarette) UK, 1998 funny farm noun a hospital for the mentally ill US, 1959

Funny Farm Express nickname in trucking, a Frozen Foods Express truck. A back-formation from the company's initials US, 1976 funny five minutes noun a temporary aberration UK, 2004 funny ha-ha; ha-ha funny adjective amusing, inviting of laughter, as opposed to 'funny' in the sense of peculiar. From the oft-cited contrast of FUNNY PECULIAR and 'funny ha-ha' by British novelist and dramatist Ian Hay UK, 1938 funny kine adjective strange, unexpected, abnormal. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1981 funny money noun 1 counterfeit or play currency US, 1938. 2 during the Vietnam war, military payment certificates. The certificates were handed out to the military instead of currency to prevent black market use of the US dollar. Denominations of the certificates ranged from five cents to 20 dollars US, 1965. 3 any foreign currency. A resolutely English coinage, disregarding Scottish notes and sneering at the Euro UK, 1984. 4 the scrip issued in Alberta by the Canadian Social Credit party, which advocated free credit and monetary reform; the party became known as the

'funny-money party' CANADA, 1958. 5 promotional coupons issued by casinos to match money bets US, 2003

funnyosity noun a funny-peculiar curiosity. By elision UK, 1962 funny papers noun 1 LSD. A reference to the cartoon images printed on, or simply the effect of, LSD impregnated blotting paper UK, 1996. 2 topographical maps. Vietnam war usage; a tad cynical about the accuracy of the military's maps US, 1980. 3 building plans US, 1989 funny peculiar adjective funny in the sense of peculiar, as opposed to 'funny ha-ha' (amusing) UK, 1938 funny puff noun a marijuana cigarette US, 1976 funny valentine noun a tablet of Dexedrine™, a central nervous system stimulant. A reference to the tablet's heart shape US, 1966 funny ward noun a hospital ward reserved for the mentally ill US, 1963 funny water noun any alcoholic beverage US, 1974 funster noun a joker; a person who reminds you how much fun we are having. The name of a model of Chrysler outboard boat and given a nod in 'Tenement Funster', a song composed by Roger Taylor and recorded by Queen in 1974 US, 1974

funsy-wunsy noun sex US, 1956

funsy-wunsy adjective fun, cute US, 1995 fun; foont; pfund noun a pound (£); money. From German pfund pronounced 'foont' and Yiddish funt, incorporated into parleyaree and thence polari UK, 1857 fun tickets noun money US, 1997 funsine noun a purportedly humorous single-interest fan magazine US, 1982 fur noun 1 the female pubic hair; a woman as a sex object. Contemporary use mainly in FURBURGER, FUR PIE, etc US, 1959. 2 a woman's hairpiece US, 1972. ► make the fur fly to cause uproar, to disturb the status quo US, 1814 furball noun an aerial dogfight involving several planes US, 1983 fur beef noun a prison sentence for rape US, 1976 furburger noun the vagina, especially as an object of oral pleasure-giving, a woman as a sex object. A term that is especially popular with Internet pornographers US, 1965 fur coat and no knickers applied to someone whose surface rectitude masks a less than respectable morality UK, 1980 fur cup noun the vagina US, 1966. ► drink of the fur cup to perform oral sex on a woman US, 1966 furious fifties noun the latitudes of 50 to 59 degrees south ANTARCTICA, 1906

furkid noun a pet whose owner makes much of it CANADA, 2002 furlough baby noun a baby born after a serviceman's brief visit home CANADA, 1989 furnace and organ noun a car radio and heater US, 1959 furniture noun a rifle's or a similar weapon's stock UK, 1995

furphy noun 1 a rumour. A similar semantic development can be seen with SCUTTLEBUTT. Rarely 'furfy' AUSTRALIA, 1915. 2 an iron water cart. From the name of a manufacturer of such carts AUSTRALIA, 1938 fur pie noun the vulva and pubic hair US, 1934 furra noun heroin UK, 2002

furry folds noun the vagina US, 2001

furry hoop noun the vagina AUSTRALIA, 1971

furry letterbox noun the vagina UK, 2001

furry monkey noun the vagina UK, 1999

fur shur adverb ► see: FER SHUR further noun ► in the further in the future. Used when saying goodbye US, 1973 further adverb ► have it further back to know a lot and share that knowledge in talk CANADA, 1972 furthermucker noun used as a humorous euphemism for 'motherfucker' US, 1965 fur tongue noun a sycophant or toady US, 1977 fur-trapper noun a thief who distracts hotel guests in the lobby or at the hotel desk long enough to steal their furs US, 1954

fusebox noun the head US, 1946 fuselighter noun an artillery soldier US, 1988 fuss noun ► don't make a fuss a bus. Rhyming slang UK, 1960 fuss verb used as a euphemistic replacement for 'fuck' US, 1974 fuss-arse noun a fussy person. In 2003, usage appears to be mainly limited to south and southwest Wales UK, 1961 fuss-box noun a finicky, fussy person UK, 1901 fussbudget noun a chronic worrier US, 1904

fussed adjective ► not fussed unconcerned UK, 1988 fusspot noun a very fussy person. A combination of 'fuss', as an indicator of the dominant characteristic, and -POT (a person) UK, 1921 fussy adjective finicky UK, 2002. ► not fussy not especially keen; unconcerned CANADA, 1984. ► not that fussy about having an aversion to something, not liking it CANADA, 2000

futz around verb to waste time; to tinker with no results US, 1930

futz up verb used as a euphemism for 'fuck up', meaning to bungle US, 1947 fuzz noun 1 a police officer; the police US, 1929. 2 the pubic hair, usually on a female US, 1981 fuzz verb to shuffle (a deck of playing cards) by simultaneously drawing cards from the bottom and top of the deck US, 1967 fuzzball noun a fart. Generally phrased in the manner of 'someone dropped a fuzzball' and 'who's made the fuzzballs?' UK, 1979 fuzz box noun in electric line work, a noise-producing voltage tester US, 1980

fuzzburger noun the vagina as an object of oral pleasure-giving US, 1967 fuzz-buster noun an electronic radar-detection device US, 1976

fuzzed adjective drug-intoxicated US, 1961

fuzzie noun a girl or young woman US, 1974 fuzz one; fuzz two; fuzz three noun used as a rating system by US forces in Vietnam for the films shown on base; the system rated films on the amount of pubic hair shown. The more, the better US, 1990 fuzz-spotter noun a rear view mirror. From FUZZ (the police) UK, 1979

fuzztail noun a horse US, 1958 fuzzy noun 1 in horse racing, a horse that is seen as certain to win a race US, 1956. 2 in a deck of playing cards, the joker US, 1988 fuzzy-wuzzy noun 1 any black or dark-skinned native of a foreign land. A soldier's term, originally for a Sudanese warrior, widened to include all of Africa and islands such as Fiji. Now offensive and disdainful UK, 1892. 2 (during World War 2) a native of Papua New Guinea AUSTRALIA, 1942. 3 a dust ball US, 1947 fuzzy-wuzzy angel noun (during World War 2) a native of Papua New Guinea who gave assistance to Australian service personnel AUSTRALIA, 1942

fwefen noun the vagina TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

f-word noun 1 the word 'fuck'. The intent is to specify one word, out of thousands that begin with 'f', that the speaker will not use US, 1970. 2 fusion (of musical genres). In music such fusion is viewed with great trepidation, stressed here by its deliberate confusion with 'fuck' UK, 2002

FYA used as Internet shorthand to mean 'for your amusement' US, 1997

FYI used in computer message shorthand to mean 'for your information' US, 1991

Gg

G noun 1 one thousand dollars; one thousand pounds; one thousand. From GRAND US, 1928. 2 a gram. Used mainly in a drug context UK, 1997. 3 one grain (of a narcotic) US, 1966. 4 a generic manufactured cigarette US, 1992. 5 a gang member US, 1990. 6 a close friend US, 1989. 7 a girlfriend US, 1991. 8 a G-string US, 1992

g' adjective good, especially in g'day, g'night, g'morning UK, 1961

gaar noun the buttocks TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987

gab noun unimportant conversation UK, 1970 gabacho; gavacho noun a white person. Derogatory border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans US, 1950 galash verb (of quilting) to lash the quilt into the frame with big stitches, so that the precise, tiny stitches of the quilting design itself may be done. The word may derive from blending the two words 'gab' and 'lash', as the quilting sessions are also occasions for talk CANADA, 1999 gabby noun any central nervous system stimulant US, 1987 gabbleguts noun a talkative person AUSTRALIA, 1966

gabby bench noun a bench favoured by idle talkers BAHAMAS, 1982

gabbyguts noun a talkative person AUSTRALIA, 1969

Gabby Hayes hat noun the field hat worn by US soldiers in Vietnam. Likened to the narrow brim and low crown of the hat worn by the US western film star Gabby Hayes US, 1977

gabfest noun a group talk, usually about gossip or trivial matters US, 1897

gabins noun money TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

Gabriel nickname a prisoner who plays the chapel organ UK, 1950 gabs noun trousers made of gabardine (a twill-woven cloth) UK, 1955 gack noun 1 cocaine UK, 1997. 2 a despised person US, 1997 gack verb in poker, to fold holding a hand that would have won had the player stayed in the game US, 1996 gack-blowing noun the process of anally ingesting cocaine UK, 2002 gacked adjective cocaine-intoxicated UK, 2003

gack-nag; gak-nag noun a cocaine user UK, 2002 gack scab noun a crusting of damaged mucous membrane that forms around the nostrils as the result of inhaling cocaine. Combines GACK (cocaine) with conventional 'scab' UK, 1999

gad noun in horse racing, the whip used by jockeys US, 1976 gadabout noun a Lada car. Citizens' band radio slang UK, 1981

Gadaffi noun the NAAFI (Navy, Army and Air Force Institutes). In Royal Air Force use; rhyming slang, based on the name of Libyan leader Colonel Moammar el Gadaffi UK, 2002

gad daigs! used for expressing surprise BAHAMAS, 1982

gadget noun 1 used as a general term for any cheating device used in a card game US, 1988. 2 in poker, any special rule applied to a game using wild cards US, 1967. 3 a G-string or similar female article of clothing US, 1980. 4 a US Air Force cadet US, 1944 gadgie noun 1 a man; an idiot or fool UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. 2 an old man. Urban youth slang UK, 2005 gaff noun 1 a location UK, 1999. 2 a place of residence; home; a shop or other place of business UK, 1932. 3 a prison cell. A narrower sense of 'a place of residence' UK, 1996. 4 a fair or fairground; a place of public amusement. Circus usage UK, 1753. 5 a cheating device US, 1893. 6 a device used to hide the shape of a male transvestite's penis US, 1973 gaff verb 1 to fix or rig a device US, 1934. 2 to cheat UK, 1811. 3 to talk aimlessly and pleasantly TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1994

gaffer noun 1 used as a form of address. A loose variation of 'gaffer' as 'boss' or 'old man', usually showing respect UK: ENGLAND, 1748. 2 an employer, a boss, a foreman UK, 1659. 3 a senior electrician in a film unit US, 1969. 4 on the railways, a track crew supervisor US, 1977. 5 in motorcycle racing, a leader of a racing team US, 1965. 6 in circus and carnival usage, a manager US, 1981 gaffle noun in street gambling, a protocol under which the winner shares his winnings with other players US, 1997 gaffle verb 1 to steal US, 1900. 2 to arrest; to catch US, 1954. 3 to cheat, to swindle, to defraud US, 1998

gaffs noun dice that have been altered for cheating US, 1950 gaff shot noun in pool, an elaborate shot, especially an illegal one US, 1985 gaffus noun a hypodermic syringe and needle, especially when improvised US, 1967 gafu noun a colossal mistake. A 'god almighty fuck-up' NEW ZEALAND, 1998 gag noun 1 a manner of doing something, a practice US, 1890. 2 in the television and film industries, a stunt US, 1988. 3 any artifice employed by a beggar to elicit sympathy US, 1962. 4 an event or activity contrived to provide amusement or excitement UK, 1996. 5 an indefinite prison sentence US, 1958. 6 a small group of close friends US, 1994. 7 a quick use of cocaine US, 1997. 8 in craps, a bet that the shooter will make his even-numbered point in pairs US, 1950 gag verb to panic in the face of a great challenge US, 1988 gaga adjective 1 infatuated, silly UK, 1917. 2 mad, especially as a result of senility UK, 1920 gag-awful adjective horrible US, 1981 gag noun 1 marijuana. Also variants 'gayge' and 'gages' US, 1934. 2 alcohol, especially whisky US, 1932. ► get a gag up to smoke a marijuana cigarette UK, 1998 gag butt noun a marijuana fashioned cigarette US, 1938 gaged adjective drug-intoxicated US, 1932 gag out; gauge out verb to become, or be, sleepy as a result of marijuana intoxication UK, 1996 gagers; gagers noun methcathinone US, 1998 gagged adjective disgusted US, 1968 gagging adjective desperately craving something, such as a cigarette, a drink or sex UK, 1997 gagging for a blagging adjective used of banks, etc, that exhibit poor security. A combination of GAGGING (desperate for something) and BLAGGING (a robbery with violence) UK, 2001

gaggle noun a formation of several military aircraft flying the same mission US, 1942 gaggle noun 1 MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003. 2 amphetamines UK, 2003 gag me!; gag me with a spoon! used for expressing disgust. A quintessential Valley Girl expression of disgust US, 1982 gagster noun a comedian UK, 1935

Gainesburger noun in the military, canned beef patties. Alluding to a dog food product. Vietnam war usage US, 1983

Gainesville green noun marijuana grown in or near Gainesville, Florida US, 1976 gal noun a woman or a girl. This gal is a woman with a chequered history: 'Cockney for girl', 1824, but then the pronunciation worked its way up the social ladder until, by about 1840, it was quite upper-class. From around 1850 a 'gal' was a 'servant girl' or a 'harlot', and from about 1860, a 'sweetheart' as used by Albert Chevalier in My Old Dutch, 1893. The current sense is recorded in US jazz and jive circles from the 1930s. By the turn of the millennium, having passed through respectability once again, 'gal' was patronising or kitsch, and rarely found without 'guys' UK, 1795 galactic adjective great, wonderful, amazing US, 1998 galah noun a fool. From the name of an endemic Australian cockatoo, commonly kept as a cage bird, and able to be coaxed into antic behaviour. The name of the bird comes from the Australian Aboriginal language Yuwaalaraay AUSTRALIA, 1938 galba noun the penis TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 gal block noun a section of a prison reserved for blatantly homosexual prisoners US, 1972 gal-boy noun an effeminate young man US, 1987 galf noun a girlfriend. A reduction of 'galfriend' US, 1979

Galilee stompers noun in homosexual usage, sandals US, 1987 gall noun effrontery, impudence US, 1882 gallery 13 noun a prison graveyard US, 1982 gallery god noun a theatre-goer who sits in the uppermost balcony US, 1947 gallon noun a container for liquid, without regard to the precise volume FIJI, 1993 gallop verb ► gallop the lizard (of a male) to masturbate AUSTRALIA, 1985

galloper noun a racehorse AUSTRALIA, 1960

galloping adjective worsening UK, 1785 galloping bones noun dice US, 1920 galloping dandruff noun body lice US, 1920 galloping dominoes noun dice US, 1918 galloping horse noun heroin. An elaboration of HORSE (heroin) US, 1959

gallops noun horse racing AUSTRALIA, 1950

gallup noun heroin. Building on the HORSE image UK, 2002 gallus; gallows adjective attractive, wonderful; self-confident, quick-witted, brave, ostentatious, nonchalant; also used as an intensifier. A phonetic slurring of 'gallows', suggesting 'fit for the gallows' and thus 'wicked' – a very early example of 'bad' means 'good'. In the US from the 1840s to 1940s UK, 1789 galoot; galoot noun a man, especially if hulking, stupid, boorish, foolish, clumsy or otherwise objectionable. Possibly from Dutch geluut (a eunuch) UK, 1818 gal pal noun 1 a woman's female friend US, 2001. 2 a female friend of a male homosexual US, 1977 gal tank noun a holding cell in a jail reserved for homosexual prisoners US, 1972 galvanise noun sheets of corrugated iron BARBADOS, 1965 galvo noun galvanised iron. Iron corrugated sheets are a common building material in rural Australia AUSTRALIA, 1945 gam noun 1 the leg. Originally applied to a crippled leg, later to a woman's leg UK, 1785. 2 an act of oral sex. Also variant 'gambo' UK, 1954 gam verb 1 to pretend IRELAND, 1989. 2 to boast US, 1970. 3 to perform oral sex UK, 1910 gamahuche noun an act of oral sex. Possibly a combination of Scots dialect words gam (gum, mouth) and roosh (rush), hence a 'rushing into the mouth'; more likely from French gamahucher which shares the same sense UK, 1865

gambage noun showing off TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1940

Gamble and Procter; gamble noun a doctor. Rhyming slang, formed on a reversal of the pharmaceutical company Procter and Gamble UK, 1998 gambler's bankroll; gambler's roll noun a bankroll consisting of a large-denomination note on the outside of a number of small-denomination notes US, 1986 game noun 1 an athlete's style and ability US, 1997. 2 a person's style, visual and oral US, 1976. 3 a conventional attitude. A counterculture concept that refuses to accept non-drop-out society as anything more than a game with unnecessary rules UK, 1967. 4 a criminal activity; crime as a profession UK, 1739. 5 business AUSTRALIA, 1877. 6 an attempt to con US, 1975. 7 sex appeal US, 1999. 8 an interest in the opposite sex US, 2001. 9 a romantic or sexual relationship outside your primary relationship. Synonymous with PLAY AROUND; also, 'game' has strong sexual overtones, as in ON THE GAME (engaged in prostitution) UK, 1958. ► give the game away to cease doing something; to abandon; to give up AUSTRALIA, 1953. ► on the game to be working as a prostitute UK, 1898. ► out of the game married, engaged or dating only one person US, 2001. ► run a game to fool, to swindle US, 1940. ► the game the business of prostitution UK, 1898. ► the Game the criminal lifestyle US, 1976 game verb 1 to deceive, to mislead, to trick US, 1963. 2 to flirt; to woo US, 1988 game! used for expressing that enough is enough US, 1997 game as a pissant adjective very courageous AUSTRALIA, 1944 game face noun in sports, a serious expression and demeanour reflecting complete concentration on the competition at hand. Now used outside of sports, extended to any serious situation US, 1972

gameless adjective unskilled US, 1983 game of nap noun 1 a cap. Rhyming slang, from the card game UK, 1976. 2 an act of defecation. Rhyming slang for CRAP UK, 1992 game over! used for expressing that enough is enough US, 1997 gamer noun 1 a video game or role-playing game enthusiast US, 1977. 2 an athlete who can always be counted on for a gritty, all-out effort US, 1977. 3 a person engaged in swindles and hustles as a way of life US, 1975 game refuge noun any institution where traffic violators who are under pursuit are free from further pursuit once they pass the gates US, 1962 games and sports; games noun warts. Rhyming slang UK, 2003 gamey eye noun a tendency to flirt IRELAND, 1995

gamma delta iota noun a college student who is not a fraternity or sorority member; a notional fraternity or sorority comprised of students who don't belong to fraternities or sororities. A back-formation from GDI (god damn independent) US, 2000 gammon noun one microgram. The unit of measurement for LSD doses, even in the non-metric US US, 1969 gammon rasher noun a superlative thing. Rhyming slang for SMASHER UK, 1974

gammy adjective 1 inferior, of low quality. As in 'gammy gear' (inferior goods) UK, 1979. 2 lame UK, 1879 gammy chant noun a bad situation IRELAND, 1997

gamoosh noun a fellow, usually not referring to a winner in the zero-sum game of life US, 1988

gamot noun heroin; morphine UK, 1998 gander noun a look US, 1914. ► cop a gander to look at someone or something, especially with discretion US, 1950. ► get your gander up to become annoyed or angry. A variation, probably by mishearing, of DANDER UK, 2002

Gandhi's flipflop noun used in similes as an example of extreme dryness. Mahatma Gandhi, 1869–1948, wore sandals UK, 1999

gandies noun underwear US, 1970

G and T noun gin and tonic. Initialism UK, 1966

gandy noun in Newfoundland, a pancake CANADA, 1966

gandy dancer noun 1 a railway track worker. Thought to be so called from the Gandy Manufacturing Company of Chicago, which made many of the tools used by the section gangs US, 1918. 2 a road worker US, 1976. 3 in trucking, a tractor trailer that weaves back and forth on the road US, 1971

gandy gang noun on the railways, a crew of track workers US, 1977 gang noun 1 a work crew. Still heard on occasion, but largely replaced with the standard English 'crew' US, 1989. 2 a person's social group. From earlier conventional senses UK, 1945. 3 a great many US, 1811. 4 marijuana BAHAMAS, 1982 gang verb to engage in serial, consecutive sex, homosexual or heterosexual, especially to engage in multiple rape. A shortened form of GANGBANG UK, 1972 gangbang noun 1 successive, serial copulation between a single person and multiple partners US, 1945. 2 an orgy at which several couples have sex. 3 a cluster of reporters descending on a public figure with microphones, cameras, notepads and shouted questions. Sometimes shortened to 'bang' or the variant 'major bang' US, 2001. 4 a social gathering. A humorously ironic use of the orgiastic sense UK, 1977. 5 a group of friends talking together on citizens' band radio US, 1977. 6 a television writing session involving multiple writers US, 1997. 7 the utilization of a large number of computer programmers to create a product in a short period of time US, 1991. 8 a fight between youth gangs US, 1967 gangbang verb 1 to engage in successive, serial copulation with multiple partners. Also in figurative use US, 1949. 2 to be an active part of a gang; to battle another gang US, 1968

gangbanger noun a youth gang member US, 1969 gangbuster noun a zealous, energetic police official or prosecutor who targets organised crime US, 1936 gangbusters noun ► like gangbusters aggressively, with force US, 1940 gang cheats noun two or more people working as confederates in a cheating scheme US, 1988 gange noun marijuana. A shortening of GANJA (marijuana) US, 1971 gang-fuck noun an uncoordinated mess UK, 1995 gang-fuck verb to engage in serial, consecutive sex, homosexual or heterosexual US, 1916 gangie noun Serial sex between one person and multiple, partners, consensual or not NEW ZEALAND, 1971 gangplank noun a bridge US, 1976 gangplank fever noun in the military, a fear of transfer to an assignment overseas US, 1945 gang-shag noun successive, serial copulation between a single person and multiple partners US, 1927 gang-splash noun serial sex between one person and multiple partners, heterosexual or homosexual, consensual or not AUSTRALIA, 1971 gangsta noun a young black member of a (criminal) gang. A deliberate respelling of 'gangster' US, 1998 gangsta adjective good, exciting. Hip-hop US, 2002 gangsta-lette noun a female gang member US, 2001 gangstamuthafucka noun a gangster, especially one who is considered powerful. An intensification of GANGSTA UK, 1997 gangsta rap; g-rap noun a rap music genre characterised by explicit sex and violence which, it is claimed, reflects black urban existence. Combines GANGSTA or 'g' (a black urban anti-hero) with RAP (a musical style) US, 1992 gangsta rapper noun a rap artist who reflects on the black urban experience in an explicitly sexual and violent manner. GANGSTA RAP has been an influential music genre since the late 1980s US, 1990 gangster noun 1 marijuana. Promotes the outlaw self-image enjoyed by smokers of the illegal substance; possibly playing on GANJA US, 1960. 2 a cigarette US, 1972 gangster bitch noun a female who associates with youth gang members US, 2001 gangster doors noun any four-door sedan US, 1980 gangster lean noun 1 a style of driving a car in which the driver leans towards the right side of the car, leaning on an arm rest, steering with the left hand; by extension, a slouching walk or posture US, 1973. 2 a car with hydraulic shock absorbers that are set to leave the car higher on one side than the other US, 1991 gangster pill noun any barbiturate or other central nervous system depressant US, 1994 gangster whitewalls noun showy, flashy, whitewalled tyres US, 1972 gang-up noun serial sex between multiple active participants and a single passive one US, 1957

gangy noun a close friend; a fellow member of a clique. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982 ganja noun 1 marijuana, notably from Jamaica. Hindi word for 'cannabis', possibly derived from BHANG and adopted around 1920 by 'Anglo-Indian drug addicts', by 1970 the UK Home Office 'could ascribe it to West Indians'. Celebrated in song by, among many others, Clancy Eccles, 'Ganja Free', 1972 and Leslie Butler, 'Ashanti Ganja Dub', 1975. With many spelling variations including 'ganj', 'ganjah', 'ganjuh' and 'ganga' JAMAICA, 1972. 2 the white establishment US, 2000

ganja adjective white-skinned US, 2000

gank noun 1 marijuana US, 1989. 2 a substance sold as an illegal drug that is actually fake US, 1994 gank verb 1 to steal US, 1996. 2 in Internet game-playing, to 'kill' a player, especially unfairly. Also used as a noun UK, 2003

ganky adjective ugly, repulsive IRELAND, 2004

GAP noun the Great American Public US, 1965 gap verb to watch, to witness a crime US, 1949. ► gap it to make a quick exit SOUTH AFRICA, 2000. ► gap your axe to annoy NEW ZEALAND, 1998 gape noun a completely relaxed, distended anus. A term used by anal sex fetishists, especially on the Internet US, 1999

gape verb to idle, to wander US, 1966 gaper noun 1 a dolt. An abbreviation of GAPING ASSHOLE US, 1966. 2 a novice skier, or a non-skier watching others ski US, 1990. 3 a mirror US, 1931

gaper-block; gapers' block noun a traffic problem created by motorists slowing down to gawk at an accident US, 1967 gaping and flaming adjective (used of a party) wild, rowdy, fun US, 1968

gaping asshole noun a dolt US, 1966

GAPO noun used as an abbreviation of gorilla armpit odour US, 1967

gaposis noun a notional disease involving a gap of any kind US, 1942 gap out verb to daydream and miss something for lack of attention CANADA, 1993 gapper noun a mirror. Prisoner usage to describe a mirror used to watch for approaching guards as the prisoners do something which they ought not to do US, 1934 gappings noun a salary US, 1955 gap up verb to fill capsules with a powdered narcotic US, 1971 gar noun 1 a black person. An abbreviation of NIGGER US, 1962. 2 marijuana rolled in cigar leaf US, 2001 gar adjective excellent, pleasing US, 1993 garage noun a subset of a criminal organisation US, 1975 garage action noun a legal action for libel (usually against a newspaper) brought by the police on their own behalf. The damages awarded are often substantial enough to buy a new garage for the police officer's home UK, 1998 garage band noun an amateur rock group with a basic, three-chord approach to music. From the custom of practising in the garage at the home of the parents of a band member US, 1977 garage man's companion noun a truck manufactured by General Motors Corporation. A back-formation from the initials GMC US, 1971 garans! certainly. Hawaiian youth usage; shortened from 'guaranteed' US, 1981 garbage noun 1 anything of poor quality or little or no worth; nonsense. From the sense as 'refuse' UK, 1592. 2 heroin; low quality heroin US, 1962. 3 farm produce US, 1976. 4 any and all food, usually low in protein and high in carbohydrate, not in a bodybuilder's diet US, 1984. 5 cocktail garnishes US, 1998. 6 in hot rodding, a surfeit of accessories unrelated to the car's performance US, 1960. 7 in poker, the cards that have been discarded US, 1967 garbage barge noun a tuna fish sandwich US, 1985 garbage down verb to eat quickly US, 1959 garbage dump noun the California State Prison at San Quentin US, 1992 garbage guts noun a glutton AUSTRALIA, 1977 garbage hauler noun a truck driver hauling fruit or vegetables US, 1971 garbage head noun an addict who will use any substance available. A term used in twelve-step recovery programmes such as Alcoholics Anonymous US, 1970 garbage in – garbage out a catchphrase employed as an admonition to computer users: if you program mistakes into a computer then an output of rubbish will surely result US, 1976 garbage mouth noun a person who regularly uses profanity US, 1970 garbage rock noun crack cocaine, especially of inferior quality UK, 1998 garbage shot noun in pool, a shot made with luck, not with skill US, 1979 garbage stand noun in circus and carnival usage, a novelty concession US, 1981 garbage time noun the minutes at the end of an athletic contest when the outcome is not in doubt and substitute players are used freely by either or both teams; games at the end of a season when a team's record is such that a win or loss will not make a difference and substitute players are freely used US, 1971

garbage up verb 1 to eat US, 1955. 2 in bodybuilding, to eat food that is not in your regular diet US, 1984 garbage wagon noun a standard Harley-Davidson motorcycle. The term came from those who stripped the Harley of all the 'garbage' they didn't want, keeping only the functional necessities US, 1966 garbanzos noun the female breasts US, 1982 garbo noun 1 a rubbish collector AUSTRALIA, 1953. 2 a rubbish bin AUSTRALIA, 1987

garbologist noun a rubbish collector AUSTRALIA, 1973 garburator noun a garbage disposal unit mounted in the sink CANADA, 1998 garden noun 1 a woman's pubic hair US, 1982. 2 a railway yard US, 1946

Gardena miracle noun in a game of poker, a good hand drawn after a poor dealt hand. Gardena is a city near Los Angeles where poker rooms are legal US, 1982 gardener noun 1 a bookmaker who extends his prices beyond his competitors AUSTRALIA, 1989. 2 in pool, a betting player who wins US, 1990 garden gate noun 1 eight pounds, £8 UK, 1992. 2 a magistrate. Rhyming slang UK, 1859 garden gate verb to perform oral sex on a woman. Rhyming slang for PLATE (to engage oral sex) UK, 2002 garden gnome noun a comb. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 garden plant; garden noun an aunt. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 garden punk noun a male homosexual BAHAMAS, 1982

garden tool noun a promiscuous girl or woman. Alluding, of course, to a 'hoe' US, 1990

Gareth Gate verb to masturbate. Rhyming slang, inspired by the name of pop singer Gareth Gates (b.1984) who came to fame in 2002 UK, 2003

Gareth Hunt noun an unpleasant or despicable person. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of a well known London-born actor (1943–2007) UK, 2003 gargle noun alcoholic drink AUSTRALIA, 1965

gark noun a scratch NEW ZEALAND, 1998

garlo noun a police officer. English gypsy use UK, 2000 garm noun clothing; an item of clothing. An abbreviation of 'garment'; current in the black community UK, 1997 garmed up adjective fashionably or smartly dressed UK, 1997 gar-mouth verb to issue threats which cannot and will not be implemented. In honour of the 'gar', a fish of the pike family with long jaws – a big mouth US, 1984 garms noun clothes. From conventional garments UK, 2006 garn! go on! AUSTRALIA, 1911

garnish noun cash US, 2003

garnot noun heroin UK, 2002

Garrison finish noun in horse racing, a sprinting finish by a horse that has lagged back until the final moment US, 1890 garrity adjective madly over-excited. Presumably after someone who exhibited such characteristics; possibly Freddie Garrity (b.1940), prancing and dancing lead singer of Freddie & The Dreamers, a 1960s pop group from Manchester UK, 1999

Gary Ablett noun a tablet, especially of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Rhyming slang, ironically based on Australian Rules Football player Gary Ablett whose career was marred by a controversial involvement with drink and drugs. The etymology is confused by Liverpool FC player Gary Ablett AUSTRALIA, 1992

Gary Cooper noun in craps, a roll of 12. From Cooper's starring role in the western film High Noon US, 1983

Gary Glitter noun the anus; a lavatory. Rhyming slang for SHITTER. The original 1980s use for entertainer Gary Glitter (Paul Francis Gadd b.1944), as inspiration for a rhyming slang term was as 'bitter' (beer), however in the mid-90s allegations of under-age sex changed the public's perception and Gary Glitter became an ARSEHOLE or was associated with toilets. In 2006 he was found guilty in Vietnam of charges concerning under-age sex. Unlike much rhyming slang this is generally used in full, if only to avoid confusion with GARY LINEKER (vinegar) UK, 2001

Gary Lineker noun vinegar. Imprecise rhyming slang, based on the name of Gary Lineker (b.1960), a popular footballer and television personality. Walkers Crisps, whose advertising he is closely associated with, introduced a 'Salt and Lineker' flavour after this slang term was in circulation UK, 1998

Gary Player; Gary noun an 'all-dayer' event. Rhyming slang, based on the name of South African golfer Gary Player (b.1936) UK, 2002

gas noun 1 a pleasing and/or amusing experience or situation. A jazz term that slipped into mainstream youth slang US, 1953. 2 anabolic steroids. The term drew national attention in the US on 14th July 1994, when Terry Bollea (aka Hulk Hogan) testified in criminal proceedings against wrestling promoter Vince McMahon in Uniondale, New York. Asked if he had heard any slang for steroids, Bollea/Hogan answered 'Juice. Gas' US, 1994. 3 batteries. From the radio as CAR metaphor US, 2002. 4 money SOUTH AFRICA, 1977. 5 in pool, momentum or force US, 1993. ► cut the gas to stop talking US, 1951. ► take gas to be knocked from a surfboard by a wave; to fall from a skateboard US, 1963. ► take the gas to lose your composure US, 1961 gas verb 1 to talk idly; to chatter. The 'gas' is hot air US, 1847. 2 to tease, to joke, to kid US, 1847. 3 to please, to excite US, 1941. 4 to inhale glue or any volatile solvent for the intoxicating effect US, 1970. 5 to straighten (hair) with chemicals and heat US, 1953

gasbag noun a very talkative individual, a boaster, a person of too many words US, 1862 gas-cooker verb to catch out; to put in a difficult position; to trick or delude. Glasgow rhyming slang for SNOOKER UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

gasech noun a face UK, 1992 gas 'em stop noun a petrol station US, 1976 gas factor noun (among Canadian forces personnel) a measure of a person's commitment to a project. The initials represent 'give a shit' CANADA, 1995 gas gun noun a large-bore shotgun loaded with tear-gas canisters US, 1962 gas-guzzler noun a motor vehicle that demands immoderate quantities of fuel, either by design or in consequence of a driver's excessive demands US, 1973 gash noun 1 the vagina; sex with a woman; a woman as a sex object US, 1866. 2 a male homosexual who is sexually passive US, 1950. 3 rubbish, refuse. A British contribution to South Pole slang ANTARCTICA, 1958. 4 a second helping of food AUSTRALIA, 1943. 5 marijuana US, 1986 gash verb to have sex US, 1989 gash adjective useless, of poor quality UK, 1997 gas-head noun 1 an abuser of industrial solvents for their psychoactive effects UK, 1996. 2 a person with chemically straightened hair US, 1968 gash hound noun a man who is obsessed with women US, 1955 gasket noun 1 any improvised seal between the end of a dropper and the hub of a needle US, 1970. 2 a doughnut US, 1942 gasket jint; gasket noun a pint, especially of beer. Glasgow rhyming slang, formed on the local pronunciation of 'joint' UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 gasoline! in oil drilling, used as a shouted warning that a boss is approaching US, 1954 gasoline alley noun in motor racing, the area at the race track where race teams repair and prepare cars for the race US, 1965 gasp and grunt; grunt noun the vagina; a woman or women sexually objectified. Rhyming slang for CUNT UK, 1961 gas-passer noun an anaesthetist US, 1961 gasper noun 1 a cigarette. Descriptive of the respiratory effect of tobacco-smoking. Originally military slang for an inferior cigarette, popularised in World War 1, in wider usage by 1930 UK, 1914. 2 a marijuana cigarette. From the earlier sense (cigarette) US, 1984. 3 something that is astonishing US, 1970. 4 in typography, an exclamation mark (!) UK, 2003

Gaspers nickname the Asper family of Winnipeg, Manitoba, socially, culturally and politically prominent CANADA, 2002

gasper stick noun a marijuana cigarette UK, 1998

Gaspe steak noun fried bologna CANADA, 1998 gas pump jock noun in the days before self-service, a petrol station attendant US, 1986 gas queen noun a male homosexual who patronizes young male prostitutes working on the street US, 1997 gassed adjective 1 tipsy, drunk. World War 1 military use from the stupefying effects of gas; then, its origins soon forgotten, just another synonym for 'drunk' US, 1919. 2 describes a drug that is considered to be terrific or very enjoyable, used especially of marijuana, US, 1946 gasser noun 1 something wonderful, very exceptional; extraordinarily successful US, 1944. 2 a cigarette. Partidge suggests 'perhaps a slovening of the synonym GASPER'; a darker etymology reflecting the cough-inducing and life-shortening properties of tobacco is also possible AUSTRALIA, 1984. 3 an anaesthetist. Medical slang. Often teamed with surgeons as 'gassers and SLASHERS' UK, 2002. 4 in drag racing, a car that only uses petrol for fuel US, 1965. 5 in oil drilling, a well that produces no oil US, 1954 gassy adjective excellent, pleasant, humorous US, 1962

Gastown noun now a section of downtown Vancouver, named after a Victorian-era saloonkeeper CANADA, 1952

gastro noun gastroenteritis AUSTRALIA, 1975

gat noun 1 a gun, especially a pistol; in the Royal Air Force, a rifle US, 1897. 2 the anus. From Afrikaans (a hole) SOUTH AFRICA, 1968

gat verb to shoot US, 1990 gat-creeper noun a sycophant. From GAT (the anus), and kruiper (creeper) SOUTH AFRICA, 1985 gate noun 1 a jazz musician; hence a fashionable man. A pun on 'swinging' (swing gate, abbreviated from GATOR US, 1936. 2 used as a term of address among jazz lovers of the 1930s and 40s US, 1936.

3 a young person US, 1936. 4 release from prison US, 1966. 5 a vein into which a drug is injected US, 1986. 6 the mouth US, 1936 gate verb in private dice games, to stop the dice while rolling, either as a superstition or to check for cheating US, 1963

-gate suffix used as an embellishment of a noun or name to suggest a far-reaching political scandal. From the Watergate scandal that consumed and ultimately destroyed the Nixon presidency between 1972 (the burglary) and 1974 (the resignation from office) US, 1973 gate-crash verb to achieve entrance to a place, or an event such as a party, without proper credentials or an invitation US, 1922 gate-crasher noun a person who achieves entrance to a place, or an event such as a party, without proper credentials or an invitation US, 1927 gate-crashing noun the act of achieving entrance to a place, or an event such as a party, without proper credentials or an invitation US, 1927 gate fever noun the anxiety suffered by prisoners as they approach their release date UK, 1958 gate happy adjective (of prisoners) exuberant or excited at the approach of a release date UK, 1996 gate jaw noun in trucking, a driver who monopolises conversation on the citizens' band radio US, 1976 gatekeeper noun a person who introduces another to a first LSD experience US, 1967 gate money noun the cash given to a prisoner upon release from prison US, 1931

gatemouth noun a gossip US, 1944

Gatemouth nickname jazz trumpeter Louis Armstrong (1901–1971) US, 1936 gates noun 1 used as a term of address, male-to-male, usually collegial US, 1936. 2 marijuana US, 1966. 3 a house BERMUDA, 1985

Gateshead noun ► get out at Gateshead during sex, to withdraw the penis from the vagina just before ejaculation, to practise coitus interruptus UK, 1970 gates of Rome noun home. Rhyming slang UK, 1960 gate to heaven; jade gate noun the vagina. Notable for what seems to be the first slang uses of 'gate' as 'vagina' – not for the sub-'Perfumed Garden'-style of metaphorical imagery US, 2001

Gateway to the South noun Balham, a district in South London. An ironic title, coined in the early 1960s for a satirical 'travelogue' 'Balham – Gateway to the South' written by Frank Muir and performed by Peter Sellers UK, 1977 gatey adjective of prisoners, suffering anxiety as the date of release from prison approaches UK, 1959 gather noun a police officer UK, 1999 gather verb to arrest. Usually as the passive 'be gathered' AUSTRALIA, 1975

Gatnick noun London Gatwick airport. A pun on NICK (to steal), based on the reputation of the baggage handlers UK, 1999

gato noun heroin. Spanish gato (a cat) US, 1980 gator noun 1 an alligator US, 1844. 2 an all-purpose male form of address. Originally a Negro abbreviation of 'alligator'; in the 1930s it was adopted into JIVE (black/jazz slang) as an equivalent of CAT (a man); gato is a 'male cat' in Spanish. Eventually rock 'n' roll spread the word and it died out US, 1944. 3 a swing jazz enthusiast. An abbreviation of ALLIGATOR US, 1944

Gator nickname Ron Guidry (b.1950), one of the best pitchers to ever play for the New York Yankees (1975–88). Guidry came from Louisiana, a state with swamps that are home to alligators US, 1978

gator boy; gator girl noun a member of the Seminole Indian tribe US, 1963 gator grip noun in television and film-making, a clamp used to attach lights. An abbreviation of 'alligator grip', from the resemblance to an alligator's jaws US, 1987

gatted adjective drunk UK, 2002 gatter noun a drink; alcohol, especially beer. English gypsy use UK, 1841 gattered adjective drunk. Possibly a variation of GUTTERED UK, 2003 gauching adjective used to describe the glazed-eyed, open-mouthed state of an intoxicated drug taker UK, 1996 gauge noun a shotgun US, 1993 gavel and wig; gavel verb to probe your eye or your anus in order to relieve an irritation. Rhyming slang for TWIG UK, 1992 gavvers noun the police. English gypsy and underworld use UK, 2000 gawd; gaw; gor noun god. Phonetic spelling of Cockney pronunciation, subsequently treated as almost euphemistic UK, 1877 gawd love-a-duck!; cor love-a-duck! used as a mild expression of shock or surprise. A variation of LORD LOVE-A-DUCK! UK, 1948

gawjo noun ▷ see: GORGER gawk noun in circus and carnival usage, a local who loiters as the show is assembled or taken down US, 1981 gay noun a homosexual US, 1953 gay adjective 1 homosexual US, 1933. 2 catering to or patronised by homosexuals US, 1954. 3 bad, stupid, out of style. General pejorative in juvenile use; a reversal of the politically correct norm much as 'good' is BAD and WICKED is 'good' US, 1978 gay 90s noun US Treasury 3.5% bonds issued in 1958, due to return in 1990 US, 1960 gay and frisky noun whisky. Rhyming slang UK, 1919 gay and hearty noun a party. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1969 gay as a French horn adjective undoubtedly homosexual UK, 2001 gay-ass adjective extremely out of fashion CANADA, 2002 gay bar noun a bar catering to a homosexual clientele US, 1953 gay bashing noun violent beatings targeted on homosexuals US, 1997 gay boy noun a homosexual male, especially one who is flamboyant and young US, 1945 gaycat verb to have a good, carefree time US, 1924 gay chicken noun a young homosexual male US, 1959 gaydar; gadar noun the perceived or real ability of one homosexual to sense intuitively that another person is homosexual US, 1982 gayer noun a homosexual. An elaboration of GAY UK, 2003 gay for pay adjective said of a heterosexual man who portrays a homosexual man in a film or other theatrical performance US, 1997 gay ghetto noun a section of a city largely inhabited by openly homosexual men. Probably coined by Martin Levine, who wrote 'Gay Ghetto', published in Journal of Homosexuality, Volume 4 (1979). Examples include Greenwich Village and Chelsea in New York, the North Side in Chicago and the Castro in San Francisco. Unlike all other ghettos, they are affluent US, 1971 gay gordon noun a traffic warden. Rhyming slang, probably formed from the Gay Gordons, a traditional Scottish dance UK, 1992 gaylord noun a homosexual man. An elaboration of GAY via a somewhat obscure male forename; introduced to the UK, and possibly coined by, comedian Sacha Baron-Cohen (b.1970) UK, 2001 gayly adverb in a manner that is recognised as obviously homosexual UK, 2002 gay-marry verb to commit to a lifelong relationship with someone of the same sex US, 1999 gaymo noun used as an insult by very young children UK, 2004 gayola; gay-ola noun extortion of homosexuals by the police US, 1960 gay plague noun AIDS. This term, with overtones of pious hate and biblical retribution, spread the misconception that the AIDS epidemic was exclusively reserved for 'ungodly' homosexuals US, 1982 gay radar noun the ability to recognise a homosexual AUSTRALIA, 1994 gay-tastic adjective especially wonderful or fabulous in a way that appeals to homosexuals US, 2004 gay 'til graduation adjective temporarily or situationally homosexual or bisexual US, 1996

Gaza II noun Concordia University, Montreal, formed of Sir George and Loyola Universities in 1974 CANADA, 2002

gazebbies noun the female breasts. Vietnam war usage US, 1965 gazelle noun ► in a gazelle feeling good. Obsolete teen slang CANADA, 1946 gazillion noun a very large, if indefinite, number US, 1995 gazongas noun the female breasts US, 1978 gazook noun 1 a loud lout US, 1901. 2 a boy US, 1949 gazookus noun in carnival usage, a genuine article US, 1924 gazoony noun 1 a fellow, especially a low-life US, 1914. 2 a manual labourer in a carnival US, 1966. 3 the passive participant in anal sex US, 1918 gazoozie verb to swindle US, 1992 gazump verb 1 to raise the selling-price of a property after agreeing the terms of sale; hence to outbid an agreed sale. A specialisation of the sense 'to swindle' UK, 1971. 2 to swindle UK, 1928 gazumping noun the act of raising the selling-price of a property after agreeing the terms of sale; hence, outbidding an agreed sale. From the verb GAZUMP UK, 1971

gazunder noun a chamberpot AUSTRALIA, 1981

gazunder verb of a house-owner or a swindler, to reduce the selling price of a property, especially shortly before exchange of contracts, with a threat that the sale must go through on the new terms. A play on GAZUMP UK, 1988

GB noun 1 sex between one person and multiple, sequential partners. An abbreviation of GANG BANG US, 1972. 2 any barbiturate or central nervous system depressant. An abbreviation of GOOFBALL US, 1966. 3 goodbye US, 1945

GBH noun 1 the criminal charges of grievous bodily harm and malicious wounding; the act of causing serious injury. Initialism UK, 1949. 2 the recreational drug GHB. A jumbling of the letters in GHB gives an abbreviation for GRIEVOUS BODILY HARM UK, 1996

GBH of the brain noun the activity of studying. From GBH (physical assault and damage) UK, 1996

GBH of the eardrums noun loud music. From GBH (physical assault and damage) UK, 1996

GBH of the earhole; GBH of the ear noun a verbal assault. Extended from the criminal offence of GBH (grievous bodily harm). Usually jocular UK, 1984

G bit noun a prison sentence to a federal penitentiary US, 1950

g'bye goodbye UK, 1925

G-car noun a federal law enforcement agency car US, 1981

GCM! used as an expression of frustration or wonder. An initialism of 'God, Christ, Moses' SOUTH AFRICA, 1984 g'day; gooday; giddyay hello! An extremely common, and now iconic, Australian greeting AUSTRALIA, 1928

GDI noun a college student who is not a fraternity or sorority member, a god-damn independent US, 1966

G-dog noun a good friend US, 1998

GE noun the electric chair. Homage to General Electric US, 1990 gear noun 1 marijuana; heroin; drugs in general US, 1954. 2 anything, especially anything illicit, intentionally undefined AUSTRALIA, 1975. 3 the equipment and paraphernalia associated with drug use, especially syringes, etc UK, 1996. 4 stolen goods UK, 1956. 5 stuff, things UK, 1415. 6 clothes AUSTRALIA, 1970. 7 (of a woman) the obvious physical attributes. Extended from the purely genital sense US, 1953. 8 a homosexual US, 1972. ► get your arse into gear; get your ass into gear to stop idling, to apply yourself to an activity, to start doing something useful US, 1914 gear adjective very good, outstanding. Brought to the world by the Beatles, dropped from fashionable use in the mid-1960s; revived in the UK, later C20, and continues in ironic use UK, 1951. ► gear for something obsessed with, fanatical about something US, 1972 gear bonger; gear banger noun a poor driver, especially one who crashes the gears US, 1971 gear-box noun the vagina. A survival and technological updating of obsolete 'gear' (the vagina), used in East Anglia, notably Suffolk UK, 1972 gear down verb to dress up BARBADOS, 1965 geared adjective available for homosexual relations US, 1935 geared up adjective dressed up. Also used of motorcyclists in full protective wear UK, 1979 gear head noun in mountain biking, a bicycle mechanic US, 1992 gear jammer noun a truck driver who has a difficult time shifting gears, especially one who is constantly clashing the gears as he shifts US, 1929 gear-lever noun the penis. Historically 'gear' has meant both male and female genitals so the derivation here is ambiguous. Remembered by Beale as the term used by UK National Servicemen (National Service ran from 1946–60) UK, 1973 gears noun the testicles US, 1952 gedanken adjective in computing, impractical or poorly designed. From the German for 'thought' US, 1983 gedunk noun 1 ice-cream, sweets, potato crisps and other junk food; the ship store where junk food can be bought. A US Navy term US, 1927. 2 a place where sweets and snacks are sold US, 1956

gedunk truck noun a catering truck US, 1992 gee noun 1 a man, a fellow US, 1907. 2 opium; heroin. Possibly a respelling of the initial letter of a number of synonyms, or from Hindi ghee (butter), or playing on the sense as HORSE (heroin) US, 1938. 3 $1,000. From the first letter of GRAND ($1,000) US, 1936. 4 a piece of praise. Possibly from the verb sense 'to encourage' UK, 1998. 5 a market trader's or circus entertainer's assistant who is discreetly positioned in the crowd to incite responses UK, 1934. 6 a strong, respected, manipulative prisoner US, 1951. 7 any device used to secure a needle to an eye dropper as part of an improvised mechanism to inject drugs US, 1960. 8 the vagina. The term gives rise to the 'gee bag' condom, 'missed by a gee hair' (a near miss or accident) and the expression 'do ya the gee' said by a boy to a girl and meaning 'do you have sex' IRELAND, 1991. 9 a horse UK, 1879 gee verb 1 to encourage, to incite. From the commands to a horse: 'gee up!' UK, 1932. 2 to inform. From the initial letter of GRASS (to inform) UK, 1996 geel; jee! an exclamation used for expressing surprise, astonishment or shock. Probably a euphemism for 'Jesus!'; later use is often ironic US, 1895

geech noun money US, 1968 geechee noun an uneducated, rural black person, especially one who is not easily understood US, 1905 gee'd up adjective 1 drug-intoxicated. Originally of opium (GEE), gradually less discriminating US, 1936. 2 excited. Influenced by the meaning as 'drug-intoxicated' but actually from GEE (to encourage) UK, 1932. 3 dressed in clothing associated with youth gangs US, 1995 geedus noun in circus and carnival usage, money US, 1981 gee-eyed adjective completely drunk IRELAND, 2001

gee-gees noun 1 horse races. Singular 'gee gee' is a '(race)horse' and 'the gee gees' means 'horse racing' UK, 1869. 2 veterinary drugs IRELAND, 1996 gee head noun a frequent Paregoric user US, 1970

geek noun 1 a carnival freak, usually an alcoholic or drug addict, who would sit and crawl in his own excrement and occasionally bite the heads off snakes and chickens. Perhaps from German gucken (to peep, to look) or synonymous German slang or dialect keffen US, 1928. 2 a student whose devotion to study excludes all other interests or society; someone who is considered too studious; someone obsessed with computers. Pejorative US, 1980. 3 an offensive, despicable person; a clumsy person; a socially awkward person UK, 1876. 4 a prostitute's customer with fetishistic desires US, 1993. 5 an awkward skateboarder or a pedestrian who gets in the way US, 1976. 6 crack cocaine mixed with marijuana UK, 1998. 7 a look; a peek AUSTRALIA, 1966 geek verb 1 to display severe anxiety when coming off cocaine intoxication US, 1993. 2 to act foolishly US, 1998. 3 to look, watch, peer AUSTRALIA, 1966

geek-a-mo noun a geek US, 1991

geeked adjective 1 in a psychotic state induced by continuous use of amphetamine or methamphetamine US, 1989. 2 sexually aroused while under the influence of a central nervous system stimulant US, 1989. 3 marijuana-intoxicated US, 2002. 4 jittery, childishly excited US, 1984

geeked out adjective unordinary, injured US, 2002 geeker noun 1 a user of crack cocaine US, 1990. 2 a starrer AUSTRALIA, 1979

geekerati noun an elite grouping of people involved in information technology US, 2000 geeker rental noun a car stolen by a crack cocaine addict who then trades use of the car for drugs US, 2002

geeking adjective inept; unfashionable; awkward US, 1987 geekish adjective obsessed with computers; socially inept US, 1986 geek out verb to enter a highly technical mode which is too difficult to explain US, 1991 geek-o-zoid noun a student whose devotion to study excludes all other interests or society, hence an unpopular student; someone who is considered too studious; someone obsessed with computers. An elaboration of GEEK UK, 2002 geeksplotation noun an act, or general policy, of taking profitable advantage of the enthusiasm and willingness to work of young computer programmers; also used of entertainment designed to appeal to the technologically-obsessed. A combination of GEEK (a studious-type or IT obsessive) and 'exploitation' US, 1996 geekster noun a geek US, 1991

geeky adjective socially inept; overly involved with computers US, 1981 gees noun horse racing UK, 1959 geeser noun a small amount of an illegal drug US, 1952 geet noun a dollar US, 1947

geets noun money US, 1949

geetus noun money US, 1926 gee-up noun 1 an act or instance of stirring AUSTRALIA, 1995. 2 a swindler's confederate who leads others to spend their money AUSTRALIA, 1899

gee up verb 1 to motivate; to encourage AUSTRALIA, 1955. 2 to tease UK, 1983 gee whiz! used for registering shock, surprise, disappointment, or for emphasis. Elaboration of GEE! US, 1876 gee willikers! used as a mock oath. There are countless variants US, 1851 geez noun 1 a friend UK, 2003. 2 a look. A variant of GEEK AUSTRALIA, 1981

geeze; geaze verb to inject by hypodermic needle US, 1966 geeze; geaze; greaze noun heroin; an injection of heroin; narcotics US, 1967 geezer noun 1 a man. Possibly from Basque giza (a man), picked up by Wellington's soldiers during the Peninsular War (1808–14); alternatively it may derive from C15 English dialect guiser (a mummer). Variant spellings include 'geyser' and the abbreviated 'geez' UK, 1885. 2 an old person, somewhat infirm. An objectionable reference to a senior citizen UK, 1885. 3 a fellow-prisoner UK, 1958. 4 a man who is easily duped UK, 1959. 5 a young manual worker who lives with his parents and spends his disposable income on leisure and pleasure. Created by a research company as a sociological label for commercial and marketing purposes; a specialised variation UK, 2003. 6 an intravenous drug user. Sometimes spelled 'geazer' from the variant verb spelling geeze; geaze US, 1967. 7 a small amount of a drug US, 1971 geezerbird; geezerchick noun a young woman characterised by her behaviour and positive involvement in activities (drinking, swearing, sport, etc) stereotypically enjoyed by males. Combines GEEZER (a man) with a less-than-politically correct term for a 'young woman' UK, 2002

geezo noun 1 a hardened prison inmate US, 1951. 2 an armed robbery US, 2001 geggie; gegg noun the mouth. Glaswegian use UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 gehuncle noun a cripple US, 1954 gel noun 1 a girl. With a hard 'g' UK, 1969. 2 dynamite used for opening a safe US, 1972. 3 a socially inept person US, 1991 gelly; jelly noun gelignite AUSTRALIA, 1941 gelt; geld noun money. Originally conventional English, then out of favour, then back as slang. German, Dutch and Yiddish claims on its origin UK, 1529 gen noun information. Originally military, possibly deriving from the phrase 'for the general information of all ranks' UK, 1940

gen; gen up verb to learn; to inform, to brief. After the noun UK, 1943 gendarme noun a police officer. Adopted directly from the French gendarme UK, 1906 gender bender noun a person with an ambiguous or androgynous sexual identity, or with asexual identity divergent from their biological sex UK, 1980 gender mender noun a computer cable with either two male or two female connectors US, 1991

general noun a railway yardmaster US, 1946

General nickname ► The General 1 Frank Sinatra, American singer (1915–1998) US, 1963. 2 Ireland's most famous criminal, Martin Cahill IRELAND, 1995

General Booth noun a tooth. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of William Booth, 1829–1912, the founder of the Salvation Army UK, 1992 general election noun an erection. Rhyming slang, the source of many jokes about standing members, even if we only get one every four or five years UK, 1992 general mess of crap noun a truck manufactured by General Motors Corporation. A humorous back-formation from the initials GMC US, 1971

General Smuts; generals noun the testicles. Rhyming slang for NUTS, formed from the name of a South African statesman, 1870–1950 UK, 1992

General Westthisface nickname US Army General William Westmoreland. Not particularly kind US, 1977

Generation X; Gen X noun the marketing category that defines people born between the late 1950s and mid-70s. Originally the title of a sociological book by Charles Hamblett and Jane Deverson, 1965; moved beyond jargon when adopted as the name of a UK punk band in the mid-1970s; in 1991 Douglas Coupland employed it to describe a new generation; usage is now almost conventional. Generation Y does not appear to have caught on US, 1965

Generation Xer; Gen-Xer; Xer; X noun in marketing terms, someone born between the late 1950s and mid-70s, seen as well educated but without direction US, late 1970s

Generation XL noun a (notional) sociological group of children, teenagers or young adults who are clinically obese. A play on GENERATION X and XL, the retail abbreviation for 'extra large' UK, 2003 generic adjective stupid, dull, boring US, 1988 geni-ass noun a smart and diligent student. A play on 'genius' US, 1968 genius noun 1 a person skilled at performing oral sex. A pun based on HEAD (oral sex) US, 2002. 2 in computing, an obvious or easily guessed password US, 1990 genny; jenny noun a generator UK, 1956 gent noun 1 a good man, an honourable man, a man who is admired. From 'gentleman' and characteristics generously ascribed to the stereotype UK, 1987. 2 a man with pretensions to class or status. Used in a derisive context UK, 1605. 3 money. Survives as a variant of GELT (money) but, in fact, derives not from German gelt but French argent (silver; money); original use was especially of silver coins UK, 1859. 4 a maggot used as fishing bait AUSTRALIA, 1998 gentleman jockey noun in horse racing, an amateur jockey, especially in a steeplechase event US, 1947 gentleman of leisure noun a pimp US, 1973 gentleman's call noun in pool, an understanding that a shot need not be called if it is obvious US, 1992 gentleman's fever noun a sexually transmitted infection BAHAMAS, 1982

gentlemen's relish noun sperm UK, 2002 gents noun a gentlemen's public convenience US, 1960

Geoff Hurst; geoff noun 1 a first class honours degree. Rhyming slang, based on the name of Geoff Hurst (b.1941), the only footballer to have scored a hat-trick in a World Cup final UK, 1998. 2 a thirst UK, 1994. 3 urination. Rhyming slang for 'burst' UK, 2002

Geoffrey Chaucer noun a saucer. Rhyming slang formed on the name of the great English poet, who lived from about 1343 to 1400, and who, fittingly, used slang in his rhyme UK, 1992

geog; geoggers noun geography, especially as a subject of study UK, 1940 geologist noun a physician who considers his patients to be as intelligent as a rock US, 1978

George noun 1 a gambler who tips the dealer or places bets in the dealer's name US, 1974. 2 in American casinos, a skilled and lucky gambler US, 1985. 3 used as a term of address for any Pullman porter US, 1939. 4 an act of defecation. A euphemism by personification, but why a George should be so honoured is not recorded UK, 1959. ► call it George to agree that a matter is settled GUYANA, 1962

George adjective excellent US, 1930

George and Ringo noun bingo. Rhyming slang, formed from the names of two of the Beatles, George Harrison and Ringo Starr, and probably not heard since the Beatles broke up UK, 1992

George and Zippy adjective (of weather) cold, chilly. Rhyming slang for NIPPY, based on two of the puppet characters in long-running Thames television children's programme Rainbow (from 1972) UK, 2002

George Bernard Shaw; George Bernard noun a door. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the Irish playwright, 1856–1950 UK, 1992

George Blake noun a snake. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a notorious British security and intelligence operative who spied for the KGB from 1944–61 UK, 1992

George Martin noun farting. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of orchestral arranger and producer Sir George Martin (b.1926) UK, 2003

George Melly noun the belly, a paunch. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the jazz singer and surrealist (1937–2007) whose shape echoes the sense UK, 1992

George Michael; George verb to cycle. Popney rhyming slang, based on popular singer George Michael (b.1963). Popney was originally contrived for www.music365.co.uk, an Internet music site; this is one of several terms that caught on UK, 2001

George Raft noun 1 a draught. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of US film actor George Raft (1895–1980) UK, 1979. 2 hard work. Rhyming slang for GRAFT UK, 1992

George Smack; George noun heroin US, 1967

George Spelvin noun used in a theatre programme as a fictitious name for an actor US, 1908

George the Third noun 1 a bird. Rhyming slang, recorded as an alternative to RICHARD THE THIRD UK, 1961. 2 a lump of excrement. Rhyming slang for TURD UK, 1992

George W. noun a person with an inflated sense of self-worth. An unkind allusion to US President George W. Bush US, 2001

Georgia; Georgie verb to cheat, to swindle; (of a prostitute) to have sex with a customer without collecting the fee. Especially used in the context of prostitution US, 1960

Georgia buggy noun a wheelbarrow US, 1918

Georgia ham noun a watermelon US, 1971

Georgia homeboy noun the recreational drug GHB. A disguise for the initials GHB US, 1993

Georgia night rider noun a trucker who drives at night in the hope of avoiding police US, 1976

Georgia overdrive noun coasting down a hill with the car or truck in neutral US, 1963

Georgia scuffle noun 1 a swindle which fails because the intended victim is not smart enough to be swindled US, 1992. 2 in carnival usage, rough handling of an extremely naive customer in a swindle US, 1950

Georgie Best noun 1 a pest, especially a drunken pest. Rhyming slang, reflecting footballer George Best's fall from grace to alcoholism UK, 1992. 2 the female breast. Rhyming slang UK, 2003.

► be my Georgie Best! do as you wish; you are welcome to have whatever has been asked for. Rhyming slang for 'be my guest', formed on the name of Irish footballer George Best (1946–2005) UK, 1977 ger verb get. A slovenly pronunciation that occurs when the following word commences with a vowel, in uses such as 'ger along' UK, 1895

gerbil around verb in car repair, to work at a somewhat frantic pace in an effort to hide the fact that the problem at hand, or car repair in general, is too difficult US, 1992 geriatric noun an older homosexual man as a one-time sex-partner UK, 1979 germ noun 1 a German UK, 1915. 2 a despised person US, 1942

Germaine Greer noun a glass of beer. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of an Australian feminist and academic who has become a media personality (b.1939) AUSTRALIA, 1987

German noun (used by prisoners) a prison officer. A hangover from World War 2 when the Germans were the enemy UK, 1996

German band noun the hand. Rhyming slang UK, 1979

Germans noun drug dealers from the Dominican Republic as perceived by African-American drug dealers competing for the same market – the enemy US, 1992 germs noun gentlemen, as a form of address. A jocular slurring, especially in the pairing 'Ladeez and Germs' UK, 2001

Geronimo noun 1 an alcoholic drink mixed with a barbiturate. A dangerous cross reaction US, 1970. 2 a barbiturate US, 1990 gerook; gerooked adjective drug or alcohol-intoxicated. From Afrikaans for 'cured/smoked' SOUTH AFRICA, 1970

gerrick noun piece of rolled up silver foil used as a filter in marijuana pipes. The 'gerrick' is made by laying out a piece of foil (usually from a cigarette box), or thin cardboard (usually from the same box) into a square, rolling it up, bending it into a circle and wedging it into the bottom of a bottleneck pipe to keep the marijuana from falling out when the smoke is sucked in SOUTH AFRICA, 2003 gerry nickname an old person. An abbreviation of 'geriatric' NEW ZEALAND, 1998

gert adjective great. A C14 dialect word that is now widely familiar beyond its regional use as a result of media exposure UK, 1997 gertcha!; gercha!; gertcher! I don't believe you!; used for registering disbelief. An alteration of 'get away!'; immortalised in song by Chas and Dave, 1979 UK, 1937

Gertie Gitana; Gertie noun a banana. Rhyming slang, based on the name of music hall entertainer Gertie Gitana, 1888–1957; originating in the first decade of C20 with her name replacing the refrain 'Have a banana' in the song 'Let's All Go Down the Strand'. Still in use UK, 1961

gert stonkers noun large female breasts AUSTRALIA, 1988

Gestapo noun 1 the police. Originally used of the military police during World War 2 in a (presumably) jocular allusion to the German Secret Police of the Third Reich. Often used with 'the' UK, 1941. 2 uniformed personnel (such as bus inspectors) or others (such as teachers) who enjoy the little power of their authority UK, 1969. 3 the motorcycle officers of the Metropolitan police traffic division. Police use (especially the Metropolitan Police Drugs Squad); probably inspired by the jackboots and black breeches uniform UK, 1999 get verb 1 to understand, to appreciate US, 1892. 2 to worry, to vex, to annoy US, 1867. 3 to enthrall, to appeal to, to affect emotionally, to obsess UK, 1913. 4 to obtain sexual intercourse AUSTRALIA, 1970. ► get above yourself to become conceited, arrogant UK, 1923. ► get amongst to perform some task or take part enthusiastically AUSTRALIA, 1970. ► get any; get anything; get enough; get a little bit to have sex US, 1947. ► get it 1 to be punished, especially physically UK, 1851. 2 to be killed US, 1964. 3 to become infected with a sexually transmitted infection UK, 1937. ► get it in one to understand immediately UK, 1942. ► get it on 1 to have sex US, 1970. 2 to fight US, 1959. 3 to join battle. US Marines usage in Vietnam US, 1991. ► get it up to achieve an erection US, 1943. ► get some 1 to have sex US, 1970. 2 to kill enemy soldiers US, 1976. ► get well 2 to make money US, 1995. ► get wet to kill someone using a knife or bayonet US, 1991. ► get with to have sex with UK, 1987. ► get with the program to start to behave in a responsible manner. A generally figurative application of the recovery programmes promoted by Alcoholics Anonymous, Gamblers Anonymous, etc; usually as an injunction US, 1983. ► get your end away to have sex UK, 1975. ► get your leather to have sex CANADA, 1985. ► get your own back to get revenge UK, 1910. ► get your skates on to hurry up. Often as an imperative. Originally military UK, 1895. ► get your skin to have sex CANADA, 1999. ► get yours to get the punishment you deserve US, 1905. ► have got something on someone to possess evidence against someone UK, 1928 get!; git! go!; go away! US, 1884 get a black dog up you! go to hell! AUSTRALIA, 1992

get across verb to make yourself (or your subject) understood US, 1913 get a dog up you! go to hell! AUSTRALIA, 1996

get a gripl control yourself! US, 1982 get a life! used to tease someone who is revealing a lack of grounding in reality or who is too obsessed with something US, 1989 get along! used for registering incredulity. Similar to the later 'get away!' UK, 1984 get along with you! go away! be quiet! UK, 1837 get a roll of stamps and mail it in used as a humorous comment on a lack of effort. Coined by ESPN's Keith Olberman to describe 'a lackluster effort on the part of a player or team' US, 1997 get a room! used for discouraging public displays of affection US, 1999 get at verb 1 to attack verbally, to tease UK, 1891. 2 to mean, to imply a meaning US, 1899. ► get at it to tease someone, to make a fool of someone UK, 1958 getaway noun the last morning of a military tour of duty US, 1968 get away!; gerraway! don't talk nonsense!; don't flatter! In 2002 a travel company used the slogan 'Get away' in a television advertising campaign, punning on the conventional sense (to escape, to go on holiday) with an exclamation of disbelief that such holidays could be so cheap UK, 1848 getaway day noun in horse racing, the last day of a racing meet US, 1962 get-back noun an act of revenge US, 1984 get bent! used as an exclamation of defiance, roughly along the lines of 'go to hell!' US, 1970 getcha vine noun a thorny vine found in the jungles of Vietnam US, 1990 get down verb 1 to depress UK, 1930. 2 in sports betting, to place a bet US, 1974. 3 to be a part of, or to relate to, as in 'get down with the kids' UK, 1999. ► get down to it to begin to work with serious application, sometimes used of sexual activity US, 1937 get-down time; git-down time noun the time of day or night when a prostitute starts working US, 1972 get-'em-off noun an exit ramp; a motorway exit US, 1976 get 'em off!; geremoff! used as a jocular imperative to strip US, 1995 getters noun money US, 1975 get-go; git-go; gitty up noun the very start US, 1966 get-hard adjective sexually arousing to men UK, 2000 get her! ▶ see: GET YOU!

get-high noun crack cocaine US, 1990 get in; get-in verb of a staged entertainment, to bring in and set up staging and technical equipment. The reverse (to deconstruct and entirely remove staging equipment) is 'get out'. Also used as nouns. UK, 1996 get-in Betty noun a crowbar used by burglars US, 1950 get into verb to come to know and like UK, 1968 get-it-on adjective vigorous, energetic in approach US, 1970 get knotted! used for expressing contempt. Usage was frozen in time and soon considered archaic. Later use is marked with irony UK, 1958 get lost! used as a contemptuous imperative of dismissal US, 1902 get off verb 1 to form an initial liaison with someone sexually attractive, especially with a view to greater intimacy UK, 1925. 2 to achieve sexual climax US, 1867. 3 to use a drug; to feel the effects of a drug US, 1952. 4 by extension, to take pleasure from something US, 1952. 5 to crash while riding a motorcycle. Sarcastic and euphemistic biker (motorcycle) usage US, 2003 get off!; get off it! used as a register of impatience or incredulity UK, 1969 get-off house noun a place where you can both purchase and inject heroin US, 1990 get off on verb to greatly enjoy something. After GET OFF (to achieve sexual climax) UK, 1973 get off the stove, I'm ridin' the range tonight! used for expressing enthusiasm about an upcoming date US, 1951 get on verb 1 of people, to agree, to co-exist. Often with a modifying adverb UK, 1816. 2 to become elderly UK, 1885. 3 to use drugs US, 1952. 4 to have US, 1990 get-out noun 1 an escape, an excuse, an evasion UK, 1899. 2 an extreme degree of something US, 1838 get out verb (used of a bettor) to recoup earlier losses US, 1951 get out of here! used for expressing disbelief at what has just been said US, 1994 get out of here, Mary! used for expressing doubt US, 1987 get out of it! used for expressing a lack of belief in what has just been said UK, 1984 get-over noun success through fraud US, 1997 get over verb to take advantage of someone, making yourself look good at their expense US, 1981. ▶ cannot get over to be astounded UK, 1899. ▶ get over on to seduce US, 1987 get over it! used as a suggestion that the hearer move on from the issue that is dominating the moment US, 1994 get over you! used in order to deflate a person's excessive sense of importance US, 1997 get real verb to face the facts. Often as an imperative US, 1998 get real! used for expressing scorn at that which has just been said US, 1982 get round verb to circumvent US, 1849 get shagged! used as a general expression of disbelief or contempt UK, 1997 get stuffed! used as a general expression of disbelief or contempt UK, 1952 getting any? used as a male-to-male greeting. Instantly jocular due to the inquiry as to the other's sex life US, 1958 getting on adjective (of time) late; growing late UK, 1882 get to verb to annoy someone US, 1961 get-up noun 1 an outfit or costume UK, 1847. 2 manufactured evidence that is intended to incriminate UK, 1967. 3 a piece of criminal trickery, an elaborate deceit UK, 1970. 4 the last morning of a jail sentence or term of military service US, 1967 get up verb 1 to be released from prison US, 1967. 2 to succeed in painting your graffiti tag in a public place US, 1994. 3 to win; to succeed AUSTRALIA, 1904. 4 to cause a racehorse to win AUSTRALIA, 1969 get-up-and-go noun vigour, energy, drive. Earlier variations from which this derives are 'get-up' and 'get-up-and-get' US, 1907 get up off verb to concede something of importance or value US, 1985 get with the words! verb explain yourself! US, 1965 get you!; get him!; get her! verb 1 (with an emphatic stress on the pronoun) used to deflate a conceited male ego or to imply an unmasculine oversensitivity or homosexuality UK, 1958. 2 used for expressing disbelief at what has just been said. Homosexual use US, 1949 get your arse to an anchor! verb sit down! Adapted from nautical (likely fisherman) usage, this phrase came ashore for general purposes CANADA, 1978 get your kit off! verb used as ribald encouragement to undress UK, 1985

GFE; girl friend experience noun a dinner date followed by sex as a service offered by a prostitute UK, 2005

G force! used as an expression of enthusiastic assent. From a Japanese comic strip US, 1987

GFY go fuck yourself. Used when discretion suggests avoiding the word 'fuck' US, 1987

GG noun in transsexual usage, a genuine or genetic girl US, 1987

GH noun General Hospital, a popular television daytime drama US, 1981

Ghan noun an Afghan. In outback Australia this referred to the numerous immigrants from Afghanistan and nearby regions who came to work in the desert regions as camel-drivers. Not used to refer to recent migrants from Afghanistan AUSTRALIA, 1911 ghana noun marijuana. Possibly a variant spelling of GANJA (Jamaican marijuana) although current usage doesn't acknowledge this etymology nor specify an alternative, such as marijuana from Ghana UK, 1989 ghar noun the buttocks. From the Hindi for 'donkey' TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1976

GHB noun a pharmaceutical anaesthetic used as a recreational drug. Gamma hydroxybutyrate is a foul-tasting liquid, invented in the 1960s by Dr. Henri Laborit, who swore by its powers as an aphrodisiac. The drug has been marketed as an anaesthetic and a health supplement, but it is a heightened sense of touch, sustained erections and longer orgasms that make it popular with 'up-for-it clubbers' US, 1990

gheid noun a Paregoric user US, 1971 gherao verb in India and Pakistan, to surround someone and not allow him or her to go from an office, desk, etc, as a demonstration against that person. From Hindi gherna (to surround, to beseege) INDIA, 1967 gherkin noun the penis, especially a small penis. A variation of 'pickle' (the penis), especially in the phrase JERK THE GHERKIN (to masturbate) US, 2002 ghetto noun the anus US, 1973 ghetto adjective inferior, shoddy, bad US, 1995 ghetto- prefix used to qualify an adjective as being in the style of black culture. Has positive connotations when used by the black community but can be patronising and derogatory US, 2001 ghetto bird noun a police helicopter, especially one flying at night with a bright spotlight US, 1993 ghetto blaster; ghetto box noun a large, portable radio and tape player; a portable music system. Can be considered offensive because it is culture-specific and stereotypical US, 1981 ghetto bootie noun large buttocks US, 2001 ghetto fabulous adjective ostentatious, exemplifying the style of the black hip-hop community US, 1996 ghetto lullaby noun inner-city nighttime noises – sirens, gunfire, helicopters, etc US, 1993 ghetto rags noun clothing typical of the inner-city ghetto US, 1970 ghetto sled noun a large, luxury car US, 1997 ghetto star noun a youth gang leader US, 1993

'Ghini noun a Lamborghini. Car a hip-hop abbreviation and aspiration US, 1999 ghost noun 1 a faint, secondary duplicate video image in a television signal, caused by the mixing of the primary signal and a delayed version of the same signal US, 1942. 2 a blank stop on a casino slot machine US, 1993. 3 in poker, a player who frequently absents himself from the table US, 1996. 4 LSD. Usually used with 'the' US, 1967. ► do a ghost to leave quickly US, 1995. ► when the ghost walks in oil drilling, pay day US, 1954 ghost verb 1 to transfer a prisoner from one prison to another at night after the prison has been secured US, 1982. 2 to vanish US, 1969. 3 to relax, especially while evading duty. Military use US, 1982 ghost battalion noun during the Vietnam war, the First Battalion, Ninth Marines. So named because of the large number of casualties suffered at Con Thien and Khe Sanh US, 1991 ghostbust noun to search in an obsessive and compulsive way for small particles of crack cocaine US, 1992

ghosted adjective out of sight UK, 1994 ghost hand noun in poker, a hand or part of a hand that is dealt to the same player twice in a row US, 1988 ghost town noun ► send to ghost town to transfer a prisoner without warning UK, 1996 ghost train noun ► on the ghost train used of a prisoner who is being moved without warning from one prison to another overnight. From GHOST (to transfer overnight) UK, 1996 ghost-walking day noun in circus and carnival usage, payday US, 1981 ghoulie noun the vagina. Something frightening that lurks in the dark US, 1998 ghoulie adjective ghoulish US, 1993

GI noun 1 an enlisted soldier in the US Army US, 1939. 2 an American Indian who has abandoned his indigenous culture and language in favour of mainstream American culture; a government Indian US, 1963

GI verb 1 to clean thoroughly US, 1944. 2 to strip US, 1968

Gianluca Vialli; gianluca noun cocaine. Rhyming slang for CHARLIE (cocaine); based on the name of Gianluca Vialli (b.1964), a famous Italian football player and manager UK, 1998

gib noun a man's buttocks US, 1986

GIB noun the back seat member of the crew on a fighter aircraft. An initialism for 'guy in back' US, 1967

Gib nickname Gibraltar UK, 1822

GIB adjective skilled in sex. An initialism for 'good in bed' US, 1977 gibber noun a small stone used for throwing. From the extinct Australian Aboriginal language Dharug (Sydney region). Originally, since 1833, referring to 'large boulders', it has undergone a reduction in size over the decades. As a technical term of geologists it refers to smallish stones of dark reddish chaceldony that litter the surface of large areas of the arid inland. Colloquially it is used of any rock, stone or pebble suitable for throwing AUSTRALIA, 1902 gibbled adjective (of a machine) broken down CANADA, 1989

gibbs noun the lips US, 1990

gib-gib noun used for mocking another's laughter. From an advertisement for Gibbons Chicken Ration TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1994

giblet noun a stupid, foolish or inept person. Playing on a turkey image US, 1984 giblets noun 1 the female genitalia UK, 2003. 2 showy chrome accessories on a motorcycle. Biker (motorcycle) usage US, 2003

Gibson girl noun an emergency radio used when a military aircraft is shot down over a body of water US, 1943

gick noun excrement IRELAND, 1993

gick verb to defecate IRELAND, 1996 giddy noun a tourist, especially on a package holiday. Used by holiday reps UK, 1997 giddyap; giddyup noun the beginning; the inception US, 1974 giddy as a kipper adjective dizzy. A 'giddy kipper', although not in this sense, has been a feature of English slang since the late C19 UK, 1999 giddy goat noun in horse racing, the totalisator. Rhyming slang from 'tote' AUSTRALIA, 1989

gif noun an aircraft pilot. From the initials of 'guys in the front seat' US, 1945 giffed adjective drunk UK, 2003 giffer noun a pickpocket US, 1949 gift noun in a sex club, used as a coded euphemism for payment for special services US, 1997. ► the gift the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 2001. ► the gift that keeps giving a sexually transmitted disease US, 1986 gifted adjective experiencing the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 2001 gift of the sun; gift of the sun god noun cocaine UK, 1998 gig noun 1 a musical performance or concert. Originally musicians' slang for an engagement at a single venue US, 1926. 2 a job US, 1908. 3 a party US, 1954. 4 a prison or jail sentence US, 1977. 5 a police informer. A clipping of FIZGIG AUSTRALIA, 1953. 6 a busybody AUSTRALIA, 1944. 7 a person who stands out because they look foolish; a fool AUSTRALIA, 1943. 8 the vagina US, 1967. 9 a look; a peek AUSTRALIA, 1924. 10 a demerit or other indication of failure US, 1968. 11 in an illegal number gambling lottery, a bet that a specific three-digit number will be drawn US, 1846. 12 in harness racing, a sulky US, 1997 gig verb 1 to work; to have a job US, 1939. 2 of a musician or group of musicians, to play an engagement or a series of engagements UK, 1939. 3 to go out to bars, clubs and/or parties US, 2000. 4 to look or stare; to take a peek AUSTRALIA, 1959. 5 to tease AUSTRALIA, 1969. 6 in carnival usage, to win all of a player's money in a single transaction US, 1985

gigging noun teasing AUSTRALIA, 1966

giggle and titter; giggle noun bitter (beer) UK, 1992 giggle band noun the decorative hemmed edge at the top of a stocking. Get beyond that and you're laughing UK, 2001 giggle bin noun an institution for containment and care of the mentally disturbed UK, 1964

giggle factory noun an insane asylum AUSTRALIA, 1968

giggle house noun an insane asylum AUSTRALIA, 1979

giggle juice noun alcohol US, 1939 giggler noun a scene in a pornographic film involving sex with two women. From the GIRL-GIRL designation US, 1987 giggles; good giggles noun marijuana US, 1986 giggle smoke noun marijuana; a marijuana cigarette US, 1952 gigglesoup noun any alcoholic beverage US, 1972 giggle water noun alcohol, especially champagne US, 1926 giggle weed noun marijuana. From the definite effect WEED has on 'your sense of humour' US, 1937 giggling academy noun a mental hospital US, 1949 giggly adjective very good. Probably from the euphoric reaction to marijuana. West Indian and UK black use UK, 2002 giggy; gigi noun the anus and rectum US, 1953

GI gin noun cough syrup US, 1964 gig-lamps; gigs noun spectacles, eye-glasses. From the lights placed to each side of a 'gig' (a light carriage); 'headlights' (glasses), a later coinage, reflects similar inspiration UK, 1853

GIGO in computing, used as a reminder that output is only as good as input – (garbage in, garbage out) US, 1964 gig shot noun in carnival usage, the method used by an operator to win all of a player's money in a single transaction US, 1985 gig wagon noun transportation used by a rock band during a concert tour UK, 1985

GI Joe noun a quintessential American soldier. A term fuelled by a cartoon in the 1940s, a Robert Mitchum movie in 1945 and a line of toys starting in 1964 US, 1935

gildy adjective fancy, ornate UK, 2002 gilt noun a sexually appealing mature woman. A variation of MILF (a sexually appealing mother) and DILF (a sexually appealing father); an acronym of 'grandma I'd like to fuck' US, 2003

gil-gil noun used for mocking another's laughter TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1993

gilhooley noun in motor racing on an oval track, a spin US, 1965 gill; gills noun in circus and carnival usage, a customer, especially a gullible one US, 1981

Gillie Potters noun 1 pig's trotters. Rhyming slang; formed from the name of British comedian, an early star of BBC radio, Gillie Potter, 1887–1975 UK, 1980. 2 the feet. Rhyming slang for TROTTERS UK, 1980 gillie suit noun camouflaged uniforms used by the US Army Special Forces. Gulf war usage US, 1992

Gilligan noun a hapless, socially inept person. From the Gilligan's Island television programme, in which Gilligan was a hapless, socially inept person US, 1991

Gilligan hitch noun any and every method to bind with a chain or tie with a rope US, 1919

gillion noun ten to the ninth power; untold millions US, 1991

gilly noun 1 a member of an audience, especially a woman. Theatrical and circus usage UK, 1933. 2 a man, especially a gullible rustic. Market traders and English gypsy use, from the previous sense as 'a member of a circus audience' US, 1882 gilly-galloo noun in circus and carnival usage, an outsider US, 1981 gills! used for expressing pleasant surprise US, 2002 gilt noun money. Derives from German gelt (gold) and conventional 'gilt' (silverplate) UK, 1708

GI marbles noun dice. Because of the love for dice games displayed by American soldiers, especially during World War 2 US, 1950

Gimli glider noun a Boeing 737 which ran out of petrol and glided to a safe landing in Gimli, Manitoba; later, any car that has run out of petrol. The incident happened because of a confusion between metric and English ways of measuring petrol during the fill-up. One of the pilots had been a glider pilot CANADA, 2000

gimme noun 1 a request or demand for money. From 'give me' UK, 2001. 2 an easy victory or accomplishment US, 1986. 3 a pistol US, 1994. 4 in pool, a shot that cannot be missed or a game that cannot be lost US, 1990

gimme verb used for 'give me'. A lazy phonetic abbreviation US, 1883 gimme five noun a mutual hand-slapping used as greeting or to signify mutual respect. From the phrase 'give me your hand'; 'gimme' (give me) 'five' (fingers, hence hand) UK, 1999 gimmel noun in betting, odds of 3–1. Probably coined by a Jewish bookmaker with a sense of humour, from gimel (the Hebrew letter which, in Judaic teaching, symbolises a rich man running after a poor man) which, in turn, derives from Hebrew gemul (the giving of reward and punishment) UK, 1991

gimmes noun a selfishly acquisitive characteristic US, 1918

gimmick noun 1 a gadget, an ingenious device or contrivance such as may be used in crime and magic to deceive or distract, or commercially, especially in the entertainment industry, to attract publicity and attention. 'You Gotta Get a Gimmick', Stephen Sondheim, 1959, is a song performed by striptease artistes demonstrating their ingenious methods of standing out from the crowd US, 1926. 2 characteristics such as costume, haircut or entrance music that collectively make a professional wrestler stand out as a unique marketable commodity US, 1993. 3 the actual device used to rig a carnival game US, 1968. 4 in poker, a special set of rules for a game US, 1988 gimmick verb to rig for a result US, 1922

gimmicks noun the equipment needed to inject drugs US, 1967

gimmie noun marijuana and crack cocaine mixed together for smoking in a cigarette US, 1994

gimp noun 1 a limp; a cripple US, 1925. 2 an incompetent or weak person US, 1924. 3 a sexual submissive who seeks satisfaction in dehumanising, full fetish clothing and crippling bondage. A specialisation of the previous senses made very familiar by Quentin Tarantino, Pulp Fiction, 1993 – the film featured a masked-creature (taking his pleasure at the hands of a dominatrix) known only as 'the gimp' US, 1993

gimper; gimpster noun a cripple US, 1974

gimp out verb to panic in the face of great challenge US, 1988

gimpy noun a (long-haired) member of the counterculture, a hippy UK, 1998

gimpy adjective 1 crippled; handicapped US, 1929. 2 inferior US, 1970

gims noun the eyes US, 1945 gin noun 1 a black prostitute US, 1962. 2 an Aboriginal female AUSTRALIA, 1985. 3 cocaine US, 1971. 4 a street fight between youth gangs US, 1993 gin verb 1 (used of a woman) to have sex US, 1976. 2 to fight US, 1972 gin and Jaguar bird noun a wealthy, usually married, woman from the upper-class districts surrounding London, especially Surrey, regarded as a worthwhile target for sexual adventuring. A BIRD (a woman) who lives in the 'gin and Jaguar belt' UK, 1977

ginch noun 1 the vagina US, 2003. 2 a woman; a woman as a sex object US, 1936 ginchy adjective 1 fashionable, attractive, pleasing US, 1959. 2 sharp-witted, clever, shrewd. A variation of the sense as 'attractive' UK, 1988

giner noun the vagina US, 2004 gin flat noun an apartment where alcohol is served illegally to a paying not-so public US, 1951

ging noun a handheld catapult; a slingshot AUSTRALIA, 1903

ginger noun 1 a sandy- or red-haired person; often as a nickname. Originally (1785) used of a cock with reddish plumage UK, 1885. 2 the backside. From GINGER ALE AUSTRALIA, 1967. 3 a prostitute who steals from her clients. Also 'ginger girl', 'gingerer' AUSTRALIA, 1953. ► on the ginger (of prostitutes) working at gingering their clients AUSTRALIA, 1979

ginger ale; ginger noun 1 jail. Rhyming slang UK, 1992. 2 bail. Rhyming slang NEW ZEALAND, 1963. 3 the backside. Rhyming slang for TAIL AUSTRALIA, 1967 ginger beer; ginger noun 1 a homosexual man. Rhyming slang for QUEER UK, 1959. 2 a member of the Royal Australian Engineers. Rhyming slang for 'engineer' AUSTRALIA, 1941 ginger beer; ginger adjective homosexual. Rhyming slang for QUEER UK, 1960 gingering verb (of a prostitute or accomplice) stealing from a client's clothing AUSTRALIA, 1944 ginger minger; ginger minge; inge minge noun a person who has (it is presumed) naturally ginger pubic hair UK, 1993 ginger pop noun 1 a police officer. Rhyming slang for COP UK, 1992. 2 ginger beer UK, 1827 gingersnaps noun ► (have had) too many gingersnaps last night to have had too much alcohol to drink CANADA, 1998

ginger-top noun a redhead. From GINGER UK, 1998 ginhead noun a habitual drinker of gin US, 1927 gin jockey noun a white man who cohabits with an Aboriginal woman AUSTRALIA, 1955

gink noun 1 a naive rustic; a dolt US, 1906. 2 a look; a peek. Perhaps a nasalised variant of GEEK AUSTRALIA, 1945. 3 an unpleasant smell UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

gink verb to give off an unpleasant smell UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

ginky adjective out of style US, 1969 gin mill noun a bar. The term has shed most of its unsavoury connotations of the past and is now generally jocular US, 1866 ginned adjective drunk US, 1900 ginny barn noun a prison for females or a section of a prison reserved for females US, 1967 ginola adjective supremely attractive. A tribute to the good-looking French footballer David Ginola (b.1967); recorded in use in contemporary gay society UK, 2003 ginormous adjective very large. Pronounced 'jye-normous' UK, 1962 gin's piss noun poor quality or weak beer. From 'gin' meaning 'a female Australian Aboriginal'; from the extinct Australian Aboriginal language Dharug (Sydney region) AUSTRALIA, 1972

ginzo noun an Italian-American or Italian. Offensive. Probably a derivative of GUINEA US, 1931

Giorgio Armani; giorgio noun a sandwich. Rhyming slang for 'sarnie', formed from the name of the Italian fashion designer (b.1934) UK, 1998

gip-gip noun used for mocking another's laughter TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1997 gipsy's ginger noun human excrement found out of doors. From a characteristic colour of excrement combined with a denigratory stereotype of gipsy life UK, 1984 gipsy's kiss; gipseys's noun an act of urination. Rhyming slang for PISS UK, 1979 gipsy's warning; gipsy's noun 1 a sinister warning, a final warning, a warning of immediate reprisal. Negative stereotyping UK, 1918. 2 morning. Rhyming slang UK, 1960 giraffe noun a half ounce, especially of drugs. Rhyming slang UK, 2003 girdle noun 1 a waistband. Recorded in use in contemporary gay society UK, 2003. 2 an over-the-shoulder car seat belt US, 1962. 3 in motor racing, the main support for the engine US, 1993 girl noun 1 cocaine US, 1953. 2 crack cocaine UK, 2003. 3 heroin US, 1981. 4 a lesbian. A term used by lesbians US, 1995. 5 a homosexual male, especially an effeminate one US, 1912. 6 (especially in sporting contexts) an effeminate male AUSTRALIA, 1986. 7 in a deck of playing cards, a queen US, 1967 girl and boy noun a toy. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 girl-deb noun a girl who spends time with a boy's youth gang, whether or not she is a gang member's girlfriend US, 1967

girlf noun a girlfriend UK, 2003

Girl Friday noun a young woman who is very useful to have about the place as an assistant. From Defoe's tale of Robinson Crusoe and his Man Friday US, 1940 girlfriend noun 1 a male homosexual's lover or friend US, 1965. 2 used as an affectionate term of address for a friend or acquaintance US, 1997. 3 cocaine. An elaboration of GIRL (cocaine) US, 1979 girl-girl noun a scene in a pornographic film, or an entire pornographic film, involving two women US, 2000 girl-girl adjective in pornography, involving two women US, 1973 girlie noun a young woman. Patronising and derisive UK, 1860 girlie adjective mildly pornographic, featuring naked women but not sexual activity. Mainly in use from the mid-1950s US, 1921 girlie bar noun a drinking place at which 'hostesses' are available US, 1971 girlie film noun a film featuring naked women but no sexual activity US, 1973 girlie magazine noun a commercial publication that features many pictures of naked women. The sex industry sells 'girlies' not 'women' CANADA, 1920 girls noun a woman's breasts. From the television situation comedy Anything but Love (1989–92), in which the character played by Jamie Lee Curtis proudly nicknamed her breasts 'the girls' US, 2001 girls and boys noun noise. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 girl's blouse noun an effeminate male AUSTRALIA, 1996

girls in blue noun female police officers AUSTRALIA, 1998 girls' school noun a reformatory for female juvenile offenders US, 1982 girl's week noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 2001 girl thing noun 1 a problem or subject best understood by females US, 1992. 2 the various hygiene steps taken by a female pornography performer before a sex scene. Also called 'girl stuff' US, 1995 girly-girl noun 1 a stereotypically feminine female US, 1991. 2 a female friend US, 1997. 3 a tampon US, 1999

giro noun 1 a fraud perpetrated on the social security system whereby a Giro cheque benefits payment is signed and cashed by someone other than, but with the connivance of, the intended payee who then reports the cheque as lost and waits for a duplicate payment UK, 1996. 2 a social security/benefits cheque. An abbreviation of 'Giro cheque' UK, 1981

GI's; GI shits noun diarrhoea US, 1944

GI shower noun a military hazing or punishment in which a group of soldiers forcibly clean a dirty peer with wire brushes US, 1956

gism pot noun the vagina UK, 2001 git; get noun an objectionable individual; an idiot. 'Get' was conventional English from the C14 to C18, meaning 'a child', 'one of his get' (one of his begetting); hence a useful synonym for BASTARD. Usage is now mainly in northwest England. 'Git' is a mispronunciation UK, 1940

gitbox noun a guitar US, 1937 gite noun a bed and breakfast. In Quebec, even anglophones know and use 'gite', but it is often accompanied by 'bed and breakfast' so tourists from the US are not confused: Le Gite Park Ave., Bed and Breakfast. Au Gite Olympique is located on a major street in Montreal CANADA, 2002 git-faced adjective having an objectionable countenance UK, 2000 git-fiddle noun a guitar. A decidedly rural term US, 1935

Gitmo nickname the US naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba US, 1959

G-lvan noun a Russian enlisted soldier US, 1946 give noun inside information UK, 1980 give verb 1 to tell a secret. Mainly imperative UK, 1956. 2 to consent to have sex US, 1935. 3 to have sex with a woman UK, 1970. ► give a fuck to care, to be concerned. Often in the negative US, 2001.

► give good X; give great X to be notable for the noun that follows. On the original model of GIVE HEAD (to perform oral sex) US, 1971. ► give her tarpaper to work very hard. Used in Michigan's Upper Peninsula US, 2003. ► give it 1 to behave in the manner of whatever noun or adjective follows UK, 1999. 2 either by speech or action, to make your attitude to someone or something obvious UK, 1996. ► give it all that to brag, to show off UK, 1977.

► give it away to engage in sex without pay, to engage in sex promiscuously US, 1945. ► give it some to put a great deal of effort into something. Possibly abbreviated from 'give it some wellie' UK, 2001. ► give it the nifty fifty (used of a male) to masturbate US, 1983. ► give it the off to go, to leave UK, 1997. ► give it to to copulate with US, 1992. ► give it up to applaud. Often as an imperative to an audience US, 1990. ► give Jack his jacket to give credit where credit is due BARBADOS, 1975. ► give laugh for pea soup to bring gossip or interesting news when you visit, hoping for a meal in exchange JAMAICA, 1977. ► give leather to thrust forcefully while having sex TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. ► give me a break; gimme a break used as an expression of dismay at that which has just been said. Ubiquitous in the 1990s US, 1993. ► give skin to slap hands in greeting US, 1964.

► give someone hell to deal with someone in a harsh or severe manner UK, 1851. ► give someone one to have sex with someone UK, 1974. ► give someone the reds to anger. Teen slang US, 1951. ► give someone their hat to release from prison US, 1976. ► give the office to signal or give information UK, 1804. ► give the skins to have sex with someone US, 1990. ► give two fucks to care, to be concerned. An elaboration of GIVE A FUCK, and usually in the negative US, 1974. ► give up as a bad job to abandon something that has no prospect of success UK, 1862.

► give what for to beat, to thrash, to scold. Derives, apparently, from an exchange in which a person threatened with punishment asked 'What for?' and received the formulaic answer 'I'll give you what for' UK, 1873. ► give wings to inject someone else with heroin or to teach them to inject themselves US, 1968. ► give your right ball/testicle for to give everything for AUSTRALIA, 1988 give-and-get noun a bet. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 give-and-take noun a cake. Rhyming slang. UK, 1960 give-a-shit lobe noun the frontal lobe of the brain. If shot in the frontal lobe, the patient rarely cares about anything US, 1990 give-away noun a revelation or betrayal, either deliberate or inadvertent US, 1882 give away verb to cease doing something; to give up AUSTRALIA, 1944 give over! stop it! UK, 1984

giz noun the vagina US, 1975 giz! give me; give us. A slurring of 'give us', where 'us' is often used for 'me' UK, 1999

gizmo verb to outfit with a device US, 1977

gizmo; gismo noun a gadget, device or contraption, the exact name of which is forgotten by, or unimportant to, the speaker US, 1942

gizz verb to gaze UK, 1975

gizza; gissa used for making a demand. Phonetic compound of 'give us [me] a'. 'Gizza job' became a catchphrase in the mass-unemployment circumstances of the early 1980s UK, 1982 gizzard noun 250 or 300 dollars. An allusion to a 'monkey' ($500), with the gizzard being the guts of the monkey AUSTRALIA, 1989 gizzit noun a looted item. Short for 'give us it'; used by the military in the 1982 Falklands war UK, 1982 gizzuts noun guts, courage US, 1993

GJ noun grand jury US, 1997

G-joint noun 1 a federal penitentiary US, 1992. 2 a crooked carnival game. 'G' is for 'gaffed' (rigged) US, 1946

GLA noun a car theft, grand larceny automobile US, 1973 glacines noun heroin. Possibly a misspelling of 'glassine', a material used to make bags in which the drug may be supplied UK, 1998 glacio noun a glaciologist UK, 1985 glad noun a gladiolus; a cut gladiolus flower AUSTRALIA, 1968 glad bag noun 1 a body bag, used to cover corpses. Coined in Vietnam; still in use in the Gulf war and after US, 1983. 2 a condom UK, 1998 gladdy; gladdie noun a gladiolus; a cut gladiolus flower AUSTRALIA, 1947 glad eye noun a come-hither look US, 1903 glad hand noun 1 a welcome, rousing if not always sincere US, 1873. 2 on the railways, the metal air hose coupling between carriages. The interlocking connectors vaguely resemble hands clasped in a handshake US, 1975 glad-hand verb to greet with profuse, if insincere, enthusiasm. Often found in the context of politicians US, 1895 glad-handing adjective insincere and false US, 1992

gladiator school noun a violent prison US, 1981 glad lad noun an attractive male US, 1945 glad-on noun an erection. A happy variation of HARD-ON (an erection) UK, 2001 glad plaid noun a bright plaid pattern. Mexican-American youth (Pachuco) usage in the American southwest US, 1947 glad rag noun a piece of cloth saturated with glue or an industrial solvent, used for recreational inhaling US, 1971 glad rags noun your best clothes US, 1899 glad stuff noun any hard drug; cocaine, heroin, morphine, opium US, 1953 glad we could get together used as a humorous farewell. A catchphrase television sign-off by John Cameron Swayze on NBC in the 1950s. Repeated with referential humour US, 1949 glaiKet adjective foolish; having a foolish appearance. From an earlier sense as 'inattentive to duty' UK, 1985

glam noun glamour US, 1937 glam adjective 1 glamorous UK, 1964. 2 flamboyant, especially in dress and appearance US, 1993

glam; glam up verb to dress more smartly UK, 1937 glamazon noun a beautiful, well-muscled woman. A compound of 'glamour' and 'Amazon', 2001 glammed-up adjective dressed or presented in a glamorous manner UK, 1924 glamottle noun a 13 ounce bottle of Budweiser™ beer. Budweiser advertised that it was a 'glass that holds more than a bottle', which is corrupted here US, 1948 glamour noun a sexually attractive female AUSTRALIA, 1983

glamour boy noun a US Air Force flier US, 1946

Glamour-don't noun a huge fashion mistake. From a fashion 'do's and don'ts' column in Glamour Magazine CANADA, 1993

glamour groovie noun a fashion-conscious person US, 1947 glamour-puss noun a sexually attractive person, especially one who has enhanced a natural beauty with artificial glamour US, 1941

G-land noun Grajagan, Indonesia. A surfing destination US, 1991 glare glasses; glares noun sunglasses INDIA, 1979

glark verb to decipher a meaning from context US, 1991

Glasgow grin; Glesga grin noun a slash or slash-scar on the face UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

Glasgow kiss; Glesga kiss noun a head butt to your opponent's face UK, 1988

Glasgow nod; Glesga nod noun a head butt to your opponent's face UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

Glasgow Ranger; glasgow noun a stranger. Rhyming slang, formed from Glasgow Rangers football club; recorded as an underworld term UK, 1992

glass noun 1 amphetamine powder; methamphetamine powder UK, 1998. 2 heroin UK, 2003. 3 a hypodermic syringe US, 1942. 4 a shop window US, 1973. 5 a five ounce glass of beer AUSTRALIA, 1972. 6 a smooth water surface US, 1979. 7 a diamond US, 1918. 8 in drag racing and hot rodding, fibreglass, used to reduce weight US, 1968 ► see: GLASS OF WATER glass verb 1 to attack someone's face using a glass or bottle as a weapon UK, 1936. 2 in hot rodding, to repair a car body with lead compound, or fibreglass US, 1960 glassbottle noun pieces of broken glass set into the top of a wall TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1920 glass ceiling noun a notional barrier to personal advancement, especially in the employment prospects of a woman, a disabled person or anyone from an ethnic minority. 'You can't see it but you know it's there' – or 'the sky's the limit' US, 1984 glass chandelier noun homosexual; a homosexual. Rhyming slang for QUEER UK, 2003 glass cheque noun a bottle with a deposit on it UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 glass chin noun a window built in the area immediately below and slightly behind the nose of a bomber US, 1988 glass dick noun a pipe used to smoke crack cocaine US, 1995 glass diet noun an addiction to crack cocaine US, 1997 glass gun noun a hypodermic syringe and needle US, 1949 glass house noun 1 a guard room, detention barracks or military prison. From the glass-roofed North Camp military prison in Aldershot UK, 1931. 2 in prison, a detention cell or cells UK, 1996. 3 in surfing, a smooth ride inside the hollow of a wave US, 1987

Glass House nickname the Parker Center police headquarters in Los Angeles US, 1963

glassie noun a clear glass marble AUSTRALIA, 1934 glass itch noun irritation of the skin by fibreglass dust. Surfing usage US, 1978 glass jaw noun a weak jaw in the context of boxing or fighting US, 1955 glass of beer noun the ear. Rhyming slang UK, 1961 glass of plonk noun the nose. Rhyming slang for CONK UK, 1992 glass of water; glass noun a quarter of an ounce (seven grams) of cocaine. Rhyming slang for QUARTER UK, 2002 glass pack noun in hot rodding, a muffler that has been stuffed with fibreglass, increasing the roar of the engine US, 1960 glass work noun in poker, the use of a small mirror or other reflective surface to cheat US, 1968 glassy adjective (used of an ocean condition) smooth, not choppy US, 1963

Glasto noun the Glastonbury Festival; to a lesser extent, the town of Glastonbury. The festival began in 1970 when it was known as The Glastonbury Fayre. The earliest references to the event as 'Glasto' seem to be late 1990s UK, 2003 glaze verb to daydream NEW ZEALAND, 1998 glazed adjective drunk US, 1972

glazey doughnut noun the residue of vaginal secretions ringing a cunnilinguist's mouth UK, 2002 gleam verb ► gleam the tube (of a female) to masturbate US, 2001 gleamer noun any reflective surface used by the dealer for cheating in a card game US, 1969 gleaming adjective excellent US, 1997 gleek noun in poker, three of a kind US, 1967 gleesome threesome noun group sex with three participants AUSTRALIA, 1971

Glen Hoddle; Glen noun an objective achieved with ease; in sport, and easy win or simple victory. Rhyming slang for 'doddle', based on the name of footballer and former England coach Glen Hoddle UK, 2002 glide time noun a flexible work schedule NEW ZEALAND, 1977

glim noun 1 a light UK, 1676. 2 the eye UK, 1789. 3 a railway lantern US, 1946

glim verb to see US, 1912 glimmer noun 1 a light UK, 1566. 2 any reflective surface used by a dealer to cheat in a game of cards US, 1962

Glimmer Man nickname a man appointed by the Gas Company during World War 2 to inspect homes for any contravention of the rationing of gas IRELAND, 1968

glimmers noun the eyes or eyeglasses UK, 1814 glimmer twins nickname Mick Jagger and Keith Richard of The Rolling Stones. A self-given nickname, apparently – according to Keith Richard – in response to the question 'Who ARE you? What's it all about? Come on, give us a clue. Just give us a glimmer' UK, 1968 glimp verb to peer, to peep. Military; an abbreviation of 'glimpse' (to see briefly) UK, 1987 gliss around verb to make small talk US, 1947 glitch noun a malfunction. From the Yiddish for 'slip' US, 1962 glitching noun a temporary or intermittent loss of control (of a radio-controlled aircraft) when interference from another signal occurs UK, 1979 glitter noun salt US, 1981 glitter fairy noun a style-conscious, effeminate homosexual man. Usually derogatory US, 1978 glittergal noun in circus and carnival usage, a female performer US, 1960 glitter gulch noun downtown Las Vegas, Nevada US, 1953

glitz noun superficial glamour, especially as applied in show-business US, 1977 glitzy adjective ostentatious, gaudy, especially with a sense of tawdry show-business glamour; often applied to something that glitters US, 1966

GLM noun (in doctors' shorthand) good looking mum. Medical slang UK, 2003

glo noun crack cocaine US, 1994

glob noun expectorated sputum US, 1989 globber noun an expectoration US, 1988 globes noun the female breasts US, 1889 globetrotter noun a heroin addict who contacts many heroin dealers in search of the best heroin US, 1970

globule noun a contemptible person UK, 1988 glom verb 1 to steal, to snatch, to grab. Scots dialect glam, *glau*m, (to clutch or grasp) US, 1897. 2 to attach to, to seize upon, to grab hold of for oneself US, 1972. 3 to eat hastily US, 1990 glom note noun in college, a notification of academic deficiency US, 1968 glop verb 1 to drink noisily, to drink quickly, to slurp. Derives from 'glop' (a viscous liquid), or from a mispronunciation of 'gulp' UK, 1987. 2 to pour or apply with gusto US, 1992 glophead noun a habitual drunk. Combines GLOP (to drink) with -HEAD (a user) UK, 1987

glopper noun someone who is unfashionably dressed. Used among foot-propelled scooter-riders UK, 2000

Gloria Gaynors noun trainers. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of soul singer Gloria Gaynor (b.1949). UK, 1998

Gloria Soames noun glorious homes AUSTRALIA, 1965 glory noun on the railways, an accidental death US, 1946. ► get the glory while in prison, to become religious – a state of being that may well outlast the prison sentence UK, 1950 glory be noun tea (the beverage or the meal). Rhyming slang UK, 1998 glory be! used as an expression of delight or astonishment.

Shortened from 'Glory be to God!' but often having to do without God in spirit as well as word UK, 1893 glory card noun a licence from the Federal Communications Commission to operate a citizens' band radio US, 1976 glory fit noun an exhibition of religious emotional frenzy CANADA, 1946 glory hole noun 1 a hole between private video booths in a pornography arcade or between stalls in a public toilets, designed for anonymous sex between men US, 1949. 2 any unpleasant place or situation NEW ZEALAND, 1951. 3 any room or cupboard where oddments are stored UK, 1984. 4 the officer's sleeping quarters on a navy ship US, 1889. 5 a clear spot in an otherwise cloudy sky through which a fighter aircraft can reach its target US, 1991 glory hour noun the hour between noon and 1 pm on Sundays, the only hour of the day when drinking is permitted in pubs FALKLAND ISLANDS (MALVINAS), 1982 glory seeds noun seeds of the morning glory plant, eaten for their psychoactive properties US, 1992 glory wagon noun a brakevan (caboose) US, 1977 gloss noun a shine US, 1969 glossy noun 1 a photograph US, 1931. 2 a 'glossy' magazine US, 1945 glove noun a condom. Leading to the safe-sex slogan 'No glove, no love' US, 1958 glove verb to examine a prisoner's rectum for contraband US, 1972 gloves noun ► the gloves are off; take the gloves off used for expressing a commitment to action without compromise, compassion or hesitation UK, 2001 glowework noun in cricket, a wicketkeeper's skill or performance UK, 1996 glow noun a pleasant, warming sense of intoxication US, 1942 glub noun a slob or lazy person NEW ZEALAND, 2002

glub out verb to idle; to relax completely NEW ZEALAND, 2002 glue noun 1 semen UK, 1998. 2 the residue produced during heroin manufacture US, 1992. 3 in computing, any interface protocol US, 1991. 4 a police detective US, 1950. ► do glue to sniff glue for the psychoactive effect UK, 1996 glued adjective drunk US, 1957 glued up adjective intoxicated as a result of solvent abuse, especially glue-sniffing UK, 2001 glue gun noun a weapon which fires a hardening resin to paralyse the human target UK, 2001 gluehead noun a person who inhales glue or any volatile solvent for the intoxicating effect US, 1970 gluepot noun 1 the vagina. Rhyming slang for TWAT, combined, perhaps, with allusive imagery UK, 1992. 2 a racehorse that performs very, very poorly US, 1924. 3 in cricket, a wicket with a 'sticky' surface (caused by the sun drying wet turf) UK, 1985 gluer noun a person who sniffs model glue for the psychoactive effect US, 1982 gluey noun a person who inhales glue or any volatile solvent for the intoxicating effect US, 1967 glug noun a swallow, a mouthful, a swig of a drink. Echoic US, 1971 glutes; gloots noun the gluteus maximus muscles (the three large muscles in the buttocks) US, 1984

g-ma noun grandmother US, 1997

GMFU; GMBU noun a situation of organisational chaos. Initialism of 'grand military fuck up' or 'grand military balls up'; probably since World War 2 UK, 1982

GMOF noun a grossly obese hospital patient. A 'great mass of flesh' US, 1989

GMT noun time to clean out the refrigerator. Back-formation from the Greenwich standard, abbreviating here 'green meat time' CANADA, 2002 gnarlacious adjective extremely impressive US, 1991 gnarly adjective 1 treacherous, challenging. Originally surfer slang applied to waves and surf conditions, and then broadened to an all-purpose adjective US, 1977. 2 bad, disgusting US, 1978. 3 excellent. An absolute reversal of the original sense, used amongst foot-propelled scooter-riders US, 1982 gnashers noun the teeth NEW ZEALAND, 1984

gnat bites noun small female breasts UK, 1980 gnat-brain noun an idiot UK, 2002

gnat's noun something very small. A reduction of, or a suggestion of, many terms including: 'gnat's arse', 'gnat's chuff' and 'gnat's whiskers'; in such uses as 'within a gnat's' and 'tight as a gnat's arse', etc UK, 2001

gnat's blood noun tea purchased from a railway canteen or refreshment bar UK, 1970 gnat's eyelash noun a very small distance. The variant bodyparts are seemingly infinite, with 'eyelash' as the earliest recorded US, 1937 gnat's piss noun a weak beverage such as tea or beer UK, 1984 gnawing noun kissing NEW ZEALAND, 1998

gnawing-the-nana noun oral sex on a man AUSTRALIA, 1971

gnome noun a socially inept outcast US, 1959

G-note noun a $1000 note US, 1930 go noun 1 a turn at something; an attempt UK, 1825. 2 an opportunity AUSTRALIA, 1965. 3 a fair chance. Commonly used in the phrase 'give someone a go' AUSTRALIA, 1937. 4 an attack AUSTRALIA, 1965. 5 a look AUSTRALIA, 1930. 6 a preference AUSTRALIA, 1977. 7 approval, agreement US, 1878. 8 high-spirits, vigour, energy, as a human characteristic. Originally, and still, applied to horses UK, 1825. 9 used of a busy period or energetic activity UK, 1965. 10 a fight, especially a prize-fight; an argument US, 1890. 11 an event AUSTRALIA, 1979. 12 a drag race event US, 1954. 13 amphetamines. From the 'get up and go' nature of the drug's effects UK, 2003. 14 MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003. 15 a goanna. 'Goanna' is the Gyuana Indian name for 'lizard', attached here to the monitor lizard AUSTRALIA, 1904. ► from the word go from the very start. Derived from the starting of a race US, 1838. ► have a go at to criticise. From the sense 'to attack' UK, 1977. ► make a go of it to make a success of something US, 1877 go verb 1 when reporting a conversation, to say. A thoroughly annoying quotative device found as early as 1942, favoured by teenagers in the 1970s and 80s US, 1942. 2 to take on the mannerisms and customs of a place or group of people US, 1917. 3 to find acceptable, to wish for, to enjoy. Especially, and usually, when applied to food or drink UK, 1953. 4 to urinate; to defecate. Probably a shortening of 'go to the toilet', now a euphemism UK, 1926. 5 to attack physically, to fight AUSTRALIA, 1924. 6 to race US, 1965. 7 to become (of a political constituency, as in 'to go Tory') US, 1937. 8 in a casino, to earn in tips US, 1980. 9 to weigh US, 1999. 10 of a telephone, to ring UK, 2000. ► go all the way to have sexual intercourse US, 1924. ► go Alzheimers to forget. Public awareness of Alzheimer's confuses the disease with the premature senile dementia it causes UK, 2000. ► go bent 1 to become dishonest. From BENT (crooked) UK, 2002. 2 (of a police witness) to retract a statement or renege on an undertaking. The implication is that the witness is behaving in a criminal manner, BENT UK, 1970. ► go big, go fat to achieve substantial height or distance in snowboarding US, 1995. ► go both ways to be willing to play both the active and passive role in homosexual sex US, 1972. ► go down the rabbit hole to use drugs. An allusion to Lewis Carroll and Alice in Wonderland CANADA, 1993. ► go for a burton 1 to be killed in an air crash. Military slang of uncertain etymology UK, 1941. 2 to be destroyed or ruined, to be forgotten UK, 1957. ► go great guns to do very well, to prosper UK, 1913. ► go off like a two-bob rocket to lose your temper in a very unsuitable way UK, SCOTLAND, 1996. ► go on to talk at length UK, 1822. ► go over jackass hill to be a teenager CANADA, 1992. ► go over the wall 1 to secretly depart from anywhere you are duty-bound to be. Applies to escape from prison and the wider world US, 1933. 2 to go to prison UK, 1917. ► go some 1 to fight US, 1968. 2 to go well, to proceed with notable vigour US, 1911. ► go south 1 to deteriorate; to break US, 2000. 2 in a gambling cheating scheme, to take dice or money off the gaming table US, 1997. ► go through the card to cover everything that is available in a given circumstance. Originally a horse racing term UK, 1978. ► go to bat to stand trial. A baseball metaphor US, 1965. ► go to ground to go into hiding US, 1990. ► go to higher game to launch a legitimate business after a period in an underworld enterprise US, 1972. ► go to New Norfolk to be crazy. A reference to the asylum located in New Norfolk AUSTRALIA, 1988. ► go to the wall to exert yourself at all costs without regard to the consequences US, 1976. ► go up fool's hill to be a teenager CANADA, 1999. ► go upside someone's head to hit someone on the head US, 1959. ► go west to be spoiled or ruined; to die UK, 1925. ► go west on someone to fail, to let someone down CANADA, 1999. ► go with the flow to acquiesce US, 1977. ► not go much on to not like much AUSTRALIA, 1932 go! used for expressing approval and encouraging further effort US, 1957 go-ahead adjective progressive; anxious to succeed US, 1840 go ahead, make my day used to summon defiance. From the film character Dirty Harry played by Clint Eastwood. US President Ronald Reagan used the line in a speech to the American Business Conference in March 1985: 'I have only one thing to say to the tax increasers. Go ahead – make my day!'. He liked the line so much that he repeated it in a speech at his 83rd birthday in 1994 US, 1983 go-ahead man noun in horse racing, a person working with someone selling 'inside' information on the horses and races US, 1962 go-aheads noun thong sandals US, 1962 goalie noun 1 a goal-keeper. In football and ice hockey; first recorded in the modern spelling in 1957 – as 'goalee', known since 1921 UK, 1957. 2 the clitoris US, 1972 goanna noun a piano. Rhyming slang for 'pianna', a variant pronunciation AUSTRALIA, 1918 goat noun 1 a person responsible for a failure or loss, especially a player in an athletic contest. A short form of 'scapegoat' US, 1894. 2 in horse racing, a poor-performing racehorse AUSTRALIA, 1941. 3 a fool. Often, and originally, in the phrase 'act the goat' UK, 1879. 4 in motor racing, a Dodge car US, 1965. 5 in hot rodding, an old car US, 1948. 6 an engine used in a railway yard US, 1946. 7 a goatee US, 1956.

- get someone's goat to succeed in making someone lose their temper US, 1904
- goat boater noun a surfer who uses a surfboard/canoe hybrid craft. Mainly derogatory UK: WALES, 2002
- goat fuck noun a colossal, confused mess US, 1971
- goat hair noun illegally manufactured alcoholic drink US, 1970
- goat head noun in electric line work, an angle-iron punch US, 1980
- goat heaven noun bliss BARBADOS, 1965
- goat knee noun a callus, especially one on the head from carrying heavy loads BARBADOS, 1965
- goat land noun in oil drilling, non-productive land US, 1954
- goat locker noun in the US Navy, the kitchen and dining hall reserved for officers US, 1990
- goat mouth; goat bite noun a curse; bad luck TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1827
- goat pasture noun any worthless land sold as part of a confidence swindle US, 1985
- goat rope noun a rumour. Gulf war usage US, 1991
- goat screw noun a disorganised, confusing situation US, 1988
- goat track noun a rough, winding hill road NEW ZEALAND, 2002
- go away verb to be sent to jail or prison US, 1990
- go-away gear noun a truck's highest gear US, 1971
- gob noun 1 the mouth. Originally Scots and northern English dialect UK, 1550. 2 a slimey lump or clot, especially of spittle. In conventional use until early C19 UK, 1964
- gob verb 1 to spit UK, 1872. 2 to eat UK, 1999
- go back on verb to break a promise or a trust UK, 1859
- gobble noun an act of oral sex UK, 1984
- gobble verb 1 to perform oral sex on a man US, 1966. 2 to talk US, 1947. 3 in drag racing, to achieve very high speeds US, 1965. ► gobble the goop to perform oral sex on a man US, 1918
- gobble alley noun the upper balcony in a cinema favoured by homosexuals US, 1966
- gobble down verb in computing, to obtain US, 1983
- gobbledygook noun dense, pompous, and unintelligible jargon US, 1944
- gobble hole noun in pinball, a hole near the centre of the playing field which takes a ball from play while scoring a large number of points US, 1979
- gobble off verb to perform oral sex on a man. A more complete elaboration of GOBBLE UK, 2003
- gobbler noun a hospital patient with petty complaints US, 1980
- gobbling irons noun a knife, fork and spoon. A trawlermen's term UK, 1969
- gobbling rods noun a knife, fork and spoon. Gulf war usage UK, 1991
- gobbo adjective stupid UK, 2002
- gobby noun a small lump of dried nasal mucus UK, 2000
- gobby; gobbie adjective loquacious, too talkative; impudent UK, 1993
- gobdaw noun 1 an ordinary fool IRELAND, 1989. 2 a dolt, a gullible person IRELAND, 2003
- go between noun a cow gate CANADA, 1987
- gobgrabbing noun in prison, the practice of trying to grab and steal drugs concealed in someone's gob (the mouth) UK, 1996
- goblet of jam noun marijuana. From the direct translation from Arabic m'juni akbar (a hashish-based confection) US, 1969
- gob off verb to talk loudly or too much UK, 1995
- gobs noun 1 a great deal of. In the C16, a 'gob' or 'gubbe' referred specifically to a 'great deal of money' or a 'large mouthful of fatty meat'. By World War 2, the term had acquired this broader meaning, as evidenced by the title of Johnny Viney's 1943 wartime humorous novel Sailors are Gobs of Fun, Hattie US, 1839.
- 2 in a hospital, gynaecology. Rhymed on the model of OBS (obstetrics) UK, 2002
- gobshite noun a fool; an unpleasant person. Combines GOB (the mouth) and SHITE (rubbish), hence 'someone who talks rubbish': the subsequent, more abusive sense depends on the phonetic ugliness of the word IRELAND, 1961
- gobsmack noun a shock that renders you speechless. A back-formation from the verb UK, 2001
- gobsmacked adjective being speechless or lost for words as the result of amazement or shock. Adopted from northern dialect; silence is the suggested result of a 'smack' (hit) in the GOB (mouth) UK, 1971
- gobsmacking adjective shocking UK, 1996
- gobsmackingly adverb surprisingly NEW ZEALAND, 2003
- gobstopper noun 1 a large ball-shaped sweet that reveals layers of colour as sucking diminishes its size. Combines GOB (the mouth) with the effect of a large sweet UK, 1928. 2 the penis. Rhyming slang for CHOPPER rejoicing in puns of size and sweetness UK, 1992
- gobstoppers noun the testicles. From GOBSTOPPER (a ball-shaped sweet) UK, 2002
- gobstruck adjective very surprised. From GOB (the mouth) and 'struck' (hit) UK, 1988
- go button noun a car's accelerator US, 1993
- go-by noun a passing by US, 1949
- goby noun a middleman in a criminal enterprise. From 'go-between' UK, 1970
- go-by-the-wall noun a cornerboy IRELAND, 1989
- God Almighty noun a woman's nightdress, a 'nightie'. Rhyming slang UK, 1998
- God-awful adjective terrible, dreadful. 'God' as the intensifier of all that is bad US, 1897
- God bless you noun used as a mnemonic device in snooker for remembering the correct spotting of ball colours – green, brown, yellow US, 1993
- God-botherer; God-pesterer noun an immoderately religious individual UK, 1937
- God Calls Me God noun a GCMG (Grand Commander of St Michael and St George). A pun elaborated on the initials; used by civil servants demonstrating a jocular familiarity with the honour UK, 1961
- God damn noun jam (the preserve). Rhyming slang UK, 1992
- goddamn- infix used as an intensifier US, 1968
- godfather noun in horse racing, someone who provides financial assistance to a financially failing operation AUSTRALIA, 1989
- God forbid; Gawd forbid; Gawd fer bid noun 1 a child. Rhyming slang for KID UK, 1909. 2 a Jewish person. Rhyming slang for YID UK, 1960
- Godfrey noun used in oaths in place of 'God' US, 1959
- God hates a coward in poker, used for luring a reluctant bettor to bet US, 1951
- godhead adjective excellent at playing Internet games. Possibly an elaboration of 'good' UK, 2003
- godiva noun ► see: LADY GODIVA
- God love her noun a mother. Rhyming slang UK, 1974
- go down verb 1 to happen US, 1946. 2 to be arrested and/or imprisoned UK, 1906. 3 while working as a police officer in a patrol car, to park and sleep US, 1973
- go-down man noun in an illegal betting operation, the employee designated to identify himself as the operator in the event of a police raid, accepting risk in place of the actual operator US, 1951
- go down on; go down; go down south verb to perform oral sex US, 1914
- go downtown verb to have sex. Coined for US television comedy Seinfeld, 1993–98 US, 2003

God save the Queens noun green vegetables, especially cabbage. Rhyming slang for 'greens' UK, 1992

God's flesh noun 1 psilocybin, a hallucinogenic mushroom US, 1970. 2 LSD UK, 2003

God's gift to women; God's gift noun of a man, a great lover. A familiar idiom, also used in other contexts as 'God's gift to something or someone'; generally heavily ironic US, 1927

God's honest truth noun the absolute truth UK, 1959

God shop noun a church US, 1965

God-size adjective very, very large US, 1968

God slot noun a regular position in a television or radio broadcast schedule given over to religious programmes UK, 1972

God's medicine; God's own medicine noun morphine; opium US, 1925

God squad noun 1 church authorities; evangelical enthusiasts US, 1965. 2 the US military Chaplains Corps US, 1965

God's waiting room noun a nursing home; a rest home US, 1989

goer noun 1 a proposition that seems a likely success AUSTRALIA, 1974. 2 an enthusiastic participant in sexual activity UK, 1984. 3 in hot rodding, a fast car US, 1954. 4 a person with get-up-and-go AUSTRALIA, 1983. 5 a horse being honestly ridden to win AUSTRALIA, 1966 go-fast noun any amphetamine or other central nervous system stimulant US, 1993 go-faster noun any amphetamine or other central nervous system stimulant US, 1986 gofer verb to act as an assistant and errand-runner. From the noun UK, 2001 gofer; gopher; go-for noun 1 a low-level assistant who typically runs petty errands. He or she goes for this and goes for that US, 1930. 2 in the military, a special team assigned with the task of bypassing normal channels to acquire needed supplies US, 1990 goffer noun 1 a cold drink of mineral water or lemonade. Derives from drinks manufacturer Goffe & Sons Ltd AUSTRALIA, 1945. 2 a wave washing inboard UK, 1987. 3 a punch, a blow UK, 1886. 4 a salute AUSTRALIA, 2003 go for verb 1 to attack with words (spoken or written) or with physical force UK, 1880. 2 to pay for US, 1975

go for it! used as a general exhortation US, 1978 go forth and multiply! go away! Genesis 1:28 provides this archly euphemistic variation of 'fuck off!' US, 1985 go for the gusto! used as an exhortation to take risks and live life fully. From a slogan for Schlitz beer; often used ironically US, 1988

gog noun a person from North Wales. From Welsh gogledd (north) UK: WALES, 2002 go-getter noun a very active, enterprising person US, 1910 gogga noun 1 something frightening, monstrous or unwanted, especially in a political or business context. From the sense as 'an insect' SOUTH AFRICA, 1934. 2 any insect. A generic term, from Khoikhoi xo-xon via Afrikaans SOUTH AFRICA, 1905. 3 a germ, a disease SOUTH AFRICA, 1963 goggatjie; gogga noun used as a term of endearment. From Afrikaans for 'little insect' SOUTH AFRICA, 1972

goggle verb ► goggle the horizon used by motorcyclists to mean a number of things, most commonly to keep an eye out US, 2003 goggle box noun a television. Conventional 'goggle' (to stare) elaborates viewers' response to the box (television) UK, 1959 goggler noun a male homosexual US, 1970 goggles noun spectacles. From the conventional sense (spectacles for eye-protection) UK, 1871

Gogland nickname North Wales. From Welsh gogledd (north) UK: WALES, 2002

go-go noun a discotheque; a venue for erotic-dance performance US, 1965 go-go adjective associated with a discotheque. A very big word for a very few years UK, 1964 go-go bird noun a CH-47 transport helicopter fitted with window-mounted machine guns and used as a gunship. Not a successful experiment US, 1991 go-go boy noun an attractive, usually homosexual, young man who is a paid dancer at a nightclub or bar US, 1971 go-go dancer noun a paid dancer at a nightclub US, 1967 go-go dancing noun dancing for pay at a nightclub in a cage or platform above the patrons US, 1987 go-go juice; go juice noun petrol; diesel US, 1976 ► see: GO-JUICE go home used as a humorous farewell. A catchphrase television sign-off on The Tracey Ullman Show (Fox, 1987–90). Repeated with referential humour US, 1987 gohong noun during the Korean war, food or chow. From the Korean word for 'rice' applied by American soldiers to food in general US, 1951 goie noun a central nervous system stimulant such as Dexedrine™ or Benzedrine™ US, 1960

go-in noun a fight AUSTRALIA, 1900 going! used for encouraging another's action. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982 going home gear noun a truck's highest gear US, 1971 going-over noun 1 a beating; a verbal assault US, 1942. 2 a detailed inspection, a search US, 1919 goings-on noun behaviour or proceedings. Usually with a pejorative implication UK, 1775 goitre noun a large quantity of banknotes, usually folded into a trouser pocket. From the unsightly bulge UK, 1977 go-juice noun alcohol (liquor) US, 1968 go jump in the creek go away!, be off with you! AUSTRALIA, 1947

GOK God only knows. An informal medical acronym UK, 2003 gold noun 1 money US, 1940. 2 used generically for jewellery, especially goods that are traded illicitly UK, 2000. 3 a type of bet in an illegal lottery US, 1957. 4 potent marijuana. Often combined with a place name for the formation of place plus colour US, 1968. 5 in drag racing and hot rodding, a trophy or prize US, 1968

golda noun a Jewish homosexual. Gay slang, formed on the name Golda and originating among Cape coloureds SOUTH AFRICA, 2000

Goldberg noun used as a stereotype of a Jewish merchant US, 1965 goldbrick noun a person who shuns work or duty US, 1918 goldbrick verb to avoid a work detail US, 1918 goldbricker noun a swindler US, 1902 goldbug noun a person who buys and hoards gold US, 1981 gold buttons noun a conductor on a train US, 1977

Gold Coast nickname 1 a high-rise, high-rent district on Lakeshore Drive bordering Lake Michigan in northern Chicago, Illinois US, 1950. 2 an area in Harlem, New York, where police bribes are common and lucrative US, 1972. 3 the Atlantic coast of South Florida US, 1983. 4 a stretch along the east coast of Queensland, Australia, noted for extraordinarily good surfing AUSTRALIA, 1991 gold-digger noun someone who pursues another romantically because of their wealth. Used to characterize women as predators of men US, 1916 gold-digging adjective engaged in the romantic pursuit of a wealthy lover US, 1994 gold dust noun 1 cocaine. Extends DUST (playing on the expense) US, 1962. 2 heroin UK, 1996

Gold Dust Twins nickname 1 Timothy Leary and Dick Alpert, LSD pioneers US, 1971. 2 Byron Nelson and Jug McSpaden, who dominated professional golf in the US during the 1940s US, 1998

golden noun marijuana. From the colour of the leaf UK, 2003 golden adjective successful, excellent, charmed US, 1958 golden arm noun in craps, a player with a long streak of good luck rolling the dice US, 1993 golden BB the bullet or anti-aircraft round that hits you US, 1969 golden bollocks nickname a lucky man UK, 1984 golden boy noun 1 a favoured male AUSTRALIA, 1967. 2 in homosexual usage, a handsome young man at his sexual prime US, 1981 golden brown noun heroin. An elaboration of BROWN (heroin) UK, 1981 golden bullet noun the bullet or anti-aircraft round that hits your combat plane US, 1991 golden chair! used to reserve your seat as you briefly leave the room US, 1996 golden crescent noun an area in Afghanistan, Iran and Pakistan where heroin is produced US, 1992 golden doughnut noun the vagina AUSTRALIA, 1972

golden dragon noun LSD UK, 1998

golden flow noun the urine test given to US soldiers upon their return to the US from Vietnam US, 1971 golden ghetto verb a large, comfortable US Army divisional base camp in South Vietnam. A term used with derision by the marines US, 1990 golden girl noun 1 a favoured woman AUSTRALIA, 1992. 2 high quality cocaine US, 1980. 3 heroin US, 1994

Golden Girls nickname the women's track team from the Bahamas at the 2000 Olympics US, 2004

golden glow noun a luminous daub used by card cheats to mark cards US, 1988 golden leaf noun 1 marijuana of excellent quality. Possibly descriptive of the plant's appearance, as well as the value placed upon it US, 1925. 2 a marijuana cigarette UK, 2003 golden mile noun the area west of McGill in central Montreal, characterized by large stone mansions CANADA, 2002

golden ointment noun a large win in betting; money AUSTRALIA, 1989

golden oldie noun 1 a song from the past that is still popular, especially a rock and roll song from the 1950s or 60s US, 1966. 2 by extension, anything that can be categorised in a nostalgic context. After the old songs a radio DJ announces US, 1980 golden shower noun a shared act of urine fetishism; the act of urination by one person on another for sexual gratification US, 1943.

► couldn't organise a urine sample in a golden shower used of an inefficient person or organisation. A later variation of '...PISS-UP IN A BREWERY' and '...COCK-UP IN A BROTHEL' UK, 2005 golden shower queen noun a male homosexual who derives sexual pleasure from being urinated on US, 1964

golden spike noun a hypodermic needle US, 1955 golden T nickname in New York, Fifth Avenue from 47th Street north to 57th Street, and 57th Street between Madison and Sixth Avenues US, 1989 golden time; golden hours noun in the entertainment industry, time worked at a premium overtime rate US, 1970 golden triangle noun an area in Burma, Laos and Thailand where heroin is produced US, 1992

goldfinger noun synthetic heroin US, 1992 goldfish noun a strain of marijuana, also known as 'orange bud' UK, 2001 goldfish verb to mouth words, to talk without being heard. Imitative of a goldfish US, 2002 goldfish bowl noun a jail's interrogation room US, 1962 goldfishing noun the behaviour of visitors being shown around a prison. From the similarity to a naturally wide-eyed, open-mouthed goldfish UK, 1996 gold fronts; fronts noun ornamental dental work US, 1994

Goldie Hawn noun a prawn. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the US movie actress (b.1945) UK, 1998

Goldilocks noun a sexually transmitted infection. Rhyming slang for POX, caught from a fairytale heroine – 'Who's been sleeping in my bed?' UK, 1998 gold mine noun an establishment that sells alcohol illegally, by the drink US, 1978

gold nuggets noun in dominoes, the 5–5 piece US, 1959 gold ring noun (of playing cards) a king. Rhyming slang, also used of monarchy UK, 1992 gold room noun a room in the Pentagon where the Joint Chiefs and Staff meet with the Operations Deputies US, 1986 gold rush noun 1 the frantic searching for jewellery or coins that follows a shift in the slope of a beach, exposing lost articles US, 1986. 2 in hold 'em poker, a hand consisting of a four and a nine. An allusion to the California gold rush of 1849 US, 1996 gold seal noun good quality marijuana UK, 1996 gold star noun marijuana UK, 1998

gold-star lesbian noun a lesbian who has never had sex with a man and intends that she never will UK, 2004

Goldstein noun a Jewish person US, 1980

gold watch noun Scotch whisky. Rhyming slang, always given full measure UK, 1992 golfbal noun 1 crack cocaine; a large piece of crack cocaine US, 1994. 2 any central nervous system depressant UK, 1998. 3 a changeable sphere with 88 different characters used on IBM Selectric typewriters US, 1991

golfballs noun 1 dice US, 1962. 2 LSD UK, 2003

golfballs and bullets noun a US Army c-rations meal of meatballs and beans US, 1991

Golf Course nickname Camp Radcliff, base camp for the Fourth Infantry Division near An Khe, South Vietnam. From its large helicopter airfield with low-cut grass US, 1966 goliath noun a multiple bet, gambling on eight horses, combining 247 bets in a specific pattern UK, 1991 gollies noun ► the gollies dog racing. From rhyming slang; for GOLLIWOG (a dog) UK, 1992 golliwog noun 1 a dog, especially a greyhound. Rhyming slang, may be abbreviated to 'gollie' UK, 1992. 2 fog. Rhyming slang, often reduced to 'golly' UK, 1998 golliwoggy; golly adjective foggy UK, 1998 gollop verb to eat hurriedly and with great gusto. A variation of conventional 'gulp' UK, 1937 golly noun 1 a black person. A shortening of 'golliwog' UK, 1976. 2 any person of non-white ethnicity, a native of the Indian subcontinent, an Arab; A play on WOG via 'golliwog' (a negroid doll) UK, 1967. 3 a gob of phlegm or mucus AUSTRALIA, 1938. 4 a half gallon jar of beer NEW ZEALAND, 1999

golly verb to expectorate AUSTRALIA, 1978

golly! used for registering surprise, shock, etc. Euphemistic variation on 'God', which evokes a childish innocence UK, 1775

gollyer noun a gob of spittle IRELAND, 1966

golly gee, Buffalo Bob used for expressing mock astonishment US, 1969 golpe noun heroin. From Spanish golpe (a blow, a shot) US, 1980

gom noun a foolish, awkward person; a simpleton; an idiot IRELAND, 1996

GOM noun morphine; opium. An initialism of GOD'S OWN MEDICINE UK, 1996

goma; guma noun heroin. Possibly an elaboration of GOM US, 1967 gomer noun 1 a US Marine, especially a clumsy trainee. Terminology used with affectionate derision by the US Army during the Vietnam war. From the television show Gomer Pyle, which is not a completely flattering image of the marines US, 1984. 2 a repulsive, non-compliant hospital patient. From the plea – 'get out of my emergency room!' US, 1993 go-minh money noun compensation payment to Vietnamese civilians by the US military for accidental losses resulting from military actions. From the Vietnamese for 'extract yourself from a predicament' US, 1990

gommed up adjective dirty US, 1982

gommie noun a silly person CANADA, 1990

gomtor; gom noun an uncouth person, especially when applied to an Afrikaner. From Afrikaans gomtor (a lout) SOUTH AFRICA, 1970

gon noun a gondola train carriage US, 1934 gonad alert noun ▶ see: NAD ALERT

gondola noun heroin UK, 2003 gone adjective 1 superlative, profoundly in touch with current trends. Nellie Lutcher's 1947 recording of 'He's a Real Gone Guy' did as much as anything to introduce the term into the language US, 1946. 2 drunk or drug-intoxicated US, 1933. 3 completely destitute and physically ruined because of crack cocaine addiction US, 1994. 4 infatuated US, 1957. 5 pregnant AUSTRALIA, 1945. 6 caught AUSTRALIA, 1954 goneburger noun anything that is redundant or finished NEW ZEALAND, 2000 gone case noun a hopeless cause SINGAPORE, 2002

goner noun 1 someone who has died or is unavoidably doomed to die very soon. From 'gone' as a euphemism for 'dead' UK, 1847. 2 someone who is doomed to failure US, 1970. 3 a person who excels US, 1949

gone to bed adjective dead UK, 1992 gone to Gowings adjective well and truly gone. From an advertising campaign for Gowing Bros, a Sydney department store. Used as an intensifier of 'gone', especially for slang senses of 'gone' AUSTRALIA, 1977 gone to hell adjective utterly ruined UK, 1984 gone up adjective drunk or drug-intoxicated US, 1970 gong noun 1 a medal or decoration UK, 1921. 2 a medal UK, 1945. 3 opium; heroin US, 1936. 4 marijuana US, 1977. 5 a gun US, 1995 gong down verb to ring the alarm bell on a police car as a signal to another motorist to stop. Early police cars were fitted with bell-shaped gongs. During the 1930s and 40s the police patrolling in cars were known as 'gongers' UK, 1958 gonies noun the testicles. A diminutive of 'gonads' US, 1970 gonj noun marijuana UK, 2003 gonk noun 1 a prostitute's client. A contemptuous term used by prostitutes, deriving, perhaps, from a type of humanoid doll UK, 1977. 2 a fool, an idiot. Teen slang UK, 2003 gonk verb 1 to sleep UK, 1987. 2 to lie US, 1991 gonna; gunna; gunner; gonner verb going to. Slovenly pronunciation US, 1913 gonnabe noun a wannabe (someone with ambition) who has a realistic chance of achieving the goal US, 1988 gonnif; gonif; ganef noun a thief, a crook. Yiddish from Hebrew. Depending on the tone, can range from laudatory to disdainful UK, 1839 go-no-go noun the point on a runway where a pilot taking off must decide whether to abort a take-off or to take off US, 1963

gonski adjective gone UK, 2000

gonzo noun cocaine UK, 1996 gonzo adjective crazed; having a bizarre style. Although coinage is credited to US journalist and author Bill Cardoso, close friend and partner in adventure with the late Hunter S. Thompson, the dust jacket to Cardoso's collected essays claims only that he is 'the writer who inspired Dr. Hunter S. Thompson to coin the phrase "Gonzo journalism"'. Thompson first used the term in print and the term is irrevocably linked with him in the US US, 1971

gonzoid adjective crazed; having a bizarre style US, 1979

Gonzo the great; gonzo noun a state of drunkenness. Rhyming slang for, 'a state', formed on a popular puppet character in television's The Muppet Show, from 1976, and subsequent Muppet films UK, 1998 goo noun 1 any semi-liquid or viscous stuff, especially of an unknown origin US, 1903. 2 a look IRELAND, 1991. ▶ give with the goo to explain fully. Obsolete teen slang CANADA, 1946 goob noun 1 a large facial blemish US, 1976. 2 methcathinone US, 1998 goober noun in the usage of young street racers, anyone who drives a car with an automatic transmission US, 2003 gooby noun a gob of spit or phlegm NEW ZEALAND, 1985

gooch noun an inept, unaware person US, 1976

gooch-eyed adjective blind in one eye US, 1972 good adverb ▶ come good of people, to rise to or surpass expectations; of things, to work out well or better than expected UK, 1892. ▶ have it good; have it so good to be possessed of (many) advantages US, 1946. ▶ make good in poker, to match another player's increased bet US, 1967 good and adverb absolutely, completely, properly UK, 1885 good and plenty noun heroin. Playing with a trademarked sweet confection name US, 1994 good and proper adverb to the greatest degree, completely UK, 1928 good buddy noun used as a term of address. A term that enjoyed meteor-like ascendancy in popularity with the citizens' band radio craze that swept the US in 1976. Still used with jocular irony US, 1956 good butt noun a marijuana cigarette US, 1960

Good-bye Girls nickname the 2004 US women's Olympic soccer team. An acknowledgement of the fact that many of the team members were playing in their final competition UK, 2004 good-bye, kids used as a humorous farewell. On the final episode of the children's television classic Howdy Doody Show (NBC, 1947–60), these final words were uttered by Clarabell the Clown, who for 14 years had not spoken. Repeated with referential humour US, 1951 good-bye kiss noun the repurchase at a premium of stock by a target company from the company attempting a takeover US, 1988 good chute noun a successful ejection of pilot and crew from a downed US aircraft US, 1990 good cop noun in a pair of police, the partner who plays the sympathetic, understanding role during an interrogation US, 1975 good cop, bad cop noun a police interrogation method in which one interrogator plays the role of a hardliner, while the other plays the role of a sympathetic friend US, 1975 goodfella noun a gangster. Brought into mainstream use by the 1989 film Goodfellas US, 2003 good few noun a fair number US, 1828 good for adjective having sufficient money or credit to pay the specified requirement UK, 1937 good for you! used as a register of approval of something achieved or said by the person addressed or spoken of UK, 1861 good fuck! used for registering surprise UK, 2002 good fun noun a great deal of fun. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1981 good gravy! used as an utterly unprofane exclamation US, 1971 good grief! used as an all-purpose expression of surprise, anger, disappointment, dismay. Given great popularity in the 1960s by Charles Schultz's Peanuts comic strip US, 1937 good guts noun correct and pertinent information AUSTRALIA, 1957 good H noun heroin. An elaboration of H (heroin), possibly playing on the conventional expression 'good heavens!' UK, 2002 good hands used in farewell BAHAMAS, 1982 good hitter noun in pool, an excellent cue stick US, 1990 good horse noun heroin. A playful elaboration of HORSE (heroin) UK, 2002 goodie noun 1 a valuable possession UK, 2003. 2 something that is special and good US, 1975. 3 a person on the side of right, especially in works of fiction US, 1873. 4 extra parts or equipment for a car, enhancing its performance and/or embellishing its appearance US, 1954. 5 in poker, a card that improves a hand US, 1961. 6 an ambush or mechanical ambush US, 1991

goodie and baddie; goodie noun an Irish person. Rhyming slang, for PADDY UK, 1992 goodied up adjective (used of a truck) embellished with lights, chrome and other accessories US, 1971 goodies noun 1 the vagina US, 1959. 2 the female breasts US, 1969 good looks noun employment documents. Rhyming slang for BOOKS UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 good man Friday noun a pimp US, 1933 goodness!; goodness me! used as a mild expletive, or register of shock, surprise, etc UK, 1704 goodness gracious!; goodness gracious me! used as a mild expletive, or register of shock, surprise, etc. In 1960 Peter Sellers, in the character of an Indian doctor, recorded a successful comedy duet entitled 'Goodness Gracious Me' with Sophia Loren (written by Herbert Kretzmer); the old exclamation soon had catchphrase status. In 1996, four British-Indian comedians adopted the term as the ironic title for a radio comedy series, subsequently a television success. Now this term, the earliest recorded usage of which is by Charles Dickens, is considered by many to be a part of the stereotypical Indian vocabulary UK, 1840 goodness only knows! used as a mild declaration of ignorance; used of something beyond your knowledge or experience UK, 1819 goodness' sake!; for goodness' sake! used as a mild register of exasperation or impatience. The earliest use was in reference to the goodness of God UK, 1613

Good night Chet. Good night David. used as a humorous exchange of farewells. The signature sign-off of television news anchors Chet Huntley and David Brinkley in the 1960s. Repeated with referential humour US, 1956 goodnight kiss noun an act of urination; urination. Rhyming slang for PISS UK, 1992 good-night nurse noun a smoker's last cigarette of the night before going to sleep US, 1996 goodnight, nurse used for indicating the end or the finish of an activity UK, 2000 good numbers (used in citizens' band radio transmissions) best wishes, regards US, 1976 good-oh; good-o; goodoh; goodo adjective very good; all right; well; in good health AUSTRALIA, 1905 good-oh; good-o; goodoh; goodo adverb well; satisfactorily; all right AUSTRALIA, 1920

good-oh!; good-ol; goodoh!; goodol! 1 terrific!, well done! AUSTRALIA, 1904. 2 all right!, okay! AUSTRALIA, 1918 good oil noun correct and pertinent information AUSTRALIA, 1916 good old adjective 1 used as an affectionate (occasionally derisive) modifier of a term of reference or address UK, 1821. 2 familiar; used for expressing commendation or approval UK, 1898 good old boy verb a white male from the southern US who embraces the values of his region and race US, 1961 good on you! 1 well done!, good for you! AUSTRALIA, 1907. 2 used as a farewell US, 1997 good people noun a person who can be trusted and counted on US, 1891 good plan! used as a humorous expression of approval US, 1981 goods noun 1 the genuine article, the real thing; exactly who or what is required US, 1899. 2 positive evidence of guilt US, 1900. 3 any drug US, 1971. 4 yourself, especially areas of intimate contact UK, 1988. ► the goods an attractive person UK, 1984 good shake noun ► SEE: EVEN SHAKE good ship venus; good ship noun the penis. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 good show!; jolly good show! used as an expression of delight UK, 1940 good sort noun a sexually attractive woman AUSTRALIA, 1944 good stuff noun among criminals, a respected criminal UK, 2001 good style adverb excellently UK, 2001 good thing noun 1 a lucrative opportunity AUSTRALIA, 1962. 2 a sucker; someone who is easily tricked US, 1909. 3 a horse that is tipped to win AUSTRALIA, 1877. 4 a good thing. Made slang by attitude and tone. A signature line of Martha Stewart on her television show Martha Stewart Living Television, first aired in 1993. Repeated with referential humour US, 1993. ► like a good thing in an active, pleasing or exciting way IRELAND, 1996 good thinking! used as a register of approval for an excellent idea or good suggestion, or ironically in the case of a bad or obvious suggestion UK, 1968 good time noun 1 a period of incarceration that does not destroy the prisoner's spirit US, 1975. 2 a reduction of a prison sentence for good behaviour in jail US, 1952. 3 time that counts towards a soldier's military commitment US, 1971. ► the original good time that was had by all used of a sexually promiscuous woman. A twist of the clichéd catchphrase 'a good time was had by all', coined by US film actress Bette Davis, 1908–89. The original catchphrase is credited to poet Stevie Smith, who acquired it for use as a title from the reportage of parish magazines US, 1981 good-time house noun an establishment that sells alcohol illegally, especially by the drink US, 1978 good to go adjective prepared to start a mission. Airborne slang in Vietnam, quickly absorbed into the non-military mainstream US, 1966 good to me! used for expressing self-praise US, 1972 good wood noun a dependable, trustworthy white prisoner. Derived from PECKERWOOD US, 1989 goody!; goodee! used as an expression of delight. Childish; often reduplicated in excitement UK, 1796 goody drawer noun any drawer in a bedroom containing contraceptives, lubricants or sex toys US, 2002 goody-goody noun 1 an excessively good person. Usually uttered with some degree of derision UK, 1871. 2 marijuana. From the exclamation of delight. UK, 2003 goody-goody adjective (of children) too well-behaved; (of adults) hypocritically or sentimentally pious UK, 1871

goody gumdrops; goody goody gumdrops; goody gumdrop used as an expression of delight; often ironic in later use UK, 1959

goody two-shoes noun a person of excessive virtue US, 1934 goosey noun in computing, a graphic user interface (GUI) such as one with windows and icons US, 1995 goosey adjective 1 viscous or semi-viscous US, 1903. 2 excessively sentimental UK, 1935 goosey ball noun any sticky confection made with marijuana or hashish US, 2001 goosey louey noun a second lieutenant in the US Army US, 1991 goof noun 1 an alcoholic beverage. Found only in Ontario, this term may have derived from GOOFBALL (a barbiturate drug) US, 1964. 2 a barbiturate. An abbreviation of GOOFBALL US, 1944. 3 a frequent marijuana smoker US, 1950. 4 a silly, soft or stupid person US, 1916. 5 a joke, a prank US, 1958. 6 a swim SOUTH AFRICA, 2004

goof verb 1 to botch, to ruin US, 1952. 2 to tease, to joke US, 1931. 3 to give yourself away to the police UK, 1978. 4 to spoil an injection of a narcotic, during either preparation or application UK, 1978. 5 to smoke marijuana US, 1970. 6 to enter what appears to be a near coma as a result of drug intoxication US, 1951

goof around verb to pass time enjoyably but unproductively US, 1931 goofball noun 1 a barbiturate used for non-medicinal purposes US, 1939. 2 a mixture of heroin and cocaine US, 1969. 3 a habitual smoker of marijuana SOUTH AFRICA, 2004. 4 a silly and/or dim-witted person US, 1944 goof butt; goof-butt; goofy butt noun a marijuana cigarette. A combination of GOOF (a marijuana smoker) and BUTT (a cigarette) US, 1938 goofed; goofed up; goofed-up adjective 1 wrong US, 1952.

2 experiencing the effects of drugs, especially barbiturates or marijuana; drunk US, 1944 goofer noun 1 a barbiturate capsule, especially glutethimide US, 1969.

2 someone who toys with recreational drugs UK, 1998. 3 a person who regularly uses drugs in pill form US, 1952. 4 a homosexual male prostitute who assumes the active role in sex US, 1941

goofer dust noun a barbiturate US, 1954 go off verb 1 to happen, occur UK, 1804. 2 of a fight, to happen, to start UK, 1999. 3 to vehemently display anger AUSTRALIA, 1979. 4 to cease to like something or someone UK, 1934. 5 to fall asleep UK, 1887. 6 to ejaculate UK, 1866. 7 to give birth AUSTRALIA, 1971. 8 to turn out or pass off in the way indicated AUSTRALIA, 1867. 9 to perform brilliantly AUSTRALIA, 1987. 10 to behave extravagantly; to go all out AUSTRALIA, 1995. 11 to defecate TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1973. 12 to pass peak condition; to deteriorate in freshness UK, 1978. 13 to be raided by authorities AUSTRALIA, 1941. 14 to make a noise. An extension of 'go off' (to start) UK, 1998. 15 (of a party or nightclub venue) to be thoroughly exciting and enjoyable AUSTRALIA, 1993. 16 (of a prize) to be awarded AUSTRALIA, 1970. 17 (of a woman) to engage in sexual intercourse AUSTRALIA, 1967. 18 in motor racing, to suffer a diminution of performance, either because of a handling problem or driver fatigue US, 1980. 19 (of a racehorse whose true abilities have been kept secret) to be raced to win AUSTRALIA, 1936. ► go off on one to lose your temper UK, 1997 goofies noun 1 a swimming bath. Children's slang SOUTH AFRICA, 1970. 2 LSD US, 2001

goof-off noun a lazy person US, 1945 goof off verb to waste time, to idle US, 1943 goof on verb to joke about, to make fun of US, 1956 goof-up noun a blunder, an error of judgement US, 1956 goofus noun 1 a fool US, 1917. 2 in circus and carnival usage, an extremely gullible customer who demonstrates great potential as a victim US, 1981 goofy noun 1 a fool, especially as a form of address. Goofy is the name of the foolish dog in Walt Disney's Mickey Mouse cartoons UK, 1967. 2 a skateboarder who skates with the right foot to the front UK, 2004 goofy adjective gawky, clumsy, foolish, eccentric US, 1919

-goofy suffix mentally imbalanced as a result of the preceding activity US, 1969 goofy butt noun ► see: GOOF BUTT goofy foot noun a surfer who surfs with the right foot forward. Most surfers surf with their left foot forward AUSTRALIA, 1962 goofy footed adjective in foot-propelled scootering, used of someone who rides with the left foot behind the right. From surfing UK, 2000

goofy's noun LSD UK, 2001

goog noun an egg. Shortening of GOOGIE AUSTRALIA, 1941

googan noun in pool, someone who plays for fun US, 1990 googie noun an egg. From Gaelic AUSTRALIA, 1903 google verb to search for something on the Internet by means of a search engine; to check a person's credentials by investigating websites that contain that person's name. A generic use of Google™ (a leading Internet search engine) US, 2000

google; google hut noun an egg-shaped, fibreglass field hut ANTARCTICA, 1992

Google bomb noun an effort to create a great number of Internet pages with links to a specific website so that it achieves a position near the top of a Google search directory for seemingly unrelated words. Google™ is an Internet search engine US, 2002

Google bombing noun the deliberate creation of a great number of Internet pages with links to a specific website with an intent that the website achieves a position near the top of a Google search directory for seemingly unrelated words. Google™ is an Internet search engine US, 2002

google box noun television NEW ZEALAND, 1984

googlewhack noun among Internet users, the result of a search for any webpage that, uniquely, contains a combination of two randomly chosen words and is therefore indexed by the search-engine Google as '1 of 1' US, 2002 googlewhack verb among Internet users, to search for any webpage that, uniquely, contains a combination of two randomly chosen words and is therefore indexed by the search-engine Google as '1 of 1'. A back-formation from GOOGLEWHACKING US, 2002 googlewhacking noun among Internet users, a popular craze for searching for any webpage that, uniquely, contains a combination of two randomly chosen words and is therefore indexed by the search-engine Google as '1 of 1'. Coinage is credited to Gary Stock 'Chief Innovation Officer and Technical Compass' of a company in Kalamazoo, Michigan, who discovered and named this 'compelling' time-wasting activity US, 2002 googly noun an awkward question. A figurative use of the cricketing sense AUSTRALIA, 1942

goo-goo eyes noun romantic glances US, 1897 googs noun in circus and carnival usage, eyeglasses. A corruption of 'goggles' US, 1924 goo guard noun on a truck, a mudflap US, 1971 gooi noun a brief sexual liaison. Punning on the idea of FLING from the verb GOOI (to fling) SOUTH AFRICA, 1978 gooi verb to give; to put; to throw, to fling; to drop; etc. From Afrikaans for 'to fling' SOUTH AFRICA, 1946 gook noun 1 a Vietnamese person, especially if an enemy of the US; a person from the Far East, especially a Filipino, Japanese or Korean; any dark-skinned foreigner. A derogatory term, too all-encompassing to be directly racist but deeply xenophobic. Coined by the US military; the Korean and Vietnam wars gave the word a worldwide familiarity (if not currency). Etymology is uncertain, but many believe 'gook' is Korean for 'person' US, 1919. 2 the Vietnamese language; any Asian language US, 1981. 3 an unspecified, unidentified, unpleasant, viscous substance. Sometimes spelt 'guck' US, 1942. 4 the recreational drug GHB US, 1996 ► see gloss at: GHB gook adjective Vietnamese US, 1979 gooker noun in hot rodding, a car with many cheap accessories but no performance enhancements that would qualify it as a hot rod US, 1965

gook sore noun any skin infection suffered by a US soldier in Vietnam US, 1989

Gookville noun a neighbourhood, hamlet or city occupied by Vietnamese people US, 1967 gook wagon noun in hot rodding, a car with many cheap accessories but no performance enhancements that would qualify it as a hot rod US, 1953

goola noun a piano US, 1944

goolie adjective black UK, 2002 goolie ogle fakes noun sunglasses. A combination of GOOLIE (black), OGLE (the eye) and FAKE (a manufactured article) UK, 2002 goolies noun the testicles. Originally military, from Hindi gooli (a pellet), in phrases such as 'Beecham Sahib's goolis' for 'Beecham's pills', and so punning on PILLS (the testicles). Usually in the plural, except in phrases like DROP A GOOLIE/DROP A BOLLOCK (make a mistake) UK, 1937 gooly; gooley noun a small stone suitable for throwing. Probably from an Australian Aboriginal language. The usual derivation from Hindi goli (ball) and 'bullet' is at best farfetched AUSTRALIA, 1924 goom noun methylated spirits used as a drink by alcoholics. Probably an alteration of a word from an Australian Aboriginal language AUSTRALIA, 1967 goombah noun a loyal male friend; an Italian-American. An Italian-American usage, sometimes used in a loosely derogatory tone US, 1954 goomie noun a derelict alcoholic who drinks methylated spirits AUSTRALIA, 1973 goon noun 1 a unintelligent or slow-witted person. From Alice the Goon, a character in the comic strip Thimble Theatre (1919), via a large and stupid character known as ‘the goon’ in Elzie Segar’s comic strip Popeye the Sailor (1935–38), which popularised the word and introduced it to the UK. Originally English dialect gooney (a simpleton), possibly from Middle English gonen (to gape) and Old English ganian (to gape, to yawn). UK usage from the 1950s is influenced by The Goon Show, a surreal BBC radio comedy with a cast of fools US, 1921. 2 a hired thug. A broadening of the original sense US, 1938. 3 a partisan on either side of a labour dispute hired to perpetrate violence US, 1938. 4 a North Korean soldier US, 1960. 5 cheap wine AUSTRALIA, 2003. 6 a flagon of cheap wine. It has been suggested that this comes from ‘flagoon’, a jocular pronunciation of ‘flagon’, but this is not supported by any evidence AUSTRALIA, 1982. 7 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1977. 8 a gooney-bird (a C-47A Skytrain plane) US, 1937 go on! used as an expression of surprise, incredulity or derision UK, 1916 goonbag; goonsack noun the plastic bladder from inside a cardboard wine box AUSTRALIA, 2003

goonboards; goonieboards noun short, homemade skis US, 1963 goon boy noun a socially inept, unpopular person US, 1955 goonda noun a hooligan; a street-rough. Directly from Hindi INDIA, 1926 goondaism noun hooliganism. Hindi goondah Anglicised with ‘-ism’ INDIA, 1979 goon dust noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 2001 gooned out adjective under the influence of a drug US, 1968 gooner noun a North Vietnamese soldier US, 1969

gooney; goonie noun a communist Chinese soldier; a North Korean soldier US, 1957 gooney bird noun 1 a C-47A Skytrain plane, also known as a DC-3, most commonly used to transport people and cargo, but also used as a bomber and fighter US, 1942. 2 a foolish or dim-witted person US, 1956

goonie party; goon party noun a backyard party at which goonbags of different wines are hung on a rotary clothesline which is then spun so that fate decides what you will drink next AUSTRALIA, 2003 goon squad noun a group of prison guards who use force to quash individual or group rebellions US, 1967

goon stand noun in the television and film industries, a large stand for supporting large equipment or devices US, 1977

goony adjective silly, doltish US, 1939 goonyland noun territory controlled by the North Korean Army and/or Chinese troops during the Korean war US, 1957 goop noun 1 any sticky, viscid, unpleasant substance the exact chemical composition of which is unknown US, 1918. 2 the chemical jelly used in incendiary bombs US, 1944. 3 liquid resin used in surfacing surfboards US, 1965. 4 the recreational drug GHB US, 1999. 5 a fool US, 1915

gooper noun lung phlegm US, 1978 goop gobbler noun a person who enjoys and/or excels at performing oral sex on men US, 1981 go or blow used to describe a situation in car repair or motor racing where an engine will either perform very well or self-destruct US, 1992 goori noun a poorly performing racehorse. From an early sense of the word, a corrupted form of the Maori kuri (dog) NEW ZEALAND, 2002 goose noun 1 a socially inept, out-of-fashion person US, 1968. 2 in poker, an unskilled player who is a likely victim of a skilled professional US, 1996. 3 a shop assistant. Especially in shoplifters’ use AUSTRALIA, 1975. 4 an act of copulation. Rhyming slang for ‘goose and duck’, FUCK UK, 1893. 5 in television and film-making, the truck carrying the cameras and sound equipment US, 1990. 6 a girlfriend, a woman. From an earlier English use. Also variant ‘goosie’ SOUTH AFRICA, 1974 goose verb 1 to jab or poke someone, especially between the buttock cheeks US, 1906. 2 by extension, to urge into action US, 1934 goose and duck; goose noun a trifle, something of no value. Rhyming slang for FUCK UK, 2003 goose and duck; goose verb to have sex. Rhyming slang for FUCK, also used to create euphemistic expletives IRELAND, 1944 gooseberry noun a person whose presence interferes with the relationship, especially romance, of two other people UK, 1837 gooseberry ranch noun a rural brothel US, 1930 gooseberry tart noun 1 the heart. Rhyming slang UK, 1937. 2 a fart. Rhyming slang UK, 1998

goosed adjective drunk US, 1979 goosed moose noun in hot rodding and car customizing, a car with a front that is substantially lower than its rear US, 1993 goose egg noun 1 zero; nothing. Originally baseball slang US, 1866. 2 a swollen bump US, 1953. 3 an oval cylindrical polystyrene float used in fishing CANADA, 1999 goose eye noun in the illegal production of alcohol, a perfect formation of bubbles on the meniscus of the product, indicating 100 proof US, 1974 goose flare noun a type of runway flare used in wartime Canada CANADA, 1984 goose grease noun KY jelly, a lubricant US, 1985 goose juice noun powerful sedative medication given to mental patients US, 1986 goose’s neck; goose’s noun a cheque UK, 1961

Goose Village nickname the Victoriatown area of waterfront Montreal CANADA, 2002

goosey adjective jumpy, wary, nervous US, 1906 goosie noun in male homosexual relations, the passive or ‘female’ rôle. Prison slang SOUTH AFRICA, 1965

gooter noun penis IRELAND, 1991 go-out noun a surfing session US, 1988 go out verb 1 to die, especially from a drug overdose US, 1997. 2 to suffer a relapse while participating in a twelve-step recovery programme such as Alcoholics Anonymous US, 1998 go over verb to paint over another’s graffiti with your art US, 1997

Gopaul luck not Seepaul luck used for expressing that one man’s good fortune is not another’s TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1990

go pedal noun an accelerator pedal UK, 1994 gopher noun 1 a person who is easily swindled, who ‘goes for’ the pitch US, 1959. 2 a poker player who plays with a high degree of optimism. So named because of the player’s willingness to ‘go for’ a draw in almost any situation US, 1996. 3 a criminal who tunnels into a business to rob it US, 1928 ▷ see: GOFER go-pill noun any amphetamine or other central nervous system stimulant US, 1957 gopping adjective dirty. Gulf war usage UK, 1991

gor noun ▷ see: GAWD

gora noun a white person INDIA, 1984

Gorbachoff! used as a blessing when someone sneezes. Possibly related to ‘gesundheit!’ US, 1990 gorbie noun a stupid tourist CANADA, 1989

gorblimey adjective stereotypically (parodically) Cockney UK, 2001

Gorby blots; Gorbacher noun a type of blotter LSD popular in the early 1990s. The blotters were illustrated with the face of Mikhail Gorbachev, hence the ‘Gorby’ US, 1994

Gordon and Gotch; gordon noun a watch. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a long-gone book-dealing company based in Plaistow, east London UK, 1960

Gordon Bank noun an act of masturbation. Rhyming slang, formed from football goalkeeper Gordon Banks (b.1937) UK, 2003

Gordon Bennett! used as a mild expletive. Probably an alteration of 'gorblimey!'. UK, 1984 gorge noun in circus and carnival usage, food US, 1981 gorge adjective used for expressing approbation. A shortening of 'gorgeous' UK, 2003 gorgeous adjective used for expressing approbation US, 1883 gorger; gorgia; gawjo noun a non-gypsy, anyone who is not a part of the travelling community. English gypsy use UK, 1900

gorgon noun a ruthless leader or bully JAMAICA, 2000

goric noun 1 a paregoric, an opiate-based medicinal syrup US, 1982. 2 opium; heroin. From 'paregoric' (a medicine that assuages pain) US, 1977 gorilla noun 1 a criminal who relies on brute strength and force US, 1861. 2 a prisoner who obtains what he wants by force US, 1958. 3 in the entertainment industry, a technical member of a film crew US, 1970. 4 in the music industry, a very popular bestselling song US, 1982. 5 one thousand dollars. Building on 'monkey' ($500) AUSTRALIA, 1989 gorilla verb to manhandle, to beat US, 1922 gorilla dust noun intimidating bluffing US, 1986 gorilla-grip verb in skateboarding, to jump holding the ends of the board with the toes US, 1976 gorilla pill noun a barbiturate capsule or other central nervous system depressant US, 1969 gorilla pimp noun a brutish pimp who relies heavily on violence to control the prostitutes who work for him US, 1972 gorilla salad noun thick pubic hair US, 1981 gork noun 1 a patient with severe mental deficiencies US, 1964. 2 a fool; a contemptible person US, 1970 gorked adjective stupefied from anaesthetic US, 1973 gorker; gork noun in baseball, a weakly hit ball that falls for a base hit. A term coined by legendary professional baseball manager Earl Weaver US, 1982

gorm verb to bungle; to act awkwardly US, 1975

gorm! used for expressing surprise TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1997

gormless adjective foolish NEW ZEALAND, 1952

gorp noun 1 a complete social outcast US, 1976. 2 a snack of nuts and dried fruit favoured by hikers. From 'good old raisins and peanuts' US, 1991

gorsoon noun a young male IRELAND, 2001

go-see noun in modelling, an visual 'interview' US, 1969

Gosford dog noun a person of Mediterranean background. Rhyming slang for wog. From Gosford, a satellite city of Sydney which has a greyhound racing track AUSTRALIA, 1983

gosh used in expressions of surprise, frustration. A euphemistic 'God' UK, 1757 gosh-darned; gosh-derned; gosh-danged adjective used as a mild intensifier. A euphemistic replacement for 'God-damned' US, 1997 go-slow noun a deliberate slowing of production by workers as a type of industrial action AUSTRALIA, 1917 gospel true adjective entirely true AUSTRALIA, 1957 gospel truth noun sincerely the truth AUSTRALIA, 1902

goss noun gossip NEW ZEALAND, 1985

gotcha noun in computing, a misfeature that generates mistakes US, 1991

gotcha! 1 used as a humorous exclamation of a verbal conquest of some sort. Often used as the gloating afterword when a practical joke is played. On 2nd May 1982, during the Falklands war, the Argentine ship Belgrano was torpedoed by the Royal Navy as she sailed away from the exclusion zone. At least 386 lives were lost. The Sun newspaper printed the notorious, gloating one-word headline: 'GOTCHA'. Also used in triumph when a capture or victory has been achieved UK, 1932. 2 used for registering an understanding of what someone has said. A slovening of 'I got you' UK, 1966

gotchie noun 1 a security guard or park keeper IRELAND, 2003. 2 a schoolboy prank, especially around Niagara Falls, Ontario, in which the victim's underpants are pulled up between his buttock cheeks. In the US, it is called a 'wedgie', but in Canada, a 'gotchie', which both comes from 'gotch' for 'underpants' (with Hungarian and eastern European source words) and is a pun CANADA, 2002

goth noun a member of a youth fashion cult, characterised by a dark, sepulchral appearance and stark white and black makeup. Inspired by C19 gothic-romance images of vampires, this dress sense is allied to a style of rock music also called 'goth' UK, 1984

Gotham noun New York City. Alluding to a mythical village inhabited by wise fools US, 1807

gothoid adjective recognisably goth in fashion UK, 1999 go through verb 1 to leave hurriedly; to decamp AUSTRALIA, 1944. 2 (of a man) to have sex with a woman AUSTRALIA, 1967 got it! used for urging another surfer not to catch this wave, which you claim as yours US, 1991 go-to-godamn adjective damned US, 1961

Go to Hell nickname Go Dau Ha, home to a US Naval Advanced Base from 1969 to 71, close to the Cambodian border on the Vam Co Dong River, South Vietnam US, 1990

go-to-hell rag noun a neckerchief worn by an infantry soldier US, 1991 go-to-whoa noun in horse racing, the entire length of a race AUSTRALIA, 1971

gotta like that! used for expressing approval, genuine or ironic US, 1987 got you covered! I understand! US, 1955 gouch noun a period of drug-induced exhaustion UK, 2000 gouge verb to surf expertly and stylishly. Applied to a ride on a wave US, 1990

Gouge and Screw Tax noun ▶ see: GRAB AND STEAL TAX

gouger noun an aggressive lout IRELAND, 1997

goulash noun 1 an illegal cardroom that is open 24 hours a day US, 1974. 2 in prison, a meat stew of any description UK, 1996. 3 in electric line work, any insulating compound US, 1980 go up verb 1 to be sentenced to prison; to be sent to prison US, 1872. 2 while acting, to miss your cue or forget a line US, 1973 gourd noun the head UK, 1829. ▶ bored out of your gourd extremely bored. The rhyme on GOURD (the head) intensifies 'bored' US, 1999. ▶ out of your gourd 1 extremely drug-intoxicated. Substitutes GOURD (a head) in synonymous 'out of your head' US, 1967. 2 crazy US, 1963 gourd guard noun in drag racing, a crash helmet US, 1968 gourmet ghetto noun north Berkeley, California; any neighbourhood featuring speciality food shops and gourmet restaurants. Originally applied to a two-block stretch of Shattuck Avenue between Cedar Street and Rose Street in Berkeley US, 1983

gov noun a prison governor UK, 1996 govern verb to play the active role in sex, sadomasochistic or not US, 1985 government artist noun an unemployed person in receipt of state benefits. From a joke, heard in the high unemployment of the 1980s. A popular choice of occupation still, if questionnaires are to be believed UK, 2003 government-inspected meat noun 1 a soldier or sailor. Homosexual usage US, 1970. 2 a soldier as the object of a homosexual's sexual desire US, 1981 government jewellery noun restraints worn on prisoners' bodies to restrict movement CANADA, 1987 government job noun poor craftsmanship US, 1965 government juice noun water US, 2003

Government Racing Car noun a car of the Gendarmerie Royale du Canada, the French name for the Mounties. Back-formation from the initials GRC CANADA, 2002 governor noun 1 an acknowledged expert UK, 1980. 2 an employer, a superior UK, 1802 governor's noun a prison governor's adjudication or ruling UK, 1996

gov'nor noun ▶ see: GUV'NOR

gow noun 1 a drug, especially opium US, 1922. 2 sauce US, 1967. 3 herring roe CANADA, 1998 gowed up adjective drunk CANADA, 1977

gowhead noun a drug addict US, 1935 go-with-the-flow adjective easy going, relaxed. After the phrasal verb 'go with the flow', 2001 gow job noun used in the 1940s to describe what in the 50s would be called a hot rod US, 1941 gowster noun a drug addict or heavy drug user US, 1936 goy noun a Gentile. Yiddish UK, 1841 goyish; goyische adjective Gentile US, 1965 gozohomey bird noun an aircraft that returns you home. Royal Air Force use UK, 2002 gozz noun gossip UK, 1983

GP noun a general principle US, 1944

GPO (in doctors' shorthand) good for parts only UK, 2003

GR8 adjective in text messaging, great. A variant spelling; one of several constructions in which a syllable pronounced 'ate' is replaced by the homophone 'eight' UK, 2002 gra noun appetite; desire. The Hiberno-English word for 'love, liking, affection' IRELAND, 1995 grab noun 1 an arrest UK, 1753. 2 a person who has been arrested US, 1992. ▶ up for grabs available, especially if suddenly or recently SO US, 1928 grab verb 1 to capture someone's imagination and attention UK, 1966. 2 to impress US, 1970. 3 to arrest UK, 1753. 4 in horse racing, to win a race with a long shot US, 1951. ▶ grab a dab to engage in male-on-male rape US, 1990. ▶ grab air to apply a truck's brakes US, 1971. ▶ grab sack to muster courage US, 1999. ▶ grab the apple to seize tightly on the saddle horn while riding a bucking animal CANADA, 1987 grab-a-granny adjective used to describe an event where you can meet mature women UK, 1987

grabalishus adjective greedy BAHAMAS, 1995 grab all, lose all used for expressing the dangers of greed TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 grab and snatch noun the Goods and Services Tax (GST) NEW ZEALAND, 1998

Grab and Steal Tax; Gouge and Screw Tax noun the Canadian Goods and Services Tax. A back-formation on the initials GST CANADA, 2001 grab-ass noun horseplay US, 1947 grab-ass verb to engage in physical horseplay US, 1953 grab bag noun 1 a loose assortment of anything. From a lucky dip offered at US fairs US, 1879. 2 a pooled mix of different types of pills contributed by several people and then consumed randomly US, 1970. 3 the theft of a suitcase or briefcase accomplished by placing a look-alike bag near the bag to be stolen and then picking up and leaving with the bag to be stolen; the suitcase or briefcase stolen in such a theft US, 1977. 4 a lunch box or lunch bag US, 1954. 5 a bag of equipment prepared for grabbing in the event of an emergency UK, 2004

grabber noun 1 the hand UK, 1859. 2 a surfer who ignores surfing etiquette and catches rides on waves 'owned' by other surfers US, 1991. 3 a story that captures the imagination US, 1966. 4 a shame; a pity US, 1977. 5 a railway conductor US, 1931

grabble verb to grab violently UK, 1781 grabby adjective 1 attention-grabbing UK, 1998. 2 greedy, grasping, selfish UK, 1953 grab-iron noun a handle on the side of a goods wagon US, 1975 grab joint noun an eating concession in a circus or carnival US, 1904 grad noun 1 an amphetamine tablet or other central nervous stimulant US, 1977. 2 an ex-convict US, 1950. 3 a graduate US, 1871 grade noun ▶ make the grade to achieve a required standard US, 1908 grade-grubber noun a student whose only goal is to get good grades US, 1966 graduate noun an ex-convict US, 1949 graduate verb 1 to complete a prison sentence. A construction built on the jocular 'college' as 'jail' US, 1945. 2 to be cured of a sexually transmitted infection US, 1949. 3 to begin using more powerful drugs, or to stop taking drugs completely US, 1992. 4 (used of a racehorse) to win a race for the first time US, 1976 grad wrecks noun the Graduate Records Examinations. The standardised testing given to undergraduate students seeking admission to graduate school in the US US, 1966 graf noun 1 graffiti US, 1997. 2 a paragraph US, 1991 graffer noun a graffiti artist who produces complete works, not just a stylised signature US, 1993

graf-head noun a graffiti artist UK, 1998 graft noun 1 personal and financial advantage as the result of dishonest or unethical business or political practice, especially bribery and patronage; corporate corruption in general US, 1901. 2 any kind of work, especially hard work UK, 1859

graft verb 1 to work hard UK, 1859. 2 to labour at criminal enterprises UK, 1859 grafter noun 1 a hard worker AUSTRALIA, 1891. 2 among market traders, a market trader UK, 1979. 3 a thief, a crook, a swindler US, 1866. 4 a criminal who identifies opportunities for other thieves UK, 1978

graf-write verb to write or draw in the style of graffiti US, 2000 graf-writing noun the act of graffiti-ing US, 2001 grain noun a heavy drinker US, 1963 grain and drain train noun solitary confinement US, 1982 grains noun semen; sperm TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 grammie noun a tape deck, especially one mounted in the dashboard of a truck or car US, 1976 grammy noun one gram (of a drug) US, 1992 gramp; gramps; grampa noun a grandfather; also used as an address for an old man. A slurring of GRANDPA UK, 1898 gran noun a grandmother, especially as a form of address. Childish or affectionate shortening UK, 1863 grand noun a unit of 1,000, usually applied to US dollars or the pound sterling US, 1915 grand bag noun in homosexual usage, a large scrotum US, 1981 grand canyon noun in homosexual usage, a loose anus and rectum US, 1981 grand charge noun an empty threat or boast TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1973

grand dad noun a grandfather UK, 1819 grand duchess noun a heterosexual woman who enjoys the company of homosexual men US, 1970 grandfather clock noun the penis. Rhyming slang for COCK, often paired with POLISH AND GLOSS (to masturbate) UK, 1992

grand fromage noun the most important person in a given organisation or enterprise. A cod-French variation of BIG CHEESE UK, 2005 grandma noun 1 the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1929. 2 an older homosexual man US, 1964. 3 the lowest gear in a truck, or car. The lowest gear is the slowest gear, hence the reference to grandmother US, 1941 grandma's peepers noun in dominoes, the 1–1 piece US, 1959 grandpa noun a grandfather; also used as an affectionate form of address to an old man. Abbreviation of 'grandpapa' UK, 1848

grandpappy noun grandfather US, 1952

grandpa's dozen noun a twelve-pack of inexpensive beer US, 1994 grandstand noun a large handicap weight for a racehorse AUSTRALIA, 1966

grandstand verb to perform in a flashy manner, with an eye towards audience perception rather than the level of performance US, 1900 granfer noun a grandfather. A slurring of 'grandfather' UK, 1959 granite boulder noun the shoulder. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 grannie grunt; old grannie noun an annoying person. Rhyming slang for CUNT (an idiot) UK, 1992 grannies noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1929 grannie's wrinkles; grannies noun wrinkles (seafood). Rhyming slang. UK, 1992 granny noun 1 grandmother UK, 1698. 2 an old woman. Extended from the previous sense UK, 1699. 3 the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1929. 4 a bungled knot; anything that has been bungled US, 1975. 5 the quality of pride. Derives from the idiomatic phrase 'teach your grandmother to suck eggs', in which 'granny' (an abbreviation of grandmother) represents anyone wiser than you UK, 1851. 6 an apple of the Granny Smith variety AUSTRALIA, 1944 granny-dumping noun the convenient removal of elderly relatives from family responsibility to permanent hospital or nursing-home care UK, 1987 granny farm noun a care home or estate for elderly residents. From 'granny' (generic old woman). An ironic coinage reflecting UK society's apparent treatment of the elderly as so much livestock to be managed by others UK, 1988 granny gear noun 1 tranquilizers and anti-depressants, such as Valium™, Prozac™ and Rohypnol™. Drugs intended for GRANNY (an old woman), or intended to slow you down which is a stereotypical characteristic of a grandmother UK, 2005. 2 a car, truck, or bicycle's lowest gear; in a four-wheel drive automobile, the lowest gear combined with the lowest range in the transfer case US, 1993 granny jizzer noun used as a euphemism for 'motherfucker' US, 1977 granny panties noun large, cotton underpants US, 1991 granny rag noun a red flag used for indicating an oversized load on a truck US, 1971 granny's here for a visit experiencing the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1968

granola noun a throw-back to the hippie counterculture of the 1960s US, 1982

Grant noun a fifty-dollar note. From the engraving of Ulysses S. Grant, a distinguished general and less-than-distinguished president, on the note US, 1961 grape noun 1 wine. Often used in the plural US, 1898. 2 gossip. A shortening of GRAPEVINE (the source of gossip) US, 1864. 3 in the language of car salesmen, a promising potential customer. Like the grape, the customer is 'ripe for picking' US, 1975. 4 a member of a flight deck refuelling crew US, 1986 grapefruit league noun in baseball, a notional league of the teams that conduct spring training in Florida US, 1929

grapefruits noun large female breasts US, 1964 grape parfait noun LSD. From the purple hue of the drug US, 1977

graper noun in oil drilling, a sycophantic worker US, 1954 grapes noun 1 the testicles US, 1985. 2 the female breasts US, 1980. 3 haemorrhoids NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 4 a percent sign (%) on a computer keyboard US, 1991 grapes of wrath noun wine US, 1947 grapevine noun 1 a network of rumour or gossip; the mysterious source of rumours US, 1862. 2 a line, especially a washing line. Rhyming slang, often shortened to 'grape' UK, 1992 graph noun an autograph US, 1975 grappler noun a wrestler. More of a fan word than an insider's word, but heard US, 1990 grass noun 1 an informer. Rhyming slang based on 'grasshopper', COPPER (a policeman) UK, 1932. 2 marijuana. The term of choice during the 1960s and 70s US, 1943. 3 hair, especially a crew cut AUSTRALIA, 1919. 4 a woman's pubic hair US, 1964. ► have more grass than Kew Gardens used of a person who is known as a regular police informer UK, 1984. ► out to grass retired from work; hence no longer in use. An image of old horses put out to grass UK, 1969 grass verb 1 to inform; to betray. From GRASS (an informer). Also variant 'grass up' UK, 1936. 2 to engage in sexual intimacy CANADA, 1999. 3 to defeat; to beat US, 2002

grassback noun a promiscuous girl US, 1969 grass bottle noun pieces of broken bottle glass TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 grass castle noun a large dwelling owned by someone believed to have made their fortune dealing in marijuana AUSTRALIA, 2003 grass colt noun an illegitimate child CANADA, 1990 grassed up adjective in lobstering, covered with slime US, 1978

grasser noun an informer UK, 1957 grass fight noun a hard-fought argument or fight AUSTRALIA, 1986 grass-fighter noun a tough and willing brawler AUSTRALIA, 1951

grasshead noun a habitual marijuana smoker US, 1958 grasshopper noun 1 a tourist AUSTRALIA, 1955. 2 a customer who inspects one line of goods after another without buying anything UK, 1979. 3 a type of clutch on a motorcycle US, 1998. 4 a police officer; a police informer. Rhyming slang for COPPER (policeman). Rarely heard, but familiar as GRASS (an informer) UK, 1992. 5 marijuana UK, 2003. 6 in electric line work, an open-link cutout US, 1980

Grasshopper noun used as a humorous form of address to someone being instructed in cod-philosophical truths. From the US television series Kung-Fu, 1972–75 UK, 1994 grass in the park noun an informer. Rhyming slang for NARK, and a development of GRASS (informer) UK, 1961 grass palace noun a house bought with profits from the commercial cultivation of marijuana AUSTRALIA, 2002 grass sandwich noun a child born of a sexual union in the outdoors CANADA, 1999 grass stains noun green discoloration on the fingers of a person who has been handling marijuana US, 2001 grass-widow noun a wife who is temporarily apart from her husband. Originally, mainly Anglo-Indian in use UK, 1846 grass-widower noun a husband who is temporarily apart from his wife US, 1862 grassy ass! thank you. An intentionally butchered gracias US, 1990

grata noun marijuana UK, 1998

Grauniad noun ► the Grauniad the Guardian newspaper. An anagram, coined in the mid- to late 1970s by satirical magazine Private Eye. Despite the improvement in spell-check technology the nickname remains widely popular UK, 1979 gravalicious adjective greedy, avaricious JAMAICA, 1979 grave noun a work shift at night, usually starting at or after midnight. An abbreviation of GRAVEYARD SHIFT US, 1980 gravedigger noun 1 in the dice game crown and anchor, a spade. Of naval origin UK, 1961. 2 in circus usage, a hyena US, 1981 gravedodger noun an old person UK, 1996 gravel noun 1 an air-delivered mine introduced by the US in Vietnam. Formally known as an XM42 mine dispensing system US, 1980. 2 crack cocaine US, 1994 gravel agitator noun an infantry soldier US, 1988 gravel and grit noun faeces. Rhyming slang for SHIT UK, 2003 gravel cruncher noun a non-flying officer in the US Air Force US, 1929 gravel-crusher noun an infantry soldier US, 1918 gravel puncher noun a solitary miner using antiquated equipment CANADA, 1951 gravel rash noun scraped skin and cuts resulting from a motorcycle accident US, 1992 grave-nudger noun from the perspective of youth, an older person UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 graveyard noun the area of a beach where waves break US, 1965 graveyard shift; graveyard tour; graveyard watch noun a work schedule that begins very late at night and lasts until the morning shift begins, traditionally from midnight until 8 am US, 1907 graveyard spiral noun a downward spiral of an aeroplane from which recovery is nearly impossible and as a result of which impact with the ground is inevitable US, 1988 gravity check noun in footbag, the bag dropping to the ground US, 1997 gravy noun 1 money, especially money that is easily and/or illegally obtained US, 1930. 2 an unexpected benefit US, 1910. 3 in poker and other games that are bet on, winnings US, 1967. 4 any sexual emission, male or female UK, 1796. 5 blood UK, 1999. 6 a mixture of blood and drug solution in a syringe. Perhaps from 'gravy' as 'blood' in C19 boxing slang US, 1966. 7 sexual innuendo or bawdiness when used to enliven a dull script. A pun on SAUCE (impudence) UK, 1973. 8 a prison sentence. Especially in the phrase DISH OUT THE GRAVY (to sentence harshly) UK, 1950. 9 pasta sauce. Mid-Atlantic Italian-American usage US, 1976. ► clear gravy an unexpected bonus or profit. An embellishment of the more common GRAVY US, 1975 gravy adjective 1 all right US, 2002. 2 excellent, very good UK, 2005 gravy used for expressing approval UK, 2003 gravy hauler noun a truck driver who will only drive high-paying jobs US, 1971 gravy run noun on the railways, a short and easy trip US, 1977 gravy strokes noun during sex, the climactic thrusts prior to male ejaculation. Presumably from GRAVY (any sexual emission: semen) NEW ZEALAND, 2003 gravy train noun a money-making opportunity, a generous situation US, 1914 gray noun 1 a white person US, 1944. 2 a white betting token usually worth one dollar US, 1983. 3 a police officer US, 1967 ► see also: GREY gray adjective white, Caucasian. Derogatory US, 1944 ► see also: GREY gray area noun in motor racing, the portion of the track immediately above the quickest line around the track US, 1980

Graybar hotel; Graybar Motel noun a jail or prison US, 1970

grayboy noun a white male US, 1951 gray cat noun a white male US, 1997 gray eye noun a work shift that starts in the middle of the night US, 1977 grayscale noun the brain US, 1982

Graystone College noun a jail or prison US, 1933 graze noun 1 in cricket, time spent fielding in a quiet area of the out field UK, 1997. 2 food, a meal SOUTH AFRICA, 2004 graze verb 1 to pay only superficial attention to any television channel, preferring instead to flick from one programme to another US, 1998. 2 (used of an amphetamine user) to search obsessively in a carpet for pieces of amphetamine or meth-amphetamine US, 1989 grease noun 1 any lubricant used in anal sex US, 1963. 2 any hair cream BAHAMAS, 1982. 3 nitroglycerin US, 1949. 4 in trucking, ice or snow US, 1976. 5 food, especially US Army c-rations US, 1991. 6 a young, urban tough. An abbreviation of GREASER US, 1967. 7 a black person US, 1971. 8 in pool, extreme spin imparted on the cue ball to affect the course of the object ball or the cue ball after striking the object ball US, 1993. 9 a bribe UK, 1823. ► shoot the grease to make the initial approach in a confidence swindle US, 1982 grease verb 1 to shoot or kill. Vietnam war usage US, 1964. 2 to bribe or otherwise favourably induce others to act as desired UK, 1528. 3 to eat US, 1984. 4 to use nitroglycerin to break into a safe US, 1949. 5 to barely pass a course in school or college US, 1959. ► grease heel to run away quickly TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1939. ► grease someone's palm to persuade by bribery UK, 1807. ► grease the skids to facilitate something, especially by extra legal means US, 1989. ► grease the tracks to be hit by a train US, 1977. ► grease the weasel to have sex (from the male perspective) US, 2003. ► grease your chops to eat US, 1946 greaseball noun 1 a person of Latin-American or Mediterranean extraction. A derogatory generic derived from a swarthy complexion US, 1922. 2 an odious, unappealing, unattractive person. Derives from racist usage US, 1917. 3 a railway mechanic US, 1977. 4 in circus and carnival usage, a food concession stand US, 1981 greaseburger noun a despicable person US, 1991 greased adjective drunk US, 1928 grease for peace used as a humorous farewell. A catchphrase television sign-off on the Sha Na Na programme (1971–81). Repeated with referential humour US, 1971 grease gun noun the US Army's M-3 submachine gun. Based on GREASE (to kill) US, 1984

grease-hand noun a bribe TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1966 grease it! in playground basketball, used as a cry to encourage a ball tottering on the rim of the hoop to fall through for a score US, 1980 grease man noun a criminal with expertise in using explosives to open safes US, 1970

grease money noun a bribe TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987 grease monkey noun 1 a car or aeroplane mechanic US, 1928. 2 in oil drilling, a worker who lubricates equipment US, 1954 grease orchard noun an oil field US, 1954 grease out verb to enjoy good luck US, 1990 grease pit noun a low-quality, low-price restaurant US, 1995 greaser noun 1 a Mexican or any Latin American. Offensive US, 1836. 2 a motorcycle gang member. The collective noun is 'grease' UK, 1971. 3 a hamburger, especially one from a fast-food restaurant US, 1982. 4 a young, poor tough US, 1964. 5 a slimy lump or clot of spittle and mucus UK: SCOTLAND, 1988. 6 a submachine gun, especially the M-3 or M3A-1 submachine gun US, 1991. 7 a Teddy Boy. Greased hair was an important part of 1950s fashion UK, 1964 grease up verb to lubricate the anus, especially in order to smuggle contraband within the body UK, 1996

greasies noun take-away food, especially fish and chips NEW ZEALAND, 1979 greasy noun a shearer AUSTRALIA, 1939 greasy adjective having an insincere and ingratiating manner UK, 1848 greasy eyeball noun a foul or menacing look AUSTRALIA, 1996 greasy luck adjective good luck. A whaling expression that persisted after whaling in New England US, 1963 greasy spoon noun an inexpensive and all-around low-brow restaurant US, 1912 great adjective very skilled UK, 1784 great action! used as an expression of happy approval US, 1980 great army noun in horse racing, the body of regular bettors AUSTRALIA, 1989

Great Australian Adjective noun the word 'bloody' used as an intensifier. This had an extremely high frequency amongst many speakers, especially formerly, though now it has lost much ground to FUCKING AUSTRALIA, 1897 great balls of fire! used as a mockingly profane expression of surprise. Found in Gone With The Wind (1939) but made famous by Jerry Lee Lewis in his 1957 hit song written by Jack Hammer and Otis Blackwell US, 1957 great big adjective intensifies the merely big UK, 1857 great Caesar's ghost! used as a non-profane oath. The non-profane outburst of the Metropolis Daily Planet editor, Perry White, in The Adventures of Superman (1951–1957). Repeated with referential humour US, 1954 great divide noun the vulva. From the nickname of the continental divide, where north American rivers flow either east or west. Perhaps best known from its usage in the erotic poem 'The Ballad of Eskimo Nell': 'She dropped her garments one by one / With an air of conscious pride / And as he stood in her womanhood / He saw the Great Divide' US, 1980

Greatest nickname ► the Greatest Muhammed Ali (b 1942), heavyweight boxer who defined and dominated the sport from 1960 until the late 1970s US, 1964

Great Runes noun in computing, text displayed in UPPER CASE ONLY. A legacy of the teletype US, 1991

great Scott! used for registering exasperation or surprise; also as an oath UK, 1885 great stuff noun anything excellent UK, 1934 great unwashed noun ► the great unwashed 1 the proletariat. Originally derisive and jocular, now somewhat snobbish, but familiarity breeds unthinking colloquialisms UK, 1937. 2 hippies. At the time, no doubt, this was seen as a literal description of long-haired counterculturalists UK, 1977 great white combine noun a prairie hailstorm CANADA, 1987 great white father noun any unpopular authority figure US, 1963 great white hope noun crack cocaine. Used with 'the' UK, 2003 great white light noun LSD US, 1966 great white way; gay white way noun Broadway and the theatre district of New York US, 1901 great white whale noun cocaine. An exaggeration and romantic allusion based on the colour of cocaine UK, 2001 greaze verb to eat US, 1968 grebo; greebo noun a member of a British youth cult that flourished in the mid- to late 1980s; grebos/greboes are characterised as being intentionally unkempt and categorised as rock and heavy metal music enthusiasts. Adapted from GREASER (a youth subculture), perhaps influenced by 'greb' (an insult) UK: ENGLAND, 1987

gred adjective unpleasant UK, 2005 greedy-guts noun a glutton; a person (occasionally, thing) driven by greed or appetite. 'Greedy gut' is the earlier form UK, 1550 greedy pig noun used by card sharps of a victim UK, 1977 greefa; grifa; griff; griffa; griffo noun marijuana. Originally border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans US, 1931

Greek noun 1 unintelligible language UK, 1600. 2 anal sex; a practitioner of anal sex US, 1967. 3 a male homosexual, especially the active partner in anal sex US, 1938. 4 in pinball, a shot up a lane with a scoring device with sufficient force to activate the scoring device US, 1977

Greek adjective (of sex) anal US, 1934

Greek culture; Greek style; Greek way noun anal sex US, 1967

Greek lightning noun arson financed by the owner of a failing business. In Chicago, Greeks enjoy the reputation of being arsonists. Chicago residents cite a rule of Three Ns – 'never give matches to a Greek, whiskey to an Irishman, or power to a Polack' US, 1982

Greek massage noun anal sex AUSTRALIA, 1985

Greek rodeo noun anal sex between men US, 1968

Greek's noun a small café or milkbar. Post-World-War-2 migrants from southern Europe commonly opened such businesses, though they were not, of course, all Greek AUSTRALIA, 1946

Greek shift noun in card trickery, a method of repositioning a card US, 2003

Greek shot noun in dice games, a controlled roll with a controlled result US, 1962

Greek shuffle noun in card trickery, a cut of the deck that leaves the cards in the same order as before the cut US, 2003 green noun 1 money. From the green colour of paper currency in the US US, 1898. 2 in American casinos, a $25 chip US, 1985. 3 marijuana, especially with a low resin count US, 1955. 4 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust. From the practice of sprinkling the drug on parsley or mint US, 1981. 5 the recreational drug ketamine. From the drug's natural green colour US, 1986. 6 mucus UK, 1997. 7 the felt surface of a pool table US, 1990. 8 a stage, especially in the phrase 'see you on the green'. All that remains in current use of theatrical rhyming slang 'green gage' UK, 1937. 9 an unbroken wave US, 1964. 10 a green capsule containing drugs, especially a central nervous system stimulant. Also variant 'greenie' US, 1966. 11 a supporter of environmental politics UK, 1982. ► in the green flying with all instruments recording safe conditions US, 1963 green adjective ► not as green as you are cabbage-looking more intelligent than you look. Jocular UK, 1931 greena noun marijuana UK, 1998 green about the gills adjective ill, nauseous, sickly-pale UK, 1949 green and black noun a capsule of Librium, a central nervous system depressant US, 1992 green and brussel; greens and brussels noun a muscle; muscles. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 green and friendly noun a prison-issue phone card UK, 1996 green-and-white noun a green and white police car US, 1991 green apple quick-step noun diarrhoea US, 1994 green around the gills adjective giving an appearance of being about to vomit US, 1985 greenback noun 1 a one-dollar note US, 1862. 2 a one-pound note. A green-coloured banknote, first issued in 1917, the colour remained despite diminishing size and value, except for the period 1940–48 when it was blue, until 1988 when it ceased to be legal tender. Sometimes shortened to 'greenie' UK, 1961. 3 an Australian one-pound note. Fell out of use after the introduction of decimal currency in 1966 AUSTRALIA, 1919. 4 in surfing, a swell that has not broken US, 1963. 5 an implement for re-railing a train carriage or engine US, 1946

green baggy noun the cap worn by Australian test cricketers AUSTRALIA, 1992

green bait noun a cash bonus paid to US soldiers who re-enlisted during the Vietnam war US, 1991 green bean noun in South Africa, a township municipal police officer. Derisive; from the colour of the uniform SOUTH AFRICA, 1987 green bud; green buds noun marijuana. From the colour of the plant US, 1981 green burger noun a blend of amphetamine and caffeine marketed as MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 1996 green can noun a can of Victoria Bitter™ beer AUSTRALIA, 2003 green cart noun an imaginary vehicle used to take people to an asylum for the insane AUSTRALIA, 1935 green door noun the door leading to an execution chamber US, 1976

green double dome noun ► see: DOUBLE DOME green dragon noun 1 LSD enhanced with botanical drugs from plants such as Deadly Nightshade or Jimsonweed US, 1970. 2 any barbiturate or other central nervous system depressant US, 1971. 3 heroin US, 1990. 4 the M-113 armoured personnel carrier. The primary armoured tracked personnel carrier used by the US forces in Vietnam US, 1991 green drinking voucher noun ► see: DRINKING VOUCHER

green egg noun ► see: EGG greenery noun marijuana. College slang US, 2001 green eye noun on the railways, a clear signal US, 1946 green eyes noun jealousy, envy US, 1950 green fairy noun absinthe, a French gin UK, 2001 greenfly noun used as a collective noun for Army Intelligence Corps personnel. From the bright green beret they adopted in the mid-1970s UK, 1984 green folding; folding green noun paper money UK, 1981 green frog noun a central nervous system depressant UK, 1998 greengages; greens noun wages. Rhyming slang UK, 1932 green game noun in a casino, a game with a minimum bet of $25 (the green betting token) US, 1983 green goblin noun absinthe, a French gin. From private correspondence with a rock group whose management prefer to remain anonymous. Named after the arch-enemy of Spiderman UK, 2001 green goddess noun 1 marijuana. From the colour of the leaf and the elation it inspires; several ancient religions worshipped a green goddess US, 1938. 2 an emergency firefighting vehicle that is made available (for operation by the military) when regular firefighters and their fire engines are out of service. First came into the public vocabulary during the 1977 strike by Fire Brigade officers UK, 1997 green gold noun cocaine UK, 1998

green goods noun counterfeit money US, 1949 green grolly noun a deposit of phlegm. Abbreviates as 'grolly'. Schoolboy and military use UK, 1989 greenhorn noun a person recently arrived in the city or recently immigrated to a new country UK, 1753 green hornet noun a capsule combining a central nervous stimulant and a central nervous system depressant US, 1942 greenhouse noun 1 a small room or enclosed space where marijuana is being smoked US, 2001. 2 in surfing, a smooth ride inside the hollow of a wave US, 1987. 3 in hot rodding and car customising, the upper part of the car body US, 1993 green ice noun emeralds US, 1950 greenie noun 1 any paper money UK, 1982. 2 a one-pound note. From the colour of the note UK, 1980. 3 an Australian one-pound note. Shortening of GREENBACK AUSTRALIA, 1968. 4 a gob of thick nasal mucus and catarrhal matter. From the colour UK, 2000. 5 a speeding ticket US, 1976. 6 a conservationist. From 'green ban' (a ban imposed for environmental reasons) AUSTRALIA, 1973. 7 an ocean wave, especially a large breaking wave suitable for surfing AUSTRALIA, 1964

greenie in a bottle noun a bottle of beer AUSTRALIA, 1991

green ink noun time spent in aerial combat US, 1991 green-ink brigade noun collectively, people who write cranky or abusive (often illegible) letters. Derives from the notion that only a person who disdains conventional standards could possibly be ill-mannered enough to write in green ink – or, sometimes, green crayon UK, 2001 green light noun in prison, permission to kill US, 2000 green-light verb to give approval. In traffic signalling, the green light means 'go' UK, 2001 green-light adjective approved. After the verb sense UK, 2001 green machine noun 1 the US Army. Vietnam war usage US, 1969. 2 a computer built to military specifications for field use US, 1991 green man noun 1 marijuana. To 'see the green man' is to smoke or buy marijuana US, 1997. 2 a bottle of Ballantine™ ale US, 1965 green meanie noun any green amphetamine or barbiturate capsule US, 1981 green micro noun a type of LSD UK, 1996

Green Onion noun a Montreal parking violation officer CANADA, 1999

greenout noun the joy felt on seeing and smelling plants after an extended stay on Antarctica ANTARCTICA, 2003

green paint noun marijuana UK, 2003 green paper noun money US, 1979 green pastures noun high earnings for railwaymen; bonus payments; overtime UK, 1970

greenpea noun a novice US, 1912

green penguin noun a variety of LSD UK, 1996

green queen noun a male homosexual who takes pleasure in outdoor sex in public parks US, 1981 green room noun 1 in surfing, a smooth ride inside the hollow of a wave US, 1987. 2 an execution chamber US, 1981 greens noun 1 currency notes. The colour of money US, 1904.

2 marijuana. From the colour and after GREEN (marijuana), possibly informed by the vegetable sense and the UK expression of maternal care 'eat your greens, they're good for you', 1998. 3 green vegetables, especially cabbage and salad UK, 1725. 4 loose green clothing worn by hospital employees, especially in operating theatres US, 1988. 5 the green US Army dress uniform US, 1968.

6 sexual activity UK, 1888 ▷ see: GREENGAGES greens and beans noun basic groceries US, 1994

greenseed noun a US soldier freshly arrived in Vietnam US, 1988 greens fee noun the amount charged by a pool room to play pool. Punning on a conventional term found in golf, alluding to GREEN (the surface of a pool table) US, 1990 green shield stamps noun money. A variation on GREENSTAMPS; Green Shield Stamps were a sales promotional scheme popular in the 1960s and 70s UK, 1981

green single dome noun ▷ see: DOUBLE DOME green slime noun green peppers. Limited usage, but clever US, 1996 green snow; green tea noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust. The colour reference is to the parsley or mint on which the drug is often sprinkled US, 1978

greenstamp noun a traffic ticket for speeding US, 1975

greenstamps noun in trucking, money US, 1956

green stuff noun currency notes US, 1887 green teen noun an environmentally conscious young person US, 1995 green thumb noun in pool, the ability to make money playing for wagers US, 1990 green-to-green adjective running smoothly, without problem.

Nautical origins – ships following the rules of navigation US, 1975 green triangle noun a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. From the colour of the tablet and the embossed motif UK, 2002

green 'un noun a one-pound note UK, 1982 greenwash noun a pretended concern for ecological matters. A play on 'whitewash' (a covering-up of faults), possibly also on EYE-WASH (something that is intended to conceal; nonsense) UK, 2003

green wedge noun LSD US, 1975

green womb noun the inside of a hollow breaking wave US, 1991 green worms noun the undulating green lines on a radar screen US, 1947 green yoke noun a young inexperienced horse UK, 1969 greet verb ▶ greet the judge in horse racing, to win a race AUSTRALIA, 1989

greeter; greta noun marijuana US, 1952

Gregory Peck; gregory noun 1 a cheque. Rhyming slang formed on the name of film actor Gregory Peck, 1916–2003 AUSTRALIA, 1983.

2 the neck. Also known in the UK, especially after use in mid-1970s BBC television's Porridge AUSTRALIA, 1966

Gregory Pecks; gregories noun spectacles. Rhyming slang for SPECS, formed from the name of film actor Gregory Peck, 1916–2003 UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

grem noun an unskilled skateboarder; generally, anyone who is maladroit at anything. Teen slang; probably a shortening of GREMMIE UK, 1978 gremlin noun 1 a mysterious spirit that haunts aircraft, deluding pilots; hence, any mechanical fault. Originally Royal Air Force slang UK, 1929. 2 an inexperienced surfer who does not respect surfer etiquette US, 1961 gremmie noun 1 an unpopular, unfashionable person US, 1962. 2 an unskilled surfing or skateboarding novice AUSTRALIA, 1962.

3 marijuana and crack cocaine mixed for smoking in a cigarette US, 1989 grette noun a cigarette US, 1966

Greville Starkey noun a black person. Rhyming slang for DARKY, formed from the name of the English jockey and Derby winner (b.1939). Noted as predating synonymous FEARGAL SHARKEY UK, 1998 grey noun in a mixed race couple, the other partner BERMUDA, 1985 grey adjective a middle-aged, conventionally minded, conservatively dressed person in the eyes and vocabulary of the counterculture UK, 1967 grey death noun insipid prison stew AUSTRALIA, 1967

greyer noun someone dull who perpetuates dullness UK, 1999 grey ghost noun a parking inspector in Victoria, New South Wales and Western Australian. From the colour of their uniform AUSTRALIA, 1967 grey goose noun a grey California Department of Corrections bus used for transporting prisoners. An allusion to the Greyhound bus line US, 1974 greyhound noun a very short skirt. A pun on (pubic) hair/hare UK, 2002

Greyhound noun an M-8 armoured car. World War 2 vintage, used at the beginning of the Vietnam war by the Army of the Republic of Vietnam US, 1990 greyhound verb (used of a black person) to pursue a white person in the hopes of a romantic or sexual relationship. From GREY MAN (a white person) US, 1972 greylist verb to hold a person under consideration for blacklisting CANADA, 2002 grey man noun 1 a white man. Black slang UK, 1984. 2 a dull, boring undergraduate. Oxford and Cambridge students' term UK, 1960 grey mare noun a bus or train fare. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 grey matter noun brains, thus intelligence US, 1899 grey shield noun LSD UK, 2003

greys on trays noun adult snowboarders US, 1997 grice verb to practise trainspotting. Trainspotters' slang UK, 1982 grice; gricer noun a locomotive (train) spotter. Trainspotters' slang UK, 1982 grick noun a Greek immigrant or Greek-American US, 1997 grid noun 1 the face UK, 2001. 2 the female breast US, 1993. 3 a bicycle AUSTRALIA, 1927

G-ride noun 1 a stolen car US, 1985. 2 a rebuilt, customised vintage car with a suspension system that allows the body to be lifted and lowered US, 1997 gridley grinder noun on Prince Edward Island, a bad storm CANADA, 1988 grief noun trouble, problems. Originally in the phrase COME TO GRIEF (to get into trouble, to fail) US, 1897. ► give someone grief to tease or criticise someone US, 1968 grief verb to trouble someone UK, 2003 griefer noun an Internet game player who tries to spoil the fun of other players by harassing them. Someone who creates GRIEF (trouble) UK, 2003 griever noun a union spokesman on a contract grievance committee US, 1946 grievous bodily harm noun the recreational drug GHB. Extended from the punning GBH US, 1993

g-riffick noun the recreational drug GHB. A combination of the 'g' of GHB and 'terrific' US, 1997 grifter noun 1 a person who makes their living by confidence swindles, especially short cons. Widely familiar from Jim Thompson's 1963 novel The Grifters and its 1990 film adaptation US, 1915. 2 in horse racing, a bettor who makes small, conservative bets US, 1951 grig verb to annoy, to tease. From the Irish gríog IRELAND, 2000 grill noun 1 a person of Mediterranean background. Post-World-War-2 migrants from southern Europe commonly opened businesses selling fried or grilled food AUSTRALIA, 1957. 2 a motor accident in which an occupant or occupants of the car are burnt US, 1962. 3 the bars or mesh of a prison cell US, 1992 grille noun the teeth US, 2001 griller noun a verbal assault, a roasting, especially when given by the authorities AUSTRALIA, 1975. ► to put on the griller to assault verbally. Mostly in the passive voice AUSTRALIA, 1975 grime noun a modern music genre focused on lyrical and aural interpretation of an inner-city environment and street-culture, that combines the musical influences of hip-hop and UK garage with the practical low-budget, do-it-yourself spirit of punk rock and reggae sound-systems. So-named, apparently, to acknowledge the music's origins in the grimey urban sprawl UK, 2004 grimey adjective excellent, best UK, 2005

grimmy noun 1 a middle-aged woman UK, 1972. 2 marijuana UK, 2003

Grimsby Docks noun socks. Rhyming slang, formed from a location on the northeast coast of England UK, 1988 grimy adjective 1 rude; uncouth US, 2002. 2 excellent UK, 2004 grin noun 1 a good and amusing situation US, 1966. 2 used as Internet shorthand to mean 'your message amused me' US, 1997 grinch noun a bad-tempered person whose negative attitude depresses others. Adopted from the characteristics of the Grinch, a mean-spirited character created by Dr Seuss (Theodor Seuss Geisel) in the novel How The Grinch Stole Christmas, 1957, and subsequently played by Jim Carrey in the 2000 film version US, 2003 grinchy adjective unpleasant, distasteful, bad. High school usage US, 1961 grind noun 1 sexual intercourse; an act of sexual intercourse UK, 1870. 2 in a striptease or other sexual dance, a rotating movement of the hips, pelvis, and genitals US, 1931. 3 hard, dull, routine, monotonous work; work in general. Originally with special emphasis on academic work; now more general and often appearing as 'the grind' or 'the daily grind' UK, 1851. 4 a serious, dedicated, diligent student US, 1889. 5 in the used car business, a concerted assault of negotiation with a potential customer US, 1997. 6 a style of hard rock appealing to the truly disaffected, featuring a fast, grinding tempo, bleak lyrics and relentlessly loud and distorted guitars. Also known as 'grindcore' US, 1994 grind verb 1 to have sex UK, 1647. 2 in a striptease or other sexual dance, to rotate the hips, pelvis, and genitals in a sensual manner US, 1928. 3 to study hard US, 1955. 4 in computing, to format code so that it looks attractive US, 1983. 5 to eat. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1981. 6 to call out and invite patrons to enter a performance US, 1968. ► grind someone's ass to annoy US, 1996

grindage noun food US, 1990 grinder noun 1 a sexual partner US, 1966. 2 a striptease artist US, 1950. 3 a person who calls out and invites patrons to enter a performance US, 1968. 4 a pornographic film with poor production values and little plot or dialogue, just poorly filmed sex US, 1995. 5 the drill field in an armed forces training camp US, 1963. 6 in competition sailing, a person who in tandem operates a winch-like device to raise a large sail very quickly US, 1996 grinders noun the teeth UK, 1676 grind film noun a pornographic film, usually with crude production values and no plot or character development US, 1977 grind house noun a theatre exhibiting continuous shows or films of a sexual or violent nature US, 1929 grinding adjective (used of surf conditions) powerful, breaking consistently US, 1987 grind joint noun a casino dominated by slot machines and low-limit tables US, 1991 grind man noun a person who calls out and invites patrons to enter a performance US, 1968 grinds noun ► get your grinds to have sex US, 1966 grinds; grines noun food US, 1981 grind show noun a carnival attraction that relies on a relentless patter to attract customers inside US, 1927 grind store noun an illegal gambling operation where players are cheated as a matter of course US, 1985 grine noun sexual intercourse; an act of sexual intercourse. A variation of GRIND JAMAICA, 1970

grine verb to have sex. A variation of GRIND JAMAICA, 1971

gringo noun among Latinos in the US, a white person. The source of considerable false etymology based on the marching song 'Green grow the rushes, o'. Often used with a lack of affection US, 1849 gringo gallop noun diarrhoea suffered by tourists in Mexico or Latin America US, 1960 grinner noun a rock which just shows above the ground CANADA, 1987 grins and shakes noun a tour of a military facility or a visit to the troops US, 1991 grip noun 1 a small suitcase. A shortened form of 'gripsack' US, 1879. 2 money US, 1993. 3 a large amount US, 1997. 4 a photograph ANTARCTICA, 2003. ► get a grip to get control of your emotions and actions US, 1971 grip verb 1 to arrest UK, 2000. 2 to flatter and curry favour with those in power US, 1981. 3 to masturbate US, 1971. ► grip your shit to satisfy your requirements UK, 1995 gripe noun a complaint US, 1918 gripe verb to moan, to complain US, 1928 gripest noun in prison, a chronic complainer US, 1962 gripping noun complaints; the act of complaining US, 1945 grip off verb to annoy. Used among bird-watchers, usually as 'gripped off' UK, 1977 grippers noun men's underpants US, 1985 grips noun 1 a porter on a passenger train US, 1977. 2 running shoes US, 1991. ► come to grips to get control of your emotions and actions UK, 1988

gripy adjective miserable US, 1946 gristle noun the penis. A relatively obscure term, but well understood when adopted as a confrontational name by 1980s thrash metal pioneers Throbbing Gristle UK, 1965 grit noun 1 spirit, stamina, courage, especially if enduring US, 1825. 2 a member of the Canadian Liberal Party CANADA, 1995. 3 a narrow-minded if not reactionary person US, 1972. 4 a stereotypical rural, southern white US, 1972. 5 food US, 1959. 6 crack cocaine. Another rock metaphor, based on the drug's appearance US, 1994. 7 a cigarette US, 1990 grit verb to eat US, 1968 gritch verb a complaint US, 1983 grizzle verb to sleep US, 1997 grizzle-guts; grizzly-guts noun a tearful, whining person. From the verb 'to grizzle' UK, 1937 groan noun a standup bass fiddle US, 1945 groaner noun a foghorn with a prolonged monotone US, 1997 groats noun the epitome of unpleasant US, 1979 groceries noun 1 the genitals, breasts and/or buttocks, especially as money-earning features US, 1965. 2 crack cocaine. A sad euphemism US, 1994. 3 in horse racing, horse feed US, 1951 grocer's shop noun an Italian. Rhyming slang for WOP UK, 1979 grocery boy noun a heroin addict who is craving food US, 1973 grocery French noun a barely passable command of the Quebec French language CANADA, 1980 grocery getter noun a car for everyday use US, 1993 grock noun a fool. Probably after Adrien Wettach, 1888–1959, the Swiss clown named Grock, who was inducted in the Clown Hall of Fame in 1992 UK, 2002

G-rock noun cocaine; a one gram rock of crack cocaine UK, 1998 grockle noun 1 a tourist. Disparaging; sometimes shortened to 'grock'. Grock was the professional clown-name of Charles Adrien Wettach (1880–1959), hence 'grockle' is probably intended to represent a tourist as a clown; however not abbreviated until the 1990s UK, 1964. 2 a social inferior. Disparaging, upper-class usage; acquired from the sense as 'tourist' UK, 1982 grockly adjective common, inferior. Used by upper-class youths, from GROCKLE (a social inferior) UK, 1982

grody noun a dirty, homeless hospital patient infested with lice US, 1985 grody; groady; groaty adjective messy, unkempt, disgusting US, 1963 grody to the max adjective extremely disgusting US, 1982 groendakkies noun a mental hospital. From Afrikaans for 'green roofs' SOUTH AFRICA, 1978 grog noun 1 an alcoholic drink, especially beer US, 1805. 2 a clot of spittle. Glasgow slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. ► on the grog drinking steadily; taking part in a drinking session; binge drinking AUSTRALIA, 1946 grog verb 1 to drink alcohol US, 1824. 2 to spit. Glasgow slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

grogan noun a piece of excrement; a turd AUSTRALIA, 1980

grog artist noun a heavy drinker AUSTRALIA, 1965

grog boss noun a person serving alcohol at a work party CANADA, 1964 grog-doped adjective intoxicated by kava, a herbal beverage made from the root of the tropical shrub piper methysticum FUJI, 1992

grogger noun a disreputable bar US, 1822 grogging noun drinking alcohol; boozing AUSTRALIA, 1962

grogging-on noun drinking heartily, or to excess AUSTRALIA, 1979 groggy noun a person who drinks to excess FUJI, 1994 groggy adjective weak, unsteady, faint. From conventional 'groggy' (drunk) UK, 1828 grog-on noun a drinking session or party AUSTRALIA, 1971 grog on verb to take part in a drinking session; to drink steadily and heavily AUSTRALIA, 1951 grog session noun an extended kava drinking session. Kava is a tranquillity-inducing beverage made from the root of a tropical shrub FUJI, 1991 grog shanty noun a roughly constructed building selling alcohol AUSTRALIA, 1895 grog shop noun 1 an off-licence (liquor store) AUSTRALIA, 1799. 2 a cheap tavern UK, 1790 grog swiper noun an intemperate kava drinker. Kava, made from the root of a tropical shrub, induces tranquillity FUJI, 1996 grog-up noun a drinking session or party AUSTRALIA, 1959

grog up verb to drink heavily and steadily AUSTRALIA, 1955 groid noun a black person. A shortened 'negroid' US, 1972 groin; groyne; growne noun a ring UK, 1931 groinage noun jewellery. From GROIN (a ring) UK, 2002 groinplant noun in mountain biking, an unintended and painful contact between the bicycle and your groin US, 1992 groin-throb noun someone, of either sex, who is the object of sexual lust. A play on the more romantic 'heart-throb', 1996 grok verb to understand, to appreciate. Coined by Robert Heinlein (1907–88) for the science-fiction novel Stranger in a Strange Land, 1961; adopted into semi-mystical use by the counterculture US, 1970 grolly noun an unpleasant thing. Ascribes the attributes of a GREEN GROLLY, often abbreviated as 'grolly' (a lump of phlegm) to any given object UK, 1987 grom noun a beginner surfer. An abbreviation of GROMMET US, 1990 grommet noun 1 a novice surfer, especially one with a cheeky attitude AUSTRALIA, 1981. 2 by extension, a zealous novice in other sports. Recorded in use by skateboarders and scooter-riders US, 1995. 3 a kid AUSTRALIA, 1995. 4 the anus UK, 1889

gromp verb in tiddlywinks, to move a pile of winks as a whole onto another wink or pile of winks US, 1977

gronk noun an unattractive woman UK, 1987 gronk verb in computing, to shut down and restart a computer whose operation has been suspended. A term popularised by Johnny Hart in his B.C. newspaper comic strip US, 1981 groom verb to attract children into sexual activity. A euphemism that hides a sinister practice UK, 1996 groove noun 1 the prevailing mood UK, 1998. 2 a routine; the regular way of doing something UK, 1984. 3 a profound pleasure, a true joy US, 1946. 4 (of music) an aesthetic pleasure in tune with the zeitgeist US, 1996. 5 a rhythm UK, 1947. 6 the act of dancing UK, 1998. ► in the groove totally involved, at that moment, with making or enjoying music. Originally used in jazz but has been applied to most subsequent modern music forms US, 1932 groove verb 1 to enjoy US, 1950. 2 to please, to make happy US, 1952. 3 to make good progress, to co-operate UK, 1967. 4 to have sex US, 1960. 5 to be relaxed and happy US, 1970

groover noun a drug user who enjoys psychedelic accessories to his drug experience US, 1971

groovily adverb pleasantly UK, 2002 groovy adjective 1 very good, pleasing. The word enjoyed two periods of great popularity, first in the early 1940s and then in the mid-to-late 1960s, where it caught on both in the mainstream and in hip circles. Since then, it has become a signature word for mocking the attitudes and fashions of the 1960s US, 1937. 2 sexually attractive. A nuance of the sense as 'pleasing' UK, 1967. 3 profoundly out-of-style US, 1983. 4 used to describe the effects of amphetamine. Drug-users' (no-one else could be so subjective) slang UK, 1978 grope noun an act of sexual fondling, especially when such fondling is the entire compass of the sexual contact US, 1946. ► come the grope to feel up sexually AUSTRALIA, 1971. ► go the grope to feel up sexually AUSTRALIA, 1962

grope verb to grab or caress someone's genitals, usually in an impersonal manner UK, 1380

Groper nickname a non-Aboriginal native or resident of Western Australia, especially a descendant of an early settler. A shortening of SANDGROPER AUSTRALIA, 1899

Groperland noun the state of Western Australia AUSTRALIA, 1900

gross adjective disgusting US, 1959 gross-out noun a disgusting thing US, 1968 gross out verb to disgust, to shock. From GROSS (disgusting) US, 1965

Grosvenor Squares noun flared trousers, flares. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 grot noun 1 dirt, filth. By back-formation from GROTTY UK, 1971. 2 a filthy person AUSTRALIA, 1985. 3 a toilet NEW ZEALAND, 1981 grotbag; grot-bag; grot noun an unpleasantly dirty person. A combination of GROT (dirt), with the suffix -BAG (personifies an unpleasant quality). Glasgow use UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

grot-hole noun in caving and pot-holing, a small cave that leads nowhere and is difficult to manoeuvre in UK, 2004

grots noun in caving and pot-holing, any (well used) clothing UK, 2004 grotty; grot; grotbags adjective unattractive, inferior UK, 1964 grouch noun an ill-tempered person US, 1900 grouch bag noun literally, a small bag hidden on the person with emergency funds in it; figuratively, a wallet or a person's supply of money US, 1908

Groucho Marx; groucho noun an electrician. Rhyming slang for SPARKS, formed from the name of the American comedian, 1890–1977 UK, 1992 ground noun an area of operation or influence. In police use UK, 2002. ► back on the ground; on the ground freed from prison US, 1982. ► on the ground in horse racing, said of a jockey serving a suspension US, 1976 ground verb to punish a child by refusing to let them leave the house for any social events US, 1950 ground apple noun a brick US, 1945 ground clouds noun fog US, 1976 ground control noun a person who guides another through an LSD experience. Another LSD-as-travel metaphor US, 1967 grounder noun a crime that does not demand much effort by the police to solve US, 1984 ground floor noun ► in on the ground floor in at the early stages of a project, trend, technical development, etc. Generally phrased 'get in on', 'let in on' and 'be in on' US, 1864 ground gripper nickname a Hawker Siddeley 'Trident' aircraft. Introduced into service in 1964 US, 1994 groundhog noun 1 in the language of parachuting, anyone who has not parachuted US, 1978. 2 a railway brakeman US, 1926 ground joker noun any non-flying personnel in the Air Force US, 1946 groundlark noun a bookmaker who illegally conducts business at a horse race track AUSTRALIA, 1989

groundman noun in a group of friends taking LSD or another hallucinogen, a person who does not take the drug and helps those who do navigate their experience UK, 1983 ground-pounder noun a member of the infantry. Coined in World War 2, and used in every war since US, 1942 groundscore verb to find something of value, real or perceived, on the ground US, 1997 ground-slucie verb to shoot at a bird on the ground CANADA, 1999 groundsmen noun an assistant to a bookmaker who collects bets and pays off winners AUSTRALIA, 1989 ground-trog verb in caving and pot-holing, to search the surface for cave entrances US, 2004 ground week noun the first week of US Army airborne parachute training US, 1991 ground zero noun 1 the centre of action. From the lingo of atomic weapons, literally meaning 'the ground where a bomb explodes' US, 1966. 2 a back-to-basics condition from which a recommencement or restructuring may be developed. Figurative, from sense as a 'centre of targeted destruction' UK, 2001. 3 an untidy bedroom. Teen slang US, 2002 group grope noun 1 group therapy US, 1977. 2 sex involving more than two people US, 1967 groupie; groupy noun 1 a girl who trades her sexual availability to rock groups and musicians in exchange for hanger-on status US, 1966. 2 a follower or hobbyist devoted to a pre-eminent person within a given field, or to a genre or subject type. An extension of the previous sense, this usage is not restricted to rock groups or music, nor is there a suggestion that sex is a prerequisite; the tone may be derogatory, jocular or ironic US, 1967

Group of One; G1 noun the United States CANADA, 2002

grouse noun 1 a grumble; a cause for complaint UK, 1917. 2 a good thing; something of the best quality AUSTRALIA, 1924 grouse verb to grumble UK, 1885 grouse adjective great; excellent; top quality. Origin unknown. Commonly intensified as 'extra grouse' AUSTRALIA, 1924 grouser noun a complainer. From the verb GROUSE UK, 1885 grouter noun ► come in on the grouter to gain a fortuitous and unfair advantage, especially by appearing at an opportune time. The origin of this term is unknown, although one might conjecture that since grouting is the last task in a tiling job, to come in on the grouter would be to arrive when there is no work left to be done AUSTRALIA, 1902 grovel verb 1 in computing, to work with great diligence but without visible success US, 1981. 2 to ride a wave even as it runs out of force US, 1990

Grover noun a one-thousand dollar note; one thousand dollars. From the portrait of US President Grover Cleveland on the notes, first issued in 1928 US, 1984 grow verb ► grow your own to promote an enlisted man to a non-commissioned officer vacancy in a unit; to promote from within US, 1990 grewed-up truck noun an eighteen-wheeled over-the-road truck US, 1976 growl verb ► growl at the badger to engage in oral sex on a woman, especially noisily UK, 1998 growl and grunt; growl noun the vulva and vagina. Rhyming slang for CUNT AUSTRALIA, 1941 growler noun 1 a bowel movement US, 1993. 2 a fart UK, 2003. 3 in the language of barbershop quartets, a strident bass singer US, 1975. 4 the lowest gear in a truck US, 1971. 5 a largely submerged iceberg ANTARCTICA, 1912. 6 the vagina AUSTRALIA, 1988. 7 a prison cell used for solitary confinement US, 1984. 8 beer, the dregs of a cask IRELAND, 1999. 9 a wrestler US, 1945. 10 a hotel's activity log US, 1953. 11 a beer can US, 1949 grub noun 1 food; provisions of food UK, 1659. 2 bullets. From the previous sense UK, 2001. 3 an inferior, lowly person UK, 1845 grub verb 1 to kiss with passion US, 1963. 2 to engage in sexual foreplay US, 1976 grubber noun 1 a disgusting person US, 1941. 2 in cricket, a ball bowled underarm. Also variant 'grub' UK, 1837 grubbies noun old, worn, comfortable clothes US, 1966 grubby noun a young male summer resident of a camp on a Canadian lake CANADA, 1997 grubby adjective not neat, not clean US, 1965 grubs noun old, worn and comfortable clothes US, 1966 grudge-fuck verb to have sex out of spite or anger US, 1990 gruesome and gory noun the penis. Rhyming slang for COREY UK, 1992 gruesome twosome noun a couple who date steadily US, 1941

Grumann Greyhound noun the C-2A aircraft. Manufactured by Grumann, a twin engine, prop-driven plane used by the US Navy to transport troops (hence the 'Greyhound' as an allusion to the bus company) or cargo US, 1991 grumble and grunt; grumble noun the vagina; hence women objectified sexually. Rhyming slang for CUNT UK, 1938 grumble and mutter noun a bet. Rhyming slang for FLUTTER UK, 1992

grume noun a filthy, decrepit patient in a hospital casualty department US, 1978 grummet noun a woman, or women, objectified sexually. From earlier senses, now lost, as 'the vagina' and 'sexual intercourse' UK, 1960 grump noun an ill-tempered person UK, 1900 grumpus-back noun a gruff, churlish person BARBADOS, 1965

grundies; grunds noun underpants. Short for REG GRUNDIES AUSTRALIA, 1984

grundy adjective mediocre US, 1959 grunge noun 1 unpleasant dirt or filth US, 1965. 2 a rock music genre. From the previous sense, abstractly applied to the 'dirty' guitar sound; it is occasionally recorded from the mid-1960s but until Nirvana and other Seattle-based US groups came to prominence in the early 90s 'grunge' was not a genre US, 1972. 3 a style of loose-fitting, layered clothes favoured by fans of the grunge music scene US, 1998. 4 an obnoxious, graceless person US, 1968 grungejumper noun used as a euphemism for 'motherfucker' US, 1958 grungie noun 1 a filthy or disgusting person UK, 2000. 2 a post-hippie youth in rebellion. Also spelt 'grungy' US, 1982 grungy adjective filthy, dirty, unpleasant, untidy. Of GRUNGE (an unpleasant substance); however contemporary use also refers to the deliberately messy fashion associated with GRUNGE music US, 1965 grunt noun 1 a member of the US Marine Corps US, 1968. 2 An infantry soldier, especially but not necessarily a marine. An important piece of slang in the Vietnam war US, 1962. 3 a menial, unskilled worker US, 1970. 4 an electrician or electrical lineman's assistant. Some power companies in the US have tried to prohibit use of the term to describe the helper position; in general, linemen have perceived this attempt as political correctness carried to an absurd extreme and have continued calling their helpers 'grunts' US, 1926. 5 a railway engineer US, 1939. 6 in mountain biking, a steep and challenging incline US, 1996. 7 power NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 8 marijuana US, 1993 ► see: GASP AND GRUNT

grunt verb to eat US, 1968

grunt-and-squeal jockey noun a truck driver who hauls cattle or pigs US, 1971 grunter noun 1 a bed NEW ZEALAND, 1984. 2 a foghorn with two tones US, 1997

grunts noun food US, 1968 grunt-tight adjective (used of a bolt) tightened by feel rather than by measured torque US, 1992 grush noun a mad scramble of boys to get a coin or some similar gift thrown at them; a present given to people outside a church after a wedding IRELAND, 1976

gruts noun underpants NEW ZEALAND, 1998 gry; gryer noun a horse. Romany UK, 1978

GS noun a shared act of urine fetishism; the act of urination by one person on another for sexual gratification. Used in personal advertising; an abbreviation of GOLDEN SHOWER US, 1979

GSD noun an Alsatian. Initialism of German Shepherd Dog, the original breed name, which was changed by the UK Kennel Club after World War 1 for reasons of political sensitivity UK, 2002

G shot noun an injection of a small amount of a drug while in search of a larger amount US, 1992

G-star noun a youth gang member US, 1995

G-string noun 1 a small patch of cloth passed between a woman's legs and supported by a waist cord, providing a snatch of modesty for a dancer. A slight variation on the word 'gee-string' used in the late C19 to describe the loin cloth worn by various indigenous peoples US, 1936. 2 a BMW Series 3 car. Scanto youth street slang (South African townships) SOUTH AFRICA, 2005

GTA noun the criminal charge of grand theft, auto. The punch-line of an oft-repeated joke: 'What do you call four [ethnic minority of choice at the moment] in a brand new Cadillac?' US, 1993

GTG used as shorthand in Internet discussion groups and text messages to mean 'got to go' US, 2002

G thing noun a subject matter best understood by young urban gangsters US, 1994

G-top noun a tent or trailer in a carnival reserved exclusively for carnival employees. Employees can drink and gamble out of sight of the public and police US, 1980

Guardianista noun a liberal, politically-correct person. Intended as derogatory; from the stereotype that such a person is a reader of the Guardian newspaper and combined with left-wing Nicaraguan revolutionaries the Sandinistas UK, 2003

Guat noun a Guatemalan UK, 1995

Guatemala dirt dobbers noun sandals US, 1970 guava noun 1 an upwardly mobile young adult. An acronym for 'grown up and very ambitious' or 'growing up and very ambitious' SOUTH AFRICA, 1989. 2 the buttocks, the backside. Especially in the phrase 'on your guava' SOUTH AFRICA, 1975

guava adjective very good, superlative US, 1991 guava days; gauva season; guava times noun difficult times TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1979

gub verb to hit in the mouth; to defeat. From 'gub' (the mouth) UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 gubbins noun used as a replacement for any singular or plural noun that the user cannot or does not wish to specify UK, 1944 gubbish noun in computing, nonsense. A blend of 'garbage' and 'rubbish' US, 1983

Gucci adjective stylish, especially cleverly so. From the high-profile fashion brand UK, 1995 gucky noun Gucci, a fashion-design label. Upper-class society usage; a deliberate and jocular mispronunciation of a favourite brand UK, 1982 gucky adjective sickening. Upper-class society use UK, 1982 gudentight; goot-n-tight adjective tight, especially in a sexual context. A mock German or Dutch construction US, 1969 guernsey noun ► get a guernsey to be selected for something, such as a team, job, award or the like. Originally 'to be picked for a football team', from 'guernsey' as 'a top worn by football players' AUSTRALIA, 1918. ► give someone a guernsey to select someone AUSTRALIA, 1962 guess noun ► by guess and by God a casual form of nautical navigation US, 1986. ► miss your guess to be mistaken US, 1921. ► your guess is as good as mine a catchphrase used to describe a situation where neither party knows the facts CANADA, 1939 guessing stick noun a slide rule US, 1941 guessing tubes noun a stethoscope. Medical slang UK, 2002 guesstimate; guestimate noun a rough calculation. Part 'guess', part 'estimate' US, 1934 guest noun a prisoner. Used in combinations such as 'guest of the city', 'guest of the governor or guest of the nation' US, 1982 guest star noun a last-minute replacement to take the place of someone who has cancelled a date US, 2002

guff noun 1 foolish nonsense, usually spoken or sung. From 'guff' (empty talk), later usage informed by the sense of 'a fart', punning and adding a noxious element to HOT AIR (nonsense) US, 1888. 2 back-talk, verbal resistance US, 1879. 3 a fart. Probably from the sense 'nonsense', thus a play on HOT AIR UK, 1998 guff verb 1 to fart. Probably from GUFF (nonsense), hence a play on HOT AIR UK, 1997. 2 to eat and drink greedily INDIA, 1979. 3 to anger and prepare to fight TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

guggle noun the throat, the gullet US, 1991 guide noun a person who monitors the LSD experience of another, helping them through bad moments and caring for their physical needs US, 1966 guider; glider noun a children's makeshift vehicle, typically constructed of a soapbox and pram-wheels UK, 1979

guido noun an Italian or Italian-American, especially a macho one. Disparaging US, 1988 guillotine noun the lip of a wave crashing down on a surfer's head US, 1991 guilt trip noun an effort to make someone else feel guilty US, 1972 guilt-trip verb to attempt to make someone feel guilty US, 1977 guinea noun 1 an Italian or Italian-American US, 1890. 2 in horse racing, a horse groom US, 1962

Guinea football noun a homemade bomb US, 1918 guinea people noun Jamaicans with a strong sense of African identity JAMAICA, 2003 guinea pig noun 1 a person used as the subject of an experiment US, 1920. 2 a wig. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 guinea red noun cheap Italian red wine. Offensive because of the national slur US, 1933

Guineatown noun a neighbourhood dominated by Italian-Americans and/or Italian immigrants US, 1992 gulch noun on Prince Edward Island, junk food or unappetising food CANADA, 1988 gulch verb to engage in sexual intimacy in the outdoors CANADA, 1985 gullwing noun a car body style in which the passenger doors are hinged at the top and open upwards US, 1993 gully adjective 1 inferior; not up to expectations US, 2002. 2 excellent. A reversal of the earlier sense on the BAD is 'good' principle; used by urban black youths UK, 2004 gully-gut noun a glutton UK, 1542 gully monkey noun a person lacking intelligence and class TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

guluption adjective big and awkward TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 gum noun 1 crude, unrefined opium US, 1956. 2 MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003. 3 in pool, a cushion. Cushions were once fashioned with rubber gum US, 1993 gumball noun 1 the flashing coloured lights on a police car US, 1971. 2 in stock car racing, a soft tyre used for extra traction in qualifying heats but, because it wears out so quickly, not in races US, 1965. 3 heroin UK, 2003 gumball verb to activate the flashing coloured lights on a police car US, 1983 gum-beat verb to talk, to chat US, 1942 gumbies noun black tennis shoes US, 1969 gumbo noun 1 in horse racing, thick mud US, 1947. 2 in oil drilling, any viscous or sticky formation encountered in drilling US, 1954 gum boot noun a condom NEW ZEALAND, 2002

gumbooter noun a dairy farmer NEW ZEALAND, 2002 gumby noun in computing, an inconsequential but highly visible display of stupidity. A borrowing from Monty Python US, 1991 gumdrop noun a capsule of secobarbital, a central nervous system depressant; any drug in capsule form US, 1980 gum it verb to perform oral sex on a woman US, 1971

gummer noun a gumboot, a Wellington boot UK, 1984 gummi noun rubber as a fetish. From German gummi (rubber) UK, 2003 gummy noun a gumboot or Wellington boot NEW ZEALAND, 1995 gummy adjective old, in poor condition. From Australian gummy (a sheep that has lost its teeth) AUSTRALIA, 2001 gump noun 1 a passive homosexual man US, 1981. 2 a chicken (of the fowl persuasion) US, 1981 gump stump noun the rectum US, 1970

gumption noun common sense, shrewdness; initiative, application, determination UK, 1719 gums noun overshoes US, 1996. ► flap your gums; beat your gums; beat up your gums to talk US, 1955. ► give your gums a rest to stop talking US, 2003

gumshoe noun a private investigator or detective US, 1908 gumsucker noun a non-Aboriginal inhabitant of the state of Victoria. Referring to the habit of chewing gum 'the sap of various native Australian trees (gumtrees)'. Now mainly historical AUSTRALIA, 1840 gum tree noun ► up a gum tree in trouble; in a hopeless situation AUSTRALIA, 1851 gum tree mail noun a non-official mail service in which a letter to be posted is stuck in a cleft stick and passed to the driver or guard of a train passing through a remote area AUSTRALIA, 1969 gum up verb ► gum up the works to interfere and so spoil things US, 1932 gun noun 1 a hired gunman US, 1920. 2 an expert at some occupation, especially shearing AUSTRALIA, 1897. 3 a pickpocket US, 1965. 4 a hypodermic needle and syringe US, 1899. 5 the upper arm; the bicep muscle US, 1973. 6 the penis UK, 1675. 7 any instrument used for tattooing US, 1989. 8 an electric guitar. From the symbolic actions of guitarists like Jimi Hendrix (1942–70) who stressed the metaphor when he recorded the song 'Machine Gun' in 1969 US, 1988. 9 a brass horn US, 1960. 10 a large surfboard used for big-wave conditions US, 1965. 11 in the language of wind surfing, a sailboard that is moderately long and tapered at the rear US, 1985. 12 in horse racing, a complete effort by a jockey US, 1976. 13 on the railways, a track torpedo used to warn an engineer of danger ahead US, 1975. 14 any signal that a quarter of a football game has ended US, 1971. ► on the gun engaged in crime as a profession US, 1950. ► under the gun 1 (used of a prison) under armed guard US, 2002. 2 in poker, said of the player who must act first in a given situation US, 1947 gun verb 1 to accelerate a vehicle or rev its engine US, 1920. 2 to inject a drug intravenously UK, 2003. 3 to look over, to examine UK, 1812. 4 to attack verbally UK, 2003. 5 in computing, to use a computer's force-quit feature to close a malfunctioning program US, 1983.

► gun it (of a vehicle) to travel at top speed. From earlier, now conventional sense of 'gun' (to run an engine at full power) US, 1976 gun adjective 1 excellent NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 2 expert AUSTRALIA, 1916 gun and bomb noun a condom. Rhyming slang; the plural is 'guns and bombs' UK, 2003 gun and rifle club noun an inner-city hospital's casualty department US, 1978 gun ape noun an artillery soldier US, 1988 gun belt noun the American defence industry US, 1991 gunboats noun large, heavy shoes US, 1862 gun-bull noun an armed prison guard US, 1928 gun bunny noun an artilleryman US, 1980

Gunchester nickname Manchester UK, 1994 gun down verb (used of a male) to masturbate while looking directly at somebody else US, 2002 gunfighter seat noun in a public place, a seat with the back against the wall, overlooking the room. From the caution exercised by gunfighters in the West US, 1997 gun for verb to be on the lookout for with the intent of hurting or killing US, 1878 gun from the gate noun in horse racing, a racehorse that starts races quickly US, 1951 gunga din noun used to address a man with a perceived Indian or Asian ethnicity. Racist, derogatory; a stereotypical appellation from the poem 'Gunga Din', Rudyard Kipling, 1897: 'Of all them black-faced crew/ The finest man I knew / Was our regimental bhisti [a water-carrier], Gunga Din' UK, 1994

Gunga Din; gunga noun the chin. Rhyming slang, formed from Rudyard Kipling's poem UK, 1992 gunge noun 1 an (unidentifiable or disgusting) viscid substance; general filth UK, 1965. 2 rubbish, nonsense UK, 2003. 3 any tropical skin disease affecting the crotch area of a US soldier in Vietnam US, 1977

gunge; gunge up verb in a general sense, to make filthy; more narrowly, to deliberately swamp someone with a viscous mess (humorously known as 'gunge') UK, 1976 gunged up; gungey; gungy adjective filthy, sticky; clogged with filth, especially with an unidentifiable or disgusting viscid substance. From GUNGE UK, 1962 gungeon; gunja; gunjah; gunga noun marijuana, especially from Jamaica. A corruption of GANJA. Used to describe the most potent grade of marijuana in the 1940s US, 1944 gung-ho adjective dedicated, spirited, enthusiastic. Originally coined as a slogan understood to mean 'Work together!' by the US Marines during World War 2, then embraced as an adjective US, 1942 gungun noun marijuana variously claimed to be from Africa, Jamaica or Mexico. From GUNGEON (marijuana) UK, 1998

gungy; gungi adjective enthusiastic, spirited, brave. Formed from GUNG-HO US, 1961 gun hand noun in racquetball, the hand with which a player holds the racquet US, 1971 gunk noun 1 an unidentified and unpleasant substance US, 1938. 2 a thick liquid. Originally the brand name for a chemical cleaner UK, 1999. 3 any industrial solvent inhaled for its psychoactive effect US, 1982 gun moll noun a female gangster US, 1908 gun-mouth pants noun men's trousers with straight, tapered legs TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1937

gunna noun a procrastinator AUSTRALIA, 1996

gunna going to AUSTRALIA, 1944

gunner noun 1 a person with sexual expertise and experience US, 1965. 2 in poker, the player with the best hand or who plays his hand as if it were the best hand US, 1951. 3 the person shooting the dice in craps US, 1930. 4 a student who takes competition to an aggressive level US, 1994 gunners noun braces (suspenders) US, 1949 gunnif noun a thief, a crook. A variation of GONNIF UK, 2000

gunny noun 1 a US Marine Corps gunnery sergeant US, 1976. 2 a door gunner on an airship, or a crew member of a gunship US, 1980. 3 a gun enthusiast US, 1957. 4 potent marijuana US, 1970 gun pet noun a parapet fortified to protect artillery US, 1990 guns noun 1 a helicopter gunship. Used by the US Army Aero Weapons Platoon in Vietnam US, 1990. 2 to marines in Vietnam, a weapons squad or platoon US, 1990. 3 the fists US, 1981 gunsack noun thick, heavy female thighs TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

gungsel noun 1 a young homosexual man US, 1918. 2 a thug US, 1943 gunship noun 1 in the Metropolitan Police, a Flying Squad car when firearms are being carried UK, 1999. 2 in the Metropolitan Police, an Armed Response Vehicle UK, 1999. 3 a van used in a drive-by shooting US, 1988 gun-shot noun a single measure of chilled After Shock™ cinnamon or peppermint liqueur imbibed through a straw in a single action UK, 2001 gunslinger noun a chronic masturbator US, 2002 gunsmith noun an experienced pickpocket who trains novice pickpockets US, 1934 gun talk noun tough, threatening talk TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 guntz noun the whole lot, the whole way. Adopted from Yiddish, ultimately German das Ganze (all of it) UK, 1958 gun up verb to prepare to fight, either with fists or weapons US, 1981 guppies noun anchovies. Limited usage, but clever US, 1996

guppy noun 1 an individual who is socially categorised as a gay upwardly mobile professional. A blend of GAY and YUPPIE UK, 1984. 2 a navy diver who is not SCUBA qualified US, 1991. 3 a heavy drinker. From FISH US, 1991

gur noun ► on the gur of a child, sleeping roughly IRELAND, 1976 gurner noun a person intoxicated by MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. From the similarity between the distorted faces pulled by ECTSASY users and the ugly faces deliberately pulled by gurners in traditional gurning competitions UK, 2000 gurning noun the effect of tightened facial muscles as a result of taking MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. From the conventional sense when the facial distortion is both voluntary and humorous UK, 1996

gurrier noun a lout, a ruffian IRELAND, 2004

guru noun an expert US, 1986 guru you! used as a humorous euphemism for 'screw you' US, 1971 gush verb 1 to express yourself in an over-effusive or sentimental manner UK, 1864. 2 in professional wrestling, to bleed US, 1992 gusset noun the vagina. Conventionally, a 'gusset' is a piece of material that reinforces clothing, particularly at the crotch and hence in this sense by association of location UK, 1999 gussy up verb to dress up US, 1952

gusto noun money US, 1984 gut noun 1 a school course that requires little effort US, 1916. 2 a main street through town US, 1968. 3 the belly, the stomach UK, 1362. 4 an air hose on a brake system US, 1946. 5 in electric line work, insulated rubber hose used on 5kV line US, 1980 gut verb in hot rodding, to remove all but the bare essentials from a car's interior US, 1958 gut bag noun a plastic bag containing frozen food, the exact identity of which is not clear US, 1991 gut-barge verb to use your beer-belly to bump into another's in an informal trial of strength UK, 2002 gut bomb noun any greasy, tasty, heavy food, especially a greasy hamburger US, 1968 gut bucket noun 1 an earthy style of jazz music combining elements of ragtime and blues. A 'gutbucket' was a cheap saloon from the name given to a bucket placed beneath a barrel of gin to catch and recycle leakages. The musicians in these type of places played for tips, and the style of music they played there became known as 'gutbucket' US, 1929. 2 a rough and rowdy bar with rough and rowdy patrons US, 1970. 3 a fish bait boat; by extension a messy space of any kind US, 1975 gut card noun in gin, a card that completes a broken sequence US, 1965 gut check noun a test of courage or determination US, 1968

gutful; gutsful noun too much of something UK, 1900 gut hopper noun a student who moves from one easy course to another US, 1955 gut issue noun the one most important issue in a discussion US, 1986 gutless adjective 1 cowardly, lacking determination US, 1900. 2 used to describe an extreme of quality: either very good or very bad UK, 2002

gutless wonder noun an outstanding coward US, 1900

gutrage noun a visceral anger US, 1966 gut reamer noun the active participant in anal sex US, 1962 gut-ripper noun an antipersonnel grenade that explodes at waist level US, 1991 guts noun 1 the stomach; the general area of the stomach and intestines. Standard English from late C14; slipped into unconventional usage early in C19 UK, 1393. 2 the essentials, the important part, the inner and real meaning UK, 1663. 3 the pulp and membrane inside a fruit TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1990. 4 the interior of a car US, 1975. 5 information AUSTRALIA, 1919. 6 courage US, 1891. 7 in the gambling game two-up, the bets placed with the spinner of the coins AUSTRALIA, 1941. ► have someone's guts for garters used for expressing a level of personal threat. An idea that has been in circulation since about 1592. Hyperbolic, but none the less real for all that UK, 1933 guts and butts doc noun a gastroenterologist US, 1994 gut sausage noun a poor man's meal: cornmeal suet and in an intestine CANADA, 1958 gutser noun 1 a person who eats a great deal NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 2 a heavy fall. Usually in the phrase 'come a gutser'. Variants include 'gutzer' and 'gusta' AUSTRALIA, 1918. ► come a gutser to come undone; to fail miserably AUSTRALIA, 1918

gutsful noun ► see: GUTFUL gut shot noun 1 a bullet wound in the stomach, painful and often fatal US, 1992. 2 in poker, a drawn card that completes an inside straight US, 1951

gutsiness noun courage UK, 1959 gutslider noun a bodyboarder. A term of derision when used by surfers SOUTH AFRICA, 2003 guts like calabash noun extreme courage TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1991

gutsy adjective 1 courageous UK, 1893. 2 of music, heartfelt, spirited UK, 1984 gutsy; guts noun an overweight or obese person. A nickname and derogatory term of abuse; 'gutsy' is a mid- to late C20 variation of 'guts' UK, 1596 gutted adjective being bitterly disappointed; used to describe a depressed, empty feeling. Derives, possibly, from the image of a gutted fish or similar; how much emptier could you feel? UK, 1981 gutter noun a vein, especially a prominent one suitable for drug injection US, 1994 gutter ball noun in pool, a shot in which the cue ball falls into a pocket. Homage to bowling US, 1993 gutter bunny noun a commuter who bicycles to work. Mountain bikers' slang US, 1996 guttered adjective drunk. Used in Inverness UK: SCOTLAND, 2002

gutter glitter noun cocaine UK, 2003 gutter junkie; gutter hype noun a drug-addict reduced by the circumstances of addiction to living in the streets or, at best, using inferior drugs. A combination of JUNKIE (an addict) or HYPE (an addict) with 'gutter' representing the lowest point achievable US, 1936 gutter slut noun a sexually promiscuous woman UK, 2003 gutter wear noun fashionably shabby clothing US, 1988

gutty noun an unpleasant person IRELAND, 1998 guv noun an informal style of address to a male of superior status. Short for 'governor' and GUV'NOR UK, 1890 guv'nor; guvnor; gov'nor noun 1 a boss. Reduced from 'governor' UK, 1969. 2 the landlord of a public house. Originally a lazy reduction of 'governor' UK, 1999 guy noun a man or a boy; a general form of address; in the plural it can be used of and to men, women or a mixed grouping US, 1847 guyed out adjective drunk. An allusion to the tightness achieved through guy wires US, 1973 guy-magnet noun a person who is attractive to men AUSTRALIA, 1996

guy thing noun a problem or subject best understood by males US, 1992

guyver; guiver noun insincere talk; pretence AUSTRALIA, 1864

guzzle-and-grab noun eating and drinking, with an emphasis on fast, low-brow food and alcohol US, 1951

guzzled adjective drunk US, 1939 guzzle guts noun a glutton or a heavy drinker UK, 1959 gwaai; gwai; gwa noun tobacco; a cigarette. From the Zulu ugwayi (tobacco) SOUTH AFRICA, 1978

gwaffed adjective drug-intoxicated SOUTH AFRICA, 2003

gwan verb happening, going on. A patois slurring of 'going on', 1994 gwarr; gwarry; gwat noun the vagina SOUTH AFRICA, 2004

GWB the George Washington Bridge. It crosses the Hudson River between upper Manhattan and Fort Lee, New Jersey US, 1997

gweep noun an overworked computer programmer US, 1990

G-wheel noun in a carnival, a game wheel that has been rigged for cheating. 'G' is for 'gaffed' (rigged) US, 1990 gyac god you're a cunt; give you a clue. An initialism. Pronounced as if retching UK, 2003 gyal noun a girl; girls. A phonetic variation, 1994 gyke noun a gynaecologist. Used among middle-class women, especially in hospital UK, 1984 gym bunny noun someone who makes regular use of a gymnasium UK, 2001 gymhead noun someone who exercises obsessively and therefore spends a great deal of time in a gymnasium. A combination of 'gym' (a gymnasium) and -HEAD (a user) UK, 2002 gym queen noun a man who spends a great deal of time at a gym US, 1994 gym rat noun an exercise fanatic US, 1978

gymslip training noun the process of instructing, and conditioning the behaviour of, a transvestite who wishes to be treated as an adolescent girl, especially when used in a dominant prostitute's advertising matter UK, 2003 gynae noun gynaecology UK, 1933 gynae; gyno noun gynaecology, a gynaecologist UK, 1933

gynie noun a gynaecological examination UK, 1995

gyno; gynae noun a gynaecologist AUSTRALIA, 1967

gyno shot noun a close-up scene in a pornographic film or a photograph showing a woman's genitals US, 1995

gyp; gip noun 1 someone or something that is considered a cheat; someone who does not honour debts and obligations. Abbreviated from 'gypsy'; an unconsidered racial slur. Also Spelt 'gip' US, 1859. 2 in horse racing, someone who owns only a few horses.

An abbreviation of 'gypsy'; not derogatory US, 1938. 3 in oil drilling, gypsum US, 1954. 4 pain, actual or figurative. Also 'jyp' UK, 1910 gyp; gip verb to cheat (someone), to swindle US, 1880 gyppo; gyppo; jippo; gippo; gyppy; gypper noun a gypsy, gypsy. Derogatory, casually racist UK, 1916 gyppo-bashing noun racially motivated physical attacks on gypsies. On the model of PAKI-BASHING (attacks on Pakistanis and other Asians) UK, 2000 gyppo noun an avoidance or shirking of a duty; a shirker. From gypsy or Egyptian via military slang SOUTH AFRICA, 1978 gyppo verb to dodge an unpleasant responsibility, to shirk a duty; to avoid something. From gypsy or Egyptian via military slang SOUTH AFRICA, 1971

gyppo adjective small-time CANADA, 1959 gyppo's dog noun used as a standard of skinniness. Based on a stereotypical image of a gypsy's dog UK, 2001 gyppy adjective painful; annoying (causing a figurative pain) UK, 2000 gypsy noun 1 in circus and carnival usage, an undependable employee, especially a drunk US, 1981. 2 in trucking, an owner-operator who works independently US, 1946 gypsy adjective 1 unlicensed, unregulated, usually owned by the operator. Most often applied to a taxicab or truck, although originally to a racehorse owner/jockey US, 1951. 2 meddling, nosy, officious BARBADOS, 1965 gypsy bankroll noun a roll of money in which the top several notes are real large-denomination notes and the rest are counterfeit, plain paper, or small-denomination notes US, 1981

gyrene noun a US Marine US, 1894

gyro; gyro wanker noun a surfer who constantly flaps his arms to gain balance on the surfboard US, 1991 gyve noun a marijuana cigarette. This archly ironic reference to marijuana addiction uses an almost obsolete standard English word meaning 'shackles and fetters' whilst punning on JIVE US, 1938

Hh

H noun heroin US, 1926. ► the H Houston, Texas US, 1998

H-17 noun in casino blackjack gambling, a rule that the dealer must draw a card if he has a 17 made with an ace counting 11 points. The 'h' is for HIT US, 1996

H8 verb in text messaging, hate. A variant spelling; one of several constructions in which a syllable pronounced 'ate' is replaced by the homophone 'eight' UK, 2002

hab noun a habitual criminal US, 1963 habit noun an addiction to any drug UK, 1981 habitual noun ► the habitual a criminal charge alleging habitual criminal status US, 1972

Habra Dabra and the crew noun any random representatives of the populace. The functional equivalent of 'Tom, Dick and Harry' BARBADOS, 1965 hache noun heroin. The Spanish pronunciation of the letter 'h' US, 1955 hachi; hodgy noun the penis US, 1954 hack noun 1 a journalist, a reporter UK, 1810. 2 a prison guard US, 1914. 3 a solution to a computer problem; an impressive and demanding piece of computer work US, 1981. 4 in computing, a quick, often temporary, fix of a problem US, 1983. 5 a single act of unlawfully invading and exploring another's computer system by remote means US, 1983. 6 an opportunist. Used at Oxford University UK, 1980. 7 a taxi US, 1928. 8 a hot rod US, 1958. 9 a brakevan (caboose) US, 1916. 10 a game of Hacky Sack US, 1997 hack verb 1 to tolerate, endure, survive. Usually used with 'it' US, 1952. 2 to bother, to annoy US, 1893. 3 to unlawfully invade and explore another's computer system by remote means US, 1983. 4 to investigate the possibilities of a computer purely for the pleasures of discovery; to create new possibilities for a computer without commercial consideration US, 1983. 5 to work with a computer US, 1981. 6 to drive a taxi US, 1903. 7 to play with a hacky sack beanbag US, 1995. ► hack butts to smoke cigarettes CANADA, 1993. ► hack it to cope with, to accomplish US, 1952 hack around; hack off; hack verb to waste time, usually in a context where time should not be wasted US, 1888

hack driver noun in horse racing, a jockey US, 1951 hacked; hacked off adjective annoyed US, 1936 hacker noun 1 a person who uses their computer expertise in any effort to breach security walls and gain entry to secure sites US, 1963. 2 a person with a profound appreciation and affection for computers and programming US, 1981. 3 an expert in any field US, 1983. 4 a taxi driver BAHAMAS, 1982 hackette noun a female journalist. Patronising UK, 1984 hackie noun a carriage or taxi driver US, 1899 hack mode noun while working on or with a computer, a state of complete focus and concentration US, 1991

Hackney Wick noun a penis. Rhyming slang for PRICK. Hackney Wick is an area of East London, located considerably closer to the source of Cockney rhyming slang than the more popular synonym HAMPTON WICK UK, 1998 hacktivist noun a cultural activist and skilled computer-user who invades a corporate website to leave subversive messages UK, 2001 hacky sack noun a beanbag used in a game in which a circle of players try to keep the bag from hitting the ground without using their hands. A trademarked product that has lent its name to a game and to rival products US, 1989 haddock and cod; haddock noun used as a general pejorative, a sod. Rhyming slang UK, 1962 had-it noun a person who was formerly successful UK, 1992 had-it adjective exhausted; completely worn out. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1981 haemorrhoid noun 1 an irritation, an annoying person. An excruciating pun on 'pain in the ass' US, 1975. 2 a despised person US, 1969 haffie noun ► see: HALF-JACK ha-fucking-hal; ha-bloody-hal; ha-di-fucking-hal; hardy fuckin' ha, ha! used as a jeering response to unfunny jokes; and to dismiss impossible suggestions UK, 1976

hag verb to annoy, to bother BARBADOS, 1965 hagged out adjective 1 exhausted US, 1968. 2 (of a woman) ugly. From 'hag' (an unattractive woman), possibly punning on SHAGGED; SHAGGED OUT (tired) US, 2001

Haggis McBagpipe nickname British Columbia radio and television personality Jack Webster CANADA, 1989

ha-ha noun a glass of beer; beer US, 1979 ha-ha bird; ha-ha pigeon noun a kookaburra, a well-known Australian bird. From its call which resembles human laughter AUSTRALIA, 1938 ha-ha-funny adjective ► see: FUNNY HA-HA

Haight nickname ► the Haight the Haight-Ashbury neighbourhood of San Francisco US, 1967

Haight-Ashbury nickname a neighbourhood in San Francisco, the epicentre of the hippie movement in the mid- to late 1960s. From the intersection of Haight and Ashbury Streets. More recently referred to simply as THE HAIGHT US, 1987 hail noun 1 crack cocaine. Based on the drug's resemblance to pieces of hail US, 1994. 2 in soda fountain usage, ice US, 1935

hailer noun in the television and film industries, a bullhorn US, 1977

Hail Mary noun 1 a last-minute, low-probability manoeuvre US, 1994. 2 in poker, a poor hand that a player holds into high betting in the hope that other players are bluffing and have even worse hands US, 1996 hail smiling morn noun the erect penis, an erection. Rhyming slang for HORN UK, 1980

haim noun ► see: HAME haint; hain't a have-not; to have not. Verb and noun. A vulgar contraction UK, 1971 hair noun 1 courage US, 1959. 2 in computing, intricacy US, 1981. ► get in someone's hair to annoy or irritate someone US, 1949. ► let your hair down to behave in a (more than usually) uninhibited manner US, 1933. ► put hair on your chest; put hairs on your chest a quality ascribed to an alcoholic drink or, when encouraging a child to eat, used of food (especially crusts and brussel sprouts); also applied more broadly to robust or challenging questions of aesthetic taste or preference UK, 1964. ► tear your hair; tear your hair out to behave in a highly agitated manner, especially as a result of worry UK, 1606. ► wear your hair out against the head of the bed; wear your hair out on the bedhead to go bald. A jocular explanation UK, 1961 hairbag noun a veteran police officer US, 1958 hairbagger noun an experienced police officer US, 1958 hairball noun 1 an obnoxious, boorish person, especially when drunk US, 1981. 2 a large, powerful wave US, 1981 hairball! terrifying! US, 1998

hairblower noun a severe telling-off, a scolding UK, 2002 hairburger noun the vulva, especially in the context of oral sex US, 1971 hair burner; hair bender noun a hair stylist US, 1964 haircut noun 1 a short prison sentence. From the short period of time between haircuts UK, 1950. 2 a lowering of the true mileometer (odometer) reading of a motor vehicle to increase its resale value NEW ZEALAND, 1990. 3 marijuana UK, 2003. 4 a sore on a man's penis as the result of a sexually transmitted infection. From the popular belief that the sore was caused by a woman's pubic hair TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

haircut adjective describes an image of fashionability that is without deeper significance UK, 2000 hairdresser noun a homosexual. From the presumption that all hairdressers are gay UK, 2001 hair-dry adjective without getting your hair wet US, 1991 haired up adjective angry. From a dog's bristling back when angry US, 1914 hair fairy noun a homosexual male with an extravagant hairdo US, 1964 hair in the gate noun in television and film-making, any foreign object in the camera gate US, 1990 hair pie noun 1 the vulva; oral sex performed on a woman. Also spelt 'hare' pie or 'hair'y' pie US, 1938. 2 a pizza with an errant hair embedded in it. Limited usage, but clever US, 1996 hairpins noun homosexual code phrases inserted casually into a conversation, trolling for a response US, 1950

hairtree noun a man who wears his hair long and styled as a fashion statement US, 1996 hair-trunk noun in horse racing, a bad-looking horse that performs poorly UK, 1948 hair'y noun 1 a long-haired, bearded individual UK, 1976. 2 a former non-commissioned officer training to become an officer. Military UK, 1981. 3 a young woman with a reputation for sluttishness. Glasgow slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. 4 heroin. A phonetic distortion of HARRY US, 1973 hair'y adjective 1 dangerous; scary (especially if thrilling) US, 1945. 2 bad, difficult, undesirable. A popular term in C19, resurrected in later C20 youth usage UK, 1848. 3 in computing, complicated US, 1983. 4 good, impressive US, 1959 hairy-arse; hairy-arsed adjective describes a thuggish, insensitive brute UK, 2001 hairyback; hairy noun an Afrikaner. Derogatory SOUTH AFRICA, 1970

hairy bank noun a prostitute's vagina GUYANA, 1998

hairy belly noun in dominoes, the 6–6 piece US, 1959 hairy chequebook noun the vagina, as used for payment in kind instead of money AUSTRALIA, 1996 hairy clam noun the vagina. An almost subtle combination of FISH and visual imagery UK, 2000 hairy eyeball noun a hostile stare. Deriving, perhaps, from the eyelashes that mask the eye US, 1995 hairy fairy adjective of a man, effeminate to some degree. A pun on AIRY-FAIRY (delicate, insubstantial) and FAIRY (a homosexual man) UK, 1978 hairy goat noun a racehorse that is a slow runner or poor performer AUSTRALIA, 1933 hairy goblet noun the vagina UK, 2001 hairy growler noun the vagina UK, 2001 hairy leg noun 1 a man. Citizens' band radio slang UK, 1981. 2 a railway fettler AUSTRALIA, 1969 hairy maclary noun a female who invites sexual foreplay but stops short of intercourse NEW ZEALAND, 1998

ha-ja noun ► see: HALF-JACK hale and hearty adjective a party. Rhyming slang UK, 1992

Hale and Pace; hale noun the face. Rhyming slang, from comedy double act Gareth Hale and Norman Pace UK, 2002 half noun 1 used colloquially as an elliptical noun when the original noun is omitted, especially of a half pint (of beer) UK, 1937. 2 a child travelling at half-fare UK, 1961 half adverb 1 used in exaggerations, as in 'I half killed him' UK, 2001. 2 used to reverse what is being said, which is usually formed as a negative, and thus stress the intention, i.e. 'not half bad' is pretty good UK, 1583 half a bar noun until 1971, ten shillings; post-decimalisation, fifty pence UK, 1911 half a C noun fifty dollars. A shortened allusion to $100 as a 'C-note' US, 1967 half a case noun fifty cents US, 1950 half a chip noun sixpence, a sixpenny bit UK, 1950 half a cock noun five pounds (£5). Based on rhyming slang COCKLE AND HEN (ten) UK, 1950 half a crack noun a half-crown coin, half-a-crown, two shillings and sixpence. A coin and coinage that paid the price of decimalisation in 1971 UK, 1933 half a dollar noun 1 a prison sentence of 50 years US, 1990. 2 a half-crown coin; two shillings and sixpence. Pre-decimalisation, that is pre-1971, a half-crown coin was valued at two shillings and sixpence (equivalent to 12½ p), and, presumably, at the point of coinage, a pound was worth approximately four US dollars UK, 1916 half a football field noun fifty crystals of crack cocaine UK, 2001 half-a-man noun a short person US, 1997 half a mo noun a very short but vaguely defined time. A shortening of 'half a moment' UK, 1896 half and half noun 1 oral sex on a man followed by vaginal intercourse US, 1937. 2 a hermaphrodite US, 1935. 3 a pint drink comprising equal measures of two different beers UK, 1909 half and half adjective 1 mediocre TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1958. 2 bisexual US, 1975 half a nicker noun 1 pre-decimalisation, ten shillings; after 1971, fifty pence. From NICKER (one pound) UK, 1895. 2 a vicar. Rhyming slang. Also variant 'half-nicker man' UK, 1974 half-apple noun in television and film-making, a standard-sized crate used for raising objects or people, half as high as a standard 'apple' US, 1990 half-assed; half-arsed adjective 1 inferior, unsatisfactory, incompetent US, 1865. 2 incomplete, not serious, half-hearted US, 1933 half a stretch noun 1 a six-month prison sentence. From 'stretch' (a year's sentence) UK, 1950. 2 gambling odds of 6–1 UK, 1844 half a yard noun fifty dollars US, 1961 half-baked adjective intellectually deficient. Dialect UK, 1855 half-chat noun a half-caste. Also used in Australia UK, 1909 half-cock noun ► go off at half-cock generally, to start without being ready; in sex, to ejaculate prematurely or without being fully erect. A variation of HALF-COCKED UK, 1904 half-cock adjective ill-considered; inferior UK, 2002. ► at half-cock not fully prepared or ready UK, 2000 half-cocked adjective 1 not fully capable; not completely thought out; unfinished; incomplete. Derives from the mechanism of a gun US, 1833. 2 drunk AUSTRALIA, early C19. ► go off half-cocked generally, to start without being ready; in sex, to ejaculate prematurely or without being fully erect. Gun imagery UK, 1809 half colonel noun a lieutenant-colonel US, 1956 half-cut adjective drunk UK, 1893 half-cuts noun trainers (sneakers) BARBADOS, 1998 halfers noun ► go halfers; go haufers to share equally between two parties UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 half-fried adjective of eggs, fried on one side only. The Indian-English equivalent to SUNNY SIDE UP INDIA, 1979

half G noun a half-gallon jar of alcohol NEW ZEALAND, 1971 half-gone adjective half-drunk UK, 1925 half-half adjective mediocre FJI, 1996 half-hearty adjective of mediocre health, recovering from an illness but not completely recovered BARBADOS, 1965 half-het noun a bisexual US, 1995 half hour noun a short prison sentence. A little bravado in this prisoner's exaggeration UK, 2002 halfie noun a half-caste person AUSTRALIA, 1945 half-inch verb to steal; to arrest. Rhyming slang for PINCH (to steal or to arrest) UK, 1925 half-iron noun a heterosexual or bisexual man who associates with homosexuals. From 'iron' (a homosexual male) UK, 1950 half-jack; ha-ja; haffie noun a half-bottle (375 ml) of spirits SOUTH AFRICA, 1953 half-load noun fifteen packets of heroin US, 1973 half-man noun a kneeboarder, or a surfer who rides without standing US, 1991 half-mast adjective 1 (used of a penis) partially but not completely erect US, 1972. 2 partially lowered US, 1871 half of marge noun a police sergeant. Rhyming slang for SARGE, formed from a measure of margarine UK, 1998 half-ounce verb to cheat UK, 1960 half-ounce deal noun in prison, a trade that swaps a half ounce of tobacco for a single marijuana cigarette UK, 1996 half ounce of baccy noun a Pakistani, especially a Pakistani child. An elaboration (perhaps a reduction) of OUNCE OF BACCY (PAKI) UK, 1992 half ounce noun a physically intimidating individual employed to control the clients of any establishment, usually of a premises offering entertainment, e.g. pub, club, concert venue, music festival, etc.; a 'chucker-out'; door-security. Rhyming slang for BOUNCER, with a degree of irony UK, 1992 half past six adjective incompetent. A sexual reference, with the hands of the clock indicating impotence SINGAPORE, 2002 half past two noun a Jewish person. Rhyming slang UK, 1960 halfpenny dip; ha'penny dip; ha'penny noun 1 a sleep. Rhyming slang for KIP UK, 1980. 2 a ship. Rhyming slang UK, 1961 halfpenny stamp; ha'penny noun a tramp. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 half-pick duck noun an incomplete account TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1975 half-pie adjective half-hearted AUSTRALIA, 1941 half-pie adverb not fully AUSTRALIA, 1992 half piece noun 14g (½ oz) of a powdered drug, especially heroin US, 1938 half-pint noun a short person. From the non-metric measure of volume US, 1876 half-pipe noun a trough in a snow slope used for aerial manoeuvres in snowboarding US, 1993 half-power noun a worker working with a hangover US, 1980 half-rack noun in the US, half a case of beer (12 bottles or cans); in Canada, a six-pack of beer US, 1997 half-scooped; hauf-scooped adjective tipsy UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 half-seas-over adjective half-drunk UK, 1700 half-sheet noun a punishment, usually a fine, received by a prison warder. This generalised term derives from the half-sheet of blank paper that an officer is given to explain his conduct UK, 1950 half smart adjective stupid US, 1927 half-soaked adjective moderately competent UK, 2001 half stamp noun a tramp. Rhyming slang UK, 1984 half-step verb to make a half-hearted, insincere effort US, 1990 half-stepper noun a person who does things only halfway and cannot be counted on US, 1981 half tanked adjective mildly drunk AUSTRALIA, 1971 half track noun crack cocaine. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 half-wit noun a stupid fool UK, 1755 half your luck you're so lucky! Elliptical for 'I wish I had half your luck' AUSTRALIA, 1933 halibut head noun to the indigenous peoples of Alaska, a white person US, 1965 halter noun a necktie US, 1960 halvsies noun 1 half a share of something that is to be divided. Variants include 'halfsies' and 'halfies' US, 1927. 2 mutual oral sex performed simultaneously US, 1985 ham noun 1 an amateur shortwave radio operator and enthusiast US, 1919. 2 theatrical antics US, 1930. 3 in circus and carnival usage, food or a meal US, 1981. 4 any type of alcoholic drink US, 1997. 5 a member of the armed forces in complete dress uniform US, 1991. 6 overtime UK, 1970 ham verb 1 to over-act, to be an inferior actor US, 1930. 2 to walk US, 1962. ► ham it up to behave theatrically, to exaggerate US, 1955 ham actor; ham actress; ham noun an unsubtle actor US, 1881 ham and beef noun a chief prison warder. Rhyming slang UK, 1962 ham and egg; ham noun the leg. Rhyming slang UK, 1932 ham-and-egger noun 1 in professional wrestling, a wrestler whose regular role is to lose to help the careers of others. A slight variation on the boxing original US, 1999. 2 in oil drilling, an operator who has suffered loss after loss and is now burdened with poor credit US, 1954. 3 an inconsequential person who has achieved little US, 1985 ham and egging noun a general system or understanding that allows different members of a sports team to achieve best performances at complementary times US, 1997

ham and eggs cap noun ► see: SCRAMBLED EGGS CAP hambone noun 1 a male striptease act. A popular male display in the 1960s AUSTRALIA, 1964. 2 a trombone US, 1934. 3 a telephone. Rhyming slang UK, 1992. 4 a black prisoner US, 1989 hamburger noun a socially inept outcast. High school usage US, 1949 hamburger helper noun 1 crack cocaine. The drug bears some resemblance to a brand name food product US, 1994. 2 a linear amplifier for a citizens' band radio US, 1976

Hamburger Hill nickname Dong Ap Bia Mountain in South Vietnam, close to the Laos border. Taken at great cost by the US Marines in battle in May 1969, and then quietly abandoned a week later. Of marginal tactical importance and ultimately symbolic of the lack of military vision US, 1971 hamburger home noun a boarding house used by oil field workers US, 1954 hame; haim; haym noun a job, especially a menial or unpleasant one US, 1941 hamfat noun an amateur performer US, 1911 hamhock circuit noun a tour of black bars and nightclubs US, 1975

Hamilton noun a ten-dollar bill. From the engraving of Alexander Hamilton on the note US, 1948 hammed adjective drunk US, 1997 hammer noun 1 the penis US, 1967. 2 a handgun US, 1994. 3 heroin NEW ZEALAND, 1982. 4 an attractive girl or young woman US, 1970. 5 a pizza with ham topping US, 1996. 6 an accelerator pedal. Citizens' band radio slang, often as 'back off the hammer' (to slow down) and 'put the hammer down' (to accelerate) US, 1974. 7 in shuffleboard, the eighth and final shot US, 1967. 8 in bar dice games, the player who wins the chance to play first US, 1971. ► on your hammer 1 following close behind; tailing. From HAMMER AND NAIL AUSTRALIA, 1942. 2 badgering. From HAMMER AND TACK AUSTRALIA, 1955. ► put the hammer on to press someone for something IRELAND, 1984

hammer verb 1 to drive a vehicle at maximum speed AUSTRALIA, 1960. 2 to inflict a resounding defeat UK, 1948. 3 to beat up UK, 1973. 4 to stretch physical limits UK, 2002. ► get hammered 1 while surfing, to be knocked from your surfboard and violently thrashed by the surf US, 1988. 2 in mountain biking, to experience a violent accident US, 1992 hammer and discus noun facial hair, whiskers. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 hammer and nail; hammer verb to follow, to tail. Rhyming slang UK, 1961 hammer and tack noun the back. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1977 hammer and tongs adverb energetically, vigorously, strongly; violently. From the vigorous use a blacksmith makes of these tools UK, 1708 hammer-blown adjective drunk UK, 2002 hammered adjective drunk US, 1960 hammerhead noun one of several kinds of inferior horse US, 1941 hammerheading noun 1 an act of taking a recreational drug cocktail of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy, and Viagra™ (a branded drug that enables a male erection). From the after-effect of a throbbing headache UK, 2003 hammering noun a defeat, a significant defeat; a beating UK, 1900 hammer man noun a male of considerable sexual prowess. Related to the expression 'going at it hammer and tongs' to describe highly energetic sexual activity IRELAND, 1997 hammers noun the female thighs US, 1980 hammer-slammer noun an airframe technician. US Army usage US, 1998 hammer time noun a decisive point; the time to launch a military attack. Adapted from a catchphrase attached, in the late 1980s, to California rapper MC Hammer US, 2003 hammock noun a sanitary towel. Generally used by young males, often in the jocular formula: 'hammock for a bleeding lazy cunt' UK, 2003 hammock for two noun a brassiere US, 1963 hammock season noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. The image of a sanitary towel as a WEE HAMMOCK or 'mouse's hammock' SOUTH AFRICA, 2001

hammy adjective melodramatic, theatrical US, 1899 hammy; hammie noun a hamstring AUSTRALIA, 1986

ham patch noun a telephone connection enabled by shortwave radio ANTARCTICA, 1997

Hampden roar noun the state of affairs, the current situation. Rhyming slang for THE SCORE, formed from the name of Scotland's national stadium and the roar of a football crowd UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

Hampstead Heath; hampsteads; ampstids; hamps noun the teeth. Rhyming slang, from a rural area of north London UK, 1887

Hampton Court; hampton noun salt. Rhyming slang, formed on a historic Surrey location. Do not confuse it with Hampton Wick (the penis) UK, 1992

Hampton Wick; Hampton; Wick noun 1 a penis. Rhyming slang for PRICK (the penis), after a suburb of London. A polite euphemism in its reduced forms UK, 1960. 2 a fool. Rhyming slang for PRICK (general term of offence) UK, 1977 ham sandwich noun language. Glasgow rhyming slang; this is a convincing rhyme in the appropriate accent UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 ham shank noun 1 an American. Rhyming slang for YANK. Originally a World War 2 Merchant Navy coinage to describe American ships or men, subsequently adopted by the Americans UK, 1960. 2 a bank. Rhyming slang UK, 1994. 3 an act of masturbation. Rhyming slang for WANK UK, 2002 ham stealer noun a thief who steals to eat, rather than for profit US, 1976 hamster noun a discrete piece of computer code that does what it is supposed to do well US, 1991 hamster crab; crab noun a type of scratch (a manipulation of a record to create a musical effect). Derives from the crab-like movements of the DJ's fingers; 'hamster' is a reference to the hamster-switch UK, 2002 hamster-style noun a method of manipulating record turntables in which the priorities are reversed. DJ jargon; on a sound mixer the hamster switch is a crossfader reverse switch, so named for the 'BulletProof Scratch Hamsters' who are credited with its invention in the mid-1990s UK, 2002

Hancock verb to sign. A shortened version of JOHN HANCOCK. From his admirable signature on the Declaration of Independence US, 1967 hand noun five; in betting, odds of 5–1. From the TICK-TACK signal used by bookmakers UK, 1991. ► do it with one hand tied behind your back to do something very easily US, 1889. ► hand has no hair used for expressing a willingness to accept money in the present situation TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1982 hand verb ► hand it to to admit the superiority of someone or something US, 1914

HAND in text messaging, have a nice day UK, 2003 hand and a half noun in betting, odds of 11–2. In bookmaker slang HAND is 5–1, here the addition of a 'half' increases the odds to 5½–1 or 11–2 UK, 1991 hand and fist adjective drunk. Rhyming slang, always used in full, for PISSED UK, 1992

H and B adjective sexually aroused; hot and bothered US, 1968 handbag noun 1 an attractive male escort for a woman at a social engagement AUSTRALIA, 1967. 2 a male homosexual AUSTRALIA, 1992. 3 money. Also variant 'hambag' UK, 1984 handbag-positive adjective applied to a confused and disoriented patient, lying in a hospital bed, clutching their handbag or purse. A jocular medical condition UK, 2002 handbags noun a minor verbal or physical disagreement, especially on a sports pitch UK, 2003

Handbags nickname second battalion, Royal Green Jackets UK, 1995

handbags at dawn a minor verbal or physical disagreement UK, 2001 handbags at ten paces a conflict that, despite its potential for violent confrontation, comes to nothing more than posturing. The number of paces may vary UK, 1991 handball verb to insert your lubricated hand into your partner's rectum or vagina, providing sexual pleasure for both US, 1979

handballing noun the insertion of a hand and fist into a person's rectum or vagina for sexual gratification US, 1999 hand bomb verb to throw a just-caught salmon using both hands CANADA, 1989 handbook noun a bookmaker who operates on the street, without the benefit of a fixed office US, 1973 handbrake noun a wife or girlfriend, seen as preventing a man from having a good time AUSTRALIA, 1998

handbrakie noun a handbrake turn AUSTRALIA, 1996

H and C noun a mixture of heroin and cocaine. A play on 'hot and cold', shown on taps as H and C US, 1971 hand cannon noun a large pistol. Used for effect, quaintly old-fashioned US, 1929 handcuff noun an engagement or wedding ring US, 1926 handcuffed adjective married US, 1945 hand-doodle noun to masturbate US, 1968

H and E noun high explosives US, 1971

-handed suffix denotes the specific or general size of a gang when combined with a unit of measurement, e.g. two-, ten-, mob-handed UK, 1999 hand fuck verb to insert a lubricated fist into a partner's rectum or vagina, leading to sexual pleasure for both US, 1979 handful noun 1 a troublesome person who is difficult to control; something difficult to control UK, 1887. 2 a prison sentence of five years US, 1930. 3 in a restaurant or soda fountain, five US, 1967. 4 in racing, five. As high as you can count on one hand. To win by 'a couple of handfuls' is to win by ten lengths UK, 1937. 5 five pounds (£5) UK, 1961. 6 gambling odds of 5–1, especially among bookmakers UK, 1984. ► get a handful; have a handful to fondle a woman's breasts, buttocks or genitals UK, 1977 hand gallop noun an act of male masturbation US, 1971 hand grenaded adjective (used of a racing car engine) exploded and damaged US, 1980 handicap noun a sexually transmitted infection, especially gonorrhoea. Rhyming slang for CLAP UK, 1992 handicap chase; handicap noun a face, especially an ugly face. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 handie noun an act of manual masturbation. From HAND JOB AUSTRALIA, 1994 handies noun fondling of hands by lovers AUSTRALIA, 1915 handing out noun in prison, the act of separating an imprisoned mother from her baby (subject to disciplinary exceptions the parent and child may spend up to eighteen months in a mother and baby unit) UK, 1996 hand jig; hand gig noun masturbation US, 1962 hand jive noun 1 a rhythmic pattern of hand-movements performed to music as a substitute for more usual forms of dance; hence, obscure hand signals US, 1958. 2 an act of masturbating a male UK, 2003 hand job noun 1 manual stimulation of another's genitals US, 1937. 2 in trucking, cargo that must be hand-loaded US, 1971 hand-job verb to masturbate another person US, 1969 handle noun 1 a name, a nickname US, 1837. 2 a self-attributed identity used on citizens' band radio US, 1974. 3 a big nose US, 1750. 4 a glass of beer served in a 10-fluid-ounce glass with a handle AUSTRALIA, 1943. 5 a half-pint glass of beer NEW ZEALAND, 1994. 6 in horse racing, the total amount bet, either on a given race or an entire season US, 1951. ► get a handle on to gain a means of comprehending or controlling someone or something US, 1972 handle verb to stay in control. Hawaiian youth usage as an intransitive verb US, 1981. ► handle swollen goods (of a male) to masturbate. Punning a criminal activity: 'to handle stolen goods' UK, 2001 handler noun 1 a drug dealer who deals in large quantities to retail-level sellers US, 1953. 2 in drag racing, a driver US, 1968 handles noun in basketball, ball-handling skill US, 1997 handle-slammer noun a person who manipulates the handles of a slot machine that is in need of repair, forcing the machine to pay out regardless of the spin US, 1984 hand like a foot noun in card games, a very bad hand of cards. A pun that was previously used of poor handwriting. Currently in popular use at Internet sites devoted to poker UK, 1956 handmade noun 1 a large penis. An allusion to the belief that excessive masturbation will produce a larger-than-average penis US, 1967. 2 a hand-rolled cigarette US, 1988 hand mucker noun in gambling, a cheat who switches cards US, 1979 handout noun in prison, the act of giving a prisoner's property to a visitor for removal UK, 1996 hand over fist adverb very quickly, especially applied to making or losing money UK, 1888 hand queen noun a male homosexual who favours masturbating his partner US, 1964 hand-reared adjective endowed with a large penis. A reference to masturbation, presumably with the suggestion that such manipulation promotes growth UK, 1961 hand relief noun masturbation in the context of a hand massage – a sexual service offered in some massage parlours US, 1988 hand ride noun in horse racing, a race run without using a whip US, 1974 hand-rolled noun a marijuana cigarette. Mildly euphemistic, and thus mildly humorous US, 1978 hands noun ► put your hands up to confess, especially to admit to a crime. The universal gesture of surrender. The singular 'put your hand up' seems unlikely; it smacks of a schoolchild seeking attention UK, 1970 hands and feet noun meat. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 hands and heels adjective in horse racing, used for describing a ride in which the jockey did not use his whip AUSTRALIA, 1989 handshake noun 1 the synchronisation mechanism of two computers or two programs US, 1991. 2 to engage in mutual masturbation US, 1961 hand shandy; handy shandy noun an act of male masturbation UK, 1997 hand shoe noun a glove US, 1977 hands off cocks – feet in socks!; hands off your cocks and pull up your socks!; hands off cocks – on with socks!; hands off cocks, on socks! used for awakening sleeping men. Military usage UK, 1976 handsome! excellent, first-rate; used for registering approval UK, 1997 hand thing noun the act of masturbating a man. A variation of HAND-JOB US, 2001 hand-to-gland combat noun an act of masturbation, especially if conducted with vigour. A pun on 'hand-to-hand combat' AUSTRALIA, 1998 hand tools noun lockpicks, screwdrivers and other tools used by burglars US, 1982 hand to rouf noun in betting, odds of 5–4. A combination of HAND (five) and ROUF (four) UK, 1991 hand up verb to incriminate UK, 2002 handwave verb to oversimplify or give a cursory explanation of a complicated point US, 1981 handy noun among antique dealers, an antique small enough to conceal in the palm of the hand UK, 2003 handy adjective good at fighting UK, 1997

hane adjective disgusting. An abbreviation of HEINOUS US, 1993 hang noun 1 a little bit. Used as a euphemism for 'damn'; always in the negative UK, 1861. 2 used as a euphemism for 'hell' SOUTH AFRICA, 1960. 3 a person who regularly spends time in one place, or around people and places that are in some way associated US, 1996. 4 a job US, 1950. ► get the hang of something to learn how to do something US, 1847. ► give a hang; care a hang to care, to be concerned – usually in a negative context UK, 1861 hang verb 1 to turn, especially but not exclusively applied to driving a vehicle. Usually in the phrase 'hang a left/right' (to make a left/right turn) US, 1967. 2 to tolerate, to keep up with US, 1993. 3 used for registering annoyance, impatience, etc., as in 'hang the expense'. From the sense 'to execute by hanging' UK, 1392. 4 to idle US, 1941. 5 (used of a computer program) to wait in suspension for something that will not occur US, 1983. ► hang crepe in a hospital, to manage a patient's expectations by leading them to expect the very worst US, 1994. ► hang five to surf with five toes extended over the front edge of the board US, 1963. ► hang hard to suffer a hangover US, 1996. ► hang heels to surf with your heels extended backwards over the tail of the surfboard US, 1977. ► hang her alongside awhile before we heist her aboard (of an idea or plan) to urge someone to think about it before we do anything CANADA, 1992. ► hang it up 1 to insult US, 1989. 2 to stop talking; to shut up US, 1963. 3 to retire. Or 'hang them up' US, 1936. ► hang loose to do little and to do it without angst US, 1955. ► hang on the iron to put snow chains on a truck's tyres US, 1961. ► hang on the leg (used of a prisoner) to associate and curry favour with prison authorities US, 1992. ► hang on the wall (used of a groupie) to loiter at a rock and roll club in the hopes of making contact with a musician US, 1969. ► hang one on to punch AUSTRALIA, 1974. ► hang paper 1 to pass counterfeit money US, 1976. 2 to pass cheques with fraudulent intent UK, 1996. ► hang ten to surf with all the toes of both feet extended over the front of the board US, 1963. ► hang tight to stay put, to stay resolved US, 1947. ► hang up your jock to quit or retire US, 1983. ► hang your hat to live, to reside US, 1969. ► hang your own in circus and carnival usage, to brag. A metaphor derived from the image of the braggart hanging posters advertising himself US, 1981 hang about verb to loiter, to hesitate, to haunt UK, 1892 hang about! used for demanding a pause in an activity. Always imperative, sometimes used to indicate that the speaker has suddenly understood something UK, 1974 hangar noun in trucking, a garage US, 1976

hangar-flying noun a group conversation among combat pilots, reliving combat missions US, 1918 hang around verb to idle, to pass time aimlessly, to socialise US, 1830 hangar queen noun an aircraft that spends an inordinate amount of time being repaired US, 1943 hangashore; angishore noun a person who does not go out fishing and thus is regarded as lazy. Originally from the Irish word aindeiseoir (a wretch), this word was adapted by folk etymology to apply to the fishing culture of Atlantic Canada CANADA, 1988

hangcher noun a handkerchief TRISTAN DA CUNHA, 1963

hang-down noun the penis US, 2001 hanged up adjective drug-intoxicated US, 1949 hanger noun 1 a piece of paper currency that has not fallen all the way through the slot on a casino table where cash is dropped US, 1980; 2 in pool, a ball that is at rest right at the edge of a pocket US, 1937; 3 a handgun cartridge that fails to detonate immediately after being struck by the firing pin US, 1957; 4 a handbag with a strap US, 1950

Hanger Lane noun a nuisance, an annoyance, a frustration, an irritation. Rhyming slang for PAIN, formed from the name of a traffic-junction on London's North Circular road, probably coined by a driver in a jam UK, 1992 hang-gut noun a paunchy stomach BAHAMAS, 1982 hanging adjective 1 of inferior quality UK, 2002; 2 drunk; exhausted UK, 2002 hanging bacon noun the outer labia of the vagina UK, 2002 hanging Johnny noun the penis in a flaccid state US, 1980

Hanging Sam noun General Samuel T. Williams of the US Army. Williams fought Pancho Villa in Mexico, and then in World War 1, World War 2, Korea and Vietnam US, 1972

hang it!; hang it all! used for registering annoyance, irritation or despair UK, 1703 hangman noun a difficult person NEW ZEALAND, 2002

hangnail noun a slow-moving person, a dawdler, especially a slow driver. Rhyming slang for 'snail', from the characteristics of the creature UK, 1998 hang on verb 1 to wait; to wait while using a telephone. Often used in the imperative UK, 1959; 2 to make a criminal charge against US, 1957 hangout noun a place where people gather to socialise. At times a negative connotation US, 1892 hang out verb 1 to spend time with someone, usually a friend or friends US, 1867; 2 to monitor a citizen's band radio channel US, 1976

hangtime noun time spent waiting for something to happen US, 1991 hang tough! used for expressing support when departing US, 1990

hang up verb 1 when combined with an article symbolic of a trade, profession or sport, to retire from that field of endeavour. 'Hang up your fiddle', which carries the generalised sense of retiring, is first recorded in 1833; however the current wide use may well owe its generation to Western films, particularly the cliché of an aged or disabled gun-fighter hanging up his guns. Of modern variations 'Hang up (one's) tits' is recorded of a retiring female impersonator in 1984. In 2003 a brief search of contemporary sources reveals a hairdresser hanging up his scissors, a judge hanging up the wig and robe, a Malayan who has hung up his Kalashnikov, a chef who hangs up his toque and white jacket, and a war correspondent who has hung up her flak jacket; jockeys hang up their silks, boxers hang up their gloves, sumo wrestlers hang up their loincloths, etc UK, 1833; 2 in a prayer group, to pray last. If 'to pray first' is to DIAL, then it is only logical that 'to pray last' is 'to hang up' US, 1990. ► hang up a shingle to go into business for yourself US, 1997 hangup; hang-up noun 1 an emotional problem, neurosis or inhibition US, 1952; 2 in foot-propelled scootering, a seizing-up of a wheel during the performance of a trick UK, 2000 hanhich noun hashish. Probably a misspelling of 'hashish' UK, 2003 hank noun ► take your hank to masturbate US, 1967 hank book noun a pornographic book or magazine US, 1974

hank freak noun a person obsessed with masturbating US, 1967

Hank Marvin adjective very hungry. Rhyming slang for 'starving'; based on the name of popular guitarist Hank Marvin (b.1941) UK, 1998

hankty adjective suspicious US, 1966 hanky; hankie noun a handkerchief, a tissue (often qualified as a paper hankie). In the US a childish shortening virtually conventional in the UK UK, 1895

hanky code; hankie code noun a designation of a person's sexual preferences, signalled by the colour of the handkerchief and the pocket in which it is worn US, 1991

hanky pank noun a carnival game in which the customer is allowed to win small, inexpensive prizes US, 1985 hankypank adjective (used of a carnival game) inexpensive US, 1950 hanky-panky; hankie-pankie noun 1 trickery, mischief, especially of a sexual nature UK, 1841; 2 a boyfriend. Teen slang UK, 2003

Hannibal Lecter noun a ticket inspector. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a fictional serial killer who caught the popular imagination, created in 1981 by author Thomas Harris and portrayed on film in 1986 by Brian Cox, and, most famously, by Anthony Hopkins from 1992 UK, 1998

Hanoi Hannah noun a composite character on Radio Hanoi who broadcast during the Vietnam war with a target audience of US troops and a goal of lessening troop morale US, 1967

Hanoi Hilton nickname a North Vietnamese prisoner of war camp, formally known as the Hoa Lo Prison (1964–1973). The title of a 1987 film starring Michael Moriarty and Jeffrey Jones as US prisoners of war trying to survive in the camp US, 1970 hanyak noun a smokeable methamphetamine UK, 1998 hap noun 1 an event or activity. An abbreviation of 'happening'; usually found in questions such as 'What's the hap?' US, 1971; 2 a bite; a mouthful. Directly from Afrikaans SOUTH AFRICA, 1978 hapas capas noun a writ of habeas corpus US, 1950 ha'penny noun the female genitals. From the small value halfpenny coin UK, 1984 ► see: HALFPENNY DIP, HALFPENNY STAMP ha'porth noun a small or negligible measure of something (cost, potency, wit, etc). A colloquial contraction of 'halfpennyworth' that originally, surely, suggested greater value and less contempt UK, 1976 ha'p'orth; haporth; apeth noun a fool. A contraction of 'halfpennyworth' signifying something of little value; gently contemptuous and usually qualified as 'daft ha'porth', 'silly apeth', etc UK, 1974 happen verb to be successful US, 1949 happening noun 1 an unstructured event built around music, drugs and a strong sense of bonding US, 1959; 2 a party at which there is much drinking; a booze-up AUSTRALIA, 1971 happening adjective modern, fashionable, chic. In common with many words that define the times, 'happening' is now deeply unfashionable, surviving in irony and the vocabularies of those who were there when it was 'happening' US, 1977. ► it's all happening! used when more than one thing happens at the same time; used of a general state of excitement UK, 1976

happily adverb in computing, operating without awareness of an important fact US, 1991 happiness noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2002

happy noun a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 1996 happy adjective slightly drunk UK, 1770. ► are you happy in your work? asked, ironically, of someone engaged in dirty or dangerous work. Originally military, in the form 'are you happy in the Service?' UK, 1943

-happy suffix mentally unbalanced or obsessed in the manner denoted by earlier or current circumstances, or impending fate, as affixed. Originally military, from HAPPY (slightly drunk); thus 'bomby-happy' (nerves shattered by exposure to imminent death or mutilation), 'demob-happy' (obsessed by demobilisation, release from service) US, 1931 happy as a pig in shit adjective extremely happy UK, 1944 happy as Larry adjective extremely happy. Just exactly who the proverbially happy Larry was is one of those snippets of information lost in time AUSTRALIA, 1905 happy bag noun a holdall in which an armed robber carries the equipment of his trade UK, 2002 happy bunny noun a person who is very contented. Childish imagery, originally business jargon. A contented worker, or team member. Often with a negative sense: 'not a happy bunny' US, 1998 happy camper noun used as a humorous description of a contented person. Often said with sarcasm or used in the negative US, 1981 happy cigarette noun a marijuana cigarette US, 1982 happy-clappy adjective filled with spiritual joy, sometimes applied to Christians but rarely in the conventional Church UK, 1993 happy day noun a mixture of bottled strong ale and draught beer UK: SCOTLAND, 1996

happy days noun 1 a type of bet in an illegal numbers game lottery US, 1957. 2 breadfruit BARBADOS, 1965 happy drug noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003 happy dust noun cocaine, morphine or any powdered mind-altering drug. Imparts a sense of nostalgia, not unlike WACKY BACCY (marijuana). The term of choice for cocaine in George Gershwin's Porgy and Bess US, 1922 happy fag noun a marijuana cigarette UK, 2002

happy gas noun nitrous oxide, laughing gas AUSTRALIA, 1986

happy hacking used as a farewell US, 1981 happy happy joy joy used as a humorous, often sarcastic, celebratory remark. First heard in the Ren and Stimpy cartoon (1991–1995), and then popularised with a broader audience by Keith Olberman on ESPN US, 1997 happy herb noun marijuana UK, 1998 happy hour noun a period of time in the late afternoon when a bar serves free snacks and drinks at reduced prices US, 1959 happy hours noun flowers. Rhyming slang UK, 1960 happy little Vegemite noun a happy person, especially a child. From an advertising jingle for Vegemite™, a yeast-based spread popular in Australia AUSTRALIA, 1988 happy meal noun a mixture of chemical stimulants and depressants. A Happy Meal is more usually a product of McDonalds™ fast-food restaurants UK, 2001 happy pie noun the vagina US, 1974 happy pill noun 1 an amphetamine or other central nervous system stimulant UK, 1956. 2 a Prozac™ tablet UK, 2001. 3 a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003 happy powder noun cocaine UK, 1998 happy Sally noun strong, homemade whisky US, 1986 happy shop noun an off-licence (a liquor store) US, 1972 happy slap verb to physically assault a randomly chosen person and film the incident on a mobile phone UK, 2005

happy slapper noun a person who, as part of popular youth craze, violently attacks a randomly chosen individual while the incident is filmed by an accomplice UK, 2005

happy slapping noun an apparently motiveless violent attack on a randomly chosen innocent person while the incident is filmed by an accomplice; or such attacks collectively; or the teenage craze for such attacks UK, 2005

happy stick noun a marijuana cigarette enhanced with phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1999 happy trails noun cocaine. From the cowboy song known by those who came of age in the US in the 1950s and 60s US, 1993 happy trails used as a farewell. A catchphrase television sign-off sung on The Roy Rogers Show (NBC, 1951–57). Repeated with referential humour US, 1951 happy valley noun the cleft between the buttock cheeks US, 1970s

Happy Valley nickname the Vinh Thanh Valley, during the war a dangerous area northeast of An Khe, South Vietnam US, 1983

haps noun the latest; something that is popular. Often heard as 'the haps' US, 1961 harami noun a shrewd or cunning person; used as a term of abuse it may carry the same sense as 'bastard'. From Urdu haram (that which is sacred), hence Urdu harami (a rogue). There is anecdotal evidence that it has been in UK since the 1960s. Current in Pakistan and Indian street slang, as is the equivalent but more abusive Urdu term haramzada (a son of wickedness; a BASTARD) INDIA, 2003

harass verb to flirt TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

Harbour City nickname Sydney AUSTRALIA, 1964

harbour light; harbour adjective right. Rhyming slang UK, 1961 hard noun 1 an erection US, 1961. 2 hardcore sexual material US, 1977. 3 an addictive drug NEW ZEALAND, 1982. 4 coins US, 1950 hard adjective 1 of drinks, intoxicating, spiritous, 'strong' US, 1789. 2 (used of drugs) powerfully addictive US, 1955. 3 fine, excellent US, 1948. 4 muscular, toned US, 1990. 5 of rock music, serious, uncompromising, with a strong rhythmic force US, 1960s. 6 of rave music, relentlessly rhythmic UK, 1998. 7 of pornographic material, descriptive of anything that is more explicit than society finds generally acceptable. A flexible standard depending on where you are. US, 1969. 8 in craps, a point made with a matching pair. A bet on a 'hard' number means that the only combination that will win is a pair. Often used in the phrase 'the hard way' US, 1930. 9 (used of straightened hair) heavily greased US, 1970. 10 in blackjack, said of a hand without an ace or with an ace and a value of 12 or higher US, 1978. 11 (used of a theatre ticket) reserved for a specific seat US, 1973 hard adverb ► go hard to engage in gunfire US, 2003 hard ankle noun a working man, especially a trucker US, 1976 hard-arsed; hard-ass; hard-assed adjective uncompromising, unyielding, tough, stubborn UK, 1903 hard ask noun a difficult challenge NEW ZEALAND, 2000 hard-ass noun a strict, unforgiving, unrelenting person US, 1966 hard-ass verb 1 to endure a difficult situation US, 1967. 2 to treat harshly US, 1970 hard at it adjective very busy, especially when engaged on a particular task UK, 1749

hardback adjective old JAMAICA, 2000

hardball noun 1 competition or conflict with no holds barred US, 1972. 2 crack cocaine UK, 2003

hardballer noun a person who competes or pursues an interest with an intense focus and little thought as to the consequences US, 1984 hardbelly noun a teenage girl or young woman. Biker (motorcycle) usage US, 1988 hard bit noun a prison sentence that is especially difficult to serve. 1996 hard-boiled adjective callous, cynical, emotionally uninvolved, tough; describing the characteristics of macho tough guys in 'hard-boiled' pulp fiction. Figurative usage of the solid properties of hard-boiled eggs, or clothing vigorously boiled in starch; applied by Mark Twain (1835–1910) to refer to rigid rules of grammar (1886); in the early 1900s it applied to hard or stiff clothing; by 1918 it was being used to describe a person who stuck rigidly to the rules; from which the current sense evolved US, 1904

hardboot noun a person from Kentucky US, 1923 hard candy noun 1 heroin US, 1970. 2 a person who has been identified for revenge by a prison gang US, 1997 hard-case noun a hardened, tough person US, 1836 hard-case adjective eccentric, unconventional NEW ZEALAND, 1971 hard cat noun a well-dressed, popular male US, 1959 hard-charge verb in car racing, to drive aggressively US, 1965 hard chaw noun a thug IRELAND, 2003 hard cheddar noun bad luck UK, 1931 hard cheese noun bad luck. Often said in commiseration UK, 1876 hardcore noun 1 amyl nitrite. Perhaps from 'hardcore' as a grade of pornography because of the drug's reputation as a sexual relaxant UK, 1996. 2 a regular soldier of the North Vietnamese Army or the Viet Cong US, 1991 hardcore adjective 1 of pornography, graphic, explicit. The gradations between SOFTCORE and 'hardcore' vary over time and place; in general, the erect penis, penetration and ejaculation are the hallmarks of hardcore pornography US, 1970. 2 extreme US, 1997 hardcore adverb extremely US, 1997 hard cut adjective rough, tough, hard-living CANADA, 1962 hard-doer; hard doer noun a person who struggles valiantly against difficulties. Literally, a person who 'does it hard'. A term of approbation AUSTRALIA, 1910 hard dresser noun an aggressive, 'mannish' lesbian US, 1967 hard-earned noun money, especially that identified as earnings, 1975 hard-ears noun said of a stubborn person TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 har-de-har-har used as a vocalisation mocking laughter US, 1957 hardfist noun a violence-prone, tough person CANADA, 1955 hard graft noun hard work AUSTRALIA, 1873 hard-grafting adjective hard-working AUSTRALIA, 1972 hard guy noun a serious, violent criminal US, 1916 hard hat noun an elite, full-time Viet Cong soldier US, 1965 hard head noun a criminal who uses explosives to break into safes US, 1949 hard hit noun an act of defecation. Rhyming slang for SHIT, especially in the phrase 'go for a hard hit' UK, 1978

Hard John noun 1 an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) US, 1945. 2 a tough, uncompromising person US, 1961 hard knock adjective toughened by life. Having been through the SCHOOL OF HARD KNOCKS US, 1977 hard labour noun a neighbour. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 hard leg noun an experienced, cynical prostitute US, 1967 hard line noun crack cocaine UK, 1998 hard lines noun bad luck. Probably of nautical origins. Often said in commiseration UK, 1824 hard-look verb to stare at aggressively US, 1994 hard mack noun a brutish pimp who relies on force and the threat of force to control his prostitutes US, 1972 hard man noun 1 a professional thug; a person not afraid of violent action US, 1970. 2 an uncompromising politician or businessman UK, 1976 hard money noun cash US, 1972 hard-mouth verb to threaten or disparage TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1960 hard nail noun a hypodermic needle US, 1955 hard-nosed adjective stubborn, uncompromising US, 1927 hard nut noun a dangerous foe; a tough individual; a difficult challenge. Clipped from 'a hard nut to crack' US, 1884 hard nut to crack noun ▶ see: TOUGH NUT hard of hearing adjective undisciplined, disobedient TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1973 hard-on noun 1 the erect penis; an erection US, 1888. 2 a grudge US, 1931. 3 a stubborn, belligerent person US, 1968. 4 a prized possession; something to be desired. Derives from the sense as 'an erection', via the idea that inanimate objects can be SEXY (desirable) UK, 1999. 5 a desire for US, 1971 hard on adjective addicted to BAHAMAS, 1982 hard one noun in necrophile usage, a corpse that has stiffened with rigor mortis US, 1987 hard pimp noun a pimp who relies on violence and the threat of violence to control his prostitutes US, 1973 hard-pushed adjective in difficulties, especially financial UK, 1834 hard rice noun during the Vietnam war, weapons and ammunition US, 1985 hard rock noun crack cocaine. An elaboration of ROCK UK, 1998 hardshell Baptist noun a member of the Primitive Baptist Church, or any other rigidly orthodox Baptist US, 1838 hard shells noun powerfully addictive drugs, such as heroin, morphine and cocaine US, 1960 hard, soft and wet denotes all that is necessary to operate a computer UK, 1998 hard sports noun sadomasochistic sex-play involving defecation, especially when it is offered as a service in a prostitute's advertising UK, 2003 hard spot noun an ambush using tanks or other armour as part of the ambush US, 1991 hard stuff noun 1 alcoholic drink other than beer or wine AUSTRALIA, 1832. 2 addictive drugs such as heroin or cocaine US, 1950. 3 coins US, 1788 hardtail noun a motorcycle with no rear shock absorbers US, 1992 hard time noun a long prison sentence, whether in absolute terms or relative to the crime or relative to the prisoner's ability to survive US, 1927 hard-timer noun a prisoner serving a long sentence US, 1986 hard up adjective 1 in want of money, impoverished UK, 1818. 2 in need of something specified UK, 1840 hardware noun 1 weapons, usually guns US, 1865. 2 ostentatious jewellery US, 1939. 3 silverware US, 1962. 4 any medal or trophy awarded in a competition US, 1921 hardware shop noun a homosexual male brothel UK, 1987 hardware store noun a poker game in which players generally bet based on the value of their hands and do not bluff. An allusion to the True Value chain of hardware stores in the US US, 1996 hard word noun ▶ put the hard word on someone 1 to ask someone for sexual intercourse AUSTRALIA, 1936. 2 to make a fervent request of someone AUSTRALIA, 1918 hard yakka; hard yacker noun hard work AUSTRALIA, 1888 hard yard noun a difficult challenge NEW ZEALAND, 2000 hard yards noun exacting work. Originally a sporting metaphor AUSTRALIA, 2001

hare and hound noun a round of drinks. Rhyming slang; a variation of FOX AND HOUND UK, 1992 hare-and-hound race noun a long motorcycle race in the desert US, 1965 haricot bean; haricot noun a male homosexual. Rhyming slang for QUEEN AUSTRALIA, 1971

Harlem credit card noun a siphon used for stealing petrol from parked cars US, 1979

Harlem handshake noun a series of hand-to-hand manoeuvres that combine into an idiosyncratic handshake. Harlem, New York, is a centre of the black community and figuratively used to emphasise stereotypical and negative black characteristics US, 2000

Harlem heater noun any improvised source of heat, such as leaving an oven door open to heat the room. New York police slang US, 1997

Harlem sunset noun the blood-red line on freshly razor-slashed skin. Harlem New York, is a centre of the black community and figuratively used to emphasise negative black characteristics; here, combined with an allusion to 'blood red sunsets', the suggestion is that only black people get into razor fights US, 1940

Harlem taxi noun a large, luxury car painted in an extravagant colour US, 1962

Harlem tennis noun the game of craps US, 1983

Harlem toothpick noun a pocket knife; a switchblade US, 1944

Harley wrench noun a hammer. Humorous biker (motorcycle) usage, suggesting a low degree of sophistication among motorcycle mechanics US, 2003 harmonic noun Indian tonic water. Rhyming slang UK, 1984 harm reducer noun marijuana. A reference to the claim that smoking tobacco mixed with marijuana will cause less harm than unadulterated tobacco UK, 2001 harness noun 1 reinforcement on the outside of a safe US, 1949. 2 a uniform US, 1853. 3 the leather clothing worn by some motorcycle riders and embraced as a fashion statement by others US, 1993 harness adjective uniformed US, 1903 harness rack noun an old horse CANADA, 1987

Harold Lloyd; harold noun celluloid (as a housebreaking tool, used for forcing locks). Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the legendary silent film comedian, 1893–1971 UK, 1959

Harold Macmillan; 'arold noun a villain. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a British prime minister (1957–63) and statesman, 1894–1986 UK, 1992

Harold Pinter; 'arold noun a splinter. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a playwright (b.1930) UK, 1992 harolds noun knickers. Probably rhyming slang, from HARRY TAGGS, shortened to Harry, thus Harold AUSTRALIA, 1971 harp noun 1 a harmonica US, 1887. 2 an Irish-American or an Irish person US, 1898 harpic adjective mad, crazy, eccentric. A play on ROUND THE BEND (mad) and branded toilet cleaner Harpic's advertising slogan 'cleans round the bend'. It is interesting to note that a cocktail of blue curacao, kahlua, vodka and lemonade is named Harpic – probably not just for the colour. Also used as a nickname UK, 1961 harpist noun a harmonica player. From HARP (a harmonica) UK, 1993

harpoon noun a needle used to inject drugs intravenously, especially a hollow needle used in an improvised contraption US, 1938

Harris tweed noun amphetamine. Rhyming slang for SPEED UK, 1983

Harry noun heroin. Giving an personal identity and disguise to H (heroin) US, 1954

Harry-big-button noun any cheap electrical appliance characterised by unfashionable design, especially large control knobs UK, 2002

harry-carry noun suicide. From Japanese hara-kiri (ritual suicide by disembowelment) UK, 1996

Harry Freemans noun anything that is free. Royal Navy, from obsolete 'drink at freeman's quay' (to drink at another's expense) UK, 1962

Harry Hill noun a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Rhyming slang for 'pill'; based on the name of UK comedian Harry Hill (b.1964) UK, 2001

Harry Hoof noun a male homosexual. Glasgow rhyming slang for POOF UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

Harry Huggins noun a fool, an idiot, often with an implication that the fool is a victim (and a fool to be so). Rhyming slang for MUGGINS (an idiot) UK, 1992

Harry James noun the nose. A pun on 'trumpet', connected to band leader and trumpet player Harry James (1916–83) UK, 1958

Harry Lauder noun a prison warder. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the Scottish comedian and singer, Sir Harry Lauder, 1870–1950 UK, 1961

Harry Lime noun time. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the character played by Orson Welles in the 1950 film The Third Man UK, 1972

Harry Monk; harry noun semen. Rhyming slang for SPUNK; generally reduced UK, 1992

Harry Selby noun used in a theatre programme as a fictitious name for an actor. Less common than GEORGE SPELVIN, but serving the same purpose US, 1973

Harry Tagg noun bag. Rhyming slang; theatrical. Current in 1960 UK, 1960

Harry Taggs; harolds noun trousers. Rhyming slang for 'bags' (trousers) UK, 1992

Harry Tate noun 1 eight pounds (£8). Rhyming slang, formed from the stage name of musical hall performer Ronald Hutchinson, 1872–1940 UK, 1992. 2 a plate. Rhyming slang UK, 1992. 3 a first officer in the Merchant Navy. Rhyming slang for 'mate' UK, 1961. 4 a confusion; an attack of nerves; an emotional state. Rhyming slang for 'state' UK, 1932

Harry Tate adjective late. Rhyming slang, formed from the stage name of musical hall performer Ronald Hutchinson, 1872–1940 UK, 1960

Harry Tates noun branded cigarettes, Player's 'Weights'. Rhyming slang UK, 1974

Harry Wragg; Harry Rag; harry noun a cigarette. Rhyming slang for FAG (a cigarette), formed on the name of jockey Harry Wragg, 1902–85 UK, 1960

Harry X-ers with Harry preceding and -ers suffixed, a personified variation of an adjective or adverb. Mainly nautical, in applications such as 'Harry Nuders' (naked) UK, 1925 harsh noun marijuana, hashish. Probably a play on the pronunciation of HASH (hashish) but may well refer to the quality UK, 2003 harsh verb to criticise or disparage US, 1988. ► harsh a mellow to ruin a calm situation US, 1997 harsh adjective 1 disagreeable, forbidding, severe. Conventional English rendered slang by the young US, 1984. 2 in motor racing, bumpy and rough US, 1980

Hart, Schaffner and Marx noun in poker, three jacks. An allusion to a men's clothing manufacturer US, 1988 harum-scarum adjective reckless, careless UK, 1751

harum-scarum adverb recklessly, wildly UK, 1691 harvest moon; harvest noun a black person. Rhyming slang for COON UK, 1992

Harvey Nichol noun a predicament. Rhyming slang for PICKLE, formed from the name of London department store Harvey Nichols UK, 1932

Harvey Nichols noun pickles, savoury condiments. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a London department store UK, 1960

Harvey Nicks; Harvey Nic's nickname Harvey Nichols, a fashionable department store UK, 1991

Harvey Smith noun a v-sign as an insulting gesture. Following an incident on 15th August 1971 when show-jumper Harvey Smith used the gesture at the British Jumping Derby and as a result was disqualified (a decision subsequently overturned); his spontaneous action swiftly became part of UK folklore UK, 1979

Harvey Wallbanger noun any unsafe, reckless and/or drunk driver US, 1976 has noun hashish. An abbreviated variation of HASH UK, 1998 has-been noun a person whose best days and greatest achievements are in the past UK, 1606 has beens noun green vegetables, especially cabbage. Rhyming slang for GREENS UK, 1984

hasbian noun a former lesbian; a woman who took lesbian lovers in college, but who reverted to heterosexuality after graduation from college US, 1995 hash noun 1 hashish (cannabis resin or pollen). Variant spellings include 'hashi', 'hashis' and 'haschi'. Derived from the Arabic word for 'herb' or 'grass', as though it were the herb 'par excellence' (Sadie Plant, 'Writing On Drugs', 1999) US, 1948. 2 a number sign (#) on a computer keyboard US, 1991. ► make a hash to spoil, to make a mess of something UK, 1833 hash verb to serve alcoholic drink that is not the brand claimed US, 1979 hash and trash noun background noise during a citizens' band radio transmission US, 1976

Hashbury nickname the Haight-Ashbury neighbourhood of San Francisco. A blending of the two street names and an allusion to the drug-using propensities of the area's residents US, 1967 hashcake noun a confection that has marijuana or hashish as a major ingredient UK, 2000 hash cannon noun a device for smoking marijuana or hashish, used to force smoke deep into the lungs US, 1970

hasher noun a waitress in an inexpensive restaurant US, 1908 hash house noun a restaurant that serves inexpensive, simply prepared food, catering to working men US, 1868 hash joint noun a hash house US, 1895 hash out verb to discuss until an issue is resolved US, 1995 hashover noun a general feeling of lethargy or malaise following marijuana use. A play on 'hangover' and HASH (marijuana) UK, 1996 hash-puppy noun a dog trained to sniff-out marijuana. A play on Hush Puppies™, US branded footwear, introduced in 1958 AUSTRALIA, 1970 hash-slinger noun a waitress or cook US, 1868 hassle noun a problem, trouble, harassment US, 1946 hassle verb 1 to harass, annoy US, 1959. 2 to engage in mock plane-to-plane aerial combat US, 1979 hasta la bye-bye goodbye. Intentionally butchered Spanish US, 1990 hasta la vista, baby! see you later! Popularised by Tone Loc in his 1989 rap hit 'Wild Thing' US, 1990 hasta lumbago used as a humorous farewell. An intentional corruption of the Spanish hasta luego (until later) US, 1977 hat noun 1 in drag racing, a crash helmet US, 1968. 2 a condom US, 1992. 3 a woman US, 1963. 4 on the railways, an incompetent worker US, 1977. 5 a US Marines drill instructor US, 1991. 6 twenty-five dollars US, 1973. 7 anything bought with a bribe, used as code for a bribe US, 1973. 8 the up-arrow or caret key (^) on a computer keyboard US, 1991. 9 a dose of LSD US, 1994. 10 in pinball, a piece of plastic that indicates a value when lit. Conventionally known as a 'playfield insert' US, 1977. ► get hat to leave US, 1966. ► in the hat marked for murder by a prison gang US, 2003. ► throw your hat in first to test out a situation before taking part AUSTRALIA, 1953. ► wear more than one hat; wear several hats to simultaneously hold more than one post, or position of responsibility US, 1924 hat and coat noun a boat, especially a refrigerated cargo ship. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 hat and feather; hatton noun weather. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 hat and scarf noun a bath. Rhyming slang, with Cockney pronunciation. UK, 1992 hatch noun 1 the vagina US, 1967. 2 the mouth US, 1968 hatch verb ► hatch it to forget about something US, 1968 hatchery noun a psychiatric ward or mental institution US, 1994 hatchet job noun an unwarranted and harshly critical attack on someone's or something's reputation UK, 1944 hatchet man noun 1 a person who is called upon to perform distasteful tasks. From the literal image of a paid assassin armed with a hatchet; sometimes abbreviated to a simple 'hatchet' US, 1937. 2 a physically aggressive athlete, especially one who is tasked with roughing up an opponent US, 1971 hatchintan noun a gypsy site. English gypsy use, from Romany hatsh (stop, rest) UK, 2000

hatch, match and dispatch verb (of a local preacher) to carry a person through life's big events CANADA, 1992

hatch, match and dispatch; hatches, matches, dispatches; hatched, matched, dispatched noun newspaper announcements of births, marriages and deaths. A neat summation of life, originally applied by journalists to such newspaper columns; later recognised by church authorities as the times when most people are prepared to be part of a service or congregation UK, 1937 hate verb used in the phrase 'hate to say' as a substitute for 'have' US, 2003. ► hate someone's guts to hate someone intensely UK, 1918 hated adjective 1 bad, unpleasant US, 1989. 2 (used of a girl) beautiful beyond imagination. Usually as 'hated BETTY' US, 1988 hater noun a jealous or envious person US, 2001 hater juice noun derogatory speech US, 2003 hating life adjective depressed US, 1989 hatless tap dance noun (among Canadian Forces personnel) the march into the Commanding Officer's office to face a charge CANADA, 1995 hat out; hat up verb to leave US, 1970

hats noun LSD UK, 1998

hats off congratulations. An imperative variation of 'take your hat off to'; when hats were everyday wear the action would echo the words or make their use unnecessary UK, 1929 hatstand adjective mad, crazy. From the cartoon character 'Roger Irrelevant: he's completely hatstand' in the comic Viz UK, 2003 hatter noun 1 a solitary worker in a rural or remote area, especially one who suffers from social phobia. Originally applied to miners who worked their claims without a partner. Possibly from the phrase 'your hat covers your family' (you are alone in the world), though no doubt the concept of the 'mad hatter' must have had an influence. Now only historical AUSTRALIA, 1853. 2 a homosexual man. From BROWN-HATTER (a gay man) UK, 1984

Hattie Jacques; Hatties noun delirium tremens, the shakes. Rhyming slang, based on the name of actress and comedienne Hattie Jacques (1924–80) UK, 2002 hat trick noun three consecutive successes, usually in a sporting context; three linked events. Originally and conventionally a cricketing term, recorded to mark the bowling of three wickets with consecutive balls; achieving this phenomenal feat entitled the sportsman to a new hat from his club, hence 'hat-trick'. Subsequently adopted by other sports for lesser feats of three, such as three goals scored in a football match (which may well not be rewarded with a hat) UK, 1909 hatty adjective used to describe the qualities of an elaborate hat UK, 1959 hat up! used for urging departure US, 1971 haul noun the proceeds of a crime or business operation US, 1950 haul verb ► haul ass to go swiftly US, 1918. ► haul butt to move quickly US, 1968. ► haul coal (used of a white person) to have sex with a black person US, 1972. ► haul someone over the coals to give a stern reprimand to someone UK, 1795. ► haul the mail 1 in trucking, to drive faster to make up for lost time US, 1971. 2 in hot rodding and drag racing, to perform at the highest potential US, 1993 hauler noun 1 in the usage of youthful model road racers (slot car racers), a fast model road car US, 1997. 2 a very fast drag racing car US, 1960s to 70s haurangi adjective drunk NEW ZEALAND, 1960 have verb 1 to have sex with someone UK, 1594. 2 to believe something, to accept UK, 2001. 3 to outwit, to cheat, to deceive UK, 1805. ► have a no I don't have. Korean war usage from Japanese pidgin; a supply officer's perfect answer to a requisition for supplies not in stock US, 1951. ► have a pop at to attack, especially verbally. A variation of 'have a pop at' (to try) adopting a different sense of 'pop' (to hit) UK, 2001. ► have got 'em; have got 'em bad to have the delirium tremens, to have a fit of nerves or depression or 'the blues' UK, 1893. ► have got it bad; have got it badly to have fallen in love or to be infatuated UK, 1911. ► have had it 1 to be faced with an unavoidable prospect of defeat or ruin; to be defeated, to be ruined; to be dead or to have been killed UK, 1941. 2 to have had more than enough of something; to be sick and tired of something UK, 1984. ► have had it up to here to have had more than enough of; to be sick and tired of. An elaboration of HAVE HAD IT; here accompanied with a gesture that indicates the neck or the top of the head UK, 1984. ► have it to fight UK, 1999. ► have it away 1 to escape from imprisonment or arrest; to get away UK, 1958. 2 to steal UK, 1984. ► have it in for to bear a grudge against; to wish to harm UK, 1840s. ► have it made; have got it made to be on the point of succeeding; to be faced with no (more) obstacles; to have it easy US, 1955. ► have it off 1 to have sex UK, 1937. 2 to succeed in a criminal enterprise UK, 1936. ► have it on your dancers to escape; to run away. An elaboration of HAVE IT ON YOUR TOES. UK, 1984. ► have it on your toes; have it away on your toes to escape; to run away UK, 1958. ► have legs of an idea, to have the ability to progress. Media jargon that has seeped into wider usage UK, 1999. ► have one in the departure lounge to feel the urgent need to defecate UK, 2002. ► have yourself to indulge yourself or provide yourself with something US, 1929

have-a-go adjective describes a person who bravely attempts to prevent a crime; intrepid UK, 1971 have a good one goodbye. Slightly cooler than urging someone to 'have a good day' US, 1984 have an apple! get lost, forget it, calm down CANADA, 1959 have been! I'll see you later! Youth usage US, 1949 have off verb 1 to steal from UK, 1994. 2 to use without respect. A variation of the previous sense UK, 1999. 3 to defeat, to overthrow, to supplant UK, 2001 have on verb to take up a challenge; to accept an invitation to fight or compete AUSTRALIA, 1941 have you been? have you used the lavatory? Euphemistic UK, 1969 have you ever wanted a bindi? used with humour to accompany a threatened knuckle blow to a companion's forehead. A catchphrase that offers a red mark in the centre of the forehead UK, 2003

Hawaiian noun 1 very potent marijuana cultivated in Hawaii US, 2001. 2 a marijuana cigarette UK, 2003

Hawaiian black noun a dark leafed marijuana from Hawaii, 2003

Hawaiian disease noun sexual abstinence due to an absence of women. An allusion to the mythical illness 'lakanuki' (lack of sex) US, 1987

Hawaiian head noun a strain of marijuana, known elsewhere as New Zealand green, Thai Buddha or Tasmanian tiger US, 2002

Hawaiian homegrown hay noun marijuana grown in Hawaii UK, 2003

Hawaiian number noun any elaborate production number in a show or movie US, 1973

Hawaiian sunshine noun LSD US, 1982

haw-eater noun an Ontarian from Manitoulin Island CANADA, 1998

hawg noun a large motorcycle, especially a Harley-Davidson US, 1984 hawk noun 1 LSD. May be used with 'the' US, 1966. 2 a lookout US, 1956. 3 any cold night wind, especially a strong wind that blows off Lake Michigan across Chicago, Illinois. Often with 'the' US, 1946

Hawk nickname Coleman Hawkins, a leading jazz saxophonist of the 1920s and 1930s US, 1949 hawk verb 1 to expectorate sputum US, 1989. 2 to watch closely, to check out US, 1886. 3 to make an aggressive romantic approach US, 1993. ► hawk the fork (of a woman) to work as a prostitute AUSTRALIA, 1978. ► hawk your mutton to work as a prostitute UK, 1937

hawker noun expectorated sputum US, 1974

Hawkesbury Rivers noun the shivers. From the name of a river in New South Wales AUSTRALIA, 1941 hawk-eye verb to watch closely US, 1979 hawkins noun cold weather. An embellishment and personification of HAWK US, 1934 hawkshaw noun a detective. From the name of a detective in the 1863 play The Ticket of Leave Man by Tom Taylor, and later and more relevantly from the comic strip Hawkshaw the Detective, drawn by Gus Mager (1913–22, 1931–48). In UK West Indian use US, 1888

hawkshaw verb to snoop, to inquire US, 1946 haw maws noun the testicles. Glasgow rhyming slang for BAWS (BALLS), from a cry to attract your mother's attention UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 hay noun 1 a bed, either in the context of sleep or of sex US, 1903.

2 marijuana. A play on GRASS US, 1934. 3 money AUSTRALIA, 1939 hayburner noun a horse, especially a poor-performing racehorse US, 1904 hay butt noun a marijuana cigarette US, 1942 hayed up adjective marijuana-intoxicated US, 1952

hay head noun a marijuana user US, 1942 haymaker noun 1 a powerful fist blow to the head US, 1902. 2 in cricket, a batsman's powerful but reckless shot UK, 1954 haymaking verb in cricket, powerful but reckless batting UK, 1986 hayo noun cocaine. From a Caribbean name for the coca plant US, 1984 hayron noun heroin. Possibly a deliberately perverse pronunciation. UK, 2003 hayseed noun a rustic or country yokel. Strongly suggests a high degree of unsophistication US, 1851 hay shaker noun a farmer US, 1924 haystack noun the back, the rear. Rhyming slang. 'Going round the haystack' is noted as a possible euphemism for paying a visit to a toilet UK, 1960 hay wagon noun a brakevan (caboose) US, 1977 haywire adjective out of control; crazy; in wild disorder; chaotic. The image of wire on a bale of hay that flails wildly when cut US, 1920 haze noun 1 LSD. A shortened form of PURPLE HAZE US, 1994. 2 a variety of marijuana, 2002 haze verb to bully, insult and ridicule a homosexual. A specialised nuance of the conventional sense (to punish, to bully) UK, 1977

hazed adjective drug-intoxicated US, 2001

Hazel noun heroin. Abbreviated WITCH HAZEL (heroin), and subsequently disguised as 'Aunt Hazel' US, 1949

haz-mat noun hazardous material US, 1983

HBI noun house breaking implements. Initialism UK, 1950

H bomb noun heroin mixed with MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Extended from H (heroin), playing on the devastating power of a nuclear weapon UK, 2002

H cap noun a capsule of heroin US, 1990

he; him noun the penis. A derivation immemorial UK, 1970 head noun 1 a member of the counterculture, usually involving drugs US, 1966. 2 a habitual user of drugs. In the Vietnam war, the term differentiated between a person who smoked marijuana and a JUICER who abused alcohol US, 1953. 3 a state of drug intoxication US, 1952. 4 enough marijuana to fashion a single cigarette UK, 1996. 5 a fan of hip-hop music US, 2003. 6 a respected graffiti artist US, 1997. 7 a familiarising term used to address both sexes, but more generally male. Head can also be used to designate certain groups, for example, a 'D4 [Dublin 4] head' is a post southside person, not necessarily living in the D4 postcode IRELAND, 1997. 8 oral sex US, 1941. 9 the penis TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. 10 a talking head. With this shortened form, a good expert guest on a television or radio show becomes 'good head' US, 2001. 11 deception TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1993. 12 a crime victim US, 1946. 13 a toilet US, 1942. 14 music played without a musical score US, 1946. 15 a railway worker US, 1990. ► bite someone's head off; snap someone's head off to attack verbally, especially as a disproportionate response UK, 1984. ► do it standing on your head; do on your head to achieve with ease UK, 1896. ► do your head in to emotionally overload, confuse and make stressed UK, 1982. ► get your head down; get your head down to it to plead guilty. From bending the head in unspoken affirmative AUSTRALIA, 1975. ► give head to perform oral sex US, 1956. ► have a head like a sieve to be very forgetful, 1984. ► have your head screwed; have your head screwed on right; have your head screwed on the right way to be shrewd and businesslike, to have a practical intelligence UK, 1821. ► have your head up your ass stupid, unaware, uninformed US, 1944. ► need to have your head read to have ridiculous ideas. That is 'you need to see a psychiatrist' AUSTRALIA, 1938. ► off your head in a state of mental confusion; drug-intoxicated. The latter meaning dates from the 1960s and the distinction between the two senses may be blurred UK, 1999. ► on your head in motor racing, flipped (of a race car) US, 1980. ► out of your head in a state of drug or drink intoxication. When combined with a mental or emotional state, the sense varies: 'with grief', 'with worry', etc UK, 1996. ► pull your head in to mind one's own business AUSTRALIA, 1944. ► put the head on; stick the head on to head-butt an opponent's face UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. ► you need your head examined; you want your head examining a catchphrase addressed to someone who has said or done something stupid. Originally 'you want your head read' but it adapted as fashion and technique moved from phenology to psychiatry US, 1942. ► you'd forget your head if it wasn't screwed on a catchphrase addressed to (or, in the third person, of) an absent-minded person. Variations are mainly concerned with the method of fixing: 'if it wasn't attached', '...tied on', '...stuck on', '...jammed on', etc UK, 1979 head verb 1 to leave US, 2003. 2 to carry (something) on your head BARBADOS, 1965

-head suffix a habitual user of the indicated substance; hence an enthusiast, a fan US, 1953 headache noun 1 your spouse US, 1933. 2 a journalist. Gulf war usage US, 1991 headache! used as a warning in various industries that an object has been accidentally dropped from a height and that those working below should immediately take care US, 1944 headache bar noun a steel bar welded onto a bulldozer or other piece of heavy equipment to protect the operator from branches or other sources of potential head injury US, 1990 headache Mary noun low grade marijuana US, 1979 headache rack noun the grill at the rear of a truck cab designed to protect the driver and any passengers from injury if the load should shift forward due to a sudden stop US, 1969 headache stick noun a police nightstick US, 1919 head-and-a-half noun an intellectual person AUSTRALIA, 1987 head artist noun a person skilled at giving oral sex US, 1979 headbang noun a meeting intended to generate creative and innovative solutions. Office jargon UK, 2005 head-bang verb to jerk your head up and down to add to the enjoyment of fast music. Collected from fans of heavy metal music by Seamus O'Reilly, January 1995 US, 1995 headbanger noun 1 a violent psychotic UK, 1983. 2 a devotee of heavy metal music US, 1979. 3 a prisoner who bangs his head against walls, doors, etc UK, 1996

headbin noun a crazy, unstable person IRELAND, 2001 head case noun an emotionally troubled or mentally disturbed person UK, 1966 head cheese noun prepuce smegma in a male US, 1941 head chick noun the dominant and favoured prostitute among a group of prostitutes working for a pimp US, 1957 head cook and bottle-washer noun a person who does all the work. Humorous. Originally 'bottle-washer' carried the same meaning with or without the head cook's help. The British adaptation of the earlier US CHIEF COOK and BOTTLE WASHER UK, 1876 head cunt noun the mouth (as an object of sexual penetration) US, 1996 head dab noun in mountain biking, a face-first fall US, 1992 head down and arse up working busily AUSTRALIA, 1945

head drugs noun amphetamines UK, 1998 head 'em verb 1 to take part in the gambling game two-up AUSTRALIA, 1902. 2 in the game two-up, to throw a pair of heads AUSTRALIA, 1925 header noun 1 a head-first dive UK, 1849. 2 oral sex. An embellishment of the more common HEAD US, 1976. 3 in hot rodding, a type of exhaust manifold that improves engine performance US, 1948 head faggot noun a male homosexual with an appetite for performing oral sex US, 1996 head-faking adjective stimulating, exciting UK, 1983 headfit noun an uncontrolled outburst of temper UK, 2000 head fuck noun 1 a state of mental confusion UK, 1996. 2 something that deliberately confuses or misleads UK, 2002 headfuck adjective confusing, misleading, especially when deliberately so UK, 2001 head game noun a psychological ploy US, 1979 head gasket noun a condom. Conventionally, 'a mechanical seal', with a further pun on HEAD (an act of oral sex) US, 1964 head gee noun a prison warden US, 1976 head-hunt verb in boxing, to try to hit the opponent in the head US, 1960 headhunter noun 1 a person who recruits others for specific jobs with specific firms, especially professionals and executives US, 1960. 2 a psychiatrist US, 1972. 3 an oral sex enthusiast US, 1961. 4 a homosexual male US, 1990. 5 a police officer assigned to investigate complaints of misconduct by other police US, 1965. 6 a paid killer US, 1982. 7 a female who trades sex for money or drugs US, 1995 head job noun an act of oral sex US, 1963 head-job verb to shoot in the head UK, 1993 head jockey noun a practitioner of oral sex on a woman US, 1971 headless chicken noun used as the object of comparison for something or someone acting without rhyme or reason AUSTRALIA, 1957 highlights noun 1 the female breasts US, 1970. 2 the female nipples when obviously erect although masked by clothing. A more narrowly focused meaning from the previous sense CANADA, 2003. 3 large jewels, especially diamonds US, 1899. 4 LSD US, 1994 head like an unplayable lie noun an ugly person AUSTRALIA, 1995 head like a robber's dog noun an unattractive person AUSTRALIA, 1971 head motherfucker in charge noun the leader of an enterprise US, 2002 head nigger in charge noun the leader of an enterprise US, 1978 head on adverb in gambling games such as twenty-one, playing directly against the dealer without other players US, 1963 head over heels adjective deeply, completely (especially in descriptions of love). By ellipsis from the cliché 'fall head over heels in love' UK, 2003 head over turkey adverb upside down; head over heels AUSTRALIA, 1915 head phones noun a stethoscope US, 1982 head plant noun to fall face first while snowboarding US, 1993 headquarters puke noun a member of the military assigned to the rear echelon staff. Gulf war usage US, 1992 head rag noun a bandana or piece of cloth worn with straightened or processed hair US, 1973 heads and heels noun a youthful, sexually inexperienced male who is the object of an older homosexual's desire. The suggestion is that you have to lift the inexperienced boy by his head and heels to get him into position for sex US, 1979 heads down adjective in computing, so focused on a task as to be ignorant of all else US, 1991 head serang; head sherang noun the person in charge. From Anglo-Indian serang (a captain of a native Indian vessel), from Persian AUSTRALIA, 1918 head shed noun a military headquarters. Vietnam war usage US, 1963 head shop noun a shop that retails drug paraphernalia, incense, posters, lights, and other products and services associated with drug use US, 1967 headshrinker noun a psychiatrist or other therapist US, 1950 head shrinking noun the practice of psychiatry US, 1964 heads I win, tails you lose however a situation is resolved I cannot lose. Mocking the principle that a toss of a coin normally offers a choice of winner UK, 1832 heads-up adjective 1 clever, alert. From the earlier sense as 'wide-awake' US, 1934. 2 in motor racing, said of a competition with no handicap US, 1993 heads-up adverb (of a game of pool) with no handicaps in effect US, 1993 head-the-ball noun a crazy person UK, 2000 head time noun an opportunity to think UK, 1998 head-up adjective straightforward, direct US, 2001 heal verb ► heal with steal to perform surgery US, 1994 healthy adjective 1 (used of a girl) well built US, 1970. 2 large, excellent UK, 1937 heap noun 1 a car, especially an old and run-down car US, 1921. 2 a slovenly woman, usually preceded by an adjective. Originally dialect UK, 1806. 3 a large number, a great deal UK, 1661 heap adjective very. A crude borrowing of the speech of native American Indians as portrayed by pulp fiction and film screenwriters US, 1958 heap of coke; heap noun a man. Rhyming slang for BLOKE UK, 1851

heap of shit noun a mechanical item that is old, unreliable or broken UK, 2000 heaps noun ► give someone heaps to chastise, denigrate or attack someone unrestrainedly AUSTRALIA, 1978 hear verb to understand US, 1973 hearse noun a brakevan (caboose) US, 1930 heart noun 1 physical courage, especially as displayed in the commission of a crime US, 1937. 2 an amphetamine capsule, especially dextroamphetamine sulphate (trade name Dexedrine™). From the shape of the tablet US, 1965. ► my heart bleeds for you; my heart bleeds faux-sympathy, used ironically for expressing bitterness or jealousy US, 1968. ► put the heart crossways to shock IRELAND, 1995 heartbeat noun 1 any of several signals produced by a computer or software US, 1991. 2 a short measure of time US, 1985

Heartbreak Hill nickname a challenging hill at approximately mile 20 of the Boston Marathon US, 1998 heartburn palace noun a roadside restaurant that features greasy food US, 1971 heart check noun a test of courage US, 1995 heart check! I defy you! I dare you! I challenge you! US, 2001 heartface noun a form of address used by some homosexual men UK, 1968 heart scald noun a troublesome individual IRELAND, 1998 hearts of oak; hearts adjective penniless. Rhyming slang for BROKE UK, 1934 heart starter noun an alcoholic drink taken upon waking AUSTRALIA, 1975 heartthrob noun a very attractive man US, 1926 heat noun 1 pressure, stress US, 1929. 2 the police US, 1931. 3 intense police interest or pressure following a crime US, 1928. 4 a firearm US, 1926. 5 crowd or audience reaction. An entertainment industry term embraced by professional wrestling US, 1958. 6 popularity, audience appeal US, late 1970s. 7 in roller derby, a fight, be it scripted or spontaneous, staged or real US, 1999. 8 in pinball, the part of the pinball machine that rises as a panel in the front of the machine. Conventionally known as the 'lightbox' US, 1977. 9 the ultimate, the best US, 1985. 10 a dildo US, 1999. ► on heat of a woman, sexually aroused. Correctly used of animals UK, 1937. ► take the heat to

sunbathe US, 1968. ► take the heat off; take heat off to relieve the pressure on someone UK, 1979 heated hell noun the worst of the worst US, 1945 heater noun 1 a revolver. The term smacks of gangster films US, 1926. 2 a linear amplifier for a citizens' band radio US, 1976. 3 a good-looking boy US, 1993. 4 an excellent thing US, 2003. 5 in poker, a period of good luck for one player UK, 2003. 6 a large cigar US, 1918. 7 a cigarette US, 1993. ► take a heater to defecate US, 2001 heater and cooler noun a shot of whisky and a glass of beer US, 1982 heating food noun any food thought to enhance sexual strength and passion. A euphemism of social and spiritual significance. Those seeking a godly and contemplative life (and, according to custom, all women, especially widows) should stick to 'cooling foods' INDIA, 2003 heat magnet noun anything that draws the attention of the authorities. Based on HEAT (the police) CANADA, 2002 heat station noun a police station. From HEAT (the police) US, 1963

heaty adjective under police surveillance or the subject of police interest US, 1967 heave noun an ejection, a dismissal. Used in the construction 'give someone (or something) the heave' UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 heave verb to vomit US, 1832 heave-ho noun an ejection, a dismissal US, 1932 heaven noun 1 seven or eleven. Rhyming slang, used by dice gamblers UK, 1961. 2 cocaine UK, 2002. 3 heroin UK, 2003. 4 a billboard in the language of graffiti artists US, 2002 heaven and hell; heaven verb to give off a bad smell. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 heaven dust; heavenly dust; heaven flour noun any powdered drug; cocaine; heroin. Perhaps a positive alternative to HELL DUST US, 1933 heavenly blue; heavenly sunshine noun LSD US, 1977 heavenly blues noun morning glory seeds as a psychoactive agent US, 1982 heaven on a stick noun a very good thing US, 1990 heavens above noun love UK, 1961 heaven sent noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 1996 heavens to Betsy! used as a register of shock, surprise, etc. Charles Earle Funk researched and failed to discover the etymology of this phrase for Heavens to Betsy!, 1955; he believed that the phrase is certainly mid-C19 but was unable to discover its usage before 1940 US, 1940 heavens to Murgatroyd! used as a register of shock, surprise, etc. A variation of HEAVENS TO BETSY!; popularised by Hanna Barbera's animated lion Snagglepuss, from 1959; also credited to US comedian Red Skelton, 1913–97. The identity of Murgatroyd is a mystery US, 1959 heaves and squirts noun symptoms of heroin withdrawal. A rather graphic way of describing vomiting and diarrhoea US, 1973 heavies noun large waves. Always in the plural US, 1961. ► the heavies serious newspapers, as opposed to the tabloid press UK, 1950 heaviosity noun a quality of some (drug-inspired) heavy rock music US, 1981 heavy noun 1 an experienced criminal who relies on violence and force US, 1930. 2 armed robbery; an armed robber US, 1950. 3 sexually aroused, especially if aggressively so. A sense used by prostitutes UK, 1980. 4 a physically intimidating prison officer brought in to deal with rioting prisoners UK, 1996. 5 a lesbian prison officer UK, 1996. 6 in the television and film industries, an antagonist US, 1926. 7 an officer. Vietnam war coinage US, 1976. 8 an important person US, 1925. 9 heroin US, 1971. 10 a potent dose or a potent drug or both US, 1988. 11 medium gravity beer. Not to be confused with WEE HEAVY (a barley wine) UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. 12 a large aircraft AUSTRALIA, 1962. 13 an aircraft carrier US, 1959 heavy verb 1 to threaten with violence; to menace UK, 1998. 2 to harass, threaten or victimise someone; to coerce someone threateningly AUSTRALIA, 1974 heavy adjective 1 very serious, very intense US, 1963. 2 wonderful, excellent US, 1972. 3 (of drugs) addictive US, 1959. 4 violent, inclined to use violence US, 1902. ► get heavy to study US, 1955 heavy! used for expressing approval UK, 2003 heavy A noun an assistant drill instructor, US Marine Corps US, 1987 heavy Chevy noun a Chevrolet with a big block engine US, 1992 heavy closer noun in a swindle, a person who makes the final deal with the victim US, 1986 heavy cream noun a hefty, large-breasted woman US, 1960 heavy-duty adjective serious, intense US, 1935 heavy-fisted adjective said of a gambling house operative who takes more than the appropriate share of the winnings of a poker game for the house share US, 1951

heavy-footed adjective pregnant UK: NORTHERN IRELAND, 1996

heavy hammer noun any powerful pain medication US, 1994 heavy handbag noun a rich (homosexual) boyfriend. From HANDBAG (money); recorded in use in contemporary gay society UK, 2003 heavy-handed adjective used of a person who pours alcoholic drinks too generously, or mixes alcoholic drinks at too great a strength. From the conventional sense (clumsy) UK, 1971 heavy hitter noun a person with a deserved reputation for violence. A baseball metaphor US, 1970 heavy lifter noun a dangerous, tough person US, 2001 heavy manners noun any form of authoritarian control or discipline experienced by black individuals or communities UK, 1994 heavy metal; HM; metal noun a music genre, characterised by loud amplification, the primacy of electric guitars and simple, powerful – if occasionally lumbering – rhythmic patterns. The origin may be in military and munitions terminology but the popular and probable etymology is as follows: 'The term heavy metal was originally coined by Beat novelist William Burroughs in his Naked Lunch, reintroduced into the pop vocabulary by Steppenwolf in their hit "Born to Be Wild" ("heavy metal thunder") and subsequently redefined by rock critic Lester Bangs in the heavy metal fan magazine Creem.' (Rolling Stone Encyclopaedia of Rock & Roll, 1983). In fact, William Burroughs wrote of Uranium Willie, the Heavy Metal Kid, in Nova Express, 1946, 13 years before Naked Lunch was published. Lester Bangs was writing about the Yardbirds. In later use 'metal' takes over as the preferred abbreviation, creating a subtle differentiation understood by fans of heavy music US, 1999 heavy metaller noun a musician or fan of heavy metal music US, 1989 heavy mob noun 1 a criminal gang that relies on violence; a gang involved in large scale crimes UK, 1944. 2 the Metropolitan Police Flying Squad UK, 1999. 3 physically intimidating prison officers brought in to deal with rioting prisoners UK, 1996 heavy paint-work passers noun in a dice cheating scheme, dice that have been altered by drilling the spots and filling them with heavy metallic paint US, 1963 heavy petting noun mutual sexual caressing that stops shy of full intercourse UK, 1960 heavy roller noun a very important person US, 1974 heavy strings noun useful and powerful connections BAHAMAS, 1982

heavy thumb noun in the usage of youthful model road racers (slot car racers), a fast, reckless racer US, 1997 heavyweight Jones noun a drug dealer who sells drugs in a manner calculated to lead his customers to addiction US, 1971 heavy wizardry noun in computing, designs or code that demand a specialised and deep practical understanding US, 1991 heavy worker noun a criminal who specialises in breaking into safes US, 1949

Hebe; Heeb noun a Jewish person. Derogatory US, 1926

Hebrew hoppers noun sandals. From the images of Jesus Christ wearing sandals US, 1970 heck noun used as a euphemistic alternative to 'hell'. Originally dialect, often exclamatory UK, 1887 hecka adverb very. A euphemised HELLA US, 1989

heck-city adverb very US, 2004

heckety-heck noun used as a euphemistic alternative to 'hell' UK, 2003 hecksa adverb very US, 2004 heck you! used as a euphemistic replacement for 'fuck you!' FJI, 1996 hectic adjective 1 (used of a wave) fairly treacherous US, 1988.

2 extreme, outrageous (often applied to gruesome or gory acts); good. Teen and youth slang, noted by Sunday Times (South Africa), 1st June 2003 SOUTH AFRICA, 2003 hector! used as a euphemism for 'heck', itself a euphemism for 'hell' US, 1965

H'ed adjective addicted to heroin US, 1997 hedgehog noun any non-white person; a native of the Indian Subcontinent; an Arab; any (non-English) foreigner. Rhyming slang for WOG UK, 1992 hedge hopper noun a crop dusting pilot US, 1954 hedge monkey noun a member of the counterculture travellers' community. Derogatory UK, 2001 hedge mumper noun a tramp. An elaboration of MUMPER (a tramp). English gypsy use UK, 2000

H-E-double toothpicks!; H-E-double hockey sticks! hell. Youth slang, euphemistically spelt out US, 1997 heeb noun a jittery sensation, a fearful feeling. An abbreviation of HEEBIE JEEBIES UK, 1996 heebie-jeebies noun 1 the jitters, a sense of anxiety. Thought to have been coined by US cartoonist Billy DeBeck (1890–1942) for the comic strip Barney Google US, 1923. 2 delirium tremens US, 1926. 3 symptoms of withdrawal from an addictive drug US, 1987

heebies noun jitters US, 1926

Heeeere's Johnny ... used as a humorous introduction.

The drawn-out introduction of US late-night talk show host Johnny Carson by sidekick Ed McMahon from 1962 until 1992. Widely repeated, with variations and referential humour US, 1980 hee-haw noun 1 loud and braying laughter UK, 1843. 2 nothing of any worth, zero. The value of a donkey's bray UK, 2000 heel noun 1 a dishonourable or untrustworthy individual US, 1914. 2 in professional wrestling, a wrestler designed by the promoters to be seen by the audience as a villain US, 1958. 3 by extension, any figure in the wrestling business designed by the promoters to be disliked by the fans US, 1998 heel verb to leave without paying a bill US, 1966 heel-and-toe verb to run away quickly CANADA, 1870

heeled adjective 1 armed US, 1866. 2 provided with funds US, 1873. 3 in possession of drugs US, 1970

heeler noun 1 a political party worker who does readily what is ordered US, 1876. 2 an opportunistic sneak thief US, 1931. 3 in poker, an unmatched card retained in a player's hand when drawing US, 1967 heelie noun in skateboarding, a manoeuvre in which the rider elevates the rear wheels of the board while riding forward on the front wheels US, 1976

heesh adjective in professional wrestling, villainous US, 1996 heel list noun a list of persons unwelcome as guests at a hotel US, 1953

heesh noun hashish US, 1982

heeze noun hashish CANADA, 2002

heezy; heezy noun ► off the heezy; off the heezy for skeezy awesome, wonderful, cool, amazing. A hip-hop variation of 'off the hook', apparently coined by rapper Snoop Doggy Dog US, 1999

Hef nickname Hugh Hefner (b.1926), founding publisher of Playboy magazine, which first appeared in December 1953 US, 1968 heffa noun a stocky girl or woman. A variation of heifer (a young COW) UK, 2005 hefty noun in circus and carnival usage, a performer in a strong-man act US, 1981 hefty adjective 1 well-funded at the moment. Teen slang US, 1958. 2 intense AUSTRALIA, 2002

he-girl noun a person with mixed sexual physiology, usually the genitals of a male and surgically augmented breasts US, 2004

hehe in a game of on-line poker, used for acknowledging luck in winning a hand, 2003

Heidi noun a young woman with back-to-the-earth, 1960s values and fashion sense, especially one with pigtails US, 2001 heifer noun a stocky girl or woman. An insult, if not a fighting word US, 1835 heifer dust noun nonsense. A euphemism for BULLSHIT US, 1927 heifer paddock noun a girls' school AUSTRALIA, 1885

heigh-ho! used as a signal of enthusiasm US, 1930s to 50s height noun ► from a great height used to intensify the infliction of punishment or suffering. Always preceded with the passive sense of a verb combined with 'on', e.g. 'come down on' UK, 1961 heing and sheing noun SEX US, 1993

Heinie noun a German; German US, 1904

heinie; heiny noun ► see: HINEY

Heinies noun Heineken™ beer US, 1982 heinous adjective offensive, unpleasant. Conventional English elevated to slang by attitude US, 1982

Heinz noun a multiple bet, combining 57 bets. Based on the advertising slogan for, and synonymous with, the products of the food company H.J. Heinz. A 'super heinz' combines 120 bets UK, 1983 heir and a spare two sons, in the context of a male line of succession; hence, one and a spare of anything. Used as a minimum breeding requirement by powerful and privileged families whose bloodline justifies their inheritance, applied especially to monarchies UK, 2003 heist noun a theft or robbery US, 1976 heist verb 1 to accept, when used in the negative, to reject a story or idea as untruthful or fanciful CANADA, 1999. 2 to steal, especially to shoplift. There are enough Hollywood heist films to make a genre. Also spelt 'hyste' UK, 1815 heister noun a thief or robber. From the earlier 'hoister' UK, 1865

Helen noun heroin. Giving an identity and disguise to H (heroin) US, 1971 heli noun a helicopter US, 1995 helicopter noun 1 in skateboarding, a manoeuvre in which the rider jumps off the board, turns in the air and then lands on the board US, 1976. 2 a Chinese-educated person SINGAPORE, 2002 helicopter view noun a non-detailed overview CANADA, 2000 hell noun 1 used widely in oaths, and to reinforce imprecations, and questions (often rhetorical) of impatience and irritation UK, 1596. 2 crack cocaine UK, 2003. ► for the hell of it; for the sheer hell of it; just for the hell of it simply for the pleasure or experience of doing something; also applied to reckless behaviour UK, 1934. ► from hell used for intensifying. Humorous, hyperbolic US, 1965. ► get the hell out; get the hell out of here (or somewhere) to leave, usually with some haste US, 1971. ► hell out of when combined with a verb of violent action, such as knock, punch, thump, etc, to treat a person extremely roughly IRELAND, 1922. ► play hell with; play merry hell with to cause severe trouble for someone or something UK, 1803. ► to hell intensely, when combined with a wish or hope UK, 1891. ► to hell with it! used for registering or reinforcing dismissal UK, 1929. ► will I hell! used as an expression of strong disagreement.

Often applied in the third person: 'will he hell!' or 'will they hell!' UK, 1931

hella adverb extremely US, 1992

hellacious adjective especially nasty or difficult US, 1929 hell and gone; hell-and-gone noun a far-distant place or point in time US, 1938 hell-bent adjective recklessly determined US, 1835 hellcat noun a wild, fierce woman UK, 1605 hell dust noun any powdered drug; heroin; morphine US, 1953 heller noun a wild, uninhibited party US, 1975 hellery noun trouble, mischief, bad behaviour CANADA, 1965 hell-fire! used as a register of exasperation, frustration, anger, etc UK, 1997 hell-for-stout adjective very strong US, 1954 hell-hole noun 1 a horrible, infernal place UK, 1882. 2 in a combat helicopter, an approximately 34-inch-square opening in the floor, used for emergencies and roping down to and up from the ground US, 1976 hellifying adjective used as an adjectival intensifier US, 1973 hellish adjective 1 unpleasant, difficult UK, 1569. 2 used as a positive intensifier; excellent UK: ENGLAND, 2001 hellish adverb used as a pejorative intensifier UK, 1768 hellishing; hellishun adverb used as an intensifier. An elaboration of HELLISH (an intensifier) on the model of FUCKING, SODDING, etc AUSTRALIA, 1931

hello! used for signalling disbelief when said as if speaking to someone slow-witted US, 1985 hell of adverb extremely. A reverse correction of the corrupted HELLA US, 1995 hell of a adjective an extreme, good or great example of something. May be preceded with 'a', 'the' or 'one' UK, 1776

Hell Pass Hole nickname El Paso, Texas US, 1970

hellride noun in mountain biking, any bad trail or bad ride US, 1992 hell's bells used as a mild oath UK, 1832 hell's half acre noun during the Vietnam war, an area just north of Cu Chi, dominated if not controlled by the Viet Cong US, 1991 hell to breakfast noun here to there, all over US, 1930 helluva hell of a US, 1910 hell week noun a period of extreme harassment, especially of new recruits to a college fraternity by their older fraternity brothers US, 1930 helmet noun 1 the head of the circumcised penis. From the similarity in shape to a World War 2 German Army helmet US, 1970. 2 a uniformed police constable UK, 2002

helo noun a helicopter US, 1965

helo adjective none CANADA, 1963

helpcat noun a tutor; a student assistant. A punning allusion to HEP CAT US, 1955 helper noun any amphetamine or other central nervous system stimulant US, 1963 helter skelter noun a shelter. Originally a World War 2 coinage for an 'air raid shelter'. Noted as still in occasional use as a 'bus shelter' UK, 1992 helter-skelter adverb in defiance of order; pell-mell UK, 1593

he-man noun an especially virile or overtly masculine man, a masterful man US, 1832 hem and haw verb to stutter, to hesitate while beginning a sentence UK, 1786 hemp noun marijuana US, 1883 hempen fever noun execution by hanging UK, 1785 hemp head noun a frequent user of marijuana US, 1980 hempster noun anyone involved in the business of retailing hemp. From HEMP (marijuana) and conventional, perfectly legal 'hemp' UK, 2002

hempty noun leaves from the hemp plant CANADA, 2002

hen noun 1 a woman UK, 1626. 2 used for informally addressing a woman; also, as an endearment UK: SCOTLAND, 1626. 3 a flamboyant feminine male homosexual TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1985. 4 in a deck of playing cards, a queen US, 1988. 5 the Sea Knight military helicopter. A term used by reconnaissance troops in Vietnam US, 1991 hen apple noun an egg US, 1938

hench noun a person in attractive physical shape UK, 2005

hen fruit noun an egg US, 1854

Henley regatta noun a conversation. Rhyming slang for NATTER, formed from the famous sporting event UK, 1998 hen mill noun a women's jail or prison US, 1960

Henny; Hen' noun Hennessy™ cognac UK, 1999

henny penny noun a female player in a low-stakes game of poker US, 1988 henpecked adjective ruled by a domineering woman. The surviving form of the original verb 'hen-peck' UK, 1680 hen pen noun a women's prison US, 1992

henry noun an eighth of an ounce (three and a half grams) of a drug, especially marijuana or cocaine. Cutting HENRY THE EIGHTH down to size UK, 1998

Henry noun 1 any Ford Motor Company car or engine US, 1917. 2 heroin. From 'heroin' to H to Henry US, 1953

Henry Fonda noun a Honda 90 motorcycle. Rhyming slang, used by (prospective) London taxi drivers; the Honda 90 is the machine of preference when they DO THE KNOWLEDGE UK, 1998

Henry IV noun the human immunodeficiency virus US, 2001

Henry the Eighth noun eight grams of cocaine US, 1993

Henry the Fourth noun four grams of cocaine US, 1993

Henry the Third noun a piece of excrement. Rhyming slang for TURD AUSTRALIA, 1971

Henry was here noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle UK: WALES, 2000 hen's night noun a woman-only pre-wedding party held for the bride-to-be. The counterpart of the BUCK'S PARTY AUSTRALIA, 1994 hen's teeth noun the epitome of that which is exceedingly rare AUSTRALIA, 1965

hentai adjective overtly pornographic. A Japanese term, usually applied to a style of Japanese animation; one of only a few Japanese terms to have worked its way into unconventional English usage, thanks to pornographic websites on the Internet JAPAN, 1996

hep noun hepatitis US, 1967

hep adjective 1 aware US, 1903. 2 in step with the latest fashion, latest music and latest slang US, 1942 hepatic rounds noun used in a hospital as a humorous code for a drinking party to be held on hospital grounds US, 1989 hepatitis roll noun a meat and salad roll. Used by Australian troops during the Vietnam conflict to refer to such rolls commonly sold by street vendors, and reputed to be the cause of gastrointestinal and other complaints AUSTRALIA, 1988

Hepburn's Hussars noun a special police force organised by Ontario Premier Mitch Hepburn to deal with an Oshawa car workers' strike CANADA, 1946

hep cat; hepped cat noun a fan of jazz or swing music; a stylish and fashionable man US, 1938

heppo noun hepatitis AUSTRALIA, 1987

heppo roll noun a hepatitis roll AUSTRALIA, 1988

hep square noun a person who lives a conventional life but has some awareness of unconventional lifestyles US, 1972

her noun cocaine US, 1981

Hera noun heroin. Disguising 'heroin' with the name of a Greek goddess UK, 2002 herb noun marijuana. Celebrated in song by Sly & the Revolutionaries, 'Herb', 1979 US, 1962

Herb noun ► cry herb; call herb to vomit. Echoic AUSTRALIA, 1967 ► CRY RUTH herb verb to assault a weak person US, 1995 herbal adjective pertaining to marijuana US, 1995 herbal bliss noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003 herbal ecstasy noun a substance that is not restricted by drug control legislation and is claimed to be a natural substitute for MDMA UK, 2004

herbals noun marijuana US, 1995

herb and a' noun marijuana and alcohol. A lazy clipping of HERB AND AL US, 1980s

Herb and Al; Herbie and Al noun marijuana and alcohol US, 1981 herbert noun 1 a mischievous child or youth. Quite often heard as 'little herbert' UK, 1999. 2 a harmless youth; a ridiculous man. An extension of the previous sense UK, 1960. 3 a man in a specified field of endeavour UK, 1956

Herbie noun in Antarctica, a powerful blizzard ANTARCTICA, 1987

Herbie Alley noun the passage between Black Island and White Island, through which fast-moving Antarctic blizzards develop ANTARCTICA, 2003

Herbie Hides noun trousers. Rhyming slang for STRIDES, formed from the name of Nigerian heavyweight boxer Henry Hide (b.1971) UK, 1998

herbs noun 1 marijuana UK, 2000. 2 (of a motor engine) power AUSTRALIA, 1960

herbsman noun a marijuana smoker. Used as a song title by King Stitt and Andy Capp, 'Herbsman', 1970 JAMAICA, 1975

Herc; Herk; Herky Bird noun the Hercules C-130 medium cargo transport aircraft manufactured by Lockheed. The primary transport aircraft used for US military forces in Vietnam US, 1980 hercules noun especially potent phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1981 herd noun 1 a packet of Camel™ cigarettes US, 1945. 2 a quantity of something IRELAND, 1991

Herd noun ► The Herd the 173rd Airborne Brigade, US Army. The first major US combat unit sent to Vietnam US, 1991 herd verb in hot rodding, to drive (a hot rod) US, 1933 herder noun 1 a prison guard assigned to a prison yard US, 1992. 2 in horse racing, a jockey or horse that forces the other horses to bunch up behind it US, 1951. 3 on the railways, a yard pointsman US, 1930 here and there noun a chair. Rhyming slang, always used in full UK, 1992 here's how used as a toast UK, 1896 here we go; here we go again used for registering resignation at the commencement of an anticipated, predictable or otherwise undesirable event UK, 1954 her indoors; 'er indoors; 'er noun the wife of the user. Coined for television comedy drama series Minder, 1979–94 UK, 1984

Herman Fink noun ink. Rhyming slang UK, 1960

Herman the German noun the penis US, 1991

hermit noun a poker player wearing headphones during play US, 1996 hero noun 1 heroin US, 1953. 2 a surfer whose opinion of his own skills exceeds his actual skills US, 1985 hero gear noun enemy paraphernalia taken from the battlefield US, 1961 heroína noun heroin US, 1994

herone noun heroin UK, 1998 hero of the underworld noun heroin. An elaboration of HERO (heroin) US, 1986 herox noun 4-bromo-2,5-dimethoxyphenethylamine, a mild hallucinogen US, 1995 herring and kipper; herring noun a striptease dancer. Rhyming slang for STRIPPER UK, 1992 herringboner noun a dairy farmer NEW ZEALAND, 2002 herring choker noun 1 a person from New Brunswick or elsewhere in the Canadian Maritime Provinces US, 1899. 2 a Scandinavian US, 1936 herring snapper noun a Scandinavian US, 1930 herself noun a wife, your wife, a female partner IRELAND, 1989

Hershey Highway noun the rectum US, 1973

Hershey road noun the rectum US, 1974

Hershey squirts noun diarrhoea. A joking if unpleasant allusion to Hershey™ chocolate US, 1972 he-she noun a man living as a woman, either as a transvestite or transsexual; an effeminate male US, 1871 hesher; heshen; hesh noun a fan of heavy metal music US, 1997 hesh girl; hash girl noun a prostitute who works in cheap drinking establishments. Urban and township slang SOUTH AFRICA, 1973 he shoots! he scores! used for celebrating a minor accomplishment. From the television programme Saturday Night Live US, 1991 hesitation marks noun scars on the inner wrist from failed suicide attempts US, 1972 hessle noun heroin UK, 1998 het adjective heterosexual US, 1972 hetboy noun a heterosexual male. Internet shorthand US, 1995 heter noun a heterosexual UK, 1980 hetero noun a heterosexual UK, 1933 hetgirl noun a heterosexual female. Internet shorthand US, 1995 het up; all het up adjective excited. From a dialect variation of 'heated' or 'heated up' US, 1909 hex noun a number sign (#) on a computer keyboard US, 1991 hexy noun hexamine (a solid fuel provided in small blocks). Military UK, 1995 hey? 1 pardon? Used alone or as the introduction to a question that is formed using a standard interrogative SOUTH AFRICA, 1961. 2 used at the end of a question for emphasis or as a means of demanding a response SOUTH AFRICA, 1969

hey used as a discourse break that raises emphasis or focus US, 1974 hey-diddle-diddle noun a swindle, a deception. Rhyming slang for FIDDLE UK; SCOTLAND, 1988 hey-hey noun a good time US, 1985 hey now 1 used as a greeting US, 1946. 2 used for getting attention US, 1987

hey-presto! a command used by stage magicians; hence, used for registering a sudden or surprising transformation; cynically used for 'as if by magic' when a predictable change occurs UK, 1731

hey rube noun a fight between swindlers of any sort and their victims US, 1900 hey, rube! used as an insider request for help in a fight. Originally and principally an expression used in the circus and carnivals US, 1900 hey-you noun an uncouth or insolent person. From the signature conversational gambit employed by such people UK; SCOTLAND, 1988

HFH used as a jaded abbreviation of a jaded 'ho-fucking-hum' US, 1990

H-head noun a habitual user of heroin UK, 1978

HHOJ; HHOK used in computer message shorthand to mean 'ha-ha only joking' or 'ha-ha only kidding' US, 1991

hi-ball noun a central nervous system stimulant, especially dextroamphetamine (trade name Dexamyli™) US, 1971 hiccup noun a fault in administration, an interruption to any smooth-running procedure UK, 1974 hiccup verb in computing when transferring data, to inadvertently skip some data or send some data twice US, 1995 hick noun an unsophisticated, simple person from the far rural reaches. A familiar form of 'Richard'. Now chiefly US use UK, 1565 hickey noun 1 a bruise on the skin caused by a partner's mouth during foreplay, a suction kiss US, 1942. 2 a favourable movie review US, 1997. 3 in dominoes, a type of side bet US, 1981. 4 in pool, a rule infraction US, 1992

Hickey noun a notional province where there are no manners or courtesy BARBADOS, 1965 hickory dickory dock; hickory dickory noun a clock. Rhyming slang; an elaboration of DICKORY DOCK, from the nursery rhyme which continues 'A mouse ran up the clock' UK, 1998

hiddy adjective 1 drunk US, 1989. 2 hideous US, 1990 hide noun 1 the human skin UK, 1607. 2 impudence; effrontery; cheek AUSTRALIA, 1902. 3 a wallet US, 1932. 4 a horse US, 1934. 5 in hot rodding, a tyre US, 1960 hide verb ► hide the salami to have sex. 'Sausage' as 'penis' imagery, a variation of the earlier HIDE-THE-WEENIE US, 1983 hide and seek noun impudence. Rhyming slang for 'cheek' UK, 1992 hideaway noun a pocket US, 1945 hi-de-hi a greeting, answered by 'ho-de-ho'. First recorded during World War 2; adopted by Jimmy Perry and David Croft as the title (and catchphrase) of a television situation comedy set in a 1950s holiday camp (BBC, 1980–88); the call and response greeting is still heard, but often ironic UK, 1941 hideola adjective ugly. A variation of conventional 'hideous' UK, 1992 hides noun drums. Jazz slang UK, 1986 hide-the-baloney noun sexual intercourse US, 1973 hide-the-sausage noun sexual intercourse AUSTRALIA, 1971 hide-the-weenie noun sexual intercourse US, 1968 hidey noun the children's game hide and seek AUSTRALIA, 1957

hi diddle diddle noun 1 middle, especially the middle of a dart board. Rhyming slang UK, 1992. 2 a swindle, a deception UK, 1992. 3 a violin, a fiddle. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 hiding noun a beating; a heavy defeat UK, 1809 hiding to nothing noun ► on a hiding to nothing faced with a situation in which any outcome is unfavourable UK, 1905 hids adjective lacking fashion sense. An abbreviation of the conventional 'hideous' US, 2002 hidy-hole; hidey-hole noun a hiding place UK, 1817 hidy-ho, neighbor used as a humorous greeting. A catchphrase salutation from the US television comedy Home Improvements (ABC, 1991–99). Repeated with referential humour US, 1991 hifalutin adjective ► see: HIGHFALUTIN higgledy-piggledy adjective in a confused jumble. Probably derived as a rhyming elaboration of the disordered huddle in which pigs exist UK, 1598 high noun 1 the sensation produced by consuming drugs or alcohol US, 1944. 2 a sense of exhilaration, unrelated to drugs US, 1970

High noun Miller High Life™ beer US, 1967 high adjective 1 drunk or drug-intoxicated UK, 1627. 2 under the influence of a drug, especially marijuana US, 1931. 3 bad-smelling TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1935. ► at high warble angry, especially without justification. Naval aviator usage US, 1986 high and light adjective pleasantly drug-intoxicated US, 1952 high and mighty; high-and-mighty adjective arrogant, imperious UK, 1825 high and tight noun a man's haircut in which the sides of the head are shaved and a quarter-inch of hair is left on top. A military term for a military haircut US, 1988 high as a kite adjective very drunk or drug-intoxicated. Rhyming slang for TIGHT (drunk); a clever elaboration of HIGH US, 1939 high-ass adjective haughty; arrogant US, 1931 highball noun 1 in the used car business, a knowingly inflated price US, 1975. 2 a signal to a train engineer to increase speed US, 1897. 3 a glass of milk US, 1946 highball verb 1 to travel fast US, 1912. 2 to see. Probably playing on EYEBALL US, 1965 high beams noun 1 erect nipples on a woman's breasts seen through a garment US, 1986. 2 the wide open eyes of a person under the influence of crack cocaine US, 1994 high bountious adjective very bad-smelling TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 highboy noun in hot rodding, a coupe, sedan or roadster that sits on top of the frame rails at stock height, that has not been lowered US, 1968 highbrow noun a person of superior intellectual quality or interests; a person who affects interests that imply an intellectual superiority US, 1907 highbrow adjective of superior intellectual quality or interest UK, 1884 high-brown adjective of mixed black and white heritage. Originally white usage, then adopted by African-Americans US, 1915 high camp noun an ostentatious, highly mannered style. A refined variation of CAMP US, 1966 high cap verb to brag, to banter, to gossip US, 1990 high diver noun a person who enjoys or excels at performing oral sex on women. A construction built on the image of going down US, 1981 high drag noun elaborate female clothing worn by a man US, 1963 higher-higher noun the upper echelons of military command US, 1991 highfalutin; hifalutin adjective absurdly pompous, snobbish. Probably an elaboration of 'high-flown' or similar; 'highfaluting' (the 'g' is optional) was originally hyphenated which lends strength to this etymology. Yiddish hifeluferem (ostentatious, self-glorifying) is also possible US, 1839 high five noun 1 a greeting or sign of approval accomplished by slapping open palms with arms extended above head-level. The greeting and term originated in sport but quickly spread US, 1980. 2 HIV. A construction based on an abbreviation of 'high' to 'hi' and conversion of 'V' to the Roman numeral five US, 2003 high five verb to raise your open hand above your head and slap it against the open hand of someone else US, 1981 high fur noun the refuelling of a hovering helicopter US, 1991 high grade noun marijuana. Recorded by a Jamaican inmate of a UK prison, August 2002 UK, 2002 high hard one noun forceful sex US, 1986 high hat noun opium. From an earlier sense (a large opium pill) US, 1896 high-hat; high-hatted adjective snobbish, superior, supercilious US, 1924 high-heel boy noun a paratrooper US, 1948 high holy noun in the usage of counterculturalists associated with the Rainbow Nation gatherings, an older, experienced member of the counterculture. Often used with a degree of irony and lack of reverence US, 1997 high horse noun a position of arrogant superiority US, 1947 high iron noun the main line of a railway US, 1930 high-jive verb to tease, to taunt, to belittle US, 1938 high jump noun a court higher than a local magistrate's AUSTRALIA, 1944. ► be for the high jump 1 to be faced with a severe official reprimand or punishment. Of military origin. With variations 'be up for the high jump' and 'be in for the high jump' UK, 1919. 2 to be engaged to be married IRELAND, 1992 highland fling noun to sing. Rhyming slang, credited to a 1950s recording by Billy Cotton and Alan Breeze UK, 1992 highlighter noun a political leader or spokesman among prisoners US, 1976 highly adverb used as an intensifier with an attitude US, 1991 highly illogical adjective illogical. A signature line of the Vulcan Mr Spock on the first incarnation of Star Trek (NBC, 1966–69). Repeated with referential humour US, 1968 high maintenance adjective (used of a person) requiring a great deal of attention and/or money; needy US, 1989 highness noun ► her highness; his highness your spouse. Affectionately ironic UK, 1961 high noon noun 1 in craps, a roll of twelve US, 1982. 2 a spoon. Rhyming slang, formed from the title of the 1952 film UK, 1992 high-nose verb to snub; to ignore US, 1954 high number noun an especially fashionable member of the Mod youth fashion movement UK, 1986 high octane adjective caffeinated. Borrowing from the language of car fuel for application to the world of coffee drinks and, to a lesser extent, soft drinks US, 1995 high off the hog adverb prosperously US, 1970 high play noun showy spending designed to impress US, 1972 high pockets noun the stature of a tall, thin man US, 1912 high puller noun a devoted player of casino slot machines, especially those with higher bets and higher payouts. A play on the term HIGH ROLLER US, 1985 high-rider noun a car or truck that has been structurally altered to ride very high; a person who drives such a car or truck US, 1982

high-riders noun trousers worn above the waist US, 1975 highroll verb to spend freely and to live fast US, 1975 high roller noun 1 a gambler who makes large bets and spends freely US, 1881. 2 in television and film-making, a large, tall, three-legged light stand US, 1990 high rolling adjective materially successful. From HIGH ROLLER (a big spender) US, 1890

highs noun in pool, the striped balls numbered 9 to 15 US, 1990 high-school Harriet noun a high-school girl who is dating a college boy US, 1966 high-school Harry noun an immature college male; a typical high-school student US, 1959 high-school horse noun in horse racing, a racehorse that seems to win only when the odds are very high. Based on the humorous suggestion that the horse is so smart it can read the posted odds US, 1951 high shots noun in the illegal production of alcohol, liquor that exceeds 100 proof US, 1974 high side noun 1 the outside of a curve in a road US, 1966. 2 in craps, the numbers over 7 US, 1950 high-side verb to show off US, 1965 high speed, low drag adjective competent, reliable, dependable. Vietnam war usage US, 1991 high sphincter tone noun said of a person with a high degree of inhibition and a conservative nature US, 1994 high spot noun the outstanding part or feature of something UK, 1926 high stepper noun pepper. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 hightail verb to move very quickly. Almost always used with 'it' US, 1919 high tea noun a social gathering of male homosexuals US, 1981 high tide noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1970 high-up noun a person of high rank or importance UK, 1929 high waist noun vigorous sex. The 'high' suggests the woman's ability to lift the man up from below during sex TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 high-waist adjective (used of a woman) skilled at sex TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 high wall job noun a burglary that requires climbing UK, 1996 high-waters noun long trousers that are too short or short trousers that are too long US, 1971 highway princess noun a prostitute, especially one who works at truck stops US, 1976 highway salute noun a gesture with the middle finger meaning 'fuck you' US, 1977 highway surfer noun a person who adopts the mannerisms of surfers, buys the equipment, but never seems to get out of the car into the water US, 1963 high, wide and handsome; high, wide and fancy adjective excellent; first-rate. The title of a 1937 musical/romance film starring James Burke US, 1947 high wine noun a mixture of alcohol and flavoured water CANADA, 1957 high yellow; high yaller; high yella noun a light-skinned black person, especially female; a Creole; a mulatto. 'Objectionable when referring to lighter-colored black persons' according to Dictionary of Cautionary Words and Phrases, 1989 US, 1923 high yellow; high yaller; high yella adjective light-skinned US, 1958 hijinks; hijinx noun an act or acts of self-indulgent frivolity. An altered spelling of conventional 'high jinks' US, 1995 hijo de la chingada noun son of a fucked woman. Border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans; highly insulting US, 1974

hike verb to insult in a competitive, quasi-friendly spirit, especially by reference to your opponent's family US, 2000

hiker noun a prison officer whose duty is to be anywhere in the prison when required UK, 1996

hike up verb 1 of clothes, to work out of position or to drag into place US, 1873. 2 to raise prices US, 2003

Hilda Handcuffs; Hilda noun a police officer; the police. An example of CAMP trans-gender assignment, in this case an assonant play on handcuffs as stereotypical police equipment UK, 1992 hill noun ► go over the hill to desert military duty; to escape from prison US, 1912. ► on the hill in pool, needing only one more score to win US, 1993. ► over the hill past your prime US, 1950

Hill noun ► the Hill Parliament Hill in Ottawa CANADA, 1965

hill and dale noun a tale, of the type told by a confidence trickster. Rhyming slang UK, 1953 hillbilly adjective chilly. Glasgow rhyming slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

hillbilly chrome noun aluminium paint US, 1971 hillbilly craps noun craps played on the sidewalk or otherwise as a private game US, 1950 hillbilly hell noun used as an embellished, intensified 'hell' US, 1970 hillbilly heroin noun the synthetic opiate oxycodone used recreationally. When dissolved in water and injected, or crushed and inhaled, it has a similar effect to heroin. The drug's popularity in the rural Appalachian Mountains region led to the 'hillbilly' reference. It came to the forefront of the American national conscious in late 2003 when radio entertainer Rush Limbaugh was reported to be addicted to OxyContin™ US, 2001 hillbilly operahouse noun a truck with a radio US, 1971 hillbilly special noun a truck manufactured by General Motors Corporation US, 1971

Hill Fights noun a series of battles in the vicinity of Khe Sanh, South Vietnam, in April and May 1967 US, 1988 hill game noun in pool, a situation where either player can win with a single pocket US, 1993 hillman hunter; hillman noun a client or customer of any service that has little respect for the clients and customers. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a 1970s car UK, 1992

hillybin noun a lesbian NEW ZEALAND, 1973

Hilton noun a camp where firefighters fighting a forest fire sleep US, 1991 him noun heroin US, 1969 ► see: HE Himalaya gold; Himalaya noun a potent marijuana with yellow hairs on a pale green bud. A hybrid plant cultivated in the 1990s, not in the Himalayas but with genetic antecedents in Nepal and

South India; the naming is, perhaps, also an ironic reference to the highest physical location on planet earth UK, 2003 himbo noun a man objectified by his good looks and presumed lack of intellectual qualities; a man who trades on this image; a gigolo. Plays on contemporary use of BIMBO (a beautiful and available young woman – if you are a rich older man) US, 1988

Hinckley; Hinkley noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1984

hincty adjective conceited, vain, arrogant US, 1924 hind claw noun a means of support secondary to your job BARBADOS, 1965 hind hook noun the rear brakeman on a freight train US, 1946 hind tit noun ► on the hind tit; suck the hind tit to be last in order or standing US, 1940

Hindu shuffle noun in card trickery, a technique that will keep a card or several cards on the bottom of the deck UK, 2003

hiney; heiny; heinie noun the buttocks US, 1921 hinge noun the elbow US, 1945 hinges noun ► off your hinges mentally unhinged, crazy. Word play, as 'off the hinges' from 1611 to mid-C19 UK, 1986

Hinglish noun a hybrid language formed of Hindi and English; also applied to an informal blending of Punjabi and English UK, 2001

hinked up adjective suspicious, afraid US, 2000

hinky adjective 1 nervous, anxious US, 1956. 2 suspicious US, 1975

hinky-dee noun a form of comedic song US, 1949 hinky-dinky adjective small-time, second class, outmoded. A cousin of the more famous RINKY-DINK US, 1967 hip noun 1 a member of the 1960s counterculture US, 1967. 2 a heroin addict US, 1953. 3 the buttocks BAHAMAS, 1982 hip verb 1 to explain, to bring up to date, to inform US, 1932. 2 to figure out, to become aware US, 1975. ► hip your ship to let you know US, 1953 hip adjective 1 knowing, understanding US, 1902. 2 in style, fashionable, admired US, 1944. ► hip to all happenings profoundly aware of the latest trends and happenings US, 1964

hip cat noun a fan of jazz or swing music; a stylish and fashionable man US, 1947

hipe verb in a cheating scheme in a game of cards, to restore a deck to its original position after a cheating move US, 1962 hip-flinger noun a dancer in any type of overtly sexual dance US, 1981 hip-hop noun used as a loose categorisation of (initially) black urban youth culture, encompassing breakdancing, graffiti art, DJing and rap music; used as an umbrella for any music, especially dance and rap-music, that falls within the general style; any fashion or style that is defined by association with the culture. Combining HIP (fashionable) and HOP (dance); like ROCK 'N' ROLL before it, 'hip-hop' is an American phenomenon that has had a worldwide impact US, 1982 hip hop daisy age noun an early 1990s fashion in hip-hop culture that approximated the 'peace and love' attitudes of the hippie movement UK, 2003 hip kick noun the rear pocket on a pair of trousers US, 1981

hipky-drippy noun mischief US, 1959

hi-po adjective in motor racing, high performance US, 1993 hipped adjective 1 aware of, knowledgeable of US, 1920. 2 carrying a gun US, 1920 hipped to the tip adjective aware of everything US, 1947 hipper noun a large, swollen bruise on the hip. Noted as a sports injury suffered by foot-propelled scooter-riders UK, 2000 hippie; hippy noun a follower of jazz and the jazz scene who strives to be hip US, 1952 hippie crack noun nitrous oxide. A substance of abuse favoured by hippies and neo-hippies, seductive if not addictive US, 1992 hipping noun a nappy (diaper) or sanitary towel TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

hippo noun an armoured personnel carrier used by the South African police SOUTH AFRICA, 1996

Hippo noun any theatre called the Hippodrome. An affectionate shortening of an actor's place of work, such as, in Britain, the Birmingham Hippo, the Bristol Hippo, and, in the US, the Baltimore Hippo UK, 1937 hip pocket noun a truck's glove compartment US, 1976 hippy adjective 1 full-hipped US, 1963. 2 mentally dulled by years of imprisonment US, 1950 hippy-dippy noun a hippy or hippie, in either sense. Derogatory US, 1969 hippy-dippy adjective used to describe the 'peace and love' philosophy of the hippy movement US, 1960 hippy hill nickname a hill in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, between the Stanyan Street entrance and Dinosaur Valley US, 1967

hippytitis noun hepatitis UK, 1970 hippy-trippy adjective psychedelic. A rhyming combination of the counterculture and the effects of drugs UK, 2001 hippy witch noun a girl who 30 years later still dresses in the styles popular with the late 1960s counterculture US, 1997

hip-square noun a conventional person who at moments adopts the drappings of the jazz lifestyle without fully embracing it US, 1961 hipster noun 1 a devotee of jazz and the jazz lifestyle US, 1940. 2 a person at the stylish edge of fashionable. A contemporary variation US, 2002 hipsway noun dismissal UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 hir used as a gender-neutral third-person singular pronoun US, 1997 hirsute adjective in computing, complicated. Used as a jocular synonym for 'hairy' US, 1983

hi-si noun high society US, 1957 his lordship noun used ironically of a male who is perceived to behave in a manner that is somehow above his status. Derisive UK, 1961 hiss noun to hike rapidly NEW ZEALAND, 1958

hissy-fit; hissy noun a tantrum US, 1997 history noun 1 the condition of being doomed or finished US, 1978. 2 in a swindle, the background on a victim, people likely to be encountered, a location or event US, 1977 history sheeter noun a person with a criminal record INDIA, 2003 hit noun 1 a single inhalation of marijuana, hashish, crack cocaine, or any drug's smoke US, 1952. 2 a dose of a drug US, 1952. 3 an intravenous injection of a drug, usually heroin UK, 1996. 4 a meeting with a drug dealer and a drug user US, 1952. 5 in the eastern US in the early 1990s, prescription medication with codeine US, 1993. 6 a marijuana cigarette UK, 2001. 7 a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003. 8 a deliberate inhalation of solvent fumes, such as glue sniffing UK, 1982. 9 a blast of euphoria, joy, excitement. Figurative use of a drug term US, 1971. 10 the electronic registration of a visit to a website US, 1995. 11 a planned murder US, 1950. 12 an arrest US, 1973. 13 a winning bet in an illegal lottery UK, 1818. 14 in blackjack, a card that a player requests from the dealer to add to his hand US, 1980. 15 in snowboarding, a snow jump CANADA, 1996. ► on hit excellent US, 1997 hit verb 1 to inject drugs into a vein US, 1949. 2 to take an inhalation of marijuana smoke US, 1952. 3 to smoke (marijuana) US, 1949. 4 to guess correctly the day's number in an illegal lottery US, 1947. 5 to kill in a planned, professional manner US, 1949. 6 to rob US, 1970. 7 to cover with graffiti US, 1997. 8 to visit, to go to a place US, 1995. 9 to serve a drink US, 1932. 10 to ask for something, especially money US, 1894. 11 to telephone someone with a mobile phone US, 2002. 12 to win. From cricket TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. 13 to have sex US, 2004. ► be hit with a bit to be sentenced to prison. From BIT (a prison sentence) US, 1962. ► can't hit the bull in the arse with a scoop shovel to be physically or mentally useless. 'This expression describes someone who is totally uncoordinated.

As this involves both a broad weapon and a broad target it refers not to poor marksmanship, but rather to a total inability to act in a coordinated manner.' Chris Thain, Cold as a Bay Street Banker's Heart, 1987 CANADA, 1987. ► hit a hurdle to die; to suffer a severe setback AUSTRALIA, 1989. ► hit a lick to commit a robbery US, 2001.

► hit daylight to be released from prison US, 1988. ► hit for six to demolish another's argument, proposal or plan. A figurative use of a cricketer term UK, 1937. ► hit in the seat an act of anal intercourse US, 1976. ► hit it to leave US, 1930. ► hit it a lick; hit it in poker, to raise a bet US, 1988. ► hit it off to take a mutual liking to someone UK, 1780. ► hit it up to strike up an acquaintance US, 1934. ► hit on the hip to page electronically US, 1996. ► hit the books to study hard US, 1968. ► hit the bottle to bleach your hair blonde. Teen slang, punning on a term associated with drinking US, 1955. ► hit the breeze to leave NEW ZEALAND, 1974. ► hit the bricks to work on the street US, 1973. ► hit the bucket to drink very heavily. A humorous variation on 'hit the bottle' (to drink heavily) UK: SCOTLAND, 1988. ► hit the burner to draw upon all of your inner resources and stamina. US naval aviator usage US, 1986. ► hit the ceiling to become very angry US, 1914. ► hit the cinders to jump or fall from a moving train US, 1977. ► hit the deck 1 to fall or throw yourself to the ground US, 1925. 2 to land a plane UK, 1943. 3 to get out of bed. Often as an imperative UK, 1918. 4 to go to bed UK, 1935. ► hit the dex to work as a DJ. Fashionable spelling for (record) 'decks', combined with a vague play on other senses of HIT THE DECK UK, 2002. ► hit the Dixie to stop idling and start doing something BAHAMAS, 1982.

► hit the gravel; hit the grit to fall from a moving train US, 1946. ► hit the hay to go to bed. Originally used by tramps; anglicised in 1929 by Conan Doyle US, 1912. ► hit the hop to use drugs, especially heroin or opium US, 1963. ► hit the jackpot to have great success or good fortune, especially when unexpected or beyond your expectations. A figurative application of 'jackpot', a poker term applied generally to any gambling prize. Known worldwide in its variant forms: 'crack' (favoured in Australia), 'hit', 'strike' or 'win' US, 2001. ► hit the mainline to inject a drug intravenously. A combination of HIT (to inject) and MAINLINE (a vein) US, 1950. ► hit the moon to reach the highest plateau of a drug experience US, 1971. ► hit the needle to inject a drug intravenously. A combination of HIT (to inject) and the means of delivery US, 1950. ► hit the pipe to smoke crack cocaine US, 1992. ► hit the pit 1 to inject a drug into the armpit. A combination of HIT (to inject) and PIT (the armpit) UK, 1998. 2 to be incarcerated US, 1992. ► hit the post in the language of radio disc jockeys, to talk during the introduction of a song, completing your thought just before the song's vocal begins US, 1997. ► hit the prone to throw yourself to the ground US, 1977. ► hit the road; hit the trail to go; to commence or recommence a journey US, 1899. ► hit the roof to be, or to become very angry, to exhibit that anger UK, 1925. ► hit the sack to go to bed, to go to sleep US, 1912. ► hit the sauce to drink alcohol US, 1997. ► hit the sewer to inject heroin or another drug intravenously US, 1973. ► hit the silk in card games, to withdraw from or end a game or hand. From the military slang for bailing out of an aircraft by parachute (silk) US, 1972. ► hit the skids to deteriorate US, 1958. ► hit the slab to be killed US, 1950. ► hit the toe to depart, to decamp AUSTRALIA, 1983. ► hit the wall to reach a point of exhaustion beyond which lesser athletes will fail to continue, especially of long-distance and marathon runners US, 1982. ► hit with a check to discharge from employment and pay off owed wages US, 1954. ► hit your marks in television and film-making, to move to the proper place at the proper time in a scene US, 1990 hit and get verb to rob one place and then hurry to rob somewhere else UK, 1996 hit and miss; hit or miss noun 1 a kiss. Rhyming slang, 'hit me', which evolves to 'kiss me', to 'kiss'. Sometimes abbreviated to 'hit' UK, 1933. 2 urine; alcoholic drink or (when used with 'the'), drinking or a session of drinking. Rhyming slang for PISS (and ON THE PISS) AUSTRALIA, 1960 hit and run noun 1 a betting technique in which a player places a single bet and withdraws from the game if he wins US, 1950. 2 the sun. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 hit and run verb 1 in casino blackjack, to enter a game when the count is advantageous to the players, to play a few games and

- then to move to another table US, 1991. 2 in poker, to play for a short time, win heavily and quit the game US, 1982
- hit and run adjective 1 (used of entertainment engagements) in one city one night, another city the next US, 1976. 2 swindled. Rhyming slang for 'done' (DO) UK, 1992
- hit-and-split noun a quick air attack followed by a quick retreat US, 1991
- hitch noun 1 a period of duty or service US, 1905. 2 a jail sentence US, 1964
- Hitch nickname Alfred Hitchcock (1899–1980), television and film director US, 1976
- hitch verb to hitchhike. A colloquial shortening US, 1929. ► hitch up the reindeers; hitch up the reindeer to inhale powdered cocaine. Punning variously on SNOW (cocaine) and SLEIGH RIDE (the use of cocaine) US, 1986
- hitched adjective married US, 1857
- hitchhiker noun a commercial message played at the end of a radio programme US, 1980
- hitch up verb to marry, to partner. Figurative application of a conventional 'hitch' (a knot) US, 1902
- hit kiss noun the exchange of crack cocaine smoke from one user to another through a kiss US, 1989
- Hitler's drug noun paramethoxyamphetamine, PMA. The drug was originally created during World War 2 by Hitler's chemists with the intention of enabling Nazi soldiers to fight around the clock. In 1999 the Observer reported fears of the drug's arrival in UK clubs. 1999
- hit list noun a list of targets for retaliation, either physical or otherwise US, 1972
- hit man noun a professional killer US, 1963
- hit on verb to flirt; to proposition US, 1954
- hit or sit verb used for describing a player's two choices in blackjack or twenty-one—draw another card or not US, 1962
- hits noun 1 LSD UK, 1998. 2 a pair of dice that have been altered so that they will not roll a total of seven US, 1962
- hitsville noun success. Used on the normally staid BBC Light Programme, 30th June 1963 UK, 1963
- hit team noun during the Vietnam conflict, a small unit of trained scouts sent on a mission to kill the enemy US, 1987
- hitter noun 1 a hired killer US, 1959. 2 a crack cocaine pipe designed for a single inhalation US, 2001
- hit the hay verb to smoke marijuana US, 1942
- hittin' adjective excellent US, 1991
- hitting; hittin' adjective tasty US, 1993
- hitting fluid noun heroin US, 1973
- hit up verb 1 to inject a drug intravenously US, 1969. 2 to ask for something US, 1988. 3 to go to US, 2002
- hiya used as a casual greeting UK, 1940
- hiya-butt-bay; hiya-butt-bay noun Trecco Bay, Porthcawl in south Wales. In 1947 mining was nationalised and subsequent working practices meant that entire communities relocated to the seaside resort of Porthcawl for 'miners' fortnight'. The friendly greeting 'hiya, butt' (hello, friend) filled the air. The style of holidays changed in the 1960s but the term is still in limited circulation UK: WALES, 2001
- hiya kids used as a humorous greeting. The signature greeting used on the children's television programme Ed's Gang (later Andy's Gang) (1951–58). Repeated with referential humour US, 1955
- hizzie nickname the room, apartment or house where someone lives US, 2002
- Hizzoner nickname used as a jocular reference to a mayor, especially Richard J. Daley, mayor of Chicago from 1955 until his death in 1976. A slurred 'his honor' US, 1882
- HK nickname Hong Kong. Current among the UK Chinese population UK, 1998
- HMCS how my companion snores. A jocular back-formation from HMS (Her Majesty's Canadian Ship) CANADA, 2002
- HMFIC noun a commanding officer, or head motherfucker in charge US, 1993
- HNIC noun the leader of an enterprise, the head nigger in charge US, 1972
- HO verb to withhold more than your share of something. An initialism of 'hold out' US, 1950
- ho; hoe noun 1 a sexually available woman; a woman who may be considered sexually available; a prostitute. Originally black usage, from the southern US pronunciation of 'whore'; now widespread through the influence of rap music US, 1959. 2 a woman. A weakened variation of the previous sense US, 1959. 3 a weak or effeminate man US, 1996
- ho; hoe verb to work as a prostitute US, 1972
- hoaching; hotchin adjective full, teeming, crowded UK: SCOTLAND, 1911
- hoachy adjective exceedingly lucky, fortunate UK: SCOTLAND, 1985
- hoagons noun the female breasts US, 1968
- ho, babe used as a student-to-student greeting US, 1959
- hobber de hoy; hibber de hoy noun an adolescent boy, especially a hooligan. Recorded as rhyming slang by Ray Puxley, Cockney Rabbit, 1992; but probably directly from 'hobbledehoy', first recorded in 1540, which, excepting the nuance of hooliganism, is synonymous; 'hobbledehoy', however, is unlikely to be rhyming slang as the earliest explicit reference to rhyming slang does not appear until about 300 years later in John Camden Hotten's The Slang Dictionary, 1859 UK, 1992
- hobby bobby noun a special constable, a part-time uniformed police officer UK, 2005
- ho-bitch noun a female who has earned a complete lack of respect. Used on those special occasions when just BITCH or just HO is just not enough US, 1997
- hobnail verb to walk NEW ZEALAND, 2000
- hobnail express noun travel by walking US, 1918
- hobo noun 1 a vagrant. Uncertainly derived from 'hoeboy' (a migrant agricultural labourer) or the exclamation 'Ho boy!' (used by mail carriers) US, 1885. 2 in trucking, a tractor trailer that is moved from one terminal to another US, 1971. 3 a homing bomb, one with a targeting capability US, 1975
- hobo bet noun in craps, a bet on the number twelve. From the number's association with boxcars US, 1985
- hobo cocktail noun a glass of water US, 1947
- hobosexual noun a person who is sexually active with several partners in a short period of time US, 1985
- Hobo Woods noun an area in South Vietnam which was a major staging area for the North Vietnamese to launch attacks on Saigon or Cu Chi City US, 1986
- Hobson's choice; hobsons noun 1 the only option that is offered and, therefore, no choice at all. Widely claimed, since 1712, to derive from Tobias Hobson, who hired out horses, and is reputed to have compelled his customers to take whichever horse happened to be next in line, or go without; however, 'Hodgson's choice' is recorded in 1617 UK, 1649. 2 the voice. Rhyming slang UK, 1937
- Ho Chi Minh Motel noun a rest house used by the Viet Cong along a trail or route US, 1967
- Ho Chi Minh sandals noun slip-on sandals made from the treads of discarded tyres, designed and worn by the Viet Cong during the Vietnam war US, 1977
- Ho Chi Minh's curse noun diarrhoea. An existing formation of 'somebody's curse' adapted in Vietnam US, 1991
- Ho Chi Minh Trail noun Route 209 in northeast Pennsylvania US, 1977
- hock noun 1 the male who takes the active role in homosexual intercourse. Origin unknown. Ted Hartley in his glossary of prison slang (1944) says that 'hocks' can mean 'feet', and is therefore in some way related to the term HORSE'S HOOFF. Simes, in his Dictionary of Australian Underworld Slang (1993), suggests that 'hock' is 'feeble' and rhyming slang for 'cock'. Neither of these is overwhelmingly convincing. AUSTRALIA, 1944. 2 the foot UK, 1785. ► in hock 1 in debt, especially to a pawnbroker US, 1883. 2 in prison US, 1859 hock verb 1 to pawn US, 1878. 2 to clear the throat of phlegm. From a confusion with conventional 'hawk' US, 1992. 3 to nag. From the Yiddish US, 1961 hockey box; hock noun a male homosexual prostitute AUSTRALIA, 1985 hockey hair a hair style: the hair is worn short at the front and long at the back. Better known, perhaps, as a MULLET CANADA, 2000 hockeystick noun a mutton chop NEW ZEALAND, 1990

hock shop noun a pawnbroker's shop UK, 1871 hocus noun a solution of heroin that has been heated and is ready to inject US, 1967

hocus verb to alter legitimate dice for cheating purposes US, 1950 hocus pocus; hocus noun cocaine, heroine, morphine or opium; also marijuana. Best remembered as a stage magician's incantation, but claimed to be a mocking corruption of hoc est corpus (this is the body); originally, 1650–1720, 'a juggler/a conjuror'; it was in circulation during C19 and into C20 in the sense of 'criminal deception/shady trickery'; in 1821 as 'to stupefy with alcohol' (for the purposes of robbery) and hence 'hocus' became 'a drugged liquor' from as early as 1725 and well into C19 served as an adjective meaning 'intoxicated'. All these meanings condensed into a catalogue of hard drugs during C20; 'marijuana' joined the list in the 1980s UK, 1938 hodad noun a non-surfer who associates with surfers and poses as a surfer US, 1961 hoddie noun a labourer working for a bricklayer AUSTRALIA, 1952 hod of shit noun a great deal of trouble US, 1981 hoe noun a fellow black man, usually in context of sexual bragging. From HOMEBOY (close friend), punning on 'hero' US, 1987 ► see: HO hoedown noun a street fight between youth gangs US, 1993 hoe in verb to attack physically and with vigour NEW ZEALAND, 2002 hoe into verb to attack a task with vigour, especially the eating of a meal AUSTRALIA, 1935 hocking noun a fight, especially between youth gangs US, 1971 hog noun 1 a powerful motorcycle, especially a large Harley-Davidson motorcycle US, 1965. 2 a utility helicopter equipped with rockets and machine guns US, 1991. 3 a Cadillac or other large luxury car US, 1960. 4 the penis US, 1968. 5 a police officer. A variation on PIG (a police officer) US, 1970. 6 a US Marine Corps recruit during basic training. Contemptuous US, 1968. 7 a leader; a strong personality US, 1989. 8 a drug addict who requires large doses to sustain his habit US, 1952. 9 heroin US, 2000. 10 marijuana. A term apparently coined by US soliders during the conflict in Vietnam, drawn from 'hash, o, grass' US, 1968. 11 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1971. 12 a strong sedative, trade name Benaceyzine™ US, 1977. 13 a computer program that uses a high degree of a computer's resources US, 1991. ► beat the hog (used of a male) to masturbate US, 1971. ► hog is pork there is no difference between the two alternatives being discussed TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. ► on the hog homosexual US, 1976 hog verb 1 to speak rudely TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. 2 to rape US, 1972. 3 in high-low poker, to declare for both high and low US, 1996

Hog-60 noun an M-60 machine gun. Each squad in Vietnam was assigned an M-60, the army's general purpose machine gun which entered the service in the 1950s. It was designed to be lightweight (23 pounds) and easy to carry. It produced a low 'grunting' sound and thus the porcine allusions US, 1987

Hogan's Alley nickname the Riviera Country Club, Pacific Palisades, California. Hogan enjoyed great success there, especially in 1947 and 48 US, 1997 hog board noun a bulletin board where soldiers post pictures of their families and girlfriends. Marine usage in Vietnam US, 1974 hog eye; hogger; hoghead; hogineer; hog jerk; hog jockey noun a railway engineer US, 1977 hog fuel noun sawdust and bark produced by sawmills, burnt to generate steam for electricity CANADA, 1989 hogging noun a romantic interest in heavy people US, 2004 hog jaws noun a special plough blade fitted to a D7E bulldozer, or Rome Plow, for use in land clearing operations in Vietnam US, 1991 hog-leg; hog leg noun 1 an oversized handgun US, 1919. 2 a large marijuana cigarette US, 1997 hog liver noun in electric line work, a flat porcelain guy strain insulator US, 1980 hogman noun a criminal who silences alarms while a crime is committed UK, 1996

hogmaster; hogmauler noun a railway engineer US, 1977 hog out verb in motor mechanics, to enlarge an engine's openings or passages US, 1993 hog pen noun a prison guards' control room US, 1984 hog-tie verb to bind the hands and feet US, 1894

Hogtown nickname Toronto. Nicknamed for the early C20 growth of farmer's markets and slaughterhouses, Toronto has also continued to be known as TORONTO THE GOOD CANADA, 1985 hog up verb to address with a lack of respect BARBADOS, 1965 hog wallow noun the slot used as a sighting plane on the topstrap of a Colt or Smith and Wesson pistol US, 1957 hogwash noun nonsense US, 1882 hog whimpering adjective very drunk UK, 1983 hoha noun a fuss NEW ZEALAND, 1983

hoha adjective weary NEW ZEALAND, 2003

ho-ho noun a fat teenage girl US, 1982 hoick verb 1 to spit AUSTRALIA, 1941. 2 to throw or chuck; to loft AUSTRALIA, 1972. 3 to raise, to hoist. Sometimes spelt 'hoik' UK, 1898

hoicked-up adjective raised, especially artificially lifted UK, 2003 hoi polloi noun the common people; the unwashed masses UK, 1822 hoist noun ► on the hoist engaged in shoplifting UK, 1958 hoist verb 1 to drink (an alcoholic beverage) UK, 1983. 2 to rob with guns US, 1928. 3 to shoplift UK, 2000

hoister noun 1 a shoplifter; a pickpocket UK, 1790. 2 in circus and carnival usage, a ferris wheel US, 1981

hoisting noun shoplifting UK, 1936 hoisting bloomers noun a capacious undergarment used by shoplifters UK, 1956 hoity-toity adjective snobbish, haughty, assuming, uppish. Directly from the earlier form 'highly-tighty' UK, 1720

Ho Jo's nickname a Howard Johnson restaurant. A fixture along US motorways in the 1950s and 60s US, 1965

hokey; hoky; hokie adjective sentimental; mawkish; in poor taste US, 1927 hokey cokey noun karaoke. Rhyming slang for a modern singalong entertainment enjoyed after a few drinks formed from the name of a song and dance that used to be enjoyed after a few drinks UK, 1998 hokey-pokey noun 1 sexual intercourse. A play both on POKE (to have sex) and the childrens' song and dance, the 'hokey cokey' UK, 1983. 2 in circus and carnival usage, any shoddy, inexpensive merchandise US, 1981

hokum noun nonsense US, 1921 hold noun in casino gambling, the amount of money bet that is retained by the casino US, 1977. ► in the hold hidden in a pocket or elsewhere on the body US, 1961 hold verb 1 to be in possession of drugs US, 1935. 2 to be in possession of money US, 1967. ► get hold of to have sex with someone UK, 2003. ► hold court to get in a shoot-out with police US, 1974. ► hold feet to the fire to apply great pressure and demand results UK, 1995. ► hold no brief for not to support or actively sympathise with someone UK, 1918. ► hold the bag to take the blame US, 1985. ► hold the fort; mind the fort to manage temporarily in an absentee's stead UK, 1870. ► hold your dick to do nothing; to wait idly UK, 2001. ► hold your mud to stand up to pressure and adversity US, 1966. ► hold your mug to keep a secret US, 1970 hold down verb 1 to maintain (a position of employment) US, 1896. 2 to control (a block or neighbourhood). Youth gang usage US, 1985 holder noun a prisoner, usually not a gang member, entrusted with storing drugs controlled by a prison gang US, 1992 holding adjective in possession of ready cash AUSTRALIA, 1922 holding ground noun a position, literally or figuratively, where you can weather adversity. From the nautical term for an area where the sea bottom provides a firm hold for anchors US, 1963 holding pen noun 1 a cell in a local jail where prisoners are held when they first arrive, pending a decision on whether criminal charges will be filed against them or not US, 1981. 2 a boarding school NEW ZEALAND, 2001

holding tank noun a cell at a local jail where the recently arrested are held before being processed US, 1994 hold-it noun a gratuitous television view of a pretty girl or woman, usually a spectator at a sporting event US, 1986 hold out on verb to refuse to give something, often information US, 1907 hold paddock noun a retirement home NEW ZEALAND, 1994 hold the bus!; haud the bus! slow down!; wait a minute! UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 hold the phone! wait a minute! US, 1975 hold with verb to agree with or approve of something or someone UK, 1895 hold your horses verb used imperatively to urge inaction US, 1844 hole noun 1 the vagina; sex with a woman; a woman; women UK, 1592. 2 the anus UK, 1607. 3 the mouth US, 1865. 4 a passive, promiscuous, unattached lesbian US, 1992. 5 in prison, a cell designed for solitary confinement. Always with 'the' UK, 1535. 6 an undesirable place; a place that is dirty or disordered UK, 1876. 7 any place where a supply of illegal drugs is hidden US, 1993. 8 a monetary or social difficulty, a mess, a scrape UK, 1760. 9 the subway (underground) US, 1933. 10 a mine US, 1977. 11 on the railways, a passing track US, 1946. 12 in trucking, a position in the gear box US, 1971. 13 a tobacco cigarette US, 1971. 14 in drag racing, the starting line US, 1970. ► after his hole; after his end of a man, seeking sex with a woman. From HOLE (the vagina) or END (the penis) UK, 1961. ► get your hole to have sexual intercourse IRELAND, 1991. ► go in the hole to fall from a pole, tower, rig or building under construction US, 1989. ► in the hole in police usage, hiding and avoiding work US, 1973 hole bit noun while in prison, a sentence to solitary confinement US, 1967 hole card noun 1 in stud poker, a card dealt face-down US, 1967. 2 a resource in reserve US, 1926. 3 the key to a person's character. From the game of stud poker, in which a 'hole card' is a card dealt face-down US, 1968 hole-in-one noun sexual intercourse on a first date. A puerile golf metaphor US, 1972 hole in the ground; hole noun a pound. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 hole in the head noun the epitome of something that is not needed at all. From Yiddish US, 1951 hole in the wall noun 1 an automated cash machine UK, 1985. 2 in trucking, a tunnel US, 1976 hole olie noun in stud poker, a card dealt face-down. A jocular embellishment of HOLE CARD US, 1967 holes noun ► the holes a location, such as a public lavatory, where men may have anonymous sex with each other by means of holes bored between private cubicles UK, 1996 hole shot noun in drag racing, the art of starting at the first possible moment without incurring a foul for starting too soon US, 1970 holetime noun solitary confinement in prison US, 1967 hole to bowl noun the path taken during defecation on a toilet US, 1969 hole up verb to hide UK, 1875 holey dollar noun a Spanish dollar with a hole punched in the centre CANADA, 1963 holiday noun in horse racing, the term of a suspension from competing AUSTRALIA, 1989

Holiday Inn noun any large US base camp in Vietnam where field troops would stand down for several days before returning to combat in the field US, 1986

HOLLAND written on an envelope, or at the foot of a lover's letter as lovers' code for 'here our love lies and never dies' or 'hope our love lasts and never dies'. Widely known, and well used by servicemen; now a part of the coded vocabulary of texting UK, 1984 holler verb to talk US, 2001 holler adjective stylish US, 1961 holler and hoot verb to engage in an abusive verbal attack UK, 2001 holler and shout noun a German. Rhyming slang for KRAUT UK, 1992 holler boys holler; holler boys noun a collar. Old rhyming slang, originally 'holloa boys', 'holloa', from a chant used on Guy Fawkes night, with a use dating back to the time of the detachable collar. Modern use is reduced to the first two elements and often without the 'h' UK, 1960

holli noun a marijuana cigarette which is placed in a pipe for smoking US, 2001 hollies; hollyers noun holidays, vacation IRELAND, 1991 hollow leg noun a characteristic ascribed to someone who is able to eat or drink in great quantities US, 1992

Hollyweird nickname Hollywood, California US, 1953

Hollywood noun 1 used as a teasing term of address for someone whose clothes and mannerisms suggest a high level of showmanship US, 1973. 2 a dramatic outburst NEW ZEALAND, 1983. 3 a feigned injury NEW ZEALAND, 1972. 4 in hot rodding, an extravagant, ostentatious exhaust system US, 1958

Hollywood glider noun the B-17 Flying Fortress. The B-17 appeared frequently in films US, 1946

Hollywood no noun an answer of 'no' implicit in the failure to return a phone call US, 1992

Hollywoods noun dark glasses US, 1966

Hollywood shower noun in Antarctica, a shower that exceeds the two-minute showers permitted by military authorities ANTARCTICA, 2003

Hollywood stop noun a rolling stop at a traffic signal or a stop sign US, 1986

Holmes noun used as a term of address from male-to-male. Playing on the term 'homes' US, 1975

hols noun holidays (both singular and plural), a vacation UK, 1905

Holstein noun a police car. An allusion to the black and white markings of the cow and a police car US, 1961 holy adjective great, extreme, 1978 holy cats! used for registering surprise, shock or alarm US, 2001 holy chain lightning! used as a mild oath in Nova Scotia CANADA, 1988

holy city noun in poker, a high-value hand US, 1988 holy cow! used as a mild oath, expressing surprise. Popularised by baseball radio announcers Harry Caray and Phil Rizzuto US, 1927 holy crap! used for registering surprise. A variation of HOLY SHIT US, 2001

Holyfield noun fine quality marijuana. A neat pun using the name of three-time world heavyweight champion boxer Evander 'Real Deal' Holyfield (b.1962); here 'holy' implies 'the purest' and combines with a 'field (of grass)', and Holyfield's nickname 'Real Deal' guarantees the quality UK, 2000

Holyfield's ear; olyfields noun a year. Rhyming slang, formed in honour of boxer Evander Holyfield, whose ear was bitten by his opponent Mike Tyson during a 1997 world heavyweight title fight UK, 1998 holy fuck! used for registering shock or surprise US, 1982 holy ghost noun 1 the corpse of a person who has died from gunshot wounds US, 1987. 2 a coast. Glasgow rhyming slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1988. 3 in racing, the starting post or the winning post. Rhyming slang UK, 1932. 4 toast. Rhyming slang UK, 1960 holy guacamole! used satirically as a register of shock or surprise. 'Guacamole' is pronounced to rhyme with 'holy' UK, 2003

Holy Joe noun any religious leader. The term suggests a lack of sincerity US, 1864

Holy Lands noun an area of central Belfast. Named for its principal arteries: Damascus Street, Jerusalem Street and Canterbury Street UK: NORTHERN IRELAND, 2001 holy man! used as a powerful exclamation. Michigan Upper Peninsula usage US, 2003 holy moo cow! used as an expression of complete surprise. A jocular embellishment of the more common HOLY COW! US, 1968 holy nail noun bail. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 holy of holies noun 1 the vagina. A crude pun on HOLE US, 1994. 2 any inner sanctum US, 1995 holy oil noun an oil applied to the skin or clothing in the belief that it will bring the bettor luck in an illegal number gambling lottery US, 1949

holy old mackinaw! used as a curse CANADA, 1988

holy old snappin' arseholes! used as an oath in Nova Scotia with allusions to both the lobster and fear CANADA, 1988 holy olie noun in stud poker, the hole card US, 1951 holy shit! used for registering astonishment US, 1986 holy show noun an embarrassment, a ridiculous sight IRELAND, 1984 holy smoke noun branded soft drink Coca-Cola™, Coke™. Rhyming slang, originally used of the solid fuel UK, 1992 holy smoke! used as an exclamation of surprise and wonder UK, 1892 holy snappin'! used as a curse or oath CANADA, 1982

holy Toledo! used for registering surprise. A little bit of Holy Toledo goes a long way. A trademark of Milo Hamilton, radio broadcaster for the Houston Astros baseball team, and often used by Skipper, the son of Jungle Jim on Jungle Jim (1955) US, 1951 holy war noun a debate among computer enthusiasts about a question which has no objective answer US, 1991 holy water noun 1 official approval. US naval aviator usage; to give such approval is to 'sprinkle holy water' US, 1986. 2 a daughter. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 holy weed noun marijuana US, 2001 holy week noun the bleed period of a woman's menstrual cycle US, 1964 holy whistlin' frig! used as a curse in Nova Scotia CANADA, 1988

hom verb ► hom it up to flaunt your homosexuality. Substitutes an abbreviation of 'homosexual' for CAMP (affected) in 'camp it up' (to flaunt affectation) UK, 2001 hombre noun 1 a man. Spanish hombre (a man), spread worldwide by Hollywood Westerns such as Hombre, 1967, starring Paul Newman US, 1846. 2 a male friend. Adapted from the previous sense; this usage possibly informed by a phonetic similarity to HOMEBOY (a close friend) UK, 2001. 3 heroin. From Spanish hombre (a man) US, 1998 home noun 1 a very close male friend. An abbreviation of HOMEBOY US, 1944. 2 the vein into which an intravenous drug user injects a drug US, 1973. ► at home in the going in horse racing, said of a horse that is running a track that complements the horse's skills and preferences US, 1951. ► send home to sentence to prison US, 1990

Home nickname England or Great Britain. As used by C18–19 colonists this is par for the course, and that their direct descendants would use this also is hardly surprising, however, this locution remained in common use (in speech, if not by self-conscious writers) well into C20 and only began to die out in the 1970s. Now it is very much a thing of the past AUSTRALIA, 1808 home and dry adjective safe and sound; having accomplished an arduous task UK, 1930 home and hosed adjective 1 (of a racehorse) expected to win AUSTRALIA, 1975. 2 all finished and done with. Said of a task that is easily accomplished AUSTRALIA, 1945

homebake noun morphine or heroin extracted from codeine compounds NEW ZEALAND, 2002

homebaker noun a person who illegally manufactures drugs NEW ZEALAND, 1986 home base; home run noun in the teenage categorisation of sexual activity, sexual intercourse US, 1963 home box noun a computer enthusiast's own computer US, 1991 homeboy noun a very close male friend, often but not always from the same neighbourhood US, 1899 home cooking noun sex with your spouse US, 1964

homee noun ► see: OMEE home ec noun home economics, in which the theory and practice of homemaking are studied US, 1899 home-ec-y adjective (used of a girl) conventional, out of touch with current fashions, styles and trends US, 1970

homee-palone noun ► see: OMEE-PALONE homegirl noun a very close female friend, usually from the same neighbourhood, gang or faction of a gang, usually applied to a black girl US, 1934 homegrown noun marijuana, cultivated locally US, 1974

homeguard noun a local worker, as contrasted with a travelling or migratory worker; a local resident US, 1903 homemade noun 1 a cigarette rolled by hand from loose tobacco US, 1954. 2 a home-made pistol US, 1949 home on the range noun change. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1989 home on the range adjective strange. Rhyming slang, formed from the title of a well-known cowboy anthem (actually, the official song of the state of Kansas) UK, 1998 home plate noun an aeroplane's home base or carrier US, 1991 home port noun a trucker's residence. Jocular use US, 1976 homer noun 1 a job done privately by a tradesman outside of his regular employment. Glasgow slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1996. 2 a wound sufficiently serious to require treatment away from the theatre of war AUSTRALIA, 1945. 3 a referee or sports official who favours the home team US, 1888

Homer noun any Iraqi soldier. Gulf war usage; an allusion to the doltish Homer Simpson of television cartoon fame US, 1991 homers noun home-brewed beer. A gift to the slang of the South Pole from its Australian visitors AUSTRALIA, 1970 home run noun the journey of a circus from the final engagement of the season to the winter quarters US, 1980 ► see: HOME BASE. ► hit a home run to have sex US, 2001 homerunner noun an artillery shell that hits its target directly US, 1991 homes noun home used as a term of address, usually establishing comrade status US, 1971 home skillet noun a close friend US, 1993 homeslice noun 1 a close friend US, 1984. 2 a prisoner from your home city US, 1992 homesteader noun 1 an American who had been in Vietnam for more than a few years US, 1991. 2 a person who is dating one person steadily. High school usage US, 1961

Homesteader's Bible noun the Eaton department store catalogue CANADA, 1987 homesteader's fiddle noun a cross-cut saw CANADA, 1954 home sweet home noun in circus and carnival usage, the final performance of a season US, 1987 hometown honey noun a college student's date from their hometown US, 1968 home twenty noun a person's home town. From citizens' band radio code in which '20' means 'location' US, 1976 homework noun foreplay US, 1993. ► bit of homework; piece of homework a person objectified sexually UK, 1945 homewrecker noun a person whose affair with a married person leads to divorce, especially when there are children involved US, 1968 homey; homie noun a male from your neighbourhood; a close male friend; a fellow youth gang member US, 1944 homey, don't play dat! don't say that! A catchphrase from the television programme In Living Color US, 1990 homicide noun heroin or cocaine mixed with prescription drugs, such as scopolamine or strychnine UK, 1998

homie noun a homosexual US, 1990 ► homing pigeon noun the US armed forces insignia designating honourable discharge US, 1946 homintern noun an aggressive, loyal homosexual subculture. A term coined by W.H. Auden, punning on the Marxist 'comintern' or Communist International US, 1968 homme noun a homosexual male. A pun on French homme (a man) and the first syllable of homosexual UK, 2005 homo noun 1 a homosexual, especially a male homosexual US, 1922. 2 used as an insulting term of address to someone who is not homosexual US, 1993

homogrips noun sideburns NEW ZEALAND, 1998

homo-hater noun a person with a pathological dislike for homosexuals US, 1979 homo heaven noun 1 a public area where homosexuals congregate in hopes of quick sex US, 1965. 2 the upper balcony in a theatre patronised by homosexual men US, 1966 homosexual adapter noun a computer cable with either two male or two female connectors US, 1991

hon noun used as a term of endearment. A shortened 'honey'. Fiercely claimed by Baltimore, Maryland, as a Baltimore-coinage US, 1906 hon bun noun used as a term of endearment. A shortened 'honey bunny' US, 1940s honcho noun a boss, a big-shot. From the Japanese term for 'a group or squad leader' US, 1945

Honda rice noun IR8, a high-yielding variety of rice introduced in Vietnam in the 1960s, doubling rice production yields US, 1985 hondo noun 1 an attractive, popular male US, 1986. 2 a zealous enthusiast US, 1968 honest noun cherry syrup added to a soda fountain drink. From the American legend of George Washington's honesty when asked as a child if he cut down a cherry tree US, 1946 honest adjective (used of a drug) relatively pure and undiluted US, 1970 honest! I am speaking the truth!; I do mean it! A shortening of 'honestly' UK, 1937

Honest Abe noun General Creighton Williams Abrams, Jr (1914–1974). Abrams succeeded General Westmoreland as US commander in Vietnam, where he championed the Vietnamisation of the war US, 1991 honest brakeman adjective a person who engages in petty theft at work but not grand theft. From the faint praise – 'he worked for the railroad for thirty years and never stole a boxcar' CANADA, 2002 honest injun' used as a pledge of complete honesty US, 1851 honest John noun 1 a decent, upstanding, law-abiding citizen US, 1884. 2 in a shoplifting operation, an honest-looking confederate who distracts the store personnel US, 1974 honest kine? is that right? Hawaiian youth usage US, 1981 honestly! used as an expression of disgust, exasperation, unpleasant surprise, etc UK, 1966 honest reader noun a playing card with an unintentional imperfection that enables an observant player to identify it in another player's hand US, 1988 honest squeeze noun a cherry squeeze soda fountain drink. An allusion to the George Washington myth involving the cutting down of a cherry tree US, 1952 honest-to-God; honest-to-goodness adjective true, genuine, thorough, honest; truly, genuinely, thoroughly, honestly US, 1913 honey noun 1 a sexually attractive young woman. Sometimes spelled 'hunny' US, 1930. 2 a female surfer or a male surfer's girlfriend US, 1986. 3 a sexually desirable person UK; SCOTLAND, 1985. 4 an 'effeminate' lesbian US, 1978. 5 used as a term of affectionate address UK, 1350. 6 anything considered pleasing, attractive, effective, etc US, 1888 ► see: POT OF HONEY honey bear noun a policewoman. Extended from BEAR (police) US, 1976 honey blunt noun marijuana rolled in the outer leaves of a cigar which are then sealed with honey US, 2003 honey box noun the vagina US, 1969 honey bucket noun 1 a portable toilet US, 1976. 2 a chamberpot US, 1931. 3 a truck used to empty septic tanks US, 1971 honey cart noun a vehicle hauling human excrement; a portable toilet US, 1929 honey dip noun an attractive woman, especially one with a light brown skin colour US, 1993 honey dipper noun the driver of a truck that drains septic tanks US, 1961 honey dipping noun vaginal secretions US, 1949 honey-fuck verb 1 to have sex in a slow, affectionate manner US, 1964. 2 to have sex with a Lolita-aged nymphet US, 1967 honey, I'm home! used for humorously announcing an entrance. From the Dick Van Dyke Show (1961–66), a centrepiece in the golden age of the situation comedy on US television US, 1988 honeymen noun a procurer of prostitutes; a man who makes his living off the earnings of prostitutes US, 1982 honeymoon noun 1 sex. Used by prostitutes in Southeast Asia during the Vietnam war US, 1976. 2 the early period in a drug addiction US, 1952. 3 the first few hands played by a new player in a poker game US, 1996 honey oil noun the recreational drug ketamine US, 1994 honey perrs noun stairs. Glasgow rhyming slang, formed on a street-vendors cry for 'sweet pears' UK; SCOTLAND, 1996 honeypot noun 1 the vagina. Recorded as rhyming slang for TWAT (the vagina) It certainly rhymes, but must surely be influenced – if not inspired – by senses that are conventional, figurative and slang. Found once in the UK in 1719, and then in general slang usage with 'candy' US, 1958. 2 in male homosexual usage, the anus and rectum US, 1981. 3 a chamber pot US, 1954. 4 in Maine, a muddy hole in the road US, 1975 honey shot noun a gratuitous television view of a pretty girl or woman, usually a spectator at a sporting event US, 1968 honeypot noun the seduction by a sexually attractive person of a politician or other prominent figure into dishonest or indiscreet behaviour. Used in conversation since the early 1990s NEW ZEALAND, 2002 honey wagon noun 1 a vehicle hauling human excrement; a portable toilet US, 1923. 2 a truck hauling beer US, 1976. 3 a catering truck US, 1992

Hongcouver nickname the city of Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada CANADA, 2002

Hong Kong verb to be odoriferous. Rhyming slang for PONG UK, 1992

Hong Kong adjective wrong. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 hong-yen noun heroin, originally in pill form US, 1949

honk noun pleasure; enjoyment US, 1964 honk verb 1 to moan, to complain. A military usage UK, 1995. 2 to vomit UK, 1967. 3 to fart. Also used as a noun. From the noise of geese – low-flying geese may be offered as an excuse – or 'honk' (to smell), 1998. 4 to smell badly AUSTRALIA, 1977. 5 to inhale drugs, originally through the nose US, 1968. 6 when flying an aeroplane or helicopter, to pull, to jerk, to yank US, 1946. 7 in drag racing, to defeat US, 1993. ► honk your horn to grab a man's penis US, 1970.

► honk your lot to vomit. An elaboration of HONK UK, 1974

honked adjective drunk. Of military origin UK, 1959 honked off adjective angry US, 1958 honker noun 1 the penis US, 1968. 2 the nose US, 1942. 3 expectorated sputum US, 1981. 4 a goose US, 1841. 5 a large and powerful wave US, 1991. 6 in drag racing, a fast stock car US, 1968

honkers noun drunk. Perhaps deriving from HONK (to vomit) as a side-effect of drunkenness. Used in the military for 'very drunk' UK, 1958

Honkers nickname Hong Kong. Military, especially used by officers UK, 1984 honking adjective 1 very smelly; of inferior quality UK-SCOTLAND, 1985. 2 very large US, 1995

honk on verb in the usage of youthful model road racers (slot car racers), to race fast US, 1997

Honky noun a person from Hong Kong AUSTRALIA, 2003

honky; honkie; honkey noun a white person. Usually not said with kindness, especially when used to describe a member of the white ruling class US, 1946 honky nut noun in Western Australia, a large gumnut (the hard, dried, inedible fruit of a eucalyptus tree) AUSTRALIA, 1996 honky-tonk noun a saloon, dance-hall or gambling-house. Also used as an adjective US, 1894 honourable member for Fuckinghamshire noun the penis. Jocular UK, 2003 hoo-ah! used for expressing enthusiastic approval US, 1991

hoobly goobly noun nonsense US, 1956 hooch; hootch noun 1 alcohol US, 1915. 2 a peasant hut; a small, improvised shelter. Korean and then Vietnam war usage US, 1952. 3 marijuana. Sometimes variant 'hoochie' US, 1972

hooch dog noun a marijuana cigarette US, 1986 hooched-up adjective drunk. From HOOCH (an alcoholic drink; also, in the UK, a brand name alcoholic drink popular with young drinkers) US, 1922 hooch girl noun a young Vietnamese woman who worked as a maid or did laundry for US troops US, 1981 hooch-head noun a drunkard US, 1946 hoochie noun in British Columbia fishing, a soft plastic lure with tentacles CANADA, 1989 ► see: HOOTCHIE hoochy koochy noun a sexually suggestive dance US, 1895 hood noun 1 a neighbourhood, especially in an urban ghetto US, 1967. 2 a rough street youth; a criminal. A shortened 'hoodlum' US, 1880. 3 the penis. West Indian and UK black usage. Collected from a UK prisoner in May 2002 JAMAICA, 1995. 4 the chest US, 1989. 5 heroin UK, 2003. 6 a 12 ounce bottle of beer US, 1967. ► under the hood literally, flying by instrumentation; figuratively, operating without knowing exactly what is going on US, 1956

hoodie noun a sweatshirt or jacket with a hood US, 1993 hoodish adjective tough, criminal US, 1967 hood lifter noun a motor mechanic US, 1971

hoodlum noun a ruffian, a gangster, especially if dangerous. Probably from a printing error on a reversal of Muldoon (a known gangster's name), thus 'noodlum', hence 'hoodlum'; of other folk-etymologies only a gang-cry of 'huddle 'em!' is moderately convincing US, 1871 hoodoo noun an outcropping of rock in desolate western Canadian land US, 1879 hoodrat noun 1 a tough youth who prowls the streets of his inner-city neighbourhood, in search of trouble and fun US, 1997. 2 a promiscuous girl US, 1997

hoor; hoor noun a whore. Representing a spelling pronunciation of 'whore'. This came to be a general term of abuse and was applied not only to women, but also to men AUSTRALIA, 1952

hooer lure noun aftershave lotion. Given the crudeness of typical hockey player talk, the word 'hooer' may refer to any woman, not just a prostitute CANADA, 1991 hooley noun 1 nonsense US, 1912. 2 a rope wrapped around three feet of an animal, secured with a half hitch CANADA, 1987 hoof noun 1 a foot or shoe UK, 1598. 2 a sea turtle's flipper CAYMAN ISLANDS, 1985. ► on the hoof 1 working as a prostitute on the streets US, 1977. 2 on the spot, spontaneously. From the literal sense of the term, applied to cattle or swine, meaning 'alive' US, 1992.

► the hoof dismissal from employment; expulsion UK, 1973 hoof verb 1 to dance US, 1916. 2 to walk UK, 1641 hoof and toof noun foot and mouth disease. Farmers' use UK, 2001 hoofe noun a professional dancer, especially a tap dancer US, 1916 hoofprint noun footprints that could be identified as or surmised to be made by Viet Cong or North Vietnamese soldiers US, 1989 hoof up verb to sniff up, to inhale through the nose, to snort. Possibly from a mispronunciation of HOOVER UK, 2002 hoo-ha noun a fuss or commotion; nonsense UK, 1931 hoo-haw noun a fight, a dispute CANADA, 1959

hoo-ing and ha-ing noun a commotion, the making of a fuss. From the noun HOO-HA UK, 2000 hook noun 1 in a pickpocket team, the confederate who actually makes the theft UK, 1863. 2 a thief. Originally applied specifically to a pickpocket UK, 1863. 3 a shoplifter UK, 1961. 4 a finger, the hand. Usually used in the plural UK, 1829. 5 a key or lockpick US, 1970. 6 in the used car business, a person who reverses the mileometer (odometer) to reduce the mileage shown US, 1992. 7 a person who strives to be that which he is not US, 1989. 8 a prostitute. A shortened HOOKER US, 1918. 9 a contact in the police department with influence US, 1973. 10 a superior with influence and the ability to protect. New York police slang US, 1997. 11 a telephone or telephone call US, 1975. 12 a CH-47 Chinook helicopter. Vietnam war usage US, 1968. 13 a railway demolition crane US, 1946. 14 a razor US, 1962. 15 the concave part of a wave US, 1963. 16 a chevron insignia US, 1947. 17 the grade 'C' US, 1968. 18 a feature in a computer or computer program designed to facilitate later changes or enhancements US, 1991. 19 in a confidence swindle, the stage in the swindle when the victim is fully committed to the scheme US, 1969. 20 in pointspreads established by bookmakers in sports betting, half a point US, 1991. 21 in a deck of playing cards, a jack or knave US, 1961. ► off the hook 1 out of a difficult or embarrassing situation UK, 1864. 2 amazing, excellent US, 1999. ► on the hook 1 in debt US, 1957. 2 in love. Teen slang US, 1951. 3 being towed by a tow truck UK, 1951. 4 skipping school US, 1906 hook verb 1 to addict US, 1922. 2 to inject by hypodermic needle US, 1953. 3 to snare in a swindle UK, 1730. 4 to steal US, 1951. 5 to take, but not necessarily to steal UK, 1947. 6 to engage in prostitution US, 1959. 7 to ride a racehorse so that it will lose AUSTRALIA, 1982. 8 in trucking, to shift gears. Most often heard as 'hook 'er into high' US, 1971. 9 to arrest US, 1928. ► hook a barracuda to locate and show a gratuitous television view of a pretty girl or woman, usually a spectator at a sporting event US, 1986

hook and book verb to handcuff and arrest a criminal suspect US, 1994 hook and bullet crowd noun hunters and recreational fishermen, collectively as a lobbying force US, 1990 hooked adjective 1 addicted to drugs. Originally a transitive verb – the drug hooking the person – but that formation is long forgotten in the US US, 1922. 2 'addicted' to anything non-addictive UK, 1984. 3 obsessed by an activity or a person. Figurative application of the sense 'addicted to drugs' UK, 1984. 4 taken care of US, 1989. 5 put together or arranged well US, 2002. 6 (of a shot in pool) obstructed US, 1979 hooker noun 1 a prostitute. Probably derives from the conventional sense of 'hook' (to lure); possibly reinforced by now obsolete slang: 'hook' (to rob); and with reference to Corlear's Hook, popularly The Hook, an area of New York City known for prostitution US, 1845. 2 in a deck of playing cards, a queen. An evolved form of the more common WHORE US, 1967. 3 a towing truck US, 1978. 4 a shunter (a locomotive used for moving train carriages around a shunting yard). Railwaymen's term UK, 1970. 5 on a moped, a modified exhaust pipe BERMUDA, 1985. 6 the hand. A variant of the more common HOOK US, 1959. 7 a strong alcoholic drink UK, 1833. 8 a cigarette. Teen slang US, 1951 hooknose noun a Jewish person. Offensive, based on a stereotyped racial characteristic US, 1867 hook-off-the-nail noun clothing bought off the rack, ready to wear BAHAMAS, 1982 hooks noun in electric and telephone line work, climbing irons US, 1980 hook shop noun a brothel. From HOOKER (prostitute) US, 1889 hook up verb 1 to meet someone; to meet someone and have sex US, 1986. 2 to work in partnership US, 1996. 3 to arm yourself US, 1973. 4 in drag racing and motor racing, to achieve maximum traction US, 1980. 5 to provide US, 1993 hooky; hooky adjective criminal, stolen, counterfeit. Plays on BENT UK, 1984 hooky bob verb in icy winter conditions, to grab the bumper of a passing car and use your feet as skis as you are pulled along US, 1997

hooley noun an especially lively party IRELAND, 1877

hoolie noun a hooligan UK, 1996 hooligan noun in motor racing on a dirt track, a consolation race US, 1965 hooley-dooley; hooley-dooley wow! AUSTRALIA, 1965 hoon noun 1 a man who lives off the earnings of prostitutes; a pimp AUSTRALIA, 1949. 2 a loud ignorant lout; a hooligan. Origin unknown AUSTRALIA, 1938. 3 a person who drives recklessly AUSTRALIA, 1985. 4 a trip in a motor vehicle taken for the pleasure of, especially fast, driving AUSTRALIA, 1996 hoon verb to drive recklessly AUSTRALIA, 1992

hoonah light noun in the pornography industry, a light used to illuminate the genitals of the performers US, 1995 hoondom noun an assemblage of louts NEW ZEALAND, 1983

hoonered adjective drunk UK, 2003 hooning noun loutish behaviour NEW ZEALAND, 1986 hoonish adjective loutish NEW ZEALAND, 1970 hoonmobile noun a lout-driven car NEW ZEALAND, 1993 hoop noun 1 in criminal circles, a finger-ring. Conventional English for three centuries, and then ascended to criminal slang US, 1856. 2 the rectum as a place to hide prison contraband US, 1989. 3 a jockey AUSTRALIA, 1941 hoopdee noun a new, late-model car US, 1971 hooped adjective drunk NEW ZEALAND, 1998

hoopie noun a bicycling enthusiast who spends more time and effort buying equipment and clothing than actually bicycling US, 1997 hoopla noun a commotion. Originally, the cry associated with the fairground game of tossing hoops over blocks US, 1877 hoople noun a fool, a dolt US, 1928

hoople head noun an idiot US, 1985 hoop rod noun a car. Formed from HOT ROD and HOOPY US, 2001 hoops noun handcuffs US, 1949 hoop snake noun a mythical snake that holds its own tail and rolls. A tale told to impress and frighten gullible visitors. An early example of the story (though not the term itself) can be found in J.S. James, The Vagabond Papers, 1877 AUSTRALIA, 2003 hoopsy-coopsy adjective drunk NEW ZEALAND, 1962

hoopy noun a run-down, shoddy car US, 1970

hoor; hure noun a whore. Variant early spellings from C14 and C15, surviving in current Irish slang UK, 1987 hoo-raw noun a fight, a dispute CANADA, 1958

hooray noun good news UK, 1983 hooray goodbye AUSTRALIA, 1898 hooray Henry; hooray noun a male of the upper-classes who exhibits a superior or anti-social manner. Coined as 'Hoorah Henry' by Damon Runyon in the story Tight Shoes, 1936; mainly UK usage UK, 1959 hooride verb in a group, to berate and humiliate someone US, 1997 hooroo goodbye AUSTRALIA, 1906

hooroos noun phlegm NORFOLK ISLAND, 1992 hoor's melt; whore's melt; whoor's melt noun a contemptible person. Combines HOOR (a prostitute, perhaps implying no more than a female) with 'melt' (spawn, offspring); alternatively 'melt' may derive from Old English milte (the spleen) or as a dialect word for 'the tongue' IRELAND, 1961 hoose noun in poker, a hand consisting of three cards of the same rank and a pair. Known conventionally as a 'full house' US, 1951 hoose verb to bowl with speed and force BARBADOS, 1965 hoosegow noun a jail or prison. A corruption of the Spanish juzgado (court or tribunal) US, 1908 hoot noun 1 a cause for laughter. A bit old-fashioned, often used in a sarcastic or condescending tone US, 1942. 2 an inhalation of marijuana CANADA, 2002. 3 a little bit. Generally used in phrases that have a negative intent, such as 'not give a hoot', 'not care two hoots', etc US, 1878. 4 money AUSTRALIA, 1881

Hoot noun a member of the Hutterian Brethren. The Hutterites are an Anabaptist group that believe in communal living; they are found in rural areas of the Canadian prairies and the American states of Montana, Washington, North Dakota and Minnesota US, 1997

hootched adjective drunk US, 1993 hootchie; hoochie; hootchy mama noun a young woman, especially when easily available for sex US, 1990

hootchie-coo noun sex US, 1990 hootchy-kootchy; hootchie-coochie noun a sexually attractive person US, 1969 hootenananny noun in oil drilling, any complicated piece of equipment that the speaker cannot identify by name US, 1928 hooter noun 1 the nose. In senses both actual and figurative; from the trumpeting noise emitted when blown UK, 1958. 2 cocaine. The drug is sniffed up the HOOTER (nose) US, 1979. 3 a large marijuana cigarette US, 1986. 4 a party US, 1978. 5 a toilet NEW ZEALAND, 1968 hooters noun female breasts US, 1972 hootie mac noun marijuana US, 1996 hooting noun in surfing, shouts that compliment the quality of a wave or a ride on the wave US, 1988 hoover noun 1 any vacuum cleaner. A widely used generic, from Hoover, a manufacturer of brand name vacuum cleaners since 1908 UK, 1999. 2 the nose UK, 1983 hoover verb 1 to clean with a vacuum cleaner. A generic, almost the generic, from Hoover™ vacuum cleaners UK, 1939. 2 to suck out, to remove by suction AUSTRALIA, 1991. 3 to extract, to draw out US, 1985. 4 to inhale drugs. From the similarity to a 'hoover' (a vacuum cleaner) cleaning up dust US, 1982. 5 to eat or drink greedily. From the similarity to a 'hoover' (a vacuum cleaner)'s indiscriminate method of swallowing anything in its path US, 1986. 6 to perform oral sex on a man. From the supposed similarity to a 'hoover' (a vacuum cleaner)'s suction UK, 1992. 7 to perform an abortion. An allusion to the branded vacuum cleaner US, 2003 hoover d'amour noun an act of oral sex on a man. From the supposed similarity to a vacuum cleaner's suction, lent romance by the French 'of love' UK, 1992

hoozy adjective absent-minded US, 2003 hop noun 1 a narcotic – opium, morphine or heroin US, 1886. 2 a dance, a party UK, 1731. 3 in handball, a ball which breaks to the left or right after rebounding off the front wall US, 1972. 4 in craps, a one-roll bet on the next roll US, 1987. ► on the hop playing truant UK, 1998 hop verb 1 to work as a car hop at a drive-in restaurant where customers are served in their cars US, 1972. 2 to go, to travel UK, 1923. 3 to flee or escape US, 1950. 4 in horse racing, to administer an illegal drug to a horse, either a stimulant or a depressant US, 1976. ► hop 'n' pop in the language of parachuting, to pull the ripcord within three seconds of clearing the aircraft US, 1978. ► hop a hole (used of a ball in pinball) to fall into and then keep moving out of an ejecting hole because of high velocity US, 1977. ► hop bells to work in a hotel as a bell hop US, 1942. ► hop in for your chop to take your share AUSTRALIA, 1954. ► hop into the horsecollar (from a male perspective) to have sex. From HORSECOLLAR (the vagina) AUSTRALIA, 1971. ► hop it; 'oppit to depart, especially to depart quickly UK, 1910. ► hop the train to ride the subway (underground) without paying the fare US, 1995 hop-and-drop noun 1 a stylised walk TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1951. 2 a limp BARBADOS, 1965

hop and pop verb to wake up and spring into action US, 1998

hopdog noun an opium addict US, 1946 hope noun ► not a hope in hell! not a chance!, not a hope! UK, 1923 hopeless adjective incompetent UK, 1922 hope-to-die noun your spouse or romantic partner US, 1971 hop gun noun a syringe used by intravenous drug users US, 1949 hophead noun 1 an opium addict, or, less precisely and more commonly, a user of marijuana or other drug US, 1901. 2 a heavy drinker AUSTRALIA, 1957. 3 in horse racing, a horse that only performs well when under the influence of a stimulant US, 1947 hop in verb to begin in earnest, especially the eating of a meal AUSTRALIA, 1939

hop into verb to attack a person, task, meal, etc, with vigour AUSTRALIA, 1945 hop it!; hoppit! go away! Used as an injunction, exclamation or both UK, 1914 hop it and scam; hop it noun ham. Rhyming slang. UK, 1992 hop off verb to launch an attack US, 1918 hop out verb to crash (an aeroplane) US, 1986 hop-pad noun an opium den US, 1946 hopped; hopped up adjective under the influence of drugs US, 1918 hopped up adjective (used of a car) modified to increase the engine performance US, 1941 hopper noun 1 a kangaroo or wallaby AUSTRALIA, 1879. 2 a car shock absorber US, 1970

hopper fill heist noun an attempt to defraud a casino by sitting at a slot machine with a winning combination showing that has paid off partially but requires additional coins to be added to complete the payoff US, 1999

hoppers noun trainers (sneakers) ANTIGUA AND BARBUDA, 1998 hopping adjective extremely busy IRELAND, 2003

hopping John noun a stew made of boiled pig's feet, black-eye peas and rice US, 1838 hopping mad adjective very angry US, 1675 hopping pot; hopping noun the lot. Rhyming slang UK, 1961 hoppo-bump verb to bump into another for fun. From the name of a child's game in which players hop on one leg and bump into each other AUSTRALIA, 1998 hops noun beer US, 1902. ► on the hops on a drinking binge AUSTRALIA, 1930 hopscotch noun a watch. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a traditional children's game UK, 1998 hopscotcher noun a carnival worker who moves from one carnival to another US, 1966 hop squad noun a narcotics squad within a police department US, 1958 hop stop noun in pinball, a brief release of an extended flipper to prevent a ball from rolling up off the end US, 1977

hoptoad verb on the railways, to derail US, 1946 hoptoads noun any dice altered for cheating US, 1950 hop up verb in hot rodding, to increase the power of an engine US, 1942 horizontal adjective asleep US, 1991. ► get horizontal to sleep US, 1976 horizontal bob noun sexual intercourse US, 2001 horizontal exercise noun sexual intercourse US, 1918 horizontal folk-dancing noun sexual intercourse; lovemaking AUSTRALIA, 1992

horizontal gymnastics noun sexual intercourse UK, 2001 horizontal lubricant adjective any alcoholic drink or drinks, especially in the adjectival phrase 'nicely irrigated with horizontal lubricant' UK, 2002 horizontal manoeuvres noun sexual intercourse. Military origins UK, 1995 horizontal refreshment noun sexual intercourse UK, 1889 horizontal rumble noun sexual intercourse US, 2000

hork verb to spit; hence to vomit. Variation of conventional 'hawk' (to clear your throat) US, 2001

Horlicks noun a mess. Originally, upper-class society usage of a brand name; Horlicks™ is a malted food drink. Usage here is probably inspired by the salacious possibilities of the separated syllables 'where licks' and a vague assonance to 'bollocks' (to mess up) UK, 1982 horn noun 1 the penis; the erect penis; lust UK, 1594. 2 adultery TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1857. 3 the nose UK, 1823. 4 any implement used for snorting powdered narcotics US, 1977. 5 a pipe used to smoke crack cocaine US, 1994. 6 the telephone US, 1941. 7 a trumpet; hence any brass or wind instrument, occasionally a piano. Jazz slang UK, 1966. ► around the horn 1 the oral stimulation of all parts of a partner's body. In the UK, Round the Horne was an innuendo-driven radio comedy originally broadcast from 1965–69 US, 1976. 2 from one location to another, in quick succession US, 1942. 3 in craps, a single-roll bet on the 2, 3, 11 and 12 US, 1962. 4 in baseball, around the infield positions. After an out made at first base, if there are no runners on base the defensive team typically throws the ball 'around the horn' US, 1956. ► put the horns on; put horns on 1 to cuckold. After the traditional sign of a cuckold UK, 1959. 2 (used of a superstitious gambler) to engage in a personal ritual designed to break a streak of bad luck US, 1949 horn verb 1 to inhale (a drug) through the nose US, 1967. 2 to commit adultery TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1973

hornbag noun a sexually attractive or highly sexed person AUSTRALIA, 1981

horndog noun a person who is obsessed with sex US, 1984

horner man; horner woman noun an adulterer TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1990 horn in verb to intrude upon, to interfere US, 1911

horning noun heroin UK, 1998 horn movie noun a pornographic film US, 1967 horn pill noun an (allegedly) aphrodisiac tablet for men. Claimed to give the HORN (an erection) UK, 1961 hornrim noun an intellectual US, 1974 horny adjective 1 desiring sex US, 1826. 2 of an erotic or pornographic image, sexually stimulating. From the HORN (the erect penis) that results UK, 1984. ► sleep horny to go to bed naked (and be sensually aware of it) UK, 1968 horny man noun a federal law enforcement official. A euphemistic allusion to the devil by those engaged in the illegal production of alcohol US, 1974 horny-mone noun the substance that drives a cow to mate, to go into heat. A humorous corruption of 'hormone' CANADA, 1992

horny porny noun pornography US, 1981 horrendous adjective terrible. A blend of the conventional 'horrible' and 'stupendous' US, 1968

Horrids nickname Harrods department store in Knightsbridge, West London. Jocular usage, mainly by those who can't afford to shop there; the word play is enhanced by class sensitivities as 'horrid' is considered part of a socially superior vocabulary UK, 1996

horrie noun a large and dangerous wave that breaks suddenly AUSTRALIA, 2003

horries noun 1 delirium tremens; the ill-effects of drinking or drug-taking. From 'horror' SOUTH AFRICA, 1959. 2 a phobia, a horror of something. From 'horror' SOUTH AFRICA, 1971 horror noun 1 a mischievous person, especially when addressed to a child UK, 1819. 2 an extremely unattractive woman who is seen as a sex object, especially one who is ravaged by age UK, 2002 horror adjective great, wonderful. A contraction of HORRORSHOW UK, 2001 horrors noun 1 sickness associated with withdrawal from alcohol or drug addiction. Noted specifically of withdrawal from amphetamines or heroin US, 1839. 2 the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. Schoolgirl use UK, 1980. 3 acute psychosis caused by amphetamines UK, 1978 horrorshow adjective great, wonderful. Ultimately from Russian khorocho (good), coined by Anthony Burgess (1917–93) for the novel A Clockwork Orange, 1962. Adopted in US teen slang in the 1990s UK, 1961 hors d'oeuvre noun drugs in capsule form US, 1980 horse noun 1 heroin US, 1950. 2 a casual girlfriend. Probably from a play on 'whores' UK, 1962. 3 a prostitute. An evolution of the STABLE as a group of prostitutes US, 1957. 4 a prostitute's customer. Used by prostitutes SOUTH AFRICA, 1946. 5 a large man US, 1947. 6 an affectionate male term of address IRELAND, 2003. 7 in circus and carnival usage, one thousand dollars US, 1981. 8 a person who smuggles contraband into prison US, 1981. 9 in bar dice games, a turn of rolling the dice US, 1976. 10 a poker player with a reputation for stinginess US, 1988. 11 a Ford Mustang car US, 1976. 12 in television and film-making, a stand that holds film reels while the film is fed through a viewer US, 1990. 13 a knife or improvised sharp instrument US, 1973 horse verb 1 to thrash, to defeat absolutely UK: SCOTLAND, 2002. 2 to ruin, to destroy. Extended from the previous sense UK: SCOTLAND, 2002 horse and buggy; horse and wagon noun heroin and the equipment needed to prepare and inject it US, 1984 horse and carriage noun a garage. Rhyming slang (the rhyme is accurate when spoken in a London accent). UK, 1992 horse and cart; horse verb 1 to start UK, 1992. 2 to fart. Rhyming slang; reduced to its first element, usually in the past tense UK, 1992 horse and trap noun 1 an act of defecation. Rhyming slang for CRAP, a rarer form of PONY AND TRAP UK, 1961. 2 gonorrhoea. Rhyming slang for CLAP UK, 1961 horse and trough noun a cough. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 horse around; horse about verb to fool around US, 1900 horse ass noun anything at all; nothing BAHAMAS, 1982 horse bite noun heroin. An elaboration of HORSE (heroin) UK, 2002 horse blanket noun a filming technique employed to soften faces US, 1997 horse box noun a control station in a Townsend Thorenson ferry/ship's engine room that contains the engine controls, alarms, etc. Used by ferry crews UK, 1979

horsecock noun 1 a sausage US, 1942. 2 a wooden club US, 1970. 3 in oil drilling, a nipple used to connect hoses US, 1954 horsecollar noun 1 a rescue sling lowered from a hovering helicopter to the ground or sea below US, 1969. 2 the vagina, especially large or distended external female genitals. The shape provides a simile US, 1994. 3 in an athletic contest, a failure to score US, 1907. 4 in hot rodding, the grille from an Edsel automobile, popular for customising other cars US, 1965 horsed adjective heroin-intoxicated. From HORSE (heroin) UK, 1962 horse doofers; horses doovers noun hors d'oeuvres. Jocular mispronunciations UK, 1959 horsefeathers noun nonsense. A transparent euphemism for HORSESHIT US, 1927 horse feed noun in circus and carnival usage, poor business US, 1981 horsefuck verb to have sex from behind and with great vim US, 1973 horsehead noun 1 an amphetamine US, 1971. 2 a heroin user. A straightforward combination of HORSE (heroin) and -HEAD (a user) US, 1952 horse heart noun a tablet of Dexedrine™, a trade name for dextroamphetamine sulphate, a central nervous system stimulant US, 1977 horse hockey! used for expressing disapproval. A signature line of Colonel Sherman Potter on *M*A*S*H* (CBS, 1972–83). Repeated with referential humour US, 1964 horse-holder noun an assistant to a high-ranking military officer US, 1982 horse off verb to allow horses to graze in a field, thus ruining it for cows until the crop grows back CANADA, 1987 horse piddle noun hospital. Word play masquerading as rhyming slang UK, 1992 horse pill noun the large, orange anti-malarial pill (chloroquine-primaquine) taken once a week by US troops in Vietnam US, 1990 horse piss noun cheap alcoholic drink, or a brand you don't drink US, 1970 horse radish noun heroin US, 1997 horse room noun an illegal betting operation where bets can be placed and collected on horse races US, 1950 horse's noun a male homosexual. Shortening of HORSE'S HOOF AUSTRALIA, 1960 horses noun dice that have been altered for cheating by omitting key losing combinations US, 1964 horse's arse; horse's ass noun a person who is not liked or trusted; an idiot; someone deserving of a generally abusive epithet UK, 1865 horseshit; horseshite noun nonsense US, 1923 horseshit verb to deceive, to tease. In the nature of BULLSHIT US, 1954

Horseshit Man noun Ho Chi Minh. A phonetic approximation used by troops in Vietnam US, 1991 horse's hoof; horses noun a male homosexual. Rhyming slang for POOF AUSTRALIA, 1944

horsespot noun the vagina US, 1998 horse-to-horse adjective in a direct comparison or competition US, 1950

horticulturalist noun in pool, a player who wins money betting US, 1990

HO's noun hangers-on attached to a rock band UK, 1985 hose noun the penis US, 1928 hose verb 1 to copulate, vaginally or anally US, 1935. 2 to shoot with an automatic weapon. Sometimes heard as the more elaborate 'hosepipe' UK, 1917. 3 to swindle; to cheat US, 1940. 4 to laugh vigorously SOUTH AFRICA, 2004. ► hose yourself to get drunk AUSTRALIA, 1979 hosebag noun a prostitute or promiscuous woman. A conventional 'bag', punning on BAG (a promiscuous woman), is a container for a HOSE (penis) US, 1978

hosed adjective drunk US, 1987 hose down verb to rain heavily NEW ZEALAND, 1995

hose in verb to win handily NEW ZEALAND, 1998

hose job noun 1 oral sex on a man US, 1978. 2 a bad situation; a situation in which you are cheated or swindled US, 1989 hose off verb to annoy or make angry NEW ZEALAND, 1959 hoser noun 1 an uncouth, dim person. Popularised by Bob and Doug McKenzie's 'Great White North' television skit CANADA, 1981. 2 a male with sexual experience and expertise US, 1968 hosing verb to beat US, 1947 hospital noun 1 jail. An unabashed euphemism US, 1959. 2 in a smuggling operation, the place where the smuggled goods are picked up US, 1956 hospital hold noun an unsafe grip on a tool US, 1983 hospital pass noun 1 the responsibility for a controversial project or task. Such a responsibility will inevitably draw down painful and wounding criticism. Derives from an American football usage US, 2003. 2 in team sports, a dangerously made pass which allows the opposition a good chance at defence. So called because of the risk of injury to the receiver AUSTRALIA, 1984 hoss noun 1 used as a term of address, man to man US, 1834. 2 heroin. In colloquial US speech, 'hoss' is a shortened form of HORSE (heroin) US, 1960 hossie noun a hospital AUSTRALIA, 1971 hostess noun a prostitute US, 1954 hostess with the mostest noun a good hostess. An apparently irresistible reduplication in the US, going 'host with the most' one better US, 1970 hostie noun an air hostess AUSTRALIA, 1960 hostile adverb ► go hostile to lose your temper NEW ZEALAND, 1998 hostile! used for expressing strong approval US, 1995 hostilish adjective arrogant, haughty, condescending TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1960 hot noun a hot meal US, 1926 hot adjective 1 stolen US, 1924. 2 wanted by the police US, 1928. 3 suspect UK, 1996. 4 dangerous for criminal activity UK, 1618. 5 dangerous to other criminals because of co-operation with the police US, 2003. 6 under enemy fire. Although a critical term in the Vietnam war, it was coined not there, but in the US Civil War 100 years earlier US, 1864. 7 (used of a weapons system) activated, armed US, 1962. 8 poisoned UK, 2002. 9 good US, 1970. 10 excellent; used for describing music or musicians that create excitement US, 1866. 11 (used of jazz) traditional and spirited, as opposed to modern US, 1924. 12 popular US, 1961. 13 sexual, sensuous US, 1931. 14 (used of a striptease dance) very sexual US, 1977. 15 attractive, good-looking US, 1982. 16 angry UK, 1225. 17 brief, quick US, 1946. 18 in sports betting, generating heavy betting; favoured UK, 1882. 19 (used of a set in the television and film industries) fully prepared for filming US, 1977. 20 drunk BERMUDA, 1985. ► hot as Mapp's mill-yard very hot BARBADOS, 1965 hot air noun spoken nonsense, inconsequential speech, meaningless words US, 1873 hot and bothered adjective sexually aroused UK, 1821 hot and cold noun 1 heroin and cocaine combined for injection. Based on the initials US, 1970. 2 gold. Rhyming slang, often reduced to its first element UK, 1961 hot and heavy adjective passionate US, 1971 hot and stuck adjective said of a player who is losing badly in a game of poker US, 1982 hot-arsed adjective feeling an urgent sexual desire, lustful UK, 1683 hot ass noun a tin kettle with a large bottom CANADA, 1973 hot bed noun a motel room rented without following proper registration procedures and rented more than once a day; a room in a cheap boarding house US, 1940 hot box noun 1 a sexually excited vagina; a sexually excited female US, 1964. 2 a prison cell used for solitary confinement US, 1983. 3 a small room or enclosed space where marijuana is being smoked US, 2001 hot boy noun a thief known to the authorities BAHAMAS, 1982 hot-bunk verb to sleep in turns or rotation on a bunk or in a sleeping bag US, 1945 hot buns noun a male homosexual US, 1990 hot cakes noun 1 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1994. 2 crack cocaine. An elaboration of CAKES UK, 1998 hot chair noun the electric chair; death by electrocution in an electric chair US, 1926 hot cheque noun a forged cheque or one intentionally drawn with insufficient funds to cover payment US, 1972 hot chrome noun a car that appeals to girls US, 1954 hot cross bun noun 1 a gun. Rhyming slang UK, 1992. 2 the sun. Rhyming slang UK, 1992. 3 son. Rhyming slang UK, 1931. 4 run, as in 'on the run' from the police. Rhyming slang. Sometimes simply 'hot cross' UK, 1960 hot damn!; hot dang!; hot diggity damn!; hot damn and double damn! used for registering pleasure, astonishment; occasionally anger US, 1933 hot damn, Vietnam! used for expressing surprise, shock or dismay. 'Vietnam' is lengthened to three syllables US, 1972 hot deck noun logs piled up for immediate loading. British Columbia logging usage CANADA, 1952 ► see: COLD DECK hot diggety!; hot diggety dog!; hot diggety doggity! used for registering pleasure or astonishment. Compounding, and linking HOT DAMN! and HOT DOG! US, 1923 hot dinner noun 1 used as a measure when claiming greater experience of an activity than either that of someone else or a notional average UK, 1959. 2 a winner. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 hot dog noun 1 a frankfurter or other spiced sausage served in a bread-roll. The term arose at Yale University in 1894 and was quickly embraced by students at other colleges. Past suggestions that the term arose at New York's Polo Grounds have been disproved by US slang lexicographers Barry Popik and Gerald Cohen US, 1894. 2 a skilled and cocky person defined as much by their cockiness as their skill US, 1894. 3 a police officer US, 2001. 4 a pornographic book or magazine US, 1974 hot dog verb to perform in a flashy manner that displays your skill. Surfing slang in wider usage US, 1961 hot-dog adjective given to showing off US, 1923 hot dog! used for registering delight, pleasure or approval US, 1906 hotdog book noun a book used for stimulating sexual interest while masturbating US, 1967 hot dogger noun an expert surfer US, 1963 hot dope noun heroin. A combination of HOT (excellent) and DOPE (drugs) UK, 1998 hot dose noun a fatal injection of a narcotic that has been adulterated with a poison US, 1995 hotel noun a jail US, 1845 hotel barber noun a thief who steals from hotel rooms AUSTRALIA, 1895 hotel parental noun your parents' house. Many parents complain that their house is treated as a hotel; this youth coinage confirms parental suspicions UK, 1999 hotels noun in bar dice games, a roll from the cup in which some dice are stacked on top of others, invalidating the roll US, 1976 hot fish yoghurt noun semen UK, 2001 hotfoot noun a prank in which a matchbook is lit and inserted in to an unsuspecting victim's shoe US, 1934

hotfoot verb to move quickly US, 1896 hot footer noun somebody who is in a perpetual hurry US, 1946 hot fudge noun a savoury piece of gossip US, 1994 hot-fuel verb to fuel an aircraft while the engine is running US, 1990 hot funky noun a sexually attractive, sexually available woman US, 1993 hot hay noun marijuana US, 1952 hot-hot adjective very hot, very spicy. Intensification by reduplication INDIA, 1979 hothouse noun the vagina US, 2001

hot karl; hot carl noun an act of defecating on a sexual partner; an act of defecating on a person who is asleep; an act of hitting someone with a sock full of human excrement. In Chicago, the comedy troupe Hot Karl have been in existence since 1999; a humorous reference to scatological practice is inferred but not confirmed. The earliest unequivocal usage is on the Internet in 2002. In 2004 a white rapper called Hot Karl is noted; also tee-shirts with the image of a pile of steaming faeces and the slogan 'hot car!' US, 2002

Hotlanta nickname Atlanta, Georgia US, 1976

hot-lap verb in motor racing, to drive around the track fast before a race or qualifying run starts, testing the car's performance US, 1973 hot lead noun bullets US, 1949 hot-hot verb to move quickly, to hurry US, 1972 hot mix noun in trucking, hot asphalt being transported to a construction site US, 1971 hot mouth noun a tendency to speak without editing TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1988

hotness noun something good or desirable US, 2002. ► the hotness an excellent example of something US, 2003 hot-nose verb in aerial combat, to approach from behind and below, rising up in front of and ahead of the target plane US, 1990 hotnot noun a black person. Offensive, insulting; from Hottentot (an indigenous people of South Africa) SOUTH AFRICA, 1846 hot nuts noun intense male sexual desire US, 1935 hot pants noun 1 sexual desire US, 1929. 2 tight, skimpy shorts as a (surprisingly enduring) fashion item. Deriving, no doubt, from the sexual sense UK, 1970 hot peas noun the knees. Glasgow rhyming slang UK, 1988 hot peckers noun hot peppers. Limited usage, but clever US, 1996 hot pee; hot piss noun a pressing desire to urinate TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1990 hot-pillow adjective said of a hotel or motel that rents rooms for sexual liaisons for cash, without registering the guests using the room US, 1954 hot pit noun in motor racing, the area where a pit crew works on a car during a race US, 2001 hot plate noun the electric chair; execution by electrocution US, 1949 hot-plate hamster noun a prison officer who eats food intended for prisoners UK, 1996 hot poop noun the latest information. Combines HOT (quick) and POOP (news) UK, 1996 hot pot noun 1 in poker, a large amount of money bet on a hand US, 1988. 2 in horse racing, a favourite AUSTRALIA, 1904 hot potato noun a waiter, especially an efficient one. Cockney rhyming slang, pronounced 'pertatah' ('waitah') UK, 1960 hot potato verb to prioritise or juggle priorities NEW ZEALAND, 2001 hot ringer noun a burglar alarm that advises police that an armed robbery is in progress US, 2001 hot rock noun a person who through dress or manner strives to be noticed US, 1945 hot rod noun a car modified for speed and, sometimes, flashy looks US, 1945 hot rod verb to masturbate US, 1971 hot roller noun a stolen car that is being driven US, 1970 hots noun 1 sexual desire, intense interest US, 1947. 2 electric hair curlers US, 1975 hot seat noun 1 the position of responsibility, especially if the situation attracts critical attention UK, 1942. 2 the electric chair; death by electrocution in the electric chair US, 1925 hot seat game noun a swindle in which all the players in a game except the victim are confederates US, 1989 hot sheet noun a list of cars reported as stolen US, 1926 hot-sheet adjective said of a motel or hotel that rents rooms for sexual liaisons for cash, without registering the guests using the room US, 1977 hot shit noun an exceptionally good person or thing US, 1960 hot-shit adjective exciting; fashionable US, 1962 hotshot noun 1 an adulterated dose of a drug that is designed to be fatal when injected US, 1936. 2 a gun shot fired after an emergency call to police US, 1994. 3 an electric cattle prod US, 2003. 4 execution by electrocution in the electric chair US, 1951. 5 a flashy, successful person whose self-esteem is perhaps excessive US, 1927 hot spike noun a dose of a drug that has been adulterated and produces serious injury or death when injected US, 1974 hot spot noun in oil drilling, an area that has indications of a productive field US, 1997 hot squat noun the electric chair; execution by electrocution US, 1928 hot stepper noun a fugitive from justice JAMAICA, 1982

hotstick noun a marijuana cigarette US, 1957 hot stove adjective said of a discussion of sports between periods in games CANADA, 1962 hot stuff noun 1 promotional literature produced as part of a telephone sales swindle US, 1988. 2 illegal whisky US, 1840. 3 coffee US, 1977. 4 napalm US, 1990

hotsy-totsy adjective fancy US, 1926 hotsy-totsy; hotsy noun an attractive young woman US, 1928 hottentots noun the buttocks US, 1974 hotter noun a thrill-seeking criminal who drives stolen high-performance cars UK, 1991 hotter than Dutch love adjective very hot US, 1950 hot ticket noun something that is extremely popular and in demand US, 1978 hottie noun 1 a celebrity NEW ZEALAND, 2002. 2 an attractive, sexually appealing young person US, 1991. 3 a great wave or surfer US, 1991. 4 a black person, especially of the Khoikhoi race. May be insulting or affectionate; from Hottentot (an indigenous people of South Africa) SOUTH AFRICA, 1970 hotting noun the thrill-seeking activity of stealing and driving stolen high-performance cars UK, 1998 hot toddy noun the body. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 hot tot noun a very attractive young woman. A combination of HOT (sexually attractive) and a variation of TOTTY (a sexually attractive woman) UK, 1999 hot to trot adjective ready and eager for sexual activity. Extended from HOT (sexually eager, passionate) US, 1951 hotty; hottie noun a hot water bottle UK, 1947 hot up verb 1 to become increasingly lively or exciting UK, 1923. 2 to identify, or point the finger of suspicion at someone to the police UK, 1996. 3 to increase the power, speed and performance (of a car) UK, 1928 hot walker noun in horse racing, a groom who walks a horse after a race, letting it cool down US, 1976 hot water noun a state of trouble, a difficult situation UK, 1537 hot wire noun a linear amplifier for a citizens' band radio US, 1976 hot-wire verb to bypass a car's ignition system and start the car by cutting and connecting wires under the dashboard US, 1954 hot with two t's adjective extremely sexy US, 2000 hot ziggedy!; hot ziggetty!; hot ziggy!; hot ziggety damn! used for registering pleasure or astonishment; occasionally anger. A variation of HOT DIGGETY! US, 1995 hou-bro noun a fellow fraternity member. An abbreviation of 'house brother' US, 1977 hound noun 1 a person who is obsessed with the preceding combining noun. Not, as the definition might suggest, a grammarian US, 1911. 2 an unattractive woman. A variation of DOG UK, 1988. 3 a Greyhound bus US, 1959 hound dog noun an air-to-ground missile US, 1991 hound-dog verb to track down, to follow, to find US, 1998 house noun 1 a prisoner's cell or the area immediately surrounding the prisoner's bed in a dormitory-style room US, 1970. 2 a police station US, 1909. 3 in poker, a hand consisting of three cards of the same rank and a pair. An abbreviation of the conventional 'full house' US, 1990 ► see: HOUSE MUSIC. ► go under the house to

- perform oral sex on a woman US, 1981. ► in the house 1 here and now, present, currently US, 1993. 2 popular, stylish US, 1994. ► mind your house watch your back, be careful. Often used in sports matches: when a player has the ball a team mate will shout 'mind your house' if an opponent is coming up behind him IRELAND, 1999. ► on the house paid for by management of the establishment US, 1889. ► the house the New York House of Detention for female prisoners US, 1966
- house verb 1 to steal US, 1989. 2 to carry contraband, such as a weapon or drugs US, 1997
- house adjective casual, verging on sloppy US, 1993
- house ape noun a child US, 1968
- house ball noun in pinball, a ball that leaves play without having scored any points US, 1977
- housecat noun a soldier not assigned to combat duty. Vietnam war usage US, 1977
- housed adjective drunk US, 1997
- house dancer noun a sex club dancer who regularly appears at one club US, 2000
- house dick noun a private detective working for a hotel or other establishment US, 1951
- house fee noun the amount charged for entering a crack house US, 1992
- house girl noun 1 a prostitute working in a brothel US, 1957. 2 in a sex club, a local dancer who regularly works at the club, as distinguished from pornography stars who make limited engagements at the club US, 1997
- housekeeper noun in prison, the passive, weaker partner in a relationship who is subservient to his dominant partner's needs and wants US, 1991
- housemaid's knee noun 1 a sea, the sea. Rhyming slang UK, 1979. 2 a key. Rhyming slang UK, 1992
- housemaid's knees noun the condition caused by Osgood-Schlatter disease, calcium deposits on the lower outside quadrant of the knee US, 1973
- houseman noun the best regular player in a pool hall US, 1990
- house mother noun a madame in a brothel US, 1987
- house mouse noun 1 a prisoner who takes or accepts responsibility for cleaning a prison cell, dormitory or common room US, 1989. 2 in Antarctica, support personnel assigned to the base, especially someone assigned to domestic duties ANTARCTICA, 1958. 3 an American soldier who explored Viet Cong tunnels US, 1989. 4 during the Vietnam war, a Vietnamese maid or mistress US, 1991
- house music; house noun an umbrella genre for much contemporary dance music with strong repetitive rhythms—in 4/4 time, generally between 115 and 135 beats per minute. The name derives from the Warehouse club in Chicago where the music originated in the mid-1980s UK, 1998
- house nigger; house nigga noun a black person who curries favour from white people and in return is given some small degree of privilege. An updated 'house slave' US, 1968
- house nut noun in the cinema business, the weekly operating expenses of the cinema US, 1990
- House of Commons noun an outdoor toilet CANADA, 1987
- House of D nickname the New York Women's House of Detention, Greenwich Avenue US, 1964
- house of dark shadows noun any building that is occupied, or thought to be occupied, by Viet Cong US, 1991
- House of Do Right nickname the New York City jail US, 1967
- House of Fraser; hoosie Fraser; howser noun a razor, especially as a weapon. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a retailing chain UK, 1992
- house of intake noun a restaurant. A term coined by writers of the Coneheads skits on Saturday Night Live in the late 1970s, featuring three Remulakian aliens who lived quiet and normal lives in the suburbs of New Jersey. Most of the Remulakian phrases were too forced for everyday slang, such as 'molten lactate extract of hooved animals' for 'melted cheese', but a few such as this were temporarily in vogue US, 1977
- house of joy noun a brothel US, 1948
- House of Lords noun corduroy trousers. Rhyming slang for CORDS UK, 1992
- house of wax noun a prison US, 1973
- house piece noun a gift of a dose of crack cocaine, given to the owner of a crack house in appreciation for the use of the premises US, 1992
- houseplant noun a person who never leaves the home US, 1917
- houser noun 1 a person who is part of the club music and party set US, 1994. 2 a group of close friends US, 1993
- house-stoy noun (among Nova Scotians of German descent) a wedding present CANADA, 1975
- House that Ruth Built nickname Yankee Stadium, Bronx, New York. The stadium opened in 1923 at the height of Ruth's career US, 1998
- housewife noun an elementary sewing kit UK, 1968
- housewives' choice noun voice. Rhyming slang, formed from the title of a record request programme broadcast on the BBC Light Programme, 1946–67 UK, 1992
- house wizard; house guru noun the technical expert in a business or organisation US, 1991
- house-wrecker noun in surfing, a large and powerful wave US, 1978
- housey housey adjective itchy. Rhyming slang for 'lousy' (lice-ridden, hence itchy). Formed from the name of one of Bingo's variations UK, 1992
- Hovis noun the head of a brown-skinned person. A refinement of the rhyming slang LOAF OF BREAD (the head); Hovis™ is a well-known brand of brown bread UK, 1998
- how ADJECTIVE can you get? used of someone who has a more than average measure of a specified quality US, 1951
- Howard Johnsons noun an outdoor street food vendor in Vietnam during the war. From the name of a roadside restaurant which at the time of the Vietnam war was immensely popular in the US US, 1965
- Howard's Way adjective homosexual. Rhyming slang for GAY, from the title of a BBC television drama series, 1985–90 UK, 2003
- how are you going? how are you? Used as a greeting AUSTRALIA, 1930
- how bad is that? that's great! US, 1965
- how can I tell? used in prison to question the truth of that which has just been said US, 1992
- how come? why US, 1848
- how cool is that! used for expressing delight US, 1999
- how-de-do; how-d'ye-do noun a shoe. Rhyming slang UK, 1979
- how-do-you-do; how-d'ye-do noun a fuss, a noisy difficulty, an embarrassing or awkward problem. Rhyming slang for 'stew' UK, 1835
- how do you like me now? noun crack cocaine UK, 1998
- howdy-do; howdy used as a friendly greeting. A reduction of 'how d'ye do' (1697) US, 1970
- Howdy Doody noun an unspecified chemical agent used in Vietnam US, 1991
- how goes it? used as a greeting US, 1966
- how high is a Chinaman? used as a catchphrase reply to an unanswerable, or stupid, question. From a children's pun that How Hi is a Chinaman UK, 1977
- howie noun a howitzer, field artillery US, 1990
- howk verb to dig, to excavate UK: SCOTLAND, 1911
- howl noun a source of great amusement US, 1930
- howl verb ► howl at the moon to experience the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 2001
- howler noun 1 a glaring mistake UK, 1885. 2 a child UK, 1980 howling adjective 1 drunk UK, 2002. 2 very smelly UK, 1988. 3 superlative UK, 1865 howling fifties noun the latitudes of 50 to 59 degrees south ANTARCTICA, 1962

Howling Mad Smith nickname General Holland M. Smith, US Marine Corps. The NBC action series A-Team (1983–87) featured a character named Captain H. M. 'Howlin' Mad' Murdock, played by Dwight Schultz, presumably named after General Smith US, 1988

how much? what do you mean? UK, 1852 how rude! used for expressing disgust. A catchphrase from the television programme Full House US, 1990 ▶ see: RUDE!

how's hacking? used as a greeting US, 1981

how's it going? used as a greeting US, 1944 how's it hanging? used as a greeting, usually male-to-male. Sometimes testicularly inclusive and increased to 'they' US, 1974 how-so? how is that so? Found in the C14, but not a complete path to the current usage US, 1980 how's tricks? used as a friendly greeting. Probably from the terminology of card games but may also have had nautical origins UK, 1904 how sweet it is! used for expressing pleasure. One of comedian Jackie Gleason's several signature lines, often used on The Jackie Gleason Show (CBS, 1952–70). Repeated with obviously referential humour US, 1957 how's your arse for lovebites? used as a greeting between young men UK: SCOTLAND, 1996

how's-your-father noun 1 any act of sexual intimacy from petting to intercourse; non-conventional sexual behaviour. Originally from the music halls, 'how's your father' or 'howsyerfather' was an all-purpose catchphrase, a euphemism for anything; subsequent usage, especially in the services during World War 2 mainly narrowed the sense to 'a sexual dalliance' UK, 1931. 2 any activity or business that is complicated or annoying, a fuss. Rhyming slang for 'palaver' UK, 1998. 3 a fight NEW ZEALAND, 2002. 4 cocaine UK, 2000

how's your love life?; how's your sex life? used as a greeting, often flirtatious UK, 1969

how's your mind? are you mad? Generally asked in exasperation or irritation SOUTH AFRICA, 2004

howzat? how's that? Often heard as a cricketer's appeal to the umpire UK, 1961 howzit? used as a greeting. In South Africa, the usual reply is: 'No, fine', which actually means 'Yes, I am fine' (the word 'no' is often taken to mean 'yes'); an Afrikaner might reply: 'Ja, well, no fine' US, 1950 hoy verb to throw AUSTRALIA, 1971

hizzo noun a large and dangerous wave. From 'horrible', with '-o' suffix AUSTRALIA, 1987

hizzo adjective (of a wave or surfing conditions) large, powerful and dangerous AUSTRALIA, 1987

hizzy; ozzie noun a hospital UK, 2001

HP noun a man. Gay slang; an initialism of polari HOMEE-PALONE (a man) UK, 2002

HRN noun heroin. Whilst this looks like an acronym it is simply 'heroin' devowelled US, 1959

HTH noun a spouse or lover who is waiting for you back home. An abbreviation of 'hometown honey' US, 1993

hubba noun crack cocaine US, 1988

hubba-hubba! used for expressing enthusiastic appreciation of a good-looking woman US, 1941 hubba, I am back noun crack cocaine. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 hubba pigeon noun a crack cocaine addict who searches for bits of crack cocaine on the ground US, 1995 hubbly-bubbly noun a water pipe used for smoking marijuana, hashish or crack cocaine US, 1970

hubboo adjective pregnant NORFOLK ISLAND, 1992

hubby; hubbie noun a husband. Often used in a sardonic sense UK, 1688 hubcap noun 1 an important person. Playing on WHEEL (a very important person) US, 1960. 2 a person whose sense of importance outweighs his actual importance US, 1951 huck verb in snowboarding, to launch yourself into the air US, 1995 huckery adjective ugly. Often used to describe a woman or 'moll' NEW ZEALAND, 1993

huckle verb to be bundled into a place; to be thrown out; to arrest UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

hudda noun a police officer; the police US, 1993 huddle verb while working as a police officer in a patrol car, to park and sleep US, 1973

huddy keep left (of a horse) CANADA, 1957

hudge verb in pinball, to apply physical force to a machine to affect the trajectory of the ball without activating the tilt mechanism US, 1977

huevo noun a very lazy person. Border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans; from the image of the man who is so lazy that his testicles (HUEVAS) grow large US, 1974 huevos noun 1 the testicles; courage. Border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans; literally 'eggs' US, 1974. 2 waves. Spanish for 'eggs', but a near-homophone for 'waves', hence the play US, 1991. 3 a variety of Moroccan hashish. From Spanish for 'eggs', named for its shape and texture SPAIN, 2003

Huey nickname a Bell utility military helicopter US, 1962

Huey shuffle noun a common hesitation in the flight pattern by an inexperienced helicopter pilot US, 1983 huff verb 1 to inhale household or industrial chemicals for recreational purposes US, 1969. 2 to steal TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1990 huff and puff noun a state of high anger TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1978 huff and puff verb to breathe heavily. From the childhood tale of The Three Little Pigs UK, 1890 huffer noun 1 an act of oral sex on a man. Probably a mistaken understanding of HUMMER US, 1973. 2 a person who inhales household or industrial chemicals for recreational purposes US, 1969. 3 in drag racing and hot rodding, a supercharger US, 1968 hug verb ▶ hug the bowl to vomit US, 1997 hug and slug noun (among Canadian Forces members) any place where girls or fights are to be found CANADA, 1995 hug drug noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. From the affectionate feelings roused by the drug UK, 1996 hugger-mugger noun 1 chaos US, 1972. 2 a prostitute who beats and robs customers or who serves as a decoy for someone who beats and robs the customer US, 1970

huggie noun a styrofoam or plastic cylinder that slips over a beer can, serving as insulation US, 2000 hugging adjective bad, crazy US, 1997

huggy adjective given to hugging; hence, sensitive and caring US, 1999 huggy-bear noun prolonged hugging and kissing US, 1964 hughie; huey noun an act of vomiting. A joke was told of a person calling out the name of television presenter Hughie Green, 1920–1997; it was, in fact, the cry of someone vomiting after drinking green Chartreuse UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 hughie; huey verb to vomit. Echoic of the involuntary vocal accompaniment to the action UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

Hughie; Hughey; Huey noun a supposed rain god. Used in the phrase 'send her/it down Hughie!', said when the rains first appear after a dry spell or the dry season. The earliest instance of this is from the Bulletin, 3rd December 1912, where it is stated that it referred to a Mr Huie 'an amateur meteorologist who had luck in prophesying rain'. This story has not been verified and would probably carry more force if it weren't for the fact that Hughie sounds more like a first name than a surname, and also in light of the variants that have from time to time cropped up, such as 'send her down Steve!' and 'send her down David!' AUSTRALIA, 1912 hugs and kisses; hugs; ugs noun a wife. Rhyming slang for MISSUS

UK, 1992

huh-huh-huh; huh-huh-huh-huh used as a representation of unspirited laughter. Caricatured as the smirking laugh of teenage heavy metal fans in the animated television series Beavis and Butt-head, Mtelevision, 1993–97 US, 1997 hulk noun an unusually large bodybuilder US, 1980 hulking adjective large, especially of an unwieldy mass UK, 1698 hull noun an empty pistol cartridge case US, 1957 hullabaloo noun a loud noise; an uproar; confusion UK, 1762 hullo noun a completely inconsequential person NORFOLK ISLAND, 1992

hully-gully adjective stylish, especially in a Rastafarian sense BAHAMAS, 1973 hum verb 1 to be busy, to be crowded; to be lively US, 1887. 2 to have an unpleasant odour, to stink UK, 1902 human sea noun an infantry tactic of the North Korean Army, of swarming enemy positions in overwhelming numbers US, 1964 humble noun a false criminal accusation or charge US, 1940

Humboldt green noun marijuana. This should, perhaps, be 'Humboldt green', indicating the county in northern California in which this green-leafed marijuana plant originates UK, 2003 humbug noun 1 false or trumped-up criminal charges US, 1972. 2 a fight, especially between youth gangs US, 1962 humbug verb 1 to fight US, 1968. 2 to interfere with, to bother TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1904

humdinger noun a remarkable thing or person US, 1905 hum job noun oral sex performed on a male US, 1964 hummel noun the hair. English gypsy use UK, 2000 hummer noun 1 an act of oral sex performed on a man US, 1971. 2 an exceptionally good thing UK, 1681. 3 an arrest for something the person did not do; an arrest for a minor violation that leads to more serious charges US, 1932. 4 a minor mistake US, 1959. 5 a joke, a prank US, 1990. 6 the Grumman E-2, an early warning aircraft. Given the official nickname 'Hawkeye', it was instantly renamed by the troops US, 1989. 7 an army weapons carrier. The official designation is a High Mobility Multipurpose Wheeled Vehicle. The slang is easier US, 1983 hummer days noun (from a male perspective) the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 2001 hummingbird ass noun used for suggesting that a person lacks the courage to back up his taunts US, 1977

humongous; humungous adjective very large US, 1968 hump noun 1 a fit of sulks, a bad mood, depression UK, 1873. 2 an offensive or despicable person US, 1963. 3 a dolt, a dull person US, 1963. 4 an act of sexual intercourse US, 1918. 5 a Camel™ cigarette US, 1989. 6 a bridge. Citizens' band radio slang UK, 1981. 7 the air route over the Himalaya Mountains during World War 2 US, 1942. 8 the middle section of a prison sentence US, 1962. 9 a large wave. Surfer usage US, 1957. 10 a military combat patrol. Recorded in Australia in the C19, but not again until the US war in Vietnam US, 1971. 11 a lookout during a crime US, 1949. 12 in circus usage, a camel US, 1926. ► over the hump while gambling, having won enough to be gambling now with the house's money US, 1950 hump verb 1 to have sex US, 1784. 2 to carry, to lug, to march. An essential word to US soldiers in Vietnam AUSTRALIA, 1851. 3 to earn money working as a prostitute US, 1973. 4 in trucking, to drive fast US, 1976. ► hump it in poker, to raise the maximum bet allowed US, 1988. ► hump like a camel to engage in sexual intercourse with great physical enthusiasm US, 1970. ► hump the dog to waste time completely. Similar construction to the synonymous 'fuck the dog' US, 1980. ► hump your bluey/drum/swag to carry one's belongings in a swag while seeking work on foot AUSTRALIA, 1851 hump-and-jump adjective (of a job) physically demanding and fast-paced US, 1977 hump and thump noun cardiovascular resuscitation US, 1994 humpback job noun a local freight train US, 1946 hump date noun during the Vietnam war, the date when half of a soldier's tour of duty in Vietnam is completed US, 1965 hump day noun Wednesday. Visualised as a hill, the peak or hump of the work week or school week is Wednesday US, 1955 humper noun 1 a member of a rock band's crew who carries heavy items UK, 1985. 2 a large and unbroken wave US, 1977. 3 in motor racing, a slick drag racing tyre that has been grooved for use on a dirt track US, 1980 hump-hump verb to have sex. Mock pidgin US, 1997 hump night noun Wednesday night US, 1955 hump rat noun a railway yard brakeman US, 1968 humpty dumpty noun an extreme reaction to MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. A probable reference to the fate of the nursery rhyme character UK, 1996

Humpty Dumpty language noun any word or vocabulary given an unusual or eccentric sense by the user. Derives from Through the Looking Glass and What Alice Found There by Lewis Carroll (Charles Dodgson), 1871: "When I use a word," Humpty Dumpty said, in rather a scornful tone, "it means just what I choose it to mean – neither more nor less." UK, 1984 humpy noun a makeshift dwelling. Originally used of a temporary shelter made by Aborigines; from the Australian Aboriginal language Yagara (Brisbane region) AUSTRALIA, 1846 humpy adjective handsome, sexy. Homosexual usage US, 1968 humpy-bump verb to have sex US, 1974 hun noun one hundred dollars; a one hundred dollar note US, 1895

Hun noun 1 a German; a person of German descent. As German troops set sail for China on 27th July 1900, Wilhelm II urged them to fight 'just as the Huns a thousand years ago'. The name stuck. It was the main pejorative for the enemy in World War 2 UK, 1900. 2 a Protestant UK: SCOTLAND, 1996 hunch noun an intuition or premonition. Now verging on conventional US, 1888 hunch verb to bring someone up to date; to inform US, 1973 hundoe noun one hundred dollars US, 2001 hundred-mile coffee noun strong coffee. So named because it is strong enough to keep a trucker awake to drive one hundred miles US, 1971 hundred to eight noun a plate. Rhyming slang, formed from bookmaker's odds UK, 1998 hundred to thirty adjective dirty UK, 1974 hung adjective 1 endowed with a large penis. Shakespeare punned with the term 400 years ago UK, 1600. 2 fascinated or obsessed with US, 1950. 3 (used of a computer program) suspended, waiting for something that will not happen US, 1983 hung like a cashew blessed with a small penis UK, 1998 hung like a hamster blessed with a small penis US, 2004 hung like a jack donkey; hung like a donkey endowed with an impressively large penis UK, 1984 hung like a pimple blessed with a small penis US, 1995 hung over adjective suffering from the after-effects of having drunk too much alcohol. Derives from 'hangover' US, 1942 hungries noun the craving for food that follows the smoking of marijuana US, 1970 hungry adjective stingy, mean AUSTRALIA, 1855 hung up adjective 1 obsessed, infatuated US, 1950. 2 addicted US, 1950. 3 of a drug-addict who is unable to get drugs, depressed, let down, disappointed. A nuance of the previous sense US, 1948. 4 inhibited, neurotic US, 1952. 5 while surfing, caught along the steep wall of a wave and unable to pull out US, 1963 hungus adjective in computing, extremely large US, 1987 hunk noun a good-looking, muscular boy or man US, 1945 hunka chunka noun sexual intercourse US, 2005 hunkin adjective enormous US, 1997

hunky adjective attractive, muscular US, 1972 hunky; hunkie noun 1 a white person. Derogatory US, 1959. 2 an Eastern European; a Slav; a Hungarian. Disparaging, but usually more illustrative of the speaker's lack of geographic knowledge US, 1909 hunky dory adjective satisfactory, fine US, 1861 hunt noun ► in the hunt in contention AUSTRALIA, 1957 hunt verb to chase off, away or to somewhere AUSTRALIA, 1917. ► hunt owls to drive at night with your full headlight beams on, blinding oncoming traffic US, 1962. ► hunt rabbits in a game of poker, to go through the cards that were not played after a hand is finished in search of what might have been US, 1951. ► hunt the great white whale to search for a source of cocaine. The GREAT WHITE WHALE is a literary allusion to Moby Dick, the classic novel by Herman Melville (1819–91), and a play on the colour and power of cocaine UK, 2001 hunter noun 1 a pickpocket US, 1949. 2 cocaine UK, 1998 hunt for Red October noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. Elaboration of 'red' – the colour of blood – by adoption of the title of a novel by Tom Clancy, and subsequent film US, 2000 hunting license noun an assignment given by a prison gang to kill someone US, 1992 huntsabber noun a hunt saboteur UK, 2001 hunty-hunty adjective (of a woman) used to describe a husband-hunter or a 'manhunter'. Reduplication of the woman's essential quality. West Indian, hence UK Black UK, 2000 huppie noun an individual socially categorised as an Hispanic urban professional or Hispanic upwardly mobile professional. On the familiar model of YUPPIE (young upwardly mobile professional) US, 1986 hurdy noun a dance hall girl CANADA, 1958

hurl noun an act of vomiting; vomit AUSTRALIA, 1967 hurl verb to vomit AUSTRALIA, 1964 hurler noun a person who suffers from bulimia nervosa US, 1988 hurly-burly adjective confusing, tumultuous UK, 1596 hurrah noun in a big store confidence swindle, the stage of the swindle when the victim is fully duped US, 1997 hurricane deck noun the back of a bucking bronco US, 1862 hurricane ham noun conch BAHAMAS, 1982 hurricane lamp; hurricane noun a tramp, a vagrant. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 hurricane lamp job noun in horse racing, a horse that finishes last by a great distance. The horse is so far back that it is joked that a hurricane lamp is needed to find it AUSTRALIA, 1989 hurricane on a ten-cent piece noun a wife furious with her husband CANADA, 1995 hurry-come adjective done with haste and without care TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987 hurry-on noun a quickening of pace AUSTRALIA, 1983 hurry-up noun 1 a hurry, speed. Since the 1960s UK, 1962. 2 a request for a quickening of pace AUSTRALIA, 1916 hurryup wagon noun a police van US, 1893 hurt noun ► put the hurt on to inflict pain UK, 2001 hurt verb to crave a drug UK, 1996 hurt adjective undesirable, unattractive, inept US, 1973 hurting adjective inferior; not up to expectations US, 2002 hurt me! used for expressing extreme pleasure or displeasure US, 1983 hurve verb to move quickly; to hurry AUSTRALIA, 1983 husband noun in a homosexual relationship (male or female), the more aggressive and domineering partner US, 1941 husband and wife; husband noun a knife. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 hush noun silence UK, 1976 hush-em noun a silencer attached to a handgun US, 1949 hush-hush adjective secret. Reduplicated 'hush' (to be quiet); military origins UK, 1916 hush money noun a bribe paid to obtain silence UK, 1709 hush puppy noun 1 a Smith and Wesson 9 mm pistol; the silencer attached to the pistol. Carried by US Navy SEALs. So named, the legend goes, because of its use in killing guard dogs US, 1982. 2 a yuppie (a young upwardly mobile professional). Rhyming slang, formed from a footwear-manufacturer's brand name UK, 1992 hush-puppy adjective (used of jazz) old-fashioned, conventional US, 1958 husk verb to undress US, 1945

Husky noun in trucking, a Brockway truck. From the company logo US, 1976 huss; hus; huz noun a favour. Vietnam war usage, especially by marines US, 1971 hustle noun 1 an illegal enterprise, especially one involving swindling US, 1943. 2 effort, exertion, desire US, 1898. ► on the hustle 1 engaged in a career of swindling US, 1997 hustle verb 1 to engage in prostitution US, 1895. 2 to obtain after a diligent effort, especially one using unorthodox, if not illegal, means US, 1840. 3 to beg, to cadge. Used by beggars and tramps US, 1902. 4 to flirt; to make a sexual advance TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 hustler noun 1 a prostitute, especially a male homosexual US, 1924. 2 a drug pusher UK, 1996. 3 a person who makes his living by playing pool for wagers, feigning a skill level below his true level to secure bets US, 1967. 4 a person who lives by his charm and wits, dishonest but usually not violent US, 1896

hustler's row noun any outdoor area where prostitutes loiter in search of customers UK, 1966 hustling noun 1 the practice of dealing drugs UK, 2000. 2 prostitution UK, 1977 hustling gal noun a prostitute US, 1954 hut noun 1 a house US, 1989. 2 a jail cell US, 1949. 3 a brakevan (caboose) US, 1946 hutch noun 1 a domicile, be it a room, apartment or house US, 1966. 2 a prison US, 1956 hutzelsup noun (among Nova Scotians of German descent) a confused mess CANADA, 1999

Hyack noun in British Columbia, a volunteer fireman. The term, from a Chinook jargon word, is preserved in the Honorable Hyack Battery of New Westminster, BC CANADA, 1959 hyak verb in British Columbia, to hasten. The term comes from Chinook jargon CANADA, 1959 hyas adverb big, large, very CANADA, 1953

hyas tyee noun a great chief, an important person. A combination of two Chinook jargon words, HYAS and tyee (chief, king) CANADA, 1956 hybolic adjective pompous, wordy, bombastic. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1972 hybrid noun in the car sales business, used as a euphemism for a car that has at least some parts that do not belong US, 1953

Hyde Park noun 1 an actor's mark. Rhyming slang, from the film world UK, 1972. 2 an informer. Rhyming slang for NARK UK, 1992 hydraulic noun in drag racing, a massive engine failure resulting from fuel failing to ignite within a cylinder US, 2003 hydraulic adjective inclined to steal. Like a hydraulic jack, he will 'lift' anything AUSTRALIA, 1989 hydraulics noun bollocks, in all senses. Euphemistic rhyming slang UK, 1998 hydro noun 1 marijuana which is grown hydroponically US, 1996. 2 MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Probably from the dehydration experienced by users of the drug UK, 2003. 3 amphetamines UK, 2003. 4 electric power generated by the flow of water CANADA, 1964 hydroponic noun marijuana that is cultivated hydroponically. The soilless culture of cannabis results in plants that are up to ten times as potent as those grown outdoors US, 1989 hyiu adjective great, many, much, very. The word is adapted into English from Chinook jargon CANADA, 1966 hyke noun 1 codeine. From the brand name Hycodan™ US, 1997.

2 hydrocodone, a synthetic codeine US, 1970

Hymie noun a Jewish male. Like Mick (for Mickey) as a label for the Irish, Hymie is a shortened Hyman. Not used kindly US, 1973 hype noun 1 a syringe US, 1910. 2 a needle-using drug addict US, 1924.

3 a frequent user of marijuana. Use of the term 'addict' is controversial in the context of marijuana users, but the suggestion here is that the person has let marijuana control his life US, 1999.

4 exaggeration, nonsense US, 1938. 5 deception; an act of deception; something intended to stimulate sales, etc US, 1955. 6 a swindle or cheat US, 1980. ► put the hype on to raise prices because of demand without regard to fairness of the price US, 1980 hype verb 1 to lie, to swindle US, 1914. 2 to stimulate interest or sales US, 1942 hype adjective excellent US, 2002 hyped up adjective stimulated or excited, especially if by artificial means US, 1946 hype guy noun in circus and carnival usage, a short-change swindler US, 1981 hype marks noun scars and sores on a drug addict's body indicating intravenous drug use US, 1973 hyper noun 1 in circus and carnival usage, a short-change swindler US, 1981. 2 a person employed to stimulate music sales in an attempt to influence the pop charts, 1998 hyper adjective emotionally stressed. Abbreviated and adapted from 'hyperactive' US, 1942 hyper- prefix extremely UK, 1984 hype stick noun a hypodermic syringe US, 1933 hype tank noun a jail holding cell reserved for drug addicts US, 1964 hypo noun 1 a hypodermic syringe US, 1905. 2 a needle-using drug addict US, 1904. 3 a swindle US, 1949

Hy-town nickname Hyannis, Massachusetts US, 1998

I noun ► the I an interstate highway US, 2003

I ain't even tryin' to hear you! I am not listening US, 1993

I ain't here to brag used for demonstrating that the speaker understands that he is bragging. A paralipsis of the first order. Many grammatical variants exist, as well as the simpler, 'Not to brag' US, 2004

I am a Ranger. We live for the One, we die for the One. used with humour as an affirmation of support. The motto of the interplanetary police on the US science fiction television programme Babylon (1994–98) US, 1994

I am Canadian noun a drink made with fruit juice, Quebec maple syrup and whisky or Molson Canadian beer CANADA, 2002

I am so sure! used for expressing strong doubt about what has just been said US, 1982

I and I noun used in the military as a jocular substitute for the official 'R and R' (rest and recreation). An abbreviation of 'intercourse and intoxication', the main activities during rest and recreation US, 1960

I believe you but thousands wouldn't a catchphrase retort that is used to express doubt or, at best, reserve judgement about the veracity of the person being addressed. This phrase exists in a number of minor variations, and is so well known that 'I believe you but!' carries the full sense UK, 1927

I bet!; I'll bet! I am certain. Elliptical for 'I bet you did' or 'do' or 'did'; often derisive or ironic UK, 1939

Ibiza Hilton noun the police station of the Guardia Civil Ibiza. An ironic reference to the international Hilton hotel chain SPAIN, 1999

IBM noun 1 a smart, diligent student US, 1960. 2 a member of an organized crime family; an Italian businessman US, 1997

IBM discount noun a price increase US, 1991 iboga noun 1 amphetamines. A reference to the African shrub tabernaemontana iboga and ibogaine, a natural stimulant that is compounded therefrom UK, 2003. 2 MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003

IC noun during the Vietnam war, an innocent civilian US, 1985

I can catch noun the US Interstate Commerce Commission. A back formation from the agency initials: ICC US, 1971

I can read his lips, and he's not praying used as a humorous comment on a profanity. Popularised by ESPN's Keith Olberman US, 1997

I can't fight that! used by a clever boy for expressing approval of a girl who has just passed by US, 1955

I can't HEAR you! used as a humorous sollicitation of more enthusiastic support. A signature line of marine drill instructor Vince Carter on the television situation comedy Gomer Pyle, U.S.M.C. (CBS, 1964–69). Repeated with referential humour US, 1966

I can't take you anywhere used as a humorous, if stock, tease of someone who has committed a faux pas US, 1994 ice noun 1 diamonds UK, 1905. 2 cocaine, especially in blocks US, 1971. 3 smokeable amphetamine or methamphetamine US, 1989. 4 heroin US, 1987. 5 protection money paid by a business to criminals or by criminals to the police US, 1887. 6 a pay-off, a bribe; an added charge US, 1968. 7 the difference between the listed price and the price actually paid for theatre tickets for a very popular show US, 1973. 8 in poker, a stacked deck US, 1967. 9 solitary confinement in prison US, 1990. 10 any computer program designed as a system security scheme US, 1995. ► on ice incarcerated US, 1931. ► on the ice (of a racehorse) being secretly, and illicitly, kept from running to win AUSTRALIA, 1966

Ice noun in-car entertainment, especially audio equipment UK, 2003. ► the Ice Antarctica ANTARCTICA, 1834 ice verb 1 to kill US, 1941. 2 to place in solitary confinement US, 1933. 3 to ignore with a vengeance US, 1932. 4 to give up, to stop US, 1962. 5 to reject, to stand up US, 1997. ► ice it 1 to stop doing something US, 1974. 2 to forget something US, 1960

iceberg noun 1 an emotionally cold person, especially a woman UK, 1840. 2 a sexually frigid woman US, 1949

iceberg act noun unfriendly treatment US, 1953 ice blink noun a whitish glow on the horizon or on clouds caused by light reflecting off ice CANADA, 1995 ice-block noun an ice confection on a stick AUSTRALIA, 1948 icebox noun 1 a morgue US, 1928. 2 a jail or prison. An extension of the more common COOLER (jail) US, 1938 ice cold noun a chilled beer AUSTRALIA, 1968 ice cold adjective rude US, 1990 ice cream noun a white child; white children. Used defensively by children of different hues UK, 1979 ice-cream freezer; ice-cream noun a man. Rhyming slang for GEEZER UK, 1962 ice-cream habit noun the irregular consumption of drugs by an occasional user. 'Ice-cream eater' and 'ice-creamer' are obsolete slang terms for an irregular user of opium, an earlier application (late C19 to the 1930s) based on the notion that ice-cream is an occasional pleasure and not an every day diet US, 1970 ice-cream man noun a drug dealer, especially one selling opiates US, 1952 ice-cream truck noun ► and the ice-cream truck you rode in on! used to extend and emphasise an absolute rejection US, 2001 ice cube noun crack cocaine US, 1994 iced adjective drunk, drug-intoxicated US, 1953 iced down adjective wearing many diamonds US, 1998 iced out noun wearing a great deal of diamond-bearing jewellery US, 2000 ice down verb to completely cover with graffiti US, 1997 icehouse noun a jewellery store. From ICE (a diamond) US, 1949

Icelandic Air Force noun (around Gimli, Manitoba) flocks of pelicans CANADA, 1987

ice luge noun a block of ice used in a drinking game in which a shot of vodka, tequila or other alcoholic drink is poured down the ice into the drinker's mouth US, 2001 iceman noun 1 a person who bribes a government official or otherwise 'fixes' difficult situations. From ICE (a bribe) US, 1981. 2 in horse racing, a jockey who rides without using the whip or vigorous kicks AUSTRALIA, 1989. 3 a mechanic who works on truck refrigeration units US, 1971 ice money noun money used to bribe US, 1993 ice pack noun high quality marijuana US, 1971 ice palace noun 1 a jewellery store US, 1956. 2 a hockey rink CANADA, 1955 ice widow noun a woman whose husband is in Antarctica NEW ZEALAND, 1971 icing noun cocaine US, 1984

ick noun 1 any unpleasant sticky substance UK, 2002. 2 in the language surrounding the Grateful Dead, a bacterial or viral infection that quickly spreads among those following the band on tour. Always with 'the' US, 1994. 3 a social outcast US, 1942

ick adjective mawkishly sentimental, hence unpalatable. An abbreviation of ICKY US, 2001 ickies noun foreign money of any type. Royal Navy usage, possibly a variation of ACKER (money). One 'ickie' equals one hundred KLEBBIES UK, 1989

ickle adjective little. A small child's pronunciation employed archly by those old enough to know better UK, 1864

icky noun a rich person US, 1953 icky adjective 1 unattractive, distasteful. First found in jazz to describe oversweet music other than jazz, then migrated into general use with the more general meaning US, 1929. 2 unwell. Probably from baby-talk variations of 'sick' or 'sickly' UK, 1939. 3 overly sentimental, especially of music or of a taste in music. Originally from jazz US, 1929 icky-poo adjective unwell. Baby-talk variation of 'sick' or 'sickly' UK, 1920

ICL used as shorthand in Internet discussion groups and text messaging to mean 'in Christian love' US, 2002

I could cure the plague used by a woman to describe her condition when experiencing the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 2000

I could just scream! used as an expression of frustration. A signature line of Captain Wallace B. Binghamton on the television comedy McCahle's Navy (ABC, 1962–66). Repeated with referential humour US, 1962 icy-pole noun an ice confection on a stick. Generic use of a trademark term AUSTRALIA, 1932

ID noun an identity card or other means of identification US, 1941

ID verb to identify someone. Derives from the noun uses as 'identification/identity' US, 1944 idea hamster; ideas hamster noun a person who is employed to generate new ideas UK, 2001 identity noun a noted person; an odd or interesting person AUSTRALIA, 1874 idi adjective cruel. Probably after Ugandan dictator Idi Amin, 1925(?)–2003; recorded in use in contemporary gay society UK, 2003 idiot blocks noun options placed at the end of a staffing paper designed to allow the reader simply to tick the option which describes his decision US, 1986 idiot board noun in television, an out-of-camera board on which a performer's lines are displayed UK, 1952 idiot box noun 1 the television US, 1955. 2 an automatic car transmission US, 1993 idiot card noun in the television and film industries, a poster board with the dialogue written in large letters for actors to read US, 1957 idiot-head noun a stupid person. Used by young children AUSTRALIA, 1988 idiot juice noun any alcoholic beverage brewed in prison, especially a nutmeg/water mixture US, 1974 idiot light noun in a car, a warning light on the dashboard in place of a gauge US, 1968 idiot pill noun a barbiturate or central nervous system depressant US, 1953 idiot's delight noun in dominoes, the 5-0 piece US, 1959 idiot spoon noun a shovel US, 1947 idiot stick noun 1 a small carved copy of a totem pole CANADA, 1989. 2 a shovel US, 1930. 3 a digging bar US, 1980

idjit noun ➤ see: EJIT

I don't think so used as a humorous rejection of the sentiment that has been expressed US, 1969

I don't want to know used as refusal to accept unwelcome news or facts UK, 1946 iden noun friend; friends. West Indian, Rastafarian and UK black patois for 'brethren' (brothers), with religious and political overtones UK, 1994 idyat bwai noun a fool. West Indian patois (idiot boy) UK, 1997

if bet noun in horse racing, a bet that is made contingent upon winning a bet in an earlier race US, 1947

if cash noun in gambling, a type of conditional bet: an instruction to re-invest all or part of a winning return on another bet UK, 2001 iffiness noun a quality of unreliability, subject to doubt. From IFFY UK, 2001 iffy adjective 1 tenuous, uncertain US, 1937. 2 dangerous, risky. Extends from the previous sense UK, 2001

if I'm lying, I'm dying I am telling the truth. There are multiple reduplicative variations US, 1981

If it ain't broke, don't fix it used as a humorous suggestion to leave well enough alone US, 1961

if it isn't... (used as an acknowledgement of someone) it is that person US, 1951

if it's too loud, you're too old used for dismissing complaints of loudness at rock concerts. A saying attributed to Kiss. US, 1995

if-lose; if-win noun in gambling, a type of conditional bet: a bet is required only if the prior selection loses/wins or is a non-runner UK, 2001

ifs, ands or buts noun conditions, contingencies, exceptions US, 1982

if they back up the truck used in the entertainment industry for expressing a recognition that if the offer is lucrative enough, the actor speaking will accept the role despite its dramatic limitations. The phrase conjures up the image of a truck full of bags of money backing up the driveway to be emptied. US, 2001

if ya wonders, then ya is used in twelve-step recovery programmes such as Alcoholics Anonymous as a judgment on those who stop to wonder if they might be an addict US, 1998

if you say so used for indicating (grudgingly, or to placate) acceptance of what has been said UK, 1956

ig verb to ignore US, 1946 iggie noun a feigned ignorance. Circus and carnival usage. Often used in the phrase 'give them the iggie' US, 1961 igloo noun a one-hundred-dollar note. From the resemblance between '100' and 'loo' AUSTRALIA, 1989

ign'ant adjective ignorant US, 2002 ignorant adjective ► make ignorant to make angry. A south London term UK, 1977 ignorant end noun in poker, the low card in a five-card sequence US, 1990 ignorant oil noun alcohol, especially cheap and potent alcohol US, 1954 ignorant spoon noun in oil drilling, a shovel US, 1954 ignuts noun an ignorant fool US, 1934

I-guy noun a member of a team who thinks of himself – the individual – more than the team. Related to the sports adage: 'There is no "I" in "team"' US, 1997

I hate it! used for expressing solidarity with the misfortune just described by another US, 1984

I hate it when that happens used for introducing humour, usually after someone else has described an extremely unlikely situation US, 1987

I have nothing more to say about this that is either relevant or true used as a humorous comment when there is nothing worthwhile to say. Popularised by ESPN's Keith Olberman, paraphrasing Winston Churchill's claimed reaction when confronting an entrance essay at Eton US, 1997

I heard it on the marl road used for expressing rumour as the source of information CAYMAN ISLANDS, 1985

I heard that! I agree with you! US, 1992

I heard ya used for expressing assent US, 1992 ike noun a feeling of displeasure, a bad mood UK, 1998

Ikey noun 1 a Jewish person. Derogatory, an abbreviation of the name Isaac UK, 1835. 2 a student of the University of Cape Town, especially a member of one of the University's sports teams SOUTH AFRICA, 1921

Ikey Mo noun a Jewish person UK, 1922

I kid you not used for humorously assuring the truth of the matter asserted. The signature line of Jack Parr, host of the late-night Jack Parr Show (NBC, 1957–62). Repeated with referential humour US, 1967

Ilie Nastase noun a lavatory. Rhyming slang for KARZY, formed from the name of the Romanian tennis player (b.1946) UK, 1998

I liiiiike it! used for expressing approval. A catchphrase from the film The Rocketeer, 1991 US, 1991 ill verb 1 to perform excellently; to do anything superbly. Originally black usage, generally 'to be illin' rather than 'to ill'; became widespread with hip-hop culture US, 1992. 2 to undergo severe mental stress US, 1989 ill adjective 1 good, pleasing, desirable, admirable US, 1991. 2 wild or crazy. Originally black usage, from the verb sense; spread through hip-hop culture US, 1979. 3 wrong. Originally black usage, probably a variation on 'sick'; widespread with hip-hop culture US, 1994 ill-ass adjective excellent, superb US, 2001

I'll be buggered! I'm buggered! used for registering surprise UK, 1966

I'll be damned!; well, I'm damned! used as a general-purpose exclamation; also as an intensification of a personal opinion UK, 1925 ill-behaved adjective said of a computer program that becomes dysfunctional because of repeated error US, 1991

I'll bet! ▷ see: I BET!

I'll be there noun a chair. Rhyming slang UK, 1961

I'll bet you a fat man used for expressing supreme confidence US, 1963 illegal tegel noun any native or game bird taken illegally for food. Tegel™ is a brand of dressed poultry NEW ZEALAND, 1989 illegit noun a person or thing of questionable legality US, 1954 illegits noun dice that have been altered for cheating US, 1977

iller adjective worse US, 1979

illest adjective best US, 2002

I'll holla used as a farewell US, 1998

illies noun marijuana UK, 2003 illin'; ill verb to behave in a wild or crazy manner. Originally black usage, generally 'to be illin' rather than 'to ill'; became widespread with hip-hop culture US, 1986

illing noun marijuana UK, 2003

illing adjective bad, troubling US, 1980

illo noun an illustration US, 1982 ill piece noun a male homosexual despised by his peers US, 1970

I'll tell you what I'm gonna do used as a humorous, self-explanatory if nonce announcement of intent. Popularised by Sid Stone, announcer on the Texaco Star Theater, hosted by Milton Berle (1948–1951). One of the very first television-spawned catchphrases to become part of the national vocabulary US, 1948

illy noun 1 a cigarette infused with embalming fluid US, 2001. 2 marijuana, especially sensimillia (a very potent marijuana from a plant with seedless buds) US, 1995

illywhacker noun a confidence trickster. Agent noun from the obsolete phrase 'whack the illy' (to swindle; to perform confidence tricks). 'Illy' may possibly be a variant of obsolete 'eelie' (a confidence trick) which in turn is possibly from 'eeler-spee', a Pig Latin variant of SPIELER. This word was all but dead prior to gaining new life due to Peter Carey's 1985 novel Illywhacker AUSTRALIA, 1941

I'ma used to preface an intention. A slurred elision of 'I am going to', or 'I'm LIKE' US, 2001

I'm about it! I agree with your plan of action! US, 1999 imaginitis noun an overactive imagination AUSTRALIA, 1944

I'm all right, Jack! a smug declaration of self-satisfaction. Used as the title of a 1959 film UK, 2002

I-man noun an investigator from the Interstate Commerce Commission US, 1938

I'm Audi; I'm Audi 5000 I'm leaving now US, 1995

imbo noun a fool; an imbecile AUSTRALIA, 1953

I'm deep enough I quit, pay me US, 1954

I mean used for emphasis on that which follows US, 1967

I mean that! I agree with what you just said! US, 1977

I mean to say! used as an emphasis of the speaker's sincerity UK, 1843

I'm gone used as a farewell US, 1993

I'm history used as a farewell US, 1984

IMHO in my humble opinion. A ubiquitous piece of computer shorthand US, 1991 immo adjective imitation US, 1994 immortal noun in stud poker, any hand that is certain to win; the best possible hand US, 1947

IMNSHO used as Internet shorthand to mean 'in my not so humble opinion' US, 1995

IMO used as Internet shorthand to mean 'in my opinion' US, 1995

Imp noun a Chrysler Imperial car US, 1961 impact zone noun an area where the waves are breaking. Surfer usage SOUTH AFRICA, 2003 import noun a date who comes from out of town US, 1926 impressionist noun a person who is more interested in the impression they are making than they are in their substance TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1989 improve noun ► on the improve improving AUSTRALIA, 1959

Improved Scot noun in Hudson Bay, a person of mixed Scottish and Indian blood CANADA, 1987

imps file noun a journalists' dossier on an important person or persons UK, 1976

I'm serious! used for expressing strong agreement with what has just been said US, 1981

I'm sideways used as a farewell US, 1993

I'm sure!; I'm so sure! used for expressing great doubt US, 1982

I'm there! I agree! I approve! US, 1977

in noun 1 an inside connection US, 1929. 2 an introduction US, 1945. 3 in a casino, the amount of cash collected at a table in exchange for chips. An abbreviation of 'buy-in' US, 1980. ► the in exclusive and positive access to something UK, 2003 in adjective 1 fashionable UK, 1960. 2 socially accepted; popular US, 1929. 3 assured of having amatory success AUSTRALIA, 1960. 4 experiencing good luck or the like AUSTRALIA, 1960. 5 incarcerated US, 1903

in preposition ► be in it to be actively and enthusiastically involved AUSTRALIA, 1928

-in suffix used in combination with a simple verb to create a communal activity as a means of protest, as in 'love-in' or 'teach-in' US, 1937

in a minute used as a farewell US, 1992 in-and-out noun 1 sex at its most basic US, 1996. 2 the nose. Rhyming slang for 'snout' UK, 1960. 3 a tout; a ticket tout. Rhyming slang UK, 1998. 4 a cigarette; tobacco. Rhyming slang for SNOUT UK, 1998 in-and-out-man noun an opportunist thief or burglar UK, 1957 in a pig's valise! used for expressing how very unlikely something is. The title of a late-1990s play by Eric Overmyer US, 1957 in between noun amphetamine tablets; depressant tablets; a mixture of amphetamines and barbiturates US, 1975 inbred noun a doctor with doctor parents. Medical slang UK, 2002

Inca message noun cocaine. A specific allusion to Peru, but generally a reference to South America as a source of cocaine US, 1984 incandescent adjective furiously angry UK, 2004 incantation noun in computing, an esoteric command US, 1991 incense noun 1 amyl nitrite or butyl nitrite. The pungent vapours are inhaled, hence the term US, 1980. 2 heroin UK, 2003 incest noun sex between two similar homosexual types, such as two effeminate men US, 1972 inch-and-a-half noun overtime pay at the standard overtime rate of one and a half the regular rate US, 1984 inch boy noun a male who has or is thought to have a small penis US, 1997 include me out! leave me out! A catchphrase coined by film mogul Samuel Goldwyn, 1882–1974 US, 1938 include war noun a prolonged inflammatory debate in an Internet discussion group in which the mass of former postings and counterpostings included make it impossible to follow who is saying what and when US, 1995 income tax noun fines paid by prostitutes UK, 1947 incoming noun enemy fire, especially artillery or mortar fire that is about to land US, 1977 incoming! used as a warning of impending enemy mortar or rocket fire US, 1976 increase the peace! used as a call for an end to violence US, 1990 indeedy adverb indeed. An intentionally folksy and intensifying addition of a syllable US, 1856

In Deep Shit nickname Iain Duncan Smith, Conservative Party leader (2001–2003). Back-formation from Smith's initials: IDS UK, 2001

index noun the face US, 1945

India noun marijuana. Variations of INDIAN HAY or INDIAN HEMP. Also known as 'Indian' UK, 1978

Indian noun 1 an Indian meal, especially in, or prepared by, a restaurant UK, 1998. 2 an active firefighter, as distinguished from a Chief and other officers US, 1954

Indiana green noun green marijuana claimed to have been grown in the state of Indiana US, 1965

Indiana pants noun boots US, 1964

Indian boy marijuana UK, 2001

Indian charm noun the arm. Rhyming slang UK, 1998

Indian cocktail; Indian tea; Indian tonic noun liquid poison as a means of suicide TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1985

Indian Country; Injun Country noun during war, any area with a strong enemy presence US, 1945

Indian hand-rubbed noun a powerful hashish from Himachel Pradesh in Northern India, 2003

Indian hay noun marijuana US, 1936

Indian Heads noun the Second Infantry Division, US Army. So named because of the Division's insignia US, 1991

Indian hemp noun marijuana. From 'East Indian hemp', the familiar name for Cannabis indica US, 1986

Indian ice cream noun a bitter confection made from soopolallie berries, water, and white sugar CANADA, 1989

Indian Indian noun an American Indian who has retained his indigenous culture and language US, 1963

Indian list noun the Interdict list, a law forbidding a person from buying, selling or consuming alcohol; by extension any list of those who may not buy alcohol CANADA, 1958

Indian nigga noun a member of a British Indian (Hindi) urban youth gang or subculture UK, 2006

Indian rope noun marijuana. A play on 'hemp' as a material used in the making of ropes, HEMP (marijuana) and, perhaps, the Indian rope trick as a magical method of getting high US, 1986

Indian steak noun bologna US, 1963

Indian talk noun in trucking, smoke rising from a diesel smoke stack. An allusion to smoke signals used by American Indians to communicate over long distances US, 1971

Indian time noun used for denoting a lack of punctuality US, 1963

Indian weed noun marijuana. A variation of INDIAN HAY or INDIAN HEMP US, 1986 indie noun a vague categorisation within rock music, familiar since the 1980s and identified as 'serious' music that is marketed as independent and non-commercial, in its bid for commercial success. Also used as an adjective UK, 1993. ► the Indie the Independent (the youngest of the UK's national daily newspapers) first published in October 1986. The Sunday edition is less well-known as 'the Sindie' UK, 2003 indie; indy adjective independent US, 1928

Indo noun 1 Indonesia AUSTRALIA, 1991. 2 an Indonesian AUSTRALIA, 1966. 3 marijuana cultivated in Indonesia US, 1993

Indon noun an Indonesian. This has for the most part died out in favour of INDO AUSTRALIA, 1966

Indonesian bud noun 1 marijuana cultivated in Indonesia UK, 1998. 2 heroin UK, 2003 industrial language noun swearing, profanity US, 1984

Indy nickname the Indianapolis Speedway, home to a 500-mile race every May US, 1965 inexplicable mob noun a large crowd that materialises in a public place to perform a scripted action for several minutes before dissolving US, 2003 infant killer noun a paedophile. Prison use UK, 2002 infant mortality noun the tendency of computer components to fail within the first few weeks of operation US, 1991 infernal adjective execrable, detestable, annoying UK, 1764 infernally adverb detestably, execrably, annoyingly UK, 1638 infil verb (of military troops or spies) to infiltrate. Military UK, 1995 infinitely fine adjective in computing, used as the ultimate praise US, 1990 in flaggers noun in flagrante delicto (in the commission of a crime; red-handed). The first syllable elaborated by application of the Oxford -ER AUSTRALIA, 1973 influence noun ► under the influence drunk or drug-intoxicated UK, 1937 info noun information US, 1907

Ingerland noun England, especially the England football team. A phonetic representation of the word England as chanted by a sports crowd UK: ENGLAND, 2005

Ingersol Willie noun in horse racing, the track's official timer of morning workouts US, 1951

In Hock Constantly noun the owner of an International Harvester Company truck. A back-formation from the company's initials: IHC US, 1971 ink noun 1 space or coverage in a newspaper US, 1953. 2 oil US, 1976. 3 inexpensive wine US, 1917. 4 alcoholic drink. Probably a back-formation from INKED which appears from C19 AUSTRALIA, 1977. ► ink in the pen the ability to achieve erection and to ejaculate US, 1967 ink verb in the production of comics books, to draw over pencil art with a pen US, 1997 ink-and-paper man noun a counterfeiter who uses a printing press US, 1985 inked; inked up adjective drunk AUSTRALIA, 1898

inked in adjective planned UK, 1994

inkie noun in the television and film industries, an incandescent light bulb UK, 1960 inkie-dinkie noun in the television and film industries, a 250-watt light source UK, 1960 ink-slinger noun a clerical employee US, 1889 ink stick noun a fountain pen US, 1942

- inky noun 1 a newspaper, especially one dedicated to music journalism UK, 2003. 2 a felt-tipped pen. Used in Glasgow schools UK: SCOTLAND, 1988
- inland squid noun a surfer who does not live at or near the beach US, 1987
- inmate noun used as a term of derision, applied to a prisoner who follows prison rules and carries favour with the prison administration US, 1984
- innards noun 1 the entrails, the stomach, the guts. A dialect and vulgar alteration of 'inwards' UK, 1825. 2 the inner workings of a car's engine or transmission US, 1993
- inner space noun a person's deepest psychological being US, 1967
- innie noun an inward-turned navel US, 1966
- innit isn't it?; also used as a general purpose tag regardless of grammatical context. Originally, and still, a lazily pronounced interrogative referring back to the verb 'is' in the preceding sentence, e.g. 'It's raining, innit?' UK, 1959
- in on preposition being a part of something; participating in or sharing in something UK, 1923
- ins-and-outs noun ► want to know the ins-and-outs of a cat's arse; want to know the ins-and-outs of a duck's arse to be very inquisitive. Generally in catchphrase form as 'you want to know', 'he'd want to know', etc. Variations include 'the ins-and-outs of a nag's arse', also 'of a duck's backside' and 'of a duck's bum' UK, 1984
- insane adjective 1 excellent US, 1955. 2 fearless; willing to try anything for fun US, 1997. 3 ridiculous, in either a good or bad way US, 1997
- insanely great adjective in computing, magnificent to a degree that can be fully grasped by only the most proficient practitioners US, 1991
- insaniac noun a lunatic. A compound of 'insane' and 'maniac' UK, 1999
- insanity stripe noun in the US armed forces, the insignia designating a three-year enlistment US, 1946
- insects and ants noun men's underpants. Rhyming slang UK, 1960
- insensitive care unit noun a hospital's intensive care unit US, 1989
- inside adverb imprisoned UK, 1888
- inside job noun a crime committed by, or with the assistance of, someone who lives or works in the place where it occurs UK, 1908
- inside man noun in a big con swindle, a confederate to whom the victim is turned over once he has been lured into the enterprise US, 1940
- inside oil noun inside information AUSTRALIA, 1966
- insider noun a pocket US, 1945
- inside the Beltway noun literally, the area of Washington D.C. surrounded by a motorway known as the Capital Beltway; figuratively, the Washington political and journalistic establishment US, 1977
- inside track noun a position of advantage; information which provides such an advantage. A figurative use of racing wisdom US, 1857
- inside work noun any internal alteration of dice for cheating US, 1963
- instaga; instagu noun marijuana UK, 2003
- Instamatic noun a police radar unit used for measuring vehicle speed. A brand name extrapolation from CAMERA (a generic term for radar) US, 1976
- Instant Dictator Kit noun in the Canadian military, items of brass and braid that transform an ordinary uniform into a ceremonial one CANADA, 1995
- instant LZ noun a 10,000- to 15,000-pound bomb used to clear jungle and create an instant landing zone in Vietnam. The bomb was designed to create a wide but shallow crater in the jungle, literally creating an instant landing zone US, 1981
- instant zen noun LSD US, 1972
- insurance cheater noun in oil drilling, a safety belt US, 1954
- intel noun military intelligence AUSTRALIA, 1961
- intellectual noun in the army, a member of the intelligence section UK, 1993
- intellectual hour noun all time spent watching cartoons on television US, 1980
- intelligence centre noun a field latrine. Gulf war usage US, 1991
- intense adjective extreme, wild. A conventional adjective rendered slang by attitude and pronunciation, emphasis on the second syllable US, 1982
- Inter nickname the intermediate examination taken after completing the first three years of secondary school in Ireland IRELAND, 1998
- Intercourse 80 nickname Interstate 80, a major east-west motorway in the US US, 1977
- intercoursed adjective exhausted. Archly euphemistic for FUCKED UK, 1979
- interesting adjective in computing, annoying or difficult US, 1991
- interesting, yes – provocative used for expressing possible interest in what has just been said. A catchphrase from the film Tommy Boy US, 1997
- interior decorating noun the act of having sex during the day. Upper-class society usage UK, 1982
- Interlake potato noun a rock CANADA, 1987
- internal noun a person who smuggles drugs inside their bodies US, 1997
- internals noun intrusive medical examinations as part of sexual role-play, especially when advertised as a service offered by a prostitute UK, 2003
- International House of Pancakes noun a hospital ward for severe stroke victims, who lie in bed muttering in their own language US, 1978
- international milk thief noun a petty thief. An example of police humour; heavily ironic UK, 1977
- interrogation by altitude noun the reported practice by US troops of interrogating a group of suspected Viet Cong in a helicopter, throwing those who refused to answer to their death below and thus encouraging cooperation from those left US, 1990
- in the nude noun food. Rhyming slang UK, 1979
- in there; in thar adjective excellent. An allusion to surfing inside the hollow of a breaking wave US, 1971
- into preposition 1 in debt to US, 1893. 2 in organised crime, in control of US, 1985. 3 interested in; participating in US, 1965
- intro noun an introduction UK, 1923
- intro verb to introduce US, 1986
- invertebrated adjective very drunk US, 1982
- investment noun a bet, especially on a horse race NEW ZEALAND, 1944
- invitation noun a speeding ticket. A humorous euphemism US, 1976
- invite noun an invitation. A verb-as-noun that began as standard English and then evolved into slang UK, 1659
- in with preposition in a friendly or social relationship with someone UK, 1677
- in you go, says Bob Munro used as a toast. If a real Bob Munro gave his name to this toast, he is lost in the alcohol fog of history NEW ZEALAND, 1999
- in-your-chops adjective direct, provocative UK, 2004
- in-your-face; in-yo-face adjective aggressive, provocative US, 1988
- in your oils adjective delighted; in your element. From Welsh hwyl (mood) UK: WALES, 1985
- IOW used as Internet shorthand to mean 'in other words' US, 1997
- I owe you money or what? why are you looking at me that way? Hawaiian youth usage US, 1981
- IQ anniversary noun the anniversary of a person's quitting smoking. The 'IQ' stems from 'I Quit', punning on the more commonly understood sense of the abbreviation US, 1998

IQ Charley noun a half-wit. Teen slang; unkind US, 1955 irie; irey adjective good, great, wonderful JAMAICA, 1994 iris noun an Indian homosexual male. Gay slang, formed on the name Iris, probably elaborating the initial 'I' for 'Indian', and originating among Cape coloureds SOUTH AFRICA, 2000

Irish noun Irish imports, such as snuff, whisky, linen, tea, etc. Linen from 1784, snuff from 1834 and whisky from 1889 UK, 1982

Irish nickname any athletic team from Notre Dame University. An abbreviation of the fuller FIGHTING IRISH US, 1975

Irish apple noun a potato UK, 1896

Irish baby buggy noun a wheelbarrow US, 1919

Irish banjo noun a shovel US, 1941

Irish clubhouse noun a police stationhouse US, 1904

Irish confetti noun 1 semen spilled on a woman's body US, 1987.

2 stones, bricks, etc, when used as offensive missiles US, 1913.

3 small stones kept in a pocket for disciplining sheepdogs NEW ZEALAND, 1961

Irish curtain noun on Prince Edward Island, a cobweb inside the house CANADA, 1988

Irisher noun a person of Irish descent US, 1807

Irish horse noun 1 salted beef UK, 1748. 2 a flaccid or impotent penis US, 1987

Irish hurricane noun a flat calm sea US, 1803

Irish jig; Irish noun a wig. Rhyming slang UK, 1972

Irish lace; Irish lace curtains noun a spider's cobweb US, 1950

Irish linen noun in pool, the cloth used as a grip on the end of a cue stick US, 1993

Irishman's gate noun any makeshift gate NEW ZEALAND, 1977

Irish pennant noun a dangling thread on a recruit's uniform. Marine humour, marine usage US, 1941

Irish picnic wagon noun a police van US, 1996

Irish pop noun a shot of whisky and glass of beer US, 1982

Irish rose noun the nose. Rhyming slang UK, 1961

Irish shave noun an act of defecation US, 1979

Irish steak noun cheese. An allusion to Irish poverty UK; SCOTLAND, 1988

Irish sulk noun a fit of depression after being spirited and happy CANADA, 1982

Irish toothache noun 1 an erection UK, 1882. 2 pregnancy US, 1972

Irish turkey noun corned beef US, 1915

Irish waterfall noun a manner of cigarette smoking in which smoke is drawn into the mouth and then allowed to drift out and upwards for inhalation through the nose UK, 2003

Irish wedding noun masturbation US, 1987

Irish whip noun in handball, a stroke hitting the ball close to the body US, 1972 iron noun 1 a gun, especially a handgun US, 1838. 2 the penis UK, 1706. 3 money UK, 1705. 4 in the used car business, collectively the worst cars on the sales lot US, 1975. 5 an old, dilapidated truck US, 1971. 6 in hot rodding, a custom-built chrome bumper US, 1956. 7 an older mainframe computer US, 1991. 8 a railway track US, 1977. ► push iron; bump iron; drive iron; pump iron to lift weights. Prison use US, 1965

Iron Age noun in computing, the period approximately between 1961 (the first PDP-1) and 1971 (the first commercial microprocessor) US, 1991 iron ass noun a stern, demanding, unrelenting person US, 1942 iron ben noun a bullet-proof vest US, 1949 ironbender noun a severe foreman, a strict disciplinarian CANADA, 1956 iron bomb noun a conventional aerial bomb that is simply dropped from the sky without any targeting capability in the bomb US, 1962 iron box noun a domestic iron INDIA, 1979 iron cure noun the sudden and complete deprivation of a drug to an addict in jail who suffers intensely US, 1973 iron curtain noun a girdle US, 1968 iron dog noun a snowmobile US, 1961 iron door noun ► behind the iron door in prison US, 1992 iron duke noun in poker, a hand that is either certain to win or at least played as if it is certain to win US, 1967 iron girder noun a murder. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 iron God noun the Burroughs B-550 computer US, 1968 iron hat noun a safety helmet. Most commonly known as a 'hard hat' US, 1954 iron hoof; iron noun a male homosexual. Rhyming slang for POOF UK, 1936 iron horse noun a tank or other armoured vehicle US, 1918 iron idiot noun an imprecise but easily manoeuvred manual sight on a tank's main gun US, 1986

Iron Lady nickname British Prime Minister (1979–90) Margaret Hilda Thatcher (b.1925). Coined by the Soviet media for Thatcher's unyielding anti-communist sentiments; always used with 'the' UK, 1976 iron lot noun a used car business specialising in old, inexpensive cars US, 1975 iron lung noun a tip, a gratuity. Glasgow rhyming slang for BUNG UK, 1985 iron man noun one US silver dollar ($1). From the metal coin US, 1908

Iron Mike noun 1 a bicycle. Rhyming slang for 'bike', formed from the nickname of US boxer Mike Tyson (b.1966) UK, 1998. 2 a pair of brass knuckles US, 1949 iron mouth noun any person with orthodontia US, 1979 iron nose noun in British Columbia, a steelhead trout CANADA, 1963 iron out verb 1 to correct a misunderstanding, to negotiate differences and achieve agreement, to put right UK, 1930. 2 to knock a person down; to flatten AUSTRALIA, 1953 iron pile noun the area in a prison recreation yard where the weightlifting equipment is kept US, 1962 iron pony noun a motorcycle US, 1945 irons noun 1 handcuffs. Also used in the singular US, 1929. 2 in horse racing, stirrups US, 1951. 3 tyre chains used for winter driving US, 1971 iron skull noun on the railways, a boilermaker US, 1946 iron tank noun a bank. Rhyming slang UK, 1960

Iron Triangle noun 1 a major North Korean industrial complex between Pyongyang to the north, Chorwon to the west and Kumhwa to the east US, 1968. 2 a dense jungle area near the Cu Chi District of South Vietnam, about 20 miles northwest of Saigon, dominated by the Viet Cong and the scene of heavy fighting US, 1966 iron undies noun the notional underwear worn by a woman who is not willing to have sex NEW ZEALAND, 2002 iron worker noun a criminal who specialises in breaking into safes US, 1949 iron yard noun the area where weight lifting equipment is left and used, especially in prison US, 1995

I say! used for attracting attention or for registering surprise or pleasure UK, 1909

I say, I say, I say! used as a catchphrase introduction to a corny joke. From music hall comedy routines UK, 1927

isda noun heroin US, 1977

I see nothing used as a humorous expression of complicity. A catchphrase from the unlikely wacky-Nazi-POW-camp-comedy television programme Hogan's Heroes (CBS, 1965–71). Uttered frequently by Sergeant Hans Schultz, the full phrase was 'I see nothing. I hear nothing. I know nothing!'. Repeated with referential humour US, 1965

I see, said the blind man (and he saw) used for expressing sudden comprehension in a teasing and humorous way US, 1991 ish noun an issue (of a magazine, especially a single-interest fan magazine) US, 1967. ► the ish a Royal Marine issued with all possible kit, or a full complement of equipment. Derives from 'issue' UK, 1987

-ish suffix 1 added to an adjective or phrase to form a less precise adjective, or to suggest a vaguer, often wider, interpretation of the preceding adjective or phrase UK, 1815. 2 added to a proper name to form an adjective UK, 1845

I shit them I am superior UK, 1979

I shit you not I am very serious US, 1986

I should cocoa!; I should coco! I should say so. Rhyming slang, 'coffee and cocoa', unusually reduced to its second element. Derivative and sarcastic UK, 1936

I shouldn't wonder! I should not be surprised UK, 1836 ishy adjective disgusting, unappealing US, 1968 is it? 1 used for registering a mild disbelief UK, 1994. 2 used for indicating polite interest, astonishment, incredulity, etc. Used rhetorically without regard to gender, subject or number. Sometimes spelt 'izzit' SOUTH AFRICA, 1970

Island noun ► the Island the Isle of Wight, off the south coast of England; in particular the prisons: HMP Camp Hill, HMP Albany or HMP Parkhurst UK, 1956

Isle of Man noun a pan. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of the island off the north west of England UK, 1992

Isle of Wight noun a light. Rhyming slang UK, 1998

Isle of Wight adjective 1 right; both as an expression of approval and indicative of direction. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the island off the south coast of England UK, 1960. 2 tight (in a state of drunkenness or mean with money). Rhyming slang UK, 1992

I smell bacon! there are police nearby! A catchphrase from Wayne's World, heard before but popularised by it US, 1993 isn't it? used rhetorically, without regard to gender, subject or number: is that not so? SOUTH AFRICA, 1956 isn't that special? used for expressing sarcastic disdain. From Dana Carvey's 'Church Lady' skit on Saturday Night Live US, 1987

Israelite noun someone who is temporarily without money JAMAICA, 1969 issue noun a problem. Often used in a mocking way, borrowing from the lexicon of self-improvement and popular psychotherapy. Most often heard in the plural US, 1999 issues noun crack cocaine UK, 2003

-ista suffix when combined with a subject-noun, a follower or aficionado of something or someone. From Spanish. An example is FASHIONISTA UK, 2003 is the Pope (a) Catholic? yes; a nonsense retort used as an affirmative answer to a silly question, often sarcastic. Often mixed with the synonymous DO BEARS SHIT IN THE WOODS? to achieve DOES THE POPE SHIT IN THE WOODS? Used in the UK since the 1970s US, 1977

I suppose noun a nose. Rhyming slang UK, 1859

I swallow! used as a cry of submission UK, 2000

iswas noun a contemptible, very much disliked person. This appears to be a compound of 'is' and 'was' and is therefore perhaps implying that the person so described is (soon to be) in the past tense. Noted in connection with a legal dispute over rap lyrics by BBC News, 6th June 2003 UK, 2003 is your father a glass maker? used to suggest that somebody in front of you at a public event sit down and stop blocking your view TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

it noun 1 sex UK, 1599. 2 the penis US, 1846. 3 a short-term sexual partner, a casual pick-up UK, 2002. 4 in male homosexual usage, a heterosexual male or a homosexual male who is not part of the speaker's inner circle US, 1981

It noun sweet vermouth. Originally Italian vermouth as used in 'gin and it' UK, 1937 it ain't over 'til the fat lady sings used as a humorous aphorism meaning that something is not over until it is over. The battle cry of those who are about to lose US, 1992

ital adjective natural, unadulterated; (of food) organic, salt-free; (of sex) without a condom JAMAICA, 1994

Italian airlines noun walking US, 1987

Italian mausoleum noun a car boot (trunk). From the stereotype of the corpses of Mafia murder victims being stuffed in car boots US, 1982

Italian shower noun a liberal application of aftershave or scent UK, 1997

ITALY written on an envelope, or at the foot of a lover's letter, as lovers' code for 'I trust and love you'. Widely-known, and well-used by servicemen but, apparently, has not transferred to the coded vocabulary of texting UK, 1960 itch noun ► he (she) wouldn't give you the itch said of a person with a reputation for meanness. In Glasgow use UK, 1988 itch verb to have a desire to do something UK, 1225 itch and scratch; itch noun a match (a vesta) UK, 1931 itchy backside noun said of a restless person SINGAPORE, 2002 itchy feet noun 1 attributed to a person who is restless UK, 1984. 2 attributed to a prison inmate who is considered to be a potential absconder. A specialisation of 'have itchy feet' (to be restless) UK, 1978

itchy pussy noun a Mitsubishi car US, 1992

ite all right (as an adjective, or a greeting). A shortening of 'all right'. Teen slang UK, 2003 item noun a romantically-linked couple. Expressing a commitment that the two individuals be considered as a single item US, 1981

Itie noun an Italian. Variation of EYETIE UK, 1941

Itie adjective Italian AUSTRALIA, 1988

-itis suffix used to create imaginary medical conditions, such as lazyitis (congenital laziness) and cobitis (an aversion to prison food) US, 1912

it's all good used for expressing optimism or a sense that all is well in the world US, 1995

it's been great used as a farewell US, 1969

it's been real used as a farewell, suggesting that the time spent together has been enjoyable US, 1982 it's better to give than receive used as a declaration that it is better to be the active rather than passive partner in homosexual anal intercourse. A charitable philosophy UK, 2000

it's breakfast! used by firefighters in the woods to mean that the fire is out and their work is finished US, 1991

it's dead the issue being discussed need not be discussed any further US, 2002

it's hard to feel good about that used as an intentionally laconic expression of sympathy or commiseration US, 1987 it's not my job used for expressing a lack of interest in helping to do something. A signature line of comedian Freddie Prinze on the television comedy Chico and the Man (NBC, 1974–78). Repeated with referential humour US, 1974

it's not the end of the world! offered as consolation to someone who has suffered a mishap UK, 1984

it's on! used for announcing the start of hostilities between youth gangs US, 1953

it's the oil that counts in oil drilling, used for expressing doubt about any new process, equipment or idea US, 1954

it's there used as a stock answer about something that is acceptable but not great CANADA, 1993

itsy bitsy noun the vagina. Childish euphemism US, 1998

itsy-bitsy adjective tiny US, 1938

it's you used as a greeting US, 1973

it takes all sorts an elliptical variation of the homespun philosophy: it takes all sorts to make a world (or a universe) UK, 1951

it takes one to know one you are as bad as the person you are criticising UK, 1984 itty adjective tiny. A childish form of 'little' UK, 1798 itty-bitty adjective tiny. A reduplicated variation of ITTY, perhaps by combination with BITTY UK, 1938

Ivan noun a Russian, especially a soldier; the nation of Russia; sometimes used in the plural to represent Russians in general. Originally military; the popular male forename is the Russian equivalent to John US, 1944 ivories noun 1 the teeth UK, 1782. 2 the keys of a piano or a similar instrument UK, 1818. 3 dice US, 1962. 4 billiard or pool balls UK, 1875.

► spank the ivories play the piano in a jazz-style US, 1944.

► tickle the ivories to play the piano UK, 1930 ivory flake noun cocaine US, 1983 ivory soap noun in dominoes, the double blank piece US, 1959 ivory tower noun used as a metaphor for an attitude that is elitist, intellectual and removed from the real world US, 1911

I wonder! I doubt it!, I can't believe it!; I think it may be so UK, 1922

I wouldn't fuck her with your dick used as a jocular disparagement of a woman's sexual attractiveness US, 1974

I wouldn't kick her out of bed; I wouldn't kick that out of bed used as an expression of general sexual interest. Sometimes elaborated as 'I wouldn't kick her out of bed for farting' or '... for eating crackers' UK, 1984

ixnay no. Pig Latin for 'nix' US, 1929

-iz- infix used as an infix to hide the meaning of a word. Used in prison and other fields with a tentative relationship to the law. 'Dope' becomes 'dizope' US, 1976

-iz-i infix an embellishment that adds no meaning to a word. Popularised by Frankie Smith in the 1999 song 'Double Dutch Bus' US, 1999

IZM; ism; izm noun marijuana US, 1992

Izzy noun any Jewish male US, 1949

J noun 1 a marijuana cigarette. 'J' is for JOINT US, 1967. 2 in a deck of playing cards, a jack US, 1988. 3 money. An abbreviation of JACK US, 1982

JA noun 1 Jamaica JAMAICA, 1994. 2 a Jamaican JAMAICA, 2000 jab noun an intravenous drug injection US, 1914 jab verb to inject a drug intravenously US, 1908 jabba; fat jabba noun an overweight or unattractive person, especially a school fellow; especially used as a playground insult. After the character Jabba the Hutt, introduced to cinema goers in Return of the Jedi, 1983 UK, 2003 jabber noun 1 a syringe US, 1982. 2 a drug user who injects drugs US, 1973. 3 a boxer US, 1904 jabbing jabba noun the act of anal sex. A nicely alliterative turn of phrase. Jabba the Hutt, created by George Lucas, is an excrementally ugly character from the Star Wars films; hence 'jabbing' (thrusting) into SHIT UK, 2001 jab-off noun the flooding sensations of exhilaration and euphoria following a heroin injection US, 1973 jack noun 1 anything at all; nothing at all US, 1973. 2 the anus. Notably in 'up your jack!' UK, 1984. 3 an act of masturbation US, 2003. 4 semen. Possibly by back-formation from JACK OFF (to masturbate) US, 1997. 5 a sexually transmitted infection. Short for 'jack in the box', rhyming slang for POX AUSTRALIA, 1944. 6 methylated spirits as an alcoholic drink. Probably a variation of JAKE UK, 1961. 7 a homemade alcoholic beverage, usually applejack or raisinjack US, 1894. 8 tobacco US, 1949. 9 a small heroin pill UK, 1967. 10 in bowls, the small white ball that serves as a target for the bowls UK, 1611. 11 money US, 1890. 12 a counterfeit double-headed coin. Origin unknown AUSTRALIA, 1936. 13 a robbery US, 1988. 14 a police officer or detective UK, 1889. 15 a friend BAHAMAS, 1995. 16 a kookaburra. Shortening of 'laughing jackass' AUSTRALIA, 1898. 17 a peek or a look NEW ZEALAND, 1984

Jack noun an all-purpose male name; any man; used as a male-to-male form of address. Predominantly black use UK, 1706 ▷see: JACK JONES jack verb 1 to steal, to take by force – especially of street crime. Adopted from 'JACK' (to hijack) US, 1930. 2 to lift or raise or move something, as with a carjack AUSTRALIA, 1961. 3 (of a male) to masturbate US, 1995. 4 to convey a cartridge into the chamber of a firearm AUSTRALIA, 1995. 5 to abandon, to dismiss UK, 1961. 6 to serve (a prison sentence) US, 1966. 7 to move the plunger of a hypodermic syringe back and forth AUSTRALIA, 1970. 8 to flush blood in and out of a hypodermic syringe AUSTRALIA, 1970. 9 to cease; to shirk UK, 1947. ► jack someone's root to frustrate someone US, 1980. ► jack your jaw to talk incessantly US, 1983. ► jack your joint to manoeuvre your penis during sex US, 1997 jack adjective 1 used for describing any medium used for inspiration while masturbating. Followed by the medium – 'jack pictures', 'jack flick', 'jack book', etc US, 1990. 2 had enough of; fed up with AUSTRALIA, 1889

Jack; Jack's nickname Jack Daniels™ whisky US, 1972

jackabaun noun in Newfoundland, a mischievous person not to be trusted. This word may have descended from the British 'jacobin' (a political reformer) CANADA, 1982 jackal's wedding noun a time when the sun shines and it rains; a shower. Glossed as a 'village expression' by Nigel Hankin, Hanklyn-Janklyn, 2003 INDIA, 2003

Jack and Danny noun 1 the buttocks, the anus. Rhyming slang for FANNY, formed from characters played by Jack Nicholson and Danny Lloyd in the Stanley Kubrick film, The Shining, 1980 UK, 1992. 2 the vagina. Rhyming slang for FANNY (the vagina) UK, 2000. 3 a story, lies. Rhyming slang for FANNY UK, 2000

Jack and Jill; Jack-and-Jill; jack noun 1 a bill. Rhyming slang UK, 1960. 2 a till, a cash register. Rhyming slang UK, 1932. 3 a hill. Rhyming slang, formed on the nursery rhyme couple who went up the hill UK, 1934. 4 a fool. Rhyming slang for DILL (a fool) AUSTRALIA, 1973. 5 the (contraceptive) pill. Rhyming slang UK, 1988. 6 a pill. Rhyming slang UK, 1992

Jackanory noun a story. Either deriving from, or the inspiration for, BBC television storytelling programme Jackanory, 1965–96 UK, 1972 jack around verb 1 to engage in horseplay US, 1963. 2 to fool around US, 1962 jackass noun a fool. A male ass and thus an elaboration of ASS (a fool) UK, 1823 jackatar noun a Newfoundlander of mixed French and Micmac ancestry CANADA, 1966 jack benny noun in hold 'em poker, a three and a nine as the first two cards dealt to a player. Comedian Benny perpetually claimed that he was 39 years old US, 1981 jack boat; jack schooner noun a two-spar gaff-rigged fishing boat in Cape Breton and Newfoundland CANADA, 1982 jack boy noun a street criminal who relies almost exclusively upon force and terror US, 1989

Jack Canuck noun a Canadian CANADA, 1963

Jack Dash noun an act of urination. Glasgow rhyming slang for SLASH UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

jackdaw and rook noun a book; specifically, in the theatre, the text of a play ('the book'). Originally theatrical UK, 1960

Jack Dee noun urine; an act of urination. Rhyming slang for WEE or PEE, formed from the name of a UK comedian-actor (b.1962). Also used as a verb UK, 1998

Jack Doyle noun a boil. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of an Irish boxer, 1913–78 UK, 1992

jackd adjective 1 stolen, especially if taken in a mugging (a violent street-crime). Alas, in ever wider-use since the early 1980s US, 2002. 2 caffeinated. Borrowing from the language of car fuel for application to the world of coffee drinks and, to a lesser extent, soft drinks US, 1996. 3 very muscular US, 2003

jackd up; jackd adjective 1 drunk, drug-intoxicated, exhilarated US, 1935. 2 infected with a sexually transmitted infection AUSTRALIA, 1950 jackeen noun a Dubliner. A derivative of Jack, an abbreviation of John (Bull), the national nickname for an English man originating from the character named John Bull who features as a stereotypical Englishman in 'The History of John Bull', a collection of pamphlets written by John Arbuthnot (1667–1735), issued in 1712 IRELAND, 1998 jacker noun 1 a robber, a hijacker US, 1985. 2 a camouflage expert US, 1956 jackeroo; jackaroo noun an apprentice station hand working on, and learning how to manage, a cattle or sheep station. Origin unknown. Suggestions have been legion, such as: the male name Jack blended with 'kangaroo'; a corruption of Johnny Raw; and borrowings from various Australian Aboriginal languages. Originally it was a Queensland word referring to a man living away from settled areas, and so may be referable to a native Queensland language AUSTRALIA, 1845 jackeroo; jackaroo verb to work as a jackeroo AUSTRALIA, 1875 jacket noun 1 a personnel file, especially in prison or the military US, 1944. 2 an executive not involved with actual production US, 1997. 3 a capsule of Nembuta™, a central nervous system depressant US, 1952. ► get a jacket; wear a jacket (used of a man) to accept, unknowingly, another man's child as your own JAMAICA, 1997. ► give (someone) a jacket (used of a woman) to name

- someone as the father of her child who is not actually the father JAMAICA, 2003. ► put the jacket on someone to frame someone, setting them up to take the blame US, 1982
- jacket verb (used of a school boy) to give a girl your school jacket, signifying a steady dating relationship US, 1954
- jack flaps noun fancy clothes worn by a man in pursuit of female companionship US, 1976
- Jack Flash noun a crash, a smash. Rhyming slang, probably formed from the title of the Rolling Stones' song, 'Jumping Jack Flash', 1968 UK, 1992
- jack hat noun a condom. Combines JACK (semen) with a cover; possibly a reference to Jack 'The Hat' McVitie, a murder victim of the Kray twins UK, 1998
- Jack Herer noun an extremely potent strain of marijuana, a hybrid of three of the strongest varieties. Named in honour of Jack Herer, also known as 'The Emperor of Hemp', a high-profile campaigner for the legalisation of cannabis UK, 2003
- Jack Horner; little Jack Horner noun a corner. Rhyming slang; its various uses glossed as 'may be stood in, turned around or cut' UK, 1931
- jackie noun in the circus or carnival, a story of past deeds or escapades US, 1980
- Jackie Dash; jackie noun an act of urination. Rhyming slang, formed, apparently, from the name of a union official in London's dockland, JACK DASH, however, is recorded in Glasgow in 1988 UK, 1998
- Jackie Howe; Jacky Howe; jacky-howe noun a dark blue or black sleeveless singlet worn by rural labourers. Named after Jackie (John Robert) Howe (d.1920), a champion shearer AUSTRALIA, 1930
- Jackie Trent adjective dishonest, corrupt. Rhyming slang for BENT, formed from the name of a popular singer (b.1940) UK, 2002
- jack in; jack it in verb 1 to abandon, to quit UK, 1961. 2 to log onto the Internet US, 1995
- jackin' the beanstalk verb (of a male) masturbating. Cleverly punning JACK OFF (to masturbate) and STALK (the erect penis) with the famous fairytale US, 1999
- Jack-in-the-black noun black-labelled Jack Daniels™ whisky US, 1990
- jack in the box noun 1 the penis. Like the toy, it pops up at the least touch UK, 1999. 2 syphilis. Rhyming slang for POX. The shortened form 'jack' is first recorded in Australia, 1944 UK, 1954
- jack it up to have sexual intercourse with (someone) AUSTRALIA, 1974
- jack-jawed adjective dim-witted US, 1985
- Jack Johnson noun an axe with the blade sticking up. Jack Johnson was a heavyweight champion boxer, the first black to win the title; his victory spurred the search for a 'Great White Hope' CANADA, 1992
- Jack Jones; Jack; Jack Malone noun a state of isolation, alone. Imperfect rhyming slang for 'alone', yet in practice the rhyme often seems to be with 'own': 'on your jack' (on your own); a feeling of abandonment is often implied UK, 1925
- Jack Ketch noun a term of imprisonment. Rhyming slang for STRETCH UK, 1998
- jack-knife verb to double up at the waist US, 1951. ► jack-knife your legs (used of a man) to straighten your legs so that the crease of the trousers stands out and the turn-ups fall over the shoes US, 1994
- Jack Lang noun slang; rhyming slang; Australian slang. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of Australian state politician Jack (John Thomas) Lang 1876–1975 AUSTRALIA, 1977
- jackleg noun a gambler who cheats US, 1949
- jackleg adjective unschooled, untrained US, 1837
- jacko noun an opossum NEW ZEALAND, 1984
- jack-off noun 1 an act of masturbation US, 1952. 2 a despised person US, 1938
- jack off verb 1 (used of a male) to masturbate. Derives from 'jack' (an erection) now obsolete, combined with JERK OFF (to masturbate) US, 1916. 2 to manipulate the injection of a drug such that the drug enters the blood stream slowly US, 1967
- jack-off artist noun a masturbator US, 1991
- jack-off bar noun a truck's emergency brake US, 1971
- jack-off flare noun a small, hand-launched aerial flare. The term is based on comparing images US, 1987
- jack-off party noun a male gathering for mutual masturbation UK, 2003
- jack of spades noun sunglasses. Rhyming slang for SHADES UK, 1992
- jack of the dust noun aboard ship, a storekeeper of cleaning supplies US, 1986
- jack-pack noun a contraption used by a masturbating male to simulate the sensation of penetration US, 1979
- jack picture noun a photograph used while masturbating US, 1972
- jackpot noun 1 serious trouble US, 1887. 2 a lot of logs crossed in every direction US, 1905. 3 in the circus or carnival, a story of past deeds US, 1980
- jackrabbit noun a driver who starts through an intersection at the first hint of a green light US, 1962
- jackrabbit parole noun escape from prison US, 1992
- jack ready adjective sexually aroused US, 1990
- Jack Rice noun used as a notional figure in descriptions of large objects. From the name of a famous racehorse AUSTRALIA, 1945
- Jack Robinson noun ► before you can say Jack Robinson; quicker than you can say Jack Robinson instantly; almost instantly; very quickly UK, 1700
- jack-roll verb 1 to rob or pick a pocket, especially to rob a drunk US, 1916. 2 to abduct a woman. As a crime, this was especially commonplace in the late 1980s; after 'the Jackrollers', a gang of kidnappers from the Diepkloof area of Soweto SOUTH AFRICA, 2003
- jack-roller noun a person who robs drunks US, 1922
- jacks noun a toilet IRELAND, 1991
- jack's alive noun five, especially as five pounds sterling. Rhyming slang for 'five', sometimes abbreviated to 'jack's' UK, 1931
- jack shit noun nothing, a pittance US, 1969
- jack-slap verb to slap (someone) forcefully US, 1981
- Jackson noun 1 a twenty-dollar note. From the portrait of US President Andrew Jackson on the note US, 1969. 2 used as a male-to-male term of address US, 1941
- Jackson five noun one hundred dollars in twenty-dollar notes. A portrait of US President Andrew Jackson is found on the face of a $20 note, enabling this pun on the 1970s Motown recording group US, 1983
- Jackson Pollocks; jacksons noun the testicles; hence, nonsense, rubbish. Rhyming slang for BOLLOCKS, based on artist Jackson Pollock (1912–56) UK, 2002
- Jack Sprat noun 1 the fat (of meat). Rhyming slang UK, 1960. 2 an annoying or troublesome child. Rhyming slang for BRAT UK, 1992
- Jack Straw noun marijuana. Jack Straw MP, UK Home Secretary 1997–2001, responsible for strengthening anti-drug legislation, was embarrassed when his son was arrested for possession of marijuana. Within days the rhyming slang 'Jack Straw' for DRAW (marijuana) had been added to the lexicon UK, 1998
- jacksy; jacksie; jaxie noun the buttocks; the anus UK, 1943
- Jack Tar; jolly Jack Tar noun 1 a sailor. An elaboration of TAR UK, 1781. 2 a bar. Rhyming slang UK, 1960
- Jack the Bear noun in motor racing, a driver who performs very well US, 1993
- Jack the biscuit noun a show-off; someone who is important or self-important enough to be ostentatious. JACK (a man) 'takes the biscuit' (defeats all rivals) UK, 2002
- Jack the Dripper noun the penis. A pun on the name of legendary serial killer Jack the Ripper UK, 2003

Jack the Lad noun 1 someone noticeably sharper, smarter or smugger than the rest; a rogue. In Prison Patter, 1996, Angela Devlin notes that this term is used to excuse dubious – possibly criminal – behaviour by young males UK, 1977. 2 in criminal circles, an exemplary criminal UK, 1974

Jack the Lad adjective bad. Rhyming slang UK, 1992

Jack the Ripper noun 1 a kipper (a smoked fish) UK, 1992. 2 a striptease artist. Rhyming slang for STRIPPER UK, 2003. 3 a slipper. Rhyming slang, based on the name of legendary late C19 Whitechapel murderer UK, 2002 jack-up noun 1 a tablet of sodium amobarbital (trade name Amytal™), a central nervous system depressant US, 1973. 2 an injection of drugs. From the verb UK, 1996 jack up verb 1 to inject drugs US, 1975. 2 to raise US, 1904. 3 (of the surf) to increase in swell AUSTRALIA, 1987. 4 to rob with force US, 1965. 5 to arrest or detain for questioning by police US, 1967. 6 to be uncooperative; to object, to refuse to comply AUSTRALIA, 1898 jack-up fence noun a large wire fence with barbed wire across the top. Criminals lift victims and hang them on the top of the fence as they rob them US, 2000

Jacky noun a kookaburra AUSTRALIA, 1898. ► sit up like Jacky to sit up straight in a perky or self-important manner. It has been suggested that this refers to sitting up straight ‘as an aboriginal is supposed to do in company with whites’, though it should be noted that the kookaburra habitually sits up on an exposed branch or fencetop surveying an area of ground for insect and reptile food, and impertinently ignores the frequent attacks of other birds AUSTRALIA, 1941

Jacky Jacky; Jacky noun an Australian Aboriginal man AUSTRALIA, 1845

Jacob’s crackers noun the testicles. Also shortened form ‘jacobs’. Rhyming slang for KNACKERS; from the branded savoury biscuits. Usage popularised by comedian Joe Pasquale in the television programme I’m A Celebrity, Get Me Out of Here, December 2004 UK, 2004

Jacob’s crackers adjective tired, exhausted. Rhyming slang leading to KNACKERED; a variant of CREAM CRACKERED formed on a premier brand of cream crackers UK, 2003

Jacob’s ladder noun a sturdy rope ladder dropped from a hovering helicopter for descent to and ascent from the ground US, 1985 jader noun in Newfoundland, a person not liked, a nuisance CANADA, 1944 jafa noun 1 a resident of Auckland. From ‘just another fucking Auklander’ NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 2 a scientist. An abbreviation of ‘just another fucking academic’. ‘Jafo’ is a variant where the scientist is an ‘observer’ ANTARCTICA, 1987 jaffa noun an infertile man. Probably an allusion to a seedless Jaffa orange UK, 2001

jag noun 1 a period of time spent entirely focused on a single activity, often with the defining term prefixed US, 1913. 2 a drinking or drug binge US, 1892. 3 a state of alcohol or drug intoxication UK, 1678. 4 an act of solvent abuse UK, 1963. 5 a social engagement; a date IRELAND, 1983. 6 a loner lacking social skills US, 1993. 7 a small load on a truck US, 1971

Jag noun a Jaguar car US, 1953

jag verb to work as a male prostitute US, 1972 jagabat noun a promiscuous woman; a prostitute TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1992 jagged adjective drunk or drug-intoxicated. First recorded by Benjamin Franklin US, 1737 jagger noun a tattoo artist US, 1947

Jagger’s lip; jagger’s noun a chip. Rhyming slang, formed from a prominent characteristic of Rolling Stones’ singer Mick Jagger (b.1943) UK, 1998 jaggy nettle; jaggy noun a kettle. Glasgow rhyming slang; ‘jaggy’ means ‘prickly’ UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

jag house noun a brothel that caters to male homosexuals US, 1972 jag-off noun a despicable, offensive or dim-witted person US, 1938 jag off verb to manipulate the injection of a drug such that the drug enters the blood stream slowly US, 1958 jags adjective sexually aroused SOUTH AFRICA, 2004

jag up verb to inject drugs. In Glasgow slang, presumably a variation of JACK UP UK: SCOTLAND, 1996

jahalered adjective drunk UK, 2002 jail noun in horse racing, the first month after a claimed horse is in a new stable. Racing rules limit the conditions under which the horse may be raced during the first month US, 1976. ► in jail in pool, said of a cue ball that is touching another ball or the rail, leaving the player with no good opportunity to make a shot US, 1990 jail verb to serve a prison sentence, especially without losing hope or sanity US, 1967. ► be jailing to wear your trousers or shorts very low, below the buttocks, with your boxer shorts visible above the trouser line. From the image of prisoners who are not allowed to have belts and whose trousers thus sag US, 1993 jail arithmetic noun in prison, any method used to keep track of your time served and the time remaining on your sentence US, 1949 jailbait; gaol-bait noun a sexually alluring girl under the legal age of consent US, 1930 jailbird; gaol-bird noun a prisoner or ex-convict UK, 1661 jail bollocks noun difficulties presented by fellow-prisoners and officers UK, 1996 jailcraft noun a prison-officer’s knowledge of the day-to-day running of a prison UK, 1996 jailee noun a prison officer. A deliberate role-reversal for the jailer UK, 1996 jail gay noun a prisoner who, while generally heterosexual, adopts homosexuality as a temporary practice while in prison UK, 2000

jailhouse noun a type of bet in an illegal numbers game lottery US, 1957 jailhouse flowers noun the solicitation of sexual relations by non-lexical verbalisation US, 1974

jailhouse lawyer noun a prisoner with some expertise, real and/or perceived, in the criminal justice system US, 1926 jailhouse punk noun a man who becomes a passive homosexual while in prison US, 1982 jailhouse turnout noun a previously heterosexual man who becomes homosexual in prison US, 1965 jail politician noun a prisoner who stirs up disaffection and unrest, or one who manipulates prison officers UK, 1996 jail-wise adjective sophisticated with respect to survival in prison US, 1967 jake noun 1 Jamaica ginger, a potent and dangerous illegally manufactured alcohol US, 1923. 2 methylated spirits as an alcoholic drink UK, 1932. 3 a vagrant alcoholic addicted to methylated spirits UK, 1966. 4 a social outcast US, 1989. 5 a person identified as a potential crime victim US, 1997. 6 a uniformed police officer US, 1987 jake adjective honest, upright, equitable, correct US, 1914 jaked adjective drunk UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

jaked out adjective in a drunken stupor UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

jaked up adjective drunk. Derives from JAKE (methylated spirits as an alcoholic drink) UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 jake (it) verb to give something less than a full effort; to feign an injury US, 1967

Jake man noun a vagrant alcoholic addicted to methylated spirits. From JAKE (methylated spirits) UK, 1966 jaker noun in sports, a player who chronically claims injuries. From basketball US, 1967 jakerloo; jakealoo; jakeaboo adjective all right; fine. An elaboration of JAKE. The obsolete faux Latin term ‘jakalorum’ was recorded as early as 1905 AUSTRALIA, 1919

jakes noun the police US, 1993 jakey noun 1 Jamaica ginger, a fruit flavoured alcoholic drink CANADA, 1999. 2 a meths drinker, thus an alcoholic in desperate straits. From JAKE (methylated spirits as an alcoholic drink) UK, 2001 jakey adjective 1 alcoholic UK, 2002. 2 socially inept, unaware of current fashions and trends US, 1989. 3 odd looking US, 1964. 4 said of a light jail sentence. From JAKE (methylated spirits as an alcoholic drink) UK, 2000

jallopy; jalopy; jaloppie; jollopy; gillogy noun a cheap, dilapidated or old motor vehicle, especially a car US, 1926 jam noun 1 a difficult position, an awkward situation; a difficulty; trouble US, 1914. 2 a recorded song US, 1937. 3 a record album. Usually in the plural US, 1981. 4 blues, jazz or rock music simultaneously improvised by an informal gathering of musicians; a period spent making such music UK, 1929. 5 a party with loud music US, 1993. 6 cocaine US, 1972. 7 amphetamines US, 1953. 8 sex US, 1949. 9 the vagina US, 1980. 10 in homosexual usage, any heterosexual man. An abbreviation of 'just a man' US, 1981. 11 the corpse of a person who has died with massive injuries US, 1987. 12 a fight, especially a gang fight US, 1992. 13 a gathering of skateboarders US, 1976. 14 petty smuggling US, 1956 ▷ see: CULTURE JAM jam verb 1 to play music with others, improvising US, 1935. 2 to dance TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1986. 3 to excel US, 1984. 4 to have sex US, 1972. 5 to coerce, to threaten, to pressure US, 1971. 6 to leave quickly; to travel at high speeds US, 1965. 7 in gambling, to cheat (another player) US, 1997. 8 to subvert advertising matter US, 2001. 9 in surfing, to obstruct or block another surfer's ride US, 1967. 10 to surf with speed and intensity US, 1988

jam adjective heterosexual. Eventually supplanted by STRAIGHT US, 1935

JAM used as Internet shorthand to mean 'just a minute' US, 1997

Jamaican noun marijuana cultivated in Jamaica US, 1974

Jamaican assault vehicle noun any sports utility vehicle. New York police slang; SUV's are favoured by Jamaican criminals US, 1997

Jamaican blue mountain noun a type of marijuana cultivated in Jamaica US, 1994

Jamaican bomber noun a large marijuana cigarette, made with what is claimed to be Jamaican marijuana US, 1997

Jamaican gold noun a variety of marijuana cultivated in Jamaica US, 1986

Jamaican switch noun a type of confidence swindle. There are many variations of the swindle, but the common element is the swindler pretending to be a foreigner with a lot of money in need of help US, 1973 jam and bread noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. Red on white imagery US, 1999 jam and butter! used as a mild oath NEW ZEALAND, 1938 jam band noun a musical band known for long improvisations US, 1981 jam box noun a portable radio and cassette player with large speakers US, 1982 jam-buster noun 1 an assistant yardmaster in a railroad yard US, 1938. 2 in Winnipeg, a jam doughnut CANADA, 1998 jam butt noun a police car. A combination of JAM-JAR (a car) and BUTTY (a sandwich), describing a white car with a red stripe UK, 1990 jam Cecil noun 1 cocaine US, 1975. 2 amphetamines UK, 1977

Jam Down adjective Jamaican JAMAICA, 1994

James Earl dog noun a marijuana cigarette US, 1986

James Hunt noun a cunt (in all senses, but especially as a term of abuse). Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the UK racing driver, 1947–93 UK, 2003

Jamie noun any General Motors truck US, 1971 jam-jar noun a motor car. Rhyming slang, originally (late C19) applied to a tram, and probably almost as old as the car UK, 1960 jammed adjective 1 describes the altered state of a public image, usually a billboard, once it has been subverted by cultural activists US, 2001. 2 experiencing a drug overdose US, 1949. 3 (used of the collective bets in a hand of a poker game) formed by many bets and raised bets US, 1996. 4 (used of prison sentences) concurrent US, 1982 jammed up adjective 1 under great pressure US, 1973. 2 experiencing a drug overdose US, 1971 jammer noun 1 in American casinos, a skilled and adaptable dealer US, 1985. 2 a popular, trend-setting, respected person. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982 ▷ see: CULTURAL JAMMER jammered verb of a place, packed with people IRELAND, 1991 jammers adjective very-crowded, jam-packed IRELAND, 2004 jammie noun a party with loud music. A variation of 'jam' US, 1995 jammies noun pyjamas US, 1967 jamming; jammin' adjective excellent US, 1982

jammy noun the penis US, 1997 ▷ see: JEMMY jammy adjective exceedingly lucky, fortunate; profitable. Jam has long been seen as a luxury, hence phrases like JAM ON IT (something pleasant) and a general sense that possession of jam is a definition of luck or prosperity UK, 1915 jammy dodger verb from the male perspective, to have sex. Rhyming slang for ROGER (to have sex), formed from the brand name of a popular biscuit. The noun is 'a jammy dodgering' UK, 1998

jammy-jams; jam-jams noun pyjamas US, 1976 jamoke noun 1 a despicable or ignorant person US, 1946. 2 coffee US, 1895 jam on it noun an agreeable surplus or an enhancement; a cause of extra satisfaction UK, 1919 jam pail curling noun in the Canadian prairies, curling with cement poured into old jam pails as curling stones CANADA, 1987 jampot noun in homosexual usage, the anus and rectum US, 1941 jam rag noun a sanitary towel. Plays on conventional 'jam' (to block) and the conventional colour of jam, red, for the menstrual blood, with 'rag' for the materials involved UK, 1966 jam roll noun 1 unemployment benefit; any government office from which it is administrated. Rhyming slang for THE DOLE UK, 1992. 2 a fool; a despised person. Rhyming slang for ARSEHOLE UK, 2003. 3 parole. Rhyming slang. Shortened to 'jam' UK, 1995 jams noun 1 pyjamas US, 1973. 2 trousers US, 1968. 3 bright, long, multi-coloured swimming trunks AUSTRALIA, 1966 jam sandwich noun a police car. JAM-JAR (a car), plus visual metaphor UK, 1981 jam session noun 1 a gathering of musicians who play in a collective, improvised fashion US, 1933. 2 an informal, unstructured group discussion US, 1963 jam tart noun 1 heart. Rhyming slang UK, 1979. 2 a girlfriend; hence (patronisingly) a young woman. Often simplified to 'jam'. Simple rhyming slang for 'sweetheart'; however when used more generally it may also be an elaboration of TART (a young woman, especially of easy morals) UK, 1960 jam up verb 1 to cause trouble; to place in a troubling situation US, 1836. 2 to confront US, 1992 jam-up adjective 1 excellent, pleasing US, 1823. 2 in pool, playing well and luckily US, 1990 jam week noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle UK, 2003 jandals noun rubber sandals NEW ZEALAND, 1984

Jane; jane noun 1 a public toilet for women. Playing on JOHN (a toilet) US, 1997. 2 marijuana UK, 1966. 3 a woman, a girlfriend. Generic use of popular name. Also 'Janie' US, 1865

Jane, please, not in front of the men! used for expressing disapproval of a public display of affection. A signature line of Captain Wilton Parmenter to Jane Angelic Thrift on the television comedy F Troop (ABC, 1965–67). Repeated with referential humour US, 1965

Janet Street-Porter; Janet noun a quarter (1/4 oz measure of marijuana). Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a well-known broadcaster and journalist UK, 1998

Jane Wayne Day noun a day on which wives of US Marines go through a series of exercises designed to give them a sense of what their husbands go through US, 1989 jang noun the penis US, 1972 janglers noun ► take the janglers to become upset IRELAND, 1999 jangles noun in caving and pot-holing, assorted pieces of single-rope-technique (SRT) metallic equipment. Echoic UK, 2004

Jan Hammered; Jan'd adjective drunk. An elaboration of HAMMERED (drunk), playing on the name of Czech born jazz keyboardist Jan Hammer (b.1948) UK, 2002 janitor noun an ordinary infantry soldier. Gulf war usage US, 1991 jank verb to steal US, 2001 jankers noun confinement to barracks (as a military punishment) UK, 1916 jankity adjective old, broken down US, 2004 janky adjective broken, dysfunctional, inoperative US, 1999 janner noun 1 a West Countryman. Originally restricted to someone with a Devon burr UK, 1984. 2 a member of a southwest England subcultural urban adolescent grouping defined by a hip-hop dress and jewellery sense (and an urge to act older than their years). By extension of the previous sense UK, 2004

janny talk noun the speech of a mummer, distorted to conceal identity. 'Janny' is a variant of 'John,' as in 'John Jacks', listed by the English Dialect Dictionary as a common name in England for mummers CANADA, 1969

JAP noun a spoiled Jewish girl or woman; a Jewish-American princess. The term was wildly popular in the early 1980s, with the expected onslaught of joke books, J.A.P. handbooks, etc US, 1972

Jap noun 1 a Japanese person. Derogatory US, 1854. 2 someone who attacks from behind and/or without warning US, 1949. 3 an unannounced test US, 1967 jap verb to attack without warning. An allusion to the Japanese attack at Pearl Harbor US, 1942

Jap adjective Japanese. Unkind US, 1869

Japanese beetle noun any small, Japanese-made car. Punning on the insect and the Volkswagen US, 1976

Japanese safety boots noun rubber flip-flops (footwear) AUSTRALIA, 2003

Japanglish noun a blend of Japanese and English spoken in Japan. A variation of conventional 'Japlish' UK, 2001

Jap crap noun imports from Japan, especially motorcycles US, 1986

Jap cunt adjective Japanese; a Japanese. Deliberately offensive combination of JAP (Japanese) and CUNT (someone or something unpleasant) UK, 2000

Jap hash noun chop suey or chow mein US, 1979 japie; jaapie; jarpie; yarpie noun 1 an Afrikaner. Contemptuous; derived from Jaap a diminutive of the Afrikaans name Jakob SOUTH AFRICA, 1949. 2 a South African. May be jocular, contemptuous or affectionate SOUTH AFRICA, 1956. 3 an unsophisticated person, especially one from a rural area. Patronising if not offensive SOUTH AFRICA, 1964

Jap on Anzac Day noun a person to whom you would wish ill luck. Australians fought against the Japanese in World War 2, and Anzac Day is a national holiday commemorating Australian service men and women AUSTRALIA, 1982

Japper noun a motorcycle manufactured in Japan AUSTRALIA, 1996

jap scrap noun a motorcycle manufactured in Japan US, 1988

Jap's eye; japper noun the opening in the glans of the penis. From the resemblance in shape to the racial stereotype UK, 2001

Jap-slapper noun a martial artist. A reference to the Japanese who invented or developed so many of the recognised disciplines UK, 1995

Jap-slapping noun the martial arts of unarmed combat UK, 1995

Jap-slaps noun a sandal that is not bound to the foot, usually worn around swimming pools or at the beach. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982 jar noun 1 a glass of beer. Originally Lincolnshire dialect UK, 1925. 2 any dark-skinned person. Prison usage NEW ZEALAND, 1997 jar verb ► jar the deck to wake up and get up US, 1962 jar adjective (of jewellery) fake. Abbreviated from JARGOON UK, 1956 jar dealer noun a drug dealer who sells pills in large quantities US, 1971 jarg adjective fake. From JARGOON (fake jewellery) UK, 2001 jargon noun confusion US, 2001 jargoon; jar noun an item of replica jewellery with less value than the original; counterfeit or paste-jewellery used in confidence tricks. From conventional 'jargoon' (a type of zircon) UK, 1956 jarhead noun 1 a US Marine. Originally an army mule, then a member of the US Army, especially a member of the football team (1931) US, 1943. 2 a habitual user of crack cocaine US, 1993 jar verb to 'neutralise' a weapon by planting a transmitter. Military; probably from the obsolete sense as 'a pass guaranteeing safe conduct' UK, 2001 jarking noun the act of 'neutralising' a weapon by planting transmitters. Military UK, 1995 jarmies noun pyjamas NEW ZEALAND, 2001 jarms noun pyjamas AUSTRALIA, 1971 jar of jam noun a pram. Rhyming slang. The earlier sense as 'tram' is now obsolete UK, 1992 jar pot noun marijuana that is so potent that it must be stored in a pot or airtight jar to contain the smell US, 1992 jarrah-jerker noun in Western Australia, a bush worker, especially a logger. Jarrah is a type of Australian native tree AUSTRALIA, 1965 jarred up adjective drunk. After JAR (a glass of beer) UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

J. Arthur Rank; J. Arthur noun 1 an act of masturbation; a masturbator. Rhyming slang for WANK, based on the name of UK cinema tycoon Lord Rank (1888–1972) UK, 1980. 2 a bank. Rhyming slang, based on the name of film millionaire Joseph Arthur Rank (1888–1972). Sometimes shortened to the simple 'Arthur' UK, 1977 jasper noun 1 a lesbian or a bisexual woman. Robert Wilson hypothesises that the Reverend John Jasper, a pious man of God, lent his name in this good-is-bad etymology US, 1954. 2 a person of no consequence. From a stereotypical rural name UK, 1896 jasper broad noun a lesbian or bisexual woman US, 1972

Jasper Carrot noun a parrot. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a popular Birmingham-born comedian UK, 1998

Jatz crackers noun the testicles. Rhyming slang for KNACKERS. From the name of a brand of savoury cracker AUSTRALIA, 1992 jaunt noun in horse racing, a race, especially an unimportant one US, 1951 java noun coffee US, 1850 java patrol noun in trucking, a stop for coffee US, 1946 jaw verb 1 to talk, especially in an argumentative or scolding fashion UK, 1748. 2 in pool, to hit a ball that bounces off the sides of a pocket without dropping US, 1990 jaw artist noun a person skilled at the giving of oral sex US, 1972 jawblock verb to chat, to talk US, 1946 jawbone noun credit obtained by arguing for it US, 1862 jawbone shack noun on the railways, a small office in a switching yard US, 1977 jaw dropper noun a great surprise CANADA, 1993

jawfest noun 1 a long, aimless conversation US, 1915. 2 a prolonged session of oral sex US, 1967 jawflap noun a gossip US, 1952 jaw-jack verb to chatter loudly and with no purpose; hence, to talk on citizens' band radio US, 1962 jaws noun 1 the buttocks US, 2002. 2 in dominoes, the 6–6 piece US, 1959. ► case of the jaws a harsh reprimand US, 1968 jaws of Jewry noun in Newfoundland, great risk or danger CANADA, 1982

Jax nickname Jacksonville, Florida. Also known as 'The Cesspool of the South' US, 1936 jaxied adjective drunk. Probably from JACKSY (the anus), thus a form of ARSEHOLED (drunk) UK, 2002

jay noun 1 a bank. An abbreviation of JUG (a bank) US, 1950. 2 a jungle. Vietnam war usage NEW ZEALAND, 1999. 3 coffee. Probably an abbreviation of JAVA US, 1962

Jay Kay noun a take-away meal. Popney rhyming slang, based on singer Jay Kay (b.1969) of popular group Jamiroquai. Popney was contrived for www.music365.co.uk, an Internet music site UK, 2001

jay-naked adjective completely naked US, 1975

jay neg noun an older black person TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

Jayzus!; Jaysus! a Hiberno-English pronunciation of 'Jesus', used as a blasphemous expletive IRELAND, 1989 jazz noun 1 nonsense US, 1951. 2 stuff US, 1951. 3 semen US, 1932. 4 heroin CANADA, 1986. ► the jazz the general details (of something) UK, 1999 jazz verb 1 to have sex with someone US, 1918. 2 of a male, to orgasm. After JAZZ (semen) UK, 2004 jazz about; jazz around verb to cause trouble, to annoy US, 1917 jazzbo noun a fervent jazz enthusiast US, 1921 jazz cigarette noun a marijuana cigarette UK, 2001 jazzed adjective excited, enthusiastic US, 1918 jazzed-up adjective revised and augmented, improved US, c20 jazz joint noun a brothel US, 1927 jazz nazi noun a purist jazz fan CANADA, 2002 jazz up verb to modernise; to enliven; in a specialised sense, to convert classical music into pop UK, 1984 jazz Woodbine noun a marijuana cigarette. A variation of JAZZ CIGARETTE; WOODBINE is a slang generic for 'a cheap cigarette' UK, 1983 jazzy adjective showy, ostentatious US, 1923

JB noun a person with 'jet black' skin US, 1946

J Bay nickname Jeffrey's Bay, west of Port Elizabeth, South Africa SOUTH AFRICA, 1991

J-bird noun 1 a person in or recently released from jail. An abbreviation of JAILBIRD US, 1971. 2 in a deck of playing cards, a jack or knave. An elaboration of J US, 1951

JBM adjective in horse racing, said of a horse that has only won one race. An abbreviation of 'just beaten maiden' US, 1976

JB's noun sandals, flip-flops. An abbreviation of 'Jesus boots' US, 2003

J Carroll Naish noun an act of urination. Rhyming slang for SLASH, formed from the name of the US film actor, 1897–1973 UK, 1979

J-cat noun a person who is more crazy than eccentric US, 1997

J City nickname Juarez, Mexico US, 1970

J C water-walkers noun sandals. An allusion to Jesus Christ (JC) walking on water, presumably in sandals US, 1970

JD noun 1 a juvenile delinquent US, 1956. 2 Jack Daniels™, a brand name Tennessee sourmash whisky. Initialism US, 1981

JD card noun a police citation issued to a transgressing juvenile, requiring participation in a Police Athletic League team to avoid incarceration US, 1972

Jean noun a female customer of a prostitute. An extrapolation of JOHN US, 1976

Jean and Dinah noun prostitutes TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1993

Jean-Claude Van Damme; Jean-Claude noun ham. Rhyming slang, formed with cruel wit – HAM (to be a poor actor) – from the name of the Belgian film actor, also known as 'the muscles from Brussels' (b.1960) UK, 1998 jeans at half mast noun engaged in the passive role in anal sex US, 1950

Jedi noun a member of an exclusive and influential group. Based on a cast of characters created by George Lucas and introduced in the film Star Wars, 1977 UK, 2000

Jedi master noun in the language of hang gliding, an experienced, expert flier US, 1992 jeegee; jee gee noun heroin. Possibly plays on 'gee gee' (a horse) and HORSE (heroin) US, 1971 jeely jar noun a car. Glasgow rhyming slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

jeep noun an inexperienced enlisted man. Air Force usage during the Vietnam war US, 1970 jeepers creepers!; jeepers!; creepers! used as a mild oath. A euphemism for 'Jesus Christ' US, 1928

Jeep girl noun a Chinese prostitute attached to US armed forces US, 1946 jeeter noun a lieutenant US, 1941 jeez!; jeese!; geez! used as a mild oath. A euphemised 'Jesus' US, 1830 jeezan ages!; jeezan peas!; jeezan rice! used for expressing shock and surprise. Euphemisms for 'Jesus Christ' TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1992

jeezer noun a fellow US, 1972

Jeez Louise! used as a mild oath US, 1957 jeezly adverb used as an all-purpose intensifier. This variation on 'Jesus' is a staple of language in maritime Canada US, 1885

Jeezo-groveler noun a Christian. Based on an unconventional diminutive of Jesus this is literally, if offensively, someone who kneels before Jesus US, 1989

Jeezuz! used for expressing exasperation. An exaggeratedly stressed 'Jesus!' UK, 1999

Jeff noun 1 an all-purpose name for a man US, 1953. 2 a white person, especially one who is hostile towards black people US, 1959. 3 a dull individual, a pest. Originally a shortened form of Jefferson Davis, the president of the Confederate States of America throughout its existence during the US Civil War, 1861–65. Afro-American slang remembered him as a southern white racist, and reduced him to the status of pest US, 1938

jeff verb to behave obsequiously in the hope of winning approval US, 1960

Jeff verb to lie or at least to exaggerate US, 1992

Jefferson airplane noun a used match split to hold the butt of a partially smoked marijuana joint. Many musicians take names from drugs slang, but the reverse happened here. Jefferson Airplane was a successful San Franciscan rock band associated with 1960s drugs culture and psychedelic culture. The name, a humorous coinage for an imaginary blues musician, Blind Thomas Jefferson Airplane, was first given to a dog; only later to an improvised DOG END holder US, 1967

Jekyll and Hyde; jekyll noun a forgery, a fake. Rhyming slang, extended from the adjective sense of SNIDE (false, counterfeit, sham, bogus, etc.) UK, 1992

Jekyll and Hyde; jekyll adjective false, counterfeit, sham, bogus, two-faced. Rhyming slang for SNIDE; a neat pun formed from, and referring to the dual personality of the eponymous character in The Strange Case of Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde, by Robert Louis Stevenson, 1886 UK, 1959

Jekyll and Hydies; jekylls noun trousers. Rhyming slang for STRIDES UK, 1992 jell noun a person with few thoughts and no sense of fashion US, 1982 jell verb to leave hastily, to escape. English gypsy use UK, 2000 jellied eel noun a wheel. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 jellied eel verb to transport. Rhyming slang for 'wheel' UK, 1992 jellied eels noun a private vehicle. Rhyming slang for 'wheels' UK, 1992 jellies noun soft, plastic, apparently edible sandals US, 1995 jello arms noun in surfing, exhausted, rubbery arms from paddling US, 1987 jelly noun 1 the vagina US, 1926. 2 sexual intercourse US, 1926. 3 a sexually permissive female UK, 1989. 4 a capsule of Temazepam™, a branded tranquillizer; any central nervous system depressant; in the plural it refers to the drug in general. A term embraced by US youth after seeing the film Trainspotting UK, 1996. 5 cocaine UK, 1998

▷ see: GELLY

jelly verb to explode, especially with gelignite UK, 2002 jelly adjective excellent. From a song performed by Destiny's Child UK, 2003 jelly baby noun 1 an expert in the use of gelignite. From the name of a popular sweet manufactured in the shape of a 'baby', extending 'jelly' (gelignite) UK, 1974. 2 a tablet of Temazepam™, a branded tranquillizer UK, 1998. 3 an amphetamine tablet US, 1971 jellybag noun 1 a condescending Englishman in the Canadian West CANADA, 1987. 2 a large fuel cell made of rubber or plastic. Vietnam war usage US, 1965. 3 a 1936 Chevrolet lowered in the rear US, 1955 jellybeans noun crack cocaine UK, 1998 jelly belly noun a fat person UK, 1896 jelly blubber noun a jellyfish AUSTRALIA, 1943 jellybone noun a telephone. Rhyming slang, used by courier controllers UK, 1992 jelly box noun the vagina AUSTRALIA, 1988 jelly doughnut; jelly donut noun an overweight female Red Cross volunteer in Vietnam US, 1991 jellyhash noun an extremely potent variety of hashish produced in Holland UK, 2003 jellyhead noun a habitual user of crack cocaine. Combines 'jelly', as in JELLYBEANS (crack cocaine) with HEAD (a user) UK, 1999 jelly on the belly noun semen ejaculated on a woman's stomach AUSTRALIA, 1985 jelly roll noun 1 the vagina US, 1914. 2 a used tampon or sanitary towel US, 1972 jelly sandwich noun a sanitary towel US, 1980 jelly tight adjective excellent US, 1972 jelly tot noun a young boy who tries to act older than he is. Teen slang US, 1951 jemmy verb to force open with a short crowbar UK, 1893 jemmy; jammy noun a short crowbar used by burglars. Known in the US as a 'jimny' UK, 1811

Jennifer Justice; Jennifer noun a police officer; the police. An example of CAMP trans-gender assignment UK, 2002 jenny noun 1 a fence-wire spinner NEW ZEALAND, 1978. 2 a merry-go-round US, 1985. 3 in the television and film industries, a mobile source of direct current UK, 1960 ▷ see: GENNY

Jenny barn noun the ward for women in a narcotic treatment hospital US, 1955

Jenny Hill; jenny noun a pill. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a music hall performer, 1851–96 UK, 1937

Jenny Lea; Jenny Lee noun 1 a key. Rhyming slang UK, 1961. 2 tea. Rhyming slang UK, 1960

Jenny Lind noun wind. Rhyming slang, used in reference both to the weather and bodily functions; formed from the name of a mid-C19 singer and cultural icon, popularly known as 'The Swedish Nightingale', 1820–87 UK, 1992

Jenny Riddle noun an act of urination. Rhyming slang for PIDDLE; a variation/feminisation of the better known JIMMY RIDDLE UK, 1998

Jenny Wren; jenny noun Ben Truman™ beer. Rhyming slang UK, 1992

jere; jeer noun 1 the buttocks, the backside. Rhyming slang for 'rear'; informed by the earlier sense as 'turd' UK, 1936. 2 a turd UK, 1979. 3 a male homosexual. Rhyming slang for QUEER, playing on the word's sense as 'buttocks' UK, 1961 jerecase; jeercase noun the buttocks. An elaboration of JERE; JEER UK, 1979

Jeremiah noun a fire. Rhyming slang, especially among urban labourers; occasionally 'Obadiah' UK, 1934

Jeremied adjective drunk. Probably in celebration of a man called Jeremy who may not even remember the reason why UK, 2002

Jeremy Beadle verb to irritate, to annoy, to provoke. Rhyming slang for NEEDLE, formed from the name of a television prankster (b.1949) UK, 1998 jerk noun 1 an idiot, a fool US, 1919. 2 in a gambling establishment, a hanger-on who runs errands for gamblers US, 1979 jerk verb to tow a disabled car home with the help of a neighbour CANADA, 1987. ▷ jerk the chicken of a male, to masturbate UK, 2003. ▷ jerk the gherkin of a male, to masturbate UK, 1962.

▷ jerk the turk; jerk your turkey of a male, to masturbate. It is said of a man's genitalia that when shaved it resembles 'a plucked turkey hanging in a shop' yet this appears to be a lone instance of a 'turkey' used as a 'penis'; 'turk', an abbreviation of 'turkey', is a convenient rhyme for 'jerk' which describes the physical action UK, 1999. ▷ jerk your mutton to masturbate. 'Mutton' (penis) dates from the C16 and is now obsolete except in uses such as this and 'mutton bayonet', 'mutton dagger'; 'mutton' (vagina) dates from the same period: subsequent usages are as 'a woman or women', 'a promiscuous woman', 'a prostitute' and the surviving 'mutton dressed as lamb' UK, 1984 jerk around; jerk about verb to tease someone, sometimes maliciously US, 1972 jerker noun in the car sales business, a car manufactured before World War 2 US, 1953 jerk fitting noun (on a car, truck or tractor) a grease nipple CANADA, 1987 jerk-off noun 1 a single act of masturbation, especially by a male US, 1928. 2 a contemptible fool US, 1932 jerk off verb 1 to masturbate. A reasonably accurate description of the physical activity involved UK, 1896. 2 to tease; to mislead US, 1968. 3 to cause the withdrawal (of a criminal charge, a witness scheduled to testify, etc) US, 1950 jerk-silly adjective obsessed with masturbation US, 1962 jerkwater noun a dull-minded person US, 1958

Jerkwater noun a contemptuous name for a location US, 1982 jerkwater adjective provincial US, 1897 jerky noun used as a male-to-male, peer-to-peer term of address. Jocular, from 'The Jerky Boys' (two young men who elevated prank telephone calls to comedic art) US, 1996 jerky adjective foolish, stupid. From JERK (an idiot) US, 1932

jerry noun something that is not as well made as it appears TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987

Jerry verb to realise; to comprehend; to 'tumble' to an idea AUSTRALIA, 1894

Jerry; Gerry nickname 1 a German; the Germans. Derogatory, often as an abstract reference to Germans as the enemy whether at war or football. Possibly derived from 'Jerry' (a chamber pot) in reference to the shape of German military helmets; more likely, as 'Gerry', an elaborated abbreviation of 'German' US, 1915. 2 a foreman on a railway track crew US, 1867

Jerry Lee noun urination; an act of urination. Rhyming slang for WEE or PEE, formed from the name of rock 'n' roll singer and piano player, Jerry Lee Lewis (b.1935) UK, 1992

Jerry Springer noun 1 an ugly person. Rhyming slang for MINGER, formed from the name of the UK-born US television personality (b.1944) UK, 2003. 2 heroin. Named after a US chat-show host UK, 2002

Jersey noun the state of New Jersey US, 1949

Jersey bean noun a resident of Jersey (in the Channel Islands) UK, 1991 jersey chaser noun a female college student who is attracted to athletes US, 2002

Jersey girls nickname a small group of women living in New Jersey whose husbands were killed in the World Trade Center on 11th September 2001, and who pressured a reluctant Bush administration into appointing a commission to investigate the attack. Evocative of an unrelated song by Bruce Springsteen US, 2002

Jersey highball noun a glass of milk US, 1947

Jersey lightning noun inexpensive, inferior whisky US, 1848

Jersey side of the snatch play noun middle age. Borrowed from the slang of bowlers, where the 'Jersey side' is to the left of the head pin US, 1961

Jesse James noun 1 in craps, a nine rolled with a four and a five. Jesse James was shot with a 45 calibre handgun US, 1985. 2 in hold 'em poker, a four and a five as the first two cards dealt to a player US, 1981

Jesse Owens noun ► on the Jesse Owens fast US, 1948

jessie noun 1 an effeminate man; a male homosexual. A female name used as a generic UK, 1958. 2 a pretty red-headed girl US, 1947 jesum crow! used for expressing surprise, dismay or disgust US, 1971

Jesus adjective used as an adjectival intensifier BAHAMAS, 1982

Jesus and his brothers noun J & B™ whisky. Scamto youth street slang (South African townships) SOUTH AFRICA, 2005

Jesus boots; Jesus shoes; Jesus slippers noun sandals US, 1942

Jesus Christ almighty!; Jesus Christ!; Jesus! used as a register of anger, frustration, wonder, etc. Blasphemous by derivation, probably blasphemous in use US, 1994

Jesus Christing adjective used as an intensifier UK, 2000

Jesus clip noun any small clip that is destined to be dropped, leading to an outburst of 'Oh Jesus!' because it will not be found. Biker (motorcycle) and bicyclist usage US, 2001

Jesus freak noun a fervent Christian, especially a recent convert US, 1966

Jesus freakery noun fervent Christianity UK, 1996

Jesus fuck! used for registering an intense reaction. This combination of two individually powerful words serves when neither 'Jesus!' nor 'Fuck!' has strength enough UK, 2001

Jesus fucking Christ! used as an all-purpose oath of surprise, approval, disapproval, anger, etc. The most common use of the intensifying infix in the US US, 1969

Jesus gliders noun sandals US, 1990

Jesus H. Christ! used in oaths. Occasional substitutions of the middle initial, which is nothing more than a humorous, intensifying embellishment US, 1892

Jesus juice noun white wine. Allegedly coined by singer Michael Jackson. It was also claimed, in a Vanity Fair article, that Jackson called red wine 'Jesus blood'. Within months the term was widespread US, 2004

Jesus nut noun the main nut and bolt holding a helicopter's rotor blade to the body of the aircraft. Presumably one prayed to Jesus that the nut and bolt did not fail US, 1977

Jesus stiff noun a person who feigns religion to obtain food, lodging, or better privileges in prison US, 1950

Jesus to Jesus and eight hands around! used as a cry of disbelief US, 1975

Jesus weejuns noun sandals US, 1969

Jesus wept! used as an expression of annoyance, despair, disgust, impatience, etc. The shortest verse in the Bible (John 11: 35) used as a catchphrase UK, 1937 jet noun the recreational drug ketamine US, 1944 jet verb to leave in a hurry US, 1968 jet bumper noun in pinball, a bumper that upon impact with the ball scores and then propels the ball back into play US, 1977 jet fuel noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1994 jethro noun a coat. English gypsy use UK, 2000 jet jockey noun a jet pilot US, 1950 jew noun a Jewish or Jewish collectively AUSTRALIA, 1902

Jew; Jew down verb to bargain aggressively about a price. 'An offensive and stereotypical phrase.' (Multicultural Management Program Fellows, Dictionary of Cautionary Words and Phrases, 1989) US, 1818

Jewboy noun a Jewish man. Not said kindly UK, 1796

Jew canoe noun 1 a Cadillac US, 1973. 2 a Jaguar car. Upper-class society usage UK, 1982 jeweller's shop noun in mining, a rich deposit of opal or gold AUSTRALIA, 1853 jewellery noun 1 handcuffs US, 1845. 2 highly polished brass fittings on any firefighting equipment US, 1954. 3 ornamental lights on a long-haul truck US, 1977

Jew flag noun paper money US, 1915

Jew gear noun neutral gear, used while coasting downhill US, 1963 jewie noun a Jewish or Jewish collectively AUSTRALIA, 1917 jewish noun clothes; fabrics and materials. Scamto youth street slang (South African townships) SOUTH AFRICA, 2005

Jewish by hospitalization noun in homosexual usage, circumcized but not Jewish US, 1987

Jewish corned beef noun in homosexual usage, a circumcised penis US, 1987

Jewish foreplay noun pleading without results US, 1987

Jewish joanna noun a cash register. A variation of JEWISH PIANO; formed from a racial stereotype and rhyming slang JOANNA (a piano) UK, 1977

Jewish lightning noun an act of arson as a part of a fraudulent insurance claim US, 1987

Jewish overdrive noun coasting down a hill with the car or truck in neutral US, 1969

Jewish penicillin noun chicken soup US, 1968

Jewish people's time noun used for denoting a lack of punctuality US, 1967

Jewish piano noun a cash register. A racial stereotype is at the root of this allusion to another instrument with keys that makes 'music'. 'Jewish pianola' is an Australian variant US, 1935

Jewish sidewall noun white rubber sidewalls affixed to blackwall tyres US, 1979

Jewish typewriter noun a cash register. Racial stereotyping UK, 1977

Jew sheet noun an accounting, literal or figurative, of money owed by friends US, 1987

Jewtown noun a neighbourhood inhabited predominantly by Jewish people US, 1955

Jewy Louis noun vulgar ostentation masquerading as tasteful interior decor. Upper-class society usage, damning the fake-furniture of the nouveau riche by comparing it with the genuine exuberance and style of Louis XV or Louis XVI period furniture and design UK, 1982 jhaat noun pubic hair. Hindi used by English speakers TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 jhatoor noun the penis. Hindi, used in English conversation TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

jheri curl noun a relaxed, wet-look styling for naturally kinky black hair. Created by and named after Jheri (Robert) Redding (1907–98) UK, 1994

J-hole noun someone who makes despising easy. From a Will Farrell skit on Saturday Night Live US, 2001 jib noun 1 the mouth UK, 1860. 2 on the coast of Nova Scotia, a small piece of land, especially triangular in shape CANADA, 1980 jib verb to tease. From 'jibe' (to taunt or insult) UK, 1999 jibberjabber; jibber-jabber noun meaningless chatter UK, 1922 jiboney; jabroni; jabroneys noun 1 a low-level gangster, a tough US, 1921. 2 a newly immigrated foreigner; hence someone inexperienced or unsophisticated US, 1960

jibs noun the teeth US, 1970 jiffy noun 1 a moment, a short space of time. Also shortened to 'jiff' UK, 1785. 2 in computing, a tick of the computer clock, usually one millisecond US, 1983 jiffy adjective instant US, 1949 jig noun 1 a black person. Offensive US, 1922. 2 sexual intercourse AUSTRALIA, 1988. 3 a deception; trickery; mischief US, 1777. 4 in Newfoundland, a thread from a garment used to predict a date with a person of the opposite sex CANADA, 1982 jig verb 1 to stab (someone) US, 1997. 2 to play truant from school AUSTRALIA, 1977 jigaboo noun a black person. Offensive US, 1926 jigaboo joy shop noun a car supply shop specialising in chrome and other tawdry car accessories US, 1950 jig act verb to act foolishly or disruptively IRELAND, 1997 jig-a-jig; jig-jig noun sexual intercourse US, 1896 jigger noun 1 a bank robber US, 1950. 2 a lookout during a crime US, 1925. 3 an illegally constructed radio receiver. Prison usage AUSTRALIA, 1944. 4 a concealed device for giving an electric shock to a horse in a race AUSTRALIA, 1953. 5 a woman who will dance with a man for a fee US, 1951. 6 a door. An early cant word that survives in English gypsy use UK, 1567. 7 a slow freight train US, 1927. 8 a small railway line hand-car or trolley used in line maintenance NEW ZEALAND, 1953 jigger verb 1 to adjust, especially of numbers or statistics US, 1997. 2 to serve as a lookout during a crime US, 1995. ► I'll be jiggered!; I'm jiggered! used for registering surprise UK, 1886 jiggered adjective 1 damned, in great trouble. Euphemistic replacement for BUGGERED UK, 1837. 2 useless, broken NEW ZEALAND, 2002 jiggered up; jiggered adjective exhausted. As 'jiggered up', a nautical coinage first recorded in 1867; possibly a fusing of 'Jesus' and 'buggered', intended as a euphemism for BUGGERED UP (exhausted) UK, 1999 jigger man noun a lookout during a crime US, 1924 jigger moll noun a female lookout for a criminal operation who can also serve as a diversion or distraction US, 1956 jiggers! used as a warning to confederates that a prison guard is approaching US, 1917 jiggin; jigging noun an organised dance. Glasgow slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 jigging veil noun in Newfoundland, a widow's veil. As with JIG, these uses of the word seem to be akin to 'jigging' as a type of fishing CANADA, 1982 jiggle verb (of a woman) to walk so as to accentuate the movement of the breasts US, 1965 jiggle and jog noun a French person. Rhyming slang for FROG UK, 1979

jiggle bars noun the raised bars dividing motorway lanes US, 1962 jigger noun 1 a skeleton key for a pin tumbler lock UK, 1977. 2 a wire used to manipulate a pay phone to make a call without charge US, 1997. 3 in electric line work, a secondary voltage tester with a glow light indicator US, 1980

jiggles and wires noun excitement US, 1984 jiggy adjective rich; hence fashionable, stylish; attractive US, 1995. ► get jiggy; get jiggy with it 1 to dance, or feel the need to dance to the music US, 1997. 2 to have sex; to become sexually intimate US, 2003

jiggy swiggy noun the current drink of popular choice. JIGGY (fashionable), plus a play on SWIG (to drink) UK, 2000 jig lover noun a white person who, in the eyes of the racist using the term, treats black people as equals US, 1950 jig rig noun a car that has been given cheap, showy, useless modifications with no effect on its performance. From a racist stereotype of black values US, 1986 jigs noun a key US, 1949 jigtown noun a neighbourhood populated largely by black people US, 1987 jig up verb to dance in an animated fashion BAHAMAS, 1982 jihad noun enforcement of school discipline. The Islamic term for 'holy war' adopted as teenspeak, post 11th September 2001 US, 2002 jildi! quick!, hurry! Military slang, from Hindustani jaldi INDIA, 1948 jill noun the female form of the jock strap, worn to protect the genitals. The term derives from the 'Jack and Jill' nursery rhyme, as the male version, the 'jockstrap', is also known as the 'jackstrap' CANADA, 1988 jilleroo noun a female hand working on a cattle or sheep station. Modelled on JACKEROO AUSTRALIA, 1943 jilleroo verb to work as a jilleroo AUSTRALIA, 1970

jillick verb to throw a stone across water, underhand, to see how many times it skips CANADA, 1937 jillion noun a large, imagined number US, 1939 jillo! quick!, hurry! Military slang, from Hindustani chalo. Influenced by JILDII INDIA, 1984 jill off verb (of a woman) to masturbate. Derivative of the male JACK OFF, and used far less frequently US, 1989 jillpots noun ► his jillpots; her jillpots that person, him, her. Circus, itinerant entertainers; probably an elaboration of JILLS UK, 1937 jills noun self, when combined with an appropriate pronoun – thus 'I jills' for me or myself, 'her jills' for her or herself, 'his jills' for him or himself, etc. Part of the Shelta vocabulary that is often used by sections of gypsy and Romany society as a means of discreet communication UK, 1906

Jim noun 1 the name given to a friend or offered as a gesture of friendliness. Black/jazz slang subverting the racism of JIM CROW US, 1899. 2 in film-making, an all-purpose forename that is prefixed to a worker's informal job title UK, 1980. 3 an interested loiterer and observer in an area where sexual trade is conducted UK, 1977

Jim and Jack noun the back. Rhyming slang UK, 1967

Jimbroni noun in American casinos, a dealer with neither great skills nor great reactions to situations US, 1985

jim cap; jim hat noun a condom US, 1990

Jim Crow noun 1 racial segregation; a racially segregated facility US, 1921. 2 in British Columbia logging, a single log load; in Vancouver Island coal mining, a bar for bending track or changing an underground rail switch CANADA, 1989. 3 on the railways, a tool used to straighten rails US, 1952

Jim-Crow verb to segregate racially US, 1918

Jim Crow adjective 1 racially segregated, reserved for black people US, 1842. 2 worthless CANADA, 1962

Jim Fish noun a black person. Offensive and derogatory SOUTH AFRICA, 1930

Jiminy Cricket! used as a mild expletive. Extended from obsolete 'jiminy!'; 'gemini!', etc., which may derive from Jesu domine; modern use is probably intended to be a euphemism for JESUS CHRIST! US, 1848

jim-jams noun pyjamas AUSTRALIA, 1961

jimjams noun a heightened sense of anxiety US, 1896

Jim Johnson noun the equipment needed to inject heroin or another narcotic US, 1986

Jim Jones noun marijuana adulterated with cocaine and phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust. An eponym from the self-proclaimed messiah of the People's Temple, James (Jim) Warren Jones, 1931–78, who promised followers utopia. In 1977 the sect established Jonestown, an agricultural commune in Guyana, South America. On the 18th November 1978, Jones commanded cultists to drink a punch adulterated with cyanide. The majority obeyed: the mass suicide ('the Jonestown Massacre') took 913 lives, including 276 children. This marijuana cocktail is a metaphor for a dream, represented here as marijuana, that is poisoned UK, 1998 jimmies noun 1 gym shoes NEW ZEALAND, 1995. 2 tiny pieces of candy sprinkled on ice-cream, biscuits or cake US, 1947

Jimmy noun 1 the penis US, 1988. 2 a condom US, 1990. 3 an injection of an illegal drug into the skin, not a vein US, 1952. 4 a short crowbar used by burglars UK, 1811. 5 a glass of beer. Homage to James Boag, a brewer AUSTRALIA, 1995. 6 a railway coal truck US, 1946

Jimmy noun 1 in Glasgow, used as a term of address to any male stranger UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. 2 anything produced by the truck division of General Motors US, 1953

Jimmy verb 1 to pry open US, 1854. 2 to obtain free entry into a cinema, or a theatre, or an enclosure at a race meeting, by underhand means UK, 1977

Jimmy bottle noun a gallon bottle TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

Jimmy Boyle; Jimmy noun foil (used in the preparation of heroin). Rhyming slang, based on the name of Jimmy Boyle (b.1944), a convicted murderer turned sculptor and novelist UK, 1996

Jimmy Britt noun shit. Rhyming slang based on the name of a boxing champion who toured Australia during World War I AUSTRALIA, 1977

Jimmy Britts noun 1 diarrhoea. Always used with 'the'; rhyming slang for THE SHITS, possibly based on the name of a US baseball player in the first decade of C20. Sometimes shortened to 'jimmies' AUSTRALIA, 1950. 2 a state of extreme annoyance. Rhyming slang for SHIT! AUSTRALIA, 1959

Jimmy cap; Jimmy hat noun a condom. Worn on a JIMMY (penis) US, 1988

Jimmy dog noun a marijuana cigarette US, 1986

Jimmy Hicks; Jimmy Hix noun 1 an injection of drugs. Rhyming slang for FIX, based on either an unknown Mr Hicks/Hix or guitarist Jimi Hendrix (1942–70), another variation, along with 'jimmy' and 'jimi' UK, 1950. 2 in craps, a roll of six. From the rhyme US, 1919. 3 in a deck of playing cards, a six US, 1951

Jimmy Hill; Jimmy noun 1 a bill. Rhyming slang, based on the name of former footballer now television sports presenter Jimmy Hill (b.1928) UK, 2002. 2 a pill. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of former footballer now television sports presenter Jimmy Hill (b.1928) UK, 1992

Jimmy jacket noun a condom US, 1997

Jimmy jar noun a demijohn, or container of alcohol CANADA, 1977

Jimmy joint noun the penis US, 1976

Jimmy Logie noun a small lump of dried nasal mucus. Rhyming slang for 'bogie'; formed from the name of an Arsenal footballer of the mid-1950s UK, 1992

Jimmy Mason noun a basin, generally in the sense 'to have had a basinful' (as much as you can tolerate). Rhyming slang UK, 1992

Jimmy Nail adjective stale. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the actor and singer (b.1954) UK, 1998

Jimmy Riddle; Jimmy noun an act of urination; urine. Rhyming slang for PIDDLE UK, 1931

Jimmy Riddle; Jimmy verb to urinate. Rhyming slang for PIDDLE UK, 1937

Jimmy Rollocks noun the testicles. Rhyming slang for BOLLOCKS UK, 1961

Jimmy Savile verb to travel UK, 1983

Jimmy the sleek noun a condom. A play on the nickname Jimmy the Greek (Demetrios Synodinos, later James George Snyder) (1919–96), a well-known gambler. The sleek finish is provided by latex which also takes the gamble out of the situation US, 1990s

Jimmy Valentine noun a criminal who specialises in breaking into safes US, 1949

Jimmy White noun shite (in all senses). Rhyming slang, formed from UK snooker player Jimmy 'Whirlwind' White. (b.1962) UK, 2003

Jimmy Woodser noun a person drinking alone at a public bar; a drink taken alone. From Jimmy Wood, the name of the protagonist in the eponymous song by Australian poet Barcroft Boake (1892). The song originally appeared with a footnote explaining the term, perhaps indicating that it was otherwise unknown and therefore a coinage of Boake's. Some believe that the name refers to a real person, but this has not been substantiated AUSTRALIA, 1973

Jimmy Young; Jimmy noun 1 a tongue. Rhyming slang UK, 1992. 2 a bribe. Rhyming slang for BUNG; formed from the name of a singer-turned-radio disc jockey (b.1923) UK, 1992

Jim Pike noun someone who is financing an illegal betting operation. Rhyming slang for MIKE AUSTRALIA, 1989

Jimson noun used as a male-to-male term of address US, 1953 jing noun money. A shortened 'jingle' US, 1973 jing-bang noun an uneducated, dirty, noisy person JAMAICA, 1952

jing-jang noun the penis US, 1960 jingle noun a telephone call US, 1949 jingle verb to make a telephone call US, 1959 jingle bell crew noun a team of pickpockets US, 1982 jingles noun pocket change US, 1989

jingly-jangly adjective of music, characterised by the use of acoustic guitars, bright tonal quality and (generally) happy songs UK, 2004

jink verb 1 in aerial combat, to make sudden, evasive movements UK, 1917. 2 to swindle. Originally a term from a card game that evolved into wider usage NEW ZEALAND, 1998

jink noun in Newfoundland, on a boat, a bringer of bad luck CANADA, 1964 jinkers noun harness racing AUSTRALIA, 1989

jinkies noun ► the jinkies; the wee jinkies applied to anything that is considered excellent UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 jinky adjective unlucky. From 'jinx' US, 1969 jinx note noun a two-dollar note US, 1970

jipsy adjective anxious, energetic, flighty TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1984

jislaaik!; jis!; jiss! used as an exclamation of such negative feelings as anger, frustration, distress, regret, etc; and of positive feelings such as admiration, approval, wonder, etc. Possibly a euphemism for 'Jesus!' (by intention, not etymology) SOUTH AFRICA, 1960 jism trail noun semen on a partner's body after ejaculation. A pun on the Chisholm Trail, the major route for cattle drives from Texas to Abilene US, 2003

jiss noun excitement, character IRELAND, 1992

jit noun 1 a nickel; five cents US, 1913. 2 semen US, 1974 jitney noun 1 a sexually available girl. Like the bus, anyone can get on if they have the fare BAHAMAS, 1982. 2 in poker, a $5 chip US, 1988

jits adjective excellent, nice SOUTH AFRICA, 2003

jitterbug noun a swing jazz enthusiast US, 1938 jitterbug verb 1 to fool around US, 1942. 2 to cause a car to bounce up and down suddenly through the use of hydraulic lifts operated by the driver US, 1980. 3 to fight, especially between gangs US, 1958

jitters noun uncontrolled shaking; extreme nervousness US, 1929

jittery adjective nervous, jumpy, on-edge UK, 1931 jive noun 1 swing jazz US, 1937. 2 a highly stylised vernacular that originated with black jazz musicians. Spoken by HEP CAT(S), incorporating a mix of new coinages or meanings with older adoptions; few original words remain in circulation US, 1928. 3 insincere talk; nonsense US, 1928. 4 marijuana or a marijuana cigarette US, 1963. 5 heroin or, less often, opium US, 1946

jive verb 1 to speak with a lack of sincerity US, 1928. 2 to dance US, 1938 jive adjective insincere, phony, pretentious US, 1946 jive-ass noun an insincere, unreliable person US, 1967 jive-ass; jive-arse adjective worthless, unreliable US, 1959

jive bomber noun a skilled dancer US, 1945

jive doo jee noun heroin UK, 1998

jiver noun an inveterate flatterer US, 1947

jive stick noun a marijuana cigarette US, 1945

jizz verb to ejaculate US, 1983 jizz; jizzum; jism; jiz; jizm; gism; gizzum noun semen. Links to an earlier use as 'life-force, energy, spirit'; a meaning that, occasionally, may still be intended US, 1941 jizzbag noun an offensive and disgusting person. Literally, 'a condom' US, 1993 jizz noun a scene in a pornographic film or photograph showing a man ejaculating US, 1995 jizz joint noun a sex club US, 2000 jizz-mopper noun an employee in a pornographic video arcade or sex show who cleans up after customers who have come have left US, 1994

jizz rag noun a rag used for wiping semen US, 1983

JJ Cale noun a jail. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the US musician (b.1938) UK, 2004

JK! just kidding! Used after saying something that sounds improbable US, 2002

JLD (in doctors' shorthand) just like dad. Medical slang UK, 2002

J-load nickname a generously proportioned backside. After the widely appreciated hindquarters of film actress and singer Jennifer Lopez (b.1970), popularly known and marketed by the nickname 'J Lo'. Recorded in use in contemporary gay society UK, 2003

JO noun 1 an act of male masturbation. An abbreviation of JERK-OFF US, 1972. 2 a job US, 1993

JO verb (used of a male) to masturbate. An abbreviation of the oh-so-common JERK OFF US, 1959

joan; jone verb to insult in a competitive, quasi-friendly spirit US, 1939

Joanie adjective profoundly out of touch with current fashions and trends US, 1982 joanna; joana; joanner; johanna noun a piano. Rhyming slang UK, 1846

Joan of Arc noun 1 a lark, in phrases such as 'fuck this for a lark'. Rhyming slang UK, 1998. 2 a park. Rhyming slang UK, 1998. 3 a shark. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1998 job noun 1 used as a substitute for a noun which is apparent from context, especially of cars. Sometimes embellished to 'jobby' US, 1896. 2 an inanimate or mechanical article, a thing UK, 1943. 3 a person. Usually prefixed with a noun or adjective characteristic US, 1927. 4 a criminal venture, usually a robbery UK, 1690. 5 a medical procedure. A variant of 'job' (a variety), usually combined with a body part: 'nose', 'boob', etc US, 1943. 6 an act of defecation US, 1975. 7 in professional wrestling, a planned, voluntary loss US, 1999. 8 the injection of a drug for non-medicinal purposes US, 1970. ► do a job to defecate. Sometimes embellished to 'jobbie' AUSTRALIA, 1942. ► just the job; the job exactly what is required UK, 1943. ► on the job having sex, engaged in sexual intercourse UK, 1966. ► the job the police (as a profession). Police slang UK, 1999 job verb 1 to rob, to steal, to cheat US, 1889. 2 to suffer a planned, voluntary loss in a professional wrestling match US, 1990. 3 to hit or strike; to punch AUSTRALIA, 1915. 4 to inject a drug US, 1967

jo bag noun a condom UK, 1961 job and finish noun a period of employment that is limited by the time it takes to do a specific task. Originally in Merchant Navy use UK, 1984

jobbed adjective incriminated by false evidence UK, 1996 jobber noun a professional wrestler who is regularly assigned to lose to advance the careers of others US, 1990 jobber to the stars noun a moderately talented professional wrestler who is assigned to lose to the most popular wrestlers US, 1996 jobbie noun 1 used as a substitute noun which is apparent from its context; an item. Extension of JO US, 1960. 2 a transaction; a situation; a piece of work; an event; a procedure; an occurrence. A variation of conventional and unconventional JO US, 2001. 3 a turd. From Scottish dialect jobbie (a little job); compare with BIG JOBS (defecation). Widely popularised in the 1970s by comedian Billy Connolly UK, 2000. 4 a racehorse US, 1974

Jobbie noun a Job Centre UK, 2001

jobbie-jabber noun a male homosexual. A reference to anal sex formed on JOBBIE (a turd) UK, 2003 jobo; joro noun a woman, mistress or prostitute. From the Japanese, used by US military in Korea US, 1947 job out verb to assign a wrestler to lose intentionally to advance the career of another US, 1990 jobroni; jobrone; gibroni noun a professional wrestler who is regularly assigned to lose. Embellishments of the standard JOBBIE US, 1999 jobsworth noun anyone in a position of authority (no matter how petty) who reinforces the personal power of office by insistence on the finer details of whichever bureaucracy or rulebook is represented, generally to veto or reject a course of action. From the expression, 'It's more than my job's worth' UK, 1970

jock noun 1 an athlete, especially a student athlete. Originally referred to a man's genitals, leading to 'jock strap' as an athletic support, leading to a clipped 'jock' for the support, leading to application to the man wearing the support. Usually, but not always, suggestive of a certain mindlessness US, 1958. 2 a jockey UK, 1826. 3 a disc jockey US, 1947. 4 a navy fighter pilot US, 1959. 5 the penis; the male genitals UK, 1790. 6 an athletic support. An abbreviation of 'jock strap' US, 1985. 7 a computer programmer who enumerates all possible combinations to find the one that solves the problem US, 1983

Jock noun a Scot. Originally armed services' use, then widespread; from the Scottish variant of proper name John UK, 1788 jock verb 1 to have sex UK, 1699. 2 to like; to find attractive US, 1986

Jock adjective Scottish. Of military origin UK, 1844 jock collar noun a rubber ring fitted around the base of the penis. Later and better known as a COCK RING US, 1969 jocked off verb of a professional jockey, to have been deprived of an agreed mount UK, 1964 jocker noun 1 an aggressive, predatory male homosexual US, 1893. 2 an older homosexual male living with and by virtue of the earnings of a younger companion. Originally tramp slang US, 1890s to 1970s jockette noun a female student athlete. Spoken for effect, rarely spontaneously US, 1980 jockey noun 1 a prostitute's client UK, 1977. 2 a rapist IRELAND, 1996. 3 a driver of any heavy-load vehicle UK, 1951 jockey verb to drive, to operate US, 1948 jockey slut noun a girl who trades her sexual availability to disc jockeys in exchange for hanger-on status. The dance music magazine Jockey Slut was first published in 1997 UK, 1997 jockey's whip noun a bed; a sleep. Rhyming slang from KIP UK, 1960 jockey's whips noun 1 chips. Rhyming slang UK, 1969. 2 LSD. Rhyming slang for TRIPS (LSD) UK, 2002

jock itch noun a sweat-induced rash in the crotch US, 1950 jock jacket noun a condom UK, 1998

Jock Mackay noun a pie, especially a 'Scotch pie'. Glasgow rhyming slang, formed on an imagined or generic Scotsman, also heard of in the wistful expression 'Och aye, Jock Mackay' UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

jocko noun an athlete, a jock US, 1970

Jocko land noun Scotland. Extended from JOCK (a Scot) UK: ENGLAND, 1994 jocks noun male underwear IRELAND, 1996 jock-sniffer noun an obsequious sports fan who tries to associate with athletes US, 1971 jockstrap noun an athlete US, 1944 jock strapper noun an athlete US, 1970

Jodrell Bank; jodrell noun an act of masturbation. Rhyming slang for WANK formed on the observatory located in Cheshire UK, 1992

Jody noun 1 the anonymous seducer of a soldier's girlfriend back home US, 1944. 2 a male civilian during wartime US, 1944. 3 a black seducer of white women US, 1967 joe noun 1 coffee. Originally tramp slang US, 1930. 2 a condom NEW ZEALAND, 1976

Joe noun 1 a fool. Especially in constructions such as ‘make a joe of yourself’ NEW ZEALAND, 1965. 2 a new worker who cannot perform up to expected standards US, 1989. 3 a regular fellow US, 1911. 4 used to create an imaginary person, first name Joe, last name the quality or characteristic that is personified US, 1912. 5 a member of the Navajo Indian tribe. An abbreviation of Nava-Joe US, 1963. 6 a prison inmate who is easily imposed upon UK, 1978. 7 a police officer US, 1987. 8 Schlitz™ beer. From the full name, the Joseph Schlitz Brewing Company US, 1979. ► out the Joe completely drunk NEW ZEALAND, 1964

Joe Baksj; Joe Baxi noun a taxi. Rhyming slang, based on a US heavyweight boxer well known in the UK. In Glasgow use and also noted in UK prison use UK, 1988

Joe Balls noun used as a derogatory personification of the typical US soldier US, 1946

Joe Blake noun 1 a snake. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1905. 2 a gambling stake; a wooden stake. Rhyming slang UK, 1992

Joe Blakes noun the shaking symptoms of extreme alcoholism. Rhyming slang for the SHAKES AUSTRALIA, 1944

Joe Bloggs noun everyman; a notional average man UK, 1969

Joe Blow noun 1 an average, typical citizen US, 1924. 2 an excellent musician US, 1945

Joe Blow biography noun a glowing biographical story about a soldier in his hometown newspaper US, 1946

Joe Bucks noun any wealthy man BAHAMAS, 1982

Joe Chink noun a heroin addiction. A further personification of the older CHINAMAN (a heroin addiction) US, 1973

Joe College noun a stereotypical male college student US, 1932

Joe Cool noun used for expressing the ultimate in fashion and modernity US, 1971

Joe Daki noun a Pakistani. Rhyming slang for PAKI UK, 1998

Joe Doe; Joe Roe noun used as a name for a male blind date. Teen slang US, 1951

Joe Erk noun a fool. Rhyming slang for BERK – in turn, rhyming slang for CUNT (a fool) UK, 1998

Joe Gurr noun prison. Rhyming slang for STIR UK, 1938

Joe Hero noun a typical hero US, 1977

Joe Hook noun 1 a crook. Rhyming slang, probably influenced by HOOK (to steal) or HOOKY (stolen, counterfeit) UK, 1932. 2 a book. Rhyming slang UK, 1960

Joe Hunt; joey noun a foolish or unlikeable person. Rhyming slang for CUNT. The shortened form is probably influenced by JOEY (a clown) UK, 1960

Joe Loss noun something of little or no value. Rhyming slang for Toss, formed from the name of the London-born bandleader, 1909–90 UK, 1992

Joe Loss verb to toss. Rhyming slang UK, 1992

Joe PakiPaki from Opunaki noun the notional, typical New Zealander NEW ZEALAND, 1984

Joe Patriot noun a prototypical patriot US, 1994

Joe-pot noun a coffee pot. Korean war usage US, 1979

Joe Public noun an average citizen; the regular man on the street. Originally theatrical of an audience member; gently derogatory US, 1942

Joe Punter noun an (imagined) average customer. A variation of JOE PUBLIC (the public). Combines JOE (a regular fellow) with PUNTER (a generic customer) UK, 2000

Joe Rook noun 1 a crook. Perhaps a variant of JOE HOOK, possibly influenced by ‘rook’ (to defraud); may also be an adaptation of JOE ROURKE (a pickpocket) UK, 1960. 2 a book, in particular the book made by an on-course bookmaker; hence, a bookmaker UK, 1961

Joe Rookie noun a bookmaker. Rhyming slang for ‘bookie’, from JOE ROOK (a bookmaker’s book) UK, 1998

Joe Rourke noun a pickpocket. Rhyming slang, formed on synonymous but obsolete ‘fork’ UK, 1938 joes noun a fit of irritation or depression AUSTRALIA, 1910

Joe Schmo; Joe Shmo noun an average, if dull and dim, person US, 1947

Joe Sixpack noun a stereotypical working-class male US, 1972

Joe Skinner; Jim Skinner; Jimmy Skinner noun a dinner. Rhyming slang UK, 1938

Joe Soap noun an easily put-upon employee, a fool. Rhyming slang for DOPE; originally military UK, 1943

Joe Strummer noun a disappointing or depressing event. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the celebrated rock musician, 1952–2002 UK, 1998

Joe the grinder noun used as a generic term for the man that a prisoner’s wife or girlfriend takes up with while the man is in prison US, 1964

Joe the toff adverb off, away. Glasgow rhyming slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 joey noun 1 a clown. An abbreviation of the name of legendary clown Joseph Grimaldi (1779–1837) UK, 1889. 2 an errand-runner in a drug-dealing operation. Probably from the previous sense as ‘clown’ UK, 1999. 3 a baby AUSTRALIA, 1968. 4 a youthful, attractive homosexual male prostitute AUSTRALIA, 1979. 5 a young kangaroo or wallaby still living in the pouch; the young of any marsupial. Origin unknown; the earliest example (1828) refers to a young possum. Later ‘joey’ was also applied to the young of various animals, such as parrots, horses and cattle, but is now restricted as defined AUSTRALIA, 1839. 6 an Anglo-Australian person. Used as a, somewhat mild, derogatory term by Australians of Mediterranean and Middle Eastern background AUSTRALIA, 1987. 7 in prison, illicit goods, an illegal parcel UK, 1950. 8 a condom NEW ZEALAND, 1984. 9 the bleed period of the menstrual cycle UK, 1984

Joey noun someone of little importance. Rhyming slang for JOE HUNT (CUNT) informed by JOEY (a clown) UK, 1990

Joey Grey noun a rabbit stew. English gypsy use UK, 2000

Joey; Johies nickname Johannesburg SOUTH AFRICA, 1974

jog verb 1 to push with one foot while skateboarding US, 1984. 2 in Newfoundland, of a boat, to stop (heave to) into the wind, or sail slowly CANADA, 1960 jogger; jogar verb to entertain, to sing, to play. Polari, from Italian giocare (to play) UK, 2002 joggering omee noun an entertainer. A combination of JOGGER (to entertain) and OMEE (a man) UK, 2002

joggy noun a hacksaw US, 1949 joharito noun heroin UK, 2003

john noun 1 a prostitute’s client. From the sense as ‘generic man’, probably via the criminal use as ‘dupe’ or ‘victim’ US, 1906. 2 a police officer. An abbreviation of John Darm, an obsolete pun on French gendarme (a police officer) which appears in several variations in the US from 1858, or an abbreviated form of the older John Hop, rhyming with COP. First recorded standing alone in Australia, 1898 AUSTRALIA, 1898. 3 in a deck of playing cards, a jack or knave US, 1967. 4 a toilet US, 1942. 5 a condom. A shortened form of JOHNNY used with over-familiar contempt by prostitutes UK, 1977
► see: JOHN THOMAS

John noun a lieutenant US, 1937

John Audley; John Orderly verb to abridge the performance!; quickly. Theatrical, from actor-manager John Richardson (d.1837) who would ask ‘Is John Audley here?’ to cue a speedy conclusion in readiness for his next audience; by legend this was a technique learnt from a John Audley or Orderly UK, 1864

John book noun a prostitute’s list of customers US, 1973

John Brown! used as a non-profane oath BAHAMAS, 1982

John Bull adjective full; drunk AUSTRALIA, 1971

John Bull; john noun 1 a tug, a pull. Rhyming slang UK, 1956. 2 an arrest. Rhyming slang for PULL UK, 1984. ► on the John Bull; go

- on the John Bull engaged in a casual or recreational quest for a sexual partner. Rhyming slang for 'on the pull' UK, 1992
- John Cleese noun cheese. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the comedy actor and writer (b.1939) who, as a member of Monty Python's Flying Circus was, in 1972, partly responsible for the 'Cheese Shop' sketch UK, 1998
- John D noun kerosene. An allusion to John D. Rockefeller and hence petroleum-based products US, 1975
- John Dory noun the story AUSTRALIA, 1987
- John Grieg noun the leg. Glasgow rhyming slang, formed from the name of the Glasgow Rangers footballer UK: SCOTLAND, 1996
- John Hancock noun a person's signature. From the attention-getting manner in which Hancock signed the Declaration of Independence US, 1887
- John Henry noun 1 a person's signature. A variant of the more common JOHN HANCOCK US, 1972. 2 the penis US, 1888
- John Hop noun a police officer. Rhyming slang for COP AUSTRALIA, 1907
- John Law noun the police US, 1906
- Johnnie; Johnny noun a man UK, 1673
- johnny noun 1 a condom UK, 1965. 2 a police officer US, 1997. 3 a toilet UK, 1850. 4 a prison guard US, 1950. 5 a loose-fitting, abbreviated hospital nightshirt with a slit down the back US, 1958. 6 an inexperienced firefighter US, 1954
- johnnybait noun a sexually alluring young woman or young man UK, 1963
- johnny ball noun in electric line work, a guy strain insulator US, 1980
- johnny-be-good noun a police officer; the police. Plays on Chuck Berry's 1958 rock 'n' roll classic 'Johnny B. Goode', punning the inherent quality of goodness displayed by the police; possibly ironic. Black usage US, 2005
- Johnny Black nickname Johnny Walker™ Black Label whisky US, 1990
- Johnny Bliss noun an act of urination. Rhyming slang for PISS AUSTRALIA, 1969
- Johnny Canuck noun a Canadian, especially a soldier CANADA, 1957
- Johnny Cash noun an act of urination. Rhyming slang for SLASH, formed from the name of the US singer, 1932–2003 UK, 1992
- Johnny-come-lately noun a new recruit, a newcomer; hence, someone inexperienced or unsophisticated US, 1839
- Johnny Darky noun a black man. Offensive UK, 2000
- Johnny Foreigner noun anyone who is not British UK, 1990
- Johnny Giles noun haemorrhoids. Rhyming slang for 'piles'; formed from the name of an Irish footballer (b.1940) UK, 1998
- Johnny-go-fast noun amphetamines UK, 2003
- Johnny Gyppo noun an Egyptian; Egypt personified UK, 1985
- Johnny Ham noun a private investigator US, 1986
- Johnny Horner noun a corner. Rhyming slang UK, 1909
- Johnny Long Shoes noun the man who steals a prisoner's girlfriend or wife after incarceration US, 1991
- Johnny-no-stars noun a person of limited intelligence and/or ambition. From a system employed by fast-food giant McDonald's™ that is designed to recognise a worker's achievements and acquisition of skills; to have no stars is seen to be a badge of no intelligence UK, 2002
- Johnny O'Brien noun in railroading, a boxcar US, 1977
- Johnny-on-the-spot noun a person who is available whenever needed US, 1986
- Johnny Pissoff noun a very annoying person US, 1971
- Johnny pump noun a fire hydrant US, 1955
- Johnny Raper noun a newspaper. Rhyming slang based on the name of an Australian Rugby League football player AUSTRALIA, 1983
- Johnny Reb noun any rural white male from the southern US US, 1884
- Johnny Rollocks noun the testicles. Rhyming slang for BOLLOCKS; a member of the JIMMY ROLLOCKS and TOMMY ROLLOCKS family UK, 1984
- Johnny Rotten nickname Sir William Wratten, commander of all Royal Air Force assets in the Gulf war UK, 1991
- Johnny Skinner noun a dinner. Rhyming slang; a part of the JOE SKINNER family UK, 1960
- Johnny Thunder noun the combination of an M-16 antipersonnel mine and a M-79 grenade launcher US, 1991
- johnny-too-bad noun a hoodlum, a criminal. A reversal of JOHNNY-BE-GOOD (a police officer). Immortalised by the thus-titled song by the Slickers in the 1973 Jamaican film The Harder They Come. UK black usage JAMAICA, 1994
- Johnny Tourist noun a holiday-maker. A personification of the average tourist UK, 1999
- Johnny Vaughan noun pornography. Rhyming slang for PORN, based on television presenter Johnny Vaughan UK, 2002
- Johnny Walker noun an overly talkative person; an informer. Rhyming slang, 'talker'; possibly derived from the brand name whisky (from its tongue-loosening properties) or, perhaps, formed from the name of a BBC radio disc jockey, in tribute to his fluency UK, 1992
- Johnny Walker nickname 1 Pope John XXIII. A pun on a whisky brand name; Pope John XXIII (born 1881, ascended 1958, died 1963) earned this nickname from his habit of sneaking out of the Vatican and walking the streets of Rome ITALY, 1972. 2 Lt General Walton H. Walker (1889–1950). Walker served with great distinction in World War I, World War 2, and Korea; he was killed in a car accident in Korea US, 1973
- Johnny Woodser noun a person drinking alone in a pub NEW ZEALAND, 1941
- John O'Groats noun sexual satisfaction. Rhyming slang for OATS, as in 'get your oats' UK, 1992
- John Peel noun a jellied eel. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a legendary huntsman (1776–1854) or BBC radio disc jockey (1993–2004) UK, 1992
- John Prescott noun a waistcoat. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the Labour politician (b.1938), UK's Deputy Prime Minister (1997–2007). The latest of many men, real or imagined, named Prescott who have lent a name to this rhyme UK, 1998
- John Q. Law noun the personification of law enforcement US, 1994
- John Selwyn Gummer noun a disappointing or depressing event. Rhyming slang for BUMMER, formed from the name of a Conservative politician and sometime government minister UK, 1998
- johnsie noun the room, apartment or house where you live US, 2002
- johnson noun 1 the penis. Despite an 1862 citation, the word was not widely used in this sense until the 1970s UK, 1862. 2 a pound of marijuana, especially a pound of marijuana cigarettes. A pound of marijuana cigarettes would be an 'lb. of J's', hence the initials and the leap to President Lyndon 'LBJ' Baines Johnson US, 1976. 3 a marijuana cigarette UK, 2002. 4 crack cocaine UK, 1998. 5 coffee US, 1962
- Johnson bar noun the emergency brake on a truck US, 1971
- Johnson family noun 1 collectively, the underworld US, 1926. 2 a mythical family, all of whose members believe that everything is legitimate and righteous US, 1982
- Johnson grass noun marijuana. Johnson grass is a ubiquitous weed in the US, hence the pun US, 1971
- John Thomas; john noun the penis UK, 1879
- John Wayne noun 1 in the television and film industries, an exaggerated punch US, 2003. 2 a bulldozer tank US, 1991. 3 a small, collapsible can opener for use in the field. Officially known as a P-38 US, 1973. 4 a train. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the US film actor, 1907–79 UK, 1998
- John Wayne verb to act with reckless disregard for life and safety. One of several military slang terms based on John Wayne (1907–79), the US actor who portrayed a series of tough Western and army heroes US, 1973
- John Wayne cookie noun a US Army c-ration biscuit or candy bar US, 1986

John Wayne High School nickname the US Army's Special Warfare Training School, Fort Bragg, North Carolina US, 1991

John Wayne's hairy saddle bags noun the testicles hanging in the scrotum UK, 1997

John Woo noun excrement, faeces. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the Chinese film director (b.1946) UK, 2003 join verb ► join the Air Force to die US, 1994. ► join the birds to jump from a moving train before an unavoidable collision US, 1975 joined-up thinking noun coherent, considered and well-organised logic UK, 1989 join out verb to go to work for a circus US, 1895 joint noun 1 a marijuana cigarette. For 50 years, the top of the slang pile, easily deposing its predecessors and fending off challengers US, 1942. 2 the equipment used to smoke opium US, 1946. 3 a syringe US, 1953. 4 a pistol US, 1949. 5 the penis US, 1931. 6 a place, anything from a country to a house AUSTRALIA, 1945. 7 a prison US, 1933. 8 an establishment that sells alcohol illegally; any disreputable establishment US, 1877. 9 an artistic creation (recording, film, etc), also a trainer as a fashion item, especially in black or hip-hop culture US, 1988. 10 a hip-hop recording that features more than one leading rapper. Clipped from 'joint recording' US, 2001. 11 in horse racing, a battery-powered device used illegally by a jockey to shock a horse during a race US, 1951 joint girl noun a prostitute working in one specific disreputable establishment US, 1972 joint of beef noun a boss. Rhyming slang for 'chief' UK, 1992 joints noun a pair of any popular brand of athletic shoes US, 1993 joint-wise adjective sophisticated and skilled at the ways and means of serving a prison sentence gracefully US, 1950

JOJ adjective just off the jet. Applied to a recent immigrant or, in the usage of Hawaiian youth, to a tourist recently arrived in Hawaii US, 1981

joe noun heroin US, 1971 joke noun 1 a person who is not taken seriously AUSTRALIA, 1992. 2 an operation that offers the possibility of improper gain AUSTRALIA, 1989 joke and farce noun the posterior, the buttocks, the anus. Rhyming slang for ARSE UK, 2003 joke box noun a good teller of jokes BAHAMAS, 1982

joker noun a person; a bloke or fellow AUSTRALIA, 1810 joker poker noun any game of poker played with 53 cards, including the joker US, 1988 jokers' jailhouse noun a lunatic asylum US, 1971 jol; joll; jall; jawl; joil; jola; jorl verb 1 to go somewhere (especially in search of entertainment); to depart SOUTH AFRICA, 1946. 2 to flirt; to have a love-affair SOUTH AFRICA, 1969. 3 to make merry, to party. From Afrikaans SOUTH AFRICA, 1970

jol; joll; jorl; jaul noun a good time; a party, a dance, or similar social occasion. The variations 'jorl' and 'jaul' are representative of the word's pronunciation SOUTH AFRICA, 1957

Joliet Josie noun a sexually attractive girl under the legal age of consent. Joliet is the site of the major prison in Illinois US, 1950

joller; jawler noun a person who frequents (unsavoury) places of entertainment; a hedonist, a party-goer, etc. 'Jawler' is spelt as 'joller' is pronounced SOUTH AFRICA, 1963 jollier noun a good time, a party. An elaboration of 'jolly' UK, 2002 jollies noun 1 pleasure US, 1956. 2 thrills AUSTRALIA, 1982. 3 the female breasts UK, 2002

jollo noun a party or celebration. From 'jolly', or perhaps, 'jollification' AUSTRALIA, 1907 jollop noun 1 a strong liquor, especially whisky. From an earlier medical sense AUSTRALIA, 1942. 2 liquid drugs, usually methadone or morphine. An extension of the original sense as 'a medicine' UK, 2001. 3 a large meal of leftovers CANADA, 1988 jollup noun semen UK, 2002 jolly noun 1 a good time; an pleasant excursion; a party. An abbreviation of 'jollification' UK, 1905. 2 a Royal Marine. The Royal Marines are known as 'the Jollies' UK, 1825. 3 in horse race betting, the favourite UK, 1991 jolly verb to treat a person with such positive cheeriness that a state of a good humour is encouraged or maintained UK, 1865 jolly adjective drunk. Originally euphemistic, then colloquial UK, 1652 jolly adverb very, exceedingly UK, 1838 jolly bean noun an amphetamine tablet US, 1969 jolly for polly adjective eager for money UK, 1987 jolly green noun marijuana. A suggestion that GREEN (marijuana/GRASS) might make you JOLLY (drunk), especially if taken in giant portions implied by the brand name character the Jolly Green Giant UK, 1998

Jolly Green Giant noun any of several large military helicopters, especially the CH-3C helicopter, used during the Vietnam war for counterinsurgency airlifts US, 1965 jolly hockey sticks adjective redolent of the atmosphere or culture of a girls' public school; also used of a feminine 'country' accent. Used parodically. Coined for the BBC radio comedy of the early 1950s Educating Archie, by comedy actress Beryl Reid, 1918–96 UK, 1999 jolly joker noun a poker. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 jolly juice noun alcoholic drink UK, 2001 jolly pop; jolly popper noun an occasional, non-addicted user of heroin US, 2002 jolly well adverb used as an intensifier UK, 1898 jolt noun 1 a shock US, 1966. 2 a strong and bracing alcoholic drink US, 1904. 3 an injection or dose of a drug US, 1907. 4 a prison sentence US, 1912 jolt verb 1 to shock US, 1961. 2 to inject a drug US, 1953

Jolting Joe noun Joe DiMaggio. An extraordinarily gifted player for the New York Yankees baseball team from 1936 to 1951 US, 1965

Jo Maxi noun a taxi. Also abbreviated to 'Jo' IRELAND, 2003

Jonah noun a superstitious gambler; a gambler perceived by other gamblers to bring bad luck US, 1849

Jonah verb in craps, to try to influence the roll of the dice with body movements, hand gestures or incantations US, 1974

Jonathan Ross; jonathan noun something of little or no value. Rhyming slang for TOSS used in the sense 'not give a toss' formed from the name of a television and radio presenter, chat-show host and film critic (b.1960) UK, 1998

jone verb to put a spell on someone CANADA, 1982 ► see: JOAN jones noun 1 an addiction US, 1962. 2 an intense craving or yearning US, 1970. 3 heroin US, 1970. 4 the penis US, 1966

jones verb to crave US, 1974

Joneses noun the notional family next door who are the basis for your aspirations for social equality UK, 1932

jones man noun a heroin dealer US, 1972 jong noun 1 a black person, especially a black man. An offensive term, from older senses as 'a black male servant or slave' derived from Afrikaans jongen (a boy) SOUTH AFRICA, 1908. 2 used as a friendly, informal term of address, regardless of gender; a boyfriend SOUTH AFRICA, 1911 jong! used as an expression of anger, frustration, surprise, pleasure, etc SOUTH AFRICA, 1956 jonnin; jonnick; jonin; jonick adjective 1 true. From British dialect AUSTRALIA, 1874. 2 genuine AUSTRALIA, 1960

joog noun 1 in Newfoundland, especially of alcohol, a small amount, a drop CANADA, 1968. 2 the jugular vein. Also spelt 'jug' US, 1994 joog verb 1 to have sex. Sometimes spelt 'jewg' JAMAICA, 1942. 2 in Newfoundland, to drain or drink completely CANADA, 1968. 3 to tease US, 2002 jook noun sexual intercourse TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1993 jook verb 1 to poke with a sharp object *BARBADOS, 1965. 2 to stab *TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1827

jooks noun trousers UK; SCOTLAND, 1988

josh verb to mock, to tease; to banter US, 1852 joshed up adjective stylishly dressed and well-presented. From 'zhoosh' (clothes) UK, 2002

josh it verb to die UK, 1999

joskin noun a country bumpkin UK, 1811 josser noun an outsider. Polari UK, 1933

jostle verb to engage in petty swindles US, 1953 jostler noun the member of a pickpocket crew whose clumsy bumping into the victim distracts him while a confederate picks the pocket US, 1929 jotters noun ► get your jotters; be given your jotters to be dismissed from employment. Glasgow slang UK, 1985

joual noun the working-class dialect of French, a mixture of languages, used in Quebec. This term, used by English Quebec speakers rather than 'Frenglish', may derive from a corruption of cheval French for 'horse', i.e. 'French spoken on horseback'. Famed and favourite playwright Michel Tremblay wrote all his early plays in 'joual' and refused to allow them to be translated until the separatist party won power in 1976 CANADA, 2001

jouk verb to play truant; to dodge, duck, avoid, hide CANADA, 1988

jounts noun clothing US, 1987 journo noun a journalist AUSTRALIA, 1965

journo adjective being of journalists or journalism AUSTRALIA, 1999

joust noun a physical encounter with sexual overtones. From the conventional sense as 'combat on horseback' with, perhaps, the phallic suggestion of thrusting lances UK, 2001 jowlster noun a useless troublesome male individual IRELAND, 1984

joxy noun the vagina US, 1967 joy noun 1 luck, satisfaction; especially in the question 'any joy?' and the negative response or interrogative 'no joy'. Originally Royal Air Force usage UK, 1945. 2 marijuana US, 1980. 3 heroin UK, 2002

Joy noun ► the Joy Mountjoy Prison in Dublin IRELAND, 1959

joy!; rapture! used for expressing pleasure in what has just been said. Somewhat sarcastic or, at least, melodramatic US, 1986 joy bang; joy noun an injection of a narcotic, especially heroin, 'without succumbing to the drug's addictive nature' US, 1953

joy booter noun an infrequent smoker US, 1996

joybox noun a piano US, 1942 joyboy noun a young male homosexual, especially a young male homosexual prostitute UK, 1961 joy flakes noun a powdered drug, especially cocaine or heroin US, 1942 joy girl noun 1 a prostitute *US, 1931. 2 in a deck of playing cards, any queen *US, 1973 joy jelly noun in electric line work, a silicone compound used on underground cable terminators US, 1980

joy juice noun 1 semen *US, 1969. 2 any alcoholic beverage, especially whisky *US, 1907. 3 a powerful hallucinogenic drink made from seeds of the datura plant *TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1991. 4 a central nervous system depressant US, 1954. 5 chloral hydrate, used to render someone unconscious US, 1971

joy knob noun an attachment to a car steering wheel that facilitates steering with one hand, leaving the other hand free US, 1974

Joynson-hicks noun six. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of Sir William Joynson-Hicks, 1865–1932, who is best remembered as the Conservative Home Secretary at the time of the general strike of 1926 UK, 1960 joy of my life noun a wife. Rhyming slang, often ironic UK, 1936 joy plant noun opium; heroin UK, 1998 joy pop noun an injection of a drug into the skin, not a vein US, 1922 joy-pop verb 1 to inject a drug under the skin, not into a vein *US, 1936. 2 to fly a helicopter at a low elevation and high speed *US, 1991

joy popper noun an intravenous drug user US, 1936 joy powder noun any powdered drug, especially cocaine, heroin or morphine US, 1922 joy-ride noun an impulsive excursion in a car that is, from the point of view of the riders, borrowed, but from the point of view of the law, stolen US, 1915

joyride verb to steal a car for a joy-ride US, 1949 joy-rider noun 1 a person who takes pleasure in driving another's vehicle without permission. Extended from JOY-RIDE *US, 2000. 2 an infrequent user of an addictive drug *US, 1950

joyriding noun the criminal act of taking another's car for the thrilling pleasure of driving it US, 1910 joy smoke noun marijuana. 'Joy hemp'; 'joy root' and 'joy weed' are also recorded in the 1940s; only 'joy' and 'joy smoke' seem to have survived US, 1938 joystick noun 1 the penis. Probably derived from mechanical imagery, but there is a suggestion that this may be rhyming slang for PRICK US, 1916. 2 a marijuana cigarette US, 1962. 3 the pole used to carry a pair of balanced objects on your shoulders US, 1968 joy water noun vaginal lubricant produced as a result of sexual arousal US, 1973

JP nickname Jamaica Plain, Massachusetts US, 1997

JPT noun used for denoting a lack of punctuality. An abbreviation of JEWISH PEOPLE'S TIME US, 1967

J. Random noun used as a humorous first initial and middle name of a mythical person US, 1983

J-smoke noun a marijuana cigarette; marijuana US, 1969

JT noun the penis. An abbreviation of JOHN THOMAS (the penis) UK, 1923

J-town noun a neighbourhood populated by a large number of Japanese-Americans. An abbreviation of 'Japan Town' US, 1973

Juana noun marijuana. A personified abbreviation US, 1989

Juan Doe noun an unidentified Hispanic male US, 1993

Juanita noun marijuana. Another of the seemingly endless 'MARY JANE' offspring US, 1969

Juan Valdez noun marijuana. Juan is probably taken from 'marijuana', but other than its obvious Spanish roots the etymology of Juan Valdez is uncertain US, 1984 jubilee noun the buttocks US, 1967 juck; juk; juckie noun a dog; hence, used disparagingly of a man. Directly from Romany jook (a dog). In English gypsy use UK, 1979

Judas goat noun an animal trained to lead other animals into slaughter US, 1941

Judas hole; Judas eye; Judas window; Judas noun a small peephole in a door through which one can see who is outside the door without being seen from outside US, 1865

Judas priest! used as an expression of surprise or outrage. Multiple embellishments US, 1914 judder noun in motor racing, a shuddering effect felt during braking because of tyre imbalance US, 1980

judder bars noun haemorrhoids NEW ZEALAND, 1998

Judge noun a 1968–73 Pontiac GTO US, 1992

Judge Dread; Judge Dredd noun the head. Rhyming slang, formed from the title of a series of graphic comic-strip adventures and a 1995 film, or, less likely, a reggae entertainer UK, 1998

Judge Duffy; Judge Dean noun in poker, three tens. The suggestion is that the mythical Judge Duffy, Judge Dean, or whoever, commonly handed out sentences of thirty days US, 1963

Judy noun 1 a woman, a girl. Possibly adopted from traditional Punch and Judy puppet shows, or simply from the proper name. Earlier variations of the definition specified that she looked ridiculous (giving credence to Punch's wife) or that she was promiscuous UK, 1812. 2 the meal fed to a prisoner in solitary confinement US, 1992

Judy adjective locked in on a target US, 1990 jug noun 1 a jail or prison US, 1816. 2 a bank US, 1848. 3 a glass of beer. No longer common. Only used colloquially and not when ordering beer at a hotel where a 'jug' is precisely that, a jug of beer that you take back to a table and fill glasses from AUSTRALIA, 1960. 4 a large table jug for beer AUSTRALIA, 1990. 5 a glass ampoule holding liquid drugs US, 1971. 6 a small container of amphetamine or methamphetamine in liquid form US, 1980. 7 a cylinder in an aeroplane engine US, 1963. 8 a carburettor US, 1942. 9 in electric line work, a horizontal post insulator US, 1980 jug verb 1 to arrest or imprison US, 1841. 2 to attack someone with a jug of boiling water, especially sugared water UK, 1996. 3 to have sex with US, 1965. 4 to stab US, 1970 ▶ see: JUKE jug and pail noun a prison or jail. A rhyming slang elaboration of JUG (a prison) UK, 1992 jug verb 1 to have sex US, 1967. 2 to stab US, 2000 jugged adjective 1 drunk. Noted as being used by office- and shop-girls US, 1923. 2 imprisoned UK, 1996 jugging noun in prison, an attack with a jug of boiling sugared water UK, 2000 juggins noun a dolt UK, 1882 juggle verb 1 to sell (drugs) US, 1969. 2 to engage in criminal business activities UK, 1994 juggler noun 1 a retail-level drug dealer US, 1969. 2 a member of a train crew who loads and unloads freight at stops on a run US, 1946 jughandle noun in caving and pot-holing, a handle-shaped outcrop of rock used as an anchor-point UK, 2004 jughandles; juglugs noun prominent ears UK, 1969 jug heavy noun a criminal who specialises in robbing bank vaults and safes US, 1949 jughustler noun 1 in oil drilling, a cable-car crew member with a geophone CANADA, 1958. 2 in oil drilling, the most inexperienced member of a seismic crew. The recording devices carried by the crew resembled and were called 'jugs' US, 1954 jug it! save your prattle for someone who cares! US, 1951 jugs; milk jugs noun the female breasts. A reference to the source of mother's milk; widely known and used US, 1957 jug up verb to eat US, 1992 juice noun 1 alcohol US, 1932. 2 methadone, used to break an opiate addiction. In many US clinics, the methadone given to recovering heroin addicts is mixed in orange juice so that it cannot be injected US, 1981. 3 a powdered narcotic dissolved for injection US, 1962. 4 crack cocaine mixed with marijuana US, 1993. 5 anabolic steroids US, 1992. 6 blood. Among others, professional wrestling usage US, 1938. 7 in drag racing and hot rodding, any special blend of racing fuel US, 1968. 8 petrol, diesel UK, 1909. 9 nitroglycerin, used by thieves to blow open vaults or safes US, 1924. 10 energy UK, 2004. 11 sex BAHAMAS, 1982. 12 pleasure, satisfaction UK, 1999. 13 power, influence, sway US, 1957. 14 a bribe UK, 1698. 15 interest paid to an loan shark US, 1935. 16 in sports betting, the bookmaker's commission US, 1975. 17 in pool, spin imparted to the cue ball to affect the course of the object ball or the course of the cue ball after it strikes the object ball US, 1993. 18 surging surf with big waves US, 1981. 19 in a deck of playing cards, a two. An intentional corruption of DEUCE US, 1951. ▶ get some juice on to achieve a drug intoxication US, 1980 juice verb 1 to drink, especially to the point of intoxication US, 1893. 2 to energeise US, 1977. 3 to bleed. Professional wrestling usage US, 1992. 4 to bribe; to pay for influence US, 1953. 5 to obtain something through the influence of another US, 1980. 6 to have sex BAHAMAS, 1982 ▶ see: JUICE UP. ▶ juice the G-spot to engage in oral sex on a woman US, 2001 juice bar noun a clinic where recovering heroin addicts are administered methadone. Playful, alluding to JUICE (methadone) US, 1989 juice box noun the vagina CANADA, 2002 juice brakes noun in hot rodding and drag racing, hydraulic brakes US, 1968 juiced; juiced up adjective 1 drunk US, 1941. 2 energised US, 1978.

3 caffeinated. Borrowing from the language of car fuel for application to the world of coffee drinks and, to a lesser extent, soft drinks US, 1996 juiced in adjective enjoying powerful political connections US, 1995 juice freak noun an alcoholic US, 1971 juice hand noun an electrician, especially in the theatre US, 1952 juicehead noun an alcoholic US, 1954 juice jockey noun the driver of a petrol-fuelled truck US, 1971 juice joint noun 1 an establishment where alcohol is served illegally US, 1932. 2 a cigarette made with a mixture of marijuana and crack cocaine UK, 1998. 3 a crooked gambling operation US, 1950 juice man noun 1 a usurer, loan-shark, illegal lender US, 1961. 2 an AM radio disc jockey who broadcasts on a powerful, all-night station heard by truckers US, 1976. 3 an electrician US, 1923 juice money noun a bribe US, 1981 juicepot noun a carburettor US, 1971

juicer noun 1 a person who abuses alcohol US, 1960. 2 an electrician, especially in the television and film industries US, 1928. 3 in television and film-making, a lamp operator US, 1990. 4 a persuasive and resourceful woman sent out to acquire crack cocaine for others US, 1992. 5 a collector of repayments for a loan shark UK, 1996. 6 in hot rodding, hydraulic brakes US, 1954 juice racket noun usury, loan-sharking, illegal lending US, 1988 juices noun in poker, a pair of twos. Probably a corruption of DEUCE(s) US, 1951 juice up; juice verb 1 to make exciting or powerful US, 1964. 2 to drink to intoxication US, 1971 juicy adjective 1 scandalous, sensational, especially in a sexual way UK, 1883. 2 (used of a woman) sexually aroused US, 1970. 3 said of a traffic accident involving serious injuries US, 1962. 4 a low-skill poker game or poker play US, 1982. 5 (of a wave) powerful, with a large fringing crest US, 1977 juicy fruit noun an act of sexual intercourse. Rhyming slang for ROOT. From the name of a flavour of chewing gum AUSTRALIA, 1950 juicy G noun salacious gossip US, 1989 juicy Lucy noun the vagina. is an adjective with suggestive and sexual uses; Lucy is a convenient rhyming name. It may also be worth noting that Juicy Lucy was a moderately successful UK blues band in the late 1960s and early 70s. A controversial, and hence memorable illustration on their 1969 eponymous debut album depicted a plump, naked lady disported in 'juicy fruit' – grapes, etc. Also a slang term for 'sexual intercourse' UK, 2001 juju; ju-ju noun a marijuana cigarette. Clipped and reduplicated from 'marijuana' US, 1940 jubes; joobs; jubes noun the female breasts; the male pectorals UK, 1980

juke noun a jukebox US, 1941. ▶ up your juke under the front of your clothing (as a place of concealment or protection) UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 juke; jug verb 1 to dance in a boisterous fashion. It is theorised that the word, today only recognised in the formation JUKE BOX, was derived from the African Wolof, Banut or Bambara languages. The term spread through southern blacks from the Gullah, and then into wider slang usage, although with a distinctly southern flavour US, 1933. 2 to fool, to trick US, 1873. 3 to hit US, 1872. 4 to avoid a blow. Circus and carnival usage UK, 1513 jukebox noun an coin-operated recorded-music player US, 1939 juke house noun a brothel US, 1987 juke joint noun a bar or club with a jukebox; usually rowdy and teeming with sin US, 1937 jukey noun a jukebox UK: SCOTLAND, 1996

Julian Clary adjective vulgar, flashy, ostentatious; impudent; conceited. Rhyming slang for LAIRY UK, 1998

Julian Clary; clary noun a male homosexual. Rhyming slang for FAIRY, formed from the name of an ostentatiously gay comedian (b.1959) UK, 1998

Julius Caesar noun 1 a wedge-shaped cheesecutter flat cap. Rhyming slang for 'cheeser' UK, 1992. 2 a freezer. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 jumble noun a white person. Derived from the pronunciation of 'John Bull' (a symbol of Britain) by Nigerian immigrants in London UK, 1957 jumbleie; jumbly noun a jumble sale UK, 1977 jumbo noun 1 an elephant. From the name of a famous elephant sold to circus impresario P. T. Barnum by London Zoo in 1882. The elephant died in collision with a train in Ontario in 1885 UK, 1882. 2 a jumbo-jet UK, 1984. 3 a large vial of crack cocaine US, 1986. 4 a quart bottle of beer. Heard in Michigan's Upper Peninsula US, 2003. 5 a uniformed police constable, especially a clumsy or stupid police constable. A derogatory term employed by detectives UK, 1970. 6 the buttocks NEW ZEALAND, 1998 jumbo-size adjective very large; or, in the language of advertising, slightly larger than normal UK, 1967

Jumbo's trunk adjective drunk. Rhyming slang. Jumbo was a famous elephant in 1880s London. His name became an eponym for elephants and an adjective for great size. He inspired this variation on 'elephant's trunk' (drunk) UK, 1923 jumbuck noun a sheep. The origin of this word has long been conjectured. 'Jumbuck' arose in Australian Aboriginal pidgin, which also had 'jump up' (to appear, to come, to be reincarnated), which may be related, though it is difficult to see how exactly. In 1896 a Mr Meston surmised the hardly credible theory that it was from an Aboriginal word meaning 'the white mist preceding a shower, to which a flock of sheep bore a strong resemblance'. 'Jumbuck' is now all but forgotten except that it occurs in the lyrics of the national song 'Waltzing Matilda' AUSTRALIA, 1824 jump noun 1 an act of sexual intercourse US, 1931. 2 a thrill UK, 2001. 3 a party, especially a party with music US, 1954. 4 the start US, 1848. 5 the beginning of a horse race AUSTRALIA, 1988. 6 in prison, an unexpected attack UK, 1978. 7 in the entertainment industry, a move in between engagements, especially by rail US, 1916. 8 the bar in a public house or other licensed premises. Following the notion that you have to jump to get attention; alternatively, it's what you have to jump over to get a free beer AUSTRALIA, 1978. ► get the jump on; have the jump on to get, or have, an advantage over someone US, 1912 jump verb 1 to have sex US, 1999. 2 to be lively, wild, full of activity US, 1938. 3 to attack physically, especially by surprise or all of a sudden UK, 1789. 4 (of a horse) to begin a race AUSTRALIA, 1984. 5 to board a moving train in order to catch a free ride US, 1885. 6 to escape, to abscond. Originally, 'to jump ship' UK, 1865. 7 to travel from an engagement in one town to the next town where an engagement is scheduled US, 1975. 8 to steal a car by creating a short circuit with the ignition system wires to start the engine US, 1969. 9 to use specially designed equipment to cause a car to bounce up and down US, 1992. 10 in drag racing, to cross the starting line too soon US, 1970. ► jump a rattler to board a train illegally AUSTRALIA, 1905. ► jump bail to deliberately fail to appear in court after bail has been posted, especially by moving away in order to avoid recognition or the court's jurisdiction. From JUMP (to escape) US, 1865. ► jump out of your skin to be greatly startled UK, 1937. ► jump salty to become angry US, 1969. ► jump someone's bones to have sex US, 1965. ► jump sore to anger US, 1960. ► jump stink to become angry US, 1946. ► jump the broomstick to enter into a common-law marriage. Probably a figurative use of a traditional custom, hence, also, the many variations: 'to jump (over) the besom', 'broom', 'bucket', 'ditch', 'doorstep', etc. Brewer in his Phrase and Fable suggests that 'broomstick' is an elaboration of 'brom' (the bit of a bridle) and is thus symbolic of skipping over the restraint of marriage UK, 1898. ► jump the green to start quickly just after, or before, a traffic light turns green CANADA, 1992. ► jump the gun to act prematurely. From athletics US, 1942. ► jump the shark of a television programme, to pass a peak of popularity; may also be applied to other entertainments, entertainers or fashions. Coined after a 1977 episode of long-running US television comedy Happy Days in which a central character in need of fresh impetus took to water-skis and attempted to leap over a shark US, 1998. ► jump through hoops to be seen to do everything that is required and more UK, 1917.

► jump to it to make an energetic start or respond energetically to the bidding to do so. Often used as an imperative UK, 1929.

► jump wires to steal a car and start the engine by creating a short circuit with the ignition system wires US, 1969. ► jump yellow to act in a cowardly manner US, 1974 jump-a-dick noun a cricket CAYMAN ISLANDS, 1985 jump back verb 1 to initiate a fight US, 1975. 2 to relent, to ease off US, 1986 jump ball noun in pool, a ball that leaves the surface of the table US, 1850 jump collar noun an arrest made for show, which will not produce a conviction US, 1953 jump CP noun a hastily created, very temporary command post US, 1991 jump down verb to attack physically US, 2001. ► jump down your throat to flare up in anger and snap in criticism of, and at, you UK, 1806 jumped-up adjective conceited, arrogant. Similar imagery to GET ABOVE YOURSELF UK, 1870 juniper noun 1 a person who threatens to or has jumped to his death, either from heights or in front of a train US, 1964. 2 a small amount of stimulating liquor CANADA, 1988 juniper church noun any fundamental Christian church BAHAMAS, 1982 juniper lead; juniper wire noun a wire designed for starting a car engine while bypassing the key and ignition system UK, 1977 jumpers noun 1 a hat. Rhyming slang from 'jumpers flat' (a type of horse race) AUSTRALIA, 1989. 2 sports shoes US, 1972 juniper steak noun venison or rabbit meat CANADA, 1987

jumpies noun sexual intercourse. An elaboration of JUMP UK, 1984 jump-in noun a timed beating used as an initiation into a youth gang US, 1987 jump in verb to initiate (someone) into a youth gang through a timed group beating US, 1990 jumping adjective used as an intensifier in mild oaths US, 1815 jumping jack noun a black person; a black snooker ball. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 jumping junky noun a paratrooper US, 1991 jump joint noun a brothel US, 1939 jump juice noun anabolic steroids US, 1997 jump off verb 1 to happen; to begin US, 1946. 2 to assault US, 1975 jump-out squad noun a unit of police officers in a cruising, unmarked police-vehicle, detailed to jump out of their car and apprehend drug-dealers US, 1980

jumpover noun a shop robbery IRELAND, 1996 jump-start verb to light a fresh cigarette with the ember of one being finished US, 1984 jump-steady noun 1 strong, illegally manufactured whisky US, 1923. 2 a drink of gin US, 1950 jump street noun the inception; the very beginning US, 1972 jump-up noun 1 theft from lorries. The criminal jumps up onto the back of the vehicle; usually used with 'the' UK, 1956. 2 a steep section of road, as when going up an escarpment AUSTRALIA, 1847 jump-up artist; jump-up merchant; jump-up man noun a criminal who steals from the back of goods-vehicles UK, 1951 jump upon; jump on verb to severely criticise or punish UK, 1868 jump wire noun a wire designed for starting a car engine while bypassing the key and ignition system US, 1970s juncto noun heroin. A variation of JUNK (heroin) UK, 2002

Juneau sneakers noun slip-on rubber boots US, 1982

Junebug noun used as a nickname for a male named after his father US, 1970 jungle noun 1 a dangerous, rough part of town, especially one where black people live US, 1926. 2 an outdoor area favoured by homosexuals for sexual encounters US, 1963. 3 the female pubic hair; hence the vagina US, 2007. 4 a tramp encampment US, 1908. 5 a prison's recreation yard US, 1983. 6 an extremely fast (130–160 beats per minute) form of popular dance music genre that developed in London in 1990–91 UK, 1990 jungle bunny noun 1 a black person. Highly offensive US, 1959. 2 an Asian person UK, 1984 jungle-bunny outfit noun Royal Air Force-issue camouflaged battledress. A casually and institutionally racist term used by Royal Air Force officer cadets UK, 1981 jungle noun a wild, unsophisticated, uncivilised person Fiji, 1995 jungle eater noun a Caterpillar D&E bulldozer modified for military land-clearing work US, 1991 jungle fever noun used of white people, a strong attraction towards black people. The prominent title of a Spike Lee film (1991) US, 1990 jungle fuck noun energetic, even athletic sex US, 1994 jungle-happy adjective deranged from prolonged combat in the jungle US, 1944

Jungle Jim noun a Roman Catholic. Rhyming slang for TIM (a Roman Catholic) UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

Jungle Jim verb to swim. Rhyming slang, in contemporaneous use with the television series Jungle Jim, 1955–56 UK, 1956 jungle job noun sex outdoors US, 1966 jungle juice noun 1 alcoholic drink AUSTRALIA, 1942. 2 any improvised alcoholic beverage US, 1947. 3 illicit alcoholic liquor brewed by soldiers in the tropics. Used by World War 2 military AUSTRALIA, 1942. 4 in prison, serious talk about serious situations US, 1990 jungle light noun in the pornography industry, a light used to illuminate the genitals of the performers US, 1995 jungle meat noun in homosexual usage, a black man US, 1981 jungle mouth noun very bad breath US, 1975 jungle pussy noun a black woman's vagina; hence black women objectified sexually US, 1974 jungle rot noun any skin rash suffered in tropical and jungle environments US, 1945 jungle rules noun a code of competition or combat in which all is fair US, 1986 jungle telegraph noun the informal and haphazard but effective communication by which rumour spreads UK, 1966 jungle up verb in oil drilling, to sleep outside US, 1954 junglist noun a purveyor or follower of jungle music, a music genre of the 1990s favoured at raves UK, 1996 junior noun in television and film-making, a 1000-watt or 2000-watt light US, 1990 junior jumper noun a juvenile male who commits a rape US, 1992 junior wolf noun a younger brother. Teen slang CANADA, 1946 junk noun 1 heroin; morphine; cocaine US, 1918. 2 any illegal drug US, 1967. 3 a drug addict AUSTRALIA, 1975. 4 the genitals US, 1997. 5 graffiti US, 1997. 6 in theatre usage, a monologue US, 1981 junk verb to throw away, to discard, to treat as rubbish UK, 1916 junk bonds noun in poker, a hand that appears attractive but is in fact a poor hand US, 1996 junked; junked up adjective under the influence of heroin US, 1930

junker noun 1 an old and broken-down vehicle US, 1948. 2 a heroin addict US, 1922. 3 in competitive surfing, an extremely low score US, 1991 junk food noun food with a high calorific and low nutritional content US, 1971 junk hawk noun a heroin addict whose life is completely controlled by the addiction US, 1972 junkhead noun a heroin addict US, 1963 junk hog noun an opium addict US, 1950 junkie noun 1 a drug addict, specifically one addicted to heroin. A user of JUNK (drugs, opiates, heroin) US, 1922. 2 by extension, a person fiercely devoted to an activity US, 1962 junkmobile noun a dilapidated car US, 1991 junk mooch noun a heroin addict who trades information for heroin US, 1972 junk-on-the-bunk noun a military inspection of a soldier's gear displayed on his bed US, 1978 junks noun expensive, brand name basketball trainers US, 1987 junk tank noun a jail cell reserved for drug addicts. A play on the earlier and more common DRUNK TANK US, 1966 junkyard dog noun 1 a ferocious, territorial person US, 1983. 2 a junkyard operator with connections to organised crime US, 2003 junt noun a large marijuana cigarette US, 1997 jurassic adjective very old US, 1997 jury-nobbling noun an act of corrupting, or otherwise tampering with, a jury or jury member. From 'noble' (to corrupt a jury) UK, 2000 jury tax noun the perceived penalty of an increased sentence for an accused criminal who refuses a plea bargain, takes his case to jury trial, and loses US, 1997 jussus!; jussis!; jissus!; jisses! used for expressing anger, frustration, shock, surprise, etc. From the Afrikaans pronunciation of 'Jesus', as an oath or exclamation SOUTH AFRICA, 1942 just as I feared; just as noun a beard. Rhyming slang UK, 1960 just for today adverb used in twelve-step recovery programmes such as Alcoholics Anonymous to describe an addict's commitment to refraining from his addiction US, 1998 justin noun a half-gallon container. Filled with beer, just in case you run out NEW ZEALAND, 1998

just-in-caser noun a getaway driver UK, 1996 just kidding! used for humorously acknowledging an error US, 2002 just now adverb any time soon, in a little while (at the appropriate time, eventually, or never, may be implied). Influenced by Afrikaans netnou. Universally used in South Africa SOUTH AFRICA, 1900 just off the banana boat adjective gullible, used of an innocent abroad. An allusion to the cultural innocence of a newly arrived immigrant UK, 1966 just one of those things a catchphrase philosophy to explain the inexplicable, the impossible or the inevitable. It was used by Cole Porter as the title for a popular song in 1935 US, 1947 just quietly adverb just between you and me AUSTRALIA, 1938 just the facts, m'am used for expressing a wish that the speaker confine their remarks to factual matters. A catchphrase from the 1960s US television series Dragnet US, 1985 jute noun a teasing NEW ZEALAND, 1998 juve noun a juvenile part or act. Theatrical UK, 1967 juvie; juvey noun a juvenile detention hall where young offenders are housed or juvenile court where they are tried US, 1965

Kk

K noun 1 one thousand dollars; one thousand pounds. Also spelt 'kay' US, 1965. 2 a kilometre UK, 1996. 3 a kilogram, especially of an illegal drug US, 1974. 4 the recreational drug ketamine. Ketamine hydrochloride is an anaesthetic used recreationally for its hallucinogenic properties US, 1996. 5 leaves of catha edulis, a stimulant also called 'qat', originating in the Horn of Africa and the Arabian peninsula, legally available in the UK and similar to amphetamine in effect when chewed. Also known as 'khat' and 'kat' UK, 1996. 6 in a deck of cards, a king US, 1991. 7 a knighthood. Used by civil servants; suggestive of a casual familiarity with the honour UK, 1961. 8 oral sex on a woman performed according to the strictures of the 'Kivin Method' US, 2001

K2 noun 1 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1970. 2 a hybrid marijuana. Named after the second highest place on earth UK, 2003

KA noun a known associate of a criminal US, 1986 kaalgat adjective in the nude, naked. From Afrikaans kaal (bare) and gat (hole; anus) SOUTH AFRICA, 1978

kabak noun marijuana UK, 2003 kabayo noun heroin. A phonetic approximation of Spanish caballo (horse); HORSE (heroin) US, 1977 ka-ching used as a representation of the sound of a sale entered on a cash register US, 1995

kack noun faeces NEW ZEALAND, 1984 ▷ see: CACK kacks noun 1 trousers. A variation of KECKS; sometimes spelt 'cacks'. Noted in teenage use and still current in 2003 UK, 1983.

2 underpants, knickers. Sometimes spelt 'kaks' IRELAND, 1991.
► relax the kacks take it easy IRELAND, 2003

kaff noun a marijuana cigarette UK, 2003 kaffall noun the face. Polari; probably an elaboration of ECAF US, 1993 kaffies noun trousers UK, 2002 kaffir noun 1 a black person, especially a black African. Offensive, contemptuous, often abusive; its use is actionable under South African law as a crimen injuria (a wilful injury to a person's dignity caused by, for instance, the use of obscene language or racial insults). Also applied in an adjectival sense SOUTH AFRICA, 1607. 2 any person who does not accept Islam. From the Hindi for 'infidel' TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

Kafflik noun a Catholic UK: SCOTLAND, 1998

kag; kaggage noun useless or unwanted equipment. Royal Marine slang; combining 'baggage' and KACK UK, 1989 kahuna noun 1 a great or important person or thing. From a Hawaiian term for 'priest, wise man'; in this sense often used with 'big' US, 1987. 2 in computing, an intelligent and wise practitioner US, 1991. 3 a type of marijuana UK, 2003 kai noun food; also, drink. 'Kai' is the term for 'food' in many Polynesian languages, but in Australia borrowed either from New Zealand English, where it is taken from Maori, or from various Melanesian pidgins AUSTRALIA, 1872 kaka hole noun 1 the anus TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2001. 2 by extension, a despicable person TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2001

kakalaylay noun dancing with clear sexual overtones TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1998

kaka pipe noun a sewage discharge pipe ANTARCTICA, 2003

kaks noun Khaki trousers US, 1968 kalakit noun marijuana UK, 2003

kale noun money US, 1902

Kalgoorlie cooler noun a hessian-walled cabinet for keeping foodstuffs cool by evaporation. After the West Australian mining town Kalgoorlie AUSTRALIA, 1962 kali; kali weed noun marijuana from Jamaica. Rastafarians consider the smoking of 'kali' to be a religious act. This spirituality is apparent in a number of Hindi words adopted into their lexicon. Conventionally, Kali is the Hindu goddess of time, mother and creator of all things, the personification of cosmic force JAMAICA, 1982

kali mist noun a variety of marijuana UK, 2002 kali water noun champagne. From KAYLIED; KALIED (drunk) UK, 1981 kalsominer noun a person who claims mining experience and skills he does not have. The word is derived from 'calcimine', a kind of whitewash CANADA, 1964 kamikaze noun a fall from a surfboard while standing near the nose of the board AUSTRALIA, 1963 kamp adjective a homosexual male. Rare spelling variant of CAMP, based on the incorrect folk etymology that it is a C19 acronym for 'known as male prostitute' AUSTRALIA, 1974 kanga noun 1 a kangaroo. By shortening AUSTRALIA, 1917. 2 money. From rhyming slang 'kanga(roo)' for SCREW AUSTRALIA, 1953 kangaroo noun 1 a Jewish person. Rhyming slang, sometimes corrupted to 'kanker' or 'canker' UK, 1943. 2 crack cocaine US, 1994. 3 a tractor adapted for apple-picking CANADA, 1989. 4 a prison warder. Prisoners' rhyming slang for SCREW (a prison warder), often reduced to 'kanga' UK, 1996 kangaroo verb to use a toilet, especially a public toilet, by squatting on the seat AUSTRALIA, 1942 kangaroo court noun a body that passes judgment without attention to due process US, 1853 kangarooer noun a hunter of kangaroos AUSTRALIA, 1836 kangaroo-hop verb (of a motor vehicle) to jerk about because the clutch is not released smoothly, an engine problem or the like AUSTRALIA, 1943 kangaroos noun ► have kangaroos loose in the top paddock to be slightly crazy AUSTRALIA, 1908

Kangaroo's Arse noun a notional brand name applied to poor quality or cheap Australian wine UK, 2002

Kangaroo Valley nickname Earls Court, London. A favourite haunt of Australian tourists AUSTRALIA, 1965

kangkalang; kangkatang noun chaos; arguing TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1993

Kansas City roll noun a single large-denomination note wrapped around small-denomination notes, giving the impression of a great deal of money US, 1964

Kansas grass noun marijuana originating in Kansas US, 2003

Kansas yummy noun an attractive woman who is not easily seduced. A term that need not, and usually does not, apply to a woman actually from Kansas US, 1985

Kantwork noun a Kenworth truck. Said with irony of an extremely reliable and respected truck US, 1976

kanya noun marijuana US, 1995 kappa slapper noun a girl member of a sub-cultural urban adolescent grouping that dresses in Kappa™ clothing. Certainly in Cheshire, possibly more widespread. Formed from the Kappa brand name and SLAPPER (a sexually promiscuous woman) UK, 2003 kaput; caput adjective used up, useless, destroyed. From the German US, 1919 karachi noun a mixture of heroin, phenobarbital and the recreational drug methaqualone, best known as Quaaludes™; heroin. Named after Karachi in Pakistan, the source of much heroin UK, 1998 kareem noun a car. While appearing to be an elaboration of 'car' this is rhyming slang, based on the name of legendary basketball player Kareem Abdul-Jabbar (b.1947) UK, 2002

Karen Carpenter Airlines nickname Quebecair, a charter airline with service from Canada to Europe which, allegedly, rarely had food on board. Karen Carpenter, of the music family, died at age 32 in 1983 of acute anorexia nervosa CANADA, 2002 karma noun fate, luck, destiny. A Buddhist concept adopted by hippies, vaguely understood, simplified and debased in all-purpose usage. 'Good karma' is recognition or portent of good luck, while 'bad karma' generally ascribes blame US, 1967 karzy noun a lavatory; also used in a figurative sense. From the Italian casa (a house) which is also its original use. Many slang words have alternate spellings but users of the karzy have more choices than most: 'khazi'; 'kharzi'; 'kharzie'; 'kazi'; 'karsi'; 'carsie'; 'carzie'; 'cawsey'; 'cawsy'. The variations spelt with a 'k'date from the mid-C20. Brendan Behan, Borstal Boy, 1958, uses 'cawsy' UK, 1961 kashittery noun (among Nova Scotians of German descent) a verbal fuss CANADA, 1999

Kashmir noun pungent and very powerful hashish originating in Kashmir, northern India UK, 1999

kate verb to act as a pimp US, 1976

kate; Kate noun 1 an attractive prostitute US, 1949. 2 used as a term of address among male homosexuals US, 1965. ► the kate the army. Shortened form of obsolete rhyming slang 'Kate Carney' (or Karney), for 'army'; Kate Carney was a popular music hall entertainer in the late C19 UK, 1964

Kate and Sidney noun steak and kidney, especially in a steak and kidney pudding or pie. Rhyming slang that appears to be a Spoonerism until you look again UK, 1998

Kate Bush noun marijuana. Named after British singer Kate Bush (b.1958), disguising KB (KIND BUD) and gently punning on BUSH UK, 1996

Kate Moss verb to masturbate. Rhyming slang for TOSS, formed from the name of the British model (b.1974) UK, 2003

Kathleen Mavourneen noun 1 a habitual criminal AUSTRALIA, 1917. 2 an indefinite jail sentence AUSTRALIA, 1910

Kathleen Mavourneen adjective lasting for an indefinite time. From the refrain of a popular song 'It may be for years, it may be forever' AUSTRALIA, 1903

katydid noun any Kenworth truck US, 1971

kaya noun marijuana; a marijuana cigarette JAMAICA, 1978

Kaybecker noun a French-speaking Canadian. An intentional 'Quebec' corruption US, 1975

kayfabe noun the protection of the inside secrets of professional wrestling US, 1993 kaylied; kaliad adjective drunk UK, 1978 kayrop noun pork. Back slang UK, 1992 kazh; kasj; cazh adjective pleasant in a casual sort of way. A word deeply rooted in the Valley Girl ethic US, 1981

KB noun 1 a rejection, a setback. From KNOCKBACK UK, 1996. 2 high quality marijuana US, 1997

KB verb to refuse; to reject. Abbreviated and adapted from KNOCK BACK (to reject) UK, 1998

k-bar noun a US Marine Corps survival knife US, 1979

K-boy noun in a deck of playing cards, a king US, 1943

KC; Kay Cee nickname Kansas City, Missouri US, 1895

K capsule noun a capsule containing a mixture of the recreational drug ketamine and MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. From K (ketamine) UK, 2002

keb noun a French-speaking Canadian CANADA, 2002

kebab noun the vagina UK, 2001

kecks; kegs noun trousers. A northern variation of obsolete 'kicks' (trousers), now well known. Also spelt as 'keks' and 'kex'. In Glasgow, the meaning is specialised to 'men's underpants' UK, 1900 ked noun in India, used generically for a gym shoe or a canvas shoe. From a branded range of shoes INDIA, 1979

kee noun a kilogram (especially of drugs). Alternative spelling for KEY UK, 1997 keebler noun a white person US, 1992 keech noun 1 excrement, shit. Also applied figuratively. Variants include 'keegh' and 'keek' UK: SCOTLAND, 1988. 2 a contemptible person. Extends from the previous sense UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

keech verb to defecate UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

keechy adjective soiled with excrement. From KEECH (excrement, faeces) UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

keek verb to peek. Dialect UK: SCOTLAND, 1911 keel over verb to collapse. From the conventional sense (to capsize) UK, 1897 keen adjective good, fashionable. Still heard, but by the late 1960s used almost exclusively with irony, especially when intensified with 'peachy' US, 1915 keener noun 1 a sycophant US, 2003. 2 a school pupil who is enthusiastic about school work. From conventional 'keen' (eager). Shortened to 'keeno' UK, 1984 keen on adjective enthusiastic about UK, 1889 keep verb to be in possession of drugs US, 1966. ► keep Bachelor's Hall (of a man) to live alone, even temporarily. In use in the US as well as Canada CANADA, 1999. ► keep dog to act as lookout UK, 1995. ► keep him honest in poker, to call a player who is suspected of bluffing US, 1963. ► keep it dark to say nothing about something; to keep a secret. Used mainly as an imperative UK, 1857. ► keep nix to keep lookout IRELAND, 1989. ► keep on keeping on to persevere in the face of all discouragement or misfortune US, 1977. ► keep something under your hat to maintain secrecy about something; especially used as an imperative for discretion UK, 1953. ► keep tabs on someone; keep a tab on someone to keep an account of; to note someone's movements or activity, to follow and record. The original use was of simple accounting: 'to keep a (financial) table on' US, 1889. ► keep the peek to serve as a lookout during a criminal act US, 1976. ► keep your cool to retain your self-possession US, 1975. ► keep your head down to stay out of trouble. Military origins UK, 1996. ► keep your mouth off something to stop talking about TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1971. ► keep your nose clean to stay out of trouble, to behave yourself US, 1887. ► keep yow to act as lookout while an illegal activity takes place AUSTRALIA, 1942 keeper noun 1 something or someone worth keeping US, 1984. 2 any weapon or instrument that can be used as a weapon US, 1992. 3 an arrest that results in criminal charges being filed US, 1987. 4 in common-law, a spouse TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1884. 5 the person running a two-up gambling game. Shortening of RING-KEEPER AUSTRALIA, 1941 keep in verb used in a range of expressions to suggest that someone has a satisfactory supply of income, for example 'enough cash to keep him in petrol' AUSTRALIA, 1936 keep it real! stay honest!, tell the difficult truth! US, 1997 keep-miss noun a kept mistress BARBADOS, 1965

keep on trucking! persevere!; continue US, 1972 keeps noun ► for keeps permanently US, 1861 keep the greasy side down and the shiny side up used as an admonition to drive safely. Popularised during the citizens' band radio craze of the later 1970s US, 1976 keep up your front to make your game! don't give up! US, 1968

keep your hair on! don't get upset! NEW ZEALAND, 1984

keep your shirt on! calm down!, relax!, compose yourself! UK, 1854 keg noun 1 a barrel of beer AUSTRALIA, 1895. 2 beer NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 3 25,000 capsules of an illegal drug such as amphetamine, or more generally, a drum containing a very large amount of this or similar drugs US, 1970. 4 in television and film-making, a 750-watt spotlight that resembles a beer keg US, 1990 kegger noun a party with a generous supply of beer. From KEG (a beer barrel) US, 1966 kegging adjective good, fun US, 1991 keg-legs noun generously oversized thighs or calves. Anecdotal evidence of 1960s UK usage, often as an unkind name shouted at girls with 'fat' thighs US, 1999 kegler noun a bowler. From the German US, 1962 keg-on-legs noun a prodigious drinker of beer AUSTRALIA, 1996 keg party noun a party at which a keg of beer is supplied for the guests AUSTRALIA, 1950 keister; keester; keyster noun 1 the buttocks. From the German US, 1931. 2 a travelling bag or satchel US, 1881. 3 a safe US, 1913. 4 a jail or prison US, 1949 keister bandit noun an aggressive male homosexual who takes the active role in anal sex US, 1950

keister stash noun a container of contraband hidden in the rectum US, 1967

keister stash verb to hide (contraband) in your rectum US, 1967

Keith Moon noun a crazy person. Rhyming slang for LOON formed from the name and nickname of rock musician 'Moon the Loon', 1946–78 UK, 1992 keki noun the vagina. From the Hindi TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

kelly noun 1 the stomach, the abdomen, the belly. Rhyming slang, abbreviated from DERBY KELLY UK, 1970. 2 a hat US, 1908 kelly bow noun money. Glasgow rhyming slang, perhaps from the name of a gang in the Govan area of Glasgow UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 kelper nickname a native of the Falkland Islands FALKLAND ISLANDS (MALVINAS), 1900

kelsey hair noun straight hair US, 1976

kelt; keltch noun a white person US, 1912

Kembla Grange; Kembla noun small change. Rhyming slang, after a racecourse just south of Sydney AUSTRALIA, 1955

kemp noun a customised car US, 1953

Ken Dodd noun a roll of banknotes. Rhyming slang for 'wad' formed from the name of the British comedian (b.1929) who fell foul of the taxman in 1989 UK, 1992

Ken Dodds; kenny's noun the testicles. Rhyming slang for Cods formed from the name of British comedian Ken Dodd (b.1929) UK, 1992 kenna; kenner noun a house. A variation of 'ken' (a house). English gypsy use UK, 1923 kennec noun a non-gypsy or traveller. English gypsy use UK, 2000 kennel noun 1 a house US, 1947. 2 a prison cell UK, 1996 kenner noun a school pupil who is enthusiastic about school work. From conventional 'keen' (eager). Shortened to 'keeno' UK, 1984

Kennie noun any Kenworth truck US, 1971

Kennington Lane noun pain, a pain. Rhyming slang, formed from a street name in South London UK, 1961

Kenny Whopper noun in trucking, a Kenworth truck US, 1976

Kenosha Cadillac noun any car manufactured by American Motors. American Motors had its main factory in Kenosha, Wisconsin US, 1976

Kentish Town noun a halfpenny or penny. Rhyming slang for 'brown', from the copper colour of the coin UK, 1961

Kentucky blue noun marijuana grown in Kentucky, 'the Bluegrass State'. A play on GRASS (marijuana) US, 1969

Kentucky chrome noun trim on a truck painted with aluminium US, 1971

Kentucky right turn noun a move to the left before making a righthand turn while driving US, 1999

Kentucky waterfall noun a hairstyle in which the hair is worn short at the front and long at the back. Best known as a MULLET US, 2001

Kentucky windage noun the adjustment of the aim of a rifle based on intuition US, 1945

Kepler Wessels noun the testicles AUSTRALIA, 1984

keptie noun a kept woman supported by a rich benefactor US, 1950

keptive noun a youthful, sexually inexperienced male who is supported by an older homosexual US, 1987 kept man noun a procurer of prostitutes; a man who makes his living off the earnings of prostitutes US, 1987 kerb crawling noun soliciting for prostitution from a vehicle AUSTRALIA, 1989

kerb-crawling adjective working as a prostitute from a vehicle AUSTRALIA, 1972

kerchief code noun a designation of a homosexual man's sexual preferences, signalled by the colour of the handkerchief and the pocket in which it is worn. For example, a black handkerchief worn on the left signifies that the wearer is into 'Heavy S&M, Top', while on the right it means 'Heavy S&M, Bottom' US, 1978 kerching! used in response to a profitable triumph. Echoic of a cash till. Popularised by BBC television children's programme Kerching!, the story of a 14-year-old entrepreneur UK, 2002 kerdoing!; kerdoink!; gerdoing! used as a representation of a moment of violent impact; crash!; wallop! Echoic. Originally recorded in Royal Air Force use UK, 1945 kerist noun used for 'Christ' AUSTRALIA, 1971

Kermit the Frog noun a lavatory. Rhyming slang for BOG formed from the name of a television puppet character in The Muppet Show, from 1976 UK, 1992 kernel noun a swollen groin gland BARBADOS, 1965

kero noun kerosene AUSTRALIA, 1930

kerosene cowboy noun an air force jet pilot NEW ZEALAND, 1996

kerplop noun used for imitating the sound of something being dropped US, 1969 kerry-fisted adjective said of a left-handed person CANADA, 1992

Kerry Packer adjective tired, exhausted. Rhyming slang for KNACKERED formed on the name of Australian media tycoon Kerry Packer (b. 1937) UK, 2003

Kerry Packers; kerry's noun the testicles. Rhyming slang for KNACKERS, formed on the name of Australian media tycoon Kerry Packer (b. 1937) UK, 1992

ket noun 1 the recreational drug ketamine AUSTRALIA, 1996. 2 a kettle NEW ZEALAND, 1998

ketaine adjective used to describe someone or something in bad taste. This term, from Quebec French, is used by both anglophones and francophones CANADA, 1997

Ketama; Ketama crumble noun varieties of hashish from the Ketama region of Morocco UK, 2003 kettle noun 1 a fob watch; a wristwatch. Possibly rhyming slang, 'kettle on the hob' for 'fob'; a red kettle is a gold watch, a white or tin kettle is silver UK, 1889. 2 a steam locomotive. From the image of steam rising US, 1934. 3 a boiler of a steam engine US, 1828. 4 in electric line work, an overhead transformer US, 1980

kettled adjective drug-intoxicated UK, 1992 kettle on the hob; kettle noun Bob (the diminutive form of Robert). Rhyming slang, originally for 'bob' (a shilling); recorded in use between 1946–52 UK, 1961

Kevin; Kev noun a working-class youth considered to be a vulgar or threatening presence. This derogatory usage by Kevin's upper- and middle-class contemporaries derives from the commonness of the name. Originally restricted to Cornwall and London UK, 1998

Kevin Costner; kevin noun a male who pretends to date his female friend(s). Teen slang, after the 1992 film The Bodyguard which starred US actor Kevin Costner (b.1955) SOUTH AFRICA, 2003

kewl adjective good, sophisticated, self-possessed. Variation of COOL. US, 1998 key noun 1 a kilogram. From the first syllable of 'kilogram'; the one unit of the metric system that at least some Americans have grasped US, 1966. 2 the declaration, under the Habitual Criminals Act, that one is a habitual criminal; an indefinite sentence under this act. The joke being that one is given the key to let oneself in and out AUSTRALIA, 1944. 3 a prison officer. Often 'keys', even in the singular US, 1934 key adjective excellent, great US, 1980 keyed adjective 1 excited US, 1968. 2 drug-intoxicated. From an earlier sense as 'drunk' US, 1972 key happy adjective used of a prison officer who is keen to keep inmates locked in their cells UK, 1996 keyhole verb (used of a bullet) to enter a target sideways US, 1957 keyholing noun eavesdropping. From the notion of spying at a keyhole UK, 2001 key man noun a person declared a habitual criminal AUSTRALIA, 1944 key picker noun a thief who operates in hotels, stealing keys left at the front desk for safekeeping by guests before they are retrieved by a hotel clerk US, 1954 keystone noun in circus and carnival usage, a local prosecutor US, 1981 keys to St E's noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust. A phencyclidine user in Washington might well find himself at St Elizabeth's hospital for treatment US, 1984 key up verb 1 to unlock a door US, 1991. 2 to become drug-intoxicated US, 1964

K-factor noun (when on a skiing holiday) the presence and number of Germans. Upper-class society slang; euphemistic for KRAUT (a German) UK, 1982

KFC noun a male homosexual who is under the age of consent. An elaboration of CHICKEN, from the branding of Kentucky Fried Chicken™ fast-food outlets; recorded in use in contemporary gay society UK, 2003

KGB noun 1 a potent variety of marijuana. An abbreviation of KILLER GREEN BUD, playing on the familiar initialism of Komitet Gosudarstvennoi Bezopasnosti, the Soviet Union's Committee of State Security, 1954–91 US, 1997. 2 the police UK, 1982. 3 the security office of a prison US, 1991

K grave noun a state of extreme intoxication with the recreational drug ketamine US, 2002 khaki noun a uniformed police officer US, 1986 khaki down verb to dress like other members of a youth gang, including khaki trousers US, 1985 khaki wacky adjective attracted to men in military uniform US, 1944 khat noun amphetamine; methcathinone; MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. From the common name for the African plant that contains the stimulant cathinone as its main active ingredient US, 2003 khayf noun a marijuana cigarette UK, 2003 khazi noun a toilet UK, 1983 khazi verb to be very nervous, scared or afraid. From KHAZI (a toilet) hence 'to shit yourself' – based on the bowel-churning properties of fear UK, 2001

Khe Sanh shuffle noun a method of walking honed by combat, always on the lookout for enemy fire. Referring to the US air base in Vietnam during the war US, 1989 khola noun a potent variety of marijuana NETHERLANDS, 1990s

K-hole noun a state of intense confusion induced by use of the recreational drug ketamine US, 1993

Khyber-diver noun a homosexual male AUSTRALIA, 1992

Khyber Pass; Khyber noun the buttocks, the posterior, the anus. Rhyming slang for ARSE based on the geographical feature that links Afghanistan and Pakistan UK, 1943 ki noun 1 a kilogram US, 1966. 2 in prison, cocoa or chocolate UK, 1950 kibbles and bits noun small pieces of crack cocaine. A reference to a popular dog food product, suggesting that the pieces of crack cocaine bear some resemblance to the product US, 1993 kibitz verb to comment while others play a game. From Yiddish (ultimately German) kiebitzen (to look on at cards) US, 1927 kibitzer noun a watcher rather than a participant, especially one who offers unsolicited advice. From Yiddish kibitzer. The Kibitzer, a play by Jo Swerling (1929), made both the title and Edward G. Robinson, its star, famous in the US US, 1922 kibosh; kybosh noun 1 an end, a finish. Almost always heard in the context of 'put the kibosh on' or 'to' UK, 1836. 2 (of pre-decimalisation currency) one shilling and sixpence UK, 1845 kibosh; kybosh verb to put an end to UK, 1884 kick noun 1 pleasure, fun US, 1928. 2 a fad, a temporary preference or interest US, 1946. 3 the sudden onset of the effects of a drug US, 1912. 4 a trouser pocket US, 1846. 5 (of pre-decimalisation currency) sixpence, 6d. Rhyming slang that would be more convincing if the 'kick' was plural; usually as 'and a kick' in denominations such as 'two and a kick' (two shillings and sixpence) UK, 1700. 6 money US, 1947. 7 a bribe US, 1953. 8 anything that is shared with another US, 1995. 9 the start of a horse race AUSTRALIA, 1988. ► hit the kick to pay AUSTRALIA, 1972 kick verb 1 to stop using; to break an addiction US, 1927. 2 to defer the gratification of a drug injection by slowly injecting the drug while drawing blood from the vein to mix with the drug in the syringe US, 1952. 3 to complain US, 1857. 4 to release from police custody US, 1994. 5 (of a jockey) to urge a horse on in a race AUSTRALIA, 1982. 6 (of a horse) to speed up in a race AUSTRALIA, 1980. 7 in surfing, to force the nose of the surfboard up out of the water US, 1973. 8 in trucking, to shift gears US, 1971. 9 in gambling, to raise a bet US, 1963. ► kick ass to be especially energetic and exciting; to succeed by your vigorous efforts. 'Kick arse' and 'Kick butt' are common variations US, 1979. 2 to use force, to beat up US, 1962. ► kick ass and take names to overwhelm someone or something in a methodical and determined fashion US, 1962. ► kick brass to complain strongly TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1986. ► kick for the other team to be homosexual AUSTRALIA, 1987. ► kick it; kick to idle, to relax US, 1983. ► kick mud to work as a prostitute US, 1963. ► kick out the jams to remove all obstacles, to fight for freedom US, 1968. ► kick sawdust in circus and carnival usage, to follow or join a show US, 1981. ► kick someone's teeth so far down their throat to beat someone up AUSTRALIA, 1972. ► kick something into the long grass to postpone something UK, 2003. ► kick something into touch to finish an activity, to stop doing something or stop something happening. A sporting allusion UK, 2000. ► kick ten bells out of; kick ten bells of shit out of to physically beat someone very severely. A variation of KNOCK SEVEN BELLS OUT OF UK, 1996. ► kick the bucket to die UK, 1785. ► kick the gong to fool around US, 1945. ► kick the tin to contribute money AUSTRALIA, 1965. ► kick to the curb to break off a relationship US, 1991. ► kick up bobsy-die to make a fuss NEW ZEALAND, 1960. ► kick upstairs to promote to a higher-sounding but less-important position UK, 1887. ► kick with the left foot to be a Catholic UK, 1984. ► kick your own arse to berate yourself. A Glasgow variation of the more familiar 'kick yourself' UK: SCOTLAND, 1988. ► kick yourself to blame yourself, especially to berate yourself UK, 2003 kick adjective 1 excellent US, 1972. 2 out of style US, 1999 kick about verb to be around AUSTRALIA, 1933 kick along verb to serve out a prison sentence without letting it get you down AUSTRALIA, 1950 kick around verb 1 to discuss something US, 1939. 2 to idle; to pass time doing nothing US, 1993 kick-ass adjective 1 fantastic, excellent, thrilling US, 1980. 2 vigorous, powerful, aggressive, assertive US, 1970

kickback noun 1 a commission on a more or less shady deal US, 1930. 2 the resumption of drug use after a prolonged period of non-use US, 1971 kick back verb to relax US, 1972 kickdown noun 1 an object or commodity that has been donated US, 1997. 2 the automatic shift into the next lower gear that occurs with an automatic transmission when applying full throttle US, 1993 kick down verb to give, to provide US, 1992 kickdown gear noun in a car, a gear designed for sudden bursts of acceleration US, 1965 kicker noun 1 an unforeseen complication US, 1941. 2 in poker, an unmatched card held in the hand while drawing US, 1963. 3 in the illegal production of alcohol, any nitrate added to the mash US, 1974. 4 a small, yeast-rich amount of an alcoholic beverage used to start the fermentation process in a homemade alcohol-making venture US, 1992. 5 in television and film-making, a small light used to outline objects in the foreground US, 1990. 6 in dominoes, the 6–1 piece or any piece with a 5 US, 1959. 7 a member of a civilian air crew dropping supplies by parachute to troops in remote areas. The handlers literally kicked the supply crates with parachutes out of the plane doors US, 1990. 8 a member of the Mountjoy prison riot squad IRELAND, 1996. 9 on the railways, a jammed air brake valve US, 1975. 10 a linear amplifier for a citizens' band radio US, 1976 kick in verb to contribute, to share an expense US, 1906 kicking; kickin' adjective excellent, wonderful, etc US, 1988 kick in the ass; kick in the pants noun in horse racing, a horse heavily favoured to win a race US, 1957 kick in the balls; kick in the arse; kick in the ass; kick in the pants; kick in the head noun a grave disappointment; a serious setback UK, 1989 kick-off noun 1 a start; a beginning; the time something begins. A figurative use of a sporting actuality UK, 1875. 2 a rough-house fight UK, 2001 kick off verb 1 to begin; to get going AUSTRALIA, 1924. 2 to sleep off the effects of an illegal drug US, 1957. 3 to die US, 1908. 4 to make a fuss, to raise an objection UK, 2000 kick on verb 1 to commence AUSTRALIA, 1949. 2 to keep on; to persevere, to continue, especially against adversity AUSTRALIA, 1949 kick out verb 1 while surfing, to step on the rear of the surfboard while raising the lead foot and then to pivot the board to end a ride US, 1962. 2 to leave a gang UK, 1996 kickout hole noun in pinball, a hole in the playfield that registers a score and then ejects the ball back into play US, 1977 kick pad noun a drug rehabilitation facility US, 1973 kick pots verb to work mess hall duty US, 1991 kick rocks! go away! US, 2001 kicks noun shoes US, 1897 kicks race noun a drag race with no prize, entered for the fun of competing and winning US, 2003 kick-start verb to give a good start to something; to get something working well AUSTRALIA, 1992 kick stick noun a marijuana cigarette. A combination of KICK (an intoxicating effect) and STICK (a cigarette) US, 1967 kick up verb 1 to complain vigorously, to respond unfavourably and therefore cause problems or trouble. Usually in phrases such as 'kick up a row', 'kick up a fuss', 'kick up trouble', etc UK, 1789. 2 (of a jockey) to urge a horse on to a burst of speed AUSTRALIA, 1960

kicky adjective amusing, entertaining US, 1942 kid noun 1 a child UK, 1618. 2 used as a form of address, usually affectionate UK, 1959. 3 the passive member of a male homosexual relationship, especially in prison US, 1893. 4 a (young) follower of a stated music style. A UK rock band called the Heavy Metal Kids was formed in 1973 UK, 2003. ► our kid the eldest boy in the family. A colloquial term from the north of England UK, 1984 kid verb to fool, to pretend UK, 1811

Kid Creole noun unemployment benefit; the local offices from which unemployment benefit is managed. Rhyming slang for THE DOLE UK, 2000 kidder noun 1 a teaser, a mocker UK, 1888. 2 used as an affectionate form of address to a friend or child. An elaboration of KID UK, 1982 kiddie noun the boss. A variation of THE MAN; 'kiddy' (late C18) is a mainly obsolete term for 'man', surviving here and as 'Kid' when applied to a boxer UK, 2000 kiddie can; kiddie car noun a school bus US, 1976 kiddie fiddler noun a paedophile UK, 2003 kiddie stroll noun a street in Vancouver where under-age prostitutes work CANADA, 2002 kiddiwink; kiddywink; kiddiewinkie noun a child. An elaboration of KID; also recorded as 'kiddywinkle', 'kiddywinky' and 'kiddlywink' UK, 1957 kiddles noun a young woman US, 1947 kiddo noun 1 used as a term of address, often affectionately US, 1905. 2 a youngster, a teenager. An elaboration of KID US, 1942 kiddy; kiddie noun a small child UK, 1858 kiddyana noun antique toys. The conventional suffix '-ana' combined with KIDDY (a child) UK, 2003 kiddy cop noun a police officer assigned to juvenile crime US, 1975 kiddy kingdom noun bliss BARBADOS, 1965

kiddy porn noun child pornography US, 1977 kid fruit noun a male homosexual who achieves gratification from performing oral sex on young men or boys US, 1961 kid gloves noun ► with kid gloves delicately, gently, circumspectly, in such a manner so as to avoid upset US, 1888 kid in the khaki shirt noun in horse racing, an imaginary jockey who wins races on horses not favoured to win AUSTRALIA, 1989 kidney noun the brain; by extension, intelligence TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 kidney-buster noun a truck, especially a military truck, that rides roughly US, 1938 kidney punch; kidney noun a lunch. Rhyming slang UK, 1960 kidney-wiper; kidney-scraper noun the penis. A ribald celebration of a penis of heroic dimensions US, 1888 kidology; kiddology noun a notional science of teasing or deceiving; a notional science of dealing with children UK, 1964 kids noun a group of homosexual men friends US, 1972

Kids noun ► The Kids All My Children, a popular television daytime drama US, 1987 kid show noun a circus or carnival side show US, 1980 kid-simple noun a male homosexual who is obsessively attracted to young men and boys US, 1962 kidstake noun a fake. Rhyming slang, from KIDSTAKES (a pretence) UK, 1992

kidstake noun childish behaviour, especially childish pretence or kidding around; joking. From 'kid' (to trick) and 'stakes' (games, competitive undertaking). This unusual sense for the word 'stakes' is also found in the obsolete Australian World War 1 slang term 'bluff-stakes' (a deceitful attempt to coerce someone by bluffing) AUSTRALIA, 1912 kid-stuff; kid's stuff; kids' stuff noun any activity characteristic of, or suitable for, children; hence, something easy to do US, 1929 kielbasa noun the penis. From kielbasa (a red-skinned Polish sausage) US, 1978 kife verb in circus and carnival usage, to swindle US, 1931 kiff noun a marijuana cigarette UK, 2003 kiff-kiff noun a modest, suppressed laugh TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 kike noun a Jewish person. Not much room for anything but hate with this word. It is believed that the term originated at the Ellis Island immigration facility in New York harbour, where Jewish immigrants who could not write were instructed to make a circle, or kikel in Yiddish US, 1904

kike; kike it verb to walk US, 1979 kike killer noun a club or bludgeon US, 1982 kiki noun a homosexual male. A derisive, short-lived insider term; sometimes spelt 'kai-kai' US, 1935 kiki adjective 1 in a homosexual relationship, comfortable with playing both roles in sex US, 1941. 2 bisexual US, 1970

Kilburn priory; Kilburn noun a diary, especially a police diary. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 kill noun 1 in roller derby, an extended attack on the other team's jammer (a skater who is eligible to score) US, 1999. 2 semen US, 1998. ► the kill the moment when a sale is confirmed. A hunting image with the salesperson as the hunter and the customer as prey; a variation of the sense 'to win' UK, 1999 kill verb 1 to cause someone to laugh uproariously UK, 1856. 2 to cause pain to someone UK, 1800. 3 to excite, to please, to thrill US, 1844. 4 to excel US, 1900. 5 to cover with graffiti US, 1997. 6 in the sport of clayshooting, to hit the target accurately UK, 1983. 7 in handball, racquetball and squash, to hit the ball so low on the front wall that it cannot be returned US, 1970. 8 in pool, to strike the cue ball such that it stops immediately upon hitting the object ball US, 1984. 9 in volleyball, to hit the ball downward with great force from the top of a jump US, 1972. 10 in bar dice games, to declare that a formerly wild point is no longer wild US, 1976. 11 to finish consuming something US, 1995. ► kill big six to play dominoes US, 1990. ► kill brain cells to get drunk US, 1983. ► kill the change keep the change UK, 2000. ► kill the clock in a game governed by time, to delay the game near the end when winning US, 1970. ► kill the sin to relieve all the blame of something BAHAMAS, 1982. ► would kill a brown dog to be lethal; (of food) dreadful, disgusting, inedible AUSTRALIA, 1966 kill adjective excellent US, 1985

Killarney carrot noun a large marijuana cigarette. A regional variation of the CAMBERWELL CARROT IRELAND, 2000 kill button noun the switch button under a motorcycle hand grip that turns the engine off US, 1962

Kill City noun a 'branded' variety of heroin UK, 2002 killed end noun in bowls, an end (a stage of play) that has to be replayed when the jack is driven out of bounds UK, 1900 kill 'em and count 'em used as a creed by US troops in Vietnam, referring to the importance attached to body counts of enemy dead US, 1984 killer noun 1 an extraordinary example of something UK, 1835. 2 a marijuana cigarette US, 1943. 3 paramethoxyamphetamine, PMA UK, 2004. 4 an animal ready to be killed for meat AUSTRALIA, 1897. 5 hair pomade US, 1945

Killer nickname Jerry Lee Lewis, an early US rocker (b.1935) US, 1982 killer adjective 1 very good US, 1951. 2 extremely difficult US, 1982 killer B's nickname on a sports team, a group of skilled, spirited second stringers US, 1991 killer-diller noun a remarkably attractive or successful thing; a wildly good time or thrill US, 1938 killer green bud noun a potent strain of marijuana US, 1980s killer Kane noun used as a generic name for a scouting and assassination specialist in the US armed forces US, 1991 killer rim noun a gold-plated or chrome-plated spoked car wheel US, 1994 killer stick noun a marijuana cigarette US, 1982 killer weed noun 1 marijuana US, 1967. 2 phencyclidine mixed with marijuana or another substance in a cigarette US, 1978 killer whiffer! used for acknowledging an especially bad-smelling fart. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982 kill fee noun a fee paid when a creative project is cancelled US, 1982 kill-fire noun an aggregation of Claymore land mines US, 1986 kill game! used as warning to end a conversation US, 2000 killick noun a leading hand AUSTRALIA, 1960 killing noun a great financial success US, 1988 killing adjective extremely funny. From the notion encompassed in the phrase 'to die laughing' UK, 1874 killing box noun a strategic situation in which it is relatively easy to kill a group of enemy soldiers US, 1988 kill rag noun a cloth used by a male to clean up after masturbating US, 1998 kills noun in the language surrounding the Grateful Dead, the very best concert tapes. Always with 'the' US, 1994 kill switch noun in a racing car, a switch that deactivates the car's electric system, used in an emergency US, 1993 kill team; killer team noun a small unit of highly trained scouts sent on a mission to kill enemy US, 1984 kill-time joint noun in circus and carnival usage, a cocktail lounge or bar US, 1981 kilo man noun a drug dealer who deals at the wholesale level, buying and selling kilograms US, 1992 kilos noun unwanted body weight AUSTRALIA, 1989

kilter noun marijuana; a marijuana cigarette US, 1969 kiltie kiltie cauld bum a childish chant directed at any male wearing a kilt. An elaboration of 'kilt', repeated, then 'cold' (spelt phonetically in a Glasgow accent) and BUM (the buttocks) UK: SCOTLAND, 1996

Kimberley adjective used derogatorily or jocularly to denigrate by association something as better than it is. From Kimberley, Western Australia; in such uses as 'Kimberley mutton' (goat meat) and 'Kimberley oyster' (a meat fritter) AUSTRALIA, 1945 kimchi noun trouble. 'Kimchi' is used as a euphemism for SHIT, with the comparison between excrement and the Korean dish made with salted and fermented cabbage not particularly favourable to the dish US, 1979

'kin; 'king adjective used as an intensifier. A shortening of FUCKING UK, 2000

'kin' arse'oles used as an exclamation of surprise, anger, amazement. Lazily or deliberately abbreviated from FUCKING ARSEHOLES! UK, 1984 kind noun marijuana, especially high quality marijuana. As is the case with many drug slang terms, 'kind' is a bit amorphous, at times referring to a marijuana cigarette, at times to the smoker, at times to the drug itself US, 1997 kinda adjective approximately, sort of. A ubiquitously contracted 'kind of' US, 1963 kinda sorta adjective almost US, 1995 kind bud noun potent marijuana. A combination of KIND (marijuana) and BUD (marijuana) that suggests twice the normal potency UK, 1997 kinder noun 1 high quality marijuana US, 2002. 2 (especially in New South Wales) kindergarten; a kindergarten AUSTRALIA, 1955. 3 a child in kindergarten AUSTRALIA, 1985 kindergarten noun a reformatory for juvenile offenders US, 1949 kinderwhore noun a young woman whose dress suggests both youthful innocence and sexual abandon US, 1994 kindest Cut noun a vasectomy CANADA, 2002

Kindly Call Me God noun a KCMG (Knight Commander of the Order of St Michael and St George). A pun elaborated on the initials; used by civil servants demonstrating a jocular familiarity with the honour UK, 1961 kindy; kindie noun kindergarten; a kindergarten AUSTRALIA, 1969 kineahora! God forbid! From the German (not one) and Hebrew (evil eye) US, 1968 kinell!; 'kin' 'ell!; kinnell! used as a register of shock or amazement. A contraction of FUCKING HELLO! UK, 1982 king noun 1 an aggressive, 'mannish' lesbian US, 1964. 2 a male leader of a group of Australian Aborigines AUSTRALIA, 1830. 3 a skilled person (at a specified thing); an adept AUSTRALIA, 1919. 4 in Keno, any single number that a player circles to bet on US, 1972. 5 an outstanding piece of graffiti art US, 1997. 6 cocaine UK, 2002

king adjective great; excellent AUSTRALIA, 1964 king and queen; king noun a bean, a baked bean. Rhyming slang, usually in the plural UK, 1992 king brown noun (especially in Western Australia) a 750 ml bottle of beer. Named after a large venomous Australian snake; such beer bottles are typically of brown glass AUSTRALIA, 2003 king bud noun marijuana UK, 2003 king crab noun in hold 'em poker, a king and a three as the first two cards dealt to a particular player. In the game of craps, a three is sometimes referred to as a 'crab' US, 1981

King Dick noun a brick. Rhyming slang UK, 1961

King Dickie; King Dicky noun a bricklayer. Rhyming slang for 'brickie' UK, 1961 kingdom-come noun 1 the after-life; a notional point in the far-distant future UK, 1785. 2 the buttocks. Rhyming slang for BUM UK, 1979

King Farouk noun a book. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the Egyptian king, 1920–65 UK, 1998 kingfish noun a powerful or political figure. Predates but influenced by the adoption as a nickname for the governor of Louisiana, Huey P. Long (1893–1935) US, 1926 king george noun a gambler who tips generously US, 1979

King Hassan noun a variety of hashish from Morocco. Named to honour the Moroccan King who gave official permission for the cultivation of a marijuana crop UK, 2003 king-hit noun a powerful punch; a punch or blow that drops a person; the winning blow in a fight; now, a cowardly and unfair punch given to someone unawares or from behind AUSTRALIA, 1917 king-hit verb to deliver a powerful punch to someone, especially from behind or when they are unawares AUSTRALIA, 1949 king-hit merchant noun a person who king-hits others; a cowardly thug AUSTRALIA, 1944

kingie noun a kingfish AUSTRALIA, 1936

king james version noun the most authoritative and best in its class SINGAPORE, 2002

King Kong noun 1 cheap and potent alcohol, usually illegally manufactured US, 1940. 2 the penis. A pet name from the legendary (fictional) beast UK, 2001. 3 in motor racing, a Dodge or Plymouth with a cylinder head with hemispherical combustion chambers, built for stock car racing US, 1965. 4 a powerful drug addiction US, 1970

King Kong pill noun any barbiturate or central nervous system depressant US, 1977

King Lear noun the ear. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a Shakespeare character UK, 1932. ► on the King Lear on the scrounge. Rhyming slang KING LEAR, for 'the ear', extended into a variation of ON THE EARHOLE UK, 1992

King Lear adjective homosexual. Rhyming slang for QUEER. UK, 1960

King Muhammed noun a variety of hashish from Morocco UK, 2003 king of the hill noun an important man in a limited circumstance. From the adult cartoon series King of the Hill, 1997 US, 1977

king of the ring noun a leading bookmaker AUSTRALIA, 1966 king of the trough noun in the Maritime Provinces, used as a nonsense reply to 'how are you?' CANADA, 1998

kingpin noun an indispensable leader US, 1867 king's elevator noun monumental mistreatment. A back-formation from 'the royal shaft' US, 1969 king's habit noun cocaine. Surely not a reference to the British royal family. UK, 1986 king's head noun a shed. Rhyming slang, formed ironically from the name of a pub UK, 1992 kingshit nigger noun a black person who is in charge of an enterprise or event US, 1978 king snipe noun a foreman of a railway track crew US, 1916

King Spliff nickname Bob Marley (Robert Nesta Marley, 1947–81), rastafarian, reggae singer UK, 1999 king's ransom noun an enormous amount of money; an exorbitant price AUSTRALIA, 1936

King Tut noun a book that translates dreams into 'lucky' lottery numbers BAHAMAS, 1982

'kin hell! used for registering anger, amazement, despair, surprise, etc UK, 1993

kink noun 1 a criminal US, 1962. 2 a thief US, 1950. 3 non-conventional sexuality, especially when fetishistic or sado-masochistic UK, 1959. 4 in a deck of playing cards, a king US, 1951 kinker noun a circus performer, especially an acrobat or contortionist. Not praise US, 1909 kink pie noun a pizza with sausage and mushroom toppings. From the initials for the toppings: S & M. Limited usage, but clever US, 1996 kinky adjective 1 used for describing any sexual activity that deviates from the speaker's sense of sexually 'normal'; also of any article, enhancement or manner of dress that may be used in such activity US, 1942. 2 eccentric, bizarre US, 1847. 3 illegal; dishonest. In prison, used without a sense of perversion US, 1903. 4 stolen US, 1950 kinky blaggard noun a persuasive talker who gets the desired result. There seems to be an element of envy in 'a blagger who gets away with it'. Probably a variation on 'lucky bastard' UK, 2001 kinnikinnik noun tobacco of mixed leaves and bark and some real tobacco CANADA, 1987 kip noun 1 sleep; a period of sleep. Following the sense as 'bed' UK, 1893. 2 a bed US, 1859. 3 an undesirable place; a place that is dirty or disordered IRELAND, 1991. 4 a small, narrow bat of wood used to toss the coins in a game of two-up. Origin unknown. May be connected to the dialect word kep (to throw up into the air, to throw up a ball and catch it) AUSTRALIA, 1887. ► on the kip asleep US, 1950

kip verb to sleep UK, 1889

kip bag noun a bedroll or sleeping bag US, 1949 kip dough noun money to be spent on lodging US, 1950 kip down verb to go to bed, to prepare for bed, to sleep. Mainly services usage, a variation of kip UK, 1959

kipe; kype verb to steal US, 1934 kipper noun 1 someone with red hair IRELAND, 2001. 2 the vagina UK, 1984. 3 a Royal Navy sailor; hence, a English person. Derogatory AUSTRALIA, 1943. 4 a doss-house; a bed; anywhere to sleep. Used by down-and-outs UK, 1984. ► do someone up like a kipper to ruin a person's chances. A variation of KIPPER UK, 1984

kipper verb to ruin a person's chances UK, 1961 kipper and bloater noun 1 a motor vehicle, a motor. Rhyming slang UK, 1979. 2 a photograph. Rhyming slang on a London pronunciation of 'photo'. Can be shortened to 'kipper' UK, 1992 kipper and plaice; kipper noun a face, especially one that is not particularly attractive. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 kipper feast noun oral sex performed on a woman. From the tired comparison between the smell of fish and the smell of the vagina UK, 1983 kipper's knickers noun the acme of perfection, the best. Always used 'with' the; this is a Glasgow variation on such constructions as BEE'S KNEES and CAT'S PAJAMAS UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

kipps noun a brakevan (caboose) US, 1977

kippy adjective (of a woman) attractive, well-dressed CANADA, 1988 kipsy noun a house or dwelling. From 'kip' (a doss house) and the diminutive suffix '-sy' AUSTRALIA, 1905 kishkes noun the intestines. Yiddish, from the Russian US, 1902 kismet noun fate, luck, predestination. From Turkish, Farsi and/or Arabic US, 1849 kiss noun 1 in games such as pool and marbles, a shot that barely touches another US, 1973. 2 a student who carries favour with the teacher. An amelioration of KISS ASS US, 1963 kiss verb 1 in games such as pool and marbles, to cause one object to barely touch another US, 1978. 2 in pool, to try to make a shot by bouncing the object ball off another ball US, 1990. 3 to perform oral sex US, 1941. ► kiss and tell to reveal personal and confidential information, usually of a sexual nature US, 1970. ► kiss arse; kiss ass to behave subversively. A figurative use of perhaps the most demeaning act that one human can demand another to perform. Mediaeval engravings show devil-worshippers pledging their utter subservience to Satan by lifting his goat-tail and kissing his backside; at that time both 'kiss' and 'arse' were conventionally available to describe such an activity UK, 1968. ► kiss butt to behave subversively. A variation of KISS ARSE US, 2001. ► kiss goodbye to concede defeat; to accept an involuntary loss US, 1906. ► kiss Mary to smoke marijuana US, 1968. ► kiss the couch to die AUSTRALIA, 1989. ► kiss the eighth pole in horse racing, to finish far behind the leader US, 1976. ► kiss the fish to smoke hashish US, 1971. ► kiss the porcelain to vomit US, 1984. ► kiss the toe to drink a shot of Yukon Jack™ whisky in a single gulp, in a glass containing a pickled human toe CANADA, 2002. ► kiss your ass goodbye to concede defeat, to lose all hope of success or survival US, 1995. ► kiss your sister in poker, to come out even in a game US, 1996. ► kiss your teeth to make a scornful sound JAMAICA, 2003

KISS simple enough to be easily understood, even by the slowest person. Acronym for 'keep it simple, stupid!' US, 1960 kiss and cry noun the part of Canadian figure skating championship rinks where contestants wait for their results CANADA, 2002 kiss and cuddle noun a muddle. Rhyming slang that is never reduced to its first element UK, 1992 kiss-and-ride adjective pertaining to areas at transport interchanges designated for dropping off and picking up motor vehicle passengers without parking AUSTRALIA, 1974

kiss-ass; kiss-arse noun a sycophant; one who curries favour in a self-demeaning fashion US, 1973 kisser noun 1 the mouth. Originally boxing slang UK, 1860. 2 the face US, 1904. 3 a sycophant. Shortened 'ass-kisser' US, 1951 kissing Mrs noun the act of rubbing the clitoris with the penis. Elaborated on THE MRS (vagina) UK, 2001 kiss it! used as contemptuous expression of dismissal. A shortening of KISS MY ARSE! UK, 1999

kiss kiss goodbye US, 1991 kiss-me-arse noun in British Columbia ocean waters, the marbled murrelet CANADA, 1989 kiss-me-ass; kiss-me-tail adjective inconsequential; petty TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1972 kiss me Hardy; kiss me noun Bacardi™ (a branded white rum). Rhyming slang, formed from Lord Nelson's legendary last words UK, 1992 kiss me quick; kiss me noun the penis; a fool. Rhyming slang for PRICK, reflecting, to some degree, the type of person who will wear a 'comical' novelty hat bearing the legend 'kiss me quick' when the opportunity arises UK, 1992 kiss-me-quick; kiss-me-kwik adjective describes a seaside resort given to cheap, dated commercialism. A kiss-me-quick hat is, in many ways, a cultural touchstone UK, 2003 kiss-me-quick hat noun any novelty hat sold at a funfair or seaside resort, especially one bearing a slogan. The predominant legend writ large on such hats was 'kiss me quick' UK, 1963 kiss my arse!; kiss my ass! used as a contemptuous expression of dismissal UK, 1996 kiss my chuddies! used as an expression of disdain or rejection. Formed on CHUDDIES (underpants), possibly coined and certainly popularised as a catchphrase by Goodness Gracious Me, a BBC comedy sketch programme scripted and performed by four British Asian comedians, first heard on Radio 4 in 1996 but better known from television, since 1999 UK, 2003 kiss my grits! used for humorously expressing defiance. A signature line of Polly Holiday's character Florence Jean 'Flo' Casteleberry on the television comedies Alice (CBS, 1976–85) and Flo (CBS, 1980–81). Repeated with referential humour US, 1980 kiss my tits! used for showing disdain or rejection US, 1995 kiss of death noun a generally innocent or well-meant action or contact that results (often predictably) in disastrous consequences. By association with the kiss by which Judas betrayed Jesus UK, 1948 kiss-off noun 1 a complete rejection US, 1926. 2 any form of compensation paid to someone who has been dismissed or rejected UK, 2002 kiss off verb to dismiss, to reject US, 1904 kiss up verb to curry favour US, 1965

kissey noun an effeminate male US, 1964

kissy adjective in homosexual usage, exciting, worthy of enthusiasm (usually of an inanimate object) US, 1949 kissy-face noun prolonged kissing. Introduces a childish tone US, 1958 kit noun 1 clothes. Conventionally used for sports clothing UK, 2001. 2 in prison, contraband goods UK, 1996. 3 the equipment needed to prepare and inject heroin or another drug US, 1959. 4 in prison, a letter UK, 1996 kit and caboodle noun all of something US, 1888

Kit Carson noun a former Viet Cong who has become a scout or translator for the US Army. The allusion is to the scouting abilities of Kit Carson (1809–68), a legend of the US West US, 1970 kitchema noun a pub, a club or a bar. English gypsy use, from Romany kitshima (a tavern) UK, 1979 kitchen noun 1 an illicit methamphetamine laboratory US, 1989. 2 in pool, the end of the table where the cue ball is placed at the start of the game. Technically, it is the area between the head string and the head rail of the table US, 1990. 3 the hairs on the back of the neck US, 1987. 4 in shuffleboard, the scoring area of the court US, 1967. 5 a brakevan (caboose) US, 1977. 6 the cab of a railway engine US, 1946. ► down in the kitchen in trucking, in the truck's lowest gear US, 1971 kitchen bait noun in shuffleboard, a shot made to entice the opponent to try to go after the disc US, 1967 kitchen door noun the fly on a pair of trousers TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 kitchen lab noun a laboratory where illegal drugs are manufactured, whether or not it is located in a kitchen US, 1970 kitchen rackets noun in Cape Breton, a ceilidh or house dance CANADA, 2000 kitchen range noun 1 a change (of scene or costume). Theatrical rhyming slang UK, 1960. 2 change (small coins). Sometimes abbreviated to 'kitchen' UK, 1992 kitchen sink noun a stink. Rhyming slang, also used as a verb UK, 1992 kitchen sink adjective of a piece of dramatic fiction, grittily realistic in a domestic setting UK, 1960 kite noun 1 a letter, note or message. Largely prison usage US, 1859. 2 a cheque, especially a blank or worthless cheque; a stolen credit card or cards UK, 1805. 3 a criminal who deals in cheque and credit card fraud. Variation of KITER US, 2001. 4 a hand-rolled tobacco cigarette US, 1992. 5 a fool AUSTRALIA, 1961. 6 a Christian. Prison usage NEW ZEALAND, 1997. 7 the face US, 2001. 8 an ounce of drugs US, 1958. 9 a bus UK, 1954. 10 any type of aircraft. Modern use has a mainly ironic tone UK, 1917. 11 a glider used in hang-gliding; a hang-glider AUSTRALIA, 1996. 12 a newspaper AUSTRALIA, 1919. ► fly a kite; lay a kite to fraudulently issue or pass a worthless cheque. Based on KITE (a cheque); probably criminal in intent but possibly issued in hope IRELAND, 1805 kite verb 1 to obtain money or credit from a cheque that is drawn against uncollected funds in a bank account US, 1839. 2 to send a note or letter US, 1924 kite blue noun a worthless cheque. An elaboration of KITE AUSTRALIA, 1975

kite-flying verb passing worthless cheques UK, 1956 kite-man noun a criminal specialising in cheques and bills of exchange; an issuer of worthless cheques UK, 1950

kiter noun a criminal who issues worthless and fraudulent cheques UK, 1970

kiting-book noun a cheque book UK, 1962 kit kat noun 1 a fool. Rhyming slang for PRATT formed from a popular branded chocolate confectionery bar UK, 1998. 2 the recreational drug ketamine AUSTRALIA, 1996 kitsch noun in any of the arts, a work considered to be inferior or pretentious or in dubious taste. From German kitschen (to throw together, especially if hastily) UK, 1926 kitschy adjective vulgarly sentimental US, 1967 kitten noun a young girl US, 1923 kittens noun ► have kittens to become overly excited US, 1900 kittle noun the collection of empty beer containers that accumulate on a table during a drinking session AUSTRALIA, 2003

kitty noun 1 a pool of money. Originally a poker term US, 1887. 2 the vagina. A diminutive of PUSSY US, 2000. 3 a woman US, 1936. 4 a guy, a young man. An extension of CAT US, 1952. 5 a jail or prison US, 1950. 6 a Cadillac car US, 1970

kitty litter noun any mixture of sand and salt or other compounds sprinkled on a snowy road or an oil spill on a road US, 1976

kiwi noun a person who shirks work US, 1991

Kiwi noun a New Zealander. Named after the national bird of New Zealand. The kiwi is a flightless bird native to New Zealand NEW ZEALAND, 1918

Kiwi adjective of or relating to New Zealand or New Zealanders AUSTRALIA, 1935

Kiwi Ferns nickname the New Zealand women's international Rugby League team. From the logo of New Zealand Rugby League: a pictogram of a kiwi and a fern NEW ZEALAND, 1998

Kiwi green noun a variety of marijuana grown in New Zealand NEW ZEALAND, 1976

KJ noun 1 high quality marijuana. From 'kind joint' US, 1997. 2 a marijuana cigarette enhanced by phencyclidine US, 2001. 3 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1972 kiahowya(h) used as a greeting. A word from the Chinook jargon CANADA, 1964

K land noun the catatonic intoxication experienced when taking the recreational drug ketamine US, 1995 klap verb to slap, to smack. From Afrikaans klop SOUTH AFRICA, 1960

klatawa noun a journey CANADA, 1963 klebbies noun small denominations in any foreign currency. Royal Navy slang has ICKIE as the generic unit of foreign money, which then subdivides into one hundred 'klebbies' UK, 2003 kleenex noun 1 a youthful, sexually inexperienced male who is temporarily the object of an older homosexual's desire US, 1987. 2 MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy US, 1994

klep; klepper noun a kleptomaniac; a thief UK, 1889 klepto noun a kleptomaniac US, 1953 klim noun any powdered milk. From the branded product manufactured by Borden TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

klinging noun a crack cocaine addict. A play on 'cling on', describing an addict's behaviour; based on the Klingons, creatures from outer space in television science fiction series Star Trek US, 2003

Klondike noun 1 a prison cell used for solitary confinement. An allusion to Klondike, Alaska, the epitome of remoteness US, 1982. 2 brass or copper, often stolen, sold for scrap US, 1980 klootch; klotch noun a wife, an Indian woman. The term comes from Chinook jargon for 'female/wife' CANADA, 1963 klotsick adjective (among Nova Scotians of German descent) said of a cake that has fallen, failed to rise, or rose and then fell CANADA, 1975

kluge; kludge noun in computing, a makeshift solution to a hardware or software problem US, 1962 klutz; clutz noun a clumsy, awkward person. Yiddish, from German US, 1956 klutzy; clutzy adjective clumsy, awkward US, 1965

KMAG noun during the Korean war, the US advisors assigned to Republic of Korea troops – the Korean Military Advisory Group. The Korean troops performed so poorly early in the war that the initials took on a new meaning – Kiss My Ass Goodbye US, 1952 knacked adjective exhausted. Used by teenagers too exhausted to manage every syllable of KNACKERED (exhausted) UK, 1982 knacker noun an unfit or useless individual, especially if overweight. Royal Navy slang: any food with a high calorie count may be called 'fat knacker pie' UK, 1987 knacker verb 1 to ruin; to kill. From the conventional sense (to slaughter a horse) UK, 1887. 2 to steal IRELAND, 1998 knacker drinking noun drinking alcohol outside IRELAND, 1991 knackered adjective tired, worn-out, exhausted. Derives from the obsolete 'knacker' (a worn-out horse) UK, 1949 knacker out; knacker verb to tire out UK, 1946 knackers noun 1 the testicles. From an earlier sense (castanets) UK, 1866. 2 nonsense. Identical in use to all senses of BALLS or BOLLOCKS UK, 1984. ► off your knackers drunk or drug-intoxicated UK, 2001 knackers! used for registering anger, frustration, dismissal, etc. Identical in use to BALLS! or BOLLOCKS! UK, 1984

knead verb ► knead the noodle (of a male) to masturbate US, 2001 knee-bangers noun long shorts US, 1991 kneecap verb to break someone's kneecap or shoot them in the kneecap, almost always as a planned act of retribution US, 1974 kneehigh to a grasshopper adjective very young. Many variations on this theme have been recorded since 'knee-high to a toad', 1814, and continue to be coined US, 1914 kneel verb ► kneel at the altar 1 to engage in anal sex US, 1962. 2 to kneel while performing oral sex on a man US, 1965 kneelo noun a surfer who rides kneeling AUSTRALIA, 1985 knee machine noun a short surfboard, a kneeboard or bellyboard US, 1977 kneesies noun knee-to-knee contact, usually out of sight such as under a restaurant table US, 1947 knee-slapper noun a small, white-water wave US, 1991 knees-up noun an energetic dance party, a lively gathering. From the song 'Knees up Mother Brown!' by Weston and Lee, 1939 UK, 1963 knee-tremble verb performing sexual intercourse while standing AUSTRALIA, 1985 knee-trembler noun 1 sex while standing AUSTRALIA, 1896. 2 a sexually attractive woman UK, 1999 knicker-nicker noun a stealer of clothes (especially underwear) from a clothesline UK, 1984 knickers noun ► keep your knickers on! stay calm!, don't get excited!, don't lose your temper! UK, 1973 knickers! used as an expression of dismissal, contempt or annoyance. A children's 'naughty' word, now in adult hands UK, 1971 knickers in a twist; knickers in a knot noun an agitated or flustered condition; a state of panic. A figurative sense of an uncomfortable condition AUSTRALIA, 1978 knick-knack noun 1 a trinket; a small trivial article pleasing for ornament UK, 1682. 2 a small penis US, 1981 knife and fork noun 1 a meal, especially in a restaurant UK, 2001. 2 pork. Rhyming slang UK, 1992. 3 the money that a betting pool player leaves in reserve for living expenses US, 1990. ► do you need a knife and fork?; do you want a knife and fork? a catchphrase jibe directed at a driver struggling to find the right gear UK, 1975 knife and gun club noun a hospital casualty department US, 1994 knife-happy adjective (used of a surgeon) over-eager to treat with surgery US, 1961

Knifepoint nickname HM Prison Highpoint in Suffolk UK, 2000

knight noun in homosexual usage, a person with syphilis US, 1981 knight of the asphalt noun an long-distance trucker US, 1977

knit noun a shirt or sweater US, 1972 knit verb ► like knitting fog impossible UK, 2003 knitting circle noun in homosexual usage, a group of men who are too engaged in conversation to seek sex US, 1981 knitting needle noun in oil drilling, a tool used to splice wire cable US, 1954 knitting needles noun a rapid movement of blades and series of clicks produced when two fencers are practising. From the similarity in sound and action to that of knitting needles, not the earlier, obsolete 'knitting needle' (a sword) UK, 1988 knives noun ► at it like knives very sexually active UK, 1985 knob noun 1 the head UK, 1673. 2 the penis UK, 1660. 3 a fool; an obnoxious, despised person UK, 1997. 4 the knee US, 1970. 5 a sexually transmitted infection UK, 1966. ► polish a knob to perform oral sex on a man US, 1947 knob verb to have sex with someone. Derives from KNOB (the penis) but usage is not gender-specific UK, 1988 knobber noun 1 oral sex performed on a male US, 1989. 2 a fool, used as a general term of contempt. An elaboration of KNOB US, 1990 knobbing adjective used as an intensifier. Substitutes for FUCKING UK, 2000 knobbly knee noun a key. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 knobby noun a motorcyle tyre with large treads, used for riding on dirt and trails US, 1973 knob-cheese noun smegma collected under the foreskin. A variation of COCK CHEESE UK, 1997 knob-end noun a despised person UK, 1998 knob gag noun a joke about a penis UK, 2003 knob-gobbling noun oral sex on a man US, 1980 knobhead; nobhead noun a despised person; a fool. From KNOB (the penis) US, 1926 knob job noun oral sex performed on a man US, 1968 knob-jockey noun a homosexual male; a promiscuous heterosexual female. A rider of the KNOB (the penis) UK, 1938 knob off verb go away UK, 2001 knobs noun the female breasts, especially the nipples US, 1968.

► with knobs on with interest, intensified, with embellishments UK, 1930 knob throb noun (of a male) an intense desire for sex UK, 1998 knock noun 1 a setback, especially a monetary loss UK, 1889. 2 a bite (that moment when a fish takes the bait). Used by anglers UK, 1969. 3 a promiscuous woman AUSTRALIA, 1965. ► do a knock 1 to partake in an amorous outing; to go on a date AUSTRALIA, 1934. 2 to have sex. From 'knock' (an act of sexual intercourse) AUSTRALIA, 1933. ► on the knock 1 on credit; engaged in hire purchase UK, 1968. 2 to be working as a prostitute UK, 1969. ► take a knock to suffer a setback or a financial loss UK, 1649. ► take the knock to fail to meet your debts AUSTRALIA, 1966 knock verb 1 to criticise, to disparage US, 1865. 2 to defraud, to cheat, especially by passing a fraudulent cheque or by obtaining and dishonouring a credit arrangement UK, 1962. 3 to steal; to rob UK, 1919. 4 to arrest US, 1987. 5 to kill AUSTRALIA, 1911. 6 to wound AUSTRALIA, 1917. 7 to exhaust; to debilitate AUSTRALIA, 1957. 8 to have sexual intercourse with someone UK, 1598. 9 to make an amorous approach to (a person) AUSTRALIA, 1934. 10 to be unable to make a move in a game, such as dominoes. Almost certainly derived from the player's action of knocking on the table to signal an inability to move UK, 1984. 11 to disclose that a pool player is a professional US, 1990. 12 to post (a letter) US, 1947. ► couldn't knock the skin off a rice pudding weak, impotent; used contemptuously of an inferior fighter UK, 1946. ► knock 'em cold; knock 'em dead to amaze an audience, to have a sensational success. From boxing UK, 1961. ► knock a chunk off to have sex from the male perspective US, 1973. ► knock a fade to leave US, 1973. ► knock a scarf to eat a meal US, 1947. ► knock at the door in horse racing, to have nearly won several recent races US, 1960. ► knock boots to have sex, especially anal sex US, 1994. ► knock dog to be for sale at a low price TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. ► knock for six 1 to utterly overcome, to inconvenience gravely. Cricketing imagery, where a 'six' or 'sixer' is a shot that clears the boundary UK, 1902. 2 to astound UK, 1949. ► knock into a cocked hat to damage someone or something very considerably. By late C20 other violent verbs often replace 'knock' US, 1833. ► knock into the middle of next week; knock into next week to hit violently, even fatally, especially, to deliver a blow that causes insensibility. Originally used of boxers UK, 1821. ► knock it off to have sexual intercourse AUSTRALIA, 1983. ► knock it on the head to stop talking; to stop doing something. Often as an imperative AUSTRALIA, 1965. ► knock it out to have sex US, 1980. ► knock one off to have sex, especially in a perfunctory manner US, 1924. ► knock one out to masturbate to orgasm. Possibly related to KNOCK OUT (to manufacture or supply cheaply) UK, 1990. ► knock out tongue to kiss with open mouths US, 1993. ► knock seven bells out of someone to physically beat someone very severely UK, 1929. ► knock someone rotten to punch or strike fiercely, to daze (a person) by hitting them; to stun AUSTRALIA, 1965. ► knock someone's eyes out to astound someone AUSTRALIA, 1940. ► knock something on the head to finish an activity, to stop doing something or stop something happening. Often as the exclamatory injunction (knock it on the head!). Obviously derives from a final blow that renders someone unconscious, or kills a snake, or drives a nail home UK, 1871. ► knock spots off to surpass US, 1856. ► knock the drawing room out of someone to condition or toughen someone physically NEW ZEALAND, 1952. ► knock the slack out to accelerate (a truck or car) US, 1976. ► knock your wig to comb your hair US, 1947

knockabout noun an itinerant AUSTRALIA, 1889 knock about verb 1 to be around AUSTRALIA, 1889. 2 to wander without purpose and without a home TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1904. 3 to beat someone UK, 1926 knockabout adjective 1 experienced, well-travelled AUSTRALIA, 1965. 2 of theatrical entertainment, noisy and violent, slapstick UK, 1892 knock around verb 1 to spend time with no fixed abode; to travel about as an itinerant AUSTRALIA, 1901. 2 to spend time (with someone); to idle US, 1846 knockaround adjective experienced in the ways of the world, especially the underworld US, 1949

knockback noun 1 a refusal; a rejection AUSTRALIA, 1918. 2 an 'offer by a bookmaker to accept a wager at lower odds or for a lesser stake, in part at full odds with the balance at reduced odds, or at SP (starting price) terms only' UK, 2001 knock back verb 1 to reject, especially sexual advances AUSTRALIA, 1918. 2 to drink UK, 1931. 3 to cost a person a specified amount. For example the phrase 'that knocked him back a fiver' UK, 1961. ► knock back with a stick to get more than enough casual sex. A jocular boast of sexual prowess AUSTRALIA, 1950

knockdown noun an introduction (to someone) US, 1959 knock down verb 1 to earn US, 1929. 2 to make a sale at auction. From the significant action of an auctioneer's gavel in marking the conclusion of a sale UK, 1760. 3 to steal CANADA, 1976. 4 to rob US, 1976. 5 to spend the entire sum of money earned for seasonal work in a drinking spree. Once a veritable institution this practice was especially common amongst shearers and sailors AUSTRALIA, 1845. 6 to drink. A variation of KNOCK BACK (to drink) UK, 1960. 7 to introduce US, 1953 knock-down drag-out adjective (of a fight) vicious US, 1827 knocked adjective drunk US, 1974 knock 'em down rains noun in tropical Australia, seasonal torrential rain AUSTRALIA, 1946 knocker noun 1 an inveterate critic; a person addicted to finding faults and making criticisms US, 1898. 2 a person who defaults (deliberately) on a hire-purchase agreement. A narrowing of an earlier use applied to a person who contracts a debt with no intention of repaying it UK, 1968. 3 a thief or confidence trickster posing as a door-to-door salesman UK, 1996. 4 in circus and carnival usage, a member of the audience who warns others that something is a fraud US, 1981. 5 someone who discloses that a pool player is in fact a professional US, 1990. 6 in pinball, a sound effect when an additional ball is won US, 1977. ► on the knocker 1 exactly, precisely AUSTRALIA, 1960. 2 right away; promptly AUSTRALIA, 1962. 3 used of a door-to-door canvasser or salesman UK, 1934. ► up to the knocker thoroughly, perfectly, entirely AUSTRALIA, 1911 knocker and knob noun a job. Rhyming slang, probably formed of door furniture (rather than body parts) UK, 1992 knockers noun 1 the female breasts, especially large ones US, 1934. 2 dice that have been loaded with mercury that shifts when the dice are tapped US, 1950 knocker shop noun a brothel AUSTRALIA, 1985

knockin' adjective great US, 2004 knocking noun criticism; fault-finding AUSTRALIA, 1978

knockings noun the facts or details, an explanation UK, 1999 knocking shop noun a brothel UK, 1860 knock it off!; knock off! stop it!, shut up! UK, 1883 knock, knock! 1 used as the verbal equivalent of an actual knock on the door when entering another's room, office, etc UK, 1984. 2 in a game of dominoes or such, used as a signal (often accompanied by the action of knocking on the games' table) that the game-player is unable to make a move UK, 1984 knocko noun a narcotics police officer US, 1992 knock-off noun 1 a product that is designed to be mistaken for an expensive, brand name product US, 1963. 2 the end of a work shift, quitting time AUSTRALIA, 1916. 3 a murder US, 1928. 4 in hot rodding and drag racing, a wheel lug that is easily removed US, 1960 knock off verb 1 to cease; to stop UK, 1649. 2 to finish a work shift, job, etc. UK, 1649. 3 to kill US, 1879. 4 to defeat; to despatch US, 1927. 5 (of police) to arrest; to raid US, 1925. 6 to rob, to steal US, 1917. 7 to reproduce a branded item, less expensively and usually illegally US, 1963. 8 to sell or dispose of NEW ZEALAND, 1985. 9 of a male, to have sex AUSTRALIA, 1965. 10 to have sexual intercourse with someone US, 1943. 11 to seduce AUSTRALIA, 1950. ► knock off a piece to have sex US, 1921 knock-off gear noun an item or items of stolen property UK, 2000 knock-off time noun the end of a work shift; quitting time AUSTRALIA, 1867 knock out verb 1 to have a very powerful effect on, to impress profoundly US, 1890. 2 to manufacture or supply cheaply. The currency of market-traders and sweat-shops, 'knock it out cheap', 'knock them out', adopted into wider use UK, 1876. 3 to produce AUSTRALIA, 1946. 4 to go to sleep US, 2003. 5 to burgle in such a thorough manner that nothing of any value remains UK, 1950 knockout adjective excellent, impressive US, 1920 knockout; knock-out noun 1 an outstanding, beautiful or outrageous person UK, 1892. 2 an excellent thing. Literally, 'a thing so excellent that it will render you insensible' UK, 1892 knock out drops noun a sedative added to a drink to cause unconsciousness, especially with criminal intent US, 1876 knock over verb 1 to rob US, 1925. 2 to raid an establishment US, 1929. 3 to kill; to slaughter US, 1823. 4 to arrest US, 1924. 5 to drink AUSTRALIA, 1924

knockround noun a period spent wandering about idling AUSTRALIA, 1934 knock round verb to spend time (with someone); to accompany AUSTRALIA, 1955 knock shop noun a brothel AUSTRALIA, 1968 knock sideways verb to astound UK, 1925 knock together verb to prepare a marijuana cigarette. A specialisation of the conventional sense UK, 2000 knock-up noun a fraudulent system operated to rig the bidding at an auction UK, 1966 knock up verb 1 to impregnate US, 1813. 2 to hammer on the door of a cell to attract the attention of a warder AUSTRALIA, 1944 knolly bike noun any low-powered motorcycle used by probationary taxi-drivers in the process of learning the geography of London's streets (DO THE KNOWLEDGE). Formed on a shortening of 'the knowledge' UK, 1998 knot noun 1 the head US, 1954. 2 a large sum of money US, 1993 knot-flashing noun public self-exposure by a male for sexual thrills. Police slang, formed on an otherwise obsolete use of 'knot' (the [head of the] penis) UK, 1968 knotty adjective (of hair) in tight curls BAHAMAS, 1982

Knotty Ash noun cash. Rhyming slang, from the name of a Liverpool suburb; probably inspired by comedian Ken Dodd, a famous resident of the area, and in particular by his clash with the taxman UK, 1992 know noun ► in the know trendy, fashionable US, 1958 know verb ► know b from bull foot to know anything at all. Usually used in the negative TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. ► know backwards to have a thorough knowledge of something UK, 1904. ► know how many beans make five to be not easily fooled UK, 1830. ► know inside out to have a thorough knowledge of something UK, 1921. ► know like the back of your hand to have a thorough knowledge of something. A simile that is easier said than done UK, 1943. ► know someone who knows someone to be able to obtain an article for less than its retail price, referring to either wholesale rates or the acquisition of stolen property UK, 1984. ► know the score to understand what is going on. Referring to a musical score, not the score of a sports contest US, 1946. ► know your onions having knowledge that comes from experience. Also in the variations: 'know your apples' (since 1945); 'oats' (since 1926); 'oil' (since 1925). The formula is also used to describe a specified field of knowledge, e.g. 'know your hockey' (about 1929) US, 1922. ► know your shit to have knowledge that comes from experience US, 1984. ► not know from a bar of soap to not know at all AUSTRALIA, 1918. ► not know from the hole in your arse to be ignorant of UK, 1999. ► not know whether you are Arthur or Martha to be in a state of confusion AUSTRALIA, 1966. ► not know whether you are coming or going to be in a state of confusion, befuddlement or perplexity UK, 1924 know-all noun a person who displays their knowledge in a conceited manner AUSTRALIA, 1934 know-all adjective conceitedly knowledgeable AUSTRALIA, 1965

knowned-up adjective lucky, and believing that skill not luck produced success US, 1954 know-it-all noun a person who knows less than he thinks US, 1895 know-it-all adjective conceitedly knowledgeable UK, 1935 knowledge noun skill at performing oral sex; a person who is skilled at performing oral sex. An elaboration and play on HEAD (oral sex) US, 2002. ► do the knowledge of probationary taxi drivers, to learn the geography of London's streets (especially by driving around on a low-powered motorcycle); to take a written examination that tests the newly acquired knowledge UK, 1978 knowledge box *noun 1 the head; the brain UK, 1785. 2 in railway terminology, the yardmaster's office US, 1926* knowmean?; na mean? do you know what I mean? Used either as a question or as a stress at the end of a statement UK, 1997 knuckle noun physical violence; the act of punching. From the verb sense UK, 2001. ► go the knuckle to attack with the fists; to take part in a fist fight AUSTRALIA, 1944 knuckle verb to punch with a bare fist AUSTRALIA, 1983 knuckle-buster noun 1 in car repair, a nut that is tightly fastened, guaranteeing a difficult and painful removal process US, 1992. 2 a crescent wrench US, 1941 knuckle down verb to make an effort and apply yourself to a task UK, 1864

knuckleduster noun a large, heavy or over-gaudy ring which may, or may not, be worn for violent purposes. An extension of the sense as 'a weapon' UK, 1896 knuckledusters noun a pair of brass knuckles. The derivation is as blunt as the practical usage: where it's worn, on the knuckles; what it does, DUST (to thrash). Abbreviates as 'duster' US, 1858 knucklehead noun a fool, an idiot US, 1942 knuckle junction noun fisticuffs US, 1994 knuckle merchant noun a fist-fighter, a rough and ready brawler UK, 2000 knuckle sandwich noun a punch in the mouth US, 1955 knuckle shuffle noun an act of male masturbation US, 2000 knuckle-shuffle verb to masturbate UK, 2002 knuckles on the ground noun an illustrative quality ascribed to a person of low intellect and primitive appearance UK, 1975 knuckle up verb to fight US, 1968

knucks noun knuckles; brass knuckles US, 1858 knucks-in adjective doing well. From marbles, where the term is used of a player whose aim is true TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987

KO; kayo noun in boxing, a knock-out US, 1911

KO verb to knock-out; to destroy US, 1921

KO adjective exhausted. An initialism of 'knocked-out'; used by black urban youths UK, 2004

Kodak noun police radar used for measuring vehicle speed US, 1976

Kodak courage noun a brief burst of fearlessness encountered when being photographed US, 1997

Kodak moment noun a clichéd moment or event. From a series of Kodak advertisements, urging consumers to take pictures at 'Kodak moments' US, 1991

Kodak poisoning; Kodak-Fuji poisoning noun an imaginary ailment contracted by the subjects of (over-)enthusiastic photographers. Jocular; based on the names of major film manufacturers Kodak and Fuji ANTARCTICA, 1983

'koff! (jocular) don't be stupid!; (serious) go away! Phonetic abbreviation of 'fuck off!' UK, 1999

koffiemoffie noun a non-white, non-black homosexual male; an air steward on South African Airways. Elaborations of MOFFIE (a homosexual male), rhymed with 'coffee', in the first instance for a colour tone, in the second as a humorous reference to the steward's duties. Gay slang originating among Cape coloureds SOUTH AFRICA, 2000

Kojak noun 1 a blue flashing lamp that is temporarily attached (by magnets) to the roof of an unmarked police car. Named after the US television police drama Kojak, first shown in the UK on BBC television in 1974, and by which the UK police and public were first made aware of this new crime-fighting tool UK, 1999. 2 in hold 'em poker, a king and a jack as the first two cards dealt to a player. The sound of 'king-jack' suggests the name of this popular police television programme (1973–78) starring Telly Savalas US, 1981.

► the Kojak a totally depilated pubic mound. After the eponymous bald-headed detective UK, 2002

Kojak's moneybox noun the penis. Kojak, a television detective of the 1970s, was played by bald-headed actor Telly Savalas, 1924–94; thus this unsettling image of a bald head with a slot for coins UK, 2003

Kojak with a Kodak noun a police officer operating a radar camera; police radar. Combines television detective series Kojak (1973–78) with the corporate identity of a leading camera and film manufacturer US, 1976

kokomo noun crack cocaine. Plays phonetically on 'coke' in the same way as the earlier sense as 'cocaine user' UK, 1998 ► see: COKOMO JOE kong noun cheap and potent alcoholic drink. An abbreviation of KING KONG US, 1945

kooch noun a sexually suggestive dance move by a female dancer US, 1946 koochie noun the vagina 2001

kook noun 1 a mentally disturbed person US, 1922. 2 an unskilled novice surfer or snowboarder US, 1961. 3 in television and film-making, a light screen designed to cast shadows US, 1990

kook box noun a paddle board, used by beginner surfers US, 1964

kook cord noun a line that attaches a surfer's ankle to his surfboard US, 1991

kooky noun in drag racing and hot rodding, a bobtail roadster (with a short rear overhang) US, 1965

kooky adjective eccentric, if not crazy US, 1959

Kool and the Gang adjective unemotional and relaxed, calm, imperturbable; excellent, admirable, wonderful IRELAND, 2003

Kools noun cigarettes made with tobacco mixed with marijuana US, 1990

kooratz noun a socially inept person CANADA, 1994

korea noun anal sex FJI, 1984

Korean forklift noun an A-frame backpack used by Koreans to carry large and heavy objects. Korean war usage US, 1982 kosh adjective acceptable, agreeable. An abbreviation of KOSHER US, 1994

kosher verb to give the appearance or effect of being fair, honest or legal UK, 1962 kosher adjective 1 Jewish. Offensive, a figurative application of the Jewish diet US, 1972. 2 fair, square, proper, satisfactory. Yiddish, technically meaning 'fit to eat' (ritually clean in keeping with religious dietary laws). Brought into English slang originally in the East End of London UK, 1896. 3 in homosexual usage, circumcised US, 1987

Kosher Canyon nickname a neighbourhood dominated by Jewish people. The most famous is the Fairfax neighbourhood in Los Angeles US, 1975 koutchie; cutchie; kouchie; couchie noun a pipe for the smoking of marijuana. Celebrated in song by the Mighty Diamonds 'Pass the Koutchie'. This in turn inspired Musical Youth's UK hit 'Pass the Dutchie': the name was presumably changed so that the BBC censors would miss any reference to drugs JAMAICA, 1975

K-pot noun the standard US Army helmet US, 1990

krab noun in caving, pot-holing and mountaineering, a karabiner (a coupling device). A colloquial abbreviation, noted in current use UK, 1963 kraut noun 1 a German. From the German dish sauerkraut; not necessarily disparaging US, 1841. 2 the German language US, 1948 krauthead noun a German-American or German immigrant US, 1928

krautland noun Germany US, 1955

krautrock noun German rock music UK, 1975

kreeble verb to ruin, partially or completely US, 1970

Kremlin noun 1 Scotland Yard UK, 1966. 2 the headquarters of British Railways UK, 1970 krass adjective cheap, inexpensive. From the name of a chain of dime stores US, 1947 krills noun crack cocaine US, 2000 kronenburg noun a woman who looks a lot younger from the front than she does from behind. Formed from the '1664' branding used by Kronenburg™ lager, punning 16 in front and 64 behind UK, 2005 kru noun a tightly knit group of close friends. A deliberate respelling of CREW UK, 2003 krunk used in place of profanity. Coined by the writers of Late Nite with Conan O'Brien in 1994 as 'America's newest swear word'. It enjoyed brief popularity US, 1994 kryptonite noun crack cocaine. From the fictional mineral that weakens comic book superhero Superman (a native of Planet Krypton) UK, 1998 kudos noun glory, fame, prestige. From Greek κῦδος (praise); originally university slang, in widespread use by 1890 UK, 1831 kuuffle soup noun (among Nova Scotians of German descent) a soup of homemade noodles, potatoes, gravy and browned flour CANADA, 1999

kuf noun cocaine UK, 1997 ku klux klan noun in poker, three kings. From the klan's initials: KKK US, 1967

kumba noun marijuana UK, 1998 kung-fu fighter noun a lighter. Rhyming slang, based on the popular song by Jamaican-born Carl Douglas UK, 2002 kunka noun the vagina BAHAMAS, 1982

kunkun noun the vagina TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

kush noun in circus and carnival usage, money US, 1981 kushempeng noun marijuana UK, 2001

kustom adjective custom US, 1965 kutchie; kutchi noun marijuana. Derived from KOUTCHIE (a marijuana pipe) JAMAICA, 1972

Kuwaiti tanker noun used as an all-purpose form of abuse. Rhyming slang for WANKER UK, 1998 kvell verb to overflow with joyful pride. Yiddish US, 1967 kvetch verb to complain, gripe, whine. Yiddish, used by those who know only five words of the language US, 1950 kwaai adjective 1 bad, bad-tempered, aggressive. From Afrikaans kwaad (bad, evil) SOUTH AFRICA, 1955. 2 used as an expression of approval; great, excellent, cool. A reversal of the existing sense on the good-equals-bad formula SOUTH AFRICA, 1974

K-wobbler noun a Kenworth truck US, 1986

K-word noun kaffir (a black person, especially a black African); also applied in an adjectival sense. Euphemistic for all South African senses, and offensive in all senses, whether abbreviated or used conventionally SOUTH AFRICA, 1982

KY noun any sexual lubricant. From the branded name of KY Jelly™ US, 1971

KY nickname the federal narcotic treatment hospital in Lexington, Kentucky US, 1962 kyaw-kyaw noun sarcastic laughter. Also used as a verb US, 1946 kybo noun an outdoor toilet. From a children's acronym – 'keep your bowels in order' US, 1972

L

L noun 1 LSD UK, 1969. 2 marijuana. Rap and hip-hop slang US, 1993. 3 elevation. A surfer 'gets L' when his surfboard soars high into the air on an aerial move US, 1991. ► take an L to lose a game. From the designation in newspapers of 'wins and losses' as 'W's and L's' US, 1999

L-12 noun an extremely social outcast. The 'L' is for 'loser', twelve times US, 1993

L7; I-seven noun a staid person who is uninterested in or unsympathetic to the fashionable interests of teenagers. The shapes of L and 7 can combine to form a SQUARE (a conventional person). This slang may be entirely gestural in expression: the forefinger and thumb on each hand extended at right angles, left (L) and right (7) combining to make the shape of a square US, 1956

L8R adverb used in text messaging, to mean 'later'. One of several constructions in which a syllable pronounced 'ate' is replaced by the homophone 'eight' UK, 2003

LA noun any amphetamine or other central nervous system stimulant. A shortened form of 'long-acting' or LA TURNABOUT US, 1986

LA nickname Los Angeles, California US, 1901

la; la-la noun a toilet. An abbreviated 'lavatory' NEW ZEALAND, 1998
► see: LAR

lab noun 1 a laboratory UK, 1895. 2 a Labrador dog. Also variants 'labbie' and 'labby' UK, 1984 labbe noun the vagina. Possibly derived from 'labia' US, 1998 label noun the name by which a person is known US, 1928 labial contact noun a kiss; kissing US, 1947 labor skate noun a trade union official US, 1930

Labour noun ► the Labour the Labour Exchange, later the Job Centre (government offices where unemployed persons must register to search for work as a condition for the receipt of state benefits) UK, 1964 labour day junkie noun someone who uses heroin only occasionally IRELAND, 1996 labradoodle noun a crossbreed of labrador and poodle US, 2001 la buena noun heroin. From Spanish buena (good) UK, 2003 lac noun a Cadillac US, 1990

lace noun 1 a combination of marijuana and cocaine UK, 1998. 2 money US, 1971 lace verb to have sexual intercourse. The female is seen here as a drink to be 'laced' by the male's semen US, 1996. ► lace up your boots to prepare for a fight US, 1998 lace card noun 1 a computer punch card with all the holes punched out US, 1991. 2 the foreskin of an uncircumcised penis US, 1941 lace curtain noun beer. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of Burton, and originally applied only to beers from that brewery UK, 1961 lace-curtain Irish noun middle-class Irish-American or Irish immigrants US, 1934 lace-curtain lesbian noun a lesbian whose mannerisms and affectations do not suggest her sexual preference US, 1969 laced adjective drug-intoxicated, especially marijuana-intoxicated US, 1988 lace queen noun a homosexual who prefers men with uncircumcised penises US, 1988 lace-up noun a shoe or boot that is laced up (as opposed to sandals, slip-ons, etc) UK, 1887 lack adjective lacking money, style or both. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982 lackery noun ► give them lackery a beating IRELAND, 1989 lad noun ► bit of a lad a young man who is full of self-confidence with which he pursues sensual ambitions. An elaboration of 'lad' UK, 1960. ► one of the lads a woman, especially a young woman, who is seen to be on equal terms with, or part of a society of, men UK, 2003. ► the lad 1 the penis UK, 2001. 2 cancer or tuberculosis IRELAND, 1997. ► the lads male friends, the men of a regular social group, team, etc UK, 1896 ladder noun the main track in a railway yard US, 1946 laddie noun in a deck of playing cards, a jack US, 1988

laddish adjective used, often disapprovingly, of the lively behaviour of young men responding to those things (alcohol, sport, sex) that appeal to them UK, 1841 laddishness noun the lively behaviour of young men responding to those things (alcohol, sport, sex) that appeal to them UK, 1886 laddo noun a spirited youth, a bit of a lad. Slightly patronising IRELAND, 1870 ladeez noun ladies, often as a form of address. Most often in the phrase 'ladeez and germs' (ladies and gentlemen) UK, 1995

ladette noun a young woman characterised by her behaviour and positive involvement in activities (drinking, swearing, sport, etc) stereotypically enjoyed by males UK, 1995 la di da noun the Daily Star newspaper. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 la-di-da; la-di-dah verb to behave in an affectedly cultured manner, when noted from a lower social station UK, 1964 la-di-da; la-di-dah adjective pertaining to the affectedly cultured speech and manners of the upper-classes, especially when noted from a lower social station; hence, pretentious. Jocular or pejorative usage US, 1890 la-di-dah; lardy; la-di-da noun a cigar. Rhyming slang, cleverly echoing the LA-DI-DAH status of a cigar smoker UK, 1991 ladies' aid noun in pool, a device used to support the cue stick for a hard-to-reach shot. As the terminology suggests, the device is scorned by skilled players US, 1990 ladies a plate, gents a crate used in party invitations to request female guests to bring a dish of food and male guests to bring something to drink NEW ZEALAND, 1984

ladies' delight noun the penis UK, 2003 ladies' man noun a man who pays great attention to women; a womaniser AUSTRALIA, 1901 lads-mag noun a commercial publication that targets young men with aspirational features on hedonistic lifestyles and, in particular, pictures of semi-naked young women UK, 2000 lady noun 1 a prostitute US, 1972. 2 a homosexual man. An example of CAMP trans-gender assignment UK, 1932. 3 in a deck of playing cards, a queen US, 1900. 4 cocaine US, 1974 lady adjective effeminate. Recorded in contemporary gay use UK, 2003 ladybits noun the female genitals UK, 2003

Lady Blamey noun a drinking glass made by cutting the top off a bottle using a kerosene-soaked string. Taught to the troops by Lady Blamey, the wife of Sir Thomas Blamey, commander of Allied Land Forces in the south-west Pacific AUSTRALIA, 1945 ladyboy noun a person with mixed sexual physiology, usually the genitals of a male and surgically augmented breasts; a pre-surgery transsexual or a transvestite. A term used most often in association with the sex industry in Bangkok, Thailand. The first widespread use of the term was in association with a television documentary aired in November 1992 UK, 1992 lady caine noun cocaine. A compound of LADY (cocaine) and CAINE (cocaine) UK, 1998 lady come back noun a type of bet in an illegal numbers game lottery US, 1957 lady five fingers noun a boy's or man's hand in the context of masturbation; masturbation US, 1969 lady from Bristol noun a pistol. Rhyming slang UK, 1968

Lady Godiva; godiva; lady noun a five-pound note or the sum of £5. Rhyming slang for a FIVER; an appropriately financial allusion to the C11 English noblewoman who rode naked through Coventry to protest against taxes – according to the legend which arose in the C13 UK, 1960 lady in the red dress noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. An elaboration on red imagery stressing the feminine nature of the term US, 1999 lady in waiting noun in male homosexual usage, a man who loiters in or near public toilets in the hope of sexual encounters US, 1981

Lady Jane noun a common-law wife or girlfriend CANADA, 1987

ladykiller noun a man who is sexually fascinating to women UK, 1811 lady luck noun good fortune personified UK, 1205

Lady Muck noun a woman who is, in the speaker's opinion, unjustifiably self-important or esteemed. The counterpart to LORD MUCK UK, 1957 lady of the night noun a prostitute UK, 1925

Lady Snow noun cocaine US, 1967

lady's waist noun a small, waisted glass for serving alcoholic drinks AUSTRALIA, 1934

Lafayette noun a bet. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1989 laff noun a laugh UK, 1962

laff verb to laugh UK, 1997 laffmeister noun a comedian. A combination of LAFF (a laugh) and German meister (a master, a champion) UK, 2002 lag noun 1 a convict who has been imprisoned for many years UK, 1812; 2 an act of urination. A survival from the obsolete verb form UK, 1979 lag verb 1 to inform against a person AUSTRALIA, 1832; 2 to arrest UK, 1835; 3 to be serving a prison sentence. Originally, 'to be transported for a crime' UK, 1927; 4 to urinate. From an earlier sense as 'water'. A variant spelling is 'lage' UK, 2002 lage noun a convict. A variation of LAG UK, 2002 lager lout noun a hooligan fuelled by alcohol, especially lager UK, 1987 lagged adjective 1 exhausted, especially from travelling. An abbreviation of conventional 'jet lagged' (suffering disrupted body rhythms as a result of flying across time zones), from 'lag' (to fail to keep pace) UK, 1999; 2 drunk. Also 'lagged up' UK, 2000 lagger noun 1 a contact man in a smuggling enterprise US, 1956; 2 an informer to the police or authorities AUSTRALIA, 1967 lagging noun a prison sentence UK, 1812 lagging boat noun a drunk UK, 2000

LA glass noun a smokeable methamphetamine that does not dissolve rapidly US, 1989

Lah noun Los Angeles, California. Rarely heard, and then in northern California and derisively US, 1978 lahdee; lahdie adjective smart or fashionable. From LA-DI-DA (pretentious) UK, 1973 lah-di-dah; lah-di noun a famous entertainer, a star. Rhyming slang UK, 1979 laid-back adjective relaxed, passive, easy-going US, 1969 laid in the aisle adjective very well dressed US, 1971 laid out adjective drunk to the point of passing out US, 1928 laid, relayed and parlayed adjective thoroughly taken advantage of. There are multiple variants of the third element – 'waylaid', 'marmalade', etc US, 1957 lair noun a person who dresses and behaves in a showy manner. Back-formation from LAIRY. A term of great contempt AUSTRALIA, 1923 lair verb to behave in a showy, ostentatious way; to be a lair AUSTRALIA, 1928

lairise verb to behave in a showy, ostentatious way; to be a lair AUSTRALIA, 1945 lairy; lary; larey adjective showy, ostentatious, attention-seeking AUSTRALIA, 1898 lakanuki noun a prolonged period of sexual abstinence. An imitation pidgin 'lack of NOOKIE' US, 1944 lakbay diva noun a dark leafed marijuana. Diva is 'goddess' in Latin; 'lakbay' is Pig Latin for BLACK; this marijuana is a 'black goddess' UK, 1998

Lake Acid nickname Lake Placid, New York. Coined during a concert stop by the Grateful Dead in 1983 US, 1983

Lake Atlantic nickname the Atlantic Ocean on the Florida coast. A tribute to the flat surf conditions found in summer US, 1991 lake pipes noun in hot rodding, straight exhaust pipes, originally designed for speed runs on dry lake beds US, 1963 lakes of Killarney; lakes; lakie; lakey adjective 1 mad, crazy; stupid. Imperfect rhyming slang for BARMY, formed on a feature of Irish geography UK, 1934; 2 sly, two-faced. Rhyming slang, on obsolete slang word 'carney' (sly, two-faced) UK, 1992 lakester noun in hot rodding, a car with a streamlined body and exposed wheels, designed for racing on dry lake beds US, 1993

la-la noun a toilet AUSTRALIA, 1963

lala noun the vagina BAHAMAS, 1982

La-La Land noun Los Angeles, California US, 1972

lalapalooze noun in poker, a hand that entitles the player to special payment from all other players US, 1988 laldy noun ► give it laldy to do something enthusiastically, or with great vigour. Glasgow slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1985; ► give someone laldy to beat or thrash someone. Glasgow slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 lally; lallie; lall; lallette; lyle; lally-peg noun the leg. Polari; usually in the plural UK, 1967

lally-covers noun trousers. Polari, from LALLY (the leg) UK, 2002 lally-drags noun trousers. Polari; a combination of LALLY (the leg) and DRAG (clothing) UK, 2002

lam noun 1 in cheating schemes, a victim. The victims are like 'lambs to slaughter' (easily duped) UK, 1668; 2 a young, innocent-looking male prisoner recently arrived at prison, identified as an easy sexual conquest by the population of sexual predators US, 1922; ► on the lam running away, trying to escape US, 1928; ► take it on the lam to escape, to run away US, 1990

lam verb to escape, especially from prison US, 1886 lamb-brained adjective foolish NEW ZEALAND, 1998 lamb down verb to defraud a worker out of their entire end-of-season pay packet by keeping them drunk until it is all spent. Now historical AUSTRALIA, 1850

Lambeth Walk noun chalk. Rhyming slang, used by snooker and pool players UK, 1992 lambspread noun marijuana from Jamaica, with especially large buds JAMAICA, 2002

lamb's tongue noun a five-dollar note US, 1950 lame noun a naive, conventional, law-abiding person US, 1960 lame adjective 1 unfashionable, weak, uninspired US, 1935; 2 short of money US, 1988 lamebrain noun a fool, an idiot US, 1919 lame-brained adjective stupid US, 1929 lame duck noun 1 a person or organisation that is handicapped or disadvantaged UK, 1761; 2 an act of sexual intercourse. Rhyming slang for FUCK UK, 2003 lamed-vovnik noun in Jewish legend, a hidden saint CANADA, 2001 lame-o noun a fool, an idiot. The suffix ‘-o’ is used here to create a noun from an adjective US, 1977 lamer noun an uninformed Internet user who passes himself off as an expert US, 1997 lame rap noun an unfounded arrest US, 1971 lame stain noun a completely inept, despised person US, 1997 lamington noun a type of small, oblong sponge cake covered with chocolate and desiccated coconut. Probably named after Lord Lamington, governor of Queensland 1895–1901 AUSTRALIA, 1909 lamister noun a fugitive from justice US, 1955 lammie noun a lamington AUSTRALIA, 1998

lammo noun a lamington AUSTRALIA, 1987

lamo noun a person lacking fashion sense and social skills US, 1993 lam off verb to escape, to run away. An elaboration of LAM UK, 2003 lamor noun a kiss. Possibly from French l'amour (love) UK, 2002 lamp noun 1 the eye. Usually used in the plural UK, 1811. 2 a look US, 1926 lamp verb 1 to look US, 1907. 2 to hit, to beat UK, 1954. 3 to pass time idly, without purpose US, 1988 lamped adjective drunk UK, 2002 lampers noun the eyes US, 1973 lamp habit noun an opium addiction US, 1949 lamp man noun an electrician, especially in the theatre US, 1952 lamps noun female breasts IRELAND, 1993

lamster noun a fugitive from justice or retribution US, 1904 lance-comical noun a lance corporal UK, 1995 lance jack noun a lance corporal. Army slang UK, 1912

Lancy; Lanky noun a Lancashire – hence, loosely, also a Yorkshire – employee on the railways UK, 1970 land noun 1 a fright IRELAND, 1992. 2 a neighbourhood US, 1989. ► on the land making a living by farming or other rural occupation AUSTRALIA, 1902 land verb to succeed in getting UK, 1854 land icing noun manure. Variant ‘land dressing’ is a term for the same thing CANADA, 1992

Landie noun a Land Rover vehicle AUSTRALIA, 1992 landing deck noun the top of the head US, 1947 landing gear noun 1 the legs US, 1941. 2 on an articulated lorry, the supports that prop up the trailer when it is unhitched US, 1971 landing strip noun a woman’s pubic hair trimmed into the shape of a narrow vertical bar. A visual comparison US, 2000 landlady noun a brothel madame US, 1879 land line noun a conventional telephone line, as distinguished from a mobile phone or radio US, 1987 land of cakes noun (from the perspective of people on Nova Scotia islands) the mainland CANADA, 1984 land of hope noun soap. Rhyming slang UK, 1961 land of the big PX noun the United States. The US seen in its commercial glory as one big PX (supermarket/department store). From Vietnam US, 1968 land shark noun a person made wealthy by speculating in land AUSTRALIA, 1836 land with verb to impose an onerous duty or unwelcome burden on someone UK, 1984 lane; lain; laine noun a sucker, a gullible victim US, 1933 lane louse noun a driver who appears oblivious to traffic lanes US, 1962 lang ► on the lang playing truant IRELAND, 1998

langar noun the penis, also used figuratively as a fool IRELAND, 2002 langerated adjective drunk. A variation of LANGERED IRELAND, 2002 langered; langers adjective drunk. From Scottish langer (weariness); ultimately conventional English ‘langour’ IRELAND, 1982 language noun bad language, swearing, obscene speech UK, 1886

Language of the Garden noun in Cape Breton, Gaelic CANADA, 2000 languid adjective utterly relaxed US, 1987

Lanky noun a native of Lancashire UK, 1972 ► see: LANCY

Lanky adjective of Lancashire UK: ENGLAND, 1972

Lao green noun a greenish marijuana grown in Southeast Asia, smoked by US troops in Vietnam US, 1991

Laotian red noun a reddish marijuana, purported to have been grown in Laos US, 1990 lap dance noun an intimate sexual performance, involving some degree of physical contact between a female performer and a sitting male US, 1988 lap dance verb to engage in a sexual performance in which a woman dancer, scantily clad if at all, grinds her buttocks into a sitting male customer’s lap US, 1993 lap dancer noun a woman who performs lap dances in a sex club US, 1985

La Perouse noun alcoholic drink. Rhyming slang for BOOZE; from the name of a Sydney suburb AUSTRALIA, 1981 lap job noun an act of oral sex on a woman US, 1969 lapper noun the hand UK, 2002 lappy noun in Queensland, a circuit of a street block in a vehicle done, especially repeatedly, for entertainment AUSTRALIA, 2003 lap up; lap it up verb 1 to enjoy receiving flattery; to enthusiastically enjoy any distraction or entertainment UK, 1890. 2 to approve of and enjoy UK, 1890 lar; lah; la noun used to address a companion or friend. Mainly Liverpool use UK, 1982 larceny verb to manipulate through insincere flattery US, 1960 lard noun money UK, 1954 lard-ass; lard-arse noun an overweight person US, 1918 lard-assed; lard-arsed adjective fat; in the manner of a fat person US, 1967 lard-butt noun a fat person. A variation of LARD-ASS/ARSE (a fat person); literally FAT ASS US, 1968 lard head noun a fool. Conventional ‘lard’ is a soft white fat, hence the usage here as FATHEAD US, 1936 lard-arsed adjective blessed with a fat bottom. A variation of LARD-ASSED; combines conventional ‘lard’ (a cooking fat) with ‘arse’ (the bottom) UK, 1999

larf noun nonsense, rubbish US, 1966

Largactil shuffle noun the stumbling walk of a heavily sedated prisoner. Largactil™ is a brand name for chlorpromazine, an anti-psychotic drug UK, 1996 large noun in betting, the largest wagering unit AUSTRALIA, 1989. ► give it the large to boast, to brag UK, 2001 large verb to live an extreme and hedonistic lifestyle to its fullest extent UK, 2001 large adjective 1 famous, successful US, 2001. 2 enthusiastic US, 1967. 3 very enjoyable, wonderful US, 1874. ► have it large; give it large; have it to enjoy in a very enthusiastic or excessive fashion UK, 1999 large adverb impressively, (of a lifestyle) in an excessive, successful, comfortable or self-indulgent manner US, 1883 large charge noun a big thrill US, 1951 large chest for sale; large chest for sale – no drawers used by prostitutes as an advertising slogan. A punning euphemism, certainly familiar from shopwindow postcards in the 1970s UK, 2001 large one; large noun one thousand US dollars; one thousand pounds sterling US, 1972 large-type adjective extreme US, 1997 lark noun 1 a light-hearted adventure, a spree UK, 1802. 2 a line of work UK, 1934 lark verb to be criminally active. Puns on the senses 'a line of work' and 'behaving mischievously' UK, 1958 lark about; lark around verb to have fun by behaving foolishly or mischievously UK, 1813

Larkin noun ► down to Larkin; for Larkin free, gratis. Possibly from LARKING (theft) UK, 1977

larking noun theft UK, 1958 larmer noun an alarmist BARBADOS, 1965

larney; lanie noun a white man; a boss (it is possible to be both at once). Derogatory SOUTH AFRICA, 1956 laroped; larrupt adjective drunk. Derives from LARRUP (to thrash) UK, 2002

larp; larping noun the adult activity of recreating fantasy, generally quasi-mediaeval, adventures, such as those depicted in Tolkien's Lord of the Rings trilogy, usually performed with more enthusiasm than skill or accuracy. An acronym of 'live-action role-play' or 'role-playing' that first appeared in the early 1990s UK, 2003 larper noun a live-action role-player. From LARP UK, 2003 larrikin noun 1 a trouble-making youth, usually a male; a thug or tough. From British dialect, recorded in Warwickshire and Worcestershire; originally a term of the greatest contempt and the youths so labelled were the subject of much C19 media hype. Journalist Nat Gould described them (1898) as 'hideous-looking fellows, whose features bear traces of unmistakable indulgence in every loathsome vice'. The amelioration of the term relies on the difference between a 'healthy' disregard for authority and social convention and an 'unhealthy' one AUSTRALIA, 1868. 2 a fun-loving, good-natured mischief-maker; a scallywag. Seen as typically Australian and much romanticised in literature, as C.J. Dennis' character, the Sentimental Bloke. Now the prevailing sense AUSTRALIA, 1891 larrikin adjective of or befitting a larrikin AUSTRALIA, 1979

larrikinism noun 1 delinquent behaviour AUSTRALIA, 1870. 2 good-hearted playfulness AUSTRALIA, 1987

larrup verb to beat, to thrash, to hit vigorously UK, 1823 larruping noun a thrashing. From LARRUP (to beat) UK, 1889

larry noun 1 in a card game, the player who has the last chance to act in a given situation US, 1950. 2 in carnival usage, an unprofitable day or engagement US, 1966. ► doing a Larry working as a locum tenens, a (temporary) substitute in a professional medical position UK, 2002

Larry adjective in circus and carnival usage, worthless US, 1939

Larry Cadota noun a worthless novelty sold in the circus or carnival US, 1980

larry-dooley noun a beating; a hiding. Origin unknown. There is possibly a connection with a boxer named Larry Foley (1890s), but this seems hardly creditable AUSTRALIA, 1946 larval stage noun the initial burst of enthusiastic and single-minded focus experienced by computer enthusiasts US, 1991 lase verb to print a document on a laser printer US, 1991

lash noun 1 an attempt; a try-out; a go. From the earlier sense (a fight; fighting). Often in such phrases as 'have a lash at', 'give it a lash', etc AUSTRALIA, 1840. 2 an act of urination UK, 2001. ► on the lash engaged in a hedonistic, alcohol-inspired quest for pleasure UK, 2002

lash verb to dispose of. Extends the sense of LASH (an act of urination) UK, 2001. ► lash into to do something in a vigorous manner. From Irish dialect IRELAND, 2003 lashed; lashed up adjective drunk. Possibly from LASH-UP (a party) or directly from LASH (an act of urination), hence a variation of PISSED UK, 1999 lasher noun a female whose only appeal is sexual IRELAND, 2003

lashings noun plenty IRELAND, 1829

lash-up noun 1 a heavy drinking session UK, 2000. 2 an informal social occasion, especially a party UK, 1968 lason sa daga noun LSD. From the initials, but of unknown origin US, 1977 last call noun death US, 1977 last card in the pack noun 1 a snack. Theatrical rhyming slang UK, 1960. 2 dismissal from employment. Rhyming slang for 'sack'; sometimes abbreviated to 'last card' UK, 1992 last-card Louie noun in stud poker, a player who stays in a hand until his last card, improbably hoping for the one card that can produce a winning hand US, 1951

last chance noun the upper balcony in a cinema favoured by homosexuals US, 1966

lastish noun the most recently published issue of a single-interest fan magazine US, 1982 last mile noun in prison, the walk from the death cell to the execution chamber US, 1950

last of the big spenders; last of the big-time spenders noun used ironically of a mean person, or ruefully of yourself AUSTRALIA, 1975

LA stop noun a rolling stop at a traffic signal or stop sign US, 1999

last-out noun a work shift that starts at approximately midnight and ends eight hours later US, 1989

last rose of summer noun a hospital patient with an ever-melodramatic belief that death is near US, 1994

last waltz noun the walk taken by a prisoner condemned to death from the death cell to the execution chamber US, 1945

last week's pay noun used in horse racing as the epitome of speed AUSTRALIA, 1989

last year's fun on wheels noun a baby in a pram US, 1976 lat; lats; lat-house noun a latrine. Mainly military use UK, 1984 latch noun a railway engine throttle US, 1977

latch verb to understand US, 1938 latchico noun a ruffian IRELAND, 2003

latchkey adjective (of a child) unsupervised at the end of the school day because of working parents US, 1944 latch low noun in trucking, a very low gear US, 1946 late adjective ► late as Ellick proverbially late BARBADOS, 1965

Late Late nickname The Late Late Show, a very popular and long-running television chat-show hosted by Gay Byrne IRELAND, 1995 late-late show noun any television show that airs very late at night US, 1956 late-night noun 1 a bus ticket found on the street that is still valid. Prized by drug addicts desperate to raise funds to buy their next dose US, 1989. 2 a party after a party US, 2001 late-nighter credit card noun a length of rubber hose for siphoning petrol out of other people's cars CANADA, 1989 late night line; late night noun cocaine UK, 2002

later; latters; lates; later on; late goodbye US, 1954 later for that! I don't like that idea at all! US, 1987 later for you goodbye US, 1983 later, 'tater goodbye. An embellished LATER, with the 'tater' (potato) used only for the sake of reduplication US, 1978

latex noun a condom US, 1992 lather noun a condition of excitement; agitation, anxiety UK, 1839

lathered adjective drunk UK, 2002

Latin noun a Mexican, Latin American or Spanish-speaking person US, 1964 latrine Gene noun a soldier with a pathological need to be clean US, 1946 latrine lips noun a citizens' band radio user who employs a vocabulary that is considered foul or obscene US, 1976

latronic used as a farewell. A corruption of LATER ON US, 1991

lats noun 1 the latissimus dorsi muscles on the lower back US, 1939, 2 skis. Used in Michigan's Upper Peninsula US, 2003 ▷ see: LAT latte adjective pale. Italian latte (milk), widely used for a style of milky coffee, from which this derives – although latteo (milky) would be more correct. Recorded in contemporary gay use UK, 2003 lattie; latty noun a house or a flat. Polari UK, 1859

LA turnaround; LA turnaround noun a long-lasting amphetamine US, 1970 lau verb to place. Polari UK, 1967 laugh noun ▶ a laugh something funny, something merely amusing, often used ironically UK, 1930 laugh verb to be in a favourable position AUSTRALIA, 1969. ▶ be away laughing to make a good start NEW ZEALAND, 1964. ▶ laugh all the way to the bank to be financially successful, especially in the face of long odds or disapproval UK, 1984. ▶ laugh like a drain to laugh noisily, to guffaw. Referring to the noisy rushing of water down a drain or plughole UK, 1948. ▶ laugh your bollocks off to laugh uproariously UK, 2001. ▶ laugh your nuts off to laugh uproariously. NUTS (the testicles) punning on NUT (the head), hence a dubious pun on the more conventional idiom 'laugh your head off' UK, 2000. ▶ laugh your tits off to laugh a great deal UK, 1996 laugh and a joke; laugh noun a smoke: a cigarette, a cigar, a pipe or marijuana prepared for smoking. Rhyming slang UK, 1880 laugh and scratch verb to inject a drug, especially heroin. Derives from physical reactions UK, 1998 laugher noun in sports, an easy and overwhelming victory US, 1961 laughing academy noun a mental institution US, 1947 laughing boy; laughing girl noun used ironically as the title of a gloomy-looking person US, 1940 laughing Buddha noun a variety of LSD UK, 1996 laughing farm noun a mental institution US, 1965 laughing gear noun the mouth NEW ZEALAND, 1964. ▶ wrap your laughing gear around to eat AUSTRALIA, 1962 laughing grass noun marijuana. Derives from the tendency to laughter experienced by marijuana smokers US, 1954 laughing jackass noun a kookaburra, Dalco novaeguineae; a well-known Australian bird with a loud laugh-like call. Now but a little used term AUSTRALIA, 1798 laughing potato noun a new, dry potato CANADA, 1998 laughing-sides noun elastic-sided boots AUSTRALIA, 1937 laughing tobacco noun marijuana UK, 2003 laughing weed noun marijuana. Derives from the tendency to laughter experienced by marijuana smokers US, 1925 ▷ see also: GIGGLEWEED launch noun in drag racing, a quick and powerful start US, 1993 launching pad noun 1 a place where LSD is taken. Punning both on PAD (a place) and LSD as 'travel' US, 1971. 2 a lavatory seat in a (moving) train. Inspired by the image of an evacuation into space UK, 1970 launder verb to pass ill-gotten gains through a system of changes designed to legitimise their status UK, 1973 laundromat noun a business used to legitimise money gained in criminal enterprises. A play on LAUNDER (to decriminalise money) UK, 1998 laundry noun 1 a business used by organised crime to give illegally gained money the appearance of legitimacy US, 1997. 2 in homosexual usage, a bulge in a man's crotch. Humorous, suggesting that the bulge is produced by something other than the man's genitals US, 1964 laundry queen noun in circus and carnival usage, a female dancer US, 1981

Laura Norda noun law and order AUSTRALIA, 1971

Laurel and Hardy noun 1 Bacardi™ (a branded white rum). Rhyming slang, formed from the names of film comedians Stan Laurel (1890–1965) and Oliver Hardy (1892–1957) UK, 1992. 2 a yardie (a Jamaican gangster). Rhyming slang, based on film comedians Stan Laurel (1890–1965) and Oliver Hardy (1892–1957) UK, 2001 lav noun 1 a word UK, 2002. 2 a lavatory. Variant 'lavvy' UK, 1913 lavaliers noun the female breasts US, 1969 lavender adjective effeminate, homosexual US, 1929 lavender fascist noun an uncompromising, politically motivated homosexual UK, 1999 lavvy-diver noun a plumber. From 'lavvy' (a lavatory) UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 law noun ▶ have the law on someone to inform the police about someone UK, 1800. ▶ the law 1 the police, the law enforcement authorities US, 1893. 2 your parents. Teen slang US, 1955 law verb 1 to arrest US, 1935. 2 to impersonate the police for the purposes of extortion UK, 1956 lawing noun the act of impersonating a police officer for criminal purposes UK, 1956 lawn noun a woman's pubic hair US, 1964 lax up verb to have a laxative effect UK, 1990s lay noun 1 an act of sexual intercourse US, 1928. 2 a girl or a woman regarded as a sex-partner, usually with a modifying adjective such as easy, good, great, etc UK, 1635 lay verb to have sex. Most often heard in the passive UK, 1800. ▶ lay a batch to accelerate a car quickly and in so doing to leave rubber marks on the road US, 1969. ▶ lay a cable to defecate AUSTRALIA, 1979. ▶ lay a fart to fart US, 1951. ▶ lay a log to defecate. Extended from LOG (a turd) UK, 2003. ▶ lay chilly to relax US, 1981. ▶ lay dead 1 to remain silent US, 1976. 2 to stay in one place; to stay still US, 1949. 3 to idle, to waste time fooling around. Vietnam war usage US, 1991. ▶ lay dog to lie motionless in the jungle. Vietnam war reconnaissance patrol usage US, 1991. ▶ lay down some sparks to accelerate a car suddenly from rest, bringing the car frame or body into contact with the road and producing a shower of sparks US, 1980. ▶ lay down the law to dogmatise, especially in an argument; to insist on a mode of behaviour UK, 1762. ▶ lay eggs to drop bombs US, 1998. ▶ lay heat to fart US, 1998. ▶ lay in the cut to wait in hiding US, 1976. ▶ lay it down 1 in motorcyle racing, to spin out or fall, causing the motorcyle and the earth to meet; to intentionally throw a motorcyle on its side in the face of an impending accident US, 1962. 2 to explain the rules of a carnival midway game to a potential customer US, 1985. ▶ lay it on to inform, to report or explain fully US, 1975. ▶ lay it on thick; lay it on with a trowel; lay it on to do something in an excessive manner UK, 1600. ▶ lay on the iron in motor racing, to move inside another car on a turn, forcing it up and out of the fastest part of the track US, 1993. ▶ lay paper to pass counterfeit money or bad cheques US, 1972. ▶ lay pipe (used of a male) to have sex US, 1939. ▶ lay the leg to seduce or attempt to seduce US, 1981. ▶ lay the note to shortchange someone US, 1977. ▶ lay the smack down to engage in a physical fight US, 1999. ▶ lay track to lie US, 1992

layabout noun an unemployed idler UK, 1932 lay and pay in casino blackjack games, the practice of laying hands down, turning them over, and paying or collecting all bets at once US, 1980 layback noun a barbiturate, a central nervous system depressant US, 1970 lay bear noun in the carnival, a stuffed bear given to a girl by a game operator in return for sex US, 1985 lay-by noun on the railways, a passing track US, 1946 lay dead! wait just a minute! Teen slang US, 1958 laydeez noun ladies. Jocular; a phonetic spelling of an overly sincere or quasi-American pronunciation UK, 2001 laydown noun a gullible customer or buyer; an easy victim US, 1935 lay down verb 1 to play in a musical performance US, 1943. 2 to remand in custody UK, 1996 laydown merchant noun a criminal who passes or distributes forged money UK, 1996 lay down misère noun a certainty. A card-game usage brought into wider circulation AUSTRALIA, 1966 layer noun a bookmaker UK, 1937

layette noun the equipment necessary to prepare and inject a narcotic drug US, 1882 lay-for-pay noun sex with a prostitute US, 1956 lay-in noun permission from prison authorities to remain in bed in your cell instead of working US, 1972 lay into verb to attack verbally or physically UK, 1838 lay off verb 1 in betting, for one bookmaker to place a bet with another bookmaker to reduce the risk of loss AUSTRALIA, 1877. 2 to stop aggravating or interfering, to cease. Often as an imperative US, 1908 lay-off bet noun a hedging bet AUSTRALIA, 1966

lay of the day noun in horse racing, the best wager of the day AUSTRALIA, 1989

lay of the land noun in circus and carnival usage, a lead dancer in a sexually oriented dance show US, 1981 lay-on noun a gift of drugs UK, 1997 lay on verb to give US, 1936 layout noun 1 an apartment or house US, 1883. 2 the equipment used to prepare and inject, or smoke, narcotic drugs US, 1887. 3 a soldier who lies hidden in a hole observing enemy movements. Korean war usage US, 1957 lay out verb to engage in sexual two-timing IRELAND, 2003

lay up verb 1 to relax US, 1962. 2 to paint graffiti on train carriages while standing in a siding US, 1997

Lazarus ball noun in pinball, a ball that passes between the flippers but then miraculously bounces back into play US, 1979 laziosis noun laziness, presented with humour as a disease BELIZE, 1975 lazy arm noun in the television and film industries, a hand-held microphone boom UK, 1960 lazy-bones noun a loafer, a lazy person UK, 1592 lazyitis noun laziness, as a 'medical' condition. A combination of 'lazy' and the suffix -itis (used to create an imaginary disease) UK, 1967

Lazy K nickname HM prison Long Kesh. Military UK: NORTHERN IRELAND, 1979

lazy lob noun a partial erection of the penis UK, 1998 lazy money noun money kept in reserve, especially secretly AUSTRALIA, 1989

lazy wind noun a cold, biting wind AUSTRALIA, 2003

LBJ noun 1 LSD, especially when combined with some other drug. Probably a jocular transference of initials with those of former US President Lyndon Baines Johnson, 1908–73 US, 1982. 2 piperidyl benzilate, a hallucinogen US, 1970. 3 heroin UK, 1998. 4 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust UK, 2002

LBJ nickname during the Vietnam war, the Long Binh military stockade, South Vietnam US, 1977

LBJ Ranch nickname the Long Binh military stockade, South Vietnam. Playing on US President Lyndon B. Johnson's ranch in Johnson City, Texas, outside Austin US, 1973

L-bomb noun an explicit declaration of love US, 2002

LB's noun pounds, extra weight US, 1986 lead noun a pencil BARBADOS, 1965. ► get the lead out to stop dawdling, to hurry up US, 1919 lead verb ► lead up the garden path to lead on, to entice UK, 1925 lead balloon noun ► go down like a lead balloon; go over like a lead balloon of an action, to be poorly received, to be unsuccessful, to fail US, 1960

lead cocktail noun bullets US, 1949 leaded adjective caffeinated. Borrowing from the language of car fuel for application to the world of coffee drinks and, to a lesser extent, soft drinks US, 1996

Leader noun ► The Leader Frank Sinatra, US singer (1915–98) US, 1963

leadfoot noun a driver who consistently drives faster than necessary US, 1938 lead-foot verb to drive fast US, 1986 lead in the pencil noun the ability of a man to achieve an erection and ejaculate UK, 1925 lead joint noun in circus and carnival usage, a shooting gallery concession on the midway US, 1981 lead on, McDuff! let's go! let's get started! A mis-quotation from Shakespeare's Macbeth ('Lay on, McDuff') that became a catchphrase UK, 1912 lead pants noun a slow-moving, work-averse person US, 1947 lead-pipe cinch noun an absolute certainty US, 1894 lead poisoning noun wounds inflicted by a gun. From the lead in bullets US, 1883 lead singer noun a leader of a criminal gang US, 1997 lead sled noun 1 any aircraft that is considered underpowered or unresponsive US, 1961. 2 a CF-100 Canuck jet fighter aircraft. The aircraft first flew in 1950, and is also known as ALUMINIUM CROW and THE CLUNK CANADA, 1994. 3 a Boeing 727 aircraft. Allegedly from its heaviness during take off, the plane was produced from the early 1960s to 1984 US, 2002. 4 the US Air Force F-105 fighter-bomber. So named because it was the heaviest single-seat fighter plane in the world US, 1968. 5 in hot rodding and drag racing, a slow car US, 1968 leaf noun 1 marijuana US, 1961. 2 cocaine US, 1942. 3 a banknote. An extension of the imagery of LETTUCE (money) US, 1929 leaf colonel noun a lieutenant colonel US, 1946 leaffer noun a cheque, especially when forged or issued fraudulently UK, 1996 leaf pipe noun a credit-card sized pipe for smoking marijuana UK, 1999 league noun ► out of your league used of anything or anyone of a superior quality; to be out of your league is to be of a lesser condition, out-classed UK, 1966

leaguey noun a Rugby League player or follower AUSTRALIA, 2003 leak noun 1 an act of urination. The verb 'leak', found in Shakespeare as a vulgar synonym for 'urinate', has been supplanted by the noun use of the term US, 1918. 2 an unauthorised disclosure of confidential or secret information; the person making such a disclosure US, 1939. 3 in casino gambling, any dealer error or weakness US, 1991 leak verb 1 to urinate UK, 1596. 2 to sweat UK, 1995. 3 to ejaculate. Also embellished as 'leak out' or 'leak off' FJI, 1984. 4 to weep US, 1883. 5 to reveal secret or confidential information in an underhanded, secret manner US, 1859 leakage noun in a casino or gambling operation, the money lost to cheats and thieves US, 1963

leaker noun 1 in gambling, a bettor who loses large amounts of money quickly US, 1997. 2 in motor racing, an engine that is not well maintained, whether or not it actually leaks lubricants or other fluids US, 1993 leak light noun in television and film-making, unwanted light US, 1990 leaky bladder noun a ladder. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 leaky faucet noun a urinary tract or reproductive system disorder causing a urinary or vaginal discharge US, 1988 leaky leak noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 2001 lean noun a combination of codeine-infused cough syrup and alcohol or soda US, 1998 lean and linger noun a finger. Rhyming slang US, 1929 lean and lurch noun a church. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 leaner noun a shelf or high table in a bar provided for standing drinkers NEW ZEALAND, 1995 lean on verb 1 to threaten with force as a means of persuasion; to bring pressure to bear US, 1931. 2 to physically assault US, 1911 leaper noun 1 any central nervous system stimulant, especially amphetamine US, 1961. 2 a cocaine user after sustained cocaine use. From the nervousness produced by cocaine use US, 1973. 3 a person who threatens to or actually does jump to their death US, 1954 leapers noun wads of cotton soaked in Benzedrine™ (amphetamine sulphate, a central nervous system stimulant) extracted from an inhaler US, 1967 leaping adjective drug-intoxicated US, 1925 leaping heap noun a Harrier aircraft. Royal Air Force use UK, 2002

Leaping Lena noun 1 a light truck US, 1971. 2 a train that ran from Darwin to Birdum. Also known as the 'abortion express' AUSTRALIA, 1940 leaps noun anxiety, nervousness US, 1922 learn verb to teach. In conventional use from about 1300; in C19 it came to be considered colloquial and, now, vulgar UK, 1937

Leary's noun LSD. Named after 'LSD guru' Timothy Leary, 1920–1996 UK, 2003 lease louse noun a dealer in oil field leases US, 1953 leash noun a line attached at one end to a surfer and at the other to the surfboard US, 1977 leather noun 1 a wallet or purse US, 1949. 2 in circus and carnival usage, a pickpocket US, 1936. 3 in homosexual usage, the anus US, 1941. 4 in horse racing, the small whip carried by jockeys US, 1951 leather verb to thrash. Originally, from early C17, 'to beat with a leather strap'; during mid- to late C19 usage became more generalised UK, 1998 leather adjective used for denoting leather fetishistic and sado-masochistic symbolism in sexual relationships US, 1964 leather ass noun in poker, the bodily manifestation of great patience US, 1981 leather bar noun a bar with a homosexual clientele whose fashion sense is leather-oriented and whose sexual tastes are sado-masochistic US, 1963 leather cesspool noun a bar or club that caters to low-lives US, 1971 leathered adjective drunk. Derives from LEATHER (to thrash) UK, 2002 leathering noun a physical thrashing; a verbal thrashing UK, 1791 leatherneck noun a US Marine. Possibly from an earlier usage as 'Royal Marine' (a BOOTNECK); ultimately from a leather collar, part of the historical uniform of both services US, 1890

Leatherneck Square nickname four US Marine bases in South Vietnam that formed a quadrilateral US, 1976 leather up verb to prepare the cracks of a safe for the placement of nitroglycerin which will blast it open US, 1949 leave noun in pool, the position of the balls after a shot US, 1990 leave verb ► leave it 1 to stop talking about something, to change the subject. Often as an imperative UK, 1997. 2 used imperatively, to resist a temptation to get into a fight. A widely used call for peace that appears to be generally ignored and serves, therefore, as little more than a rhetorical spur in the arsenal of aggression UK, 2001. ► leave seeds to impregnate US, 1998. ► leave someone cold to fail to arouse any interest or excitement in someone UK, 1857. ► leave someone holding the baby to abandon a responsibility and, instead, leave someone else to deal with any difficulties UK, 1928

leave it out! stop that!, shut up! UK, 1982 leave off verb to cease doing something; often as an imperative UK, 1400 leaver noun in drag racing, a driver who starts before the start signal, thereby forfeiting the race US, 1993

leaverite noun a worthless mineral CANADA, 1989

leaves noun cigarette papers UK, 1996

Leb; Lebanese noun 1 hashish from cannabis plants cultivated in the Lebanon UK, 1975. 2 a Lebanese person, or any person from an Arabic background. 'Leb', 'Lebo' and 'Lebbo' are commonly used derogatorily by Anglo-Australians, but amongst the Arabic-based ethnic community used positively, much the same as wog AUSTRALIA, 1994 lebanese noun a lesbian. A deliberate malapropism, recorded in contemporary gay use UK, 2003

Lebanese gold; gold Lebanese; gold leb noun golden-hued cannabis resin from the Middle East UK, 2002

Lebo; Lebbo noun a Lebanese person, or any person from an Arabic background AUSTRALIA, 2000

Lebo; Lebbo adjective Lebanese; from an Arabic background AUSTRALIA, 1995

leccy; leck noun electricity UK, 1999 leccy; lecky adjective electric, as in 'lecky kettle', 'leccy blanket', etc UK, 1984 ledge noun an impressive person. Shortening of LEGEND AUSTRALIA, 1988

lee-gate verb to peep US, 1975

leem noun a completely inept person CANADA, 1994

Lee Marvin adjective very hungry. Rhyming slang for 'starving'; based on the name of film actor Lee Marvin, 1924–87 UK, 1998 leery adjective 1 bad-tempered, disagreeable; insolent UK, 1977. 2 distrustful, cautious. Originally underworld usage. Also spelt 'leary' UK, 1718 leet noun an Internet user who is categorised, often self-categorised, as 'elite'. A reduction of 'elite'; used (especially on bulletin-boards) as an antonym for LAMER US, 1998 leet talk; leet; I33t; leet speak; I33t 5p34k noun a written slang used for Internet and text communications in which numerals and non-alphabet characters replace letters. After LEET (an 'elite' Internet user) US, 2001

Lee Van Cleef; lee van noun beef (meat). Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a US film actor, 1925–89 UK, 1998 left and right noun a fight. Rhyming slang UK, 1961

left field noun ► out of left field unexpected, unforeseen, from nowhere US, 1946 left field adjective different, out of the ordinary. Figurative use of baseball jargon US, 1967 left-footer noun 1 a Roman Catholic. Used by Northern Ireland Protestants. Probably derives from a turf-cutting spade that is pushed into the ground with the left foot, but there is also a suggestion that a left-footer is simply 'out of step' with the 'right-minded' user UK, 1961. 2 a homosexual NEW ZEALAND, 1998 left-handed adjective homosexual US, 1929 left-handed bricklayer noun a Freemason. An army coinage UK, 1975 left-handed cigarette noun a marijuana cigarette US, 1991 left-hander noun a criminal. Superstition holds the dextrous (right-handed) to be righteous and the sinister (left-handed) to be evil UK, 2000 left-sided adjective homosexual. A variation of LEFT-HANDED current in UK prisons, August 2002, explained by one inmate as 'they are not on the right side of sexuality' UK, 2002

lefty; leftie noun a political left-winger US, 1935 lefty; leftie adjective politically left-wing, liberal UK, 1939 leg noun 1 sex; women as sex objects. The functional equivalent of 'ass' US, 1966. 2 a straight-leg or infantry soldier US, 1964 ► see: LEG OF MUTTON. ► around the leg currying favour with prison administration US, 1989. ► find another leg; grow another leg (used of a racehorse) to perform well in muddy track conditions AUSTRALIA, 1989. ► get the leg over; get your leg over; get a leg over to have sex, generally from a male perspective UK, 1975. ► give someone leg to tease someone US, 1971. ► not have a leg to

- stand on in an argument or dispute, to be in a defenceless position UK, 1594
- leg verb to shoplift by hiding merchandise between your legs under a skirt US, 1972. ► leg a hand in poker, to reserve the right to make a bet even though the player has a good hand US, 1979.
► leg it to walk, to walk fast, to run; to hurry; to run away UK, 1601
- legal noun a lawyer UK, 1996
- legal aid noun lemonade. Glasgow rhyming slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1988
- legal beagle noun a lawyer, especially one who is sharply intelligent or keen US, 1949
- legal eagle noun a lawyer US, 1939
- legalese noun in computing, impenetrable language US, 1991
- legal high noun any substance that is not restricted by drug control legislation that mimics (or is claimed to mimic) the effect of an illegal drug UK, 2004
- legalize it verb in trucking, to slow down to the speed limit US, 1976
- legal needle noun the legal speed limit US, 1976
- leg bail noun escape from jail or prison UK, 1759
- leg before wicket; LBW noun a ticket, especially in the sense of something pleasing or satisfying. Rhyming slang, from the cricketering term (and its abbreviation) UK, 1962
- leg bus noun the adult leg when walking and carrying/dragging a child along UK, 2002
- legend noun 1 an impressive person AUSTRALIA, 1989. 2 a surfer with an old-fashioned, long surfboard AUSTRALIA, 1991
- legend adjective excellent, admirable IRELAND, 2003
- leger noun a stand at a racecourse some distance from the finishing post. After St Leger, a famous English horse race AUSTRALIA, 1907
- legger noun ► do a legger to run away, to escape on foot IRELAND, 1991
- leggings noun the rubbing of the penis between the thighs of another man until reaching orgasm US, 1934
- leggnor noun a year's prison sentence UK, 1950
- leggo! let go! An urgent slovening US, 1884
- leggo beas' adverb wild, disorderly. From 'let go beast' (an uncontrolled animal) JAMAICA, 1991
- leggo beast noun a promiscuous young woman GRENADA, 1976
- leggy noun a cord attached to a surfer and their surfboard US, 1987
- leg irons noun climbing irons used in electric and telephone line work US, 1980
- legit noun ► on the legit legitimate; legitimately US, 1930
- legit adjective 1 legitimate UK, 1909. 2 used to describe serious theatre (drama, as opposed to variety, revue, etc), the acting or an actor employed therein UK, 1908
- legit adverb honestly, legitimately UK, 1908
- legits noun dice that have not been altered US, 1977
- legless adjective 1 drunk UK, 1976. 2 in horse racing, lacking ability AUSTRALIA, 1989
- legman noun an assistant who does the leg work US, 1923
- lego noun an infantry soldier, not attached to an airborne division US, 1971
- leg of beef noun a thief. Rhyming slang UK, 1992
- leg of lamb noun an impressive person. Jocular alteration of LEGEND AUSTRALIA, 1996
- leg of mutton; leg noun a button. Rhyming slang UK, 1992
- leg of pork noun chalk. Rhyming slang UK, 1998
- leg opener noun something, usually an alcoholic drink, which assists in persuading a woman into having sexual intercourse AUSTRALIA, 1945
- legover; leg over noun (from a male perspective) conventional sexual intercourse. Often in phrases 'a bit of leg over', 'get your leg over', etc UK, 1969
- leg piece noun a dance performance in which the female dancers are scantily dressed or naked US, 1973
- leg-pull noun an act of teasing or mockery. From PULL SOMEONE'S LEG US, 1895
- leg-rope verb to marry or tie down in a relationship NEW ZEALAND, 1956
- legs noun 1 in the entertainment industry, staying power and continuing popularity US, 1978. 2 stamina in sport; staying power AUSTRALIA, 1986. 3 the duration of the intoxication from a central nervous system stimulant US, 1989. 4 (of a shot in pool) momentum, force US, 1835. 5 an ability to continue or last AUSTRALIA, 1995. 6 a bicycle messenger CANADA, 1993. ► do your legs in police slang, to severely damage your career prospects UK, 1999. ► have legs all the way up to your armpits/bum to have long, beautiful legs AUSTRALIA, 1944
- leg show noun a stage performance featuring bare-legged female dancers UK, 1882
- Leicester square; leicester noun a chair. Rhyming slang UK, 1998
- lekker; lecker adjective pleasant, excellent, delicious, etc. From Afrikaans SOUTH AFRICA, 1847
- lel; lell verb to take. Polari; the original Romany sense implied seizure or arrest UK, 1889
- lem noun a person who is on his or her own. A shortening of 'lemon'. Teen slang UK, 2003
- lemac noun a Camel™ cigarette US, 1989
- lemon noun 1 in used-car sales, a mechanically unsound vehicle, or one with a dubious history UK, 2005. 2 a simple-minded fool US, 1906. 3 anything or anyone that is undesirable. Probably from the least valuable symbol on a fruit-machine US, 1906. 4 in marketing, a woman who lives alone and is unlikely to be interested in financial sector products. Fruit-machine imagery, informed by the previous sense; the complete opposite is a PLUM UK, 1998. 5 a lesbian. Perhaps playing on FRUIT AUSTRALIA, 1983. 6 a heavily diluted narcotic US, 1952. 7 a woman's pubic hair, hence the vagina UK, 1976. 8 in pool, a person who loses intentionally US, 1990. 9 a light-skinned black person US, 1970. ► up the lemon; up the lemon puff pregnant. Rhyming slang for UP THE DUFF (pregnant); a lemon puff is a popular biscuit UK, 2001
- lemon adjective ostentatious UK, 2000
- lemon 714 noun a tablet of the recreational drug methaqualone, best known as Quaaludes™. Quaaludes™ were originally manufactured by Rorer, and were stamped 'Rorer 714'. Lemon eventually bought the patent from Rorer, continuing the '714' stamp. Virtually all pills stamped with '714' today are counterfeit US, 1993
- lemonade noun 1 a spade, either as a suit of cards or in the offensive slang sense of a black person UK, 1992. 2 poor quality heroin. Often shortened to 'lemon' US, 1957
- lemonade verb in poolroom betting, to miss a shot or lose a game intentionally US, 1967
- lemonade stand noun the small house-like cabin on a lobster boat US, 1978
- lemon and dash noun a wash-place. Rhyming slang UK, 1961
- lemon and lime noun time. Rhyming slang UK, 1992
- lemon and limes noun a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 1996
- lemon barley noun cocaine. Rhyming slang for CHARLIE UK, 1996
- lemon curd noun 1 a young woman. Rhyming slang for BIRD. Sometimes abbreviated to 'lemon' UK, 1988. 2 a piece of excrement. Rhyming slang for TURD UK, 1998
- lemon drop noun 1 a police officer. Rhyming slang for COP. Sometimes abbreviated to 'lemon' UK, 1998. 2 a birth control pill. Alluding to a popular hard sweet US, 1970
- lemon flavour; lemon noun a favour. Rhyming slang UK, 1998
- lemon player noun a person who plays lemon pool US, 1969
- lemon pool noun a pool swindle in which a skilled player lets an opponent win until high stakes are bet and then wins, making it look like he was extremely lucky US, 1969

lemon pop noun a piece of plastic or thin metal used to slip between the moulding and the top of the window on push-button locking cars, from which a loop of dental floss is dropped over the post on the door and yanked to open the door US, 1996 lemon squash noun a wash. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 lemon-squeezer; lemon noun a fellow, a man. Rhyming slang for GEEZER UK, 1979

lemon squeezey adjective easy. Rhyming slang, taken from an elaboration of EASY-PEASY UK, 1998 lemon tart noun a fart. Rhyming slang UK, 2003 lemon tea noun urination; an act of urination. Rhyming slang for WEE or PEE, perhaps inspired by the appearance of the drink UK, 1998 lend noun a loan. A colloquial or dialect term, also recorded in Australia and New Zealand UK, 1575 length noun the penis, especially when erect NEW ZEALAND, 2002.

► you would not walk the length of yourself used of a very lazy person UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

Len Hutton noun a button. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a famous cricketer, 1916–90; probably no longer in use UK, 1992 lenllo noun a marijuana cigarette US, 2001

Len Lott adjective hot. Rhyming slang alluding to an Australian jockey AUSTRALIA, 1989

Lenny the Lion noun a male homosexual. Rhyming slang for IRON (IRON HOOE), which is itself rhyming slang for POOF (a male homosexual); formed from the name of a ventriloquist's dummy, a slightly effeminate lion, created by Terry Hall, popular on UK television during the 1950s and 60s UK, 1992

leño noun marijuana; a marijuana cigarette. Spanish for a LOG US, 1955 leños noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust. Probably related to LEÑO (marijuana) US, 1984 lens noun a dose of LSD; LSD US, 1994

Leo Fender; Leo adjective homosexual. Rhyming slang for BENDER (a homosexual). Leo Fender (1909–91) was an inventor and designer of electric guitars UK, 2002

Leo Sayer noun an event that lasts all day, especially a drinking spree or a rave. Rhyming slang for 'all-dayer', based on the name of singer/songwriter Leo Sayer (b.1948) UK, 2002

Leo's loot noun the major portion of criminal profits. A play on 'lion's share' UK, 1956 lepping noun in a highly emotional state IRELAND, 1951

lepta adjective eleven UK, 2002 lergy lerg noun a completely non-existent disease US, 1947 ► see: DREADED LURGI

Leroy noun used as a term of address by US soldiers for black soldiers from the rural south US, 1991 les noun a lesbian UK, 1929

lesb adjective lesbian US, 1968 lesbian bed death noun a marked drop in libido experienced in some long-term lesbian relationships US, 1994 lesbie noun a lesbian AUSTRALIA, 1966 lesbie friends noun a pair of lesbians. Punning on LESBIE and the phrase 'let's be friends'. Generally used by teenagers as an innuendo AUSTRALIA, 1987 lesbo; lezbo noun a lesbian US, 1927 lesbro noun a male who prefers the company of lesbians. A compound of lesbian and brother UK, 2005 les girls noun lesbians US, 1982 lesionaire noun an AIDS patient. Gallows humour to an extreme US, 1989 leslie noun a lesbian US, 1967

Leslie Ash verb to urinate. Rhyming slang for SLASH, formed from the name of the British actress (b.1960) UK, 2003 leso noun a lesbian AUSTRALIA, 1941

leso; lezo; lezzo adjective lesbian AUSTRALIA, 1987 lessie noun a lesbian US, 1938 lessie adjective lesbian AUSTRALIA, 1987

let verb ► let fly to hit out, to attack physically or verbally UK, 1859.

► let it all hang out to behave in an uninhibited manner; to be free of convention; to hide nothing. Originally black musicians' usage; adopted into the counterculture of the 1960s and 70s, then absorbed into the psychobabble of 'alternative' and 'new age' therapies, where it remains current US, 1970. ► let off; let one off; let go; let one go; let one loose to fart UK, 1970. ► let on to reveal a secret UK, 1725. ► let rip to let go with considerable, or maximum, force; to shout; to accelerate, UK, 1843. ► let someone down easily; let someone down gently to disappoint someone in as non-hurtful a manner as possible UK, 1834. ► let someone have it to attack someone, to give someone a beating or a severe reprimand. The ambiguous nature of the phrase 'Let him have it, Chris' is key to understanding the 1952 murder of a policeman by teenager Chris Craig: did the instruction given by 19-year-old Derek Bentley mean hand over the gun to the police officer, or shoot him? Bentley was executed and posthumously pardoned. The 1991 film of the crime is entitled Let Him Have It UK, 1848. ► let the eel swim upstream to have sex US, 2001 letch; lech noun 1 a sudden, powerful sexual urge UK, 1796. 2 a lecher US, 1943

letch; lech verb to behave lecherously; to ogle US, 1943 letch water noun pre-orgasm penile secretions; semen. Ultimately comes from 'lechery' UK, 2002 letchy; lechy adjective lecherous UK, 1968 letdown noun a disappointment UK, 1861 let George do it! on the railways, used as a humorous attempt to delegate an unpleasant task. Pullman porters, low men on the food chain of railway workers, were known as George US, 1975

let in on verb to admit into a secret US, 1929 let it lay! forget about it! US, 1947 let's be having you! used as a summons to work. This phrase also serves as the foundation for a well-known slang-pun on the location of lesbians: 'Lesbie Avenue' UK, 1984 let's face it! used for expressing a requirement for an honest appraisal of the facts when confronting or discussing something; often used as meaningless verbal padding UK, 1937

let's get ready to rumble! used for evoking the onset of a competition of some sort. Made famous by Michael Buffer, who introduced boxing, sporting and entertainment events with the signature 'Let's get ready to rumble'. Wildly popular in many contexts US, early 1990s let's have some! let's fight A call to arms UK, 2000 let's squirm, worm used as an invitation to dance US, 1945

let's talk trash used as a formulaic greeting US, 1951 letterbomb noun a piece of e-mail with features that will disrupt the computers of some or all recipients US, 1991 letter from home noun a black African US, 1972 letterhack noun a fan who corresponds with many other fans US, 1978 letters noun those abbreviations of degree, or degrees, or other educational qualifications, honours or awards for gallantry that are displayed after a person's name UK, 1961 letterzine noun a fan magazine that only publishes letters US, 1976 let the dog see the bone!; let the dog see the rabbit! a catchphrase used by, or of, someone who wishes to do or see something. UK, 1961 lettie noun a lesbian. Gay slang, originating among those known in the racial categorisation of South Africa as Cape coloureds SOUTH AFRICA, 2000 letties noun lodgings. Polari, from parleyaree; the plural of 'letty' (a bed) UK, 1859 lettuce noun money, especially paper money US, 1903 lettuce leaves noun money, especially one-pound notes. Used by beatniks of the late 1950s and early 60s; extending the imagery of LETTUCE (money) UK, 1966 letty verb to sleep. Polari; from 'letty' (a bed) UK, 2002 level noun ► on the level honest, truthful, trustworthy. Also used as an adverb US, 1872 level adjective good, excellent CANADA, 1993 level; level with verb to speak or act honestly, to be frank about something previously concealed, to tell the truth US, 1921 level best noun your absolute best or utmost US, 1851 levels noun legitimate, square, unaltered dice US, 1950 levels on the splonk noun in betting odds, evens. Used in racing circles, especially amongst bookmakers UK, 1967 levels you devils; levels noun in betting odds, evens UK, 1967 leviathan noun a heavy backer of horses AUSTRALIA, 1874 leviathan adjective (of a bookmaker or gambler) wealthy, heavy betting AUSTRALIA, 1950

Levy and Frank; levy noun an act of masturbation; also used as a verb. Rhyming slang for WANK, formed from the name of a well-known firm of public house and restaurant proprietors UK, 1958

Lewinsky noun an act of oral sex. Usually in the passive phrase 'get a Lewinsky' but the active 'give good Lewinsky' has been used. In 1995 Monica Lewinsky was a White House intern; she was a central figure in US President Bill Clinton's later attempt to exclude oral sex from a general definition of sexual relations US, 1999

Lex nickname 1 the Federal Narcotics Hospital in Lexington, Kentucky US, 1960. 2 a Lexus car US, 1997

lez noun a lesbian US, 1929 lez verb ► lez it up to behave (sexually) as lesbians UK, 2003

lez adjective lesbian US, 1969 lezo; lezzo noun a lesbian AUSTRALIA, 1945

lezza noun a lesbian UK, 2002 lezzier noun a lesbian AUSTRALIA, 1968

lezzie; lezzy noun a lesbian. Usually offensive US, 1938

LF gear noun the proceeds of a long firm fraud UK, 1977 liamba; lianda noun cannabis. African slang US, 2001 liar verb to tell lies UK, 1999 liard noun a pathological liar TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

liar's bench noun a settee in front of a country store US, 1963 lib noun 1 liberation. Usually allied to a specific political cause, most famously 'women's lib' UK, 1970. 2 liberty UK, 1996. 3 Librium™, a branded depressant UK, 2003 lib verb to release from prison. Abbreviated from 'liberate' UK, 2000 libber noun a feminist. From 'Woman's Liberation' as the name for the feminist movement of the late 1960s US, 1972 libbo noun a liberty UK, 2000

libe; libes noun a library US, 1915 liberate verb 1 to steal. Coined in irony by US soldiers during World War 2, and then recycled by the political and cultural left of the 1960s US, 1944. 2 to take control of US, 1968 liberated adjective free from narrow, conventional thinking US, 1970 liberati noun a notional grouping of people who promote liberal principles. Formed with the suffix -ERATI. Used, in a derogatory sense, by British politician David Blunkett UK, 2004 liberation noun 1 theft in the name of a cause. Said either with irony or a complete lack of humour, depending on the self-righteousness of the speaker US, 1970. 2 left-wing politics US, 1968 liberty noun a twenty-five-cent piece. From the inscription on the coin US, 1947 liberty act noun in the circus, an act in which horses perform without riders US, 1973 library noun a brakevan (caboose) US, 1946 lice bin noun a dirty, unsanitary place US, 1971 license noun freedom to break the law in an area by virtue of having bribed the police US, 1950

-licious suffix used in combination with a general or generic characteristic to describe the object as especially attractive within or with regard to the genre UK, 2002 lick noun 1 a musical phrase UK, 1932. 2 a small amount US, 1814. 3 in betting, a huge win AUSTRALIA, 1989. 4 a robbery US, 2002. 5 a fast speed UK, 1847. 6 an intoxicating experience with crack cocaine UK, 2000. 7 any mistake, from a slight error to a complete disaster. Vietnam war usage US, 1991. 8 oral sex US, 1973. 9 a serving of ice-cream NEW ZEALAND, 1998. ► the lick anything that is currently considered as stylish, fashionable or best UK, 2003 lick verb 1 to beat, to thrash UK, 1535. 2 to shoot and kill US, 1994. 3 to move or act quickly BERMUDA, 1985. 4 to smoke (marijuana) JAMAICA, 2000. ► lick arse; lick ass to behave in a subservient manner. A variation of KISS ARSE UK, 1959. ► lick butt to behave subserviently. A variation of KISS BUTT US, 1990 ► see: KISS ARSE. ► lick like lizard to use a technique of short, quick laps while performing oral sex on a woman JAMAICA, 2002. ► lick shit to lick crack cocaine for a short-lived sensation of intoxication UK, 1996. ► lick the cat to perform oral sex on a woman US, 2001. ► lick the dew off her lily to engage in oral sex on a woman US, 2001. ► lick the rock to use crack cocaine UK, 1996 lick about verb to live a carefree, hedonistic life BARBADOS, 1965 lick-box noun a person who performs oral sex on women US, 1949 lick down verb to physically assault, to force submission. Elaboration of LICK (to beat) UK, 1994 licked adjective defeated UK, 1976 lickety-split adverb speedily, headlong. In recognisable variations from 1831 and uncertain spelling from 1848 US, 1831 lickle; likkle adjective little. Originally childish and twee as 'lickle me' and 'ickle me', and continues to be so. Contemporary use in UK black patois, however, is not cute UK, 1994 lick length phrase used to refuse or reject. 'To lick LENGTH' (the penis) is 'to perform oral sex', used here to suggest an extremely unlikely alternative UK, 2001 lick-mouth noun a gossip BARBADOS, 1965 lick-mouth adjective salacious, gossip-bearing, inappropriately concerned with the business of others BARBADOS, 1980 lick my helmet! used emphatically to dismiss or reject. Based on HELMET (the head of the penis) UK, 2001 lick papers noun the thin paper used to roll a marijuana cigarette. A term first applied to paper used to hand-roll tobacco cigarettes, and then later, and briefly, to paper used to roll marijuana cigarettes US, 1986 licks noun a beating. From conventional 'lick' (a blow). Probably since late C18, contemporary usage mainly black UK, 1994 licorice stick; liquorice stick noun a clarinet US, 1935 lid noun 1 a hat US, 1896. 2 a motorcycle helmet with face protection US, 1994. 3 a submarine hatch cover UK, 1979. 4 in a card game, the top card of the deck US, 1988. 5 an approximate measure (variously twenty-two grams, or one to two ounces) of loose, uncleaned marijuana. Derived from the lid of a tobacco tin, a convenient measure of sufficient marijuana to roll about forty cigarettes US, 1966 ► see: SAUCEPAN LID. ► on its lid (of a vehicle) overturned US, 2004. ► out of your lid drug-intoxicated UK, 2003. ► put the lid on; put the tin lid on to conceal something; to bring some activity or enterprise to an (unwelcome) end UK, 1909 lid-poppers noun an amphetamine or other central nervous system stimulant. The 'lid' in question is a head US, 1971 lid-propper noun an amphetamine or other central nervous system stimulant US, 1967 lids noun units of currency IRELAND, 2003 lie verb to talk US, 1973. ► lie through your teeth to lie deliberately UK, 1952 lie box noun a polygraph US, 1955 lie-down noun in prison, time spent in the segregation unit UK, 1996 lie down verb in pool, to play below your skill level to lure strangers into playing against you for money US, 1993 lie low verb to be in hiding; to behave in a manner that ought not to attract attention UK, 1880 lie sheet noun a truck driver's log book US, 1971

lieut; loot noun a lieutenant US, 1759

lieuty noun a lieutenant US, 1998 life noun life imprisonment AUSTRALIA, 1833. ► go for your life to partake enthusiastically; to go all out AUSTRALIA, 1920. ► have a life; get a life to enjoy a well-rounded life including work, family, friends and interests US, 1985. ► in the life homosexual US, 1963. ► not for the life of you expresses the impossibility of your doing, understanding 'something', etc. Hyperbole UK, 1809. ► the life 1 the criminal lifestyle; the lifestyle of prostitution US, 1916. 2 the business and lifestyle of professional wrestling US, 1999. ► there's life in the old dog yet; there's life in the old girl yet he, or she, is still very much alive, and, especially, capable of sexual activity UK, 1857 life and death; life noun breath, especially bad breath. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 lifeboat noun release from prison as a result of parole board action or a commutation of sentence US, 1908

lifed-up adjective sentenced to life imprisonment UK, 2002 life in London noun used for describing an easy, carefree lifestyle TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1991 life jacket noun a condom. Safe sex saves lives US, 1989 life off verb to sentence someone to life imprisonment UK, 2000 life of Riley noun a pleasurable, carefree existence. Occasionally spelt 'Reilly' UK, 1919 life on the installment plan noun a series of prison sentences with brief periods of freedom between, which have the cumulative effect of a life sentence US, 1949 lifer *noun 1 a career member of the armed forces US, 1962. 2 a prisoner sentenced to penal servitude for life AUSTRALIA, 1827. 3 a person who has been given a traffic ticket. Ironical usage US, 1984. 4 a drug addict *US, 1971 lifer's dream noun a Soviet-made SKS Type 54 carbine rifle, used by the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong during the Vietnam war. Treasured as the ultimate war trophy by US Marines in Vietnam US, 1990 life saver noun heroin UK, 2003

Liffey water noun porter (ale); any dark beer or stout, especially Guinness™. Rhyming slang. Later use is heavily influenced by the association of Guinness with water drawn in Dublin from the River Liffey UK, 1961 lift noun 1 the act of shoplifting US, 1971. 2 the early euphoric sensation after using a drug US, 1973 lift verb 1 to steal UK, 1526. 2 to arrest UK, 1979. 3 to work out with weights US, 1990. 4 to transfer matter from one periodical to another. Used by journalists and printers UK, 1891 liftbird noun any troop transport plane. Vietnam war usage US, 1982 lift doesn't go to the top floor descriptive of a fool UK, 1999 lifted adjective drug-intoxicated US, 1942 lifter noun an explosive charge. Mining slang NEW ZEALAND, 1965

liftie noun a ski-lift operator CANADA, 1996

lift-one-drag-one noun a person with a pronounced limp US, 1997 lift-op noun a ski-lift operator US, 1995 lifts noun hydraulic lifts installed in a car, operated from within the car body to make the car rise or fall suddenly. A key component of a LOWRIDER'S car US, 1980

lig noun a music industry social event UK, 1983

ligger noun a shameless name-dropping hanger-on attached to a rock band US, 1985 light noun a tracer bullet US, 1965 light verb ► light a shuck to depart suddenly, to move fast. This phrase is derived from the use of flaming cornhusks for light CANADA, 1903. ► light the rugs in drag racing, to accelerate in a fashion that makes the tyres smoke US, 1965. ► light the wienies in drag racing, to smoke the tyres when the race begins US, 1965 light adjective 1 short of funds, especially in the context of a payment owed US, 1955. 2 in poker, owing chips to the collective bet on a hand US, 1967. 3 (used of an arrest warrant) susceptible to attack by a skilled defence attorney US, 1973. 4 unarmed; without a weapon US, 1974 light across the carpet adjective homosexual UK, 2000 light and bitter noun a shitter (in all senses). Rhyming slang, formed from a mix of beers UK, 2003 light artillery noun 1 the equipment needed to inject a drug US, 1950. 2 beans US, 1946 light, bright, damn near white; bright, white and dead white adjective (used of a black person) very light-skinned US, 1945 light colonel noun a lieutenant colonel US, 1954 lightem noun crack cocaine. Evocative of the urging 'light 'em up' US, 1993 lighten verb ► lighten the tongue to avoid Creole and make a point of using conventional English BELIZE, 1996 lighten up verb to become less serious, to calm down; to cease aggravating. Often an imperative; from the conventional sense 'to relieve (the heart or mind)' US, 1946 lighter noun a crewcut haircut. Teen slang US, 1951 light-fingered adjective inclined to thievery UK, 1547 lightfoot noun a sneak thief UK, 1996 light green noun 1 a white person; a Caucasian. Marine usage in Vietnam US, 1991. 2 marijuana, especially inexpensive, low grade marijuana US, 1973 lighthouse noun in dominoes, a double played by a player who has no matching pieces US, 1964 light housekeeping noun cohabitation as an unmarried couple US, 1971

lightie noun a child UK, 2000 light infantry noun bedbugs, body lice and/or fleas US, 1949 light in the loafers adjective homosexual. A wonderful, old-fashioned euphemism US, 1967 lightning noun any amphetamine, methamphetamine or other central nervous system stimulant US, 1977 lightning and thunder noun whisky and soda US, 1945 lightning bug noun a helicopter equipped with a powerful search light or flares, usually teamed with several gunships US, 1990

lightning flash noun LSD. A variation on FLASH UK, 1998 lightning hashish noun high quality hashish retained by dealers for their own use US, 1982 light off verb to experience an orgasm US, 1971 light of love; love noun a prison governor. Rhyming slang UK, 1996 light of my life noun a wife. Rhyming slang, often with ironic or parodic intent UK, 1998 light on adjective in sparse supply of AUSTRALIA, 1944 light on her feet adjective (of a man) homosexual US, 1967 light out verb to leave, especially in a hurry US, 1865 light pipe noun fibre optic cable US, 1991 light rations noun in horse racing, a drastic diet undertaken by a jockey to lose weight AUSTRALIA, 1989 lights noun 1 the eyes UK, 1820. 2 in poker, the chips owed by a player who bet without sufficient funds to back his bet US, 1996 lights on but there's nobody home; lights on but nobody home said of someone who appears to be normal but is empty-headed US, 1990 lights out! used to warn of the presence of police US, 1997 light stuff noun marijuana or any non-addictive illegal drug US, 1969 light up verb 1 to light a cigarette or a pipe, etc UK, 1861. 2 to share drugs with others US, 1922. 3 to shoot someone US, 1967. 4 to train a police car's red light on a car US, 1962 lightweight noun 1 a person who is not taken as a serious threat US, 1878. 2 a marijuana smoker who cannot consume as much of the drug as others US, 2001 light years noun an immeasurably great time, distance or style between one thing and another. From the conventional measure of the distance light travels in a year UK, 1971 like verb ► like a price in horse racing, to hold a horse back from winning unless the odds on the horse are high US, 1951 like adverb 1 (preceding an adjective) in the manner described, eg 'like crazy' US, 1959. 2 in a manner of speaking; as it were UK, 1778. 3 (after an adjective) in the manner described. Performing the function of the suffix '-ly' AUSTRALIA, 1867 like conjunction as. A conventional C16 usage that is now considered poor or unconventional English UK, 1886 like 1 used for reducing the specificity, precision or certainty of what is being said, eg 'could you like help me?'. In the wake of disaster, use of 'like' all but disappears. Linguist Geoffrey Nunberg first observed this after shootings at a San Diego high school in March 2001, and language columnist Jan Freeman of the Boston Globe made the same observation after the terrorist attacks in New York and Washington on 11th September 2001. There is no need for distance in certain situations US, 1950. 2 habitually used in informal speech as inconsequential ornamentation US, 1982. 3 used as an introduction to a gesture or expression US, 2003. ► be like used for indicating a quotation, or a paraphrase of what was said, or an interpretation of what was said, or a projection of what was thought but not said US, 1982 like anything adverb with vigour or speed; used, as an intensifier UK, 1681 like a plasterer's radio adjective semen-spattered UK, 2002 like as not; as like as not adverb probably, possibly, likely UK, 1897 like beef? do you want to fight? Hawaiian youth usage US, 1981 like butter! nice, smooth, lovely. A catchphrase from a Mike Myers Saturday Night Live skit US, 1992 like hell! used as an expression of disbelief or contradiction UK, 1922 like it's my job used as an intensifier US, 2003 likely adjective ► a likely story used ironically as an expression of profound disbelief UK, 1984 like no other adverb extremely US, 2002 like real used for expressing doubt SINGAPORE, 2002 like that adjective very closely associated (often described with an accompanying gesture). May be figurative or metaphorical UK, 1998 likewise I agree, especially when reciprocating a compliment. Often in the (parodic) elaboration 'likewise, I'm sure' CANADA, 1984

l'il noun not much US, 1987 l'il adjective little. A colloquial contraction UK, 1881 lil noun the female breast. Usually in the plural UK, 2003 lilac adjective effeminately homosexual UK, 1978

lill noun the hand UK, 2002

Lilley and Skinner noun 1 dinner. Rhyming slang; after the shoe shop, established in 1835 UK, 1976. 2 a beginner UK, 1961

Lillian Gish noun 1 fish. Rhyming slang, based on the name of film actress Lillian Gish (1893–1993) UK, 1960. 2 an act of urination; urine. Rhyming slang for PISH UK, 1988

Lillian Gished adjective drunk. Glasgow rhyming slang for PISHED, formed from the name of film actress Lillian Gish (1893–1993) UK; SCOTLAND, 1988

lillies noun the hands US, 1973

Lilly; Lily; Lilly F-40 noun a capsule of secobarbital sodium, brand name Seconal™, a barbiturate. From the manufacturer US, 1986

lily noun 1 the penis. Most commonly heard when describing urination as KNOCK THE DEW OFF THE LILY US, 1974. 2 an ear-trumpet. Also used figuratively, as in 'get your lily at the key-hole' (to eavesdrop) UK, 1979

Lily; Lily Law; Lilly Law; Lillian; Lucy Law noun used as a personification of a police officer, especially a policeman; the police. An example of CAMP trans-gender assignment. Sometimes accompanied by Inspector Beastly. US, 1949

lily on a dustbin noun something out of place; an incongruous thing AUSTRALIA, 1943

lily pad noun a flat disc of wood. British Columbian logging usage CANADA, 1989

Lily the Pink; Lilly noun a drink. Rhyming slang, based on 'Lily the Pink' a popular song which begins: 'We'll drink-a-drink-a-drink' UK, 2001

lily-white noun 1 the hand US, 1935. 2 an unidentified terrorist with no history or past suspicion of criminal activity. Used during a report on a bomb explosion in Ealing, West London, BBC Television News, 3rd March 2001 UK, 2001

lily-white adjective populated entirely by white people; discriminating against black people US, 1903

lily whites noun bed sheets US, 1946 lima noun marijuana. Possibly implying Peruvian cultivation UK, 1998 limb noun ► on the limb in horse racing, said of a horse forced to the outside US, 1964. ► out on a limb in a difficult or exposed position US, 1897 limberneck noun in electric line work, a lineman's helper or groundman. So named because of the need to look upwards all day US, 1980 limbo noun 1 a prison UK, 1590. 2 marijuana cultivated in Colombia. Possibly derived from the effect of intoxication US, 1981 limbo log noun in mountain biking, a tree limb overhanging the trail at approximately face height US, 1992 limburger noun a girl who cannot get a date. From the song 'Dance this Mess Around' by the B-52's US, 1984 limby; limbie noun an amputee, especially a member of the armed forces who has lost a limb NEW ZEALAND, 1978 lime verb 1 to relax; to loiter UK, 2005. 2 to take part in an informal gathering TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1941. 3 in the illegal production of alcohol, to whitewash the interior of a fermenter US, 1974

lime acid noun LSD US, 1970

limer noun an idler BARBADOS, 1964

limeskin noun a worn-out felt hat BARBADOS, 1965

limey noun a Briton. Derives, as an abbreviation of 'lime-juicer', from the compulsory ration of lime juice that was issued in the British Navy, originally used of British immigrants in Australia, New Zealand and South Africa; in this more general sense since 1918 US, 1917 limey adjective British AUSTRALIA, 1888 limit noun the maximum prison sentence for a given offence US, 1949. ► go the limit to have sexual intercourse US, 1922. ► the limit the degree of anything that is the extreme (or beyond) of what you are prepared to tolerate. It may be 'the dizzy limit', 'the giddy limit' or 'just about the fucking limit' US, 1904. ► the sky's the limit the possibilities of something are boundless UK, 1933

limo noun a limousine US, 1929 limo adjective luxurious. From the luxury afforded by a LIMO (a limousine) UK, 1982 limp verb in poker, to reserve the right to make a bet even though holding a good hand US, 1979 limp adjective drunk US, 1982 limp dick; limp prick noun someone who is weak or cowardly. The flaccid DICK (penis) as a symbol of impotency US, 1970 limper noun a defective used car US, 1978 limp out; limp verb to relax US, 1997 limp wrist noun an effeminate man, almost always homosexual; used as a symbol of homosexuality US, 1950

limpy-go-fetch noun a disabled person US, 1997 limpy up adjective disabled BAHAMAS, 1966

Lincoln noun 1 a five-dollar note US, 1945. 2 a five-dollar prostitute US, 1965

Lincoln drop noun the small tray near a shop's cash till with pennies which customers may use for making exact payments US, 1997

Lincoln Tunnel noun in homosexual usage, a loose anus and rectum. Homage to the tunnel connecting New Jersey and Manhattan US, 1981 line noun 1 a dose of powdered cocaine arranged in a line for snorting US, 1973. 2 a vein, especially in the context of injecting drugs US, 1938. 3 political philosophy. An important term of the New Left in the US, often modified by 'correct', a precursor of political correctness US, 1968. 4 an assembly line in a factory US, 1996. 5 collectively, the prostitutes in a brothel who are available for sex at a given moment US, 1987. 6 an attractive female AUSTRALIA, 1941. 7 a special verbal approach, especially as an introduction to seduction. A chat-up line UK, 1903. 8 in the business of dealing with stolen goods, twice the actual price US, 1969. 9 the area housing a prison's general population US, 1989. 10 in sports betting, the points or odds established by a bookmaker that govern the bet US, 1977. 11 money US, 1972. ► do a line 1 to inhale a measured dose of a powdered drug, especially cocaine US, 1979. 2 to make an amorous approach; to date AUSTRALIA, 1934. ► down the line a psychiatric hospital NEW ZEALAND, 1963. ► go on line to become part of a (criminal or street) gang UK, 2005. ► on the line at risk, at stake, in jeopardy US, 1940 line crosser noun in the Korean war, a soldier who crossed the main line of resistance to find and retrieve prisoners of war US, 1967 line doggy noun an infantry soldier US, 1967 line duty noun in the language surrounding the Grateful Dead, the hours spent waiting in queue to buy tickets or to enter a concert venue US, 1994 line forty used for expressing the price of twenty dollars US, 1946 line jumper noun an enemy spy who sneaks across allied lines. Korean war usage US, 1957 linemaker noun in a sports betting operation, the oddsmaker US, 1976 linen noun a letter US, 1947 linen draper; linen noun a newspaper. Rhyming slang UK, 1857 liner noun a short promotional statement recorded for a radio station by a famous artist or personality, professing that they listen to that station US, 2007 liners noun cash US, 2003 lines noun 1 cocaine. A multiple of LINE (a single dose of cocaine); used in contemporary gay society UK, 2003. 2 money US, 1973. ► do lines to use cocaine US, 2001. ► get lines in bodybuilding, to achieve definition, or well-developed and sculpted muscles US, 1984 line screw noun a prison guard assigned to a cell block US, 1976 line storm noun an equinoctial gale, at the time of the solstice CANADA, 1960 line swine noun a driver who appears oblivious to traffic lanes US, 1962 line-up noun 1 serial sex between one person and multiple partners US, 1913. 2 the place where waves line up to break AUSTRALIA, 1963. 3 a display of the prostitutes available for sex in a brothel at a given moment US, 1978 line up verb to arrange US, 1906 line work noun the addition of fine lines or other markings on the design of a card to aid a cheat US, 1979 lingo noun slang or another unconventional English language dialect, jargon or vocabulary. Conventional 'lingo' (since 1660) is 'a contemptuous designation for a foreign tongue' UK, 1859 linguist noun a person who enjoys performing oral sex. Leading, inevitably, to cunning puns US, 1967 linguistic exercise noun oral sex US, 1964 lingy noun the penis BAHAMAS, 1982 link noun a police officer, prosecutor or judge who has been bribed US, 1964. ► the link a person who provides what is needed at a particular moment. From the conventional 'missing link' US, 1986 linked adjective 1 dating (someone) steadily and exclusively US, 1966. 2 bribed US, 1964

Link the Chink noun any Vietnamese person. War usage US, 1971 lion noun 1 a greatly respected or revered Rastafarian; a great soul JAMAICA, 1994. 2 in pool, a skilled and competitive player US, 1990

Lionel Bart; Lionel noun a fart. Rhyming slang from the name of the English composer (1930–99) UK, 1985

Lionel Blair noun a chair. Rhyming slang, based on the name of UK dancer and entertainer Lionel Blair (b.1931) UK, 1979

Lionel Blairs; lionels noun flares (trousers with flared legs). Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the UK dancer and entertainer (b.1931) UK, 1992 lion food noun middle management. From a joke, the punch-line of which features a lion boasting of eating one IBM manager a day and nobody noticing US, 1991 lion's lair noun a chair UK, 1992 lion's roar noun snoring. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 lion's roar verb to snore. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 lion's share noun a chair. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 lip noun 1 impudence; talking back UK, 1803. 2 a lawyer, especially a criminal defence lawyer. From the image of a lawyer as a mouthpiece US, 1929. 3 in the car sales business, a potential buyer US, 1997 lip verb 1 in horse racing, to win by the slightest of margins AUSTRALIA, 1989. 2 to kiss US, 1947 lip in verb to interrupt US, 1899 lip it verb to stop talking UK, 1999 lipkisser noun a regular practitioner of oral sex on women US, 1985 lip-lock noun oral sex performed on a man US, 1976 lip music noun bragging, boasting, teasing US, 1992 lipo noun liposuction, a surgical procedure for the cosmetic removal of fat. By ellipsis UK, 1992 lipper noun a pinch of chewing tobacco US, 1997 lippie; lippy noun lipstick AUSTRALIA, 1955 lippy adjective impudent, impertinent, talkative. From LIP (impudence). With an 1803 UK usage of 'lip' as 'back-chat', the likelihood of an earlier adjective sense is high US, 1865 lip read verb to kiss. An inspired use of a conventional sense UK, 1974 lips noun ► your lips are bleeding! used sarcastically to someone using big words. Juvenile AUSTRALIA, 1953 lips! used as a cry to summon a makeup artist to apply more lipstick to a performer US, 1995 lip service noun oral sex US, 1975 lipsin' noun the act of kissing, snogging. Teenage slang UK, 2002 lip-sloppy adjective talkative to a fault US, 1962 lip spinach noun a moustache US, 1972 lipstick noun 1 in the new and used car business, purely cosmetic touches US, 1959. 2 a grease pencil. Used by first aid workers to note tourniquet time on an injured person US, 1962. ► lipstick on your dipstick oral sex performed on a man US, 1970 lipstick lesbian; lipstick noun a feminine, stylish, upwardly mobile lesbian US, 1984

Lipton's noun poor quality marijuana. An allusion to a popular, if weak, tea US, 1964 lip up! stop talking!; say nothing! A variation of BUTTON YOUR LIP! UK, 1980

- lip work noun oral sex on a woman US, 1967
- LIQ noun an offlicence (liquor store) US, 1970
- liquid noun money, cash. Abbreviated from 'liquid assets' UK, 1997
- liquid cosh noun any tranquillizer or sedative used by prison authorities to subdue an inmate UK, 1996
- liquid courage noun the bravado produced by alcohol US, 1942
- liquid diet noun used humorously for describing a period when someone is drinking a lot of alcohol US, 1991
- liquid ecstasy; liquid e noun the recreational drug GHB US, 1993
- liquid gold; LG noun amyl or butyl nitrate. From the appearance and brand name UK, 1996
- liquid grass noun tetrahydrocannabinol, the purified psychoactive extract of marijuana US, 1971
- liquid laugh noun vomiting AUSTRALIA, 1964
- liquid lunch noun alcohol but no food for lunch US, 1963
- liquid sky noun heroin US, 1987
- liquid sunshine noun rain UK, 1970
- liquid wrench noun alcohol. Like a wrench, alcohol will loosen things US, 1996
- liquid X noun the recreational drug GHB UK, 1993
- liquored up adjective drunk. Current use in South Carolina US, 1924
- liquorhead noun a drunkard US, 1923
- Lisa noun a perfect, idealised girlfriend US, 1993
- listener noun a person whose only role in conversation is to listen and verify what was said US, 1982
- listen up! used for commanding attention. Almost always heard in the imperative US, 1962
- Listerine adjective anti-American. The name of a branded antiseptic applied as a punning extension of rhyming slang for SEPTIC TANK (an American) UK, 2003
- lit adjective drunk US, 1899
- lit suffix literature, when in combination with a defining style UK, 2001
- lit crit noun literary criticism UK, 2003
- lite; -lite adjective denotes a less substantial version of an original. In widespread use; a re-spelling of 'light', devised as a commercial strategy to sustain a brand name while advertising that the product's less marketable ingredients (sugar, nicotine, etc.) have been reduced US, 1962
- literally adverb used as an intensifier. In colloquial use this is generally employed inaccurately or hyperbolically UK, 1937
- litterbug noun a person who drops litter US, 1947
- litter lout noun a person who drops litter UK, 1927
- Little and Large noun margarine. Rhyming slang for MARGE, formed from the name of a comedy double act UK, 1998
- little bird; little birdie noun an unnamed source UK, 1940
- little bit noun a prostitute US, 1976
- little black book noun 1 an address book containing clients' names and telephone numbers, especially in an illegal enterprise US, 1980. 2 a (notional) notebook in which bachelors are reputed to keep girls' telephone numbers AUSTRALIA, 1984
- little black gun noun the M-16 rifle. Vietnam war usage US, 1968
- little blister noun a younger sister. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1996
- little blues noun capsules of the synthetic opiate oxycodone used recreationally US, 2003
- little bomb noun 1 an amphetamine capsule or tablet. Possibly a direct translation of Spanish BOMBITA (an amphetamine capsule) UK, 1998. 2 heroin UK, 1998
- little boy noun a small, cocktail frankfurter sausage NEW ZEALAND, 1984
- little boy blue noun a prison officer. Rhyming slang for SCREW UK, 1992
- little boys' room noun a toilet, especially one for men. Juvenile and jocular US, 1935
- little brown jug noun a sink or bath plug, an electric plug; a tampon. Rhyming slang UK, 1992
- little Bush noun US President George W. Bush US, 2003
- little casino noun in a deck of playing cards, the two of spades US, 1988
- little cat noun in poker, a hand comprised of five cards between three and eight and no pairs among them US, 1963
- little D noun a tablet of hydromorphone (trade name Dialudid™), a narcotic analgesic US, 1986
- little death noun an orgasm. Often in the verb phrase 'have a little death'. From the French petite mort UK, 1959
- Little Detroit nickname Van Dien, North Vietnam. Like Detroit, Van Dien was highly industrialised US, 1991
- little Dick; little Dick Fisher noun in craps, a four US, 1957
- little dog noun in poker, a hand comprised of five cards between two and seven and no pairs among them US, 1963
- little fella noun 1 a child (of either gender) UK, 1959. 2 a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2001
- little friend noun a fighter plane US, 1944
- little girls' room noun a toilet, especially one for women US, 1949
- little green friends noun marijuana buds UK, 2003
- little guy; little man; little people noun a Japanese soldier; a Viet Cong or soldier in the North Vietnamese Army US, 1950
- little guy with the helmet noun the penis US, 2001
- little Harlem noun a black ghetto US, 1951
- little help noun a linear amplifier for a citizens' band radio US, 1977
- little Hitler noun a self-important person who wields a small amount of official authority with despotic zeal UK, 1957
- little house noun an outside toilet AUSTRALIA, 1886
- Little Italy noun a neighbourhood populated by a large number of Italian immigrants and Italian-Americans US, 1970
- little jobs noun urination by a child AUSTRALIA, 1968
- little Joe noun a roll of four in craps. Often elaborated with a rhyming place name, in the pattern 'little Joe from Kokomo' (or Chicago, Idaho, Lake Tahoe, Mexico, Ohio, Tokyo) US, 1890
- little Joe in the snow noun cocaine US, 1992
- little Judas noun the sliding door in a confession box IRELAND, 1995
- Little Korea nickname Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri. Based on a comparison of the climates US, 1968
- little lady noun the wife AUSTRALIA, 1917
- little lunch noun a mid-morning break at school AUSTRALIA, 1982
- little madam; proper little madam noun a spoilt, conceited or bad-tempered female child UK, 1787
- little man noun 1 the penis UK, 1998. 2 a tradesman. An upper- or middle-class female's patronising term UK, 1984 ▷ see: LITTLE GUY
- little man in a boat; little man; man in the boat; boy in the boat noun the clitoris. The 'little man' or 'boy' represent the clitoris as a small penis, and the vulva is imagined to be boat-shaped UK, 1896
- little Miss Muffet verb used as an emphatic rejection. Rhyming slang for 'stuff it', formed from the name of a nursery rhyme character UK, 1992
- Little Mo nickname Maureen Connolly (1934–1969), who dominated women's tennis for several years in the early 1950s until a career-ending accident in 1953. Connolly's aggressive style was compared to the Missouri, a battleship with the nickname that she was given US, 1953
- little muggins noun your child. From MUGGINS (yourself, as a fool) UK, 2000
- little Nell noun a door bell. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a Charles Dickens' heroine UK, 1992
- little office noun the toilet AUSTRALIA, 1981 little old lady in tennis shoes noun used as a stereotype of an energetic, quirky old woman. In 1972, Sports Illustrated titled an article about tennis great Hazel Wightman (1886–1974) ‘The Little Old Lady in Tennis Shoes’ US, 1984 little peter noun a gas or electric meter. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 little pigs noun small sausages US, 1946 little ploughman noun the clitoris US, 1980 little R noun during the Korean and Vietnam wars, rest and rehabilitation. Distinguished from the BIG R (rotation home) US, 1960 littles noun in pool, the solid-coloured balls numbered 1 to 7 US, 1990 little Saigon nickname a neighbourhood with a large number of Vietnamese immigrants and businesses US, 1979

Little Sir Echo noun a person who always agrees with his superiors AUSTRALIA, 1989 little sisters noun a group of US magazines aimed at women US, 1986 little smoke noun marijuana UK, 1998 little thing noun a bullet UK, 2001 little Tokyo noun an urban neighbourhood with a high concentration of Japanese people US, 1945 little white mouse noun a tampon. Used euphemistically in mixed company AUSTRALIA, 1996 little woman noun the wife. Intentionally archaic, revoltingly coy, and condescending UK, 1795 little; littley noun a child AUSTRALIA, 1953

littl’un noun a child AUSTRALIA, 1962 lit up adjective drunk or drug-intoxicated US, 1899 live verb ► live caseo to cohabit for sexual purposes. From ‘caseo’ (a brothel, or overnight hire of a prostitute) UK, 1956. ► live it up to have a good time, to enjoy an extravagant lifestyle US, 1951. ► live large to enjoy a life full of material pleasures US, 1975. ► live on the smell of an oil rag to live on very meagre means AUSTRALIA, 1903 live adjective 1 (used of the potential customer of a prostitute) eager to spend money US, 1969. 2 in horse racing, said of a horse that has attracted heavy betting US, 1975. 3 extreme, intense, exciting, good US, 1987. 4 impressive US, 1991 live bait noun one young drug user selling drugs to other young users US, 1951 lived-in look noun a complete mess US, 1968 live gaff noun a premises that is occupied whilst being burgled. Based on GAFF (a place of residence or business) UK, 1956 live gig verb to masturbate; to have sex. Rhyming slang for FRIG UK, 2003 live long and prosper used as a humorous parting. From the original Star Trek television series US, 1991 livener noun 1 a dose of cocaine. Abbreviated from conventional ‘enlivener’, ascribing to cocaine the bracing attributes of a pick-me-up; an earlier (late C19) use was as ‘the first drink of the day’ UK, 1999. 2 any alcoholic drink that serves as a pick-me-up UK, 1887 live one noun a person worth noticing US, 1896 liverish adjective having symptoms loosely diagnosed as the result of a disordered liver. Coined for an advertisement UK, 1896

Liverpool kiss noun 1 a head butt to your opponent’s face. A regional variation of the GLASGOW KISS UK, 1986. 2 a blow struck on the mouth UK, 1968 liver rounds noun used in a hospital as humorous code for a drinking party to be held on hospital grounds US, 1989 live, spit and die noun LSD. An elaboration of the initials. UK, 2003 liveware noun 1 a human being. A playful evolution of ‘software’ and ‘hardware’ UK, 1966. 2 a living organism US, 1991 live wire noun a male homosexual. Prison slang UK, 2002 living daylight; daylight verb life; spirit. Ultimately from ‘daylights’ (the eyes) but here in the consequent sense, ‘vitality’ or ‘vital organs’ UK, 1960 living shit; living crap used in combination with various transitive verbs to intensify the action to a severe level US, 1983 livity noun a vocation or calling in life. A Rastafarian term JAMAICA, 1992 livener noun an alcoholic drink. Probably from LIVENER (a drink that serves as a pick-me-up) UK, 1979 lizard noun 1 an uncooperative, dirty hospital patient with scaly skin US, 1978. 2 the penis US, 1962. 3 a mechanical device used by card cheats to hold cards in the player’s sleeve US, 1988. ► flog the lizard; drain the lizard (of a male) to urinate AUSTRALIA, 1968 lizard hit noun the last draw on a water pipe US, 1997 lizards noun lizard-skin shoes US, 1980 lizard scorcher noun a railway cook US, 1977 lizzie noun a lesbian UK, 1949

Lizzie noun a car, especially a Ford. A shortened form of ‘Tin Lizzie’ (the US stock market nickname for the Ford Motor Company) US, 1913

LK; LK Clark; Elkie Clark noun a mark; a place and time of starting. Rhyming slang UK, 1962

LL noun marijuana. A play on the name of rap artist and film actor LL Cool J: COOL (agreeable) and J (a JOINT) UK, 1998

LLDB noun the special forces of the Army of the Republic of Vietnam US, 1985

llesca noun marijuana. From Portuguese lhesca (tinder). Similar to YESCA which derives in the same way from Spanish US, 1970

Lloyd’s List adjective drunk. Rhyming slang for PISSed, formed from the title of the newspaper that reports maritime news UK, 1998 loach noun during the Vietnam war, a light observation helicopter. From the initials LOH US, 1973 load noun 1 an ejaculation’s worth of semen US, 1927. 3 a stock of illegal drugs UK, 1978. 4 25 bags of heroin. It is interesting to note that a ‘half load’ adds up to 15 bags (of heroin) US, 1969. 5 a dose of a drug US, 1952. 6 a codeine pill combined with a Doriden™ sleeping pill, producing an opiate-like effect US, 1989. 7 a state of intoxication US, 1947. 8 any sexually transmitted infection AUSTRALIA, 1936. 9 an inept, ludicrous, stupid or unpleasant person US, 1950. 10 a car US, 1937. 11 fabricated evidence AUSTRALIA, 1975. 12 a car in poor condition US, 1937. ► get a load of to look at; to observe US, 1922. ► take a load off to sit down US, 1922 load verb 1 to fabricate evidence AUSTRALIA, 1975. 2 to alter (dice); to weight (dice) to score a certain point US, 1962 load call noun in a telephone swindle, a repeat call to a recent victim US, 1985 loaded adjective 1 drunk or drug-intoxicated. The abbreviated variation of a mainly obsolete range of similes beginning ‘loaded to’ US, 1879. 2 wealthy US, 1948. 3 pregnant US, 1973. 4 full of the symptoms of a cold UK: SCOTLAND, 1888. 5 armed with a gun US, 1952. 6 (used of a car) equipped with every possible accessory US, 1996 loaded down adjective pregnant BAHAMAS, 1982

loaded for bear 1 prepared for an emergency, heavily armed. The term arose in the late C19 as a literal description of a weapon loaded with ammunition suitable for killing a bear, and then in the 1950s came to assume a figurative meaning that dominates today US, 1927. 2 in trucking, equipped with a citizens’ band radio. With BEAR meaning ‘police’, the trucker with a citizens’ band radio is better prepared to evade speeding tickets US, 1976 loader noun 1 in American casinos, a blackjack dealer who carelessly exposes his down card while dealing US, 1985. 2 an experienced and skilled confidence swindler who makes a second sale to a prior victim US, 1988 load exchange noun the passing of semen to its maker, mouth to mouth US, 1970s loadie noun a drug user US, 1979 loadies noun dice loaded with weights that affect the roll US, 1997 load-in noun the carting in and setting up of equipment before a concert or show US, 1999 load of cock noun nonsense UK, 1978 load of postholes noun in trucking, an empty trailer US, 1946 load of toffee noun nonsense. From TOFFEE (flattery), but less sweet UK, 2001 load plane noun an aircraft loaded with illegal drugs being smuggled US, 1992 loads noun dice that have been altered with weights so as to produce a certain score US, 1963 loads a large amount of something; a great number of something. A slovening of 'loads of' UK, 1988 load-up noun a false allegation AUSTRALIA, 1996 load up verb (of the police) to plant incriminating evidence in order to secure a conviction, arrest or the like AUSTRALIA, 1983

loaf noun 1 marijuana UK, 2003. 2 a one kilogram unit of hashish CANADA, 2002

loaf verb to strike with the head IRELAND, 1991

loafer noun in horse racing, a horse that does not perform well without constant urging by the jockey US, 1976 loaf of bread; loaf noun the head, especially as a source of intelligence. Rhyming slang UK, 1925 loan noun ► have a loan of to play a joke on someone; to pull someone's leg AUSTRALIA, 1902 loaner noun a piece of equipment that is loaned out while the owner's piece of equipment is being repaired US, 1926 loan shark noun a person who loans money privately with usurious interest rates and criminal collection procedures UK, 1905 loan-sharking noun usury with severe repayment terms US, 1914

lob noun 1 in prison, wages, the weekly pay received by prisoners UK, 1950. 2 a prisoner who displays excessive zeal on his job US, 1951. 3 a penis. Original use as 'a partially erect penis' has been replaced to mean 'an erect penis', as used in the phrase 'to have a lob on' UK, 1890. 4 in a gambling establishment, a hanger-on who runs errands for gamblers US, 1979. 5 in horse racing, a horse pulled back by its jockey to prevent it from finishing first, second or third in a race US, 1935

lob verb 1 to throw or chuck; to place roughly; to plonk AUSTRALIA, 1934. 2 (of something airborne) to land AUSTRALIA, 1943. 3 to arrive at a place; to turn up, especially unexpectedly AUSTRALIA, 1911. 4 (of a racehorse) to win a race AUSTRALIA, 1988 lobby noun a lobster or freshwater crayfish AUSTRALIA, 1952 lobby louse noun a non-guest who idles in a hotel lobby US, 1939 lobe in verb to listen US, 1973

LOBNH unintelligent. Doctor's shorthand: an initialism of LIGHTS ON BUT NOBODY HOME UK, 2003

lobo noun marijuana US, 1984

lob-on noun an erection. From LOB (a penis, especially if erect), hence 'to have a lob on' is 'to have an erection', from which 'lob-on' now stands alone. Acceptable for broadcast in a comedy context by BBC television UK, 2001 lobster noun 1 a twenty-dollar note AUSTRALIA, 1992. 2 in poker, an unskilled and/or inexperienced player US, 1988. 3 dried nasal mucus BAHAMAS, 1982. 4 an unexpected and unwelcome erection UK, 2004

lobster claw noun in electric line work, a device formally known as an adjustable insulator fork US, 1980

lobster cop noun a fisheries officer CANADA, 1959

Lobster Lad noun a young male from Prince Edward Island CANADA, 1955

lobster shift noun a work shift starting at midnight US, 1942 lobster skin noun badly sunburnt skin. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982 lob up verb to arrive AUSTRALIA, 1990

local noun 1 a resident of a location, contrasted to the visitor UK, 1835. 2 a nearby public house; a public house that has your regular custom UK, 1969. 3 a person who surfs in an area and asserts territorial privileges there US, 1991. 4 during a massage, hand stimulation of the penis until ejaculation US, 1972 local adjective pertaining to or representing the essence of Creole culture TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1983

localism noun an attitude, defiant if not hostile, of local surfers towards visiting surfers at 'their' beach US, 1991 local smokal; local smokel noun local police; a police panda car. Blends SMOKEY BEAR (the police) with the model of LOCAL YOKEL (a foolish country-dweller) US, 1976 local talent noun a pretty female US, 1955

local white noun a light-skinned person, born in Trinidad TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1956 local yokel noun an indigenous inhabitant of a rural area. A slightly contemptuous term, originally used by military personnel UK, 1950 loc'd out adjective psychotic from drug use US, 1993 located out; loqued out adjective exciting, crazy US, 1995 locho adjective despicable. From the Hindi Ichcha (lewd loafer), to the corrupted Anglo-Indian 'loochee' TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1989

loci; lokey noun a small locomotive used for hauling logs or coal CANADA, 1964 lock noun 1 control; complete control US, 1966. 2 a sure thing, a certainty US, 1942. 3 in poker, a hand that cannot lose US, 1990. 4 in bar dice games, a perfect hand that at best can be tied US, 1971 lock verb in prison, to reside in a cell US, 1931. ► lock neck to choke a robbery victim with one arm while rifling through their pockets with the other hand TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1959 lock and load verb to prepare for an imminent confrontation. Originally military, and originally 'load and lock', then reversed for the sound (perhaps to conform with 'rock and roll') and generalised US, 1949 lock-down noun 1 in prison, a state of security in which all inmates are locked in their cells UK, 1996. 2 any situation in which your complete freedom is restricted. Like 'warden' (girlfriend or wife), jail slang brought home US, 1997 locked adjective 1 drunk IRELAND, 2002. 2 drug-intoxicated US, 1997. 3 tense, stressed US, 1955 locker noun 1 a safe or a locked compartment within a safe US, 1949. 2 a jail US, 1997 locker room noun 1 amyl or butyl or isobutyl nitrate as a recreational drug. Popular as a sex-aid in the gay community, the name (possibly deriving from a brand name) reflects the locality of use US, 1998. 2 the group of professional wrestlers under contract with a promoter at any given moment US, 1999 lock-in noun an after-hours and behind locked doors drinking session in a public house UK, 2003 lock-in-a-sock noun an improvised prison weapon – a combination lock inside in a sock US, 1996 lock-mortal cinch noun in betting, the surest possible certainty US, 1975

lockpicker noun an illegal abortionist US, 1976 locks noun knotted hair in the Rastafarian fashion JAMAICA, 1976

locksmith noun 1 in pool, a betting professional who only plays games that he is sure of winning US, 1990. 2 a poker player who only plays excellent hands US, 1966 lockstep noun an undeviating order; absolute conformity. A figurative application of a military style of close-marching UK, 1955 lockup noun 1 a jail or prison US, 1839. 2 in pool, a shot that cannot be missed or a game that cannot be lost US, 1990 lock-up lattie noun a cell; a jail. Polari, formed on LATTIE (a house, a place) UK, 2003 lock-worker noun a thief who steals from hotel rooms US, 1954 loco noun marijuana. An abbreviation of LOCOWEED US, 1982 loco adjective crazy. From the Spanish US, 1887. ► go loco to smoke (and experience the effects of) marijuana US, 1942 loco-mote verb to drive fast US, 1976 locoweed noun marijuana. Directly from the name given to several species of poisonous plants of the genera Astragalus and Oxytropis which may cause frenzied behaviour in grazing stock; ultimately from Spanish loco (mad) US, 1930

locs; lokes noun sunglasses US, 1997 log noun 1 a turd. From a similarity in appearance to a log of wood; possibly also from the shared characteristic of an ability to float. Especially in the phrasal verb LAY A LOG (to defecate) US, 1973. 2 a marijuana cigarette US, 1977. 3 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust UK, 1998. 4 a carton of cigarettes US, 1991. 5 the counter surface in a bar US, 1967. 6 a bar or tavern US, 1950. 7 a heavy, cumbersome surfboard US, 1963. 8 a dullard US, 1895. ► behind the log (used of a betting style in poker) conservative, even when winning US, 1971

LOG adjective without money, low on green US, 1997 log bird noun a logistical supply helicopter, used to bring fresh supplies and provisions to troops in the field US, 1982 log-flogger noun a male masturbator UK, 2003 logger noun an old, wooden surfboard AUSTRALIA, 1985 logger's smallpox noun facial scars caused by spiked boots. Lumberjacks' and loggers' use US, 1938 logic bomb noun code secretly included in a program that causes a computer to fail when certain conditions are met US, 1991 logjam noun constipation US, 1991

logor noun LSD UK, 2003 logy adjective lethargic, without energy US, 1997 loid noun a strip of celluloid, used to force locks UK, 1958 loiner noun an inhabitant of Leeds in West Yorkshire UK, 1950 loin landlord noun a male homosexual UK, 1933

Loisaida nickname the Lower East Side of New York. A Spanish adaptation of English, borrowed back into English US, 1981 looked out adjective improved, modified, enhanced US, 1997

LOL noun (in doctors' shorthand) a little old lady. Medical slang UK, 2002

LOL used as Internet shorthand to mean 'laughing out loud' US, 1991

lola noun cocaine US, 1993

Lolita noun a young teenage girl objectified sexually; a girl of any age up to the legal age of consent who dresses in a manner that is considered sexually provocative or predatory. Generic use of a proper name, after the sexually aware 12-year-old girl in Vladimir Nabokov's controversial 1955 novel Lolita and subsequent films in 1962 and 1998 UK, 1959 lollapalooza noun an outstanding example of its type. 'Lollapalooza' was adopted as the title for an annual series of peripatetic music festivals that commenced in Phoenix, Arizona in July 1991 US, 1896 lollapoloosa noun in bar dice games, a roll that produces no points for the player US, 1971 lollipop noun 1 a police officer. Rhyming slang for COP. A shorter variant is 'lolly' UK, 1965. 3 in cricket, a delivery that is easy to play AUSTRALIA, 1985. 4 in trucking, a mile marker at the side of the road US, 1976. 5 in sport, a clever or ostentatious trick. Rhyming slang on 'lollipop stick' UK, 2003. 6 a sugar daddy (an older man who supports or helps support a young woman). Recorded as being used by 'shopgirls and typists' UK, 1961. 7 marijuana FJI, 2003 lollipop; lollypop; lolly up; lolly verb to betray to the police. Rhyming slang for SHOP (to inform on) UK, 1933 lollipop artist noun a male homosexual US, 1977 lollipop stop noun a rest stop on a motorway known as a place where male homosexuals may be found for sexual encounters US, 1985 lolly noun 1 money. From rhyming slang on 'lollipop' for DROP (a bribe) UK, 1943. 2 a sweet AUSTRALIA, 1854. 3 the vagina BAHAMAS, 1982. 4 the head AUSTRALIA, 1971. ► do your lolly to lose self-restraint in anger AUSTRALIA, 1951 lollybags noun a pair of men's close-fitting and revealing nylon swimming trunks. From the resemblance to a paper bag full of sweets AUSTRALIA, 2003 lollygag; lallygag verb 1 to kiss; to have sex US, 1868. 2 to dawdle, to dally US, 1869 lollypop noun 1 an attractive young woman seen only in terms of her sexuality US, 1984. 2 a shop. Rhyming slang UK, 2000 lolly scramble noun a distasteful scramble for a portion of something. Lollies are sweets, and a 'lolly scramble' was originally a children's party activity where guests frantically gathered sweets thrown in the air. NEW ZEALAND, 1984 lolly water noun a soft drink AUSTRALIA, 1905

lolo noun the penis. Children's vocabulary TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1966 lo-lo; low-low noun a custom-designed low rider car US, 1997

London taxi noun the buttocks, the anus. Rhyming slang for JACKSY UK, 1992

London to a brick used of something that is an almost certainty. Coined by race-caller Ken Howard (1913–76), literally meaning that one can safely make an odds-on bet of the city of London against a BRICK (the sum of ten pounds) AUSTRALIA, 1965 lonely as a bastard on father's day adjective very lonely AUSTRALIA, 1971

Lone Ranger noun danger. Never in the sense of 'peril' but rather of 'a chance' UK, 1992 lonesome noun ► on your lonesome alone AUSTRALIA, 1902 lone wolf noun a criminal who works alone US, 1909 long noun a rifle UK, 1995 long adjective (used of money) a lot of US, 1947. ► as long as your arm very long UK, 1846 long acre noun a baker. Rhyming slang UK, 1857 long and flexy adjective sexy. Rhyming slang UK, 2003 long and short noun wine. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 long bread noun a lot of money US, 1963 long con noun an elaborate confidence swindle in which the victim is initially allowed to profit, and then returns with a large sum of money which he loses US, 1969 long cut noun the pervasive desire for sweets experienced by a drug addict withdrawing from drug use US, 1971 long-day/short-day noun in lobstering, a schedule in which more traps are hauled every other day than on the intervening days US, 1978 long dedger adjective eleven. From Italian undici (eleven) UK, 2002 long-dick verb to win a woman away from another; to cuckold US, 1994 long drink noun a sustained, lingering, sexually inquisitive look US, 1982 long drink of water noun a very tall thin person US, 1936 long end noun a confidence game in which the victim is sent for his money, as opposed to a confidence game in which the spoils are limited to the amount on the victim's person US, 1963 longer and linger; long and linger noun a finger. Rhyming slang, in which, unusually, both nouns are inflected in the plural form: 'longers and lingers'; 'longs and lingers' UK, 1961 long eye noun the vulva AUSTRALIA, 1988 long-eye adjective covetous TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1956 long firm; LF; LF scam noun a commercial fraud in which a good credit rating is first established and then abused UK, 1869 long green noun a large amount of money US, 1887 long green line noun an infantry unit marching through the jungle in single file US, 1991 long-guts noun a tendency to eat too much GUYANA, 1973

longhair noun 1 an intellectual US, 1919. 2 a participant in the 1960s counterculture US, 1969. 3 classical music US, 1951 long-handled underwear noun warm underwear with long sleeves and legs US, 1882 longies noun long underwear US, 1941 long john noun a sleeveless wet suit US, 1985

Long John noun a 175 mm gun US, 1991 long johns noun long-legged underpants US, 1943 long john silver noun a car with one headlight burned out US, 1976 long jump noun an act of sexual intercourse UK, 1999 long-mouth adjective perpetually hungry GUYANA, 1996

longneck noun a bottle of beer with a long neck US, 1980 long-nose noun an American or European. From the Vietnamese, adopted by US soldiers US, 1967 long-nosed Henry noun a Ford Capri car. Citizens' band radio slang, ascribing the length of the bonnet to Henry Ford's physiognomy UK, 1981 long on adjective having a substantial amount of something US, 1913 long one noun one hundred pounds (£100) UK, 1998 long paddock noun grassed areas along the sides of a public road used for grazing AUSTRALIA, 1929 long rats noun special pre-cooked rations used by long-range reconnaissance patrols in the field during the Vietnam war US, 1973 longs noun trousers with long legs TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1967 long shoe noun a stylish shoe with a tapered toe US, 1968 long-shoe game noun a swindle US, 1955 longshot noun a venture involving great risk; in horse racing, a bet on a horse with very long odds. Originally race track slang UK, 1869.

► by a long shot by a long way, by a great degree. Generally as an emphatic negative US, 1848 long side noun in sports betting, a bet on the underdog US, 1975 long sight noun ► by a long sight by a long way. Generally as an emphatic negative US, 1844 long skirt noun a Maxi car. Citizens' band radio slang; punning the length of a maxi-skirt UK, 1981 long sleeve noun the foreskin FIIJI, 1993 long streak of cocky's shit noun a tall, thin person AUSTRALIA, 1986 long streak of misery noun a very tall thin person (who is not necessarily miserable) UK, 1961 long streak of piss noun a very tall thin person UK, 2000 longtail noun a single female tourist BERMUDA, 1985 long time no see used as a greeting after an extended separation US, 1900 long time, no smell used as an affectionate greeting. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982

Long Tom noun a long-range artillery gun US, 1991 long 'un noun a hundred pounds, or a thousand pounds sterling UK, 1999 long way noun ► by a long way; by a long chalk by a great degree or measure. Often in a (implied) negative context UK, 1859 long white roll noun a factory-made cigarette US, 1945 long-winded adjective 1 slow in doing something. In conventional use when applied to talking UK, 1961. 2 in homosexual usage, said of a man who takes a long time to reach orgasm US, 1981 loo noun a lavatory. Many possible etymologies, mostly from French sources. Contracted from C18 bordalou (a portable ladies' privy, shaped like a sauce-boat and carried in a muff); l'eau (water) or the C18 warning-cry 'gardy-loo', from pseudo-French gare de l'eau (beware of the water), given when emptying the contents of a chamber pot out of a window into the street beneath; an anglicised lieu (the place), as in the frequently mispronounced 'time off in lieu/loo'. The only entirely English suggestion is a corruption of 'leeward', the sheltered side of a ship over which excretory functions were sensibly performed. The most convincing possibilities are an abbreviated pun on Waterloo, the London railway station named to commemorate the famous battle of Waterloo in Belgium (1815); and the darkly witty reduction of l'oubliette (a secret dungeon, often with a pit below) UK, 1940 looder noun a blow IRELAND, 2002

loogie noun phlegm that has been expelled from the respiratory passages US, 1985 loogin noun an awkward, unaccomplished person US, 1919 loolie; loolie; looeey noun 1 a gob of phlegm or nasal mucus US, 1970. 2 a lieutenant US, 1916 look noun 1 appearance; style US, 1959. 2 in the entertainment industry, the right to review and consider a script or project US, 1999 look verb ► look alive to be alert, to bestir yourself, to make haste. Often as an imperative UK, 1858. ► look a million; look like a million bucks to look exquisitely stunning AUSTRALIA, 1956. ► look at the gate to near the end of a prison sentence US, 1984. ► look at the procter and gamble to cheat during an examination or test. A pun alluding to the well-known corporation US, 1968. ► look at you to judge someone by their appearance UK, 1846. ► look down your nose at to regard someone or something with contempt, to despise UK, 1921. ► look for a hole in the fence (used of a racehorse) to perform very poorly, as if the horse would rather find a hole in the fence and return to the stable US, 1976. ► look like nothing on earth to have an appearance that is wretched, or indicative of illness, or that is somehow eccentric or ludicrous UK, 1927. ► look out the window in horse racing, to fail to bet on a horse in a race it wins after betting on the horse in a number of previous losing efforts US, 1951. ► not look back to enjoy a continuing success since a defining moment UK, 1893 lookalike; lookylike noun a lookalike, a person who looks like another (generally the similarity is to a celebrity and often used to professional advantage) UK, 2001 looker noun an attractive woman US, 1892 look here! used as a demand for attention to what is being said UK, 1861 lookie verb to look. A diminutive that introduces a folksy tone; almost always used in the imperative US, 1972 lookie-loo noun 1 a customer who enjoys looking at merchandise but has no intention of buying US, 1978. 2 an inquisitive observer. A Los Angeles term, personified in the character Look-Loo Woman in Quentin Tarantino's 1994 film Pulp Fiction US, 1989 looking glass noun a car's rear view mirror US, 1962 looking good! used for expressing approval. A signature line of comedian Freddie Prinze on the television comedy Chico and the Man (NBC, 1974–78). Repeated with referential humour US, 1974 look of eagles noun in horse racing, the proud look perceived in the eyes of a great racehorse US, 1976 look-see noun a viewing, an observation US, 1854 look-see verb to look around US, 1868 looks like rain used by a criminal to indicate an imminent arrest. The future isn't sunny UK, 1996 look that up in your Funk and Wagnalls! used for a humorous observation about a word or fact. One of the most popular catchphrases from the US television series Laugh-In (1967–73) and repeated referentially US, 1967 look up verb 1 to visit, usually informally UK, 1788. 2 to get better UK, 1806 look who it isn't used as a facetious greeting on a surprise meeting UK, 1959 looky here! used as a demand for attention to what is being said. A variation of LOOK HERE! US, 1876 look you! used as a demand for attention to what is being said; especially (when spoken by a non-Welsh) as catchphrase of stereotypical Welshness UK: WALES, 1937 loo la adjective drunk UK, 2002 loomer noun a large wave that suddenly appears seaward US, 1964 loon noun a madman. An abbreviation of 'lunatic' US, 1823 loon verb to fool about; to move to music in an uncontrolled manner. Often followed by 'about' UK, 1966 loon about; loon verb to play the fool; to enjoy leisure time in a non-conformist manner: dancing, idling, wandering UK, 1966 looney tune; loony tune noun a crazy person. From the television cartoons created by Warner Brothers beginning in 1960. The variant 'looney tunes' is also used as a singular US, 1967 looney tunes adjective insane US, 1971 loon pants; loons noun casual trousers fashioned with a very wide flare below the knee UK, 1971 loon shit noun boggy land CANADA, 1987

loony noun 1 a madman. An abbreviation of 'lunatic'; may also be spelt 'looney' US, 1883. 2 a one-dollar coin CANADA, 2002 loony adjective extremely erratic; mildly crazy US, 1841 loony bin noun a hospital (or other institution) for the treatment of psychiatric problems and mental illness UK, 1919 loony bird noun a person who is at least eccentric, at most mentally unstable US, 1964 loony left noun used by 'moderate' politicians to demonise committed socialists as fanatical extremists. Combines LOONY (mad) with 'left' (the sinister positioning of socialist politics) UK, 1977

loony toons noun LSD UK, 2003 loop noun 1 a short pornographic video shown on a recurring cycle US, 1973. 2 in television and film-making, voice recordings that are used with previously recorded video US, 1980. 3 an intrauterine contraceptive device US, 1972. 4 in table tennis, a shot with topspin US, 1971. 5 a crazy individual. Sometimes expanded to 'loop-de-loop' UK: SCOTLAND, 1996. ► in the loop to be part of an inner-circle that receives restricted information UK, 1970. ► out of the loop not part of a process or inner circle US, 1976

Loop noun ► the Loop the core central area of Chicago. From the elevated railway constructed in 1897 that loops around two square miles of central Chicago US, 1946 loop-de-loop noun simultaneous, reciprocal oral sex between two people US, 1971 looped; looping adjective drunk. Descriptive of the inability when drunk to maintain a straight line US, 1934 looper noun 1 a person who is capable of crazy actions IRELAND, 2003. 2 a wave that breaks over itself, creating a hollow through which a surfer can ride US, 1964

loogie noun a tourist NEW ZEALAND, 1984 loop joint noun an arcade showing recurring pornographic videos in private booths US, 1986 loop-scoop verb to steal something quickly US, 1972 loop-the-loop; loop-de-loop; loopers; loop noun soup UK, 1961 loopy adjective slightly mad; drunk. A conventional 'loop' is an obvious aberration from a straight line UK, 1925 loopy juice noun 1 an alcoholic drink. A drink with the 'juice' (power) to make you LOOPY (drunk) UK, 2001. 2 a strong medication UK, 1996 loopy looney juice noun alcohol. Royal Navy slang; LOOPY (eccentric) plus LOONY (crazy) and JUICE UK, 1987 loose noun ► on the loose (used of a wager) made on credit AUSTRALIA, 1989 loose adjective 1 (of a slot machine) advantageous to the gambler, both in terms of the frequency of payouts and a small house advantage US, 1984. 2 romantically unattached US, 1968 loose belly noun diarrhoea TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1991 loose bump noun in the military, an unsolicited and unwanted promotion US, 1947 loose cannon noun a person whose actions or words cannot be controlled or predicted. From the image of a cannon rolling loose on the deck of a fighting ship US, 1977 loose goose adjective applied to something or someone that can be described as loose in whatever sense US, 1958 loose horse noun a tractor truck without a trailer US, 1971 loose wig noun a wild demeanour US, 1959 loosey-goosey adjective very loose in any sense US, 1967 loosie noun 1 an individual cigarette sold over the counter US, 1981. 2 in rugby, a loose forward NEW ZEALAND, 1977 loosie goosie noun a sexually promiscuous young woman US, 1979 loot noun 1 money US, 1929. 2 a lieutenant US, 1967 loot-in noun politically motivated group shoplifting US, 1970 loot money noun after World War 2, Chinese national currency obtained by looting US, 1949 lope verb to stroke US, 1974. ► lope your donkey (of a male) to masturbate US, 1985. ► lope your mule (of a male) to masturbate US, 1967

lop-ear noun an easily duped person US, 1950 lop-ear; lop-eared adjective naive, gullible US, 1863 loper noun 1 a resident of Michigan's Lower Peninsula. Upper Peninsula usage US, 2003. 2 in hot rodding, a big and powerful engine that is noisy when it idles US, 1993 lopp noun a perpetually naive and ignorant person US, 1989 lord and master noun 1 the backside, the buttocks. Rhyming slang, extending the sequence 'plaster' – PLASTER OF PARIS – ARIS – ARISTOTLE – BOTTLE; BOTTLE AND GLASS – ARSE. Sometimes seen in the abbreviated form of 'lord' UK, 1998. 2 a plaster (a first aid dressing). Rhyming slang UK, 1998 lord and mastered adjective drunk. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 lord boards noun sandals. From paintings of Jesus Christ wearing sandals US, 1994

Lord Jesus noun a curly hairstyle popular with black men and women in the mid-1970s US, 1975

Lord Lovat! used as an emphatic rejection of something. Rhyming slang, pronounced 'Lord love it', formed from the name of a long aristocratic line UK, 1992

Lord love-a-duck! used as a mild expression of shock or surprise. Sometimes varied as 'cor love a duck!' or reduced to 'love a duck!'; it is often regarded as a quintessentially Cockney turn of phrase UK, 1917

Lord Mayor verb to swear. Rhyming slang UK, 1992

Lord Muck noun a man who is, in the speaker's opinion, unjustifiably self-important or esteemed. The earlier counterpart to LADY MUCK, although they are often seen as a couple UK, 1937

Lord Sutch noun in a car, the clutch. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of rock musician and politician Screaming Lord Sutch, 3rd Earl of Harrow, 1940–99 UK, 1992

Lord tunderin' Jesus used as one of many elaborate Nova Scotian curses CANADA, 1985

Lord Wigg noun a glutton, an ill-mannered person. Rhyming slang for 'pig', formed from the name of politician George Cecil Wigg, 1900–83 UK, 1992

Lordy!; lawdy! Lord!, mildly calling upon God US, 1853

Loretta Young; loretta noun the tongue. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the US television and film actress, 1914–2000 UK, 1998

Lorna Doone noun a spoon. Rhyming slang, formed from the eponymous heroine of R.D. Blackmore's romantic novel, 1869, widely-known from many film and television versions UK, 1992

lorry noun ► up the lorry in a great deal of trouble SINGAPORE, 2002

Los noun Los Angeles, California. Border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans US, 1913 lose verb 1 to get rid of US, 1931. 2 to fail to understand UK, 1962. 3 (used of a computer program) to fail to work as expected US, 1983. ► lose a load to ejaculate US, 1964. ► lose fire (used of a car engine) to stop operating US, 1970. ► lose it 1 to lose your mental focus to drugs, rhythmic sound and movement, and temporarily lose touch with the reality beyond the rave. A refined sense of 'lose it' (to temporarily lose control) UK, 1998. 2 to come off your motorcycle accidentally UK, 1979. ► lose the plot to lose your grasp of a situation UK, 2001. ► lose water in bodybuilding, to perspire. Done intentionally before competition in bodybuilding in order to improve muscle definition US, 1984. ► lose your cool to

- become angry, excited, nervous, etc; to lose your self-possession US, 1984. ► lose your lunch to vomit US, 1918
- lose or win noun the foreskin. Rhyming slang UK, 2003
- loser noun 1 a socially inept person; a person with consistently bad luck; anyone deemed unacceptable or an outcast US, 1955. 2 a convicted felon US, 1912. 3 a hospital patient who dies US, 1970
- losersville noun a notional place where all socially inept people live INDIA, 2002
- lossage noun the ongoing effect of a computer malfunction US, 1991
- loss-leader noun something displayed prominently, and at a cut-price rate, to encourage further buying of other stock US, 1922
- lossy adjective (used of a data-compression computer program) apt to lose some data US, 1997
- lost adjective murdered, especially as a victim of 'criminal justice' US, 1962
- lost-and-found badge noun a US Army name tag. Gulf war usage US, 1991
- lost fart in a haunted milk bottle noun the epitome of distraction or indecision. Royal Navy slang. UK, 1989
- lost in the sauce adjective daydreaming, completely inattentive US, 1988
- lost-it noun a person under the sway of drug intoxication UK, 1997
- lost sailor noun in the language surrounding the Grateful Dead, a follower of the band who has lost all touch with reality. From the title of a Grateful Dead song US, 1994
- lost time noun the reduction of time from a prison sentence for good behaviour US, 1950
- Lost Wages nickname Las Vegas, Nevada US, 1951
- losum game noun in the language of carnival workers, a game that for whatever reason should be terminated immediately US, 1985
- lot noun ► do the lot to lose all your money UK, 1961. ► the lot a life sentence in prison NEW ZEALAND, 1997
- lotion noun alcohol UK, 1876
- lot lady noun in circus and carnival usage, a local woman who is attracted to and makes herself sexually available to circus or carnival employees. In short, a circus or carnival GROUPIE US, 1981
- lot lizard noun 1 an aggressive car salesman US, 2001. 2 a prostitute who works at transport cafes US, 1987
- lot loafer noun in circus and carnival usage, a local resident who loiters as a show is assembled or taken down US, 1981
- lot louce noun a patron of a circus or carnival who spends little or no money US, 1930
- lot of it about a catchphrase applied to the prevalence of anything UK, 2002
- lotsa noun a large amount. A slovenly contraction of 'lots of' US, 1927
- lotta; lorra a large amount. A slovening of 'lot of' UK, 1906
- lottery noun in horse racing, a race with no clear favourite AUSTRALIA, 1989
- lottery ticket noun a currency note. In use at least fifteen years before the lottery was introduced to the UK UK, 1982
- lotto noun money. Teen slang SOUTH AFRICA, 2003
- Lotusland noun the city of Vancouver, British Columbia and sometimes the whole province of BC CANADA, 2002
- lou noun a lieutenant US, 1973
- loud verb to arrest; to be arrested. English gypsy use UK, 2000
- loud adjective subject to detection by smell UK, 1641
- loud and clear adjective expensive, overpriced, dear. Rhyming slang UK, 1998
- loud and proud adjective (used of a citizens' band radio signal) clear US, 1976
- loud pedal noun the accelerator on a drag racing car or hot rod US, 1952
- louie noun a left turn US, 1967 ► see: LOOIE
- Louisiana lottery noun an illegal numbers game US, 1949
- Louisville Lip nickname the boxer Mohammed Ali, born Cassius Clay in 1942 in Louisville, Kentucky US, 1968
- lounder noun a generous portion of anything CANADA, 1999
- loungecore noun a particular style of easy-listening music. An ironic combination of 'lounge' music (easy-to-listen but hard to define) and -CORE, which is usually suffixed to forms of rock music US, 1996
- lounge lizard noun a male sexual predator who seeks prey to seduce in fashionable bars and parties US, 1918
- Lou Reed noun amphetamine. Rhyming slang for SPEED. Based, perhaps with more than a hint of irony, on rock singer and songwriter Lou Reed (b.1943) UK, 1996
- louse noun a despicable person US, 1864
- louse book noun an illegal betting operation that accepts only very small bets US, 1951
- louse cage noun a brakevan (caboose) US, 1960
- loused up adjective covered with scars and abscesses from repeated drug injections US, 1970
- louse house noun a run-down, shoddy boarding house UK, 1785
- louse up verb to ruin, to spoil US, 1934
- lousy adjective contemptible, shoddy, bad. Because of the association with body lice, the term was deemed vulgar if not taboo in the US well into the C20 UK, 1386
- lousy with adjective full of something, rich with something. From the prevalence of lice in an infestation UK, 1594
- lova noun an unemployed person. Scamto youth street slang (South African townships) SOUTH AFRICA, 2005
- love noun 1 used as an endearment, or a form of address (generally to the opposite sex, sometimes considered patronising); also for anything that is charming and admired UK, 1814. 2 crack cocaine UK, 1998 ► see: LIGHT OF LOVE
- love-a-dove adjective extremely affectionate as a result of intoxication with MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. A play on LOVEY-DOVEY and DOVE (a type of ecstasy) UK, 1999
- love a duck! luvvaduck! used as a mild expletive. Often preceded by 'Cor!', 'Lord!' or 'Gawd!'; probably a gentling of fuck a duck! UK, 1934
- love affair noun cocaine; a mixture of heroin and cocaine UK, 2002
- love and kisses noun a wife. Rhyming slang for MISSUS UK, 1992
- love and marriage noun a carriage. Rhyming slang, possibly acquired from the 1955 song 'Love and Marriage', lyrics by Sammy Cahn: 'Love and marriage, love and marriage / Go together like a horse and carriage' UK, 1992
- love an romancin noun dancing. Glasgow rhyming slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1988
- love bladder noun a condom US, 1968
- love blow noun marijuana US, 1986
- love boat noun 1 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1983. 2 marijuana dipped in formaldehyde US, 1998
- love child noun a member of the 1960s counterculture US, 1990
- love conkers noun the testicles. Drawing an image of the fruit of the horse chestnut tree while playing on the familiar quotation 'love conquers all' UK, 2003
- love cushion noun your boyfriend or girlfriend US, 1986
- love doctor noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Descriptive of the way that ECSTASY treats your emotions UK, 2003
- love drug noun 1 MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Descriptive of the effect that ECSTASY has on your emotions; widely used UK, 1998. 2 the recreational drug methaqualone, best known as Quaaludes™ US, 1985
- loved up; luvdup; luvved up adjective under the influence of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy, and experiencing the emotional need to share the boundless affection that is associated with the drug UK, 1996

love-'em-and-leave-'em; love 'em and leave 'em adjective used as a description of philandering or a philanderer UK, 1961 love factory noun a brothel US, 1983 lovefest noun a close, happy relationship. Combines 'love' with -FEST (a concentration of) US, 1995 love glove noun a condom US, 1987 love handles noun a roll of fat on either side of the body, just above the waist US, 1970 love heart noun a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy, possibly mixed with the recreational drug methaqualone, best known as Quaaludes™, identified by an embossed heart. These variously coloured tablets are named after a sherberty children's sweet UK, 1996 love-in noun a communal gathering for a hands-on celebration of interpersonal love US, 1967 love in a punt noun very weak beer. A play on 'fucking near water' UK, 1973 love it! used for registering definite approval UK, 2001 love juice noun semen UK, 1882 love lips noun the vaginal labia UK, 2003 lovely noun 1 an attractive woman UK, 1938. 2 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust. A longer variant is 'lovely high' US, 1978 lovelyboy noun used as a form of address. Sterotypically Welsh, perhaps as a result of its use by actor Windsor Davies in BBC television comedy series 'It Ain't Half Hot Mum', 1974–81 UK: WALES, 2000 lovely jubbly; luvly jubbly adjective wonderful, fantastic. Coined by John Sullivan (b.1946) as a catchphrase for the popular character Del Boy in the BBC television comedy Only Fools and Horses (1981–96), possibly inspired by a remembered response to a 'Jubbly', a pyramid-shaped frozen ice popular with children during the 1950s and 60s UK, 1994 love muffin noun the vagina UK, 2001 love muscle noun the penis US, 1958 love mussel noun the vagina. A neat pun on LOVE MUSCLE (the penis) and FISH (the vagina) US, 2001 love nest noun 1 a secluded room, apartment or house where lovers rendezvous US, 1919. 2 the vagina US, 1994

love nuggets noun marijuana UK, 2003 love nuts noun testicles that ache because of sexual stimulation that has not led to ejaculation; sexual frustration US, 1971 love off verb to love greatly UK, 2000 love pill noun a capsule of MDA, a synthetic amphetamine US, 1970 love plank noun the penis. Popularised in the film Kevin & Perry Go Large, (2000) UK, 2000 love pole noun the penis, 1999 love potion #9 noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Descriptive of the effect that ECSTASY has on your emotions, from a 1959 song by Lieber and Stoller UK, 2003 love pump noun the penis. Popularised if not coined for the film This Is Spinal Tap US, 1984 lover noun 1 used as a form of address to someone who is not the speaker's lover. Possibly West Country dialect, certainly used as a characteristic of stereotypical West Country MUMMERSET speech UK, 1973. 2 any sex offender US, 1950 loverboy; lover boy; lover man noun a sexually promiscuous man, or one who tries hard to be so US, 1952 lover cover noun in drag racing, a protective shield between a driver's legs to prevent injury in the event of an engine explosion US, 1993

love rocket noun the penis UK, 2003 lover's leap noun in backgammon, the customary play with a first roll of 6–5: moving a back man 11 points US, 1970 lover's nuts noun testicles that ache because of sexual stimulation that has not led to ejaculation; sexual frustration US, 1961 lover's speed; speed for lovers noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. MDMA is an amphetamine derivative that encourages empathy that is often confused with feelings of love UK, 2003 lover's tiff; lovers' tiff noun a sexually transmitted infection. Rhyming slang for 'syph' (syphilis), but applied more widely UK, 1992 love sacks noun the testicles UK, 2002 love sausage noun the penis US, 2001 love, security and devotion noun LSD. A sobriquet formed from the drug's initials US, 1970 love spuds; spuds noun the testicles UK, 1998

lovesteam noun the penis US, 1989 love tap noun 1 in motor racing, minor yet intentional contact between cars US, 1993. 2 in motor, gentle contact between one pin and another US, 1987 love trumpet noun the penis. Especially in the phrase 'blowing the love trumpet' (performing oral sex) US, 2001 love truncheon noun the penis. From the shape and purpose; humorous yet aggressive UK, 1999 love up verb to engage in sexual activity short of intercourse TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1964

love weed; loveweed noun marijuana US, 1938 lovey noun used as an endearment, or an over-familiar or patronising form of address. In conventional use until late C19, thereafter colloquial UK, 1731 lovey-dovey adjective extremely affectionate, sentimental, romantic. Heard at the turn of the century, then obsolete; heard again in the late 1940s. When not a genuine endearment, it tends to be used contemptuously US, 1886 low noun a depression, a state of depression (mental, physical or commercial). The opposite of HIGH UK, 1961 low and slow adjective describing the manner in which lowriders drive their cars, low to the ground and at a crawl US, 1985 lowball noun in the used car business, a knowingly deflated price US, 1961 low bandwidth adjective lacking useful information US, 1995

lowbrow noun a person who is not, or has no pretensions to be, of above-average intellectual capability or aesthetic refinement US, 1903

lowbrow adjective of little or no intellectual interest or aesthetic refinement US, 1903

lowbush moose noun in Alaska, a snowshoe rabbit US, 1997 low camp noun a coarsely ostentatious style, often unintentional. An elaboration of CAMP (flamboyance) US, 1963 lowdown noun detailed information US, 1907

lower 48 noun in Alaska, all states except Alaska US, 1984

lower 49 noun in Alaska, all states except Alaska US, 1984

lower deck noun the genitals, male or female US, 1967 lower states noun in Alaska, all states except Alaska US, 1984 lowest form of life; lowest form of animal life noun used to categorise or insult the despised, the overlooked and the most junior UK, 1961 low-flyer nickname Famous Grouse™ whisky. After the characteristic behaviour of the feathered grouse UK: SCOTLAND, 1996

lowgrade verb to disparage with great effect US, 1973 low-hangers noun testicles that dangle well below the body. Used in Sex and the City, a late 1990s television comedy to indicate testicles that may get in the way of sexual penetration US, 2000 lowwheel noun a street-walking prostitute; any prostitute; a promiscuous woman. Inferring that the heels are worn down from persistent street-walking AUSTRALIA, 1939 low-hung adjective possessing a large penis US, 1964 lowie noun 1 a period of clinical depression. Liverpool usage. Also spelt 'lowey' UK, 2001. 2 a prostitute; a promiscuous woman. From LOWHEEL AUSTRALIA, 1944

Lowies noun Lowenbrau™ beer US, 1982 low maintenance adjective (used of a person) not requiring a great deal of attention or emotional support. A term that did not achieve anywhere near the fame of its cousin HIGH MAINTENANCE US, 1989 low-man feed noun in pinball, an understanding among friends playing a game that the person with the lowest score on one game will pay for the next game US, 1977 low man on the totem pole noun in poker, the player with the worst hand US, 1988 low marble count noun low intelligence US, 1994 low neck; low neck and short sleeves noun an uncircumcised penis US, 1941 low on the totem pole; low on the totem adjective occupying an unimportant position in a hierarchy UK, 1974 low pass noun a preliminary review of a situation. US naval aviator usage US, 1986 low-rate verb to denigrate; to insult US, 1906 low rent adjective cheap, inferior; despicable US, 1957 lowrider noun 1 a young person who restores and drives a car with a hydraulic system that lowers the car's chassis to just above the ground. A lifestyle and art form in the American southwest, especially among Mexican-American youth US, 1963. 2 a person wearing trousers without a belt and very low on the waist US, 1997 low road noun the railway from Glasgow to Dalry. Surely formed from the famous Scottish song 'Loch Lomond': 'O ye'll tak the high road and I'll tak the low road, / And I'll be in Scotland afore ye' UK, 1970 lows noun in pool, the solid-coloured balls numbered 1 to 7 US, 1990 low side noun in craps, all the points below seven US, 1950 low-tech adjective using basic technology. Combines 'low' (basic) with an abbreviation US, 1981 low wines noun in the illegal production of alcohol, the low-proof distillate produced by the first run of a still US, 1974

lox verb to refill an aircraft's stock of liquid oxygen, used for breathing at high altitudes CANADA, 1995 loxed; loxed out adjective in a diminished state of consciousness after a heart attack or respiratory arrest. An abbreviation of 'lack of oxygen' US, 1978 loxion noun a neighbourhood. Township slang, from 'location' SOUTH AFRICA, 2003 loyal to the dollar adjective bribed and compliant with the intent of the bribe US, 1989

L-plate; L-plater noun a prisoner serving a life sentence. A play on L for 'life' and the L-plates that signify learner-drivers UK, 1996

L's noun a driver's license US, 2001

LSD noun ► new LSD Vicodin™, a prescription painkiller taken recreationally US, 2001

LSD nickname Lake Shore Drive, Chicago US, 1985

LT; el tee noun a lieutenant. From the common abbreviation US, 1977

L-town; Lousetown nickname Klondike City, Yukon Territory CANADA, 1963

L train noun ► take the L train to lose, to fail miserably US, 1993

L train! used for a warning that police are nearby US, 1993 lubage noun marijuana. A variation of LUBANGE (marijuana) US, 1998 lubange noun marijuana. Originally East African usage US, 1982 lube noun a lubricant US, 1970 lube verb to lubricate US, 1956 lube adjective drunk. An abbreviated form of LUBRICATED US, 1979

lube job noun the process of lubricating a car or other piece of machinery US, 1950 lubra noun an Aboriginal woman. Probably from an Australian Aboriginal language. Now only used derogatorily AUSTRALIA, 1830 lubra lips noun large lips AUSTRALIA, 1975

lubricated adjective drunk US, 1911

Luby Lou; Luby nickname a Jewish person. Rhyming slang; probably formed on Looby Loo, a rag doll character in children's television programme Andy Pandy, BBC since 1950 UK, 2000

Lucas noun marijuana US, 1998

lucifee; lucivee noun a Canada lynx CANADA, 1949 luck noun ► you never know your luck something unexpected may well happen. Probably an elaboration of YOU NEVER KNOW UK, 1961 luck into verb to be the beneficiary of good fortune US, 1920 luck money noun a tip or gratuity US, 1948 luck out verb to experience some good luck US, 1945 lucky 15 noun a multiple bet, based on a yankee, combining 15 separate bets UK, 1991 lucky 31 noun a multiple bet covering five selections to '31 win stakes or 62 each-way stakes' UK, 2001 lucky 63 noun a multiple bet covering six selections to '63 win stakes or 126 each-way stakes' UK, 2001 lucky boy; luck boy noun a swindler; a pickpocket US, 1922 lucky buck noun a casino gambling coupon US, 1974 lucky charm noun the arm. Rhyming slang UK, 1998

Lucky Country; lucky country noun Australia. From The Lucky Country, 1964, by Donald Horne, Australian author. Often used ironically AUSTRALIA, 1968 lucky dip noun 1 a chip. Rhyming slang, possibly derived from the action of eating a bag of chips UK, 1992. 2 a whip. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 lucky lady noun a type of bet in an illegal numbers game lottery US, 1957 lucky last noun in horse racing, the final race of the day AUSTRALIA, 1989 lucky Pierre noun the man (or the woman) sandwiched between the outer layers of a sexually active threesome. Glorified in the following lyric: 'Pierre gave it to Sheila, / Who must have brought it there. / He got it from François and Jacques, / A-ha, Lucky Pierre!' (Tom Lehrer, 'I Got It From Agnes', 1953). Predominately gay male usage US, 1942 lucky shop noun in Victoria; an establishment for betting with the TAB (a legal gambling agency) AUSTRALIA, 1979 lucky stiff noun in blackjack, a poor hand that is transformed by a lucky draw into a winning hand US, 2003

lucoddy; leucoddy; coddly noun the body UK, 1967

Lucozade noun a black person. Rhyming slang for SPADE (a black person); formed on the name of a branded drink UK, 1984 lu-cu-pu good night. A short-lived, but intensely used, piece of bebop slang US, 1948

Lucy noun an individual cigarette sold over the counter US, 1996

Lucy in the Sky with Diamonds; Lucy noun LSD. One of the Beatles' most psychedelic songs, 'Lucy in the Sky with Diamonds', 1967, has always been seen as a (not very discreet) LSD reference UK, 1975

Lucy Locket noun a pocket. Rhyming slang, from a nursery rhyme UK, 1971 lude; lud noun a tablet of the recreational drug methaqualone, best known as Quaaludes™ or, in a manner not inconsistent with the imprecision of the drug culture, any central nervous system depressant. Quaalude™ was a brand name for methaqualone, a muscle relaxant and barbiturate substitute introduced in 1965 and made illegal in the US in 1984 US, 1973 lúdrámán; ludramaun noun an idiot, a stupid person. From the Irish for 'an idle person' IRELAND, 1997 luego used as a farewell. Spanish for 'later' US, 1981 luer noun a glass syringe with a slip-on needle and a solid plunger US, 1973 lug noun 1 a large, clumsy, dim man US, 1927. 2 a woman who takes lesbian lovers in college and then reverts to heterosexuality after graduation from college. An abbreviation of 'lesbian until graduation' US, 1993. 3 the ear UK, 1507. 4 an inhalation of marijuana smoke, especially from a water pipe UK, 1996. 5 a demand US, 1929. 6 luggage US, 1977 lug verb to bring, to accompany UK, 1884 lujan noun a Lithuanian. Coined in Chicago US, 1947 luger lout noun a German. Rhyming slang for KRAUT formed from the well-known brand of German side-arm and a pun on LAGER LOUT UK, 1992 lugger noun 1 in a big store confidence swindle, somebody who is assigned to provide background ambience, an extra US, 1931. 2 a person who physically transports players to an illegal poker game US, 1979 lughole; lug'ole noun the ear. A variation of LUG (the ear) UK, 1895 lug in verb (used of a racehorse) to tend to run toward the rail US, 1964 luke noun pre-coital vaginal secretions US, 1960s luken noun in circus and carnival usage, a naive, gullible person US, 1981

Luke the Gook noun during the Korean war, a north Korean; during the Vietnam war, any Vietnamese person. War usage US, 1953

Luke the Gook's castle noun a fortified North Korean position US, 1964 lullaby verb to knock unconscious; to kill US, 1990

lulu noun something that is amazing US, 1886

Lulu's parlor noun a brothel US, 1946 lumber noun 1 the stems of a marijuana plant US, 1982. 2 stolen goods UK, 1956. 3 an action or piece of information intended to cause trouble UK, 1956. 4 a member of the opposite sex that you form an initial liaison with, especially with a view to greater intimacy UK: SCOTLAND, 1966. 5 a non-playing, non-betting observer of a game of chance US, 1961. ► in lumber; in dead lumber in trouble UK, 1967 lumber verb 1 to steal UK, 1956. 2 to fight US, 1982. 3 to form an initial liaison with someone sexually attractive, especially with a view to greater intimacy AUSTRALIA, 1933. 4 to encumber with problems or trouble UK, 1956. 5 to arrest. First recorded in 1812 meaning 'to jail', from 'lumber' (to pawn) UK, 1812 lumbered adjective 1 arrested, in custody. Still in current use. AUSTRALIA, 1812. 2 in (any sort of) trouble; having been given unwelcome responsibility UK, 1984 lumbering noun sexual intercourse AUSTRALIA, 1992 lumberjack noun the back. Rhyming slang, playing on 'lumbar'. UK, 1998 lumberman's strawberries noun prunes CANADA, 1947 lumber wagon noun an old, dilapidated car US, 1962 lumber yard noun 1 the trees around and in a golf course US, 2000. 2 a prison exercise yard AUSTRALIA, 1956 lumins noun rays of the sun. Often found as 'soaking up a few lumins' US, 1968 lummed up adjective drunk UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 lump noun 1 a stupid, inept person UK, 1909. 2 a tracking device UK, 2002. 3 in hot rodding and drag racing, an engine US, 1963. 4 a small lunch carried in your pocket US, 1980 lump verb 1 to dislike something that must be endured UK, 1833. 2 to reluctantly accept. Usually in the phrase 'lump it' UK, 1791. 3 to strike; to hit UK, 1780. ► lump lips to talk on the telephone. Teen slang US, 1951 lumper noun 1 any unskilled worker. Originally applied to an unskilled worker who helped load and off-load vessels, and then more generally UK, 1785. 2 in carnival usage, a confederate who is hired to play and win a game in order to generate business US, 1981 lump of coke; lump noun a man. Rhyming slang for BLOKE UK, 1859 lump of ice noun advice. Rhyming slang UK, 1909 lump of lead noun the head. Rhyming slang, often used in connection with a hangover UK, 1857 lumps noun the consequences of your actions, punishment or other unpleasantness, either physical or by reprimand US, 1930 lumpy gravy noun the Royal Navy. Rhyming slang UK, 1984 lumpy jumper noun a female member of the Royal Air Force. A less than flattering allusion to female breasts UK, 2002

lun noun in Newfoundland, a spot in the lee of the wind CANADA, 1958

Luna Park bookmaker noun a bookmaker who appears to be operating his business just for fun. Luna Park was an amusement park on Coney Island, New York, and later in Sydney. The Sydney park has long used the sobriquet 'just for fun' in advertisements AUSTRALIA, 1989 lunar noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. Emphasises the monthly rhythm of the cycle US, 2000 lunar occurrence noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1968 lunatic patrol noun a police operation to bring a mentally ill person to a hospital CANADA, 1945 lunatics noun ► the lunatics are running the asylum; the lunatics have taken over the asylum used of any situation that is managed by those who are incapable UK, 1981 lunatic soup noun alcoholic drink AUSTRALIA, 1933 lunch noun 1 the male genitals, especially as may be hinted at or imagined when the man is dressed AUSTRALIA, 1944. 2 oral sex performed on a woman US, 1995. ► do lunch to have lunch, usually a working lunch. Hollywood lingo, embraced elsewhere with a sense of mocking US, 1987. ► drop your lunch to fart AUSTRALIA, 1988. ► out to lunch 1 distracted, insensible, foolish, stupid, vacant; being there with the mind elsewhere. A figurative use of a favourite excuse for someone not being there, in this case extended to 'not all there' US, 1955. 2 knocked from your surfboard by a wave US, 1977 lunch verb 1 to fail, to do poorly US, 1966. 2 to cause a car engine to explode, scattering parts on the track or road. An especially common event and term in drag racing US, 1997. 3 to perform oral sex UK, 1996. ► get lunched to be knocked from your surfboard and thrashed by the ocean US, 1988 lunch adjective without a care, absent-minded US, 1975 lunchbox noun 1 the male genitalia, especially when generously presented in tight clothing. An indiscreet euphemism that makes people smile; perhaps its most famous usage occurred during track athlete Linford Christie's impressive performance at the 1992 Olympic Games, when he took gold in the 100 metres US, 1992. 2 someone who is completely out of touch US, 1964 lunch bucket noun a socially inept outcast US, 1956 lunch hooks noun the hands US, 1896 lunchie noun a lunchtime drink consumed in place of a meal UK, 2001 lunchin' adjective foolish. A formation based on OUT TO LUNCH US, 1987

lunching noun the act of oral sex UK, 1996 lunching adjective completely out of touch and unaware of what is happening. An evolved OUT TO LUNCH US, 1999

lunchmeat noun 1 in the pornography industry, an extremely appealing and sexual woman US, 1995. 2 in poker, bad cards or a player who proceeds with a bad hand US, 1996 lunch out verb 1 to perform oral sex US, 1986. 2 to experience a psychotic break during drug intoxication US, 1988 lunchpail noun an ugly, stupid and/or despondent person US, 1968 lunch tray noun a short snowboard US, 1995

lud noun a despicable person TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1980

Lunenburg champagne noun rum. Lunenburg, on the Nova Scotia South Shore coast, is long known for its fishing and trading, and the nickname comes from the old three-cornered trade with England and the West Indies – salt fish, rum and lumber CANADA, 1999

Lunenburg pudding noun pork sausage CANADA, 1998 lung butter noun phlegm US, 1993 lunger noun 1 phlegm expelled from the lungs US, 1946. 2 a person suffering from tuberculosis US, 1893 lungs noun the female breasts US, 1951

lunk noun a dolt US, 1867 lunkhead noun a dolt US, 1868 lupper noun the finger. Polari UK, 1967 lurk noun a cunning scheme or stratagem. A positive term. When referring to a fraudulent or otherwise illegal activity a 'lurk' is only ever a misdemeanour or a bending of the rules. Commonly refers also to a job that is easy yet sounds like hard work, or has some clever trick to being profitable AUSTRALIA, 1891

lurk verb to read postings on an Internet discussion group without posting your own comments US, 1984 lurker noun 1 a person who reads postings on an Internet discussion group without posting their own comments US, 1991. 2 a market-stallholder who is new to the trade, and who operates in non-traditional markets. Used by veterans who were 'born to the job' UK, 1983. 3 a Canadian pilot waiting in Thompson, Manitoba, for a flying job CANADA, 2002 lurk man noun a man who is adept at obtaining lurks AUSTRALIA, 1945

lurk merchant noun a person adept at obtaining lurks AUSTRALIA, 1964 lurp noun 1 a misfit US, 1955. 2 a long-range reconnaissance patrol; a member of such a patrol. From the initials LRRP US, 1968 lus noun enthusiasm, appetite. From 'lust' or synonymous Afrikaans lus. Used, for example, in the expression a 'lus for politics' SOUTH AFRICA, 1994 lus adjective longing for something; lusting after something. From Afrikaans lus (desirous) SOUTH AFRICA, 1970

luser noun a computer neophyte US, 1995 lush noun 1 alcohol. At one time deemed obsolete slang, but revived UK, 1790. 2 an alcoholic US, 1851 lush verb to drink alcohol excessively UK, 1811 lush adjective 1 sexually attractive UK, 1890. 2 drunk UK, 1812. 3 very good, great, especially nice; attractive. Reported in mid-1970s as being used in Wigan, south Lancashire, and in 2002, by south Wales schoolchildren to describe an impressive room in an historic house UK, 1953 lush! used for expressing approval UK, 2003 lushed adjective drunk US, 1927 lusher noun a drunkard US, 1848 lush green noun money US, 1951 lushhead noun a habitual drinker. Combines LUSH (an alcoholic) with -HEAD (a user) UK, 1938

lushhound noun a drunkard US, 1935 lush puppy noun a young person who drinks to excess. A play on the branded shoes Hush Puppies™ UK, 1983 lush-roll verb to rob drunkards US, 1957 lushwell noun a drunkard US, 1960 lush-worker noun a thief who preys on drunks who have passed out US, 1908 lushy noun a drunkard US, 1944 lust noun ► in lust sexually attracted to someone. A play on the conventional 'in love' US, 1963 lust dog noun a passionate, promiscuous female US, 1975 lusty wench noun an attractive teenage girl. The term assumes a degree of respectability in the girl NEW ZEALAND, 1984 luv noun love, especially as a form of address. A variant spelling; also used for reasons of alphabetic economy in text messaging UK, 1898 luvvie; luvvy; luvvie-darling noun 1 an actor of either sex, especially one given to public extravagance or theatrical gesture; an actor who is considered intensely serious about theatre work. Satirical, gently derogatory, often self-descriptive; from the stereotypical thespianic greeting and form of address 'Luvvie, darling' UK, 1990. 2 used as a form of address, generally affectionate (usually of the opposite sex, sometimes considered patronising). An extension of LOVE UK, 1968

lux adjective luxurious US, 2002

L'ville nickname Louisville, Kentucky US, 1981

lye noun marijuana US, 1990s lying squad noun the Flying Squad of the Metropolitan Police UK, 1996 lyrics noun 1 talk, especially when stretching truth or reality. A play on 'words' UK, 1994. 2 profanity, disparagement TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987

LZ noun a combat aircraft landing zone, especially an improvised one US, 1971

Mm

M noun 1 morphine US, 1914. 2 marijuana. Extended from the previous sense US, 1955. 3 an MBE (Member of the Order of the British Empire). Used by civil servants, suggestive of a casual familiarity with the honour UK, 1961

M & M noun a 9 mm pistol US, 1999

M20 noun a meeting place. Citizens' band radio jargon, originally US; UK use is interesting as the M20 is a motorway route to Folkestone US, 1981

M25 noun a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. The initial letter of MDMA leads to the designation of the London orbital motorway (M25) thus memorialising the road's pivotal role in reaching the (often) illegal locations of early raves UK, 1996

M8 noun used in text messaging to mean 'a mate'. A variant spelling; one of several constructions in which a syllable pronounced 'ate' is replaced by the homophone 'eight' UK, 2002 ma noun a mother; used for addressing your mother. An abbreviation of 'mama' UK, 1823 ma'a noun crack cocaine, 2003 maaga; maga adjective thin. From West Indian and UK black patois pronunciation of 'meagre' UK, 1994 ma and pa adjective (used of a business) small-scale, family-owned US, 1972

ma bubby and Choon noun any two things that are very close to each other TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1990

mac noun 1 an automated cash machine. Originally from the trademarked acronym Money Access Centre, then applied to any such device US, 1996. 2 a mackintosh, hence any waterproof outercoat. Sometimes spelt 'mack' UK, 1901

Mac; mac; mack noun 1 used as a term of address for a man whose name is not known by the speaker US, 1918. 2 a red McIntosh apple, usually from British Columbia CANADA, 1958 mac; mack verb to eat voraciously. From the Big Mac, a hamburger speciality from the McDonald's™ hamburger chain US, 1990 macaroni noun 1 an Italian-American or Italian. From the pasta product UK, 1845. 2 excrement. Rhyming slang for 'pony' (the reduced form of PONY AND TRAP), CRAP (excrement). Sometimes reduced to 'maca' UK, 1974. 3 a pony, hence £25. Rhyming slang for PONY UK, 1857. 4 in betting, odds of 25–1. From rhyming slang for PONY (£25) UK, 1991. 5 in oil drilling, small-diameter pipe US, 1954 macaroni verb to defecate. Rhyming slang for PONY AND TRAP (CRAP) UK, 1974 macaroni and cheese noun marijuana worth $5 and cocaine worth $10 US, 2002 macaroon noun a black person. Rhyming slang for COON UK, 1992

MacArthur sweep noun a combing of the hair from the side of the head over a bald spot on top of the head US, 1953 macca; macker noun a recruit in the armed forces. Origin unknown AUSTRALIA, 1944

macca adjective enormous. School slang UK: ENGLAND, 2003

Maccas noun 1 food from a McDonald's™ restaurant AUSTRALIA, 1996. 2 a McDonald's™ restaurant AUSTRALIA, 1995

macdaddy noun the very best of something US, 1995 mace verb 1 to swindle, to defraud UK, 1790. 2 to owe money. From the previous sense UK, 1979. 3 to steal or cheat, especially by means of the three card trick. A variation of the sense 'to swindle' UK, 1977

MacGuffin noun a device or a gimmick within a film that while often peripheral to the storyline is iconic in and of the overall storytelling. Coined by film director Alfred Hitchcock (1899–1980) US, 1939

macher noun an important and powerful man. Yiddish US, 1930 machine noun 1 a fast and attractive car. Often pronounced 'ma-chine' US, 1908. 2 a machine gun US, 1995. 3 a trumpet UK, 1983. 4 in horse racing, a pari-mutuel betting machine US, 1976. 5 in horse racing, a battery-powered device used to impart a shock to a horse during a race US, 1976

Machine noun ► the Machine in big city politics, the over-arching political organisation that runs all facets of life US, 1992 machine gun; machine noun a syringe used for injecting an illegal drug UK, 1978

Machine Gun Murphy noun a stereotypical fearless soldier US, 1971 machinery noun 1 the equipment used to prepare and inject narcotics US, 1970. 2 marijuana. Also simply 'mach' US, 1977 macho noun excessively masculine, virile and brave. A direct loan from Spanish US, 1959

Macintoy; Macintrash noun an Apple Macintosh™ computer US, 1991

Macintyre noun fire. Rhyming slang UK, 1996 mack noun 1 a pimp US, 1903. 2 a person who is a smooth and convincing talker US, 1962. 3 the speech a pimp makes to recruit a woman as a prostitute US, 1972. 4 a male who attracts females US, 1997 ► see: MAC mack verb 1 to speak with a stylish flair and flattery US, 1968. 2 to work as a pimp UK, 1887. 3 to behave with ostentatious style and flair US, 2002. 4 to kiss US, 1993 ► see: MAC

Mack Daddy noun a skilled ladies' man; a pimp US, 1959

macker noun a very large wave US, 1991 ► see: MACCA mackerel and sprat; mackerel noun a fool. Rhyming slang for PRAT (a fool); however, as this generally appears in the shortened form, an alternative rhyming derivation has appeared: mackerel – fish in the pool – fool UK, 1998 mackerel-snapper noun a Roman Catholic. From the practice of eating fish on Fridays US, 1850s mack man noun a pimp US, 1960

Mack the Knife noun any surgeon US, 1980

Macnamara noun a barrow. Glasgow rhyming slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

macocious adjective inclined to gossip TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1977

macon; maconha; machona; mach noun marijuana. From Brazilian maconha (marijuana) US, 1938

mac out verb to eat ravenously US, 1982

Mactown nickname McMurdo Station, Antarctica ANTARCTICA, 2003

mad adjective 1 exciting, good US, 1941. 2 in homosexual usage, unrestrained and ostentatious US, 1949. 3 used as an all-purpose, dramatic intensifier US, 1972 mad adverb ► like mad to an extraordinary extent, very much UK, 1653 mad about adjective enthusiastic about, having a strong liking for, sexually infatuated UK, 1744

madam noun in a deck of playing cards, a queen US, 1988

Madam de Luce; madam verb to deceive. Rhyming slang for 'spruce' UK, 1938 madame noun 1 an older homosexual man US, 1979. 2 the victim of an extortion scheme US, 1982

Madame nickname Madame Ngo Dinh Nhu, sister-in-law of South Vietnamese President Diem US, 1965

Madame Tussaud noun bald. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of the famous waxworks' founder UK, 1998 mad as a beetle adjective extremely mad; very angry AUSTRALIA, 1942 mad as a boiled... mentally deranged. A seemingly endless source of nonsense similes; 'mad as a boiled dictionary compiler' makes as much sense, which is probably the point UK, 2000 mad as a Chinaman adjective extremely mad; very angry AUSTRALIA, 1942 mad as a cut snake adjective extremely mad. Either meaning 'out of one's mind with anger' or 'insane' AUSTRALIA, 1932 mad as a goanna adjective extremely mad; very angry. A goanna is a large lizard AUSTRALIA, 1942 mad as a gum tree full of galahs adjective totally mad; crazy. The galah is a striking native bush parrot noted for loud calls and antic behaviour AUSTRALIA, 1942 mad as a meat-axe adjective extremely mad. Generally meaning 'insane' rather than 'out of one's mind with anger' AUSTRALIA, 1946 mad as a satchel of knees adjective insane, crazy UK, 2003 mad as a snake adjective extremely mad. Either meaning 'out of one's mind with anger' or 'insane' AUSTRALIA, 1917 mad as sand adjective mentally deranged. Liverpool usage UK, 1999 mad ball noun in circus and carnival usage, a fortune teller's glass globe US, 1948 mad bastard noun a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 1997 mad bomber noun a mortar air delivery system. From the initials MADS US, 1991

Madchester nickname Manchester, the UK city that was, between 1989–92, more in touch with youth, music and drug fashions than any other. 'Mad' puns on craziness and MDMA (ecstasy) UK, 1996 mad dog noun 1 a fearless, aggressive, uninhibited criminal US, 1956. 2 any cheap red wine. Originally applied to Mogen-David wine, later to any cheap wine US, 1974 mad-dog verb 1 to behave in an intensely aggressive fashion, giving the appearance of near insanity US, 1992. 2 to annoy NEW ZEALAND, 1998 maddy noun ► throw a maddy to have a fit of ill-temper UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 made adjective 1 officially admitted into a crime family US, 1966. 2 (used of a woman) formerly virginal US, 1949 made in heaven noun in Bingo, the number sixty-seven. Rhyming slang UK, 2003 made in the shade adjective successful, accomplished US, 1951 made of money adjective wealthy UK, 1786

Ma Deuce noun a Browning .50 calibre machine gun US, 1982 made up adjective happy, satisfied, pleased UK, 1999 mad for it adjective very eager. The phrase, originating in Manchester in the north of England, gained its wider currency as a catchphrase to justify the excesses of Liam and Noel Gallagher and their band Oasis UK, 1997

madhead noun a crazy person UK, 2002

madhouse noun a brakevan (caboose) US, 1977

Madison Avenue crash helmet noun a kind of businessman's hat US, 1965 mad keen on adjective very enthusiastic about something or someone UK, 1949 madly adverb passionately, fervently, extremely UK, 1756 madman noun a pill of pure MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy; MDMA in powdered form. A playful disguise of MaDMAn UK, 2002

Mad Max noun tax. Rhyming slang, formed on the eponymous hero of three films, 1979–85, set in a post-apocalyptic wasteland; suggesting, perhaps, that taxes will both pay for and survive the apocalypse UK, 1994 mad mick noun a pick (the tool). Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1919 mad mike noun a mad minute. From the military phonetic alphabet in which 'm' is 'mike' US, 1991 mad minute noun an intense, short-lived burst of weapon fire US, 1917 mad money noun money set aside to use in an emergency or to splurge US, 1922 mad monkey noun a staff worker at the US Military Army Command, Vietnam. Another of many terms expressing the combat soldier's disdain for those who were in the service but did not see combat US, 1991 madon! used as a moderately profane exclamation. Originally Italian-American usage US, 1977

Madonna noun someone who has died or is unavoidably doomed to die very soon. Rhyming slang for GONER, formed on the popular US singer Madonna Louise Ciccone (b.1958) rather than the religious icon UK, 2004 madonna claws noun an ugly hand. Contemporary gay use UK, 2003 mad out of it adjective drunk or drug-intoxicated IRELAND, 2001

mad props noun effusive compliments US, 1994 mad railer noun a racing greyhound that will veer towards the inside rail no matter what its starting position AUSTRALIA, 1989

Madras in the evening, mad arse in the morning given as a proverbial warning against eating a curry that is spicier than your body can comfortably handle. In Glasgow use UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 mad skull noun a crazy or mentally unstable person UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 mad spun adjective deeply under the influence of LSD US, 1997

madukes noun a mother US, 2002 mad weed noun green, weak marijuana JAMAICA, 1979

mad wey it; mad wi' it adjective drunk; mad with drink UK: SCOTLAND, 2002 madwoman noun a pill of pure MDEA, an analogue of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Probably as a variation of MADMAN (MDMA) UK, 2002

madza; madzer; medza; medzer; midzer adjective half. From Italian mezzo (a half). Used, for example, in 'madza beagered' (half-drunk) and 'medzer caroon' (a half-crown) UK, 2002

Mae noun among male homosexuals, a term of endearment. Probably adopted from the name of glamorous film actress Mae West; used in such conversational gambits as: 'Hello, Mae, how are you today?' UK, 2003

Mae West noun 1 the chest or the breast. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of buxom US actress and writer, 1892–1980 UK, 1992. 2 a life-jacket worn by aircrews. Military. Remains familiar thanks to its popularity with crossword compilers UK, 1940. 3 in the language of parachuting, a partial inversion of the canopy resulting from a deployment malfunction US, 1958. 4 a French-Canadian sugar roll CANADA, 1979 mafia noun used as part of a jocular formation referring to a large number or influential group of people US, 1989 mafioski noun Russian criminals. Conventional 'mafia' with the suffix '-ski' to indicate a Russian heritage UK, 1998

mafu noun marijuana UK, 2003 mag noun 1 a magazine, in any sense of the term UK, 1801. 2 a magnesium steel wheel on a race car US, 1970. 3 a magneto, used on drag racing engines with no battery or generator US, 1968. 4 a brief conversation; a chat; a gossip AUSTRALIA, 1895

Mag noun a Magnum™ pistol US, 1970 mag verb to chat; to prattle UK, 1820 maga dog noun a mongrel. West Indian and Rastafarian patois, from maaga or mawga meaning meagre, hence skinny. 2004 magazine noun a six-month sentence to jail US, 1949 maggie noun 1 the Australian magpie, Gymnorhina tibicen AUSTRALIA, 1901. 2 marijuana. Variants on the name Maggie, all diminutives of Margaret, play very loosely on marijuana: 'Maggie', 'meg', 'megg', 'meggie', 'meggs' US, 1959

Maggie noun any revolver that fires a cartridge that is more powerful than standard ammunition US, 1957

Maggie nickname British Prime Minister (1979–90) Margaret Hilda Thatcher (b.1925). The UK wasn't really on first name terms with Mrs Thatcher until she became PM; earlier in her political career, however, she was vilified as 'Maggie Thatcher, milk snatcher'. Also known as 'Attila the hen' UK, 1994

Maggie's drawers noun a red flag indicating a 'miss' on a rifle range US, 1936

Maggie's millions noun the unemployed during the premiership of Margaret Thatcher (1979–90) UK, 1984

maggot noun 1 a loathsome person AUSTRALIA, 1961. 2 a white person. Urban black usage US, 1985. 3 a repulsive female AUSTRALIA, 1987. 4 in the US Air Force, someone who is very dedicated to service US, 1998.
► act the maggot to play the fool IRELAND, 1937

maggot; maggotted adjective drunk AUSTRALIA, 2003

maggot bag noun a meat pie AUSTRALIA, 2003 maggotbox noun an Apple Macintosh™ computer US, 1991 maggot wagon noun a catering truck US, 1992

maggoty; maggotty noun angry; in a bad mood AUSTRALIA, 1919 magic adjective 1 excellent, first class; used for showing approval and enthusiasm UK, 2001. 2 in computing, complicated or not yet understood US, 1981 magic bean noun a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. From the fairytale Jack and the Beanstalk UK, 1996 magic flagon noun marijuana NEW ZEALAND, 1990

magic fudge; fudge noun an intoxicating confection that has marijuana as a central ingredient UK, 1970 magic hour noun the time between sundown and dark. A filming term; according to Singleton, 'The light is very warm, the sky is a magical deep blue, and shadows are long' (Filmmaker's Dictionary, 1990) US, 1960 magic money machine noun an automated cash machine. Used widely in conversation since the 1990s NEW ZEALAND, 2002 magic mushie noun a hallucinogenic mushroom AUSTRALIA, 1982 magic mushroom noun any mushroom with an hallucinogenic effect – the most commonly grown and used in the UK is Psilocybe Semilanceata or Liberty Cap mushroom US, 1968 magic numbers used as a farewell. Referring to 73 and 88, citizens' band radio code for 'good wishes' US, 1976 magic roundabout noun used as an informal name for the system whereby a difficult prisoner is constantly moved from prison to prison. Named after The Magic Roundabout, a stop-motion animation children's and cult television programme first broadcast in the UK in 1965 UK, 1996 magic smoke noun marijuana UK, 1998 magic sponge noun a towel or sponge applied to injured players during a game who then have a miraculous recovery AUSTRALIA, 2003 magic up verb to improve, to enhance, to encourage UK, 2003 magic wand noun the penis UK, 1969 magistrate's court; magistrate's noun a drink of spirits; an alcoholic drink. Rhyming slang for SHORT UK, 1992 magnacious adjective excellent, great. An elaboration of 'magnificent' US, 1997 magnet noun a person who attracts the precedent thing or personality type US, 1993

Magnificent Mile noun a stretch of Michigan Avenue running from the river to Oak Street in Chicago, Illinois. A Chamber of Commerce phrase that took root in the vernacular US, 1982

Magnus Pike; magnus noun a lesbian. Rhyming slang for DYKE, formed from the name of a British scientist and television presenter UK, 2003

magoo noun in circus usage, a cream or custard pie thrown by clowns at each other US, 1926 magsman; maggs-man noun 1 a confidence trickster whose prime device is conversation AUSTRALIA, 1877. 2 a talkative person; a raconteur AUSTRALIA, 1924 mag wheel noun a racing car wheel made of magnesium alloy AUSTRALIA, 1981

maha adjective very large. From Sanskrit INDIA, 1995

maharishee noun marijuana US, 1980s

Mahatma Gandhi noun a shandy. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the Indian leader, 1869–1948 UK, 1992

Mahatma Gandhi; mahatma adjective sexually aroused. Rhyming slang for RANDY, formed from the name of the great Indian leader and pacifist, 1889–1948 UK, 2003 mahogany bomber noun the desk which an office-bound pilot 'flies' UK, 1981 mahogany gaspipe noun used as a mock representation of intonations of Irish IRELAND, 1992 mahooha noun ridiculous political manoeuvres and pointless talk US, 1930 mahoot noun in bar dice games, a roll that produces no points for the player US, 1971

mahoska; hoska noun an addictive drug, especially heroin US, 1949 maid noun 1 a black woman (regardless of age or occupation). Offensive, demeaning SOUTH AFRICA, 1961. 2 female virginity. Also called 'maiden' TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1972 maiden noun 1 in horse racing, a horse that has never won a race US, 1951. 2 by extension, a jockey who has never won a race US, 1971 maidenhead noun a woman's toilet. Punning on the hymen and HEAD as 'a toilet' US, 1968 maid training noun the process of instructing, and conditioning the behaviour of, a sexual submissive. The submissive's menial service becomes part of a sexual relationship (in which an element of transvestism is usually implied); used in a dominant prostitute's advertising matter UK, 2003 mail noun 1 an overheard conversation on citizens' band radio US, 1976. 2 in horse racing, information about a horse or race useful for wagering AUSTRALIA, 1989 mail-call; mail noun enemy mortar, rockets or artillery being received. Coined in World War I, still used by World War 2 veterans in Vietnam US, 1919 main noun any large blood vein US, 1952. ► the main to island dwellers off the coast of Maine, the mainland US, 1975

Main noun ► the Main St Laurent Street in Montreal. Even though St Catherine Street, running east and west through the centre, has become the main street of the city, St Laurent (or St Lawrence) was originally the centre of shopping, immigrant settlement and the garment district, and so it has held the name CANADA, 2001

main verb to inject a drug into a main vein US, 1952

main line noun 1 any large blood vein, especially the median cephalic vein US, 1930s. 2 a major vein used for the injection of narcotics, usually heroin US, 1931. 3 at a horse racing track, the area with the greatest concentration of mutual betting machines US, 1951. 4 the general population of a prison US, 1967

Main Line nickname the wealthy suburbs just to the west of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, extending from Merion to Bryn Mawr to Paoli. From the Paoli Local commuter train that ran out of the main line of the now-defunct Pennsylvania Railroad, carrying businessmen to work and future lexicographers in blue wool jerseys with five white stripes on each arm to school US, 1987 mainline verb to inject drugs, especially heroin, into a main vein US, 1938 mainliner noun a drug user who injects the drug into a vein US, 1934 main man noun 1 an important man. From circus jargon US, 1977. 2 a pimp, in relation to a prostitute US, 1985 main pin noun a railway official US, 1930 main punch noun a man's favoured girlfriend US, 1994 main queen noun a man's primary girlfriend US, 1948 main squeeze noun a person's primary partner in romance US, 1926 mainstreeting noun the use of the main street of a town, especially by a politician, for campaigning CANADA, 1959 maintain verb ► maintain your low tones do not raise your voice at me. A phrase coined by writers of the 'Coneheads' skits on Saturday Night Live in the late 1970s, featuring three Remulakian aliens who lived quiet and normal lives in the suburbs of New Jersey. Most of the Remulakian phrases were too forced for everyday slang, such as 'molten lactate extract of hooved animals' for 'melted cheese', but a few such as this were temporarily in vogue US, 1977 main vein noun 1 the penis US, 2001. 2 the vagina. Usage is recorded as 'especially among drug addicts' UK, 1984. ► stab in the main vein from a male perspective, to have sex. Formed on MAIN VEIN (the vagina) UK, 1984

mainy adjective fearless, crazy US, 2004 mais oui adverb of course, certainly. An affected usage, adopted directly from French mais oui (but yes) UK, 2002

Maizie noun used as a term of address among male homosexuals US, 1965

maj noun majesty. An informal, generally affectionate, reduction UK, 1994 major noun a dependable, reliable person US, 1956 major verb ► major in plumbing in college, to take nothing but easy courses. An allusion to 'pipes' (easy courses) US, 1955 major adjective 1 very good US, 1984. 2 absolute. Used as an intensifier AUSTRALIA, 1995. 3 handsome, dressed well TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1967

Major Dee noun a maître d'. Possibly influenced by 'major domo' UK, 2000 major-league adjective prominent, accomplished, prestigious. On 4th September 2000, US presidential candidate George W. Bush leaned to his running mate Dick Cheney at a campaign stop in Naperville, Illinois, and, pointing to a reporter, said 'There's Adam Clymner – major-league asshole from the New York Times'. 'Major-league' had major-league arrived US, 1941 major leagues noun the highest level of achievement in a field US, 1951

Major Loder noun soda, especially soda water. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a famous racehorse owner in the early part of C20 UK, 1961 majorly adverb very much US, 1983

Major Stevens noun in betting odds, evens. Rhyming slang UK, 1961 mak noun a machete. Critically important during the Vietnam war for hacking through jungles US, 1990 makable adjective (used of a wave) in surfing, possible to catch for a ride US, 1973 make noun an identification US, 1950. ► on the make 1 in search of sexual company US, 1929. 2 seeking any opportunity or profit UK, 1992. ► put the make on to try to seduce US, 1963 make verb 1 to identify (a person) UK, 1906. 2 in planespotting, to record ('collect') an aircraft UK, 2003. 3 to seduce or have sex with someone US, 1923. 4 to admit someone into membership in an organised crime organisation US, 1964. 5 to manage to catch and travel on a scheduled vehicle UK, 1955. 6 to fix a price. In stock market use UK, 1895. 7 to steal, to appropriate UK, 1700. ► as pretty/clever/happy as they make them used for indicating an extreme. Current examples (found in a quick search of the Internet, December 2003): 'as bad as they make them', 'as American as they make them' and 'as happy as they make them' UK, 1896. ► make (a period of time) to be sentenced to or to serve a jail sentence TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1904. ► make a break to escape or make an attempted escape from prison US, 1930. ► make a bubble; make a jail; make jail; make prison; make years to be sentenced to or to serve a jail sentence TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1937. ► make a thing of; make a thing about to make a fuss about something UK, 1934. ► make a zeef to show off TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. ► make ass to blunder; to make a spectacle of yourself. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1981.

► make fares to work as a prostitute TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987.

► make fart to make life difficult for someone TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1990. ► make friends (among women) to take a lesbian lover TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1960. ► make good to succeed; to meet expectations US, 1901. ► make hole to drill for oil US, 1984.

► make it 1 to have sex US, 1952. 2 to leave US, 1913. 3 to be accepted by US, 1955. 4 to be acceptable US, 1955. 5 to succeed, to become prosperous, to reach an objective UK, 1885. ► make it up to to compensate someone for a loss or a wrong that has been suffered UK, 1860. ► make like 1 to behave in a suggested manner. Used in conjunction with 'and' to join a noun and a verb in a pun US, 1954. 2 to behave in the manner of something, to act like US, 1881. ► make like a boid to leave. Teen slang CANADA, 1946.

► make love to steal CANADA, 1988. ► make love to the lav to vomit into a toilet bowl AUSTRALIA, 1971. ► make nice to be act politely US, 1957. ► make no bones without hesitation, to deal with or react to an awkward or unpleasant situation, no matter how difficult UK, 1459. ► make one to plan and carry out an escape attempt from prison UK, 1974. ► make one out to successfully escape from prison UK, 1996. ► make smiles to have sex UK, 2003. ► make the hole to rob drunks sleeping on underground platforms and in carriages US, 1980. ► make the show in motor racing with qualifying heats, to qualify for the race US, 1993. ► make time to flirt, to attempt to seduce US, 1953.

► make tracks to depart hurriedly US, 1978. ► make with to use, to bring into action US, 1940. ► make your day to make a highlight or moment of happiness in an ordinary day; to be the highlight UK, 1907

Make and Break engine noun a massive, one-cylinder boat motor with a flywheel. It is also known as a 'one-lunger' in Nova Scotia and Maine CANADA, 1977 make-believe noun pretence UK, 1811 make for verb to steal, to obtain US, 1936 make mine; make it verb used for denoting a requirement (a drink, details of an appointment, an amount, a quantity, a price), generally in response to a question or a proposal US, 1883 make my day used as a jocular challenge. The phrase entered the popular lexicon in 1983 as a line uttered by the Clint Eastwood character 'Dirty Harry' Callahan in the film Sudden Impact US, 1985 make out verb 1 to kiss with passion and in a sustained fashion US, 1949. 2 to pretend UK, 1659 makeover noun a complete transformation of fashion and hairstyle US, 1999 make the scene with 18 used as a jingle to remind US troops in Vietnam to limit their M-16 rifles to 18 rounds because the rifle sometimes jammed when loaded to its 20-round capacity US, 1991 make-up noun the final result of any event that is the subject of spread-betting UK, 2001 makeup! used as a nonce interjection. Popularised by Milton Berle in the early days of US television; the running gag was that Berle would be knocked off his feet with sacks of flour or a makeup man with an oversized makeup powder puff after mentioning the word 'makeup'. A meaningless catchphrase that swept the nation US, 1951

-making suffix used to create a word that describes something as having the ability to cause the condition of a prefixed adjective. A linguistic formula credited to the author Evelyn Waugh, 1903–66 UK, 1930 makings noun the tobacco and rolling paper needed to make a cigarette US, 1905 mal noun in parachuting, a malfunction UK, 2002

Malabar Hilton nickname the Long Bay Correctional Complex, Sydney AUSTRALIA, 1988

malad noun a maladjusted child. Used by social workers UK, 1980 malarkey; malarky; mullarkey noun nonsense US, 1929

Malcolm Scott adjective hot. Rhyming slang, of theatrical origins, formed from the name of a female impersonator, 1872–1929 UK, 1960

Malcolm X noun a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Uses the adopted name of Malcolm Little, 1925–1965, a leading figure in the US black civil rights movement, to disguise x (ECSTASY) UK, 1995 male beaver noun featuring shots of the naked male genitals US, 1969 malehouse noun a homosexual brothel US, 1963

male twigs noun low quality marijuana US, 1979

maliky noun 1 a safety razor used as a weapon; hence an improvised weapon (a broken bottle, etc). Possibly rhyming slang, based on Malcolm (Maliky) Fraser, for 'razor' UK: SCOTLAND, 1973. 2 a cut given from a razor as an act of violence; a blow; a beating. From the previous sense UK: SCOTLAND, 1973 maliky verb to attack and cut someone with a razor; to stab. From the noun sense UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

mallard noun a hundred-dollar note US, 1985 mall crawl noun an outing to a shopping centre, slowly moving from shop to shop. A play on PUB-CRAWL or BAR-HOP with a rhyme to boot US, 1996 mall crawler noun a person who spends their spare time at shopping centres US, 1993

mallee adjective ► fit as a mallee bull extremely fit and healthy AUSTRALIA, 1960 mallet verb to smash, to defeat. Used by the SAS in the Falkland Islands, 1982 UK, 1982 mallethead noun a fool, a stupid person, a numbskull. A variation of MULLETHEAD US, 1960

mallie noun a young person who spends their free time at shopping centres US, 1985

mallig noun the practice of spending hours at a shopping centre, socialising with other young people US, 1989

Mall Madonna noun a girl who spends a lot of time in shopping centres CANADA, 2002 mallowpuff Maori noun a Maori student who excels in school. From a branded chocolate-covered marshmallow biscuit – brown on the outside, white on the inside NEW ZEALAND, 1998 mall rat noun a young person who spends a great deal of time at a shopping centre US, 1982 malpalant adjective inclined to gossip. From the French mal parlant (speaking poorly) TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

malt noun a Maltese; Maltese UK, 1959 malt sandwich noun a beer AUSTRALIA, 1968 mam noun 1 a mother, your mother. Probably early C16; mainly childish now, but earlier usage was also familiar or vulgar UK, 1573. 2 a lesbian UK, 1962 mama noun 1 used as a term of address towards a woman US, 1959. 2 a young woman, a woman. Originally Black usage. Also spelt 'mamma' US, 1917. 3 in motorcycle clubs and gangs, a female who is available to all the gang members and attached to none US, 1965. 4 a sexually promiscuous female UK, 1977. 5 in a lesbian couple, the more traditionally feminine partner US, 1941. 6 used as a disparaging term of address for an Indian female SINGAPORE, 2002. 7 in a deck of playing cards, a queen US, 1988. 8 the lead aeroplane in a combat flight formation US, 1986 mama! used for expressing surprise, especially by women TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

mama bear noun a policewoman. A feminisation of BEAR (the police) US, 1976 mama coca noun cocaine US, 1984 mama-jammer noun used as a euphemism for 'motherfucker' US, 1969 mamaloos; mamaloosh adjective dead, dying. The word comes from Chinook jargon mamaloost (dead) CANADA, 1956 mama man noun an effeminate man, heterosexual or homosexual TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1973 mamapoule noun an effeminate, demanding man. From the French for 'mother hen' TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1928

mamary noun a boy who will not leave his mother's protection TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1978 mama-san noun in Southeast Asia usage, a woman whose age demands respect, especially a brothel madam. The Japanese honorific sari added to English 'mama' US, 1946 mama shop noun a small neighbourhood grocery shop, especially one owned by Indians SINGAPORE, 2002 mama's lane noun the passing lane of a motorway. So named because the trucker, anxious to see his wife, is driving fast and passing cars US, 1976

mama's little helper noun in shuffleboard, a score that is accidentally provided to you by an opponent US, 1967 mama's mellow noun the calming effect of secobarbital (brand name Seconal™), a barbiturate US, 1971

mamby pamby noun a stupid man TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1956

mammaries noun the female breasts. After the conventional sense of 'mammary' (relating to the female breast) UK, 1967 mammoth adjective huge. The stuff of advertising: 'MAMMOTH RUG SALE!' (but who'd want a mammoth rug?) UK, 1937

mamms; mams noun the female breasts. A reduction of MAMMARIES UK, 2003

mammy noun 1 a mother UK, 1523. 2 in a striptease act, a woman, usually older, who waits backstage, catching a stripper's clothing as she flings it offstage US, 1981. 3 the most; the ultimate example. An English language version of the famous Arabic MOTHER OF ALL US, 1971. ► the mammy my mother. There is no indefinite article in Irish. The definite article in Hiberno-English, following and sometimes extending the usage of the indefinite article 'an' in Irish, has some distinctive functions which mark it out from standard English, for example, 'Better give her the both o' them', (Roddy Doyle, The Van, 1991) IRELAND, 1996

mammy adjective a lot of. Placed after the noun US, 1992

mammy-fugger noun used as a euphemism for 'motherfucker' US, 1998

mammy-jammer noun used as a euphemism for 'motherfucker' US, 1973

mammyjamming adjective used as a euphemism for the intensifier 'motherfucking' US, 1946 mammy mine noun wine. Glasgow rhyming slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

mammy-screwing adjective used as a euphemism for 'motherfucking' US, 1963

mammy-sucker noun used as a euphemism for 'motherfucker' US, 1972 mammy noun a buxom, generously voluptuous woman JAMAICA, 1994

mammy adjective (of a woman) buxom, generously proportioned, Rubenesque JAMAICA, 1994 man verb in team sports, to defend an opponent man-to-man US, 1972 man; mandy noun 1 me, myself, I. English gypsy use, from Romany mandi UK, 2000. 2 a drug dealer US, 1942. 3 in a deck of playing cards, a king US, 1988. ► a man's got to do what a man's got to do; a man's gotta do what a man's gotta do homespun philosophy in use as a catchphrase. Jocular US, 1977. ► a man's not a camel I am thirsty and require a drink AUSTRALIA, 1998. ► the man a police officer; an authority figure US, 1928. ► yer only man something that possesses a unique quality IRELAND, 1997 man and man noun people in general JAMAICA, 1989 man and wife noun a knife. Rhyming slang UK, 1925 man boobs noun flabby chest protrusions of an overweight man AUSTRALIA, 2002

Manc noun 1 Manchester in northwest England UK, 2002. 2 a Mancunian; a native of Manchester UK, 1999

Manc adjective Mancunian, of Manchester UK, 2001

Manch noun Manchester UK, 2000

Manchester City; manchester noun the female breast. Rhyming slang for 'titty' (τιτ) noted as 'rare' UK, 1961

Manchester United noun a red and black capsule of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Designed and branded in tribute to the football team, but someone got the team colours wrong UK, 2002

Mancy adjective Mancunian, of Manchester. Perhaps, given Manchester's reputation for wet weather, punning deliberately on MANKY (bad) UK, 2002 man dem noun male friends. Used by black urban youths UK, 2004

M and G track noun in a pornographic film, additions to the sound track amplifying moans and groans US, 1991 mandie noun a tablet of the recreational drug methaqualone, best known as Quaaludes™. From the trade name Mandrax™ US, 1985

M and M noun any tablet drugs used for recreational purposes: amphetamine, barbiturate, MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Named for M&Ms (branded in the US since 1940s) the candy-coated chocolate sweets which, in appearance, are similar to multi-coloured pills US, 1977

mandoo-ed adjective drunk UK, 2002 man down! used in prison for alerting the guards that a prisoner has been injured or fallen ill US, 1990 mandrake noun 1 a tablet of the recreational drug methaqualone, best known as Quaaludes™. From Mandrax™, the trade name for a synthetic non-barbiturate sedative consisting of methaqualone and a small amount of the antihistamine diphenhydramine US, 1985. 2 a sexually aggressive male homosexual US, 1978

mandy noun a tablet of Mandrax™ a branded tranquillizer UK, 1970 ▷ see: MAN

mane noun a streak of unmown hay left in the field after it has been cut CANADA, 1992 man-eater noun 1 a woman with a strong sexual appetite. A figurative application of the term for dangerous big cats UK, 1906. 2 a homosexual man US, 1979 man fat noun semen UK, 1974

Manfred Mann noun a tan, a suntan. Glasgow rhyming slang, formed from the successful 1960s pop group and the South African musician who gave his group his name UK: SCOTLAND, 1966 man Friday noun a black soldier who curried favour from white superiors and thereby avoided combat US, 1991 man from Cairo noun a social security/benefits cheque. Glasgow rhyming slang for GIRO UK: SCOTLAND, 1996 man from the Pru noun a cocaine dealer. A play on the UK investment firm Prudential Building Society's advertising campaign and Peru as a source country for much of the world's cocaine UK, 1983 manga noun a comic book or graphic novel. One of the few Japanese words to be transplanted into English-speaking slang, thanks in large part to the proliferation of pornographic websites on the Internet JAPAN, 1993 manged adjective damaged without hope of repair US, 1991 mangia-cake noun a white person, especially British, but very North American (said by an Italian) CANADA, 1998

mangle noun a bicycle AUSTRALIA, 1941

mangle and wringer noun a (not especially talented) singer. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 mangled adjective drunk or drug-intoxicated UK, 2001 mango noun a fifty-dollar note. From the orange colour NEW ZEALAND, 1998

mango head noun an oval-shaped head TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1994

mango madness noun in tropical Australia, a feeling of agitation and oppression experienced leading up to the monsoon season AUSTRALIA, 1984

Manhattan silver; Manhattan white; New York City silver; Subway silver noun marijuana. Originally, 'a flight of fancy', a genetic variation cultivated from seeds which, having been flushed into the New York City sewage system, were white or silver. A highly potent and purely fictional urban myth; now, also, just another synonym for 'marijuana' US, 1975 manhaul noun in Antarctica, an overland trip where a sledge is hauled by people, not vehicles ANTARCTICA, 1986

manhole noun the vagina US, 1916 manhole cover noun a brother. Rhyming slang for 'bruvver', perhaps also playing on MANHOLE (the vagina) hence, a playfully insulting CUNT UK, 1992 manhood noun the penis. Euphemism UK, 1997 man hunt noun a search for a male as a sexual companion. Humorous use of a term originally meaning 'a search for a criminal or escaped convict' US, 1996 man-hunter noun a woman, especially a spinster or a widow, particularly one who has, or is reputed to have, a strong sexual appetite UK, 1961

maniac noun a railway mechanic US, 1930

Maniblowba nickname the Canadian province of Manitoba. So named because of the cold, windy winters CANADA, 2002 manicou-man noun an effeminate man, especially a homosexual TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1996 manicure verb to prepare marijuana for smoking, trimming the leaves and stems and removing foreign objects US, 1938 manifestation noun in Quebec, a demonstration. In a province marked by a tradition of public service strikes, this unconventional use of a French word has had much use for a long time CANADA, 2002

Manila General noun used as a humorous if xenophobic nickname for any hospital with a largely Filipino staff US, 1989 man in blue noun a police officer, 1976 man in Kokomo noun in horse racing, any mysterious source of inside information on a horse or race US, 1951

man in the boat noun ▷ see: LITTLE MAN IN A BOAT man in the moon noun a madman, a fool. Rhyming slang for LOON UK, 1992 man in the white coat noun a supposed employee of an insane asylum. Now generally in the plural: 'men in white coats' AUSTRALIA, 1961

Manisnowba nickname the Canadian province of Manitoba. Home to long, cold winters CANADA, 2002

Mank noun a person from Manchester, a Mancunian UK, 2000

manked in adjective confined indoors by extreme bad weather ANTARCTICA, 1986

manky adjective 1 poor quality, inferior; dirty. Possibly from French manque (a deficiency) UK, 1958. 2 (of weather) bad. A narrowing of the general sense ANTARCTICA, 1989. 3 drunk. Possibly deriving from the previous sense, thus 'under the weather' (tipsy) UK, 2002 man-love noun male homosexuality. A very arch euphemism UK, 2003 manly Alice noun a masculine homosexual man UK, 2002 man-man noun a male who exhibits a high degree of virility US, 1999 manna noun easy-pickings; a heaven-sent opportunity. A biblical allusion UK, 2001 manny noun a tablet of Mandrax™, a branded tranquillizer. A variation of MANDY UK, 1968 mano noun used as an embellished 'man' as a term of address US, 1967 mano a mano noun a one-on-one confrontation. Made quite famous in the US by Colonel Oliver North during the moral collapse of the Reagan presidency, the Iran-Contra debacle of 1986–87. Adapted from bull-fighting, where the term refers to a competition between two matadors and two or more bulls each US, 1968 man of the cloth noun in pool, a skilled player who makes a living betting on his ability US, 1990 man oil noun semen US, 1949 man o Manishewitz! used as a jocular, mild oath. From a commercial for Manishewitz kosher wine US, 1992 man on the land noun a farmer or other rural worker AUSTRALIA, 1911 man on the moon noun a spoon. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 manor noun 1 a district designated to a specified police authority UK, 1924. 2 the area where you are born, or where you live and/or are well known UK, 1962 man overboard! 1 in dominoes, used for announcing the fact that a player is forced to draw a piece US, 1959. 2 in craps in American casinos, used for announcing that the dice or a die are off the table US, 1985 man o'war noun a bore. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 manscaping noun the clipping, shaving and shaping of male body hair for aesthetic effect. Popularised in the US, and then the UK, by the varying national productions of television programme Queer Eye for the Straight Guy US, 2004 man-size adjective difficult US, 1945 man's man noun a police informer. From THE MAN (the police) US, 1972

Manson lamps noun a look full of hate, a murderous look. Formed from a reference to US serial killer Charles Manson and LAMP (the eye) US, 1999

manteca noun heroin UK, 2003 man teef noun a woman who 'steals' another's man. Combines 'man' and TEEF (to steal); current in south London according to Johnny Vaughan Tonight, 13th February 2002 UK, 2002 manthrax noun unfaithful men. A combination of 'man' and 'anthrax' coined for Sex and the City, a late 1990s television comedy US, 2002 mantlepiece noun ► you don't look at the mantelpiece when you're poking the fire a semi-proverbial catchphrase that means a woman's looks are irrelevant during sexual intercourse UK, 1961 manto noun a condom. Teen slang, after South African Health Minister Manto Tshabalala-Msimang SOUTH AFRICA, 2003 man-trap noun an attractive, seductive woman US, 1963 manual exercises noun masturbation US, 1964 manual release noun manual stimulation of a man's genitals US, 1996

Man United are playing at home the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. The Manchester United football team play in a red strip UK, 2000 man upstairs noun God. Always used with 'the' US, 1948 man with the minties noun in horse racing, a mythical, anonymous person responsible for a series of bad tips about horses and races AUSTRALIA, 1989

Maoriland nickname New Zealand AUSTRALIA, 1859

Maori overdrive noun coasting downhill in neutral NEW ZEALAND, 1998

Maori screwdriver noun a hammer, especially when used on screws NEW ZEALAND, 1998

Maori sidestep noun in rugby, a direct confrontation with a potential tackler, relying on brute force rather than guile or finesse NEW ZEALAND, 1998

Maori splice noun any time-saving solution to a problem NEW ZEALAND, 1998

Maori time noun a sensibility that is not consumed with worry about punctuality NEW ZEALAND, 2002

map noun 1 the face US, 1899. 2 a musical score; a piece of sheet music US, 1970. 3 a cheque US, 1979

map verb to hit, to strike US, 1989

Mapes nickname the Maples Inn, a popular bar and music venue in Pointe Claire, Quebec. CANADA, 2002 maple key noun the maple tree seed, which has wings so as to make it twirl in the wind CANADA, 1989 map of Tasmania noun the female pubic hair or pubic region AUSTRALIA, 1978 map of Tassie noun the female pubic hair or pubic region AUSTRALIA, 1978 maquillage; maquiage noun makeup, cosmetics. From French maquiller (to make up the face) UK, 1992 maracas noun the testicles. Rhyming slang for KNACKERS UK, 1998 marathon noun 1 in horse racing, any race that is longer than a mile and a quarter US, 1976. 2 any amphetamine, methamphetamine or other central nervous system stimulant US, 1980 marauder noun a surfer who is indifferent to safety, if not reckless US, 1985 marble noun 1 a slow-witted person. Teen slang US, 1958. 2 a tablet of ethchlorvynol (trade name Placidyl™), a central nervous system depressant US, 1986. ► make your marble good to improve one's prospects AUSTRALIA, 1928

Marble Arch noun starch. Rhyming slang, formed from a famous London landmark UK, 1998 marble halls; marbles noun the testicles. Rhyming slang for BALLS, perhaps formed after an earlier use of 'marbles' in the same sense (but inspired by a similarity of shape and size) UK, 1992

Marblehead turkey noun salt cod US, 1955 marble orchard noun a graveyard US, 1925 marbles noun 1 the testicles US, 1916. 2 dice US, 1962. 3 money, cash, salary. Theatrical UK, 1864. ► all the marbles used as a symbol of complete success US, 1924. ► hand in your marbles to give up, to die. Variant forms are built on the verb: 'toss in your marbles', 'throw in your marbles, etc' AUSTRALIA, 1908. ► in the marbles in motor racing, in the outside portion of a curve where there is less traction US, 1992. ► lose your marbles to become insane, to lose your mind US, 1902 marbles and conkers; marbles adjective mad, crazy. Rhyming slang for BONKERS, formed from two games played by children, but probably inspired by phrases like 'lose your marbles' (to become mad) UK, 1992

marblish adjective displaying a lack of sportsmanship when losing TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 marcel noun a hairstyle characterised by deep, regular waves made by a heated curling iron. After Marcel Grateau (1852–1936), a French hairdresser US, 1963 marching dust noun cocaine UK, 1998 marching orders noun a dismissal from employment or romantic involvement. From the military use US, 1856 marching powder noun cocaine. A shortening of BOLIVIAN, COLUMBIAN or PERUVIAN MARCHING POWDER US, 1984

Marcia noun in horse racing, odds of 9–1. Rhyming slang based on Marcia Hines, an extremely popular singer in Australia in the mid-1970s AUSTRALIA, 1989 marconi noun an eavesdropper UK, 2001 mardy adjective sulky, moody. English dialect creeping into the mainstream via television programmes like Coronation Street UK, 1903 mardy-ar-se noun a sulker. From the dialect word MARDY (sulky) UK, 1999 mardy-arsed adjective sulky, whining, 'spoilt'. A combination of dialect word MARDY (sulky) with '-arsed' (having the characteristics of) UK, 2002 mare noun 1 something good that is hard to believe, a dream. Amends conventional 'nightmare' (a bad dream) and slang 'nightmare' (something bad) UK, 1997. 2 something undesirable IRELAND, 2001. 3 an unpleasant, bad-tempered woman, especially as an insulting term of address UK, 1303 mare and foal noun a bankroll. Rhyming slang NEW ZEALAND, 1998 mares' nest noun a bar for women and their escorts NEW ZEALAND, 1953

marga adjective skinny UK, 2005

Margaret Rose; margaret noun the nose. Rhyming slang UK, 1998

margarine legs noun used as a symbol of a woman's sexual availability AUSTRALIA, 1987

Margarita noun marijuana US, 1979

Margate sand noun the hand. Rhyming slang, formed from a seaside resort on the East Coast of England UK, 1992 marge noun margarine UK, 1970s

Marge noun the passive, 'feminine' partner in a lesbian relationship US, 1956 mari noun a marijuana cigarette. A clipping of 'marijuana' US, 1933

Maria noun in a deck of playing cards, the queen of spades US, 1950

Mariah Carey adjective scary. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of the popular US singer (b.1970) UK, 2004

Maria Monk; maria noun semen. Rhyming slang for SPUNK, based on the name of the author of Awful Disclosures, 1836, a popular erotic book of its time UK, 2002 maricon noun a homosexual man. Spanish slang on loan to American slang TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1950

Marie Corelli; marie noun television; a television. Rhyming slang for TELLY, formed from the pen name of romantic novelist Mary Mackay, 1855–1924 UK, 1971 marihooch; marihoochie; marihootee; marihootie noun marijuana US, 1971 marijuana martini noun marijuana smoke blown into, and then inhaled from, a chilled glass US, 2001

marimba noun marijuana UK, 2001 marinate verb 1 to relax, to idle US, 2000. 2 to ponder, to debate internally US, 2002

Marine Tiger noun a recent arrival in New York City from Puerto Rico. From the name of a converted C4 troopship that brought many early Puerto Rican immigrants to the US US, 1952 marish and parish noun everyone TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987 mariweege noun marijuana. A jocular mispronunciation US, 1994 marji noun marijuana AUSTRALIA, 1953

marjoon noun a sweet confection with marijuana as a major ingredient ALGERIA, 1970

Marjorie noun marijuana US, 1979 mark noun 1 a victim, a potential victim of a swindle UK, 1749. 2 a number bet on in the lottery game whe-whe TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1909 mark verb 1 in casino gambling, to place in a stack chips equal to the amount of marker (a loan) extended to a gambler US, 1980. 2 to realise, to see, to understand UK, 1970. ► mark your card to inform; to warn. From the marking of race cards UK, 1956 marked wheel noun a rigged roulette wheel US, 1975 marker noun 1 in a casino or gambling enterprise, an advance with an IOU; by extension, any debt or obligation US, 1887. 2 a person who bets on a number in the lottery game whe-whe TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1930. 3 a vehicle's licence plate CANADA, 1949 market price noun the going rate for sex with a prostitute US, 1982

Mark Ramprakash noun a urination. Rhyming slang for SLASH, formed from the name of the English cricketer (b.1969) UK, 2003 marks noun signs of intravenous drug use, such as scars or abscesses US, 1983

Marks and Sparks nickname the retailer Marks and Spencer UK, 1964

Marlboro country noun a remote place; the wilderness US, 1968

Marlboro man noun a rugged, masculine, handsome cowboy type. Derived from the decades-long advertising campaign for Marlboro cigarettes, featuring ultra-masculine cowboys smoking US, 1969

Marley noun a marijuana cigarette. From Bob Marley, Rastafarian and marijuana-lover US, 1997

Marilyn's collie noun a potent variety of marijuana, a hybrid of Jamaican sensimilla. Named in memory of reggae musician Bob Marley (1945–81), a Rastafarian; COLLIE (marijuana) JAMAICA, 1990s

Marlie-Butt noun a cigarette AUSTRALIA, 1996

marmalade dropper noun something shocking, surprising or upsetting, especially a newspaper article. From the idea that someone, especially a newspaper reader, will be so stunned that breakfast may fall from the fingers UK, 2003

Marmite noun excrement; hence, rubbish. Rhyming slang for SHITE, formed on the name of a branded yeast extract – a brown paste which is apparently an acquired taste UK, 1998

Marmite driller; Marmite miner noun a male homosexual. Pejorative; a reference to anal sex, based on MARMITE (excrement) UK, 2003

Marmite motorway noun the rectum. From MARMITE (excrement) UK, 2003

Marmon noun morphine US, 1945 maroc adjective extremely drunk. A shortening of the Glasgow pronunciation of MIRACULOUS UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 maroon noun a moron. A malapropism that emphasises the point being made US, 1941 marquee player noun a leading or pre-eminent professional athlete with the ability to attract a large audience US, 1984

Marrakesh noun a variety of Moroccan hashish UK, 2003 marriage noun in car manufacturing, the installation of the powertrain (the engine, transmission, pinion, ring and differential gears) US, 1993

Marrickville Mercedes noun in Sydney, any of various cars popular with New Australians. From Marrickville, a suburb with a high population of New Australians AUSTRALIA, 1987 married adjective 1 handcuffed together US, 1962. 2 in trucking, part of a two-driver team US, 1971. 3 (used of opium) adulterated with foreign substances US, 1956 married quarters noun in prison, the section where men who prefer to adopt a gay lifestyle tend to congregate UK, 2000 married to Mary Fist adjective obsessed with masturbating US, 1950 marry noun ► marry under bamboo to be married in Hindu rites GUYANA, 1996 marry verb in police work, to serve as partners US, 1992 marry and bury verb (of a minister of the local church) to carry a parishioner through life's big events CANADA, 1978 marryjuwanna noun marijuana. A less common example of the many personifications of marijuana intended as humorous US, 1970 marry money verb to wed a wealthy man or woman UK, 1858

Mars and Venus; mars noun the penis. Rhyming slang UK, 1992

Mars Bar; mars noun 1 the penis. Extended from the shortened form of rhyming slang MARS AND VENUS (the penis), playing on the name of a famous branded item of confectionery that helps you 'work, rest and play', apparently UK, 1992. 2 a scar. Rhyming slang, after a popular chocolate confection introduced to the UK in 1932 UK, 1985 marsh noun in soda fountain usage, a marshmallow US, 1946 marshmallow noun a pillow US, 1976 marshmallow red; marshmallow noun a barbiturate, a central nervous system depressant US, 1977

marshmallows noun 1 the female breasts US, 1971. 2 the testicles US, 1971 mart noun the finger. All that remains of old rhyming slang 'Martin-Le-Grand; martin' (the hand); recorded in gay use about 1970 UK, 1984 mart cover noun a glove. From MARTINI (the hand) UK, 2002

Martens noun heavy-duty boots designed for industrial use and subsequently adopted as fashionwear, initially by skinheads and bootboys, then as a general fashion item for either sex. An abbreviation of the brand name Doctor Martens™ UK, 2000 martin-eye noun a martini. A jocular embellishment US, 1969

Martin Harvey noun an act of pretence intended to mislead. Circus, etymology unknown UK, 1953 martini noun 1 a ring UK, 2002. 2 the hand; the arm. May be abbreviated to 'mart' UK, 1992. ► dry martini the left hand. Based on the popular branded drink UK, 2002. ► sweet martini the right hand. Based on the popular branded drink UK, 2002

Marty Wilde noun mild ale. Rhyming slang, from the stage-name of a singer (b.1939) who had a number of hit records in the late 1950s and early 60s, when mild ale was also a popular choice UK, 1992 marvel noun an impressive person. Also commonly used ironically AUSTRALIA, 1956 marvellous Melbourne nickname the city of Melbourne, Australia's second biggest city AUSTRALIA, 1885

marvy adjective marvellous US, 1931 marvy-groovy adjective bad. A combination of two clichéd adjectives for 'good', meaning 'bad' US, 1967

Mary noun 1 an Australian Aboriginal, Papuan or Islander woman AUSTRALIA, 1830. 2 any woman of Indian descent. Offensive, though not originally intended to be so SOUTH AFRICA, 1927. 3 any black woman, especially a domestic worker; any non-white woman. Offensive, demeaning; from the previous sense SOUTH AFRICA, 1952. 4 used as a term of address from one male homosexual to another US, 1925. 5 a homosexual man who is a Catholic UK, 2002. 6 marijuana. Simply being on first name terms with MARY JANE, MARY WARNER and many other similar personifications of marijuana. Also written as lower case US, 1952. 7 morphine US, 1945

Mary and Johnny noun marijuana. A playful personification of marijuana US, 1935

Mary Ann noun 1 a fan (for cooling the air). Rhyming slang UK, 1992. 2 marijuana. A personification based on varying the vowel-sounds in 'marijuana', So may also appear as Maryanne' or Mary Anner' US, 1936

Mary Decker noun a fast-moving police vehicle, especially an armoured vehicle; a minibus, especially one made by Mitsubishi. Township slang; after the US athlete (b.1958) who failed to win a 1984 Olympic medal in the 3,000 meters, as a result of an incident involving South African athlete, Zola Budd (who was actually running for the UK) SOUTH AFRICA, 1985

Mary-do-you-wanna-dance noun marijuana UK, 2000

Mary Ellen man noun a pickpocket who distracts the victim by telling a sexually charged story US, 1976

Mary Ellens noun large female breasts. Rhyming slang for MELONS; described as 'fairly modern' by Ray Puxley, Cockney Rabbit, 1992, but surely an ironic reference to the music hall song of some 80 years earlier: 'I'm Shy, Mary Ellen, I'm Shy' UK, 1992

Mary Fist noun used as a personification of male masturbation US, 1950

Mary Green; the Mary noun in any suit of cards, the Queen. Rhyming slang UK, 1992

Mary Jane noun 1 marijuana. From the disputed presumption that marijuana is formed of two Mexican Spanish names: Maria and Juan or Juanita, hence Mary Jane, and many variants, such as Mary J, Mary Jonas, Mary Juana and so on US, 1928. 2 cocaine. Rhyming slang UK, 1996

Marylou noun glue. Rhyming slang UK, 1992

Mary Rose noun a nose, especially a notably large specimen. Rhyming slang, apparently formed from the name of a sunken ship which was raised with much hoop-la in 1982 UK, 1998

Mary unit noun a motorcycle police officer US, 2001

Mary Warner; Mary Warmer; Mary Weaver; Mary Werner; Mary Worner noun marijuana. Giving a feminine identity by mispronunciation US, 1933

Mary Worthless noun an older homosexual man US, 1979

masacree noun a massacre UK, 1823 masala relationship noun a romantic relationship between a black man and an Indian woman. From the film Mississippi Masala, alluding to the spice mixture used in Indian cooking TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1994

Masarati noun an improvised pipe for smoking crack cocaine, made from a plastic bottle US, 1992 mash noun 1 mashed potato. Also variant 'mashed' UK, 1923. 2 a romantic infatuation; a sweetheart US, 1877. 3 any homemade liquor US, 2002 mash verb 1 to beat up, to 'beat to a pulp'. Derives from conventional 'mash' (to crush, smash utterly) US, 1872. 2 to flirt aggressively US, 1877. 3 to go away. Usually used as a command to dogs TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1956. 4 to pass, to hand to someone, to give US, 1944 mash and dash verb to kiss and run US, 1996 mashed adjective 1 drunk US, 1942. 2 marijuana-intoxicated. Extending the previous sense, 1997. 3 astonished US, 1968 mashed potato transmission noun in the used car business, a worn, loose, mushy automatic transmission US, 1997

mashed up adjective damaged, 1997 masheer adjective on Prince Edward Island, used for describing a garment CANADA, 1988

masher noun 1 an attractive man IRELAND, 1999. 2 an unsophisticated flirt US, 1973. 3 a person who takes sexual pleasure from physical contact with strangers in crowded places US, 1875 mash list noun a tally of all those with whom you have had sex US, 1996

mash mouth adjective toothless TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987

mash out verb to complete US, 1973

mashup noun a creative remixing of separate pieces of recorded dance music UK, 2002

mash up verb 1 to beat up, to thrash UK, 1999. 2 (of a disc jockey) to mix dance records together UK, 1996 mask noun 1 a tight, stretched face resulting from extensive cosmetic surgery US, 1997. 2 oversized sunglasses US, 1962 mason noun 1 an extremely frugal person. A reference to stone walls, a metaphor for frugality US, 1950. 2 a male homosexual who takes the active role in sex US, 1949 mass noun a lot of, a great many US, 1994

mass adjective a lot of US, 1981

Massa Charlie noun used as a stereotype of the dominant white male in relation to blacks US, 1965

Massachusetts driver noun in the northeastern US, an inconsiderate and dangerous driver US, 1975

massa day done! used for reminding someone that the colonial era and slavery are a thing of the past TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1961 massage noun sexual services. A euphemism so well known that a legitimate masseuse may hesitate to announce his or her profession US, 2001 massage verb to kill. Vietnam war usage US, 1926 masses noun a large amount UK, 1892 mass gas noun a group of tanker aircraft refuelling a group of receiver planes US, 1963 massive noun 1 a group of friends or peers JAMAICA, 1989. 2 a gang. Predominantly West Indian and UK Black usage. 1994. 3 a social grouping with a shared leisure interest, often identified by location. West Indian and UK Black usage JAMAICA, 1995 massive adjective excellent US, 1982. ► give it massive to enjoy in a very enthusiastic or excessive fashion. Punning on GIVE IT LARGE UK, 2000 massive! used for expressing enthusiastic approval NEW ZEALAND, 1998

massive humanity noun a large crowd US, 1983

Ma State; Ma nickname New South Wales, Australia. A tribute to NSW's status as Australia's earliest colony, thus the 'mother state' AUSTRALIA, 1906 master adjective excellent TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1956 master blaster noun a large piece of crack cocaine US, 1992 master key noun in law enforcement, a sledge hammer US, 1995 master maniac noun the railways, a master mechanic US, 1975 mastermind noun a railway official US, 1946 master of your domain noun a person who can refrain from masturbation for a prolonged period. Coined and popularised by Jerry Seinfeld in an episode of his television comedy The Contest that first aired on 18th November 1992 US, 1992 masturbation noun self-indulgent nonsense. Used in a euphemistic attempt to avoid WANK UK, 2001 masturbation mansion noun a cinema theatre showing pornographic films US, 1972 mat noun ► go to the mat to engage in a full-scale struggle. From wrestling US, 1908

mataby noun marijuana grown in Zaïre, 1980 matador adjective a stylish, fashionable, independent woman TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1956

Matapedia screwdriver noun a hammer. Matapedia is a small town in Quebec, poised on the border with New Brunswick CANADA, 2002 match noun approximately half an ounce of marijuana. An abbreviation of 'matchbox', which contains approximately the same amount US, 1980 match verb ► match dials the railways, to synchronise watches US, 1977 match bash noun a drag racing event built around a series of races between two types of vehicles US, 1965 matchbox noun 1 an approximate measure, &half, ounce, 5–10 grams, of marijuana. Derives from the capacity of a matchbox, a convenient measure US, 1996. 2 a small house IRELAND, 1920

matchbox Jimmy noun a cab over truck built by General Motors Corporation US, 1971 match head; match-head noun 1 a small single dose of heroin sold individually US, 1993. 2 a football fan, especially one who goes to the game. Those interested in a specific football fixture refer to 'the match'; this combines with -HEAD (an aficionado). A derisory term punning on the small size of a matchhead UK, 2001 mate noun 1 a good friend; a buddy or chum. This word is used to the near exclusion of its various synonyms in Australia. Originally used only by men, but since the 1980s increasingly by women UK, 1380. 2 used as a form of address to a stranger. Generally used in a friendly manner, but also used when being confrontational UK, 1450. 3 in poker, a card that forms a pair US, 1988 maternity blouse noun a large, loose shirt worn untucked by a heavy man US, 1981 mateship noun masculine friendship. In 1999 Prime Minister John Howard tried to introduce this word into a 'preamble' to the Australian Constitution and came under much criticism and ridicule since it was seen to exclude women – the referendum on the matter was not passed AUSTRALIA, 1864

mate's rates; mate rates noun especially cheap prices applied to one's friends AUSTRALIA, 1996

matey noun a man; a companion; a comrade. Used as an affectionate form of address; in a friendly way for someone whose name is not known; in a pseudo-friendly manner for patronising effect US, 1841 matey adjective friendly. Whereas 'matey' as a form of address is generally used of a man, this usage ignores gender UK, 1915

matey boy noun used dismissively, a man UK, 2002 math out verb to render a presentation beyond comprehension by virtue of dense mathematical content US, 1991

'matic noun an automatic pistol UK, 1994 matinee noun 1 a sexual encounter in the mid-afternoon US, 1944. 2 a repeat robbery of a victim US, 1950 matlock noun a tooth. Hence 'matlock mender' (a dentist) UK, 2002 matrimonial peacemaker noun the penis US, 1967

matsakaw; matsakow noun heroin US, 1977

mattie noun a woman's very close female friend BARBADOS, 1965

mattress noun a sexually active, promiscuous girl from a nearby village CANADA, 1992 mattresses noun ► go to the mattresses; hit the mattresses during gang warfare, to retreat in an armed group to a fortified room, apartment or house US, 1964

mattress fall noun uterine prolapse TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 mattress joint noun a hotel catering to prostitutes US, 1956

Mattress Mary noun used as a personification of the stereotypical sexually loose female US, 1955

Matty Mattel; Matty Mattel mouse gun noun the M-16 rifle. Named after the toy manufacturer because many soldiers in Vietnam found the M-16 to be a seriously flawed rifle US, 1978 matzoh ball; matzo ball noun a Jewish dance or party held at Christmas. From a pun on a staple of Jewish cuisine, adopted commercially for a series of events, and from there into wider usage US, 2002

Maud; Maude noun a male prostitute. From the female name. Also used amongst male homosexuals as an adopted name. Probably since the 1940s UK, 1984

Maud and Ruth noun the truth. Rhyming slang UK, 1977

Maugerville slippers noun hip waders. Maugerville is a town on the St John River near Fredericton, New Brunswick CANADA, 1991

Maui wowie; Maui wauie; Maui wowie; Maui noun a potent marijuana cultivated in Hawaii. The island of Maui plus WOW (a thing of wonder) US, 1977

Maui-zowie noun a strain of marijuana. A variation of MAUI WOWIE UK, 2000

mauler noun a set of brass knuckles US, 1953 maulsprigging noun a beating BARBADOS, 1965

Mau-Mau noun a black person who uses the fact that he is black to get his way with guilty white people US, 1965 mau-mau verb to bully, especially using confrontational political arguments that play on racial guilt. Coined as a verb by Tom Wolfe based on the name of a secret society organised to expel European settlers from Kenya US, 1970 mauve noun a person who appears to be homosexual UK, 2002

mauzy adjective in Newfoundland, a foggy, misty day with a gentle ocean breeze CANADA, 1969 maverick noun a stolen, or 'reappropriated', military vehicle. From the western US sense of the word as 'stolen cattle' US, 1990 mavis noun a male homosexual. Gay slang, formed on the name Mavis and originating among Cape coloureds SOUTH AFRICA, 2000

Mavis Fritter noun the anus. Rhyming slang UK, 2003

maw noun a mother US, 1826

MAW noun an attractive woman who is highly visible at fashionable events. An acronym of 'model, actress, whatever' UK, 1988

max noun 1 maximum; a maximum US, 1851. 2 a maximum security prison US, 1961. ► to the max as far as possible, to the limit US, 1971

max verb to wear UK, 2003

max adjective maximum security US, 1976

max and relax verb to take things easy, to take leisure with pleasure US, 1994

max BBs noun a tactic in aerial combat of using the highest rate of fire and filling the air with rounds US, 1991 maxed to the onions adjective extremely large. US military usage during the Vietnam war US, 1982

Max Factor noun an actor. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a cosmetics company UK, 1992 maximum brilliant adjective extremely good US, 1982

maxi taxi; maxi noun a van used as a taxi TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1979

Max Miller noun a pillow. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of one of the greats of British stand-up comedy, 1895–1963 UK, 1992

max out; max verb 1 to reach a limit US, 1977. 2 to complete a maximum prison sentence US, 1972. 3 to relax US, 1984

Max Walls; maxies noun the testicles. Rhyming slang for BALLS from the name of Max Wall (1908–90), a great British comedian UK, 1992

Maxwell House noun a mouse. Rhyming slang, formed on an instant-coffee brand UK, 1992 may all your consequences be happy ones used as a humorous farewell. A catchphrase television sign-off on Truth or Consequences (1950–1987), a game show. Repeated with referential humour US, 1962

Mayflower noun a Plymouth car US, 1965

Mayne Nickless job noun in horse racing, an extremely large bet. The amount bet is so staggering that it must have been stolen from a payroll van of Mayne Nickless, Australia's largest corporate provider of health care AUSTRALIA, 1989

mayo noun 1 cocaine, heroin, morphine US, 1949. 2 mayonnaise US, 1960

Mayor Hunna; Mayor John noun marijuana US, 1968

maypop noun in the used car business, a tyre that is not guaranteed. Because it may pop at any moment US, 1980

May snow noun on Prince Edward Island, a late spring snow, supposed to help cure blindness and sore feet CANADA, 1988

maytag noun a weak prisoner, especially one who does laundry for others as a sign of submission US, 1987 may you live in interesting times used as a curse. Generally jocular. In a speech given in South Africa in 1966, US President John F. Kennedy introduced this allegedly ancient Chinese curse to the world US, 1998

Mazatlans noun beach sandals made with tyre treads for soles US, 1965 mazawatee adjective crazy, foolish. Rhyming slang for POTTY, formed from Mazawatee Tea, an old brand name for tea, perhaps also punning on 'tea'pot' UK, 1992

Mazola party noun group sex, enhanced by the application of vegetable oil to the participants' bodies. An allusion and tribute to Mazola Corn Oil™ US, 1968

mazoola noun money US, 1951 mazuma noun 1 money. From Hebrew to Yiddish to English US, 1901. 2 a female professor US, 1947

MB verb to return a carnival customer's money. From 'money back' US, 1985

MBNWA noun ► Management By Not Walking Around the extensive use of e-mail to keep in touch with subordinates in business CANADA, 2002

Mc- prefix used in combination with the noun that follows for expressing a cheap, mass-produced product. From the McDonald's™ hamburger chain US, 1984

MC; emcee noun 1 a master of ceremonies US, 1790. 2 a rap artist. From 'microphone controller' US, 1996

MC; emcee verb 1 to serve as a master of ceremonies US, 1937. 2 to perform US, 2000

McFired adjective fired from a low-skill, low-wage menial job US, 2003

McFly noun used as a term of address to someone who does not think often or well. From a character in the Back to the Future films US, 1989

McGimper noun a pimp US, 1949

McJob noun a temporary job; a job with little or no future prospects. Characterised as the sort of work available at McDonald's™, the multinational fast food brand. A term coined and trademark-registered by McDonald's itself in 1983 as a positive expression of an affirmative hiring program aimed at those with disabilities; by the late 1980s a derisive term for the low-skill, low-wage jobs that were proliferating in the US during the presidency of Ronald Reagan US, 1991

McJobber noun a person in temporary employment or employment with little or no prospects. After MCJOB UK, 2003

McLean lane noun in trucking, the right hand or slow lane on a motorway US, 1976

McMudhole nickname McMurdo Station, Antarctica ANTARCTICA, 2003

McNamara Special noun a transport plane specially equipped for flying dignitaries to Vietnam during the war US, 1988

McNamara's War noun the Vietnam war. Robert Strange McNamara was US Secretary of Defense from 1961 until 1967, much of the Vietnam war US, 1990 ► see: MISTER TRUMAN'S WAR

MCP noun a male chauvinist pig. In common usage by those involved in the cause of women's liberation UK, 1971

McPaper noun a poorly researched, poorly thought out, and poorly written term paper or essay. From McDonald's™, the ubiquitous purveyor of fast-food US, 1991

McPhillips Street Station nickname the intersection of McPhillips Street (Winnipeg) and the Canadian Pacific Railway main line CANADA, 1987

McShit noun ► go for a McShit to use a fast-food outlet's toilet facilities without purchasing from the restaurant's menu. Based on McDonalds™ but available at Burger King™, etc. UK, 2002

McTheatre noun a derisory categorisation of heavily marketed, big-budget, low-brow musical theatre US, 1996

MD noun 1 Dr. Pepper™ soda US, 1967. 2 a managing director. Only when spoken as 'em dee' UK, 1963

MDA noun a synthetic hallucinogen (methylenedioxy-amphetamine) that also contains a central nervous system stimulant. Used as a technical term in the late 1950s, in a slang sense later when the drug became popular, largely with gays US, 1978

MDB noun a hospital patient with an appalling lack of hygiene. A 'mega dirtball' US, 1989

MDO noun a day missed at work due to a feigned illness. An abbreviation of 'Maori day off' NEW ZEALAND, 1998 me adjective my UK, 1947 meal noun a socially inept person. Youth usage US, 1949 meal-a-mat noun a vending machine dispensing food US, 1977 meals rejected by Ethiopians; meals refused by Ethiopians noun military MREs (meals ready to eat) US, 1988 meal ticket noun a source of support, especially a person US, 1899 mealymouth noun a person who speaks insincerely or with a complete lack of conviction UK, 1600 mean adjective excellent US, 1919. ► so mean he wouldn't pay a dime to see the Statue of Liberty piss very stingy CANADA, 1988. ► so mean he wouldn't shit away from home used for expressing a high degree of stinginess and bad temper CANADA, 1988 mean adverb very US, 1998 mean as black cat shit adjective used for expressing a high degree of stinginess CANADA, 1988 me and the devil, pretty soon just the devil in poker, said when all players but two have withdrawn from a hand US, 1951 me and you noun 1 a menu. Rhyming slang, or merely a play on words UK, 1932. 2 in Bingo, the number two. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 meanest adjective best, fastest US, 1965 mean green noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust. The 'green' is from the parsley or mint on which the drug is at times sprinkled; the 'mean' is reduplicative yet accurately describes the behaviour of most users US, 1981 meanie noun copelandia cyanescens or panaeolus cyanescens: a mushroom with potent psychactive properties. A shortening of 'blue meanie' UK, 1999 meanies noun the police or other authorities of enforcement; specifically those opposed to citizens' band radio. Abbreviated from 'blue meanies' US, 1981 mean mugging noun hateful glances US, 2004 mean out adjective good; bad. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982 mean reds noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1961

meanwhile, back at the ranch used as a humorous indication that a story is about to change to another thread. From a clichéd device used in cowboy films US, 1956 meany noun an exceedingly mean person. The Beatles, in the cartoon film The Yellow Submarine, 1968, popularised the term 'the blue meanies' as an intensification for those that cast a blight on joyfulness UK, 1927 me an' you noun in Bingo (also House and Tombola), the number two UK, 1981 measle sheet noun a military map with a large number of small circled numbers indicating checkpoints US, 1966

measly adjective contemptible, of little value, petty UK, 1864

meat noun 1 the penis UK, 1595. 2 the vagina US, 1973. 3 the human body US, 1834. 4 a corpse US, 1949. 5 in a hospital, tissue taken for a biopsy US, 1994. 6 in motor racing, a large racing tyre US, 1993. 7 in hot rodding, structural metal in the engine block US, 1965. 8 a musical instrument's sound before any electronic alteration UK, 1983. ► the meat athletes; in the entertainment industry, the actors, the performers US, 1967 meat verb ► be on a meat-free diet to be a lesbian. A euphemism formed on MEAT (the penis) UK, 1995 meat and two veg; meat noun used for Reg, a diminutive of the name Reginald. Rhyming slang; an apparently teasing application of the non-rhyming sense as 'the male genitals' UK, 1992 meat and two veg; meat with two vegetables noun the penis and testicles US, 1964 meat axe noun in television and film-making, a rod used on scaffolding to hold light screens US, 1990. ► as a meat axe as hell AUSTRALIA, 1949 meatball noun 1 a dim-witted, gullible person US, 1939. 2 a false or petty criminal charge US, 1944. 3 a coloured light that serves as a visual aid in an optical landing system for an aeroplane landing on an aircraft carrier US, 1957. 4 in horse racing, a combination of cathartics administered to a horse US, 1951

meat book noun at a college or university, a book with the names and photographs of all incoming students US, 1996 meat box noun a prison service van for transporting prisoners UK, 1996 meat curtains noun the vagina UK, 2001 meat cutter noun a surgeon US, 1980 meat district noun an area where sex is available US, 1984 meat drapes noun the condition that exists when a tight-fitting pair of trousers, shorts, bathing suit or other garment forms a wedge between a woman's labia, accentuating their shape US, 2004 meat eater noun a corrupt police officer who aggressively seeks out bribes and other personal advantages US, 1972 meat factory noun a college or university that recruits athletes solely for their athletic ability and without any real expectation that they will graduate US, 1978 meat fleet noun a military hospital ship. Gulf war usage US, 1991 meat hangers noun a pair of men's close-fitting and revealing nylon swimming trunks AUSTRALIA, 2003 meathead noun a stupid person; hence a general derogative implying stupidity. No brains between the ears, just meat US, 1928 meat hook noun in electric line work, a handline hook US, 1980 meat injection noun the sexual insertion of the erect penis AUSTRALIA, 1942 meat mag noun a homoerotic, often pornographic, magazine US, 1979 meat market noun 1 a bar or other public place where people congregate in search of sexual companionship UK, 1957. 2 a modelling agency US, 1972 meat parlour noun an establishment where sex is the most important commodity US, 1969 meat-pie adjective Of average quality AUSTRALIA, 1988

meat puppet noun 1 the penis UK, 2003. 2 a prostitute US, 1997 meat rack noun 1 a restaurant, bar or other public place where people gather in search of sexual partners US, 1962. 2 Piccadilly in London's West End, an area where homosexuals and homosexual prostitutes offer their services. Like so much meat displayed in a butchers UK, 1972. 3 a gymnasium US, 1976 meat seat noun the vagina UK, 2001 meat shot noun 1 a photograph or scene in a pornographic film focusing on a penis US, 1974. 2 a bullet wound in a muscle, not involving a bone or organ damage US, 1992 meat show noun a striptease act or other performance featuring naked or near-naked women US, 1943

Meat Street nickname West 14th Street, New York. An allusion both to the meatpacking industry in the area and the transvestite prostitutes who work there at night US, 1997 meat wagon noun 1 an ambulance US, 1925. 2 a coroner's ambulance US, 1942. 3 medical evacuation equipment, especially a helicopter US, 1991. 4 a prison-service or police vehicle used for confining and transporting prisoners UK, 1954 meat whistle noun the penis US, 1965 meaty adjective (used of a wave) powerful US, 1991 mebbe adverb maybe. From North Country dialect UK, 1825

mech noun a mechanic UK, 1918 mechanic noun 1 in the underworld, a specialist for hire US, 1949. 2 a hired killer US, 1989. 3 in gambling, a cheat who manipulates the cards or dice US, 1909. 4 any safety device worn by a circus performer US, 1980. 5 an accomplished, skilled lover US, 1985 mechanical digger; mechanical noun a black person. Rhyming slang for 'nigger' UK, 1992 mechanic's grip noun in card trickery, a method of holding the deck that favours cheating US, 2003

Med noun ► the Med the Mediterranean sea; the lands generally known as the Mediterranean UK, 1943 med adjective medical US, 1933 med head noun a member of the military police NEW ZEALAND, 1998 media flu noun a runny nose and consequent sniffing as symptoms of cocaine use. Some symptoms of influenza translated to a profession noted for cocaine use, on the model of 'Asian flu', etc UK, 2002 media whore; meeja whore noun someone prepared to do anything for publicity UK, 1999 ► see: MEEJA medic; medico noun a medical doctor, whether physician or surgeon; someone who uses medical skills in a professional capacity UK, 1659 medical shot noun in a pornographic film, an extreme close-up of genitals US, 1977

medicate verb to use an illegal drug US, 2003 medicine noun 1 alcohol; liquor US, 1847. 2 illegal drugs or narcotics US, 1976 medicine line noun the border between Canada and the US, especially in the west CANADA, 1987 meditation noun solitary confinement in prison US, 1990 meditation manor noun a prison cell used for solitary confinement US, 1962

Mediterranean back noun a phoney injured back used as an excuse for taking leave from work. A racial slur referring to New Australians, many of whom were from a Greek, Italian or Lebanese background AUSTRALIA, 1972 medzers noun money. Parleyaree, theatrical and polari. Variants include 'medzies', 'metzers', 'metzes', 'metties', 'metzies', 'measures' and 'mezsh' UK, 1933 meeces noun mice. From the Huckleberry Hound television cartoon series of the late 1950s, in which Mr Jinx the beatnik cat regularly described his feelings towards Pixie and Dixie, two mice, as 'I hate those meeces to pieces' US, 1991 meeja; meejah; meejer noun media. A phonetic slurring in fashionable currency; slightly derogatory and generally used with 'the' UK, 1983 mee-maws noun the police. Echoic of a two-tone siren UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 meemies noun a feeling of anxiety and fear. A shortened form of the SCREAMING MEEMIES US, 1946 meese adjective plain. Recorded in contemporary gay use UK, 2003 meet noun 1 a meeting, especially one convened to discuss illegal matters UK, 1865. 2 a session in which musicians collectively improvise; a jam session US, 1957 meet verb in poker, to make a bet equal to the previous bet US, 1990 meeting noun ► take a meeting to attend a business meeting. Entertainment industry terminology, used outside the industry in a mocking, pretentious tone US, 1977

meff'd adjective drunk UK, 2002 mega adjective great, successful, excellent, special. A multi-purpose superlative, from Greek prefix mega- (great) UK, 1969 mega- prefix used for intensifying US, 1966 megablast noun a dose of crack cocaine US, 1993 megabuck adjective very expensive US, 1992 mega dirtball noun a hospital patient with an appalling lack of hygiene US, 1989 megapenny noun ten thousand dollars (one cent times ten to the sixth power) US, 1991 megg noun a marijuana cigarette US, 1942 megger noun in the television and film industries, a director. From the long-gone practice of directors' using megaphones US, 1977 megillah noun all of something. For observant Jews on Purim, the reading of the entire Megillas Esther is deemed an obligation US, 1954

MEGO my eyes glaze over US, 1977

Meg Ryan noun a homosexual male. Rhyming slang for 'iron' (IRON HOOF), POOF formed from the name of the US film actress (b.1961) UK, 1998

meig noun a penny; a five-cent piece US, 1962

Mekong Delta nickname a neighbourhood with a large number of Vietnamese immigrants and businesses US, 1979 mel noun in the language surrounding the Grateful Dead, a conventional, law-abiding citizen US, 1994 melana cream noun a powerful variety of hashish from the Kulu Valley in Himachel Pradesh UK, 2003

Melba noun ► do a Melba (especially of an entertainer) to retire and then come out of retirement over and over again. Referring to Dame Nellie Melba, 1861–1931, Australian opera singer AUSTRALIA, 1971

Meldrew noun a middle-aged or elderly man who is a complainer or a moaner, or is characteristically intolerant, pessimistic or curmudgeonly. Named after Victor Meldrew, the central character in BBC situation comedy, One Foot in the Grave (from 1990), written by David Renwick and played by Scottish character actor Richard Wilson UK, 1990 mellow noun a good friend US, 1976 mellow verb to calm US, 1974 mellow adjective 1 pleasing, relaxed, good US, 1938. 2 mildly and pleasantly drunk or drug-intoxicated UK, 1699. 3 (used of a friend) close US, 1941 mellow d adjective relaxed, enjoyable. A glorious pun on 'melody' US, 1973 mellow man noun an attractive male US, 1945 mellow yellow noun 1 fried banana skin scrapings, sold for their nonexistent psychoactive effect US, 1966. 2 LSD US, 1971 melon noun 1 the head AUSTRALIA, 1907. 2 a fool. Probably a shortening of melonhead AUSTRALIA, 1937. ► bust your melon to confuse.

Combines 'bust' (to break) with MELON (the head) US, 2002. ► twist your melon to confuse, to scramble your thoughts. Combines 'twist' (to derange) with MELON (the head). Survives as a catchphrase with the meaning barely understood UK, 1990 melon gear noun a crash helmet US, 2003 melon hut; melon noun a prefabricated red field hut ANTARCTICA, 2000 melons noun large female breasts US, 1957 meltdown noun the complete and total malfunctioning of a casino slot machine US, 1999 melted butter noun semen US, 1980 melted out adjective broke; without funds US, 1948 melton adjective hot. A pun on 'melting' originally recorded in 1885, however current use is probably freshly coined. Recorded in contemporary gay use UK, 2003

Melvin noun the condition that exists when someone pulls your trousers or underpants forcefully upwards, forming a wedge between buttock cheeks US, 1989

Melvin verb 1 to seize someone's testicles and twist them, especially as a girl's revenge for sexual harassment. Obviously extends from the senses that convey a painful and forceful adjustment to someone's underwear UK, 2003. 2 to dupe US, 1991

Melvyn Bragg; melvyn noun 1 a cigarette. Rhyming slang for FAG, based on the name of author and television presenter Lord Bragg of Wigton (b.1939) UK, 1998. 2 an act of sexual intercourse. Rhyming slang for SHAG, based on the name of author and television presenter Lord Bragg of Wigton (b.1939); this term came into use shortly after the explicitly sexual television adaptation of his 1990 novel A Time to Dance was first broadcast in 1992 UK, 1992. 3 a contemptible person. Rhyming slang for SLAG, based on the name of author and television presenter Lord Bragg of Wigton (b.1939) UK, 1998. 4 a sexually promiscuous woman, a slut. Rhyming slang for SLAG UK, 1998 member noun a fellow homosexual US, 1970s

Memphis dominoes noun dice US, 1942 ménage à moi noun an act of female masturbation UK, 2004 menali noun potent hashish originating in the Himalayas, 1999 mender noun in circus and carnival usage, a claims adjuster US, 1981 men in white coats noun 1 medical or laboratory personnel UK, 1967. 2 psychiatric staff. Usually humorous, and in a context that questions a person's sanity UK, 1968 menopause manor noun in the Canadian Forces, the Sergeants and Warrant Officers' Mess CANADA, 1995 mensch; mensh; mench noun an honourable person. German mensch (a person) into Yiddish US, 1953 mensh noun a mention; also, as a verb, to mention UK, 1984 mental noun an outburst of anger or madness AUSTRALIA, 1979 mental adjective 1 insane, crazy UK, 1927. 2 wonderful, amazing, mind-blowing UK, 1998. ► go mental to become very enraged, to have a fit of ill-temper UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 mental blooter noun a spree of any kind of excessive behaviour UK, 1988 mentalist noun a crazy person; a lunatic; an eccentric UK, 1997 mentaller noun a mad or crazy person UK, 2001 mentalness noun a state of madness UK: SCOTLAND, 1996 mental pygmy noun a dolt US, 1968 menu noun 1 the list of services available in a brothel US, 1993.

2 graffiti describing sex preferences and telephone numbers US, 1972 merc noun a mercenary. With the official US use of the term 'private civilian contractor' instead of 'mercenary' in the invasion and occupation of Iraq, use of the term 'merc' in the future is doubtful ZIMBABWE, 1967

Merc noun 1 a Mercedes car US, 1970. 2 a Mercury car US, 1951

Mercedes noun 1 in horse racing, odds of 10–1. Rhyming slang, formed from Mercedes Benz AUSTRALIA, 1989. 2 a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. After the luxury car; describing the logo stamped on the pill UK, 1999 merch noun merchandise US, 1995 merchant noun a prisoner who sells goods to other prisoners US, 1958 merchant banker; merchant; banker noun a contemptible person. Rhyming slang for WANKER (a contemptible person), coined in response to YUPPIE (a young upwardly mobile professional), many of whom were merchant bankers, moving into the East End of London during the 1980s UK, 1992 merck; merk noun cocaine. From the name of a pharmaceutical company US, 1969 mercy! used for expressing mild surprise US, 1992 mercy buckets! thank you. An intentional butchering of the French UK, 1960 mercy Mary! used for expressing surprise in a melodramatic fashion US, 1970 mercy Miss Percy! used for embellishing any exclamation US, 1953 mercy sakes!; mercy's sakes alive! used euphemistically in citizens' band transmissions to register anger, shock, surprise, etc US, 1976 mere gook rule noun a belief during the Vietnam war that a crime committed against a Vietnamese person was not a crime US, 1976

Merlin the magician; merlin noun a pigeon. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 merry noun marijuana. A play on the name Mary, featured in many slang terms for 'marijuana' US, 1938 merry and bright noun light, a light. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 merry dancers noun the northern lights CANADA, 1946 merry-go-round noun 1 the visits to many different prison offices the day before a prisoner is released US, 1996. 2 a railway turntable US, 1946. 3 a pound (£1). Rhyming slang; often reduced to 'merry' UK, 1961 merry hell noun ► play merry hell; raise merry hell to make a disturbance, to complain or quarrel noisily and angrily, to make a din US, 1911 merry laird noun a beard. Glasgow rhyming slang (a good rhyme in the local accent) UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 merry old soul noun 1 a hole. Rhyming slang UK, 1992. 2 the anus. Rhyming slang for ARSEHOLE; a specialism of the previous sense. Logically, this will be applied with irony to any ARSEHOLE (a contemptible person) UK, 2003

merry syphilis and a happy gonorrhoea used as a humorous replacement for 'Merry Christmas and Happy New Year' AUSTRALIA, 1985

merry widow noun 1 a bust-emphasising corset US, 1957. 2 in pool, a cue stick with a butt made with a single, unplucked piece of wood US, 1983

mersh noun marijuana that is commercially produced for a mass-market US, 2004

Meryl Streep; meryl noun sleep. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the US film actress (b.1949) UK, 1998

mesc; mezc noun mescaline US, 1970 meself pronoun myself. Representing a common Australian pronunciation AUSTRALIA, 1898 mesh noun on a computer keyboard, the # character US, 1983 meshugge; meshuga; meshuggener; meshigener adjective crazy. Yiddish US, 1888 mesmeric adjective used for expressing approval UK, 2003 mess noun 1 a person who is dirty or untidy; a person who is disorganised or incapable of being organised UK, 1891. 2 excrement UK, 1903. 3 a large amount US, 1826. 4 drugs US, 1978. 5 in poker, a draw of replacement cards that fails to improve the hand US, 1979 mess; mess with verb to confront; to mess with; to interfere; to bother; to fight US, 1935 messages noun shopping; hence, message bag, shopping bag.

Dialect UK: SCOTLAND, 1911. ► do the messages to go on a small local shopping trip AUSTRALIA, 1902 mess around verb to engage in sexual foreplay; to have sex UK, 1896 messed up adjective drunk or drug-intoxicated US, 1963 messenger noun a bullet US, 1962 messer noun a joker IRELAND, 1998

mess up verb to beat someone up US, 1914 messy adjective good. Another example of BAD meaning 'good' UK, 2002 met noun methamphetamine US, 1993

Met noun ► the Met London's Metropolitan Police, established in 1829 UK, 1962 meta- prefix used for indicating a higher level than super- or hyper- UK, 2003 metabolic clinic noun a hospital tea-room. Medical humour UK, 2002 metalhead noun a lover of heavy metal music and the attendant lifestyle US, 1982 metal jacket noun a condom US, 1993 metal mouth noun any person with orthodontia US, 1978 meter noun twenty-five cents US, 1945

-meter; -ometer suffix the conventional suffix that creates a means of measuring, when used to make a flippant or nonce-word, especially as a measurer of sexual arousal. In 2003 a brief search of the Internet revealed 'shagometer', from SHAG (to have sex), 'hornometer', from HORN (an erection) and 'pain-in-the-assometer' UK, 1837 meter maid noun a policewoman who checks cars on city streets for parking infractions CANADA, 1965 meter reader noun in the US Air Force, a co-pilot US, 1946 meth noun 1 methamphetamine hydrochloride, a powerful central nervous system stimulant, brand name Methedrine™ US, 1966.

2 methadone (a drug prescribed as a substitute for heroin) US, 1980. 3 marijuana. An abbreviation of METHOD (marijuana) US, 1994 meth noun a methylated spirits addict UK, 1995 meth head noun a habitual user of methamphetamine US, 1966 methical noun marijuana. A combination of METHOD and TICAL, slang terms for 'marijuana' adopted as aliases by rap artist Methical/Method Man US, 1994 meth monster noun 1 an amphetamine addict US, 1967. 2 any paranoid delusion suffered after sustained methamphetamine use US, 1989 metho noun 1 methylated spirits AUSTRALIA, 1933. 2 a habitual drinker of methylated spirits AUSTRALIA, 1933

Metho noun a Methodist AUSTRALIA, 1940

method; method murder noun marijuana US, 1995

Methodist hell noun the epitome of heat US, 1975

meths noun methylated spirits AUSTRALIA, 1981 meth speedball noun methamphetamine mixed with heroin. A combination of METH (methamphetamine) and SPEEDBALL (cocaine and heroin mixed, or an UPPER and DOWNER mixed). 2002 metric miles noun haemorrhoids. Rhyming slang for 'piles' UK, 2003 metrosexual noun an urban, heterosexual male who, in matters of style or recreation, has similar tastes to those stereotypically associated with women or homosexual men UK, 1994

Metro Tux noun in Los Angeles, the police officer's uniform except for his shirt, which is replaced by a white t-shirt. With this slight modification, policemen may drink at a bar without violating the department rule against drinking in uniform US, 1994

Mex noun 1 a Mexican or Mexican-American. Offensive US, 1847. 2 the Spanish language US, 1858

Mex adjective Mexican. Offensive US, 1854

Mexi noun low quality marijuana, claimed to be from Mexico US, 2001

Mexican noun in eastern Australia, a person from a state south of one's own. In Queensland it refers to either New South Welshmen or Victorians, whereas in New South Wales it refers to Victorians AUSTRALIA, 1991

Mexican breakfast noun any combination of a glass of water, a cigarette and the chance to urinate US, 1960

Mexican brown noun inferior heroin that originates in Mexico. The adjective 'Mexican' has a negative value US, 1975

Mexican Buick noun a Chevrolet US, 1979

Mexican Cadillac noun a Chevrolet US, 1962

Mexican carwash noun a rainstorm US, 1950

Mexican cashmere noun a cotton sweatshirt US, 1957

Mexican chrome noun aluminium paint US, 1955

Mexican cigarette noun a poorly made marijuana cigarette US, 1987

Mexican compromise noun a decision in which you lose property but save your life US, 1954

Mexican credit card; Mexican filling station noun a siphon used for stealing petrol from a parked car US, 1979

Mexican diamond noun a stone cut and polished to look like a diamond US, 1950

Mexican fox-trot noun diarrhoea US, 1979

Mexican green noun an inferior marijuana cultivated in Mexico US, 1961

Mexican hayride noun a car overloaded with passengers US, 1962

Mexican horse noun brown heroin originating in Mexico. The source plus HORSE (heroin) US, 1979

Mexican jumping bean; Mexican red noun a capsule of barbiturate, especially Seconal™, manufactured in Mexico. Named for the capsule's appearance, not its effect, which is sedative US, 1971

Mexican locoweed; Mexican tumbleweed noun marijuana US, 1969

Mexican mud noun brown heroin that originates in the Sierra Madre mountains of Mexico; heroin US, 1977

Mexican muffler noun a tin can stuffed with steel wool functioning as a car silencer US, 1953

Mexican mushroom noun psilocybin or psilocin, powerful psychedelic drugs extracted from Psilocybe mexicana and Stropharia cubensis mushrooms which are native to Mexico US, 1969

Mexican nose guard noun a jock strap (an athletic support). An unkind linkage of the penis and nose US, 1979

Mexican overdrive noun while driving, coasting down a hill in neutral gear US, 1955

Mexican paint noun silver paint US, 1954

Mexican red noun 1 a potent variety of marijuana with a red-brown colour cultivated in Mexico US, 1971. 2 a capsule of secobarbital sodium (trade name Seconal™), a central nervous system depressant US, 1977

Mexican retread noun a tyre that has been hastily and superficially repaired US, 1962

Mexican shower noun a hurried washing of the face and armpits US, 2004

Mexican sidewalls noun blackwall tyres that have been painted white US, 1979

Mexican standoff noun 1 a situation in which nobody clearly has the advantage or emerges a clear winner US, 1891. 2 the quitting of a poker game when a player is slightly ahead, slightly behind, or even US, 1958

Mexican straight noun in poker, any hand, a knife and a threat to use the knife. Reminiscent of the simple announcement, 'My Smith and Wesson beats your full house' US, 1979

Mexican strawberries noun dried beans CANADA, 2002

Mexican time noun used for denoting a lack of punctuality US, 1967

Mexican toothache noun dysentery US, 1960

Mexican traffic light noun a speed bump US, 1992

Mexican Valium noun Rohypnol™ (flunitrazepam), popularly known as the 'date-rape drug' US, 1995

Mextown noun a neighbourhood with a large population of Mexicans and Mexican-Americans US, 1957 mezz noun marijuana, a marijuana cigarette. An eponym honouring Milton 'Mezz' Mezzrow, a jazz musician who was better known for his missionary work on behalf of marijuana than his jazz, and who is better remembered for his writing than his jazz US, 1937 mezzony; mizzony noun the money required for a purchase of marijuana. A combination of MEZZ (marijuana) and 'money' US, 1936s mezzroll; mezz roll; Mezz's roll; meserole; messorole; mezzrow noun an extra-large marijuana cigarette US, 1944

MF; em ef noun a motherfucker US, 1959

MFI noun 1 MI5, the UK's security intelligence agency. From the name of the retail chain that pioneered self-assembly furniture in the UK, and became the butt of many jokes UK, 2002. 2 a very large myocardial infarction; a major heart attack. Medical slang, elaborating the conventional abbreviation for the condition, MI, with F for, presumably, -FUCKING-. MFI is also a well-known flat-pack furniture retailer UK, 2002

MFIC; MFWIC noun the person in charge of a situation. An abbreviation of motherfucker (who's) in charge US, 1968

mf-word noun the word motherfuck, motherfucker or motherfucking US, 1992

MIA adjective difficult to locate. From the military label for 'missing in action' US, 2002 miaow!; mee-ow! used of a malicious gossip, or as a commentary on the gossip itself. Intended as an impression of a cat's mew, from CATTY (spiteful) UK, 1984 mic noun a microphone. Pronounced 'mike' US, 1927 ▷ see: MICRODOT michael noun the vagina NEW ZEALAND, 1998

Michael noun an alcoholic beverage that has been adulterated with a strong tranquilliser; the narcotic that is so used. An abbreviation of MICKY FINN US, 1942

Michael Caine; michael noun a pain. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the London-born film actor (b.1933) UK, 1992

Michael Miles; michaels noun haemorrhoids. Rhyming slang, 'piles', formed from the name of a popular television 'quiz inquisitor', host of Take Your Pick, 1955–68; or, less likely, from a US banjo player UK, 2003 michael-muncher noun a person who enjoys performing oral sex on a woman NEW ZEALAND, 1998

Michael Schumacher noun tobacco. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the German-born world champion Formula 1 racing driver (b.1969); the rhyme, while not perfect, is informed with irony – Michael Schumacher has long been associated with Marlboro cigarettes UK, 1998

Michael Winner noun dinner. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the British film director (b.1935) perhaps better known, in this context, as The Sunday Times restaurant critic (with his column: 'Winner's Dinners') UK, 1998

Michelle noun in cricket, a score of five wickets taken in an innings. Rhyming slang, on the imperfect rhyme of the name of film actress Michelle Pfeiffer (b.1958), with 'five for...' UK, 2001

Michigan bankroll noun a single large-denomination note wrapped around small-denomination notes, giving the impression of a great deal of money US, 1914

Michigan handshake noun a firm handshake that imparts a farewell. Newspaper advice columnist Ann Landers used the term in a column on 27th June 1996, in which she urged 'Embarrassed in Pittsburgh' to give her friend Fred 'a Michigan handshake' and tell him to hit the bricks' because he had taken a picture of her sleeping in the nude. Landers' use of the term generated a number of inquiries as to its meaning, and placed the term into the public lexicon. Landers herself pointed to Traverse City, Michigan, in the 1960s as the source of the term US, 1996

Michoacan; Michoacan green noun a powerful grade of marijuana, claimed to have been grown in the Mexican state of Michoacan US, 1973

mick noun 1 an Irish person or Irish-American US, 1850. 2 a car that is used in Ireland before being imported into, and reregistered in, England – the documentation on such a vehicle gives the impression of a much newer car. Car dealers' term UK, 1968. 3 a prisoner US, 1950. 4 the vagina NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 5 a young bull, especially if unbranded. A shortening of MICKEY AUSTRALIA, 1894

Mick noun a Catholic. From Mick, hypocoristic form of Michael, a common name amongst Catholics in Australia AUSTRALIA, 1902

mick adjective (used of a school or college course) easy UK, 1972

Mick adjective 1 Irish US, 1849. 2 Catholic AUSTRALIA, 1985

mickey noun 1 the vagina. Earlier also 'michael' (1950) and 'mick' (1930s) AUSTRALIA, 1969. 2 the penis IRELAND, 1909. 3 a young bull, especially if unbranded AUSTRALIA, 1876. 4 an ordinary fellow US, 1949. 5 a potato US, 1936. 6 an alcoholic drink adulterated with knock-out drops. A shortened form of MICKEY FINN US, 1936. ► throw a mickey to throw a tantrum. Perhaps related to MICKEY (a young bull) AUSTRALIA, 1952

mickey; mickey out verb to drug someone's drink US, 1946 mickey-dick verb to cheat, to engage in petty thievery UK, 2005

Mickey D's noun a McDonald's™ fast-food restaurant US, 1977

Mickey-Finn verb to incapacitate someone with a drink that has been adulterated with a tranquillizer. From the noun US, 2002

Mickey Finn; Mickey Flynn; Mickey's noun an alcoholic beverage that has been adulterated with a strong tranquillizer; the narcotic that is so used US, 1928

Mickey House noun in poker, an unplayable hand US, 1988 mickey juice noun sexual vaginal secretions AUSTRALIA, 1996

Mickey man noun a radar operator US, 1946

Mickey Mouse noun 1 a house. Rhyming slang UK, 1960. 2 a Liverpudlian. Rhyming slang for SCOUSE, no doubt informed by the use of 'Mickey Mouse' to mean 'inferior'. Noted in mocking use among London football supporters UK, 1992. 3 Famous Grouse™ whisky. Glasgow rhyming slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1988. 4 a wrist watch. From the watches with the face of Mickey Mouse first popular in the 1930s US, 1959. 5 a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy, identified by the embossed motif UK, 2002. 6 in American casinos, a $2.50 chip US, 1985. 7 an ultra-shortwave radar used for aircraft spotting. From a distance, the apparatus may be said to resemble a mouse US, 1947

Mickey Mouse adjective 1 inferior, trivial, cheap. Originally coined to describe inferior dance music, then given a broader sense US, 1947. 2 outmoded, old-fashioned or unnecessarily conventional US, 1971. 3 excellent. Rhyming slang for GROUSE AUSTRALIA, 1973

Mickey Mouse around verb to fool around. School usage US, 1967

Mickey Mouse boots noun heavy rubber boots issued to soldiers during the Korean war US, 1952

Mickey Mouse mission noun a simple, undemanding, relatively safe military task US, 1990

Mickey Mouse money noun 1 any unfamiliar or foreign currency; an unfeasible amount of any money. Originally used by the US military for Japanese currency; contemporary usage may be applied to, for instance, the Euro or Scottish banknotes US, 1945. 2 military scrip issued to soldiers in the Korean war US, 1957

Mickey Mouse movie noun a pornographic film that shows little or no detailed activity UK, 1976

Mickey Mouser; mickey noun a person from Liverpool, a Liverpudlian. Rhyming slang for SCOUSE UK, 2000

Mickey Rooney noun a madman, a crazy person. Rhyming slang for LOONY formed from the name of US film actor and entertainer (b.1920) UK, 1988

mickey's noun LSD UK, 2003 mickey-take; micky-take verb to make fun of someone; to pull someone's leg; to jeer at, to deride. From TAKE THE MICKY (to mock). Also used as a noun UK, 1959 mickey-taking; micky-taking noun an act of derisive taunting UK, 1959

mickie noun a bottled alcoholic drink US, 1914

Mick Jagger noun lager. Glasgow rhyming slang (a good rhyme in the local accent), formed from the singer with The Rolling Stones (b.1943) UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

micks noun Michelin™ tyres US, 1971

Mick's blood noun Guinness™ stout. The quintessential Irish beer UK: SCOTLAND, 1996

Mick-takers nickname Scotland Yard's anti-IRA Intelligence Unit. A play on MICKEY-TAKE (to make fun) UK, 1974

Micky Duff; Mickey Duff noun unwell, rough. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a boxing manager and matchmaker (b.1929) UK, 1998 micky muncher noun a canniliuist AUSTRALIA, 1988

microbod noun in caving and pot-holing, a small adult or child with the ability to fit into narrow passages and around difficult corners UK, 2004 microchip noun a Japanese person. Rhyming slang for NIP UK, 1992

microdot; mic; micro; mike noun a small tablet of LSD UK, 1996

Microsloth Windows nickname Microsoft Windows™ US, 1991

mid-air noun in the language of hang gliding, a collision involving two fliers US, 1992 middle noun 1 in sports betting, a combination of bets that produce a win no matter what the outcome of the game US, 1975. 2 the waist. From Old English middel and middil UK, 2002 middle comb noun hair parted in the centre. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982 middle leg noun the penis. Still in popular use UK, 1986 middle name noun anything which is your passion or speciality or outstanding characteristic may be claimed as your middle name US, 1905

Middlesex adjective homosexual. A pun on the place US, 1948 middle-sexed adjective homosexual US, 1950 middle stump noun the penis. From cricket UK, 1937 middlings noun in the illegal production of alcohol, livestock feed used instead of grain US, 1974

middy; middie noun a ten ounce glass of beer; a serving of beer in such a glass AUSTRALIA, 1945 midget noun 1 a very young member of a youth gang US, 1981. 2 in motor racing, a small, single-seat, open race car US, 1980

midgy adjective small. Probably derived from 'midget' UK, 1999

Midland Bank noun an act of masturbation. Rhyming slang for WANK, formed from the name of a high street bank UK, 1998 midnight noun in dice games, a roll of 12 US, 1919 midnight auto parts; midnight auto service; midnight auto supply noun stolen car parts; their notional source US, 1966 midnight cowboy noun a homosexual prostitute, originally one who wears cowboy clothes; hence a homosexual man. Brought from gay subculture into wider use by the film Midnight Cowboy, 1969. The less subtle, general sense resulted from the film's success US, 1972 midnight lab noun a laboratory where illegal drugs are manufactured US, 1970 midnight mass noun an informer. Rhyming slang (probably from the north of England by the accent required for the rhyme) for GRASS (an informer) UK, 1996 midnight oil noun opium US, 1949 midnight overdrive noun coasting down a hill with the car or truck in neutral gear US, 1971 midnight revue noun serial consecutive sex between one person and multiple partners, usually consensual US, 1949 midnights noun the midnight shift, a work schedule beginning at midnight and ending at 8am US, 1994 midnight shopper noun a burglar US, 1976 midnight supply man noun a person who traffics in stolen equipment US, 1954 midnight toker noun a person who smokes marijuana before retiring to bed US, 1973 midrats noun a meal served between midnight and 1am. An abbreviation of 'midnight rations' US, 1973 midway bonus noun in circus and carnival usage, an extravagant, empty promise US, 1981

MIG alley noun during the Korean war, airspace controlled by North Korea and its allies US, 1951 mighty adjective excellent NEW ZEALAND, 1984 mighty adverb very, greatly. Often ironic UK, 1715

Mighty Joe Young noun a central nervous system depressant UK, 1998 mighty mezz noun a generous marijuana cigarette, or simply marijuana US, 1946 mighty mite noun 1 a marijuana variety with large buds CANADA, 2002. 2 an airblower used by the military in Vietnam to blow smoke or tear gas into enemy tunnels. Also spelt 'mity-mite' US, 1967 mighty Quinn noun LSD US, 1975

mike noun 1 a microgram (1/1,000,000th of a gram). The unit of measure for LSD doses, even in the non-metric US US, 1967. 2 a microdot (of LSD), 1998. 3 a microphone US, 1927. 4 a minute. From the military phonetic alphabet – 'mike' for 'm', and 'm' for 'minute' US, 1986. 5 a person who secretly finances a licensed bookmaker AUSTRALIA, 1989 mike; mike up verb to equip with a microphone UK, 1984

Mike Bliss; Micky Bliss noun the act of urination; urine. Rhyming slang for PISS, which leads to TAKE THE MICKY, TAKE THE MICHAEL and variants such as TAKE THE PISS (to jeer) UK, 1961 mike boat noun a military landing craft US, 1977 mike check noun oral sex on a male US, 1992 mike fright noun an overwhelming fear that confronts an actor when facing a microphone US, 1952

Mike Hunt a fictitious name, used as a prank for waiting lists. The announcement 'table for Mike Hunt' sounds very much like 'table for my cunt', thus a source of amusement US, 1994 mike juliet noun marijuana. Vietnam war usage. The military phonetic alphabet for MJ (marijuana) US, 1977

Mike Malone noun a telephone. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 mike-mike noun a millimeter, or a weapon with a calibre measured in millimeters. From the military phonetic alphabet for 'mm' US, 1967 mike-e-nik noun a car or truck mechanic US, 1976 mileage noun 1 any extra use or advantage that may be derived from a situation US, 1955. 2 a record of previous convictions UK, 1996

Mile End noun a friend. Rhyming slang, formed from an area of east London UK, 1992

Mile High Club noun a collective noun for people who claim to have had sex on an airborne plane. Interestingly, the equivalent 'club' on a train is not measured in height but distance travelled: 'the nine mile club' US, 1972 miles noun ► make some miles to drive (a truck) US, 1971 miles adverb much UK, 1885

milf; MILF noun a sexually appealing mother US, 1999 milk verb 1 to exploit, to cheat UK, 1536. 2 to masturbate UK, 1616. 3 in card games, to draw the top and bottom cards (off a new pack) before the first shuffle US, 1845. ► get off and milk it! used for heckling a bicyclist. Mainly schoolchildren use UK, 1975. ► milk a rush while injecting a drug, to draw blood into the syringe and slowly release the drug into the vein, controlling the immediate effect of the drug US, 1986. ► milk it to squeeze the shaft of the penis towards the head of the penis US, 1978. ► milk the anaconda (of a male) to masturbate US, 1985. ► milk the bushes to move a boat by pulling on shore bushes CANADA, 1940. ► milk the lizard (of a male) to masturbate; to cause sexual ejaculation UK, 1997. ► milk the one-eyed aphid of a male, to masturbate UK, 2003 milk? used as a tease of someone whose demeanour is just a bit catty US, 1994 milk-ball noun any alcoholic beverage served with milk US, 1983 milk bar noun the female breasts. Probably dating from the 1950s when conventional milk bars had their peak of popularity UK, 1984 milkbar cowboy noun a motorcyclist given to frequenting milk bars. A term from the 1950s and 60s NEW ZEALAND, 1988 milk-drop noun an auction fraud in which the auctioneer inflates the price of an item by accepting non-existent bids before selling the item to the victim of the fraud UK, 2003 milker noun in poker, a player who bets only on a very good hand or with very good odds US, 1988

milkie; milky noun a milkman UK, 1886 milking stool noun in electric line work, a yoke used for supporting hot line tension tools US, 1980 milkman's horse adjective CROSS, angry. Rhyming slang (the Cockney accent should be obvious) UK, 1961 milko noun a milk vendor AUSTRALIA, 1907

milk rope noun a pearl necklace US, 1956 milk route noun an easy, lucrative sales route US, 1930. ► do the milk route as a prostitute, to visit late-night venues in search of customers US, 1987 milk run noun 1 a routine trip, especially one that calls at several places. Originally military. Also called a 'milk round' UK, 1942. 2 a simple, undemanding, undangerous military task US, 1943. 3 the first run of a ski-lift on a given morning, or the first run down the mountain of the day US, 1963 milkshake noun 1 a solution of baking powder administered to a racehorse to improve its performance NEW ZEALAND, 1990. 2 semen that is sucked and swallowed from a rectum US, 1987. 3 oral sex performed on a male NEW ZEALAND, 1998

milkshake verb to administer a milkshake to a horse NEW ZEALAND, 1992

milksop noun a cowardly or effeminate man UK, 1382 milksucker noun a young child US, 1975 milk-train noun a train with an early morning schedule US, 1853

Milky Way noun a homosexual. Rhyming slang for GAY, created from a galaxy far far away, or, more likely, from a popular chocolate confection with the well-remembered slogan: 'the sweet you can eat between meals without spoiling your appetite' UK, 1998 mill noun 1 millimetre, especially as a measure of a gun's calibre, or a width of still- and cine-camera film US, 1960. 2 one thousand dollars US, 1961. 3 a million, especially and usually a million dollars or pounds. Sometimes simply 'mile' US, 1942. 4 in hot rodding and drag racing, an engine US, 1918

Millennium Dome noun 1 a comb. Rhyming slang, formed from the famous folly while it was no more than a building site UK, 1998. 2 a telephone. Rhyming slang (that barely rhymes) UK, 2002 millennium domes noun female breasts that are enhanced to misleading dimensions. After the UK's much-criticised celebration of 2000 years: the Millennium Dome UK, 2002

Miller time noun hours spent drinking beer after work or play. An advertising slogan by the Miller Brewing Company, expanded to non-product-specific ironic usage US, 1987 milling noun the action of fighting a companion, no holds barred, as a test of your ability. Military UK, 1810 million noun a certainty, a safe bet. Probably from gambling odds of 1,000,000–1. Examples: (of a plan) 'It's a million'; (for promotion) 'You're a million' UK, 1970. ► gone a million utterly undone; defeated; unable to recover AUSTRALIA, 1913 million dollar wound noun during war, a wound that was serious enough to get a soldier sent home but not so serious as to affect the rest of their life US, 1947 millioni noun millions. An unnecessary elaboration phonetically similar to Italian milione (million) UK, 2001

Milli Vanilli noun the penis. Rhyming slang for WILLY, formed from a controversial US music duo of the late 1980s and early 90s UK, 2003

Millwall brick noun a weapon made from a tightly rolled newspaper. Named after, or by association with, Millwall Football Club and the awesome reputation of its 'fans' UK, 1999

Millwall Reserves; millwalls noun nerves. Rhyming slang, formed from a London football team UK, 1998

Milton Keynes; miltons noun 1 beans, especially baked beans when served on toast. Rhyming slang, based on the Buckinghamshire town UK, 1998. 2 homosexuals. Rhyming slang for QUEEN(S), based on the Buckinghamshire town UK, 1998. 3 jeans, denims. Rhyming slang, based on the Buckinghamshire town UK, 2002

mimeo noun a mimeograph machine; a document produced by mimeograph US, 1970

Mimeo Minnie noun the stereotypical female office worker US, 1953 mimi noun an act of urination. From the Maori NEW ZEALAND, 1983

Mimi noun the vagina. A given name punning the centrality of the vagina to the user's perception of herself – 'me me' US, 1998 mimic-man noun a Trinidadian who has adopted European or American mannerisms and style TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1971 mimi hill noun a stop during a road trip to use the toilet. From the Maori for 'urinating' NEW ZEALAND, 1998

mince noun 1 rubbish, nonsense UK: SCOTLAND, 1911. 2 anything unpleasant UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. 3 used in similes for listlessness or unintelligence UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. 4 Guinness™ stout UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 mince adjective used of an unpleasant thing, especially when in the wrong place UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 minced adjective drunk UK, 2002

mincemeat noun ► make mincemeat of to defeat absolutely UK, 1876 mince pies; minces noun the eyes. Rhyming slang UK, 1857 minch noun in circus and carnival usage, an unengaged, low-spending customer US, 1928

mincy adjective stupid, silly UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 mind noun ► give someone a piece of your mind to reprimand, to censure UK, 1861. ► the mind boggles! a catchphrase used as an ironic comment on any marked absurdity. Widely popularised in the Daily Mirror cartoon strip The Perishers, by Maurice Dodd, from the 1950s in print and the late 70s as an animation UK, 1984

mind verb 1 to work as a bodyguard, especially for a criminal; to look after a criminal activity UK, 1924. 2 to bribe regularly UK, 1970. ► don't mind me!; don't mind me, I only live here!; don't mind me, I only work here! used by someone who feels disregarded as an ironic suggestion that whatever is happening, and that has caused such feelings of alienation, should continue (and continue to disregard the speaker) UK, 1937. ► never mind!; never you mind! mind your own business!, don't let it trouble you! UK, 1814

mind! pay attention!, note what I say!, used to add emphatic force to a statement UK, 1779

mindbender noun 1 anything that challenges your knowledge or assumptions UK, 1963. 2 a hallucinogenic drug US, 1971 mindblower noun 1 an event, experience or situation that completely surprises or shocks US, 1968. 2 a hallucinogenic drug US, 1973 mind-blowing adjective 1 of drugs, especially hallucinogenic UK, 1967. 2 amazing, almost unbelievable. Hyperbole UK, 1967 mind-boggling adjective astounding UK, 1964 mind detergent noun LSD; any psycho-active drug, legal or otherwise. Coined during the Cold War, this term is suggestive of brainwashing UK, 2003 minder noun a criminal's bodyguard or enforcer. Made very familiar to the UK public with the television series Minder, 1979–94 UK, 1924 mindfuck noun 1 anything that causes an internal paradigm shift US, 1971. 2 the mental aspects of sex US, 1970

mindfuck verb to baffle; to manipulate psychologically US, 1967 mind-fucking adjective having the quality to confuse, puzzle or astound. Conventional use of 'mind' plus FUCK (to confound) US, 1971 mindle noun a stupid girl. Possibly derived as a shortening of 'mindless'. Recorded in contemporary gay use UK, 2003 mindless adjective (used of waves) immense and powerful US, 1987 mind your back!; mind your backs! get out of the way!; also used to 'warn' of the presence of a male homosexual UK, 1983 mine noun your job US, 1954. ► down the mine lost AUSTRALIA, 1969 mine adjective a 'minus' attached to a grade US, 1968 mine! used for acknowledging in shorthand form responsibility for a problem US, 1989 minehost; mine host; mine-host noun a tavern keeper, a pub landlord UK, 1904 miner noun ► the miner's silicosis US, 1951 miner's con noun silicosis. An abbreviation of 'consumption' US, 1951 ming noun an unpleasant smell UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

ming verb to stink UK: SCOTLAND, 1986

minge noun 1 the vagina. From the Latin mingere (to urinate) and the mistaken belief that urine passes through the vagina UK, 1903. 2 the pubic hair. Extends from the previous sense to include the general pubic area. A natural redhead is known as a 'ginger minge' UK, 1903. 3 a contemptible person. Extending the sense as 'vagina', synonymous with CUNT UK, 2001 minge bag noun a contemptible woman. Combines MINGE with BAG (an unattractive woman) UK, 1982

minge-muncher noun a person who enjoys performing oral sex on women NEW ZEALAND, 1998

minger noun a person who smells bad; hence, an unattractive person of either sex. From Scottish MING (to stink). Pronounced with a hard 'g' UK, 2003

Minge Whinge nickname The Vagina Monologues by Eve Ensler. Actors' slang for the widely popular theatre piece UK, 2003 ming-ho adjective drunk. Deriving, perhaps, from MING (to stink), thus playing on STINKING (very drunk) UK, 2002

minging adjective 1 unattractive, unpleasant; descriptive of anything bad. Also shortened to 'mingin'. From the verb MING (to stink), hence to look STINKING (disgusting) UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. 2 drunk. Royal Navy slang; from MING (to stink) hence STINKING (drunk) UK, 1987

minglewood noun a hollowed cigar refilled with hashish and potent marijuana US, 2004 mingo noun an unpleasant person. Perhaps a combination of MING (to stink) and MINGE (the vagina), or perhaps an evolution of the older sense (1775) of the word as a 'chamberpot' UK, 2001

mingra noun a police officer UK, 1979 ming-ray noun a mischievous 'game' of spreading a school-fellow's possessions over as wide an area as possible without being noticed by the victim UK, 2003 mingy adjective 1 mean, miserly. Probably a blend of 'mangy' (shabby) or 'mean', and 'stingy' (mean) UK, 1911. 3 in pool, a shot that cannot be missed or a game that cannot be lost US, 1990

mini noun a mini-skirt, a very short skirt UK, 1966 mini-bean noun an amphetamine capsule; a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003 mini-bennie noun an amphetamine or Benzedrine™ (amphetamine sulphate, a central nervous system stimulant) tablet or capsule US, 1977 mini L noun a Pontiac Grand Prix car. A car with a strong resemblance to the El Dorado US, 1970 mini-me noun a smaller version of somebody. From a character introduced in 1997 in the Austin Powers films UK, 2003

Mini Moke noun a cigar, cigarette or pipe. Rhyming slang for SMOKE, formed on a type of small car UK, 1998 mini-moo noun the vagina. MOO (an unpleasant woman) playing on Mini-Me, the miniature alter-ego of the villainous Dr. Evil in the film Austin Powers, The Spy Who Shagged Me, 1999 UK, 2001 mini skirt noun a woman US, 1977 mini-tanker noun a small mobile beer tank hired for social gatherings NEW ZEALAND, 1977

MiniWac nickname Bill Bennett, premier of British Columbia from 1975 to 86 CANADA, 1989 mink noun 1 a female friend or lover US, 1899. 2 a female whose romantic interest in a man is overshadowed by her interest in his financial worth US, 1960

minky noun the vagina UK, 2001

Min Min light; Min Min; min min noun a will-o'-the-wisp. Probably from an Australian Aboriginal language AUSTRALIA, 1956

Minnesota mule noun a prostitute recently arrived in New York City from a small town or city US, 1987

Minnesota strip nickname an area in New York City frequented by prostitutes US, 1986 minnie noun a homosexual man. An example of CAMP trans-gender identification UK, 2002

Minnie noun in lowball or low poker, the lowest possible hand. A personification of 'minimum' US, 1967 minnie verb to mince UK, 2002

Minnie Mouse noun of a woman, the pubic hair. Named after a cartoon character UK, 2003 minnow noun a poker player who joins a no-stakes game without sufficient funds US, 1978

minny noun a minimum security jail or prison; the minimum security wing of a jail or prison US, 1976

minoo adjective a 'minus' attached to a grade US, 1968 minor-league adjective mediocre, less than impressive. From the minor leagues in US professional baseball US, 1949 minors noun ► the minors in horse racing, the second and third place finishes AUSTRALIA, 1989 minors! that's not a problem! Hawaiian youth usage US, 1981 mint noun 1 a great deal of money. From the coinage of coins UK, 1655. 2 money US, 1997. 3 a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 1996 mintage noun a mint-flavoured breath freshener or hard sweet US, 1993 minted adjective 1 very rich. A play on conventional 'mint' (the place where money is made) and being 'made of money' UK, 1999. 2 excellent UK; SCOTLAND, 1988 mintie noun a lesbian who plays the aggressive or dominant role US, 1972 mintox; mont adjective excellent. Noted as being in use since the 1970s UK, 2001 mint rocks; mints; rocks noun socks. Rhyming slang; a latter day variation of ALMOND ROCKS reflecting the predominant flavour of modern seaside rock UK, 1996 mintweed; mint noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1981 minty adjective 1 less than good, filthy, bad UK, 2002. 2 fashionable, stylish CANADA, 2002. 3 homosexual, effeminate US, 1965. 4 excellent US, 1987 miracle noun in the language surrounding the Grateful Dead, an extra ticket for that night's show US, 1994 miracle meat noun a penis that is almost as large flaccid as erect US, 1970

Miracle Mile nickname a stretch of Wilshire Boulevard, a main artery in Los Angeles, California. A nickname coined by an estate agent but then accepted in the vernacular US, 1987

Miracle of the Doughnuts noun an apparition of the image of Christ which occurred in September 1998 at a doughnut shop in Cape Breton CANADA, 2001 miracle rice noun IR8, a high-yielding variety of rice introduced in Vietnam in the 1960s, doubling rice production yields US, 1985 miraculous adjective extremely drunk UK; SCOTLAND, 1873

Miranda noun a warning read or recited to criminal suspects before an interrogation, informing them of their constitutional rights in the situation. From a 1966 decision of the US Supreme Court US, 1966 mirror noun a military sentry's enemy counterpart US, 1992 mirror man; mirror noun a person with decision-making authority who avoids making decisions. From the stock answer of 'I'll look into it' AUSTRALIA, 1987 misbehave verb to shave. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 mischief noun ► do you a mischief to cause you trouble or harm UK, 1385 mischievous adjective mischievous. A frequent solecism in both speech and writing UK, 1937 misdee noun a misdemeanour or minor crime US, 1992 miserable adjective miserly; stingy AUSTRALIA, 1903 misery noun low quality coffee US, 1949. ► the misery the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. Euphemism US, 1999 misery fiddle noun (among Canadian loggers) a cross-cut saw CANADA, 1995 misery guts noun a habitually miserable or complaining person AUSTRALIA, 1981 misery lights noun the coloured lights on the top of a police car US, 1992 misery machine noun a motorcycle US, 1962 misery parade noun alcoholics pacing on the pavement waiting for an off-licence or bar to open in the morning US, 1998 misfeature noun in computing, a feature of a program that was carefully planned but that produces undesirable consequences in a given situation US, 1983 misfire noun an instance of sexual impotence or premature ejaculation US, 1981 mish noun the missionary position for sexual intercourse – man on top of prone woman US, 1995 mishegoss noun nonsense; craziness US, 1969

miss noun ► give something a miss; give it a miss to avoid doing something UK, 1919

miss verb to inject a drug intravenously. Humorous use of an antonym, 1998. ► miss a trick to fail to take advantage of a situation UK, 1943. ► miss out on to lose an opportunity, to fail to achieve something US, 1929. ► miss the boat to lose an opportunity, to be late for something. Originally nautical UK, 1929. ► miss the bus to lose an opportunity UK, 1915. ► miss the pink and pot the brown to engage in heterosexual anal intercourse. A snooker metaphor playing on 'pink' (the open vagina) and 'brown' (the anus) UK, 1997

Miss Ann; Missy Ann noun the prototype of the white southern woman US, 1925

Miss Carrie noun a small supply of drugs carried on the person of a drug addict. Carried to get the addict through a short incarceration in the event of an arrest US, 1973 misses noun dice that have been weighted, either to throw a seven less (for the opening roll in craps) or more (for subsequent rolls) than normal US, 1962

Miss Green noun marijuana US, 1952 missing noun a report of a missing person US, 1985 missing link noun zinc. Rhyming slang, used by scrap-dealers in Glasgow UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 missing you already used as a farewell. A popular catchphrase; alas the sincerity of the sentiment is often undermined by sarcasm UK, 2000 mission noun 1 a search to buy crack cocaine. Another Star Trek metaphor US, 1992. 2 an assignment given to a youth gang member US, 1995 mission bum; mission stiff noun a tramp who frequents the dining rooms and sleeping quarters offered to the desitute by religious missions US, 1924

Mississippi flush noun in poker, any hand and a revolver US, 1999

Mississippi marbles noun dice US, 1920

Mississippi mudflap noun a hairstyle: the hair is worn short at the front and long at the back. Best known as a MULLET US, 2001

Mississippi saxophone noun a harmonica, a mouth organ US, 1996

Miss It noun used as a term of address to a person with excessive self esteem US, 1968

Miss Muggins noun a notional seller of out-of-fashion clothing BARBADOS, 1965

Missouri marbles noun dice US, 1962

Missouri pass noun in the US, pulling off a road onto the hard shoulder to pass a vehicle on the right US, 1999

Missouri stop noun a rolling stop at a traffic signal or stop sign US, 1999

Miss Palmer and her five daughters noun masturbation BAHAMAS, 1971

Miss Piggy noun 1 a fat, aggressive, loud homosexual man. An allusion to a main character on the Muppets children's television programme US, 1980. 2 a cigarette. Rhyming slang for CIGGY UK, 1998

Miss Priss noun used as a friendly female-to-female term of address US, 1996

Miss Thing noun used as a term of address for someone (female or homosexual male) with excessive self-esteem US, 1957 missus noun 1 a wife. A phonetic rendering of 'Mrs'; ultimately from 'mistress'. Always modified as either 'the missus', or 'my', 'your', 'his missus' UK, 1833. 2 the 'woman of the house' on a country property. Counterpart of the masculine BOSS UK, 1836. 3 lady; madam. Used as a term of address to an unknown woman UK, 1861 mist noun 1 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1977. 2 the smoke produced when crack cocaine is smoked US, 1994 mista noun mister. A deliberate misspelling UK, 1997 mister noun 1 the male manager of a homosexual brothel US, 1966. 2 a steady boyfriend or common-law husband TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1945

Mister; Mr noun a stereotype of the adjective that follows US, 1940

Mister B; Mr B nickname Billy Eckstine (1914–93), jazz vocalist US, 1948

Mister B-52; Mr B-52 nickname Lt Colonel John Paul Vann (1934–72), killed in a helicopter crash in Vietnam US, 1988

Mister Big; Mr Big noun the head of an organisation, especially a criminal enterprise US, 1940

Mister Bitchy; Mr Bitchy noun a Mitsubishi car US, 1992

Mister Brown; Mr Brown noun the passive male in homosexual anal sex US, 1950

Mister Busy; Mr Busy noun in prison, any officer with an antagonistic attitude toward the prisoners UK, 1996

Mister C; Mr C nickname Perry Como (b.1912), US singer US, 1982

Mister Charles; Mr Charles noun a white man US, 1970

Mister Charlie; Mr Charlie noun used as a stereotypical representation of white authority over black people. A piece of slang used as a gesture of resistance by US black people US, 1928

Mister Chatsby; Mr Chatsby noun a non-existent member of a circus administration used to fob off unwelcome visitors. Possibly an elaboration of CHAT (a thing) UK, 1953

Mister Clean; Mr Clean; Miss Clean noun a person in the public-eye who maintains an image that is beyond reproach US, 1974

Mister Dictionary has deserted us yet again used as a humorous comment on profanity US, 1994

Mister Fixit; Mr Fixit noun used as an informal title for someone who is able to 'fix' things, whether from a technical knowledge or political influence. 'Mr' may be replaced with another title as appropriate UK, 1984

Mister Floppy; Mr Floppy noun the penis that has become flaccid when an erection is to be preferred UK, 2003

Mister Foot; Mr Foot noun the penis. An imperial measure of bragging UK, 2001

Mister Geezer; Mr Geezer noun the penis. Both parts of this combination indicate 'a man' US, 2001

Mister Green; Mr Green noun money US, 1973

Mister Happy; Mr Happy noun 1 the penis. Adopted from the character created by UK cartoonist Roger Hargreaves (1935–88) for his Mr Men children's books US, 1984. 2 a nappy. Glasgow rhyming slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

Mister Hawkins; Mr Hawkins noun a cold winter wind. An embellishment and personification of HAWK US, 1970

Mister Hyde; Mr Hyde noun an untrustworthy person. Rhyming slang for SNIDE, informed by rhyming slang JEKYLL AND HYDE (two-faced) and the character of Mr Hyde in Robert Louis Stevenson's The Strange Case of Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde UK, 1992

Mister Jones; Mr Jones noun used as a personification of the dominant white culture US, 1971

Mister Lovely; Mr Lovely noun marijuana UK, 2003

Mister Man; Mr Man noun used as a disparaging term of address TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1940

Mister Matey; Mr Matey noun the penis. A pet name; possibly a reference to Matey™, a brand name bubble bath for children, marketed in a phallic-shaped character-bottle that is suited to playing games in the bath UK, 2001

Mister Miggles; Mr Miggles noun heroin NEW ZEALAND, 1997

Mister Money; Mr Money noun a Jewish person US, 1980

Mister Nasty; Mr Nasty noun the penis US, 2001

Mister Nice; Mr Nice noun one of the most powerful hybrid-strains of marijuana. Named in honour of Howard Marks, a campaigner for the legalisation of cannabis. 'Mr Nice' was one of forty-three aliases Marks used in his former career as marijuana smuggler and the one by which he is publicly recognised UK, 2002

Mister Period; Mr Period noun used of a personification of the fact that a woman has missed her normal menstrual period US, 1980

Mister Sin; Mr Sin noun a police officer assigned to the vice squad US, 1980

Mister Softy; Mr Softy noun a flaccid penis US, 1995

Mister Speaker; Mr Speaker noun a handgun US, 1945

Mister Television; Mr Television nickname Milton Berle, US comedian of vaudeville, radio and television fame (1908–2002). Berle was the first superstar of US television, hosting the very popular Tuesday night Texaco Star Theater. Berle personified the early days of television; when he died in March 2002, newspaper headlines across the US proclaimed that 'Mr Television' had died US, 1949

Mister TFX; Mr TFX nickname Albert W. Blackburn, a special assistant to Secretary of the Defense Robert McNamara in the early 1960s and an advocate of the controversial TFX (Tactical Fighter, Experimental) US, 1967

Mister Thirty; Mr Thirty noun a tiger. During the Vietnam war, tigers were occasionally seen near the end of the lunar month when there was less light at night US, 1991

Mister Truman's War noun the Korean war. A Republican party coining US, 1964

Mister Twenty-six; Mr Twenty-six noun a hypodermic needle US, 1973

Mister Winky; Mr Winky noun the penis. Especially in the phrase 'giving Mr Winky an oral report' (oral sex) US, 2007

Mister Wood; Mr Wood noun a police truncheon. From the crime-fighting technology employed at the time UK, 1998

Mister Wood in the house; Mr Wood in the house used to describe a poorly attended circus performance. It is easier to see the wooden benches than the audience that should be sitting on them UK, 1953

Mister Zippo; Mr Zippo noun the operator of a flame thrower. Vietnam war slang based on the Zippo™ manufacturing company's many cigarette lighters US, 1991 mistie; misty noun a tablet of morphine sulphate. Probably because the sensation described by users is 'misty' NEW ZEALAND, 2002

Mitcham Gypsy noun a person who wishes, or pretends, to be a gypsy. Mitcham in Surrey is a town where a number of travelling families have taken residence in houses UK, 2000 mites and lice noun in poker, a hand with a pair of threes and a pair of twos US, 1967 mitsubishi; mitsi noun a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. From the Mitsubishi car manufacturer's logo embossed on the tablet UK, 2001

Mitsubishi Turbo noun a tablet of PMA, a synthetic hallucinogen, etched with the Japanese car manufacturer's logo UK, 2001

mitt noun 1 the hand US, 1893. 2 in poker or other card games, a hand of cards US, 1896

mitt verb to grab, to seize US, 1915 mitt camp noun a fortune-telling booth in a carnival US, 1980 mitten money noun extra money, either in the form of a tip or a bribe. From the practice of sea-going pilots charging an extra fee for winter work US, 1975

mitt man noun in gambling, a cheat who switches cards US, 1997 mitt reader noun in circus and carnival usage, a fortune teller who reads palms US, 1981

Mitzi noun a Mitsubishi car UK, 2002 mix noun kava, a tranquillity-inducing herbal beverage Fiji, 1995. ► in the mix involved with youth gang activity US, 1995 mix verb to fight US, 1895. ► mix it 1 to stir up trouble US, 1899. 2 to fight UK, 1900. ► mix your peanut butter to play the active role in anal sex US, 1971 mix and muddle noun a cuddle. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 mixed jive noun crack cocaine UK, 2003 mixed up adjective confused US, 1884 mixer noun 1 a troublemaker, a mischief-maker UK, 1938. 2 a woman who works in a bar, encouraging customers through flirtation to buy drinks, both for themselves and for her US, 1950 mix in verb to join a fight UK, 1912 mixing stick noun the gear shift of a truck US, 1967 mixmaster noun 1 a Cessna O-1 Super Skymaster aircraft, used in forward air control missions in Vietnam US, 1951. 2 a complex motorway interchange US, 1976. 3 a dance music disc jockey. With variant form 'mixmeister' US, 1995 mixo noun a bartender US, 1950 mixologist noun a bartender US, 1950 miz! that's too bad! An abbreviation of 'miserable' US, 1997 mizzi noun a type of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2000 mizzle verb to depart hurriedly UK, 1781

MJ; mj noun marijuana. From MARY JANE (marijuana) US, 1966

MLR noun in the Korean war, the main line of resistance or the front US, 1957

MMM noun an automated cash machine. An abbreviation of MAGIC MONEY MACHINE; used widely in conversation in the 1990s NEW ZEALAND, 2002

'mo noun a homosexual US, 1968 mo noun 1 a moment UK, 1896. 2 in a prison, a prisoner subject to mental observation US, 2000. 3 a moustache AUSTRALIA, 1894. 4 a month US, 1928. 5 a homosexual US, 1968

MO noun 1 a criminal's method of operating. From the Latin modus operandi US, 1954. 2 marijuana. Also without the capitals US, 1977 mo' adjective more US, 2002 moan noun a complaint or grievance, an instance of spoken complaining. Originally military, probably from the verb 'moan' (to grumble) UK, 1911 moaning Minnie noun a persistent grumbler. Formed on a girl's name but applied to moaners of either gender UK, 1962 moan-o-drama noun a romance story in a girls' magazine CANADA, 1997 mob noun 1 a group of friends US, 1939. 2 a group of people sharing some connection AUSTRALIA, 1848. 3 a gang of criminals UK, 1791. 4 a military unit UK, 1894. 5 a group of surfers AUSTRALIA, 1964. 6 a group of Aboriginal Australians; in Aboriginal English, a tribe, language group or Aboriginal community AUSTRALIA, 1828. 7 in circus and carnival usage, the men employed by the show as a group US, 1981. 8 a group of animals; a flock or herd AUSTRALIA, 1828

Mob noun ► the Mob organized crime; the Mafia US, 1969 mob verb 1 to idle, to relax with friends US, 1995. 2 to surround, yell at and assault US, 1998

MOB money over bitches US, 1998 mobbed up adjective associated with organized crime US, 1973 mobbie noun 1 a female willing to take any and all sexual partners AUSTRALIA, 1985. 2 a member of an organized crime organisation US, 1994

Mobe noun the Student Mobilization Committee Against the War in Vietnam (SMC), the most powerful and visible anti-war group in the US in the late 1960s and early 70s US, 1970 mob-handed adjective used to denote that the person specified is within a group or accompanied by a gang of people UK, 1934 mobile; moby noun a mobile phone UK, 1998 mobile noun a mobile phone UK, 2005 mobile adjective sexually attractive US, 1993 mobile parking lot noun a car transporter US, 1976 moblog; moblogging noun a diary or a miscellany of random observations, text-messages and pictures collected on a mobile phone and posted on the Internet; the act of creating, keeping or updating such a record. From 'mobile weblog' (see BLOG) UK, 2002 moboton noun a splendid example of something BARBADOS, 1965

mobs noun a great number AUSTRALIA, 1927

Moby noun a completely depilated female pubis. Named for the totally bald-headed musician Moby (Richard Melville Hall, b.1965) US, 2003 moby adjective enormous. A term brought into the world of computer programming from the model railway club at MIT US, 1965

Moby Dick noun cocaine. Refers to the GREAT WHITE WHALE in Moby Dick, the classic novel by Herman Melville (1819–91). Cocaine, thereby, is claimed to be great and white (and you can have 'a whale of a time') UK, 2001. ► on the Moby Dick; on the moby on sick leave. Rhyming slang UK, 1992

Moby Dick; moby adjective sick. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 moby grape noun an improvised mechanism for injecting drugs, consisting of a syringe with a rubber bulb from a child's dummy attached to the end. The connection between this term and the late 1960s psychedelic rock band by the same name seems obvious, yet eludes proof or explanation US, 1971 moccasin telegraph noun passing information through rumour, gossip or the Internet. The original meaning referred to the use of Indian people as runners to carry messages; it has been adapted to the Internet world US, 1908 mock noun clothing; attire. Origin unknown. 'Thirty-five' (author of a glossary of Australian prison slang) writing in 1950 gave the definition 'a coat' AUSTRALIA, 1953 mocked up adjective dressed up AUSTRALIA, 1938 mockers noun ► put the mockers on 1 to jinx AUSTRALIA, 1911. 2 to thwart, to frustrate someone's plans. A variation of earlier 'put the mock(s) on', which had a sense akin to 'put a jinx on someone' AUSTRALIA, 1949 mock fighting noun simulated fighting US, 1938 mockit; mawkit adjective very dirty. Originally meant 'maggoty', now applied equally to actual dirt and notional obscenity UK: SCOTLAND, 1911 mockitiness noun dirtiness. From MOCKIT (very dirty) UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

mockney noun an ersatz London accent and vocabulary; someone who affects such artificial speech and background in search of cool. A compound of 'mock' (false) and 'Cockney' (the accent and identity of anyone born 'within the sound of Bow bells' or, loosely, an East Ender) UK, 1989 mock out verb to imitate US, 1960

mockstick noun a person who is the subject of mockery BARBADOS, 1965

mocky; mockie noun a Jewish person US, 1893 mockumentary noun a film or television entertainment in the style of a documentary US, 1990

mod noun 1 a member of the 1960s youth cult that is characterised by its detailed dress sense and use of motor-scooters. Abbreviated from 'modernist'. Wittily defined in the 6th edition of The Dictionary of Slang and Unconventional English, 1967, as 'a teenager unable to afford a motorcycle, and doing his damndest with a scooter' and pedantically riposted by David Holloway, who writes in his review of the dictionary: "Mods" ride scooters because the machines protect their clothes[.]' 'Mod' survives in C21 as a convenient music genre, and as small living-history groups who dressup in period costumes, ride scooters and dance to music marketed as 'Mod' UK, 1960. 2 in computing, a modification US, 1991. 3 a percent sign (%) on a computer keyboard US, 1991

modams noun marijuana US, 1977 mod con noun a modern convenience. From estate agent jargon UK, 1934 modder noun a modifier UK, 2003

moddy boy noun a young male who embraces the fashion and style of the mods UK, 1983 mode verb to show disrespect; to exploit US, 2001 model noun a prostitute UK, 1995 model C adjective applied to teenagers in South Africa who attend private schools or mixed-race public schools SOUTH AFRICA, 2003 model D noun a black student who attends, or attended, a government school in a township. Scamto youth street slang (South African townships) SOUTH AFRICA, 2005 modified adjective used of a car that has been in an accident UK, 1981 modplod noun a member of the military police. Combines the acronym MOD (the Ministry of Defence) with 'plod' (the police) UK, 1987

mods and rockers; mods noun the female breasts. Rhyming slang for KNOCKERS, formed from two youth gangs who battled their way into 1960s folklore UK, 1992 mod squad noun any group of black and white people. An allusion to a US television series (1968–73) that featured three hipper-than-hip juvenile delinquents turned police – Julie, Linc and Pete, one black, one white and one blonde US, 1971 modulate; modjitate verb to talk on a citizens' band radio. Adopted from technical jargon US, 1975

moer as an expletive, used as an expression of rage or disgust; used as an obscene and abusive form of address; in intensifying phrases, 'the moer', 'moer of a', 'moer and gone', etc, a synonym of hell. From Afrikaans for 'mother' (of animals) or 'womb' SOUTH AFRICA, 1946 moer; moera verb to thrash, to beat-up. Not in polite use SOUTH AFRICA, 1960

mofa noun marijuana US, 2001 moff noun a hermaphroditic animal AUSTRALIA, 1953

moffie; mophy noun a homosexual male; a male transvestite. Deriving, probably, from 'hermaphrodite', but other etymological theories are interesting; moffrodite (a castrated Italian opera singer); Dutch mof (an article of clothing); English 'mauve' (as a variant of lavender, a colour associated with homosexuality). The word 'moffie' or 'mophy' first appears in South African sea slang in 1929 as 'a delicate, well-groomed young man' SOUTH AFRICA, 1929 moffiedom noun homosexual society. From MOFFIE (a homosexual) SOUTH AFRICA, 1977

mofo noun motherfucker US, 1965

mog noun a cat. A docking of MOGGY UK, 1927 mo-gas noun gasoline fuel used for ground vehicles. Vietnam war usage US, 1977

moggie noun Mogodon™, a brand name tranquilizer UK, 1998

moggy; moggie noun a cat UK, 1911 mogue verb to deceive, to fool UK, 1854. ► and no mogue? used to imply a slight incredulity, 'That's true?'. From 'mogue' (to deceive); since late C19 a tailors' catchphrase that slipped into polaris UK, 2002 mohasky noun marijuana. Variants include 'mohaska', 'mohasty' and 'mohansky' US, 1938 moired adjective drunk. Probably from conventional 'moiréd' (of materials such as silk, 'watered'), thus 'well watered' UK, 2002 mojo noun 1 a spell, magic US, 1926. 2 sexuality, libido, sexual attraction. The song 'Got My Mojo Working' was sung on stage by Ann Cole in 1956 – the lyric continues: 'but it just won't work on you'. In 1971, The Doors released a song entitled 'Mr Mojo Risin'; the title serves as an anagram for the singer Jim Morrison and as an advertisement for his dangerous sexuality. This meaning, however, was not widely appreciated before the second Austin Powers film opened in 1999, but it caught on quickly thereafter US, 1999. 3 hard drugs, especially powdered drugs: cocaine, heroin, morphine. From the sense 'a kind of magic'; first recorded in this sense as is 'morphine' US, 1935. 4 an early version of the fax machine. Very slow, very cumbersome, but for its day a great advance, almost 'magical', hence the term. Popularised by Hunter S. Thompson's writings US, 1990 mojo juice noun liquid dolophine, a drug commonly known as methadone, used for the rehabilitation of heroin addicts US, 1987 moke noun 1 a fool. From the conventional sense (a donkey) UK, 1855. 2 a horse AUSTRALIA, 1863

moko longer than plantain used for signalling to a woman that her slip is showing TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

molasses noun used as a euphemism for 'shit' UK, 1994

mole noun 1 a promiscuous woman. Commonly used as a term of disparagement implying promiscuity. Merely a respelling of MOLL in the same sense, representing the usual Australian pronunciation AUSTRALIA, 1965. 2 in electric line work, a lineman or cable-splicer who works underground US, 1980

mole hole noun the underground barracks where air attack alert crews live US, 1963 moll noun 1 an unmarried female companion of a criminal UK, 1823. 2 a promiscuous woman. Commonly used as a term of contempt, especially amongst teenagers, implying promiscuity. Commonly pronounced to rhyme with 'pole' AUSTRALIA, 1972. 3 a prostitute. Now obsolete in Britain but survives in Australia UK, 1604. ► like a moll at a christening uncomfortably out of place AUSTRALIA, 1945

moll buzz noun a female pickpocket US, 1949 moll-buzzer noun a thief who specialises in snatching handbags from women with children in prams or pushchairs US, 1859 molly noun 1 an effeminate male homosexual UK, 1709. 2 any central nervous system stimulant US, 1979. 3 MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003

molly-booby noun a foolish person BARBADOS, 1965

mollycoddle noun an effeminate man, especially an effeminate homosexual man UK, 1833 molly-dooker noun a left-handed person AUSTRALIA, 1934

Molly Hogan noun in logging, a wire strand, cut from cable, used as a cotter pin CANADA, 1989

Molly Hogan deal noun a deal with a catch, something wrong CANADA, 1966

Molly Maguires adjective tired. Rhyming slang, formed, probably, from the title of the 1970 film The Molly Maguires rather than the C19 originals UK, 1998

Molly Malone; molly noun a telephone. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the tragic heroine of the traditional ballad, 'Cockles and Mussels' UK, 1971

Molly O'Morgan noun an organ (in any sense). Rhyming slang, originally for 'a barrel organ' UK, 1961 molly the monk adjective drunk. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1966 molo adjective drunk. Origin unknown AUSTRALIA, 1906

Molsonland nickname Canada CANADA, 2002

Molson muscle noun the rounded belly of the habitual beer drinker. Molson is one of the two largest breweries in Canada CANADA, 2001 mom noun the 'feminine' or 'passive' member of a lesbian relationship US, 1957 mom-and-pop adjective small-time, small-scale. From the image of a small grocery store owned and operated by a husband and wife US, 1943 momgram noun the postcard that many US Marine recruits sent home upon arriving at basic training in Parris Island, South Carolina US, 1991 momma-hopper noun used as a euphemism for 'motherfucker' US, 1977 mommy-o noun used as a term of address for a woman. Far rarer than DADDY-O US, 1955 momo noun 1 a motor; a car. Childish, reduplication of first syllable UK, 1982. 2 an idiot US, 1960 momo boy noun a member of the Mongrel Mob gang NEW ZEALAND, 1977 moms noun a mother US, 1965 momzer; momser noun a bastard; a brute; a detestable man. From the Hebrew for 'bastard' US, 1947

Mon nickname the Monongahela River US, 1982

Mona Lisa noun 1 a pizza. Rhyming slang, formed from the English name of the famous portrait by Leonardo da Vinci UK, 1998. 2 a freezer. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 monarch noun in a deck of playing cards, a king US, 1988

Monday morning quarterback noun 1 in American football, a fan who from the distance of the day after a game knows exactly what should have been done US, 1967. 2 a self-styled expert who from the safety of distance knows exactly what should have been done in a given situation in which he was not a participant US, 1950

Monday pill noun the large, orange anti-malarial pill (chloroquine-primaquine) taken once a week by US troops in Vietnam US, 1990 mondo adjective large US, 1982

mondo adverb very US, 1968 money noun 1 someone who is attractive, nice and generally a good catch. Popularised as a catchphrase by the film Swingers US, 1997. 2 a close friend or trusted colleague US, 1992. 3 in prison, anything of value in trade US, 1976. ► have money to burn to be rich, to have plenty to spend US, 1896. ► in the money 1 wealthy, especially if exceptionally so; comfortably off UK, 1902. 2 in horse racing, finishing first, second or third in a race US, 1964. ► it's only money said to yourself or another, as encouragement to spend or consolation, when faced with an unwanted or unexpected expense UK, 1984. ► money talks and bullshit walks used as a humorous suggestion that talk is cheap US, 1984. ► money to stone dogs a lot of money. Pelting anything handy at foraging stray dogs is a common habit among the poor. JAMAICA, 2001. ► put your money where your mouth is to back up your words with a wager or a payment US, 1942. ► you pays your money and you takes your choice!; you pays your money! only if you contribute to something in some manner are you entitled to hold an opinion or take advantage of that something. A catchphrase. Originally, and in its literal sense, a stallholder's cry to customers, recorded in Punch in 1846. Familiarity has shortened the phrase without amending its sense UK, 2000

moneybags noun a wealthy individual IRELAND, 1818 money ball noun in pool, a shot that if made will win a wager US, 1990 money box noun 1 a Royal Mail train UK, 1970. 2 any money that remains after the necessities of life are paid for NEW ZEALAND, 1984 money for jam noun easily obtained or earned money AUSTRALIA, 1960 money for old rope noun money easily earned, hence anything gained by little or no effort UK, 1936 money from home noun any money won easily, betting US, 1951 money-getter noun the vagina US, 1973 money-grabber noun in motor racing, a driver who enters an event and competes only long enough to claim the fee for appearing and then quits the race US, 1993 money in the bank and cattle in the hills noun independently wealthy US, 1954 money machine noun a generous person US, 1997 moneymaker noun 1 the genitals; the buttocks UK, 1896. 2 a success US, 1899. 3 a low-priced, reliable truck US, 1971 money player noun an athlete who performs well in critical situations US, 1922 moneypuker noun an automatic cash machine CANADA, 1993 money rider noun in horse racing, a winning jockey US, 1951 money row noun a type of bet in an illegal numbers game lottery US, 1957 money shot noun a scene in a pornographic film or photograph of a man ejaculating outside his partner. Perhaps because it is the one shot that justifies the cost of the scene US, 1977 money-spinner noun anything that makes easy profits UK, 1952 money talks those who have money have power US, 1905

Monfort lane noun the passing lane on a motorway US, 1977 mong noun 1 a fool; used as an all-purpose insult. Abbreviated from the offensive usage of 'mongoloid' (affected with Down's syndrome) UK, 1996. 2 a dog of mixed breed. Shortening of 'mongrel' AUSTRALIA, 1903 mong; mong out verb (of drugs) to intoxicate; to become intoxicated. Derives from the conventional sense of 'mongol' (a person affected by Down's syndrome, also meaning 'a stupid person') UK, 1996 monged adjective 1 drunk UK, 2002. 2 being fatigued after drug use UK, 2002 monged-out; monged adjective intoxicated with MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy, or, occasionally, another drug. Derives from the conventional sense of 'mongol' (a person affected by Down's syndrome, also meaning 'a stupid person') UK, 2000 mongee noun a good student who is socially inept. School usage US, 1961 mongie noun a member of the Mongrel Mob gang NEW ZEALAND, 1982 mongie adjective 1 dirty, fusty, evil smelling; nasty. Reported in use amongst Leicestershire children during the 1970s. Presumably expanding the insulting use derived from 'mongoloid' UK, 1984.

2 dull, stupid. From 'mongoloid'. Teen slang UK, 1984 mongish adjective dull, stupid. From 'mongoloid' UK, 1980 mongo noun 1 an idiot. Abbreviated from the offensive usage of 'mongoloid' (affected with Down's syndrome); probably used without thinking US, 1975. 2 the vagina US, 1998. 3 a member of the Mongrel Mob gang NEW ZEALAND, 1977

mongo adjective very large US, 1985 mongo adverb in foot-propelled scootering, with the wrong foot. From MONGO (an idiot) UK, 2000 mongo-footed adjective in foot-propelled scootering, used of someone who pushes with the wrong foot. From MONGO (an idiot) UK, 2000

Mongolian clusterfuck noun an orgy US, 1986 mongrel noun a contemptible person. Without any suggestion of mixed breeding AUSTRALIA, 1902 mongrel adjective displeasurable; unsatisfying; annoying. Used as a negative intensifier AUSTRALIA, 1967 mongy adjective stupid. From MONG, ultimately 'mongoloid' UK, 1998 moniker; monicker noun 1 a nickname or sobriquet UK, 1851. 2 a signature. Extended from the sense as 'a person's name' UK, 1851. 3 the mark that identifies dice as being from a given casino or gambling house US, 1950 moniker file noun a list of street names or aliases maintained by the police US, 1981

monjaree verb ▷ see: MUNGAREE monk noun a monkey US, 1841. ► have a monk on to be angry UK, 1995. ► out the monk completely drunk NEW ZEALAND, 1964 monkey noun 1 an addiction, especially to heroin or another drug US, 1949. 2 five hundred pounds sterling; five hundred US dollars; five hundred Australian dollars UK, 1832. 3 fifty pounds sterling. A prison variation; the reduction in value from the outside world's 500-unit is an economic reality UK, 1950. 4 500 shares at £100 each, £50,000 (fifty thousand pounds worth of stock) UK, 1984. 5 a naughty rascal; generally said of someone younger UK, 1604. 6 in circus and carnival usage, a gullible customer who has been swindled US, 1922. 7 a carnival worker who climbs to assemble rides US, 1966. 8 a press photographer. Journalists' slang, allegedly from the ungainly gait a press photographer adopts to manage all his equipment; a less disingenuous possibility derives the term from the organ grinder and his monkey UK, 2004. 9 a gambler who complains to the police about an illegal gambling operation after losing US, 1950. 10 a band leader. A reference to the tuxedo, or MONKEY SUIT, worn by many band leaders US, 1942. 11 a poor poker player US, 1988. 12 in motorcycle racing, the passenger in a sidecar who works in tandem with the driver US, 1973. 13 your boyfriend's or girlfriend's 'other' person US, 1989. 14 a white person US, 1992. 15 the vagina US, 1888. 16 the penis. As in phrases SPANK THE MONKEY (to masturbate) and MARINATE THE MONKEY (to perform oral sex) US, 1989. 17 a two-wheeled trailer designed to carry extra long loads UK, 1951. 18 in horse racing, a $100 bet US, 1951. 19 nonsense US, 1997. 20 in card games, a face card US, 1985. ► see: MONKEY ON YOUR BACK. ► marinate the monkey to perform oral sex US, 2001. ► monkey has a nosebleed experiencing the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. From MONKEY (the vagina) US, 2001. ► put it where the monkey put the nuts!; shove them where the monkey shoved his nuts!; stick it where the monkey stuck his nuts! used as an angry expression of dismissal or refusal. Anatomically: 'in the anus'; figuratively: UP YOUR ASS/ARSE! UK, 1879 monkey verb to fiddle, to tamper, to fool around with US, 1876 monkey around; monkey about verb to behave foolishly, to waste time US, 1884 monkey bath noun a very hot bath. So hot that when lowering yourself into the water an involuntary (monkey-like?) cry of 'Ooh! Ooh! Aah! Aah!' is emitted NEW ZEALAND, 2002 monkey bite noun 1 a bruise on the skin produced by extended sucking US, 1942. 2 a painful pinch US, 1997 monkey boots noun a heavy work shoe embraced as a fashion statement by punks and post-punks US, 1997 monkey box noun the vagina. Either a combination of MONKEY (the vagina) and BOX (the vagina) or MONKEY (the penis) and BOX (the vagina) US, 1998 monkey business noun mischief; foolishness. The term is powerfully etched in American culture because of revelations in 1987 that Gary Hart, then a married US Senator campaigning for the presidential nomination, had taken an overnight cruise to Bimini with a stunningly attractive woman, Donna Rice, on the aptly named yacht 'Monkey Business'. Hart withdrew from the race under attack as an adulterer US, 1883 monkey cage; monkey house; monkey hut; monkey wagon noun a brakevan (caboose) US, 1977 monkey dick noun a link sausage US, 1965 monkey drill; monkey pump noun a hypodermic needle and syringe US, 1986 monkey dust noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1987 monkey flush noun in poker, three cards of the same suit, unpaired and without value US, 1963 monkey-full adjective drunk UK, 2002 monkey house noun a brothel US, 1949 monkey maze noun a confusing, complicated traffic interchange US, 1962 monkey meat noun in Nova Scotia, the small white edible pods or nuts at the base of the fiddlehead fern CANADA, 1999 monkey money noun 1 an excessive price to pay; silly money. Acquired an earlier US usage, now obsolete, as 'foreign money' UK, 1999. 2 the salary paid to film extras in US films shot in Canada CANADA, 2002. 3 on the railways, a pass to ride for free US, 1977 monkey motion noun in hot rodding and drag racing, unwanted movement in any mechanical device US, 1965 monkey-on-a-stick adjective a style of horse racing using short stirrups. Popularised by jockey Ted Sloan (1874–1933), whose abnormally short legs made the style – widely used today – a necessary innovation. Also applied in the UK to the riding position adopted on early motorcycles US, 1949 monkey on your back; monkey noun 1 an addiction to drugs, especially heroin. A tenacious monkey is hard to shake off US, 1959. 2 in sports, the inability to beat a certain opponent. Used in many sports, but probably most commonly in tennis US, 1988 monkey pants noun a difficult situation TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1950

monkey-parade noun an informal but regular event, in some public place, in which (generally) young people, intent on meeting and flirting with the opposite sex, stroll in couples and groups of friends to advertise themselves to others similarly engaged. Recorded in London around the beginning of C20 UK, 1914 monkey rum noun illegally manufactured alcohol coloured by molasses US, 1985 monkey's; monkey's fuck noun a notional article of no value. Used in the phrase '(not) give a monkey's fuck', an elaboration of (not) GIVE A FUCK; generally reduced to '(not) give a monkey's' UK, 1960 monkey see monkey do! a catchphrase warning against imitating an action, or of doing something that may be imitated; used teasingly of someone who copies an action; applied to an action that is performed by imitation but without understanding US, 1977

monkey's fist noun a knot tied on the end of a heaving line US, 1975

monkeyshines noun foolish antics, embarrassing behaviour US, 1828

monkey's nuts noun cigarette butts. Rhyming slang in current use by prison inmates; a possible play on DOG END (a cigarette butt) via DOG'S BOLLOCKS (the best) UK, 2001

monkeyspunk noun nonsense UK, 2004 monkey's tail noun a nail (for hammering). Rhyming slang UK, 1934 monkey strap noun a lifeline that secures a helicopter gunner to the helicopter AUSTRALIA, 1945 monkey suit noun 1 a formal evening dress suit; a tuxedo US, 1895. 2 any uniform worn by a railway employee on a passenger train US, 1901 monkey's uncle noun used in non-profaned oaths to register surprise US, 1926 monkey wagon noun ▶ see: MONKEY CAGE

Monkey Ward nickname Montgomery Ward, a department store chain. A play on the sound US, 1912 monkey wrench verb to repair (a car or truck engine) US, 1961 monk-on noun a gloomy, introspective mood ANTARCTICA, 2003 mono noun 1 mononucleosis glandular fever US, 1964. 2 a black and white television set; a monophonic sound reproduction system. An abbreviation of 'monochrome'; 'monaural' or 'monophonic'; a term only needed, outside of its jargon application, until colour television and stereo sound were widely available UK, 1970

monobrow noun two eyebrows joined by hair growth above the nose AUSTRALIA, 1990 monolithic adjective extremely drug-intoxicated US, 1971 mono-rump noun the buttocks formed into a single mass by a garment US, 1974 monsoon bucket noun a helicopter-borne water container used for aerial bombardment of forest fires CANADA, 1997 monsta adjective formidable; excellent. A deliberate misspelling of MONSTER (excellent) US, 1999 monster noun 1 something that is extremely and unusually large UK, 1759. 2 a formidable piece of equipment US, 1955. 3 an immense wave, surfed by a special and small class of surfers US, 1987. 4 a string of multiple Claymore mines arranged to detonate sequentially US, 1991. 5 in poker, a great hand or large amount of money bet US, 1982. 6 any powerful drug; cocaine US, 1975. 7 used as a term of endearment. Teen slang US, 1954. 8 an extremely unattractive woman who is seen as a sex object, especially one who is ravaged by age UK, 2002. 9 a sex offender, a convicted paedophile. Prison usage UK, 1996 monster verb 1 to make a verbal attack on someone or something; to put pressure on AUSTRALIA, 1967. 2 to harass, threaten or victimise someone AUSTRALIA, 1967 monster adjective 1 large, formidable, impressive US, 1975. 2 excellent. Originally black usage US, 1953 monstered adjective drunk UK, 2003 monstering noun 1 a severe telling-off. From MONSTER (to attack verbally), 1998. 2 a sudden swoop by paparazzi photographers on their subject UK, 2004 monster lane noun in the US, the lane used for overtaking; in the UK, the slow lane US, 1976 monster munch noun the vagina. Derives, probably, from Monster Munch™, a branded savoury snack food UK, 2001 monster net noun during the Vietnam war, the secure radio network connecting radios in the field and headquarters US, 1990 monster shot noun in pornography, a close-up shot of genitals US, 1970 monster truck noun a pickup truck with oversized wheels and tyres (large enough to drive over and crush a standard passenger car) and an enhanced engine and transmission. Only in America US, 1984

Montana maiden noun a ewe. Sheep will be sheep and men will be men. Collected from a former resident of Iowa, March 2001 US, 2001 monte noun 1 a potent marijuana from Mexico; marijuana from South America; marijuana. From the Spanish for 'bush' - BUSH (marijuana) - or clipping of MONTEZUMA GOLD US, 1980. 2 the three card trick, also known as three card monte UK, 1977 ▶ see: FULL MONTY

Monte nickname Monte Carlo UK, 1959

Monte Cairo noun a social security/benefits cheque. Rhyming slang for GIRO UK, 2000

Montezuma gold noun potent marijuana cultivated in Mexico. From Montezuma II (1466–1520), the ninth Aztec emperor of Mexico US, 1978 montezumas noun bloomers (capacious underpants for women). Rhyming slang UK, 1992

Montezuma's revenge noun diarrhoea suffered by tourists in Mexico. Montezuma II (1466–1520), the ninth Aztec emperor of Mexico, famously died as a result of his confrontation with Spanish invaders. Former US President Ronald Reagan in 1981 exhibited what commentator David Brinkley referred to as 'excruciatingly bad taste' by telling a joke about Montezuma's revenge at a state dinner in Mexico City US, 1960 month in Congress noun a period served in solitary confinement US, 1976 monthlies noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle UK, 1872 monthly bill noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1989 monthly blues noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1954 monthly evacuations noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1999 monthly monster noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 2000 monthly return noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1999 monthly turns noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1999 monthly visitor noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 2001 month of Sundays noun a long time, with time passing slowly US, 1986 montrel noun a watch. From obsolete 'montra' (a watch) UK, 2002 monty noun 1 everything required within a given context. An abbreviation of the FULL MONTY UK, 2000. 2 a certainty AUSTRALIA, 1894 mo noun 1 an unpleasant or contemptible woman. A variation of COW. With the descriptor 'silly' the sense is often softened (foolish woman), or even made affectionate. Widely associated with mid-1960s BBC television bigot, the comic creation Alf Garnett, played by Warren Mitchell UK, 1967. 2 a silly person AUSTRALIA, 1970. 3 money US, 1941

mooch noun 1 a person who gives his money to swindlers, a dupe US, 1927. 2 in the car sales business, a customer who thinks that with arithmetic skills, a calculator and his sharp mind he can outsmart the salesman US, 1975. ▶ on the mooch alert for any chance to beg or borrow UK, 1864. ▶ the mooch idling, scrounging, skulking UK, 1859 mooch verb 1 to wander without purpose; to loiter UK, 1851. 2 to beg from friends, to sponge UK, 1857 moocher noun a beggar; one who sponges off others, a freeloader US, 1851 mooching noun in British Columbia, very simple, inexpensive fishing CANADA, 1960 moo-cow noun a cow. Childish UK, 1812 mood noun ▶ in the mood desiring sex. A euphemistic colloquialism UK, 1984 moodies noun faked tablets of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. By ellipsis from MOODY (fake) and E (ecstasy tablets) UK, 1996 moody verb 1 to sulk or be bad-tempered UK, 1962. 2 to put into good humour by means of ingratiating talk, to wheedle, flatter or humour UK, 1934 moody adjective simulated, faked UK, 1958 moody; old moody noun 1 a fit of sulking. May be preceded by either 'the' or 'a', often in forms such as: 'pull a/the moody' and 'throw a/the moody' UK, 1969. 2 lies, deceit, especially deceit by flattery, a confidence trick (see, especially, the 1977 citation) UK, 1934. 3 a period of (extreme) moodiness UK, 1968. 4 in prison, a psychiatrist's man-to-man, or even genial, approach to a prisoner.

Usually with 'the' UK, 1945. ► do a moody to behave suspiciously. Prison use UK, 1978

Moody and Sankey; moody noun deception, trickery. Rhyming slang for HANKY PANKY, formed on US evangelists Dwight Lyman Moody and Ira D. Sankey, jointly known (and vilified) as Moody and Sankey, who brought their message to the UK in the mid-1870s. This term may well have evolved separately or be bound up with MOODY; OLD MOODY (lies, deception) UK, 1961 mooney; moey; moose noun the mouth. From Romany mooi (mouth, face) UK, 1859 mooi adjective pretty, pleasant, fine, nice. From Afrikaans mooi (pretty) SOUTH AFRICA, 1850

moo juice noun milk US, 1942 mook noun an incompetent person who is to be more pitied than despised US, 1930 mooksey adjective dim-witted, stupid-looking TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1993

moola; moolah; mullah noun money US, 1939 moo-moo maker noun in Nova Scotia, a livestock caller CANADA, 1962 moon noun 1 used as a quaint, indefinite measure of time US, 1988. 2 a month's imprisonment UK, 1830. 3 a smooth, convex wheel cover US, 1980. 4 a flat, circular piece of hashish US, 1972. 5 illegally manufactured alcoholic drink. An abbreviation of MOONSHINE US, 1928. ► over the moon extremely pleased, delighted UK, 1974. ► the moon the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. Euphemism US, 1999 moon verb 1 to flash your exposed buttocks at someone. From the venerable sense as 'the buttocks' US, 1963. 2 to experience the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. Emphasises the monthly rhythm of the menstrual cycle US, 2000. 3 to idle, especially to move listlessly. Generally combined with 'about', 'along', or 'around' UK, 1848. 4 in a split-pot game of poker, to declare or win both high and low. An abbreviation of 'shoot the moon' US, 1988 moonbeam noun a flashlight US, 1991 mooneas noun in the Canadian West, a newcomer, a greenhorn. The word comes from Cree, where it originally meant 'a white man' CANADA, 1966 moonie noun 1 a deliberately provocative display of a person's naked buttocks. From the verb MOON, 2000. 2 any blind, unthinking, unquestioning follower of a philosophy or person. An extension of the early 1970s labelling of followers of the Reverend Sun Myung Moon US, 1991. ► pull a moonie to deliberately display naked buttocks. From MOONIE (a provocative display of naked buttocks); logically you would 'make a moonie', however, among older children and young teenagers in South Wales in 2003, 'pull a moonie' appears to be the predominant form UK, 2003 moonlight noun a discreet and hurried departure to avoid debts, especially of such an absconding made at night. A shortening of MOONLIGHT FLIT UK, 1958 moonlight verb to work a second job, especially at night US, 1957 moonlight express noun trucking by an independent, illegal and inexpensive operation US, 1971 moonlight flit noun a discreet and hurried departure to avoid debts, especially of such an absconding made at night UK, 1824 moonlight flits; moonlights noun the female breasts. Rhyming slang for TIT(S) UK, 1998 moonlight freight noun freight hauled illegally US, 1963 moonlight requisition noun the notional procedure attached to stolen materials US, 1946 moon rock noun the combination of heroin and crack cocaine US, 1989 moon rocks noun crack cocaine. An elaboration of ROCK UK, 2003 moonshine noun 1 privately and illegally distilled alcohol UK, 1782. 2 an aircraft used for dropping magnesium-based flares to illuminate the ground at night US, 1990 moonshine 1; moonshine 2 noun hybrid varieties of hashish produced in Holland UK, 2003 moonshot noun 1 anal sex US, 1972. 2 outdoor sex at night US, 1986 moonstomp verb an ungainly dance associated with the skinhead youth cult. Popular with authors looking back to the 1960s and 70s UK, 1999 moon-time noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. Emphasises the monthly rhythm of the cycle US, 2000 moonwalk verb to perform a dance-step which, when it is done well, gives the impression of walking forward whilst gliding in reverse. Popularised by pop singer Michael Jackson (b.1958); it derives from a supposed similarity to walking on the moon US, 1984

moony noun any slow or romantic dance, or the music for it, played at an organised dance or disco, especially at the end of an evening UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

moop noun a person suffering from chronic disorientation in Arctic regions or Antarctica produced by long days and then long nights ANTARCTICA, 1959

moo poo noun cow manure AUSTRALIA, 1994

Moor noun ► the Moor Dartmoor prison UK, 1869 moose noun 1 in the Korean war, a girlfriend, mistress or prostitute. From the Japanese musume US, 1951. 2 an unattractive female IRELAND, 1995. 3 in poker, a large pot US, 1996 moose call noun a howling sound emitted by the Lockheed Starfighter CANADA, 1995 moose-eyed adjective infatuated; in love US, 2000 moose farm noun a college sorority whose members are perceived as not particularly attractive US, 1968

moose-gooser noun an Alaska Railroad train US, 1948 moose knuckle noun the condition that exists when a tight-fitting pair of trousers, shorts, bathing suit or other garment forms a wedge between a woman's labia, accentuating their shape US, 1988

moose milk noun an improvised alcoholic mixed drink, especially a homebrew Yukon cocktail made of milk and rum US, 1957 moose pasture noun 1 in the Canadian West, worthless or unproven mining claims CANADA, 1962. 2 any worthless (or nonexistent) land sold as part of a confidence swindle US, 1985 moose pasture con noun a big con in which the victim is induced to invest in a company that appears on the verge of a great secret success US, 1997 moosh noun 1 the mouth. After MUSH AUSTRALIA, 1916. 2 jail porridge AUSTRALIA, 1944

moosh verb to shove in the face US, 1998

moosh; mush; mushie; mooshy adjective fine, excellent, pleasant, nice, super, etc ZIMBABWE, 1973 mooshay noun a light-skinned person; an unlikeable person SAINT KITTS AND NEVIS, 1998

moot noun the vagina. Origin unknown AUSTRALIA, 1978

moota noun marijuana. The Mexican Spanish slang mota (marijuana) was smuggled north with the drug. Variant spellings include 'moocah', 'mootah', 'mooter', 'mootie', 'mooster', 'mootos', 'motta', 'muta' and 'mutah' US, 1926 mooters noun a marijuana cigarette. From MOOTA UK, 2003 mop noun 1 a head of hair UK, 1821. 2 your date for an evening. Teen slang US, 1954

MOP adjective in the military, missing on purpose US, 1985 mop and bucket! a general declaration of rejection or dismissal; may also imply resignation to, or acceptance of, a situation. Rhyming slang for FUCK IT! UK, 1992

Mop and Paul nickname the Toronto Globe and Mail newspaper. This derogatory nickname is surely jocular, as the newspaper is the foremost national newspaper of Canada CANADA, 2001 mop booth noun a private booth where pornographic films are shown for a fee US, 2001 mope noun 1 a person who is not particularly bright. From C16 to C19 a part of colloquial speech, 'mope' reappeared 200 years later as slang US, 1919. 2 in hospital usage, a nonsurgeon physician. A derogatory evolution of the term 'medical outpatient' US, 1994. 3 a thug US, 1997 mope verb a stealthy escape US, 1926 mope away; mope verb to quit your job in the circus US, 1980 moped noun a fat female; a promiscuous female. From a joke, because both are fun but you don't want anybody to see you on one US, 2001 mopery noun incompetence, stupidity US, 1907 mop jockey noun a janitor or custodian US, 1958 mopp verb to don protective clothing and breathing apparatus against chemical warfare. From the official designation 'mission oriented protective posture.' US, 1993 mopper noun a person who tends to wheedle drinks from friends TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1950

moppet noun a child UK, 1601 mop-squeezer noun in a deck of playing cards, a queen US, 1949 mopsy noun a girlfriend TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1938

moptop noun a youth or a young man who wears his hair in a fringed style popularised by the Beatles in the early 1960s UK, 1964 mop-up noun the end-game of a conflict, in which the stragglers of the losing side are rounded up UK, 1917 mop up verb 1 to win UK, 1861. 2 to consume drinks bought by others TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1971 mop-up boy noun a worker performing janitorial work at an arcade where men masturbate while watching videos US, 1997

moragrifa noun marijuana US, 1966 moral noun a certainty. From the phrase 'a moral certainty' UK, 1861 morale-booster noun any stupid act by the authorities that has the immediate effect of lowering morale US, 1968 morale-raising flour noun cocaine. A play on the name and appearance of self-raising flour UK, 2002 more noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1994 more fool used to describe the subject as foolish for acting in a given manner. Often as an exclamation UK, 1959 more hide than Jessie adjective extremely cheeky AUSTRALIA, 1951 more like; more like it adjective would be nearer, better, more acceptable, more accurate UK, 1888 more or less noun a dress. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 more power to your elbow! a catchphrase of encouragement or good wishes. Used as a headline UK, 1860 more pricks than a pincushion an alleged achievement of a promiscuous woman AUSTRALIA, 1971 more tea, vicar(?) used humorously to acknowledge a fart or a belch UK, 1985 more than somewhat adverb very, extremely, to a great degree, very much. Coinage credited to US writer Damon Runyan US, 1930

Moreton Bay fig; Moreton Bay; Moreton noun 1 a busybody. Rhyming slang GIG. From the name of a type of large native figtree AUSTRALIA, 1944. 2 a police informer. Rhyming slang for GIG. May be spelt 'Morton' AUSTRALIA, 1975

MORF used as Internet shorthand to mean 'male or female' US, 1997 morgue noun in circus and carnival usage, a performance or series of performances in a town that fail to attract more than a few customers US, 1904

Moriarty; mori noun a party, a celebration. Rhyming slang; informed, if not inspired, by one of two fictional characters: either the arch-enemy of Sherlock Holmes or the comic creation of Spike Milligan in The Goons UK, 1981

Mork and Mindy adjective windy. Rhyming slang, based on cult US television comedy Mork and Mindy (first broadcast 1978–82) UK, 2002

Mormons noun in hold 'em poker, a king and two queens. An allusion to the practice of plural marriage US, 1996 morning noun ► the top of the morning!; top of the morning to you! used as a cheery greeting. A stereotypical Irish-ism IRELAND, 1815 morning after the night before noun a morning hangover; applied generally (as a diagnosis) to someone suffering the effects of drinking to excess UK, 1922 morning glory noun 1 an erection upon waking up in the morning. Rhyming slang for COREY (the penis), formed from the name of a popular garden flower (Ipomoea violacea) UK, 1992. 2 an act of sexual intercourse in the morning AUSTRALIA, 1960. 3 a drug addict's first injection of the morning US, 1959. 4 in horse racing, a horse that runs well in early morning workouts but not during races US, 1904 morning line noun in horse racing, the odds established by the racetrack handicapper the morning before a race US, 1967 morning prayers noun a daily briefing on the work to be done. First recorded as 'prayers, family prayers and morning prayers' a World War 2 military term for daily staff conference at HQ UK, 1995 morning shot noun a drug user's first injection that day US, 1986 morning wood noun an erection experienced upon waking US, 1997

Moroccan black noun a variety of marijuana. Named for its source and colour UK, 1996 moron noun a stupid person, a fool. Adopted from the Greek in 1910 to classify a person with an IQ of between 50 and 70; this correct technical sense is now largely avoided US, 1921 moron corps noun the US Army during the Vietnam war. The US Armed Forces qualification test passing score was lowered substantially in the late 1960s to help swell the ranks of the army with poor urban black men, poor rural white men and Mexican-Americans US, 1990 morotgara noun heroin US, 1977 morph verb 1 to change body shape or image. From cinematographic jargon for blending one image into another by means of computer manipulation UK, 2002. 2 to create an electronic message in a manner that gives the appearance of having been sent by someone else US, 1997 morphing noun the act of taking morphine. A shape-changing pun UK, 1996 morphy noun an hermaphrodite BARBADOS, 1965

Morris Minor noun a black eye. Rhyming slang for 'shiner', formed from a type of car manufactured from 1948–71 UK, 1992 mort noun a dolt. Prison usage NEW ZEALAND, 1997 mortal adjective drunk UK, 1994 mortal combat noun very potent heroin US, 1997 mortalled adjective drunk UK: SCOTLAND, 1996

mortaller noun literally a mortal sin, figuratively a terrible thing IRELAND, 2002 mortal lock noun in horse racing, a bet that is sure to win US, 1951 mortal nuts noun in poker, a hand that is sure to win US, 1979

morto adjective mortified IRELAND, 2001

MOS noun the typical man on the street US, 1997

MOS adjective in television and film-making, said of a scene shot without sound US, 1977

Moscow noun a pawnshop AUSTRALIA, 1941

Moscow mule noun a cocktail of vodka, lager (or ginger ale) and lime. 'Moscow' in honour of the vodka, 'mule' for the kick UK, 1967 mosey verb to move slowly and seemingly aimlessly; to amble. Introduces a folksy tone US, 1829 mosey at verb to casually investigate or explore. Possibly from MOSEY (to amble) combined with the sense of 'nosey' (inquisitive) UK, 2001 mosh verb (at a rock music concert, especially hardcore, punk or metal) to jump/dance in a violent and ungainly manner, deliberately crashing into other moshers US, 1983 mosher noun a dancer at a rock concert (especially hardcore, punk or metal) who responds to the music with violent and ungainly bouncing – mainly off other moshers; by extension a dedicated fan of a rock genre UK, 2002

moshie noun a moshers AUSTRALIA, 1996

moshky noun a marijuana user US, 1971

mosh pit noun an area in a dance hall where dancers mosh US, 1992 mosquitos; mosquitoes noun cocaine US, 1994

moss noun 1 hair US, 1926. 2 seaweed BARBADOS, 1965

mossback noun 1 an old person with outmoded ideas and values US, 1878. 2 a promiscuous girl US, 1982 mossie; mozzie; mozzzy noun 1 a mosquito AUSTRALIA, 1936. 2 a sparrow SOUTH AFRICA, 1884

most noun ► the most the best US, 1953 most adverb very US, 1989 most def!; mos' def! used for expressing emphatic agreement US, 1998 mostie noun a sexually attractive woman NEW ZEALAND, 1998

most ricky tick adverb promptly, immediately. Mock pidgin, used by US soldiers during the Vietnam war US, 1987

MOT noun a Jewish person identified as such by another Jewish person US, 1989

MOT verb to conduct an MOT test of a vehicle's roadworthiness. From the official abbreviation of the Ministry of Transport test, introduced in 1960 and grown more stringent since UK, 2002 mot; mott noun a woman, a girlfriend, a wife. Liverpool Irish usage UK, 1785 mota; moto noun marijuana. The Mexican Spanish slang mota (marijuana) was smuggled north with the drug, US, 1933

motate verb to move US, 1967

MOT'd adjective of a vehicle, having passed the MOT test, having an MOT certificate UK, 1984 motel time used to signal that a bar is closing and that customers must leave US, 1965 moth noun in horse racing, a groom or racehorse attendant who is attracted to the bright lights of nightlife AUSTRALIA, 1989 mothball noun an ether ball used to start a cold diesel truck engine US, 1971

mothball verb to take out of service; to set against possible future use US, 1949 mother noun 1 a man; a thing. A slightly euphemistic MOTHERFUCKER; sometimes a low form of abuse, sometimes merely jocular; US, 1951. 2 used of, or to, a wife if she is also a mother UK, 1961. 3 a male homosexual in relation to a man whom he has introduced to homosexuality US, 1946. 4 a (very) senior secretary. Civil service use UK, 1977. 5 a drug dealer US, 1970. 6 marijuana. Probably an anglicised 'mutha' US, 1968. 7 heroin; a heroin dealer; a homosexual heroin dealer. Perhaps a euphemistic reduction of MOTHERFUCKER US, 1992. ► be mother to assume responsibility for dispensing hot drinks or refreshments. Of either sex but reflecting a general perception of a mother's traditional role UK, 1934. ► you love your mother better than your father; you love your father better than your mother between schoolgirls, used as a warning that a slip or petticoat can be seen below the hem of a skirt UK, 1977. ► your mother used as a self-reference by older homosexual men US, 1974 mother and father of all noun an epic, if not the epic, example. An elaboration of MOTHER OF ALL UK, 2002 mother-ass; mother-arse; mudder ass noun used as an abusive term of address or term of reference TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1958 mother blood! used for expressing surprise. Almost certainly a euphemism for 'motherfucker!' BAHAMAS, 1982

Mother Brown nickname the West End of London. Rhyming slang for 'town' UK, 1992

Mother Corp nickname the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation CANADA, 2000

mother crusher noun used euphemistically for 'motherfucker' UK, 2002 mother-cunt noun used as an abusive term of address or term of reference TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1972 mother dear noun methedrine, a central nervous system stimulant. A phonic pun US, 1969 motheren; motherin noun used as a euphemism for 'motherfucker' or 'motherfucking' US, 1959 motherfather noun used as a euphemism for 'motherfucker'. Used by comedian Redd Foxx on The Royal Family (CBS, 1991–92) US, 1992 motherferyer noun used as a euphemism for 'motherfucker' US, 1946 motherflipping adjective used as a euphemism for the intensifier 'motherfucking' US, 1961 mother-for-you noun used as a euphemism for 'motherfucker' US, 1957 motherfouler noun a motherfucker US, 1947

motherfuck verb used to damn or curse US, 1942 motherfucker noun 1 a despised person. In 1972, the US Supreme Court reversed the conviction of a man who had used the word 'motherfucker' four times during remarks at a school board meeting attended by some 40 children and 25 women, accepting 'motherfucker' as constitutionally protected speech (Rosenfeld v. New Jersey, 1972) US, 1928. 2 a fellow, a person US, 1958. 3 a difficult thing or situation US, 1958. 4 used as a basis for extreme comparisons US, 1962. 5 methamphetamine hydrochloride, a powerful central nervous system stimulant US, 1993 motherfuckers and beans noun canned beans and frankfurters served as field rations by the US Army US, 1980 mother-fucking noun sexual intercourse between a son and his mother. The literal sense which precedes the rest UK, 2000 motherfucking adjective used as an emphatic intensifier. In 1972, the US Supreme Court found the statements 'mother fucking fascist pig cops' and 'god damned mother fucking police' to be constitutionally protected speech. The following year, the California Supreme embraced 'white motherfucking pig' as constitutionally protected US, 1897 motherfucking A! used for expressing dismay, surprise or strong assent. An embellished FUCKING A! US, 1977

motherfugger noun used as a euphemism for 'motherfucker' US, 1948 motherfugging adjective used as a euphemism for 'motherfucking'. Found throughout Norman Mailer, The Naked and the Dead, 1948 US, 1948 motherfukka noun a fellow, a person. A variant spelling of MOTHERFUCKER UK, 2002

mothergrabbing adjective used as a euphemism for 'motherfucking' US, 1958

Mother Green nickname the US Marine Corps. Coined in Vietnam; sometimes embellished to 'Mother Green and her Killing Machine' US, 1978

motherhopper noun used as a euphemism for 'motherfucker' US, 1977

Mother Hubbard noun a cupboard. Rhyming slang, formed from a nursery rhyme character UK, 1992 motherhugger noun used as a euphemism for 'motherfucker' US, 1956 motherhumper noun used as a clumsy euphemism for 'motherfucker' US, 1963 mothering adjective used as an intensifier. From MOTHERFUCKING US, 1951 mother-in-law noun 1 an enemy aeroplane US, 1991. 2 a carpenter's saw. Rhyming slang UK, 1992. 3 a torn cuticle BARBADOS, 1965 mother-in-law job noun a racehorse that performs well in long-distance races. The long-distance horse has staying power, and like a mother-in-law seems to stay forever AUSTRALIA, 1989

motherjumper noun used as an affected euphemism for 'motherfucker' US, 1949 motherjumping adjective used as a euphemism for 'motherfucking' US, 1950

Mother Kelly noun 1 jelly, a jelly. Rhyming slang, probably formed from the music hall song 'On Mother Kelly's Doorstep' UK, 1992.

2 television; a television. Rhyming slang for TELLY, noted as 'more recent' than the previous sense UK, 1992 motherless adverb absolutely, completely; especially in the phrase 'motherless broke' (penniless) AUSTRALIA, 1898 motherless broke adjective completely broke; bankrupt; destitute AUSTRALIA, 1898 mother lover noun used as a euphemism for 'motherfucker' US, 1950 mother loving adjective used as a euphemism for 'motherfucking'. Also used as an infix: 'abso-mother-lovin'-lutely!' US, 1951 motherlumping adjective used as a euphemism for the intensifier 'motherfucking' US, 1961 mother McCree! used for expressing disapproval. A signature line of Colonel Sherman Potter on *M*A*S*H* (CBS, 1972–83). Repeated with referential humour US, 1976 mother nature noun marijuana US, 1969 mother nature's gift noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1999

Mother Nature's maracas noun the testicles UK, 2003 mother of all adjective an epic, if not the epic, example. From Saddam Hussein's somewhat hyperbolic prediction that the western invasion of the Persian Gulf in 1991 would be the 'mother of all battles'. Hussein's use of a common Arabic vernacular expression immediately appealed to the American and British ear, with hundreds of variations appearing over several years – 'the mother of all retreats', 'the mother of all confirmation hearings', 'the mother of all eclipses', 'the mother of all government mistakes', etc US, 1991 mother of God noun LSD UK, 2003 mother of pearl noun cocaine US, 1983. ► the old mother of pearl; my old mother of pearl a wife; my wife. Rhyming slang for 'old girl' UK, 1960 mother of shit! used for registering surprise, rage, etc. Variation on the prayer 'Mother of Christ' US, 1988 mother-raper noun used as a euphemism for 'motherfucker'. Intended as a euphemism, but one which does not leave much room for the affectionate side of MOTHERFUCKER US, 1959 mother-raping adjective used as a euphemism for 'motherfucking' US, 1932 mother-robbing adjective used as a euphemism for 'motherfucking' US, 1948 mothers and lovers noun a very small crowd at a competition AUSTRALIA, 1989

motherscratcher noun used as a euphemism for 'motherfucker' US, 2001 mother's day noun 1 payday. Because on payday you pay the money you owe to one mother(fucker) after another US, 1965. 2 the day when welfare cheques arrive US, 1973 motherseller noun used as a euphemism for 'motherfucker' US, 1953 mother's little helper noun 1 any tranquilizer; meprobamate (trade names Equan Jill™, Meprospan™ and Miltown™), a habit-forming anti-anxiety agent US, 1977. 2 amphetamines UK, 2003 mother's pride noun a bride. Rhyming slang, possibly influenced by Mother's Pride™, a popular brand of sliced bread UK, 1992 mother's ruin; mothers noun gin. Some claims have been made that this should be noted as a piece of rhyming slang; the rhyme is certainly slurred enough for gin to be an influence UK, 1937

Mother Superior noun an older, experienced homosexual man US, 1941 mother wit noun common sense US, 1972 motion lotion noun motor fuel US, 1976 motions noun ► go through the motions to give the appearance of doing something, without actually doing it, or without doing it wholeheartedly; to conform to social expectations for the sake of appearances UK, 1816 motivate verb to leave US, 1955 moto noun a motivated self-starter US, 1993 ► see: MOTA motor noun a motor car UK, 1984 motor verb 1 to perform a task very well UK, 1983. 2 to leave US, 1980

Motor City nickname Detroit, Michigan. Because of the car manufacturing concerns in Detroit US, 1961 motor crap noun car parts made by Motorcraft, a Ford subsidiary US, 1992 motored out adjective said of a scoring device in pinball which fails to register a score because the scoring register is already in use US, 1977

motorhead noun 1 a person with more than a passing interest in the internal combustion engine US, 1974. 2 a fool US, 1973 motormouth noun someone who talks without end, or when it would be better not to talk US, 1963 motor mouth verb to talk incessantly US, 1985 motor scooter noun used as a euphemism for 'motherfucker' US, 1960 motorway noun (when skiing) a broad, easy piste UK, 1982 motorway draw noun marijuana. Extends DRAW (marijuana) UK, 2001

Motown noun Detroit, Michigan. After MOTOR CITY, thus 'motor town' from Detroit's motor industry US, 1971 motser; motzer; motza noun a large sum of money. Presumed to be from Yiddish matse (bread): BREAD (money). Especially used of gambling winnings AUSTRALIA, 1936 mott noun the female genitalia. From MOT (a woman) UK, 1984 mottled adjective drunk UK, 2002

Mott the Hoople noun a scruple. Rhyming slang, formed from the British rock band of the late 1960s and early 70s UK, 2004 mouldy adjective drunk IRELAND, 1996

mouldy fig noun a very dull person; specifically, used by young supporters of modern jazz of any jazz aficionado who remains loyal to a traditional form US, 1945

Moulin Rouge noun a stooge (a comedian's assistant). Theatrical rhyming slang UK, 1980 mouly noun a black person US, 1990 mount noun in hot rodding, a driver's car. A deliberate and jocular borrowing from horse racing US, 1948 mount verb ► mount the red flag to have sex with a woman experiencing the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1972 mountain canary noun a mule US, 1997 mountain dew noun 1 whisky, distilled illegally UK, 1816. 2 rum, distilled illegally TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1926 mountain goat noun 1 a comic who made his name in the Borscht Belt and then came to New York clubs to perform US, 1973. 2 a coat Glasgow rhyming slang UK, 1988 mountain oysters noun lamb or calf testicles as food US, 1857 mountain passes noun spectacles, glasses. Rhyming slang UK, 1960 mountain pay noun working on the railways, overtime US, 1977

Mountie nickname 1 a member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (the Mounties). A colloquial term in such widespread use, especially via films (and the slogan: 'The Mounties always get their man'), that it is often accepted as conventional CANADA, 1914. 2 a student of the prestigious all-girl Dublin secondary school, Mount Anville IRELAND, 2003 mouse noun 1 a bruise US, 1842. 2 in the used car business, a customer or potential customer US, 1968. 3 the soldier on point in the front of a patrol US, 1991 mouse verb to blackmail someone UK, 1987 mouse droppings noun in computing, single pixels on a computer screen that do not reappear when the cursor of the mouse is moved away from the spot US, 1991 mouse house noun 1 a finance company US, 1975. 2 in the used car business, an enterprise that compartmentalises the different functions in the sales process US, 1968 mouse motor noun a small-block Chevrolet V-8 engine. Introduced in 1955, it was relatively small for its power US, 1993 mousetrap noun 1 any strong or inferior hard cheese. From the use of such cheeses to bait mousetraps UK, 1947. 2 a series of exit consoles on websites that link back on themselves, creating an infinite loop US, 2003. 3 in oil drilling, a type of tool used to retrieve objects inadvertently dropped down a hole US, 1954

mousetrap verb to ambush an enemy by drawing them into position with some sort of bait US, 1989 moustache noun a Moustache Pete US, 1973

moustache mob noun first generation immigrants from Sicily or southern Italy US, 1955

Moustache Pete noun an older Italian-American criminal, associated with outdated ways of doing things US, 1938 moustache ride noun an act of oral sex US, 1981 moustache rider noun a woman as the object of oral sex with a man AUSTRALIA, 1985

mouth noun 1 back-talk, insults UK, 1896. 2 a dry or furry mouth caused by too much eating or drinking. Often elaborated on the formula a 'mouth like...' – recorded examples vary from 'the bottom of a bird cage' to 'the inside of a Turkish wrestler's jockstrap' UK, 1937. 3 a play's reputation US, 1973. ► give off a lot of mouth to shout abuse UK, 1999. ► have a mouth like a cow's cunt to be excessively or indiscreetly talkative. An exaggerated variation of BIG MOUTH UK, 1967. ► in the mouth in poker, said of the first player to act in a given situation US, 1979. ► with his mouth wide open said of a racehorse that easily wins a race US, 1951 mouth verb to inform on someone to the police US, 1965 mouth and trousers noun a braggart UK, 1998 mouth bet noun in poker, a bet made without putting up the funds, binding among friends US, 1889 mouth breather noun a fool UK, 1986

mouthful noun 1 a word or phrase that is difficult to speak (for reasons of complexity or length, not content) UK, 1883. 2 something spoken which has importance or other significance. From earlier use as 'a long word' US, 1916. ► give a mouthful to swear or be otherwise verbally abusive to someone US, 1941

mouth music noun oral sex on a woman UK, 1977 mouth off verb to brag; to insult. Derives from the synonymous verb US, 1958 mouth open, story jump out used for explaining why something that was perhaps better unsaid was said TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1988 mouthpiece noun 1 a lawyer UK, 1857. 2 a spokesperson UK, 1805 mouth pig noun a male homosexual who offers his mouth anonymously to any penis that is presented through a glory hole US, 1996

mouthwashing; mouthwash noun a non-conventional method of drinking Cointreau™ (a branded liqueur): swill a measure of the liquor around the mouth, swallow and immediately draw in a large breath. Also used as a verb UK, 2001

mouthy adjective loquacious, too talkative UK, 1589 move noun ► get a move on to hurry. Often as an imperative US, 1888. ► on the move about to commit a crime, especially a burglary UK, 1996. ► put the move on to make sexual advances US, 1987 move verb to sell, especially in bulk US, 1938. ► get moving to urgently begin to do or go UK, 1963. ► move the line in sports betting, to change the point spread that is the basis for betting on one team or the other US, 1975. ► move under an ashen sail to row a boat. As paddles are often made out of ash wood, to say 'he's moving under an ashen sail' is a jocular way of saying that he is not sailing, but rowing CANADA, 1975 move in verb in poker, to bet your entire bankroll US, 1979 movement noun collectively the various organisations fighting for social justice and peace in the US in the 1960s US, 1966 mover noun 1 someone who imports drugs US, 1995. 2 a police ticket for a moving violation US, 1970. 3 in casino gambling, a dice cheat who places his bet after a roll has started US, 1962 mover and shaker noun a powerful person with powerful connections US, 1972 moves noun sexual advances. Always used with 'the' US, 1968 movie job noun sex, especially sex for pay, in cinema US, 1966 movies noun police radar recordings of vehicle speed US, 1977 movie star drug noun cocaine. A reference to Hollywood's reputation for excess in the 1980s and 90s UK, 2001 movin' adjective good, pleasurable, fashionable, popular US, 1997 moving doctor noun a medical doctor. A jocular back-formation from the initials MD CANADA, 2002 mow verb 1 to shave. Usually used in describing a woman shaving her legs or her pubic area US, 1991. 2 to eat with gusto and stamina US, 1991. ► mow the grass; mow the lawn to smoke marijuana. Punning on GRASS (marijuana) UK, 1998

mowed lawn noun a shaved vulva US, 1964 moxy; moxy noun a homosexual man. Recorded in contemporary gay use UK, 2003 moxen noun a group of homosexual men. The plural of MOX, recorded in contemporary gay use UK, 2003 moxie noun nerve, courage, gall. Moxie was the first mass-marketed soft drink in the US. Founded in Lowell, Massachusetts in 1884 by Dr Augustin Thompson, Moxie was touted as a patent medicine guaranteed to cure almost any ill including loss of manhood, 'paralysis, and softening of the brain'. These claims were revised with the passage of the Pure Food and Drug Act in 1906. Its sphere of influence was largely in New England US, 1930

moxy adjective lousy, very bad IRELAND, 1999

Mozart and Liszt; Mozart adjective drunk. Rhyming slang for PISSED (drunk) UK, 1945 mozz noun bad luck; a jinx. A shortening of obsolete 'mozzle', from Hebrew mazzal (luck). Generally in the phrase 'to put the mozz on' AUSTRALIA, 1924

mozz verb to jinx someone; to bring bad luck to someone AUSTRALIA, 1941

mozzle noun ► on the mozzle cadging, especially when seeking to borrow something small from a friend or neighbour. This derives from an obsolete piece of rhyming slang, 'mozzle and brocha' for ON THE KNOCKER (used of a door-to-door salesman); ultimately from Yiddish mazel (good luck) and brocha (a blessing) UK, 1992

Mrs noun ► the Mrs the vagina. The conventional abbreviation for 'mistress' meaning 'wife'; pronounced 'missis' UK, 2001 ► see: MRS MORE

Mrs Doyle noun a boil. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a character in UK Channel 4 television situation comedy Father Ted, 1995–98 UK, 1998

Mrs Duckett! used as a general declaration of rejection or dismissal; may also imply resignation to, or acceptance of, a situation. Rhyming slang for FUCK IT! UK, 1960

Mrs Mop; Mrs Mopp noun 1 a woman who works as a cleaner, a charwoman. After a character introduced in the fourth series of the 1940s BBC radio comedy ITMA; Mrs Mopp, with the catchphrase 'Can I do you now, sir?', was played by Dorothy Summers UK, 1948. 2 a shop. Rhyming slang. Also employed as a verb UK, 1992

Mrs Mopping noun shopping. Rhyming slang, extended from MRS MOPP (a shop) UK, 1992

Mrs More; the Mrs noun a floor, the floor. Rhyming slang, from the music hall song 'Don't Have Any More, Mrs More' UK, 1992

Mrs Palm and her five lovely daughters; Mrs Palmer and her five daughters noun the hand (seen in the context of male masturbation) AUSTRALIA, 1955

Mrs Ples nickname the skull of an Australopithecine man-ape found at Sterkfontein in 1947. Indicating the (possibly wrong) gender and his/her generic name Plesianthropus SOUTH AFRICA, 1959

MSM noun homosexual males. Initialism formed from 'men who have sex with men' UK, 1998

MTF noun a very tactile admirer of young ladies. Initialism, 'must touch flesh'. Upper-class society usage UK, 1982

M to F adverb Monday to Friday UK, 1996 mu noun 1 marijuana US, 1936. 2 used for expressing the sentiment that 'your question cannot be answered because it depends on incorrect assumptions'. A Japanese word borrowed by computer enthusiasts US, 1991 much adverb used for ironic emphasis US, 1988. ► not much of a of limited quality, quantity or degree UK, 1889. ► not up to much inferior UK, 1864

much more adjective very good US, 1994 mucho adjective much, a lot of. A direct borrowing from Spanish US, 1942 mucho adverb very. Directly from Spanish US, 1973 much of a muchness noun very similar, of much the same degree, size, value, etc UK, 1728 muck noun 1 semen UK, 1997. 2 any unpleasant, vile or disgusting thing to eat or drink UK, 1882. 3 bad weather UK, 1855. 4 stage makeup US, 1926. 5 in poker, the pile of discarded cards US, 1990. ► as muck very, exceedingly. Especially used in the phrase 'common as muck' UK, 1782. ► make a muck of to ruin UK, 1906 muck verb 1 in poker, to fold, to discard your hand UK, 2003. 2 in a casino, to spread playing cards on the table and move them randomly as part of the shuffling process US, 2003 muck about verb 1 to fool around; to trifle with AUSTRALIA, 1946. 2 to mess someone about AUSTRALIA, 1965. 3 to behave amorously towards AUSTRALIA, 1959 muck-a-muck; muckety-muck noun an important and prominent person US, 1856 muck around; muck about verb to fool around UK, 1856 mucked up adjective in disarray; confused; spoiled. A euphemism for FUCKED UP US, 1951 mucker noun 1 a friend. From MUCK IN (to share the circumstances of basic living) UK, 1947. 2 a person who uses sleight-of-hand to cheat at cards US, 1996 mucker-upper noun a bungler UK, 1942 muck in verb to share, on an informal basis, food, accommodation and other facilities, or work. Of military origin UK, 1919 mucking noun used as a euphemism for 'fucking'. A literary euphemism from the days when it was not permissible to reproduce the word 'fuck' in print. Not used in real language AUSTRALIA, 1962 mucking; muckin' adverb used as an intensifier. A euphemistic disguise for FUCKING UK, 1887 muck out verb to kill US, 1984 muck sack noun a lazy person US, 1959 mucksavage noun a country person IRELAND, 1998 muck stick noun a shovel US, 1908 muck truck noun in prison, a food trolley UK, 1996 muck-up noun a confusion, a muddle, a botch UK, 1939 muck up verb to botch, to ruin, to interfere UK, 1886 muck-up day noun the last day of high school where leaving students play pranks, etc AUSTRALIA, 1994

mucky adjective 1 contemptible, sordid. An old English regional term that survives in the colloquial vocabulary UK, 1683. 2 pornographic, especially when mildly so; lewd. From the previous sense as 'sordid' UK, 1972 mucky pup noun a dirty or untidy child. A term of disapproval UK, 1984 mud noun 1 excrement AUSTRALIA, 1993. 2 unprocessed opium; opium; heroin US, 1915. 3 coffee US, 1875. 4 chemical fire retardant dropped from the air US, 2000. 5 in circus and carnival usage, any cheap merchandise used as a prize US, 1981. 6 on the Internet, a multi-user dungeon, a text-based, networked, multiparticipant virtual reality system US, 1995. 7 a billiard ball US, 1993. ► up to mud no good AUSTRALIA, 1931 mud verb (used of a racehorse) to run well on muddy track conditions US, 1978 mud baby noun faeces US, 2003 mud ball noun a doughnut or other pastry eaten with coffee. Harkened to MUD (coffee) US, 1976 mud butt noun diarrhoea US, 2004 muddafukka noun a motherfucker (in all senses) US, 1995 mudder noun any athlete who performs well in rainy conditions; a racehorse that performs well on wet or muddy track conditions US, 1942 muddie noun the mud crab Scylla serrata AUSTRALIA, 1953

muddlefugging adverb used as a euphemism for the intensifier 'motherfucking' US, 1961 muddy feet noun said of someone who needs to urinate US, 1963 muddy fuck noun anal sex that brings forth faeces or faecal stains on the penis US, 1979 muddy trench noun the French. Rhyming slang, possibly based on 'bloody French' UK, 1992 muddy water noun coffee. Elaboration of MUD (coffee) playing on Muddy Waters, the stage-name of bluesman McKinley Morganfield (1915–83) UK, 1981

Muddy York nickname York, a suburb of Toronto CANADA, 2002

mud flaps noun the condition that exists when a tight-fitting pair of trousers, shorts, bathing suit or other garment forms a wedge between a woman's labia, accentuating their shape US, 2003 mudge noun a hat. From a particular type of hat worn by C19 women UK, 2002 mudguard noun a person whose outward geniality masks a vicious nature. Both are shiny on the outside and filthy underneath AUSTRALIA, 1989 mudhead noun a fanatic enthusiast for multi-user dungeon computer play US, 1991 mud hog noun football played in rainy, muddy conditions TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1992 mud hook noun 1 an anchor. Nautical use US, 1827. 2 in the dice game crown and anchor, an anchor. From the non-symbolic previous sense UK, 1961. 3 a finger. Usually in the plural CANADA, 1968 mud hop noun a clerk in a railway yard US, 1929 mudkicker noun a prostitute, especially of the street-walking variety US, 1932 mudlark noun a racehorse that performs well on muddy track conditions US, 1909 mud mark noun in horse racing, an indication in a past performance report that a horse runs well in muddy track conditions US, 1965 mud-moving noun close-in air support for a ground operation in the Canadian Air Force CANADA, 1995 mud puppy noun a very ugly girl US, 1983 mud-stick artist noun a member of a railway track crew US, 1977 mud turtle noun a black prisoner US, 1976 mud wallow noun a coffee house. Citizens' band slang, elaborating on MUD (coffee) UK, 1959 muff noun the vulva; a woman as a sex object UK, 1699. ► buff the muff to manually stimulate a woman's genitals US, 1999

muff verb to bungle UK, 1827 muff-dive verb to perform oral sex on a woman US, 1948 muff-diver noun a person who performs oral sex on a woman US, 1930 muff-diving noun oral sex performed on a woman US, 1974 muffin noun a woman objectified sexually. Probably a disguised MUFF (the vagina) US, 1870

Muffin the Mule; muffin noun a fool. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a television puppet who was famous in the 1950s UK, 1998

muff job noun oral sex on a woman US, 1990 muffler burn noun a bruise on the skin caused by sucking. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982 muff mag noun a magazine featuring photographs of naked women, focusing on their pubic hair and vulvas US, 1972

muff merchant noun a procurer of prostitutes; a man who makes his living off the earnings of prostitutes US, 1987 muff muncher noun a person who performs oral sex on women; a lesbian AUSTRALIA, 1972

muff-noshing noun oral sex on a woman US, 1980 muffydile; muffydite noun a person or animal with female and male characteristics. A corruption of 'hermaphrodite' TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1986 mufti squad noun individually anonymous, uniformed enforcers for the police or prison authorities. Prison usage UK, 2000 mu-fucka; muhfucka noun a motherfucker. Alternative spelling UK, 2002 mug noun 1 a man, a bloke US, 1859. 2 a gullible fool, an easy dupe. A 'mug' is a vessel into which you can pour anything UK, 1857. 3 the face, especially an ugly one UK, 1821. 4 the mouth AUSTRALIA, 1902. 5 a member of a criminal gang by virtue of brawn not brains US, 1890. 6 a client of a prostitute AUSTRALIA, c. 1906 mug verb 1 to rob with violence or the threat of violence UK, 1864. 2 to stare at US, 2001. 3 to grimace theatrically, especially while posing for a photograph UK, 1762. 4 to kiss US, 1947. 5 to photograph a prisoner during the after-arrest process US, 1899. ► mug someone off to show someone as a fool; to play someone for a fool; to consider someone foolish. From MUG (a fool) UK, 1997 mug adjective foolish. Especially in the terms MUG COPPER and MUG PUNTER AUSTRALIA, 1954 mug about verb to kiss and fondle someone AUSTRALIA, 1945 mug book noun a collection of photographs of criminals consulted by the police US, 1902 mug chop noun a sale of a faulty second-hand car made by a dealer posing as a customer UK, 1968 mug cop noun a police officer, viewed as inherently stupid AUSTRALIA, 1971 mug copper noun a police officer, viewed as inherently stupid AUSTRALIA, 1945 mug down verb to kiss. From MUG (the face) on the model of CHOW DOWN (to set to eating) US, 1995 mug gallery noun in a carnival, a concession where people pay to have their picture taken US, 1960 mugger noun a criminal who commits street robbery with violence (or the threat of violence) US, 1863 muggie noun marijuana. A variation of MUGGLES (marijuana), 2003 mugging noun a street robbery from a person, especially robbery with violence or the threat of violence US, 1943

muggins noun a fool, an idiot, often with an implication that the fool is a victim (and a fool to be so), a gullible fool US, 1855 muggle noun 1 a marijuana cigarette US, 1933. 2 a person with little or no understanding of computers. The opposite of a WIZARD; derived from the Harry Potter novels of JK Rowling UK, 1999 mugglehead noun a marijuana user US, 1926

muggles noun marijuana US, 1928

muggy adjective foolish, in the manner of a mug (a fool, a dupe) UK, 1997

muggy-cunt noun a fool UK, 2000 mug joint noun in circus and carnival usage, a concession where customers are photographed US, 1931 mug lair noun a showy but foolish person AUSTRALIA, 1944 mug money noun in horse racing, money bet by uninformed bettors AUSTRALIA, 1989

mug punter noun a gambler, viewed as inherently stupid AUSTRALIA, 1943

mug's game noun a thankless activity UK, 1910 mug shot noun 1 a police photograph of a (convicted) criminal. Combines MUG (the face) and 'shot' (a photograph) US, 1950. 2 a photographic portrait UK, 1978

mugsnapper noun in circus and carnival usage, a travelling photographer US, 1981 mugsnatcher noun a photographer who operates in the street, at a fairground or at the seaside UK, 1979

mug's ticker noun a counterfeit Swiss watch UK, 1977 mug-up noun a coffee break or snack, at work or home US, 1958 mug up verb 1 to flirt, to kiss US, 1947. 2 to study hard. Also 'mug up on' UK, 1848 muhfuh; muhfuhkuh noun motherfuck; motherfucker US, 1969 mujer noun cocaine. Spanish for 'woman' US, 1994

mukluk telegraph noun a radio show that makes announcements delivering messages to people in rural Alaska who have no telephone or mail service. The 'mukluk' is 'an insulated boot designed for arctic wear' US, 1945 mukums noun the female pubic mound TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

mula noun marijuana US, 1946 mulady noun a ghost, a devil. English gypsy use from Romany mûlo (dead, ghost) UK, 2000 mulberry bush noun ► go round the mulberry bush to waste time in a misdirected effort. From a children's singing game – a perfect example of using up energy in pointless activity UK, 1962 mule noun 1 a person who physically smuggles drugs or other contraband US, 1922. 2 a Vietnamese who carried supplies for the Viet Cong or the North Vietnamese Army US, 1990. 3 in motor racing, a car used for tests and practice US, 1993. 4 a small, motorised platform used for transporting supplies or personnel US, 1903. 5 a railway brakeman US, 1929. 6 an infertile woman TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1986. 7 marijuana that has been soaked in whisky US, 1955 mule nose noun the condition that exists when a tight-fitting pair of trousers, shorts, bathing suit or other garment forms a wedge between a woman's labia, accentuating their shape US, 2004 mulenyam; moulonjohn noun a black person. From the Italian, referring to an eggplant US, 1967 mule's ear noun a hidden mechanism used to control the spin of a roulette wheel US, 1982 mule teeth noun in craps, a roll of twelve US, 1999 mule train noun in humorous smuggler usage, a car US, 1956 mulga noun uninhabited or sparsely populated remote regions of Australia. From mulga (a type of native acacia), from the Australian Aboriginal language Yuwaalaraay AUSTRALIA, 1898 mulga wire noun an information network utilising word of mouth AUSTRALIA, 1899

mull noun marijuana prepared for smoking AUSTRALIA, 1988

mull verb to break up marijuana buds in preparation for smoking AUSTRALIA, 2004

mullah noun an Irish person who is not from Dublin IRELAND, 1996
► see: MOOLA

mull bowl noun a bowl used to mull marijuana AUSTRALIA, 1995 muller noun 1 a murderer UK, 1979. 2 an ugly or unattractive person. Teen slang UK, 2003 muller verb to roundly beat the opposition in a physical fight. German tailor Franz Müller (executed 1864) was the first person to commit a murder on a British train; his name survives here as a synonym for 'murder' but is used only as an exaggeration UK, 1997 mullered adjective 1 drunk or drug-intoxicated UK, 2000. 2 dead UK, 2000 mullering noun a beating UK, 1997 mullet noun 1 a hairstyle: the hair is worn short at the front and long at the back. Fashionable in the 1980s and much derided by the fashion-conscious generations that followed US, 1997. 2 a gullible person US, 1955. 3 a socially inept outcast US, 1959 mullethead noun a fool, a stupid person US, 1857 mull head noun a habitual smoker of marijuana AUSTRALIA, 1996 mulligan noun a prison guard. Used with derision by prisoners US, 1939 mulligan stew; mulligan noun a stew made without a recipe, relying on ingredients that are left over from previous meals US, 1904 mulligatawny noun desiring sex. Rhyming slang for HORNY UK, 1998 mullion noun an ugly person US, 1959 mullock noun mining refuse. From British dialect AUSTRALIA, 1855 mullock heap noun a mound of mullock AUSTRALIA, 1859 mull up verb to prepare marijuana for smoking. Refers to cutting it up and, usually, mixing it in tobacco AUSTRALIA, 1987 mullygrub verb to sulk. A venerable noun (meaning 'depressed spirits'), now surviving in verb form US, 1984 multi noun a multiple bet covering seven selections to '120 win stakes or 240 each-way stakes'. Also known as a 'Super Heinz' UK, 2001 multi; multie; multi; multy adverb very. Polari UK, 1887 multi; multie; multy; multa adjective poor, bad. Polari; a weakening of MULTI KATIVA (very bad). Also used as an expletive and intensifying adjective UK, 1887 multi-coloured yawn noun an act of vomiting; vomit AUSTRALIA, 1977 multi kativa; multee kertever; multicattivo adjective very bad. Polari; from Italian molto cattivo (very bad) UK, 1859 multples noun sex involving multiple people; an orgy US, 1968

multo adjective many UK, 2003 mun noun 1 a wife or a woman in a long-term relationship UK, 1977. 2 a woman objectified as unattractive. A logical extension of the belief that you would not fancy your mother. Current in the City of London during the 1990s UK, 1998

mun adjective quiet, silent UK, 1950 mun and dad noun a cricket pad. Rhyming slang, usually in the plural, with both elements pluralised UK, 2003 mun and dad adjective mad. Rhyming slang UK, 1976 mumblage noun stuff US, 1981

mumble used as a verbal placeholder when an answer is either too difficult or unknown US, 1983 mumbler noun a woman wearing a tight-fitting pair of trousers, shorts, bathing suit or other garment that forms a wedge between her labia, accentuating their shape; the trousers in question. Derives from the humorous logic that you can see the lips moving but can't make out what is being said UK, 2002 munbo jumbo noun 1 meaningless jargon UK, 1896. 2 any religion or religious practice, especially one that has or appears to have its roots in Africa UK, 1956 munmerset noun actor's all-purpose West Country dialect accent and speech. A punning blend of 'mummer' (an actor) and 'Somerset' UK, 1984 mummy; mum noun a mother, your mother. Affectionate diminutives of 'mother' UK, 1964 mummy bag noun a sleeping bag which can enclose the sleeper's head US, 1956 mummy dust; whiffle dust noun an imaginary magic powder used by conjurors, manufacturers, marketing professionals and others to enhance their product or presentation AUSTRALIA, 2000 mump verb 1 to obtain cheap or free goods from tradesmen by virtue of being a police officer. Metropolitan Police slang; a variation in sense of obsolete 'mump' (to get by begging) UK, 1970. 2 to take a bribe. A variation of the previous sense UK, 1996 mumper noun a tramp, a vagrant; a beggar. Current use as 'a beggar or scrounger' noted by David Powis, The Signs of Crime, 1977 UK, 1665 mums noun a mother UK, 1939 mumsie; mumsy noun a mother UK, 1876 mum's the word used as an injunction to keep quiet. 'Mum' originates in C16, from the onomatopoeic qualities of speech contained by compressed lips UK, 1704

mumsy adjective motherly UK, 1970 mun noun used as a general form of individual address to either gender; also used as a means of stressing what has been said. Originally used of a man. Later use is less discerning UK: WALES, 1985 munch noun food US, 1998. ► put the munch to to kiss with passion if not aggression US, 1985 munch verb 1 to eat UK, 1923. 2 to kiss US, 1985. 3 to fall or be knocked from a surfboard US, 1977. 4 in computing, to explore flaws in a system's security scheme US, 1991. ► munch the trunch to perform oral sex on a man. Formed on an abbreviation of 'truncheon', as in LOVE TRUNCHEON UK, 2003 munched adjective angry US, 1993 munchie noun 1 food, especially a snack or light meal. Earliest reference is in 1917 as a brand name for a chocolate confection UK, 1959. 2 an injury sustained in a fall from a skateboard or bicycle US, 1987 munchies noun a sensation of hunger experienced when smoking marijuana US, 1959 munchkin noun 1 a child. In general usage. The Munchkins were diminutive characters created by Frank L. Baum for his book The Wizard of Oz, 1900. The film of the book, made in 1939, has proved to be an iconographic touchstone for gay culture (FRIEND OF DOROTHY, etc.) US, 1971. 2 an acutely short person. From the race of small people in Frank Baum's Wizard of Oz US, 1975. 3 a young computer enthusiast. From diminutive characters in the Wizard of Oz US, 1991 munchy noun a shark AUSTRALIA, 1991

munchy adjective excellent, trendy, fashionable. School usage US, 1961

Muncie noun in hot rodding, a Chevrolet four-speed gearbox. Built at a Chevrolet plant in Muncie, Indiana US, 1965 mundane adjective unrelated to science fiction US, 1982 mundowie; mundowee noun the foot. From the extinct Australian Aboriginal language Dharug (Sydney region) AUSTRALIA, 1822

mung noun dirt of any kind US, 1948 mung verb 1 to beg. Used by tramps; from Romany mang (to beg) UK, 1811. 2 to sell lucky heather. English gypsy use; a variation of the previous sense UK, 2000 munga noun food. A shortening of MUNGAREE. Originally in military speech AUSTRALIA, 1918 mungaree noun food. From Italian mangiare (to eat). Variants include 'mungare', 'munjari', 'munjary' and 'menjarie' UK, 1861 mungaree verb to eat; hence food. From Italian mangiare, via parleyare and tramps' slang, into polari. Variants include 'mungarly', 'munja', 'munjarry', 'mangiare', 'manjaree', 'monjaree', 'giare' and 'jarry' UK, 1992

munge noun darkness UK, 2002

munge; mung verb in computing, to destroy data, accidentally or maliciously US, 1983 mungers noun the female breasts, especially when of above average dimensions. Possibly derived from 'humungous' UK, 2003

mung-pusher noun a poker player who habitually plays hands that have no chance of winning US, 1966

mung rag noun a cloth used to wipe up spilled alcohol at a bar; a cloth used to wipe off the penis after masturbating US, 2003

mung up; mung verb to botch, to blunder, to ruin US, 1969 munjacake noun a bland, uninteresting person. Italian-Canadian coinage and usage CANADA, 1993 munjon noun an Aboriginal who has little or no contact with white people. From the Western Australian Aboriginal language Yindjibarndi AUSTRALIA, 1947 munt verb to be ugly UK, 2003 munt; muntu noun a black African. From Bantu muntu (a human being), made abusive and offensive during apartheid SOUTH AFRICA, 1948

munted adjective 1 drunk or drug-intoxicated UK, 2001. 2 having become sexually intimate with an unattractive, promiscuous drunk. Student use; explained as 'to have pulled a MUNTER' UK, 2002 munter; munta; munt noun 1 an unattractive person who adds to the personal allure with drunkenness and/or promiscuity, especially but not exclusively of young women. Student usage UK, 1998. 2 a useless person or object NEW ZEALAND, 1997 muppet noun 1 a person who is mentally or physically incapacitated or disabled, or considered ugly; someone who represents any permutation of such characteristics; hence, any fool. Created by Jim Henson (b.1936), The Muppet Show, a successful television programme of the 1970s and subsequently in films, introduced the gallery of grotesque puppets on which this allusion is founded UK, 1983. 2 a magistrate. Police slang UK, 2002 muppet house noun a prison psychiatric unit; a mental hospital. Extended from MUPPET (a person who is mentally incapacitated) UK, 1996 muppetshop noun a prison workshop. Extended from MUPPET (a person who is mentally incapacitated; a fool) for the mindless nature of the work UK, 1996 mural noun a person with many tattoos US, 1997 murder noun 1 something that is extremely good US, 1927. 2 an absolute nuisance; dreadful trouble UK, 1857 murder verb to consume voraciously IRELAND, 1991. ► could murder to want, to be desirous of something UK, 1935 murdered adjective very drunk UK, 1983 murder house noun a school dental clinic NEW ZEALAND, 1984 murder one noun a mixture of heroin and cocaine US, 1994 murder weed; murder noun marijuana. Anti-marijuana propaganda adopted into regular slang usage US, 1935 murder-your-wife brick noun in television and film making, an imitation brick. The imitation brick was first used in the 1965 comedy How to Murder Your Wife, starring Jack Lemmon and Virna Lisi US, 1990

murk noun coffee US, 1949

murk verb to shoot with a gun US, 2003 murky adjective low-spirited, depressed US, 1997

murotogura noun heroin US, 2002

murphy noun 1 a potato. A belief that potatoes formed the basic diet in Ireland is reflected in this adoption of a common Irish surname UK, 1811. 2 the condition that exists when someone pulls your trousers or underpants forcefully upwards, forming a wedge between the buttock cheeks. Most commonly known as a 'wedgie' US, 1990

Murphy; Murphy game noun a swindle involving a prostitute and her accomplice, usually entailing robbing the prostitute's customer US, 1954

Murphy man noun the prostitute's male accomplice in a Murphy swindle US, 1966

Murphy's law noun a cynical 'law' of existence that decrees that 'if something can go wrong it will – and even if it can't, it still might'. Said to derive from a remark (or philosophy) of Captain E. Murphy at Edwards Air Force Base. The underlying maxim or 'law' is found as early as 1941, as 'an old legend' from Peru in 1952, and in 1957 it is offered as 'an old theatrical saying'. At best, it seems to be the attribution of an old saying to a new, glamorous aviation context US, 1955

Murray noun in horse racing, to bet on credit. Rhyming slang from 'Murray Cod' (a delicious inland fish) to ON THE NOD (on credit) AUSTRALIA, 1989. ► on the Murray cod (of a wager) agreed upon without money changing hands. Rhyming slang for ON THE NOD. Also in the short form 'on the murray' AUSTRALIA, 1967

Murray Walker; murray noun a talker. Rhyming slang, based on broadcaster (and, therefore, professional talker) Murray Walker (b.1923) UK, 2002 muscle noun 1 a person or persons using violence and intimidation, usually in the service of another US, 1942. 2 physical violence US, 1879. ► on the muscle threatening, coercive US, 1859 muscle verb to inject a drug intramuscularly, as opposed to intravenously US, 1970 muscle boy noun a hired intimidator US, 1963 muscle car noun a passenger car with a powerful engine, a light chassis and two-door body US, 1969 muscle-dancing noun a sexually suggestive dance US, 1950 muscle-happy adjective said of a prisoner who concentrates on physical fitness in jail US, 1958 muscle in verb to intrude, by force or threat of force, on another's activity or business; to intrude, by subterfuge, on another's activity or business UK, 1929 muscleman noun an enforcer for a criminal enterprise US, 1929 muscle Mary noun a homosexual man who is a bodybuilder UK, 2002 muscles nickname used as a form of address for a strong or well-muscled man; also used, with heavy irony, of a weakling UK, 1984 muscle uncle noun a stereotypically masculine homosexual male. Readily available in specialist Internet sites US, 2005 musgro noun a police officer. English gypsy use from Romany múskro (a policeman) UK, 2000 mush noun 1 the mouth or face. Sometimes seen as 'moosh' US, 1859. 2 a man; used as a greeting or as a dismissive term of address US, 1906. 3 money UK, 1962. 4 in circus and carnival usage, an umbrella UK, 1821. 5 a weak, slow wave US, 1977. 6 in the television and film industries, low-level sound used as background UK, 1960 mush verb 1 to kiss US, 1926. 2 (used of an aeroplane) to run out of airspeed US, 1935 mushburger noun in surfing, a weak, poorly formed wave US, 1988 musher noun 1 a man. An elaboration of MUSH UK, 2002. 2 a villain; someone who moves in criminal circles. Liverpool usage; possibly puns MUSH (the face) into FACE (a known criminal) UK, 2001 mushfake noun to manufacture in defiance of prison rules and prohibitions. A term originally applied to the makeshift repair of umbrellas US, 1952 mushie noun 1 a mushroom AUSTRALIA, 1981. 2 an hallucinogenic mushroom, a magic mushroom UK, 1996

mushied-up adjective intoxicated by hallucinogenic mushrooms. From MUSHIE (a mushroom) UK, 1999 mushmellow noun the vagina. A clever play on 'marshmallow' (a pink flower and a sweet confection), combining 'mush' (anything soft and moist) and 'mellow' (relaxed, comfortable) US, 1998

mushmouthed adjective unable to speak clearly US, 1977 mushrat noun a muskrat CANADA, 1954

mushroom noun 1 a person who is given no information. From the US witticism/poster and T-shirt slogan: 'I feel like a mushroom: everyone keeps me in the dark and is always feeding me bullshit' UK, 1979. 2 in firefighter usage, a fire that spreads out and downward when reaching a ceiling US, 1954. 3 an innocent bystander killed in crossfire US, 1988 mushroom verb (of the felt tip on a pool cue stick) to compress and spread outward US, 1988 mushroom pills noun psilocybin or psilocin, in powder or capsule form. A strong psychedelic drug extracted from Psilocybe mexicana and Stropharia cubensis mushrooms. One capsule has an equivalent effect to forty or more MAGIC MUSHROOM(S) UK, 1999

mushy noun a weak, slow wave US, 1964 mushy adjective sentimental, insipidly or gushingly romantic. A figurative application of the conventional sense US, 1848 musical vegetables noun baked beans UK, 1988 music stand noun in electric line work, a rack for holding insulated line tools US, 1980

Muskoka chair noun an outdoor wooden chair with wide flat armrests and a backrest in a fan shape. This is the Canadian name for what is known in the US as the 'Adirondack chair'. The Muskoka Lakes region is north of Toronto CANADA, 2001 muskra noun a police officer. A corruption of Romany moskero; mooshkero (a constable) UK, 1979

muskra noun a child US, 1976

muso noun a musician AUSTRALIA, 1967

mussie noun a tough woman UK, 1953

mustang noun an officer appointed from the enlisted ranks US, 1878 mustard noun AIDS [Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome], a disease that is transmitted by sexual contact. There are very few synonyms for AIDS despite the huge impact of the disease; the etymology here is uncertain US, 1996 mustard adjective excellent, best, skilled, keen. From the phrases 'keen as mustard' and 'hot as mustard' UK, 1925 mustard and cress; mustard noun a dress. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 mustard case noun a supreme show-off. The suggestion is of a HOT DOG, dosed with mustard US, 2001 mustard chucker noun a pickpocket who spills mustard on the victim as a diversion and excuse to approach US, 1989 mustard keen; mustard adjective very keen. From the proverbial phrase 'keen as mustard' UK, 1979 mustard pickle; mustard noun a cripple. Rhyming slang, imperfectly rhymed UK, 1998 mustard pot noun the vagina. Rhyming slang for TWOT (TWAT) UK, 1896 mustard pot; mustard adjective hot UK, 1998 mustard shine noun the application of mustard to the shoes in the hope of throwing tracking dogs off the scent US, 1949 must be nice! used for expressing envy or congratulations US, 2002

mutant noun a social outcast US, 1984 mute noun 1 the vagina. Gay slang UK, 1972. 2 in horse racing, a pari-mutuel betting machine US, 1942 mutha noun anything or anyone. An abbreviation of MOTHERFUCKER US, 2000

muthafucka noun a motherfucker. Alternative spelling US, 1979 muthafucking adjective used as an all-purpose intensifier. Variant spelling of MOTHERFUCKING US, 2001 mutt noun 1 a dog, especially a mongrel. Affectionately disparaging US, 1900. 2 a despicable low-life US, 1899. 3 a thug, a criminal US, 1997. 4 the American shethbill, a small Antarctic bird ANTARCTICA, 2003

Mutt and Jeff noun a pair of men who are physically mismatched, especially in height. From the popular comic strip US, 1914

Mutt and Jeff; mutton adjective deaf. Rhyming slang from the US cartoon strip characters created by Bud Fisher (1855–1954). Mutt first appeared in the San Francisco Chronicle in 1907, Jeff was drawn in shortly after and by 1915 the pair were a national phenomenon. Adopted into UK theatrical slang and consequently reduced in pronunciation to 'mutton' UK, 1960 mutter and stutter noun butter. Rhyming slang UK, 1960 mutton noun the penis AUSTRALIA, 1071

mutton flaps noun the labia majora NEW ZEALAND, 1998

muttonhead noun a railway dispatcher US, 1977

mutton-headed adjective stupid UK, 1768 mutton merchant noun a male sexual exhibitionist AUSTRALIA, 1971 mutton of the sea noun the hawksbill sea turtle BAHAMAS, 1982 mutt's nuts noun anything considered to be the finest, the most excellent, the best. Variation of DOG'S BOLLOCKS; MUTT (a dog) and NUTS (the testicles) combine literally and figuratively to mean 'outstanding' UK, 2001 muva noun used as an abbreviation of 'motherfucker'. A slovening of 'mother' UK, 2001 muzzie adjective stupid. Probably from 'muscle-headed' UK, 2001 muzzle noun heroin US, 1959 muzzle guzzle noun a party organised around alcoholic drink US, 1968 muzzler noun in circus and carnival usage, a person lacking morals US, 1981

muzzy noun a moustache UK, 2001

mwah! the vocal accompaniment to a kiss, especially an air-kiss UK, 1994

MX noun Mandrax™, a sedative drug UK, 1978

Myakka gold noun marijuana grown in Florida US, 2001

myall adjective (of an Australian Aboriginal) traditional; unaffected by white society AUSTRALIA, 1971 myall; Myall noun an Aboriginal who has little or no contact with white people. From the extinct Australian Aboriginal language Dharug, Sydney region, mayal (stranger) AUSTRALIA, 1962 my arse! my ass! used to register disbelief or contempt UK, 1933 my arsehole! used for registering disbelief or contempt. A variation of MY ARSE! UK, 1982 my Aunt Fanny! used as a register for disbelief, sometimes exclamatory. A euphemism for the bolder MY ASS! UK, 1945 my bad! used for acknowledging responsibility for and apologising for a mistake US, 1989

my bloody oath! yes indeed! Intensified form of MY OATH! AUSTRALIA, 1952

my bust! used for accepting responsibility for a mistake or error US, 1985 my colonial oath noun my word. Formerly a common exclamation AUSTRALIA, 1962

my dog ate it used as a humorous explanation of why a person does not have something that they are supposed to have. From the clichéd student excuse for not having a homework assignment US, 1999

my face! used for expressing embarrassment US, 2003

my foot! used for registering an emphatic rejection; used as a direct denial of a point just made. A polite variation of MY ARSE!, often used as a suffix to the repeated point of contention UK, 1999 my hen laid a haddock nickname the Welsh national anthem. A phonetic transliteration of the title and first-line of Mae Hen Wlad Fy Nhadau (The Land of my Fathers), first published in 1860. There are a number of humorous variations of the continuing lyric but the first line is a constant, dating from the 1990s. Credited to the poet Nigel Jenkins, it may have been inspired by English politicians inability to learn the Welsh words UK: WALES, 1994

my hole! used for registering disbelief or contempt UK, 2002

my oath! certainly!, yes indeed! AUSTRALIA, 1869

MYOB used in colloquial speech as well as shorthand in Internet discussion groups and text message to mean 'mind your own business' US, 2002

Myrna Loy noun a saveloy. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the US film actress, 1905–93 UK, 1992 my sainted aunt! used as an exclamation of trivial delight or shock UK, 1921 mystery noun a young woman, especially when she is a new arrival in a town or city UK, 1937 mystery bag noun 1 a sausage. So called because the contents are unknown AUSTRALIA, 1982. 2 a meat pie AUSTRALIA, 2003 mystery meat noun cold cuts of suspicious heritage US, 1918 mystery punter noun a man who spends his time obsessively on the lookout for young women who are newly arrived in a town or city with an intention to live with, and take advantage of, them; such a man is said to be 'mystery mad' UK, 1977

Mystic Meg noun 1 a leg. Rhyming slang, formed from a television fortune teller who came to fame in the mid-1990s by association with the National Lottery UK, 1998. 2 the penis. Rhyming slang for THIRD LEG; a specialisation of the previous sense UK, 2003

mysto adjective mystical US, 1980

my wave! used by surfers to express 'ownership' of a wave and to warn other surfers to get out and stay out of the way US, 1991 my word noun a piece of excrement. Rhyming slang for TURD UK, 1992 my word! 1 used as an expression of surprise or despair UK, 1841. 2 yes indeed! Shortening of 'upon my word!' AUSTRALIA, 1857

myxo noun the viral disease myxomatosis introduced to control feral rabbits AUSTRALIA, 1953

Nn

'n' conjunction and. An abbreviation; notably (since 1955) in ROCK 'N' ROLL US, 1858

NAAFI; Naafi noun a military organisation that operates shops and canteens for military personnel; any shop or canteen within that organisation. Acronym of Navy, Army and Air Force Institutes UK, 1921 naavo noun a secret hiding place IRELAND, 1999

nab noun the police; a police officer UK, 1813 nab verb 1 to catch, to arrest UK, 1686. 2 to snatch or steal something UK, 1665 nabber noun a police officer US, 1877 nabe noun 1 a neighbourhood cinema US, 1935. 2 a tavern US, 1950 naches; nakhes noun proud pleasure. Yiddish from the Hebrew for 'contentment' US, 1968 nack noun ► in the nack naked UK, 2002 nada noun nothing; none. From the Spanish, used by English speakers who do not understand Spanish, often heard in the 1980s advertising phrase 'Nothing – nada – zilch'. Recorded in UK gay currency US, 1914

nad alert; gonad alert noun used as a warning in a hospital that an x-ray is about to be taken US, 1994 nada to vada in the larder referring to a man's genitals, less than averagely endowed. Polari; a clever combination of NADA (nothing) and VADA (to see) with a conventional location where meat is stored UK, 2002 nadger noun in horse racing, a horse's nose or head AUSTRALIA, 1989 nadgers noun the testicles. Possibly deriving from 'gonads', and with a similarity to KNACKERS, 'nadgers' was an all-purpose nonsense word used by the radio comedy series The Goon Show during the 1950s UK, 1998 nads noun the testicles. From 'gonads' US, 1964 naff adjective vulgar, bad, unlovely, despicable; generally contemptible; when used in gay society it may mean heterosexual. Theatrical and CAMP origins but the actual derivation is disputed; possibly an acronym for 'not available for fucking', 'not a fuck' or 'normal as fuck'; or a play on the military acronym NAAFI (Navy, Army and Air Force Institutes) as 'no ambition and fuck-all interest'; otherwise it may originate as back slang for FANNY (the vagina or the buttocks), a shortening of 'nawfuckingood' or in the French phrase rien à faire (nothing to do) UK, 1965 naff used as a euphemism for 'fuck' (in all senses except sexual intercourse/to have sex) UK, 1977 naffette; naffeen adjective vulgar, bad, despicable, unlovely. Polari; CAMP variations of NAFF UK, 1992 naffing adjective used as a euphemism for 'fucking'. Extended from NAFF UK, 1959 naff it up verb to spoil something UK, 1981 naff off verb to go away. From NAFF; made very familiar in the UK during the 1970s by the prison-set television situation comedy, Porridge, written by Clement and La Frenais. Perhaps the social highpoint of this word's history was during the 1982 Badminton Horse Trials when Princess Anne (now Princess Royal) asked the press, 'Why don't you just naff off?' UK, 1982 nagware noun free computer software that frequently asks the user to send a voluntary payment for further use US, 1995 nah emphatically no. A variation of pronunciation US, 1971 nail noun 1 a hypodermic needle US, 1936. 2 a marijuana cigarette. Possibly another 'nail in your coffin' US, 1978. ► on the nail (of a payment) promptly UK, 1600 nail verb 1 to apprehend; to arrest UK, 1732. 2 to kill UK, 1824. 3 to have sex US, 1957. 4 to get right, to master US, 1989. 5 (of a wave) to knock a surfer from the surfboard. Always in the passive voice US, 1977.

► nail someone's bollocks to the door to physically beat up, to figuratively neuter and mentally defeat UK, 1998. ► nail the core in the language of hang gliding, to find the centre of a thermal and ride it up US, 1992 nailed adjective deranged US, 1836 nail-em-and-jail-em noun a police officer US, 1980 nailer noun a police officer US, 1973 nail nicker noun in gambling, a cheat who marks cards by nicking them with his fingernails US, 1997 nails noun a disappointment; a failure. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1981 naked adjective (used of a truck) driving without a trailer US, 1976

Naked Fanny nickname Nakhon Phanon, Thailand. Vietnam war humour US, 1967

Nam nickname Vietnam. Often used with 'the'. Originally military, then widespread, and now slightly arch US, 1962 namby-pamby noun an effeminate male US, 1968 name noun 1 an important or famous person US, 1975. 2 a known criminal UK, 1984. 3 a popular, high-profile professional wrestler US, 1995. ► have your name on it to be meant for you. Originally military, applied to a bullet (or similar) that was destined to hit a particular person; later use is far more general, being used, for instance, when a house-hunter finds the perfect property or, more trivially, of a drink UK, 1917. ► no names – no pack drill the guilty party (or parties) will not be named and, therefore, cannot be punished. Originally used of, or by, army lower-ranks; now general use UK, 1923 nan; nana; nannie; nanny noun a grandmother, especially as a form of address UK, 1940 nana noun 1 a banana US, 1929. 2 the head NEW ZEALAND, 1998. ► do your nana to lose control; to get angry AUSTRALIA, 1968. ► off your nana crazy, insane AUSTRALIA, 1966

nance noun an effeminate male or homosexual. Disparaging US, 1910

nance verb to behave in an exaggeratedly feminine fashion US, 1968 nancy adjective effeminate; homosexual UK, 1937 nancy boy noun an effeminate or homosexual man; the former may be construed to be the latter UK, 1904

Nancy Lee noun tea. Rhyming slang UK, 1960 nancy story noun an elaborate fabrication. From a traditional Caribbean folktale about Anancy TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1858 nan flap noun a pendulous spread of flabby upper arm that is characteristic of some older women UK, 2004 nang adjective excellent. Used by urban black youths UK, 2004 nanna adjective awful UK, 2002 nannie; nanny noun a black woman, also as a term of address. Offensive and demeaning SOUTH AFRICA, 1956 ► see: NAN nanny noun a prostitute who will, by arrangement, dress and treat a client as an infant UK, 2003 nanny goat; nanny noun 1 the Horserace Totaliser Board. Rhyming slang. The Tote was created by Act of Parliament in 1928 as 'an independent body with a monopoly of horse-race pool betting'; the legislation to allow the Tote to operate as an on-course bookmaker was not in force until 1972 UK, 1960. 2 a coat. Rhyming slang UK, 1971. 3 the throat. Rhyming slang UK, 1992. 4 a boat. Rhyming slang UK, 1989. ► get your nanny goat; get your nanny to annoy you. A variation of GET YOUR GOAT US, 1909 nanny whamming noun in rodeo, the joke event of goat tying CANADA, 1987

nano noun a very short period of time. An abbreviation of 'nanosecond', used figuratively US, 1991

nanoo noun heroin UK, 1998

Nanook noun a polar bear. The word comes from Eskimo CANADA, 1963 nante; nantee; nanti; nanty no; nothing, none; stop, shut up!; not. Polari, from Italian riente (nothing, anything). Recorded in contemporary gay use UK, 1951 nante pile on the carpet adjective bald UK, 1992 nante pots in the cupboard adjective toothless UK, 1992 nanti polari!; nanti panarily!; nantee palaver!; nanti parlaree! 'be quiet!, don't talk! Imperative; literally, 'no talk' UK, 2002 nanti that! stop it!, don't do that! Imperative UK, 2002 nantoise; nantois; nantoisale no; nothing, none. A variation of NANTE UK, 1997 nants no; nothing, none. A variation of NANTE UK, 1950 nanty worster adjective being no worse UK, 2002 nap noun 1 the short, curly hair of a black person US, 1969. 2 the hair; your hairstyle US, 1996. 3 in horse racing, a tipster's best bet UK, 1991. 4 a good bet, a sure thing. From the racing use UK, 2001 nape noun napalm, a mixture of petrol and a thickening agent for use in flame throwers or incendiary bombs, used extensively by the US during World War 2 and later wars US, 1968

napper noun the head UK, 1724 napper-wrapper noun a turban. Based on NAPPER (the head) UK, 1998

napps noun morphine sulphate tablets used to treat cancer patients IRELAND, 1996 nappy adjective of hair, usually of the hair of a black person, naturally tightly curled, frizzy. Often derogatory US, 1885 nappy dugout noun (of a black woman) the vagina. The imagery of 'dugout' is twofold: literally 'a trench', and, in baseball, the enclosure in which a batsman prepares to play; combined with NAPPY which typically describes black hair US, 1998 nap trap noun a roadside rest area US, 1976 nar adjective treacherous. An abbreviation of GNARLY US, 1988 nar; nar noun 1 an undercover narcotics officer US, 1967. 2 a social outcast US, 2001 narc ark; nark ark noun an undercover narcotic officer's car US, 1973 narco noun 1 narcotics US, 1954. 2 a narcotics detective US, 1955. 3 any person involved in the manufacture or distribution of drugs. An abbreviation of 'narcotics' US, 1958. 4 the Lexington (Kentucky) Federal Narcotics Hospital US, 1955 narcotic adjective wild, intense US, 1980 nards noun the male genitals US, 1970

narg noun an Indian NEW ZEALAND, 1998

narghile noun a water pipe used for smoking marijuana or hashish US, 1970 nark noun 1 a police informer. Also spelt 'narc' UK, 1839. 2 an aggravating person AUSTRALIA, 1846. 3 a spoilsport AUSTRALIA, 1927. 4 an awkward customer, one with no intention of buying UK, 1979. 5 a spiteful argument UK, 1979. 6 temper; a fit of annoyance AUSTRALIA, 1946. 7 umbrage UK, 1979. ► put the nark on to discourage UK, 1979

nark verb 1 to annoy UK, 1888. 2 to thwart AUSTRALIA, 1891. 3 to complain, to grumble UK, 1916. 4 to nag NEW ZEALAND, 1984. 5 to act as an informer UK, 1859

nark it! be quiet!, stop it!, shut up! UK, 1925 marks noun ► the marks decompression sickness (a medical condition that may be suffered by deep-sea divers). From the medical term 'nitrogen narcosis' UK, 1964 narky adjective bad-tempered, aggravated, annoyed; sarcastic UK, 1895 narrow adjective serious. Recorded in use in urban black society UK, 1999 narrowback noun 1 an unskilled, unfit labourer US, 1987. 2 a construction electrician. A term used with derision by power linemen to describe their intra-union rivals US, 1980 narrow yellow noun a military form (OCSA Form 159) used to pass routine actions to staff agencies US, 1986 narsty adjective disgusting. An embellishment of 'nasty' US, 2002 nary adverb neither; no US, 1746 nash verb to leave, especially in a hurry. From Romany nash, nasher (to run) UK, 1819 nash adjective weak, sickly, coddled CAYMAN ISLANDS, 1985

Nasho; nasho noun 1 a person serving in the National Service, a form of compulsory military service 1951–72 AUSTRALIA, 1962. 2 the National Service. Often used in the plural Nashos or Nashoes AUSTRALIA, 1962 nasodrain noun while surfing, the sudden and violent expulsion of sea water through the nose US, 1997 nastiness noun poor quality drugs UK, 2000 nasturtiums noun aspersions. A deliberate malapropism, usually as 'cast nasturtiums' UK, 1984 nasty noun 1 the vagina. A usage that calls to mind Grose's definition of CT – 'a nasty name for a nasty thing' NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 2 the penis AUSTRALIA, 1971. 3 a violently pornographic or horrific film. Often combined as VIDEO-NASTY but the content appears to be outlasting the technology UK, 1982. 4 an authority or agency that enforces citizens' band radio regulations UK, 1981. ► do the nasty to have sex. A squeamish euphemism applied in a jocular manner US, 1977. ► the nasty heroin UK, 1996 nasty adjective 1 excellent US, 1940. 2 sexy, attractive, appealing; slutish. A reversal of the conventional sense US, 1995 nasty-assed adjective cruel US, 1995 nasty boat noun a patrol boat developed for the coastal anti-invasion mission of the Royal Norwegian Navy. The 'nasty' is a technical term adopted to the vernacular US, 1991 nasty days noun a woman's menstrual period BAHAMAS, 1982

nastygram noun any unpleasant or unwanted e-mail US, 1991 nasty-nasty noun sex US, 1993 nasty neat adjective cleaner than clean US, 1975 nasty piece of work noun an objectionable person UK, 1961 nasty up verb to ruin or spoil BARBADOS, 1965

Nat; nat noun in politics, a nationalist SOUTH AFRICA, 1926 ► see: NAT KING COLE natalie noun a black homosexual. Gay slang, formed on the name 'Natalie', possibly as a play on Natal, and originating among Cape coloureds SOUTH AFRICA, 2000

natch noun ► on the natch withdrawing from drug addiction without medication to ease the pain US, 1969

natch; nach adverb naturally US, 1945 nate noun 1 nothing US, 1993. 2 an Alaskan native US, 1983 nates noun the buttocks US, 1993 national noun ► on tour with the national being moved from prison to prison via the national inter-prison transport system. A pun appreciated by actors of the National Theatre UK, 1996. ► the national the national inter-prison transport system UK, 1996 national debt noun a bet. Rhyming slang UK, 1960

National Front noun an unpleasant or despicable person. Rhyming slang for CUNT, formed on a political organisation of the extreme right; a neat pun UK, 1992 national game noun the gambling game two-up AUSTRALIA, 1930 national handbag noun unemployment benefit; the local offices from which unemployment benefit is managed. From HANDBAG (money). Recorded as a contemporary gay usage UK, 2003

National Hunt noun audaciousness; impudence. Rhyming slang for 'front' (see MORE FRONT THAN SELFDRIGES), formed from the official name given to horse racing over jumps UK, 1992

native noun 1 a native American Indian US, 2000. 2 to the employee of a circus or carnival, a local patron US, 1980 native sport noun during the Vietnam war, looking for and killing Viet Cong US, 1991

Nat King Cole; nat noun 1 unemployment benefit, a government office from which unemployment benefit is managed. Rhyming slang for THE DOLE; formed on the name of US singer and musician Nat 'King' Cole, 1919–65. Often in the phrase 'on the Nat' UK, 1961. 2 a mole (on the skin). Rhyming slang UK, 1992. 3 a bread roll. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 nato adjective used for describing someone who is not sexually aggressive US, 1968 natter noun aimless conversation; incessantly complaining talk. From northern English dialect gnatter (to grumble in conversation) UK, 1943 natter verb to engage in aimless conversation, to chat UK, 1943 natty noun 1 any natural light beer US, 2002. 2 a wearer of dreadlocks, especially a Rastafarian JAMAICA, 1976

natty adjective 1 stylish, smartly neat UK, 1785. 2 of hair, matted, uncombed, in a condition to be formed into dreadlocks JAMAICA, 1974

Natty Bo noun National Bohemian™ beer US, 1990 natural noun 1 a hairstyle embraced largely by black people, featuring longer, unprocessed, unparted hair US, 1969. 2 in craps, a winning roll of seven on the first toss US, 1962. 3 Seven-Up™ soda. An allusion to the game of craps, where a seven is a 'natural' US, 1967. 4 in pool, a shot that cannot be missed or a game that cannot be lost US, 1990. 5 a conventional (as opposed to countercultural) person. Used by beatniks, and then hippies; generally in the plural UK, 1967 natural punk noun in prison, a man who had been homosexual outside prison US, 1972 nature noun the penis; sexual arousal US, 2002 nature boy noun a boy in need of a haircut US, 1955 nature calls used for announcing, and for excusing yourself for, a needed visit to the toilet; the condition of needing to relieve yourself UK, 1984

nature's scythe noun the penis UK, 2003

Naughton and Gold noun a cold. Rhyming slang, formed from a comedy double act that was part of the Crazy Gang, Charlie Naughton, 1887–1976, and Jimmy Gold, 1886–1967 UK, 1961 naughty noun 1 an act of sexual intercourse AUSTRALIA, 1959. 2 a physical injury; hence, a disservice UK, 1984 naughty verb to have sex AUSTRALIA, 1961 naughty adjective 1 corrupt or violent. An archaic sense, used by Shakespeare to describe the criminally wicked, re-emerged in the C20 UK, 2000. 2 of antique furniture, being passed off as something better or other than it is UK, 1971 naughty Nazi salute noun the fully erect penis. A parallel with the arm raised stiffly from the body at a similar angle UK, 2003

nause; nauze noun an inconvenience, a difficulty, an unpleasant person or thing. 'Nausea' abbreviated and adapted UK, 1977 nause; nause up verb to spoil. From NAUSE (an inconvenience, an unpleasant thing) UK, 1978 nausea noun trouble, a fuss. In military use UK, 1959

Naussie noun a New Australian, especially a recent migrant from Europe. A blend of 'new' and AUSSIE AUSTRALIA, 1959 nautch noun a brothel; a striptease; a sex show of any kind. American Dialect Society member Douglas G. Wilson has suggested that the term is a mildly anglicised version of the Hindi word for 'a dance' US, 1872

Nautics noun ► the Nautics the Royal Navy. Used, originally, by the Royal Air Force; shortened from 'nautical' UK, 1951 nav noun a navigator. In Royal Navy and Royal Air Force use US, 1956

Nava-Joe noun a member of the Navajo Indian tribe US, 1963 naval engagement noun sexual intercourse. Used, originally, by naval officers; in speech it's a perfect pun CANADA, 1984 navy brat noun the child of a career member of the navy US, 1992

Navy cake noun homosexual anal sex US, 1964

naw no US, 1990

nay-nays noun a woman's breasts US, 1967 nay-no no, said with kindness. From the film Pootie Tang US, 2003

Nazi noun a fanatic about the preceding noun. Not coined but rendered wildly popular on the 'Soup Nazi' episode of Jerry Seinfeld's television comedy that first aired on 2nd November 1995 US, 1984

Nazi adjective unreasonably authoritarian UK, 2001

Nazi crank noun methamphetamine UK, 2004

Nazi go-cart; Nazi go-kart noun a Volkswagen car. Citizens' band radio slang remembering that Volkswagen were German manufacturers before and during World War 2 US, 1976

NBG adjective of no use. An abbreviation of 'no bloody good' UK, 1903

NDG adjective no damned good CANADA, 1997 near and far noun 1 a bar in a public house. Dated rhyming slang that remains a familiar term because of its neat reversal with FAR AND NEAR (beer) UK, 1909. 2 a car. Rhyming slang UK, 1971 near-beer noun a beer-like product with a very low alcohol content, legal during Prohibition. There is some dispute about who said the cleverest thing ever said about 'near beer' – 'The guy who called that near beer is a bad judge of distance' US, 1909 near the bone adjective barely within contemporary moral standards of taste UK, 1941 near the knuckle adjective barely within contemporary standards of decency UK, 1909 neat adjective 1 pleasing, very good. Found as early as 1808, rejected late in the C19, and then returned to favour in the 1930s. Still heard; inescapably HOKEY. Considered as an Americanism in the UK but used by teenagers without irony US, 1936. 2 (used of an alcoholic drink) served without ice or water UK, 1579 neat as a pin adjective very neat UK, 1787 neato adjective good US, 1901

neatojet adjective excellent US, 1972 neb noun 1 the nose UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. 2 an act of prying UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. 3 an inquisitive person UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 neb verb to pry. From NEB (a nosy person or an instance of prying) UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

nebbie; neb noun Nembutal™, a branded central nervous system depressant US, 1963 nebbish; nebish; nebbesch noun a hapless individual; an insignificant nobody. From Yiddish ne'bech (too bad!, alas!) thus Yiddish nebech (the poor thing); the many variant spellings – not all of which are listed here – result from the difficulty of pronunciation UK, 1892 nebbly adjective inquisitive, prying US, 1982

Nebraska sign noun a completely flat reading on an electrocardiogram. An allusion to the endless flat prairies of Nebraska US, 1994

Nebruary morning adverb never BARBADOS, 1965

nebular adjective excellent US, 1995 necessaries noun ► the necessities the male genitals UK, 1962 necessary noun 1 money, funds UK, 1897. 2 a latrine US, 1991 neck noun 1 the throat UK, 1818. 2 a drink. From the verb sense UK, 2002. 3 a white prisoner. A shortened 'redneck' US, 1976. 4 in horse racing, a distance of less than half a horse-length US, 1951.

5 impudence, effrontery, self-confidence. From Northumberland dialect UK, 1894. ► get it down your neck; get that down your neck to swallow it. Often, when in reference to an alcoholic drink, a light-hearted imperative UK, 1909. ► get it in the neck; catch it in the neck; take it in the neck to be severely punished or reprimanded US, 1887. ► get under your neck to usurp someone else's prerogative AUSTRALIA, 1989. ► neck like a jockey's bollocks used descriptively of a scrawny neck and analogously for personal qualities of toughness and insensitivity, said of someone who is not afraid to take advantage of a situation for their own gain IRELAND, 1992. ► up to the neck; up to your neck deeply US, 1998 neck verb 1 to kiss in a lingering fashion UK, 1825. 2 to swallow UK, 1514. 3 to drink AUSTRALIA, 1998. 4 in prison, to swallow a package of drugs with the intention of retrieval after excretion UK, 1996. 5 to commit suicide AUSTRALIA, 1995 necking noun the act of kissing, caressing and cuddling UK, 1825 necklace verb to set fire to a car tyre that has been doused in petrol and placed around a victim's neck. An innocent sounding term for a horrid practice, usually practised black-on-black in the waning days of the white supremacist government in South Africa SOUTH AFRICA, 1986 necklace; necklace of fire noun a tyre doused or filled with petrol, placed around a victim's neck or shoulders, and set alight SOUTH AFRICA, 1985 necklacer noun an executioner who, in the name of some informal justice, kills by means of the necklace SOUTH AFRICA, 1987 necklacing noun an act, or the action, of killing by means of the necklace SOUTH AFRICA, 1986 neck oil noun alcohol, especially beer UK, 1860 necktie party noun a hanging, especially an extra-judicial lynching US, 1882

necro noun a necrophile US, 1987 nectar noun alcohol. Formerly standard English, now slumming in slang with an archaic tone US, 1966 nectar adjective excellent US, 1989 ned noun 1 a young hooligan; a petty criminal UK: SCOTLAND, 1977. 2 a member of a Scottish subcultural urban adolescent grouping defined by loutish behaviour and a fondness for sportswear and jewellery UK, 2004

Ned noun the personification of malnutrition BARBADOS, 1965

neddy noun a horse AUSTRALIA, 1887 nederhash noun any or all varieties of hashish produced in the Netherlands. A compound of Dutch Nederland (Netherlands) and HASH NETHERLANDS, 2003

Ned Kelly noun 1 a television; television. Rhyming slang for TELLY, based on Australian bushranger Ned Kelly (1854–80). Current in UK prisons in 2002 UK, 1979. 2 the belly. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1945. 3 a thief. From Edward 'Ned' Kelly, Australian bushranger and folk hero (1855–80), famed for wearing self-made armour during his final showdown with police AUSTRALIA, 1962. ► game as Ned Kelly extremely game; courageous AUSTRALIA, 1938 needies noun gypsies. English gypsy use UK, 2000 needle noun 1 a feeling of resentment or irritation. Originally tailors' slang UK, 1873. 2 a vehicle's speedometer US, 1976. ► do the needle to inject drugs, especially heroin UK, 1996. ► get the needle (at, with or to) to become angry or ill-tempered (towards a stated someone or something) UK, 1874. ► on the needle using or addicted to drugs injected intravenously US, 1942 needle verb 1 to irritate, to annoy, to provoke UK, 1873. 2 in the illegal production of alcohol, to simulate ageing by inserting an electric needle into the keg US, 1974 needle and pin noun a twin. Rhyming slang. The plural is 'needles and pins' UK, 1998 needle and thread noun bread. Rhyming slang UK, 1859 needle beer noun beer which has been fortified with another form of alcohol US, 1962 needle candy noun any drug that can be injected US, 1971 needledick noun 1 a small, thin penis; a man so equipped US, 1970. 2 a despicable man US, 1998 needle-dicked adjective endowed with a small penis UK, 1995 needle freak noun an intravenous drug user US, 1967 needle jockey noun a nurse or doctor who administers shots US, 1960 needleman noun in a confidence swindle, an agent who inspires the victim with confidence in the scheme US, 1988 needle park noun a public park or public area where drug addicts gather and inject drugs. Brought into the idiom by the Panic in Needle Park (1966), referring to a traffic island at 74th and Broadway on Manhattan's Upper West Side, where heroin addicts congregated US, 1966

Needle Park nickname Sherman Square (71st Street and Amsterdam Avenue and Broadway), New York. So named because it was a spot favoured by drug users US, 1982 need-one-take-one noun the small tray near a shop's cash till with pennies which customers may use for making exact payments US, 1997

neek noun a socially awkward or unfashionable person UK, 2005

neff adjective bad, generally contemptible. A variation of NAFF UK, 2003 negatory no. Coined in the military, popularised in the US by truck drivers in the 1970s US, 1955 neg driving noun the crime of negligent driving AUSTRALIA, 1969 negotiable grass noun money US, 1951 negrogram noun gossip. An effort to euphemise the more popular NIGGERGRAM TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

negs noun in prison, child neglect UK, 1996 neighbor noun the number on either side of the winning number on a roulette wheel US, 1961 neil noun an LSD capsule. An allusion to Neil Young, whose music is suitable for enjoyment by young LSD users CANADA, 1993 neither use nor ornament adjective applied to a useless person or thing. Contemptuous. Not noted until 1978, however '[D]idn't appear to me to be either useful or ornamental[.]', recorded in 1942, implies an earlier use UK, 1978 nekkid adjective naked. Jocular spelling US, 1973 nellie noun an obviously homosexual man; an effeminate homosexual man. Recorded at least as early as 1916, but not fully emerged until the outing of gay culture UK, 1916 nelly noun 1 cheap wine. Shortening of earlier 'Nelly's death' (1935, Australian National Dictionary) AUSTRALIA, 1941. 2 the pelvic muscles TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 nelly! used, by effeminate homosexual men, as an exclamation of disgust or contempt. Remembered, or otherwise dated, as 'mid-1950s', by Beale UK, 1984 nellyarda verb to listen UK, 2002

nelly-assed adjective effeminate US, 1963

Nelly Bligh; Nelly Bly noun 1 a meat pie. Rhyming slang, formed on the protagonist of a folk song AUSTRALIA, 1950. 2 a fly Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1955 nelly, nellie adjective extremely, even outrageously, effeminate US, 1963

Nelly's room noun ► up in Nelly's room behind the wallpaper the presumed location of something missing IRELAND, 2003

Nelson Eddy; nelson adjective ready. Rhyming slang, based on US entertainer Nelson Eddy (1901–67) UK, 1992

Nelson Mandela; nelson noun lager, especially the Belgian lager Stella Artois™. Rhyming slang, 'Mandela' for 'Stella'. Based on African statesman, Nelson Rolihlahla Mandela (b.1918), emphasising lager drinkers' grasp of world affairs UK, 2002 nelsons noun cash. Formed from NELSON EDDY (ready), thus READIES (cash) UK, 1991

Nelson's blood noun Tum AUSTRALIA, 1924

nemie; nemby noun a barbiturate, especially Nembutal™ US, 1950

nemish noun a capsule of pentobarbital sodium (trade name Nembutal™), a central nervous system depressant US, 1969 nemmie noun a capsule of pentobarbital sodium (trade name Nembutal™), a central nervous system depressant US, 1950

Nep; Nepalese noun potent hashish from Nepal UK, 1999

Nepalese blue; Nepalese; Royal Nepalese noun marijuana cultivated in Nepal UK, 1970

Nepalese temple balls; Nepalese temple hash noun hashish from Nepal, originally prepared for religious use US, 1989 nephew noun a young, passive male homosexual in relation to his older lover US, 1950

neppy noun a person from northeast Philadelphia. A combination of 'North East Philly' US, 1996

Nepsha and Kiah noun a random selection of people from the populace BARBADOS, 1965

'ner noun dinner US, 1969 nerd; nurd noun a person lacking in social skills, fashion sense or both US, 1951 nerdbomber noun a pest. A catchy term from the television programme Full House US, 1990 nerd box noun a study cubicle US, 1997 nerdistan noun a dormitory community for information-and-communication-technology workers. A play on NERD (a dull social stereotype) US, 1997 nerdly noun a socially inept outcast US, 1965 nerdvana noun the world of computer enthusiasts who surf the Internet every night CANADA, 1995 nerf verb in motor racing, to bump a competitor during a race US, 1952

nerf bar noun in hot rodding, a car bumper US, 1953 nerk; nurk noun a contemptible person. Possibly compounds NERD and JERK (a fool) or BERK (a fool). A floral tribute in the shape of the word 'nurk' featured in the comedy-documentary Life Beyond The Box, BBC 2, 3rd May 2004 UK, 1966 nerve noun effrontery, audacity UK, 1893 nerves noun ► get on your nerves to affect morbidly UK, 1937

Nervo and Knox noun 1 television; a television. Rhyming slang for BOX, formed from the names of a comedy double act, members of the Crazy Gang, Jimmy Nervo, 1890–1975, and Teddy Knox, 1896–1974 UK, 1971. 2 syphilis, a sexually transmitted infection. Rhyming slang for POX, sometimes abbreviated to 'nervo' UK, 1977. 3 socks. Rhyming slang UK, 1961 nervous adjective excellent, well done US, 1926

Nervous Air nickname Service Air, the Canadian military administrative term for the rough and ready travel using military transport CANADA, 1995 nervous Nellie noun an excessively nervous person US, 1926 nervous wreck noun a cheque. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 nervy adjective nervous US, 1891

Nessie nickname the Loch Ness monster. This familiar name for a shadow on which part of the Scottish economy exists developed not long after the newspapers announced, on 2nd May 1933, that a giant marine creature had been seen in Loch Ness. It is interesting to note that Nessie reappears in the papers about the same time each year UK, 2001 nest noun 1 a bed US, 1990. 2 a hairdo. High school student usage US, 1961 nest egg noun money saved for the future UK, 1700 nester noun a member of the Mexican-American prison gang Nuestra Familia. A corrupted pronunciation of 'Nuestra' US, 1990

Nestlé's Quick noun a non-commissioned officer recently arrived in Vietnam after graduation from training school. The short time it took to earn their rank bothered enlisted men, who struck back with this allusion to Nestlé Quik™ (later Nesquik™), a powdered milk flavouring US, 1991

net noun 1 ten; in betting, odds of 10–1. Back slang UK, 1851. 2 the Internet US, 1995

net and bice noun in betting, odds of 12–1. A combination of NET (ten) and BICE (two) adds up to twelve UK, 1991

net and ex noun in betting, odds of 16–1. A combination of NET (ten) and a slurring of 'six', adding up to sixteen UK, 1991

net and rouf noun in betting, odds of 14–1. A combination of NET (ten) and ROUF (four), adding up to fourteen UK, 1991

nethead noun in the language surrounding the Grateful Dead, a follower of the band who is part of the Grateful Dead cyber community US, 1994

netiquette noun the protocol, implicit or explicit, observed by members of an Internet discussion group US, 1995 netlag noun an inordinate delay in an Internet relay chat. A pun on the standard 'jet lag' US, 1995

net police noun a participant in an Internet discussion group who on a self-appointed basis polices the discussion for protocol and etiquette violations US, 1991

neuron noun a neurologist US, 1994 neutral noun ► to put someone into neutral to castrate someone NEW ZEALAND, 2002

Nevada lettuce noun a one-thousand-dollar note. Nevada, formerly the only state in the US with legal gambling, is still the most popular gambling destination in the US and the only state with legal brothels US, 1962

Nevada nickel noun a five-dollar gambling token US, 1979 never adverb not UK, 1999 never again noun Ben Truman™, a branded beer. Rhyming slang, from the promise made the morning after the night before UK, 1992 neverendum noun either of the two referenda on Quebec sovereignty or independence. The term is a sarcastic allusion to the independentist government's having called two votes on the subject and vowing to keep calling them till it won CANADA, 1999 never fear – NAME is here a catchphrase announcement – using the speaker's name, of course – of the speaker's reassuring presence; also used, by the speaker, as a general greeting; or, ironically (and, occasionally, disdainfully) of a third party UK, 1975 never happen! used for expressing supreme doubt TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1956 never in a pig's ear never. Rhyming slang for 'never in a year' UK, 1977 nevermind noun ► makes no nevermind makes no difference US, 1924 never mind! 1 don't worry; mind your own business. Semi-exclamatory imperative UK, 1959. 2 used as a humorous admission of misunderstanding. A key signature line of the early years of NBC's Saturday Night Live, uttered by the Emily Litella character played by Gilda Radner who would end rants about 'Soviet Jewelry' or 'the deaf penalty' with the humble 'never mind'. Repeated with referential humour US, 1977 never-never noun 1 hire purchase. A suggestion that you will never, never pay off your debts, with an ironic reference to J.M. Barrie (1860–1937)'s idealised home for Peter Pan, 'Never Never Land', first realised in 1904 UK, 1964. 2 the remote regions of interior Australia. Origin unknown. Sometimes upper case AUSTRALIA, 1833 never-never country noun the remote regions of interior Australia AUSTRALIA, 1889 never-never land noun 1 an imaginary, ideal world. From J. M. Barrie's Peter Pan novels UK, 1900. 2 the hire purchase method of payment by instalments UK, 2005 never pitch a bitch used in confidence swindles as a humorous rule of thumb meaning 'never try to do a sales job on a woman' US, 1985 never smarten a sucker up used by gambling cheats and confidence swindlers as a prime rule of the trade US, 1950 never this year not a chance UK, 2000 never-was noun a person to whom actual achievement has eluded US, 1891 neves; nevis noun 1 in betting, odds of 7–1 UK, 1991. 2 the number seven. Back slang UK, 1851. 3 a prison sentence of seven years.

A specific application of the number seven. Sometimes extended to 'nevis stretch' UK, 1958 neves and a half noun In bookmaker slang NEVES is 7–1, here the addition of 'a half' increases the odds to 7½–1 or 15–2. In bookmaker slang NEVES is 7–1, here the addition of 'a half' increases the odds to 7½–1 or 15–2 UK, 1991 neves to rouf noun in betting, odds of 7–4. A combination of NEVES (seven) and ROUF (four) when, if used alone, each word signifies more than the number itself. Pronounced 'nevis to roaf' UK, 1991

Neville noun a stupid or annoying person; a person lacking in social skills, fashion sense or both AUSTRALIA, 1995 new noun a lager-style beer brewed by the bottom-fermentation method. As opposed to OLD AUSTRALIA, 1935

new! used for commenting humorously on a new purchase US, 1963

new addition noun crack cocaine UK, 2003 newb noun a new user of the Internet; a newcomer to an Internet discussion group or multi-player game. A shortening of 'newbie' UK, 2003 newbie noun 1 a new user of the Internet; a new arrival to an Internet discussion group. The general sense 'newcomer' used condescendingly US, 1995. 2 a newcomer. Originally military US, 1970 new boy noun used of a man or a corporate entity, a new arrival to an existing community. From school usage, applied less accurately in military, business and other closed-circles UK, 1948

New Brunswick credit card noun a rubber siphoning hose for stealing petrol. An analogous term is the Texas OKLAHOMA CREDIT CARD. People from better-off adjacent states or provinces seem convinced that their poorer neighbours are thieves CANADA, 1992

newbug noun a new boy or new girl. Originally from Marlborough School and only of a boy, now widespread UK, 1900

newby verb to fail to perform at a critical moment US, 2002

Newcastled adjective filled with Newcastle Brown Ale™; drunk (probably as a result of drinking Newcastle Brown Ale). Newcastle Brown Ale was first brewed (in Newcastle) in 1927 UK, 2002 new chum noun 1 a newly arrived immigrant from Britain who has little knowledge of local life and customs. Originally applied to newly incarcerated prisoners (1812 Vaux), it was applied to migrants as early as 1828 (Australian National Dictionary); the opposing term was 'old chum' but this did not survive into the C20 AUSTRALIA, 1969. 2 a novice AUSTRALIA, 1851

New Delhi noun the belly. Rhyming slang, formed, possibly, on a sly reference to Indian food UK, 1992

Newf noun a Newfoundlander CANADA, 1958

Newfie noun any person from Newfoundland US, 1942

Newfie banana noun the root of the cinnamon fern CANADA, 1988

Newfie Bullet noun a train that traversed the interior of Newfoundland. Ironic CANADA, 1965

Newfiejohn noun the city of St John's, Newfoundland CANADA, 1945

new girl noun a new arrival to an existing community. From school use, applied to a female adult joining military, business or other closed group UK, 2003

New Guinea crud noun any skin rash suffered in tropical and jungle environments US, 1946 new guy noun a freshly arrived soldier to combat. Often embellished to FUCKING NEW GUY US, 1970

New Hampshire screwdriver noun a hammer. Maine usage, looking down on the workmanship of carpenters from the south US, 1975

newie noun something new AUSTRALIA, 1924

Newington Butts; newingtons noun the stomach, abdomen, guts; in a figurative sense the essential qualities of a person. Rhyming slang for GUTS. Newington Butts is an area of south London UK, 1960 new jack noun a newcomer (especially one likely to be a success) US, 1988

new jack swing noun heroin and morphine in concert UK, 1998 new kid noun in roller derby, a skater who has not yet been accepted by other skaters US, 1999

new kid on the block adjective in bar dice games, a player just joining an ongoing game US, 1971

Newky brown; Newky noun Newcastle Brown Ale™. As widely used as the beer is appreciated UK, 1984 new-man-rule noun an unwritten rule among some units of the US Army in Vietnam that a newly arrived soldier would be placed at the front of the unit as pointman US, 1990

new meat noun 1 a new student at a school US, 1962. 2 an inexperienced prison inmate US, 1938. 3 an inexperienced soldier freshly arrived at the front US, 1971

new nip noun a small boy, or a new boy at a school UK, 1947 new one applied to a previously unheard joke or anecdote, or to something seen, or heard of, for the first time. Generally phrased 'that' or 'it's a new one on' followed by a pronoun or person's name US, 1887 new pussy noun a woman unknown to gang members US, 1966 news bunny noun a female television reporter or anchor hired for her cute looks US, 1990 new school adjective (used of rap music) current, modern. The functional reciprocal of OLD SKOOL US, 2001 news hawk noun a newspaper reporter US, 1931

new-sick noun a new influenza virus BARBADOS, 1965 newspaper noun a thirty-day jail sentence US, 1926 newspapers noun LSD UK, 2003

newsstand noun a dealer in pornographic literature and magazines US, 1986 newsy adjective 1 full of information, especially of trivial or personal matters UK, 1832. 2 nosy; too interested in gossip US, 1970 newszine noun a fan magazine that does not contain any fiction, just news US, 1976

newted adjective drunk. From PISSED AS A NEWT UK, 1984

Newton and Ridley adjective mildly drunk. Rhyming slang for TIDDLY, formed from the name of the fictitious brewery that supplies the drinking requirements of the characters in the long-running television soap opera Coronation Street UK, 1998

Newton Heath noun teeth. Rhyming slang from Manchester, formed on the name of an industrial suburb of the city UK, 1959 new toy noun in the Metropolitan Police, a newly introduced piece of equipment; a new recruit UK, 1999

New Year noun ► not know if it's New Year or New York applied to anyone who is failing to think clearly (for whatever reason) UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

New Yorker noun a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. A play on APPLE (a variety of MDMA) and THE APPLE (New York) UK, 1996

New York kiss noun a punch to the face US, 1999

New York minute noun a very short period of time. A nod to the impatience associated with New Yorkers US, 1948

New York reload noun a second (concealed) pistol; an act of drawing a second gun. Derives from a legal loophole: New York police used not to be allowed the use of a speed loader but a second, concealed gun was apparently permissible US, 2002

New York Slime nickname the New York Times newspaper US, 1981

newzak noun trivial news, or broadcast news that exists in the background but is ignored. A play on 'muzak' UK, 2003

New Zealand green noun a strain of marijuana, known elsewhere as Tasmanian tiger, Thai Buddha and Hawaiian head NEW ZEALAND, 2002

New Zealand mafia noun a notional organisation of New Zealand professionals in London NEW ZEALAND, 1986

next noun during the Vietnam war, a soldier whose rotation home was due in only a few days US, 1991

next adjective within a few days of returning to the US after a tour of duty in Vietnam US, 1990 nextish noun the next issue of a single-interest fan magazine US, 1982

nexus noun 4-bromo-2,5-dimethoxyphenethylamine, a mild hallucinogen US, 1995

NF nickname the Nuestra Familia prison gang US, 2000

NF verb as an act of racial hatred, to set fire to a property that houses members of an ethnic minority. Derives from the initials of the National Front, a politically right-wing organisation founded on muddled philosophies of racial intolerance and violent intervention UK, 2005

NFG adjective used as shorthand to mean 'no fucking good' US, 1977

NFN doctors' shorthand for the facetious diagnosis: normal for Norfolk. Recorded in an article about medical slang in British (3 London and 1 Cambridge) hospitals UK, 2003

NG adjective no good US, 1879

NHI adjective used for describing a crime against a criminal, especially one involving only black people. An abbreviation of 'no humans involved' US, 1973

Niagara Falls; niagaras noun the testicles. Rhyming slang UK, 1943 nibble noun a non-committal expression of interest. From the image of a fish trying a bait UK, 1959 nibby noun a walking stick, especially one used in rounding up sheep NEW ZEALAND, 1964 nibs noun ► his nibs; her nibs himself, herself, a self-important person. Usually styled as a mock-title UK, 1821 nice and easy noun heroin US, 1994 nice as pie adjective very polite, very agreeable US, 1922 nice bit noun a prison sentence of three years or more UK, 1996 nice enough noun a homosexual male. Rhyming slang for PUFF UK, 1992 nice kitty noun a Christmas bonus US, 1954 nice little earner noun a well-paid job or profitable scheme, almost always criminal to some degree. An elaboration of EARNER, made popular by actor George Cole as small-time crook and wheeler-dealer Arthur Daley in Minder, 1979–94 UK, 1996 nicely irrigated with horizontal lubricant adjective drunk. Some people, when drinking, use too many words UK, 2002 nice-nice adjective very attractive UK, 1994 nice one used in a congratulatory sense to express praise for an action UK, 1997 nice one Cyril; nice one noun a squirrel. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 nice one, Cyril used for expressing praise. A very popular catchphrase of the mid-1970s. It originated in a television commercial and was taken up in the early 70s as a football chant by Tottenham Hotspur FC's supporters in celebration of Cyril Knowles, one of the club's leading players UK, 1984 nice talk noun a line of conversation intended to seduce. Urban black youth usage UK, 2003 nice up verb to make something more acceptable or presentable, to improve, to refine UK, 2004 nice weather for ducks wet weather. Known in variant forms since 1840 UK, 1973 nicely nice adjective Extremely nice, even excessively nice. A diminutive, childish formation usually used with some degree of mocking or irony UK, 1859 nick noun 1 a prison; a police station. In either case it is where one is taken after getting 'nicked' (arrested); the former dates from 1882, the latter 1957 UK, 1950. 2 condition or quality, especially in phrases 'in good nick', 'in poor nick', etc. Originally dialect UK, 1905. 3 in horse racing, a mating that results in the sought-after qualities AUSTRALIA, 1989. 4 five dollars' worth of marijuana. A shortened form of 'nickel' as in NICKEL BAG US, 2002. 5 in craps, a winning roll of seven on the first toss US, 1962. 6 a nickname US, 1995. ► in the nick naked NEW ZEALAND, 1998. ► on the nick engaged in thieving UK, 1977

nick verb 1 to arrest, to apprehend UK, 1622. 2 in prison, to place on report UK, 2001. 3 to steal UK, 1869. 4 to win a gamble, possibly by taking an unfair advantage or cheating. A variation of earlier obsolete senses: 'to cheat at cards', 'to defraud' UK, 1676. 5 (of a person) to move quickly. Followed by an adverb. Perhaps a specialised use of the sense 'to cheat' AUSTRALIA, 1894. 6 to throw dice BARBADOS, 1965. ► get nicked get lost. Euphemistic for 'get fucked' AUSTRALIA, 1968. ► nick a living to make enough money to survive UK, 1998. ► nick the title to win a sporting contest and thereby to take the title UK, 1998 nick about with verb to go around in the company of, or associate with, someone or some group of people UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 nick away verb to leave, to steal away NEW ZEALAND, 1998 nicked adjective stolen. From the verb NICK (to steal) UK, 2001 nickel noun 1 a five-year prison sentence US, 1953. 2 five dollars US, 1946. 3 in American casinos, a five-dollar betting chip US, 1980. 4 five hundred dollars US, 1974. 5 a mediocre object or situation US, 1977 nickel adjective inferior US, 1932 nickel and dime verb to wear down in small increments US, 1961 nickel-and-dime adjective small-time, operating on a small scale US, 1941 nickel and dime; nickel noun 1 time. Rhyming slang US, 1998. 2 in pool, a table that is five feet by ten feet US, 1993 nickel-and-dime pimp noun a small-time pimp US, 1972 nickel bag noun five dollars' worth of a drug US, 1966 nickel-dime-quarter noun poker played with very small bets US, 1968 nickel game noun a game of craps in which the true and correct odds are paid US, 1950 nickel gouger noun the operator of a dishonest carnival game US, 1950 nickel note noun a five-dollar US, 1926 nickelonian noun a crack cocaine addict. A play on 'nickelodian', after the NICKEL BAG that the addict hungers for US, 1998 nickel-pincher noun a cheapskate. A variation on the much more common 'penny-pincher' US, 1949 nickels noun in craps, a roll of two fives US, 1983 nickels and dimes noun in hold 'em poker, a five and ten as the first two cards dealt to a player US, 1981 nickel seats noun inexpensive seats at an event, usually far from the action US, 1990 nickel's worth noun a five-minute conversation on a citizens' band radio. Five minutes was once the longest conversation allowed at one time US, 1976 nick 'em and stick 'em used of the professional approach of a prison officer who is interested only in the discipline and confinement of prisoners UK, 1996 nicker noun 1 one pound sterling (£1); pounds UK, 1910. 2 pounds AUSTRALIA, 1965

nicker bit noun a one-pound coin. From NICKER (£1) UK, 1992

nicker bits noun diarrhoea. Rhyming slang for THE SHITS, formed from NICKER BIT (a £1 coin) UK, 1992 nick joint noun a dishonest gambling operation US, 1978 nick-nacker noun an infrequent drug user US, 1984 nick nick used of catching or arresting, or the act of being caught. Reduplication of NICK (to arrest); directly from the catchphrase popularised in the later 1970s by comedian Jim Davidson (b.1953) UK, 1981 nick off verb 1 to depart, to leave AUSTRALIA, 1901. 2 to play truant. Teen slang UK, 1982. 3 to take or steal something AUSTRALIA, 1968

Nicky Butt noun a testicle. Rhyming slang for NUT(S), formed from a Manchester United footballer (b.1975) UK, 1998 nic-nac party noun a party for a bride-to-be. At the party, the gifts for the bride focus on her future home AUSTRALIA, 1988

niddy-noddy noun a stick about a foot long, with end-pieces, used for wrapping yarn CANADA, 1986 niebla noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust. Spanish for 'cloud' US, 1994 nieve noun cocaine. Spanish for 'snow' US, 1993 niff noun an unpleasant smell. Possibly derives from 'sniff' UK, 1903 niff verb to smell unpleasantly. From the noun sense UK, 1927 niffy adjective smelly. From Sussex dialect UK, 1937 nifty noun the sum of fifty pounds sterling (£50). Not really rhyming slang, merely a convenient rhyme UK, 1999 nifty adjective smart, fashionable, fine, splendid. Old-fashioned and affected; probably a corrupted 'magnificent' US, 1805 nifty fifty noun an act of masturbation. A rhymed approximation of the number of movements required. Often in the phrase 'give it the nifty fifty' UK, 1984 nifty-keen adjective excellent US, 1972 nig noun 1 a black person. A shortened form of NIGGER, no less offensive US, 1828. 2 an Australian Aboriginal. Racially offensive; now not very common AUSTRALIA, 1880. 3 a new soldier, either a recruit or one just out of recruit training UK, 1980

Nigel Benn noun a pen. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a champion boxer (b.1964) UK, 1998

Nigerian noun in homosexual usage, any black man US, 1987

Nigerian lager noun Guinness™, the branded stout. From the deep black colour of the beer UK, 1977

Nigerian scam spam noun a swindle that uses e-mail to solicit potential victims to help an African correspondent transfer millions of dollars into an American bank account US, 2002 nigga noun a black person. A deliberate misspelling, reinventing NIGGER for exclusive black use; widely used in gangsta rap US, 1980s nigger noun 1 a black person. When used by white speakers, highly offensive; used by black speakers, especially the young, with increasing frequency UK, 1574. 2 an Australian Aboriginal. Racially offensive AUSTRALIA, 1845. 3 a Maori NEW ZEALAND, 1858. 4 a friend. The word having been reclaimed by the black population, usage in the racially-mixed community of St Pauls, Bristol, resulted, in 2003, in white youths emulating black peers and calling their friends, of any skin-colour, 'nigger' UK, 2003. 5 in the television and film industries, a screen on a stand used to achieve lighting effects UK, 1960. ► another push and you'd have been a nigger used insultingly as a slur on the morals of the subject's mother, implying that she would have sex with anyone of any race UK, 1961 niggerati noun a high profile grouping of successful members of black society. A black coinage, combining NIGGER (a black person) and -ERATI (a suffix which suggests the fashionable) UK, 2000 nigger babies noun dirt specks, especially in the creases of the neck US, 1970 nigger bait noun a great deal of chrome on a car US, 1960 nigger bankroll noun a single large-denomination bill wrapped around small-denomination notes, giving the impression of a great deal of money US, 1980 nigger bet noun an uncommon amount wagered US, 1968 nigger flicker noun a small knife; a razor blade used as a weapon US, 1980 niggergram noun gossip TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1950 nigger-hater noun an overt racist US, 1951 niggerhead noun 1 tobacco, twisted into a plug US, 1843. 2 an eight-gallon milk can CANADA, 1992. 3 a tuft of grass US, 1859. 4 in lobstering, a winch head US, 1978 niggerhead keister noun a steel safe shaped like a ball US, 1976 nigger heaven noun 1 a simple, perfect happiness US, 1906. 2 the highest, least expensive seats in a theatre US, 1866 nigger in the woodpile noun anything that spoils the perfection of a finished article. Originally used without any sense that offence may be caused; now taboo US, 1852 niggeritis noun laziness; sloth after eating TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2001 nigger-knockers noun heavy work boots US, 1964 niggerlip verb to moisten the end of a cigarette with saliva US, 1940 nigger local noun on the railways, a freight train that makes frequent local stops that involve heavy work for the crew US, 1916 nigger-lover noun a white person who mixes with or admires black people; a white person who believes that all men are created equal. Originally white usage, it was intended to be offensive and disparaging US, 1856 nigger-loving adjective used for describing a white person who does not share the speaker's pathological hatred of black people US, 1879 nigger navel noun a type of daisy US, 2002 nigger pennies noun an illegal lottery game US, 1977 nigger pool noun an illegal numbers gambling lottery US, 1949 nigger rich adjective maintaining outward signs of wealth US, 1930 nigger-rig verb to improvise in a shoddy way US, 1965 nigger's lip noun a (potato) chip. Rhyming slang UK, 1980 niggers' man noun a white person who is less prejudiced than most BAHAMAS, 1905

Niggerstan noun any country with a black population. Racist UK, 1994 nigger stick noun a reinforced baton used by police on suspected criminals, criminals and prisoners US, 1971 nigger sticker noun a long, sharp knife US, 1969 nigger ten noun a cross near where a person has died BARBADOS, 1965 nigger toe noun a Brazil nut US, 1886 nigger toes noun black olives US, 1996 niggertown noun a neighbourhood with a large population of black people US, 1904 nigger up verb to make many purely decorative, inexpensive, flashy modifications to a car US, 1992 niggerville noun a section of a city or town populated by black people. Offensive US, 1857 niggle noun a complaint UK, 1886 niggle verb 1 to do something in a finicky, fussy or time-wasting manner. Originally, certainly from about 1640, in conventional use; now, according to the Oxford English Dictionary, chiefly colloquial UK, 1893. 2 to irritate, to cause a slight but persistent annoyance. Generally considered to be a conventional use; included here for its derivatives which are certainly in this dictionary's domain UK, 1796. 3 to have sex US, 1962. 4 in horse racing, to urge a horse with hands and rein UK, 1948 niggled adjective annoyed, irritated, especially when made so by disappointment or the pettiness of others. From Cumberland dialect UK, 1878 niggliness noun irritability, a state of being short-tempered UK, 1982 nigging adjective petty, persistently irritating UK, 1854 niggly adjective 1 bad-tempered, especially about trifling concerns; irritable UK, 1840. 2 annoying, irritating UK, 1840 night noun ► it'll be all right on the night; it will all come right on the night used as an optimistic reassurance that everything will be fine. Originally theatrical, expressing the belief that all will be well for the first night. It'll Be Alright on the Night, a television programme celebrating the things that go wrong (despite its reassuring title) has been broadcast since 1977 UK, 1899.

► make a night of to spend the night in pursuit of (dissolute) pleasures UK, 1693 night; 'night good night. Elliptical reduction of the customary good wishes at parting or sleep UK, 1912 night and day noun a play. Rhyming slang UK, 1960 night and day adjective grey. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 night bull noun a prison guard assigned to a night shift US, 1967 nightcap noun 1 the final alcoholic drink of the night UK, 1818. 2 a marijuana cigarette, especially the last one of the day. No doubt for the relaxant properties of the drug UK, 1996. 3 in horse racing, the last race of the day US, 1951 nightclub tan noun a pale complexion UK, 1973 night cocky noun in prison, a night patrolman UK, 2000 night compass noun a chamber pot CAYMAN ISLANDS, 1985

nightery; niterie noun a nightclub US, 1934 night eye noun an irregular growth on the inside of a horse's legs, useful as a means of identification US, 1938 night for night noun in television and film-making, a scene set at night that is also shot at night US, 1988 nighthawk noun 1 a person who is active late at night UK, 1818. 2 a taxi driver who works late at night US, 1988 night house noun an illegal lottery operating at night US, 1957 nightie; nighty noun a nightgown UK, 1871 nightingale noun a police informer. From the SING metaphor US, 1968 night manoeuvres noun a social date US, 1962 nightmare noun an unpleasant experience; an unpleasant person UK, 1927 night nurse noun a cigarette smoked in the middle of the night by an addict whose body is awakened by the craving for nicotine in the next day US, 1996 night rider noun 1 a person who enjoys the wild side of life at night US, 1951. 2 in horse racing, someone who takes a horse out for a night workout in the hope of lessening its performance in a race the next day US, 1951 nights belong to Charlie used as a rule of thumb by US soldiers in Vietnam, acknowledging the ascendancy of the Viet Cong during the dark US, 1990 night train noun suicide US, 1984 night work noun at night, urination or defecation other than in a toilet TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1959 nighty-night; night-night; nigh'-nigh' good night. Originally children's vocabulary but now widely used and not always ironically UK, 1896 nig in verb to sneak in without paying UK, 2003 nig-nog noun 1 any non-white person. Rhyming slang, by virtue of the rhyme with WOG, this racist and derogatory term is a compound of NIGGER (a black person) and WOG (any foreigner); it is not always considered abusive by the speaker. In Love Thy Neighbour, a UK television comedy which ran to seven series, 1972–76, the white-skinned characters routinely called their black neighbours SAMBO(S) and 'nig-nogs' UK, 1959. 2 a fool; a novice. Military use, possibly from obsolete slang 'nigmenog' (a fool), probably informed by racist sentiments UK, 1959

nigra noun marijuana UK, 2003

-nik suffix a supporter or follower of the precedent activity or principle US, 1963

Nike air jerusalem noun Nike Air Jordans™, a branded sport shoe. A weak pun replacing Jordan with Jerusalem, current in UK prisons August 2002 UK, 2002

Nike down verb to dress in nothing but Nike™ clothing and shoes US, 1998

Niki Lauda; Niki noun cocaine. Rhyming slang, Lauda (pronounced 'louder') for POWDER, based on the name of racing driver Nikolaus Andreas Lauda (b.1949) UK, 1985

niks noun nothing. From Afrikaans into South African English UK, 1860

nimby noun 1 used as an acronym for 'not in my back yard', a description of the philosophy of those who support an idea in principle but do not want to be personally inconvenienced by it. The acronym followed the phrase by only a year US, 1980. 2 a capsule of pentobarbital sodium (trade name Nembutal™), a central nervous system depressant US, 1962 nimrod noun a fool, a stupid person, a bungler. Jonathan Lighter writes that 'currency of the term owes much to its appearance in a 1940s Warner Bros. cartoon in which Bugs Bunny refers to the hunter Elmer Fudd as "poor little Nimrod"'. It is not clear that watchers of the cartoon understood the C18 sense of the word as 'a great hunter', but the term has stuck US, 1932

NINA no Irish need apply US, 1987

Nina; Nina from Carolina; Nina from Pasadena noun in craps, a roll of nine or the nine point US, 1939 incompoop noun a foolish person, a simpleton. In A Classical Dictionary of the Vulgar Tongue, 3rd edition, 1796, Francis Grose defines 'nincumpoop' as 'a foolish fellow' and 'one who never saw his wife's ', which adds a little bite to its use UK, 1673 nineball noun a socially inept person US, 1997 ninebar noun nine ounces of cannabis UK, 1996

nine-day blues noun the incubation period for gonorrhea US, 1981 nine-nickel noun ninety-five US, 1998 nine of hearts noun a racehorse that is not likely to win US, 1951

ninepennyworth noun a prison term of nine months UK, 1957 niner noun 1 an erect penis that is nine inches long UK, 1997. 2 a nine gallon keg of beer AUSTRALIA, 1957 nines noun ► to the nines to an impressive degree UK, 1793 nine-strand splicer noun in oil drilling, a big and strong man US, 1954 nineteen noun 1 amphetamines. This may well derive from a shortening of the conventional phrase 'nineteen to the dozen' (very fast) as a play on SPEED (amphetamine) UK, 2003. 2 MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003. 3 nothing at all. From the game of cribbage (a hand with no points) US, 1975

nineteen canteen noun a long time ago SOUTH AFRICA, 1974 nineteen-eighty cell noun a secure prison cell used for prisoners at risk to themselves or others. From the official paperwork, a '1980 form', which must be completed each time before such a cell may be occupied UK, 1996 nineteenth hole noun a golf course bar where golfers retire after a round of golf US, 1901 nine-to-five noun the usual working day; the rut of daily existence. Based on an average working day, nine in the morning to five in the afternoon, but applied to regular employment whatever the hours worked, and especially to routine drudgery US, 1936

nine-trey noun ninety-three US, 1993 ninety noun 1 the 90-mm cannon mounted on an M-48 Patton battle tank US, 1991. 2 the M-67 90-mm recoilless rifle US, 1991 ninety days noun in dice games, a roll of nine US, 1909 ninety-day-wonder noun a recent graduate of the US Army's Officer Candidate School US, 1917 ninety-in-ninety noun in twelve-step recovery programmes such as Alcoholics Anonymous, used as a prescription for starting recovery – ninety meetings in ninety days US, 1998 ninety-niner noun a driver from Canada's prairies driving into mountain (Alberta and British Columbia) roads for the first time CANADA, 1989 ninety-six noun reciprocal anal sex US, 1949 ninety-weight noun 1 any strong alcohol US, 1976. 2 strong, 90-proof whisky US, 1976

ning nong noun a fool, an idiot. Probably a variant of British dialect ning-nang, recorded since the 1830s (English Dialect Dictionary) AUSTRALIA, 1957

ninny noun 1 a fool, a dolt UK, 1593. 2 the vagina or vulva BAHAMAS, 1982 nip noun 1 a nipple, especially a woman's. The nickname given to the character Elaine Benes (played by Julia Louis-Dreyfus) on Seinfeld (NBC, 1990–98) after a snapshot that she took for a Christmas card showed a breast nipple US, 1965. 2 a small drink US, 1736. 3 in Winnipeg, a hamburger CANADA, 1987. 4 a manoeuvre, especially while driving BERMUDA, 1985

Nip noun 1 a Japanese or Japanese-American person. Shortened from 'Niponese'. Deemed offensive by Multicultural Management Program Fellows, Dictionary of Cautionary Words and Phrases, 1989 US, 1942. 2 a Honda car. Citizens' band radio slang for the product of a Japanese manufacturer; a specific use of a generally racist term UK, 1981 nip verb 1 (of a person) to move quickly UK, 1825. 2 to grab UK, 1566. 3 to open a locked door using a special pair of pliers that can grasp the key from the other side of the door US, 1962. ► nip it to stop doing something US, 1983

Nip adjective Japanese AUSTRALIA, 1946

nip and tuck noun cosmetic surgery US, 1981 nip and tuck adjective in a contest, neck and neck, or alternately holding the lead US, 1845 nip factor noun the degree of coldness US, 1997 nip it in the bud! used for humorously suggesting the emerging presence of a problem. A signature line of deputy Barney Fife, played by Don Knotts, on the situation comedy Andy Griffith Show (CBS, 1960–68). Repeated with referential humour US, 1965 nipper noun 1 a baby or young child UK, 1859. 2 a young lad employed to do menial tasks for a group of labourers AUSTRALIA, 1915. 3 a sandfly BAHAMAS, 1982. 4 in target shooting, a shot that just nicks a ring, scoring as if it had fallen within the ring US, 1957. 5 a railway brakeman US, 1977

nippers noun 1 the female breasts US, 1968. 2 the teeth US, 1965. 3 thickly knit gloves with no fingers CANADA, 1955. 4 any cutting tool US, 1950. 5 a special pair of pliers that can grasp the key from the other side of the door US, 1962

nippie noun the nipple UK, 1997 nipple gripple; nipple cripple noun a violent gripping and twisting assault on someone's (usually a male's) nipples UK, 2003 nipple palm noun a Nipa palm, found in swampy and marshy land in South Vietnam US, 1984 nipplitis noun (used of a woman) erect nipples US, 1997

Nippon Clipon noun the Auckland Harbor Bridge. Through Japanese technology, the bridge was expanded from two to four lanes NEW ZEALAND, 1976 nippy adjective 1 speedy UK, 1853. 2 chilly. Almost always applied to the weather US, 1898 nips adjective afraid, anxious. Probably from NIP STRAWS SOUTH AFRICA, 1977 nip slip noun a photograph revealing at least a part of a woman's nipple. The premise is that the reveal is accidental; major usage of the term on Internet photograph sites US, 2004 nip straws verb to be nervous, anxious or afraid. From the clenching of the jaw; generally as 'nipping straws' SOUTH AFRICA, 1970

Nirvana Scotia noun Nova Scotia CANADA, 2002

nishi noun the vagina US, 1998 nishte; nish; nishta noun nothing. From German nichts (nothing), via Yiddish usage. 'Nishta' is recorded as a contemporary gay usage UK, 1958 nishtoise; nishtoisale noun nothing. A variation of NIShte UK, 2002 nit noun a simpleton, a moron, a fool. Widespread UK term of abuse since about 1950 AUSTRALIA, 1941. ► keep nit to act as lookout while an illegal activity takes place AUSTRALIA, 1903 nit! run for it! Used to notify wrongdoers of the approach of authority. Probably a variant of NIX AUSTRALIA, 1882 nite noun night. Generally in a commercial or advertising context US, 1928 nit-keeper noun a lookout for an illegal activity AUSTRALIA, 1935 nit nit! be quiet!; used as a warning that someone is listening. In prison use UK, 1950 nitro noun a streetlight bulb US, 1980 nitro adjective volatile. Derived from the unstable nature of nitroglycerin US, 1977 nitrous noun the gas nitrous oxide used as a recreational drug AUSTRALIA, 1994

nits and buggers noun in poker, a hand with a pair of threes and a pair of twos US, 1967 nits and lice noun in poker, a hand with two low-valued pairs US, 1967 nitto! stop!; be quiet!; used as a general cry of warning. A variation of NIT NITI UK, 1959 nitty adjective idiotic. From NIT (a fool), possibly influenced by NUTTY (crazy) UK, 1967 nitty-clitty noun oral sex on a woman. A play on CLIT (the clitoris) and NITTY-GRITTY (the essence of the matter) US, 1975 nitty-gritty noun the essence of the matter. Coined by black people, then spread into wide use. In the early 2000s, the belief that the term originally applied to the debris left at the bottom of slave ships when the slaves were removed from the ship circulated with speed, certainty and outrage. Whether the initial report was an intentional hoax or merely basis-free speculation, it is a false etymology. All authorities agree that the etymology is unknown yet some ill-informed politically correct types consider the word to have racist overtones US, 1956 nitwit noun a simpleton, a moron, a fool US, 1914 nix; nicks noun nothing; no. Probably from colloquial German nichts via Dutch (colloquial Afrikaans has niks) UK, 1789 nix verb to reject, to deny US, 1903 nixer noun work undertaken outside normal work, usually without an employer's knowledge IRELAND, 1994 nixie noun an incorrectly addressed letter. A term used by railway mail clerks US, 1890 nixies noun a female undergarment with a cut-out crotch permitting vaginal sex while otherwise clothed US, 1978

Nixon's revenge noun an American Ford car. Citizens' band radio slang; a reference to US President Richard Nixon US, 1976 nizzle; nizzle noun a close friend. A hip-hop, urban black coinage, formed as a rhyming reduplication of SHIZZLE (sure, yes) US, 2001 nkalafaker noun a person who is not so much to be admired as was originally thought; a confidence trickster. Teen slang SOUTH AFRICA, 2003 nkakakatha noun a trustworthy person. Current teen slang SOUTH AFRICA, 2003

N.O. no. Spelt for emphasis, usually humorous US, 1973

no-access tool noun a light cleaning brush carried by telephone installers and repair technicians. If for any reason the installer or repair technician would rather not make a particular service call, they sneak up to the door and leave a 'sorry-we-missed-you' tag. In jest, a fellow worker might accuse him of using a light cleaning brush to faintly tap on the door US, 2003

noah noun a shark. Rhyming slang from 'Noah's ark' US, 1963

Noah's ark noun 1 an informer. Rhyming slang for NARK (an informer); used in England since the first decade of the C20. 'Noah's ark' is spoonerised into 'oah's nark', which infers the deeply contemptuous 'whose's nark' UK, 1996. 2 a person who accompanies a customer but deters him or her from making a purchase. Rhyming slang for NARK (an awkward customer) UK, 1979. 3 a spoilsport. Rhyming slang for NARK AUSTRALIA, 1898. 4 a park. Rhyming slang UK, 1971

Noah's ark adjective dark. Rhyming slang UK, 1934

Noah's nobles noun female volunteers from the American Red Cross. Korean war usage; Noah is suggested by the Red Cross initials (ARC) US, 1968 no ass adverb extremely. Placed after the verb GUYANA, 1996

no ass! used for expressing the serious nature of what is being said TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1974

nob noun 1 a person of rank, position or wealth UK, 1703. 2 a completely reliable and dependable person AUSTRALIA, 1989. 3 the penis. A variation of KNOB UK, 1961. 4 the head. Probably from KNOB; since about 1690 but now feels dated and tired UK, 1690 nob verb to collect money from an audience after a performance or other attraction. Possibly from passing the hat round, a NOB (a head) more usually being put in a hat UK, 1851

nobber noun a person who collects money for a street entertainer UK, 1890 nobber; nobba adjective nine. Polari; from Spanish nueve or Italian nové, via parleyaree and lingua franca UK, 1996 nobbins noun money collected from an audience, especially money thrown into a boxing ring. From NOB (to collect money from an audience) UK, 1998 noble verb 1 to sabotage, especially to hinder or defeat a rival. From horse-tampering UK, 1856. 2 to corrupt, or otherwise tamper with, a jury or jury member UK, 1856. 3 in horse racing, to drug a horse to impair its performance UK, 1847. 4 to appropriate dishonestly, to steal UK, 1854 nobbler noun 1 a person who drugs racehorses or racing dogs to affect their racing performance US, 1982. 2 a small glass of spirits AUSTRALIA, 1842

Nobby Hall noun a testicle. Rhyming slang for BALL(S), formed from the name of the eponymous hero of an old and bawdy song: 'They call him Nobby Hall, Nobby Hall / They call him Nobby Hall, 'coz he's only got one...finger / They call him Nobby Hall, Nobby Hall' UK, 1992

Nobby Stiles; nobbys noun haemorrhoids. Rhyming slang for 'piles', formed from footballer Norbert 'Nobby' Stiles (b.1942) who was a member of the England team that won the World Cup in 1966 UK, 1992

nob end noun the part of town where the money lives UK, 1964

no biggie don't worry about it US, 1982

no bitch! I don't have to sit in the middle of the back seat of the car! Quickly shouted after someone else reserves the front passenger seat by shouting 'shotgun!' US, 1989 noble noun an influential, respected prisoner US, 1976 noble weed noun marijuana US, 1970 nobody noun ► like nobody's business to an extraordinary extent, very much UK, 1938 nobody's home said of a person who is empty-headed. An abbreviation of LIGHTS ON BUT THERE'S NOBODY HOME US, 2001

no brag, just fact used for humorously calling attention to having bragged. Cavalry scout Will Sonnett, played by Walter Brennan, used this line to instill fear on the television Western The Guns of Will Sonnett (ABC, 1967–69). Repeated with referential humour US, 1969

no-brainer noun 1 an opinion so easily formed or decision so easily made that no thinking is required US, 1980. 2 in croquet, a lucky shot US, 1977

nobs noun shoes US, 1968

No Cal noun northern California US, 1991

no can do, Madame Nhu used as a humorous if emphatic suggestion that something cannot be done. Madame Nhu was the sister-in-law of South Vietnamese President Diem US, 1991 no chance! used as an emphatic negative, often scornful UK, 1984 no chance outside noun a non-commissioned officer of the US Army. From the initials NCO and a healthy distrust of military authority US, 1968 nochy noun night. Polari, from Italian notte or Spanish noche UK, 1998 no comment! used as a jocular catchphrase. In imitation of politicians everywhere UK, 1977 no comprende I do not understand. Partial Spanish used by English speakers without regard to their fluency in Spanish, and with multiple variations reflecting their lack of fluency US, 1971

nod noun 1 a drug-induced state of semi- or unconsciousness. From 'nod' (a sleep) US, 1936. 2 a new recruit to the Royal Marines. A variant of 'Noddy', which supposedly derives from a standard issue woollen hat that when worn by recruits looks like Noddy (a children's character)'s hat UK, 1987. 3 the head. An abbreviation of NODDLE (the head) UK, 2000. 4 in horse racing, a very small margin of victory or lead US, 1971. ► nod is as good as a wink; nod is as good as a wink to a blind horse; nod's as good as a wink to a blind bat applied to a covert yet comprehensible hint. The 'blind bat' variation was created in 1969 for the ground-breaking television comedy series Monty Python's Flying Circus and, like many of that programme's catchphrases, remains in circulation UK, 1802. ► on the nod 1 lost in mental stupefaction brought on by heroin or other narcotics US, 1951. 2 within a committee, to be agreed without argument; to be nodded through. Conventionally, a nod is a sign of assent UK, 1999. 3 (of a wager) agreed upon without money changing hands AUSTRALIA, 1902. ► the nod official approval, UK, 2001 nod verb to enter a near-coma state after drug use US, 1958

nod betting noun betting on credit AUSTRALIA, 1981

nodder noun the head UK, 1956 noddle noun the head UK, 1509 noddle verb to idle, to waste time UK, 2003 noddy noun 1 in a film or television interview, a brief shot of the interviewer listening or nodding. In full, a 'noddy-shot' UK, 1982. 2 a police motorcyclist. A back-formation from NODDY-BIKE UK, 1980

Noddy noun a tracked snow vehicle manufactured by the Robin Nodwell Manufacturing Company ANTARCTICA, 1978

noddy adjective 1 (used of a computer program) trivial, useless but illustrative of a point US, 1991. 2 foolish. From Essex dialect UK, 1971

noddy-bike; noddy noun a police motorcycle. Originally of a light motorcycle used by police before the introduction of the PANDA CAR. Generally presumed to come from Noddy, the character created by Enid Blyton (1897–1968), in turn named after 'a simpleton', but that would better describe the driver than the vehicle and Noddy drove a car; more likely to be derived from obsolete Irish noddy (a one-horse conveyance) with just a hint of Enid Blyton UK, 1964 noddy boat noun a canal-using pleasure boat (not a conventional narrow boat). Derisory UK, 1972 noddy shop noun a prison workshop. From the nature of the work carried on therein: so basic that it can be understood by children so young that they are still reading Noddy, the character created by Enid Blyton (1897–1968) UK, 1996 noddy suit noun a suit of protective clothing worn against nuclear, biological or chemical threat UK, 1972

no dice! 1 originally and literally, in a dice game a roll of the dice that does not count because of a rule violation US, 1950. 2 positively no US, 1931 nod off verb to fall asleep UK, 1845 no doubt! used as a formulaic expression of agreement US, 1988 nod out verb to fall asleep, especially as a result of recreational drug use US, 1953

no duh! used for expressing sentiment that what was just said is patently obvious to even the casual observer US, 1982

no end adverb immensely UK, 1859 no end of adjective a great number or quantity of. Colloquial UK, 1623 no fear! used as an expression of refusal UK, 1887

no flies on nothing at all wrong or amiss with someone AUSTRALIA, 1845

NoFuck, Virginia nickname Norfolk, Virginia US, 1998

nog noun 1 a Vietnamese or Korean person or soldier; any Southeast Asian person. From NIG-NOG AUSTRALIA, 1969. 2 a short piece of wood inserted between wall studs. A variant is 'noggings' NEW ZEALAND, 1963 no gain without pain used to urge sacrifice. A catchphrase beloved by athletic coaches as inspiration for bulletin board reading US, 1968

noggin noun the head US, 1859 noggy noun a Vietnamese or Korean person or soldier; hence, any Southeast Asian person AUSTRALIA, 1954

no go; no-go noun a failure, something that is not good; a hopeless attempt. Although the term has an undeniable US 1960s space programme ring to it, it was 140 years old and had crossed the Atlantic before we heard it from NASA's lips UK, 1824 no-go-showboat noun a car that has been restored and modified with an emphasis on its appearance, not its speed US, 1963 no-go zone noun an area to which access is prohibited or ill-advised. The term came to the attention of Americans in 2004 in the context of the US occupation of Iraq US, 1979 no great shakes adjective nothing remarkable, important or special UK, 1819 no harm in looking! used as a motto, excuse or philosophy for a husband or boyfriend who finds the sight of the opposite sex irresistible UK, 1984

NoHo nickname the neighbourhood in New York City just north of Houston Street US, 1999

no holds barred adjective without constraint, 'anything goes'. Taken from the sport of wrestling US, 1942 no-hoper noun 1 a worthless person; a person with no prospects AUSTRALIA, 1944. 2 a horse considered unable to win a race; a rank outsider AUSTRALIA, 1943

nointer noun in Tasmania, a brat or mischievous child. Survival of a British dialect word, clipping of 'anointer' in the same sense. Formerly (C16, Oxford English Dictionary) the word 'anoint' meant 'to beat soundly', thus 'anointer' would mean 'one who requires anointing/beatings' AUSTRALIA, 1994 noise noun 1 foolish talk; nonsense US, 1871. 2 heroin US, 1928

noisemaker noun in trucking, a radio US, 1971 noisemaker adjective producing the impression of force through loud sounds. Professional wrestling usage US, 1998 noisenik noun a contemporary musician whose compositions appear (to most auditors) to be formless noise. The suffix '-nik' forms the person out of the noise UK, 1999 noise pollution noun in poker, excessive chatter at the table US, 1996 noises noun ► make the right noises to use unexceptionable platitudes, to pay lip-service UK, 1976 noise up verb to cause trouble UK, 2000 noisy adjective of a television programme, talked-about US no joke noun a serious matter; hence, a difficulty UK, 1809 no kid seriously. Shortening of 'no kidding' AUSTRALIA, 1946

no kidding! honestly!, it's the truth! UK, 1914

no lie! as unbelievable as what I just said may seem, it is true! US, 1992 noly noun a simpleton. Pronounced to rhyme with 'holy' UK, 1979 nomad noun a member of a motorcycle gang who is not a member of any specific chapter of the gang US, 1992

no make! stop what you are doing! Hawaiian youth usage, shortened from 'no make like that' US, 1982 no man's Nam nickname Vietnam. A blend of the historic 'no man's land' and 'Vietnam' US, 1991 no-mark noun a nobody; someone who has failed to make a mark UK, 2001 no mention you're welcome. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1981 no more forever adverb never again. Echoing the 1877 surrender speech of Chief Joseph of the Nez Perce nation – 'I will fight no more forever' US, 1998 non noun an socially inept person. An abbreviation of the much longer 'non-factor in the game of life' US, 1983

nonce noun 1 a sex offender; a child-molester; a pervert. The etymology is uncertain: possibly from dialect nonce (good for nothing), or with origins in NANCY BOY (homosexual, hence pervert); however, given the prison context of the coinage and the violent disdain in which sex-offenders are held by their fellow inmates, the very existence of one may be considered as little more than 'for the nonce', literally 'for the time-being'. It is also worth noting in this context the rhyme on PONCE (someone who lives off immoral earnings), another type held in low-esteem in the pecking order of prison life. It is regrettable that modern society feels the need for this term in wider circulation UK, 1975. 2 a police informer, someone who betrays a criminal enterprise UK, 2000. 3 a fool UK, 2002 nonch adjective utterly relaxed, completely at ease. From 'nonchalant'. A Teddy Boy usage UK, 1958 nondy noun a nondescript vehicle used by the police for maintaining a surveillance. A shortening of 'nondescript' UK, 1999 non-event noun any unexciting or unsatisfactory event, especially one that fails to fulfill expectations UK, 1962 nong noun a fool. Shortening of NING NONG AUSTRALIA, 1944

non-goer noun a racehorse that is not being run to win AUSTRALIA, 1982

nonhacker noun a soldier who cannot keep up with his fellow soldiers; an ineffective, incompetent soldier. Coined in Vietnam and used heavily there. Back-formation from HACK IT (to cope with) US, 1976 non-heinous adjective good US, 1991 no-no noun 1 something that ought not be done US, 1942. 2 an impossibility; a failure; any negative outcome. Reduplication for stress UK, 1975 no nothing noun nothing whatever UK, 1884

no-no war in never-never land noun the US secret war against Pathet Lao communist forces in Laos US, 1990

nonproducer noun a professional gambler who cannot be counted on to lose a great deal of money while gambling in a casino US, 1963

nonseller noun a plan that almost certainly will be rejected US, 1986 non speaks noun a state of having been excluded from society. An example of Eton College illiteracy UK, 1977 non starter noun something or someone that has no chance of success UK, 1934 non trier noun a racehorse that is not being run to win AUSTRALIA, 1966

nontrivial adjective extremely complex US, 1997 noob noun in snowboarding, a beginner. Derives from newbie UK, 2005 no object no obstacle, or not, an objection. In such phrases as 'distance no object' and 'money no object' UK, 1984 noodenaddy noun a dithering person; someone who is unable to make up their mind IRELAND, 1999 noodle noun 1 the head; the brain; intelligence UK, 1803. 2 the penis US, 1975 noodle verb 1 to think, to ponder US, 1942. 2 to play music in a tentative, exploratory fashion US, 1937 noodles noun brains, intelligence. An extension of NOODLE UK, 2002

noogie noun a blow, usually repeated, to the head with a protuberant knuckle. A hazing of youth. A recurring skit on Saturday Night Live in the 1970s vaulted the phrase 'Noogie Patrol' into great popularity, with a nerdish Todd DiLaMuca (played by Bill Murray) grabbing Lisa Lupner (played by Gilda Radner) for a rash of noogies US, 1972 nook and cranny noun the buttocks, the backside; the vagina. Rhyming slang for FANNY UK, 1979 nookie; nooky noun the vagina; hence a woman as a sex object; sexual intercourse US, 1928

nookie wood noun in logging, a core of wood soaked with sap and emerging from a rotted stump CANADA, 1989

nooky-nooky noun sex US, 1974 nooner noun a bout of sex at about noon US, 1973

no-pay noun a person who refuses to repay a debt or loan US, 1982

nope no, emphatically no US, 1888

no prob; no probs no problem; no problems AUSTRALIA, 1971

no problem 1 that is easy; do not worry about that, okay. A catchphrase of affable non-concern AUSTRALIA, 1965. 2 you're welcome. At some point in the 1980s, the term 'you're welcome' suddenly vanished from the vocabulary of America's young, replaced suddenly and completely with 'no problem' US, 1982 no problemo no problem. A popular elaboration US, 1991 noras noun breasts AUSTRALIA, 1992

nordle noun marijuana UK, 1997

Norfolk 'n' Chance nickname used as a team name in light-hearted contests. A barely euphemistic rendering of 'no fucking chance'; especially popular among quiz teams. Recorded in 1983 as the winners of the University of Essex Rugby 7's Plate UK, 1983

no risk! for sure; with certainty AUSTRALIA, 1969

nork noun the female breast. The suggestion (originally in Baker, The Australian Language, 1966) that this derives from Norco, a popular brand of butter which at one time had a picture of a cow with an udder on the packaging, is as far fetched as it sounds, and yet it is the standard folk etymology for this term. Baker also records that 'the form norg is reported from Melbourne' and this variant is still in occasional use AUSTRALIA, 1962 norm verb to behave in an unremarkable or conventional manner. From NORM (an ordinary person) UK, 2001 norm; normal noun a normal person; a dully conventional person US, 1983

Normandy Beach; normandy noun a speech. Rhyming slang UK, 1998

Norma Stockers noun large female breasts. An intentional, humorous corruption of 'enormous KNOCKERS' AUSTRALIA, 1988 normie noun someone who is not addicted to anything. Used in twelve-step recovery programmes such as Alcoholics Anonymous US, 1998

Norris McWhirter noun diarrhoea. Rhyming slang for 'squirter', based on author Norris McWhirter (b.1925) UK, 2002 north and south noun the mouth. Rhyming slang UK, 1857

North Circ nickname London's North Circular road UK, 1997

North End Round noun bologna CANADA, 1987

norther noun a strong, cold wind from the north. A Texas phrase to describe a Texas winter weather condition US, 1827 northern lights noun 1 in British Columbia, a local variety of marijuana CANADA, 2002. 2 a superior variety of hashish produced in Holland from northern lights marijuana pollen NETHERLANDS, 2003

Norwegian steam noun brute physical exertion US, 1944

NORWICH written on an envelope, or at the foot of a lover's letter as lovers' code for '(k)nickers off ready when I come home'. Widely known, and well used by servicemen but, apparently, has not transferred to the coded vocabulary of texting. Used by John Winton in We Saw the Sea, 1960 UK, 1960 nose noun 1 cocaine US, 1980. 2 in horse racing, any very short distance that separates winner from loser US, 1908. 3 an informer UK, 1789. 4 an innate ability to find things UK, 1875 ▶ see: NOSEY. ▶ get up your nose 1 to annoy UK, 1951. 2 to irritate, to anger US, 1968. ▶ get your nose bent to be convicted of a traffic violation US, 1962. ▶ get your nose cold to use and become intoxicated on cocaine US, 1980. ▶ have a nose for someone to be sexually attracted to someone US, 1958. ▶ have your nose open to be strongly attracted to US, 1957. ▶ keep your nose to the grindstone; put your nose to the grindstone to be (or start) studying hard, working hard. From earlier senses denoting harsh treatment UK, 1828. ▶ on the nose 1 exactly US, 1883. 2 in horse racing, a bet on a horse to finish first US, 1980. 3 (used of a person's bet in an illegal numbers gambling lottery) invariably the same US, 1949. 4 at the start of a song US, 1982. 5 smelly AUSTRALIA, 1946. 6 (used of ocean water) polluted AUSTRALIA, 1991. 7 recreational time spent under the influence of inhaled drugs. Compares with ON THE TILES (having a good time under the influence of alcohol) UK, 1996. ▶ put someone's nose out of joint to annoy, to upset the plans of, to inconvenience, to disconcert UK, 1576. ▶ shove your nose in; stick your nose in to interfere, to interpose rudely UK, 1887 nose verb to curry favour through obsequious conduct. A shortening of BROWN-NOSE US, 1968 nose and chin noun a win, a winning bet UK, 1960 nosebag noun 1 a lunch box or paper bag with lunch inside UK, 1873. 2 a take-away restaurant, a chip shop UK, 1981. 3 a plastic bag used for solvent abuse UK, 1996. 4 cocaine UK, 1999. 5 in electric line work, a canvas tool pouch US, 1980. ▶ put on the nosebag to have a meal AUSTRALIA, 1992 nosebleed noun a stupid, inept person. Teen slang US, 1951 nosebleeder noun a heavy user of cocaine by nasal inhalation. From a physical side-effect experienced by users UK, 2002 nosebleeds noun the highest seats in an auditorium or a stadium. Because high altitudes can cause nosebleeds US, 1978 nose-burner; nose-warmer noun the still-hot butt of a marijuana cigarette US, 1973 nose candy noun cocaine or, rarely, another powdered drug that can be snorted US, 1925 nose drops noun liquefied heroin; liquefied methadone UK, 1998 no-see-um noun any small, nearly invisible insect that bites US, 1842 nosefull noun a strong dose of a powdered drug that is snorted US, 1980 nose garbage noun poor quality cocaine US, 1993 nose hose noun the tubing used for nasogastric intubation US, 1994 nose job noun cosmetic surgery to enhance the nose. Combines a conventional 'nose' with JOB (a medical procedure) US, 1960 nose kiss noun a head butt UK, 1999 nose out verb to discover by searching UK, 1630 nose packer noun a cocaine user US, 1988 nose paint noun any alcoholic drink. From its effect (as mentioned by the Porter in Shakespeare's Macbeth) on the colour of a serious drinker's nose UK, 1880 nose-picking speed noun an extremely slow pace. US naval aviator usage US, 1986 nose powder; nose stuff noun cocaine, or any other drug that has been powdered for inhalation US, 1936

noser noun an informer US, 1992 nose-ride verb in surfing, to ride on the front of the board US, 1979 nose-up noun cocaine-taking as a cultural activity UK, 2000 nosey; nose; nose around noun an act of casual surveillance or inquiry UK, 1984

Nosey O'Grady noun an inquisitive person, usually female CANADA, 1981

Nosey Parker; Nosy Parker noun a personification of inquisitiveness. From NOSEY (inquisitive), first recorded in a captioned illustration in 1907. Various etymologies suggest links with peeping Toms and eavesdroppers at the Great Exhibition in Hyde Park, a link with Archbishop of Canterbury Matthew Parker (1504–75) or the characteristics of rabbits in parks. Whatever its true origins 'Nosey Parker' is the source of 'nosey-parkering' (being inquisitive); 'nosey-park' (to be inquisitive); 'nosey-parkerdom', 'nosey-parkery', 'Nosey-Parkerism' (the condition of an inquisitive nature or a demonstration of invasive inquisitiveness); 'nosey-parkerishness' (a tendency towards inquisitive behaviour) UK, 1966 nosh noun 1 food. From Yiddish, ultimately German nachen (to eat slyly), since early 1960s US, 1951. 2 an act of oral sex on a man or, perhaps, a woman. A punning adoption of the previous sense UK, 2001 nosh verb 1 to eat, to nibble. From Yiddish US, 1947. 2 to perform oral sex. From the more familiar sense 'to eat' UK, 1998. 3 to kiss in a sustained fashion US, 1994 no shame! you act as if nothing embarrasses you! Hawaiian youth usage US, 1981 nosh noun an eater. From NOSH (to eat) UK, 1957 no shit! used as emphasis that what has just been said is true US, 1960 no shit, Dick Tracy! used for pointing out that another person has just made an obvious statement. A variant of the more common allusion to Sherlock Holmes, this based on the US cartoon detective US, 1981 no shit, Sherlock! used for pointing out that another person has just made an obvious statement. Sherlock Holmes extends NO SHIT! US, 1989 no-show noun a non-appearance at an appointed time or place US, 1957 nosh up; nosh noun a meal, a period of eating, meal time. After NOSH (to eat) UK, 1964 no sir; nossir used for registering a strong refusal or denial US, 1856 no siree; no siree, Bob absolutely no US, 1848 no soap used for signifying that the deal is off, not a hope, you're wasting your time US, 1926 no sound, no picture noun a person who does not appear for an appointment SINGAPORE, 2002

no squash noun irreparable brain damage US, 1978 nostril noun in horse racing, any very short distance between winner and loser that is shorter even than a nose US, 1951 no surrenders noun suspenders. Rhyming slang UK, 2003 no sweat no problem; no need to worry. Therefore no sweat will be produced by fear or exertion US, 1955 no-sweat pill noun a potent anti-bacterial pill US, 1986 not! used as a humorous cancellation of what has just been said in jest. Coined a hundred years before it was broadly popularised by Mike Myers in the 'Wayne's World' sketches on Saturday Night Live US, 1993 not a dry seat in the house used of a theatre audience that is helpless with laughter or a male audience that is sexually aroused. A blend of the drama critic's cliché: 'not a dry eye in the house', and PISS YOURSELF (to laugh uproariously) UK, 1974 not a hundred miles from adjective very close to UK, 1821 no-talent assclown noun a socially inept person. From the film Office Space US, 2002 not all there adjective slightly mad, mentally or intellectually disadvantaged UK, 1864

not backward in coming forward not shy UK, 1830 not bad adjective rather good, or (either patronisingly or with reservations) quite good UK, 1909 not bloody likely used as an emphatic negative. First used in print (and, presumably, polite society) in George Bernard Shaw's play, Pygmalion, 1914 UK, 1914 notch verb to wound. Vietnam war usage US, 1991 notchback noun a car with a dent in its boot. A play on the conventional 'hatchback' US, 1992 notch up verb to achieve UK, 1837 not cricket adjective unfair. From the rigid rules of the game, but now always in phrases 'it's not cricket', 'that's not ...', etc UK, 1978 note noun a one-pound note; the sum of £1. Became obsolete in Australia after the introduction of decimal currency in 1966 but it still used in the UK AUSTRALIA, 1863 note from mother noun official permission. US naval aviator usage US, 1986 no-tell motel noun a motel with discreet management favoured by prostitutes and couples seeking privacy US, 1974 notes noun ► get good notes in Quebec, to get good marks or grades CANADA, 2002 not even no, not at all US, 1984 not fucking likely used as an emphatic negative UK, 1937 not half adverb used as a very positive intensifier of the verb to which it is attached. Usually as 'can't half', 'doesn't half', 'don't half', etc UK, 1851 not half! used for registering assent, approval, agreement, etc UK, 1920 not half bad adjective quite good UK, 1867 not having any; not having any of adjective refusing to agree UK, 1902 nothing noun 1 something. Also shortened to 'nothin'. A reversal of sense on the model BAD (good); used in hip-hop culture US, 2000. 2 no more than (the height specified). Used to emphasise shortness AUSTRALIA, 1971. ► have nothing on to be greatly inferior to something or someone US, 1906. ► nothing shaking nothing happening US, 1975. ► nothing to write home about; nothing worth writing home about unremarkable. Probably military in origin UK, 1914. ► thank you for nothing!; thanks for nothing! used in refusal or dismissal of help or advice: I owe you no thanks for that and scorn the offer UK, 1969. ► you aint seen nothing yet!; you ain't heard nothing yet! no matter how impressive or extreme something may be there is better or worse yet to come. A catchphrase made famous by the singer Al Jolson in the first 'talkie' film, The Jazz Singer, 1927. Especially popular with advertising copywriters US, 1919 nothing adjective inconsequential US, 1960 nothing! when combined with a (partial) repetition of a statement just made, used in denial of that statement US, 1883 nothing-ass bitch noun used as a stern term of contempt for a woman US, 1972 nothing but a thing noun something that is not important US, 1993 nothing but the bacon! used as a stock answer when greeted with 'what's shakin?' US, 1951 nothing but the bottom of the cup; nothing but the bottom of the net used as a humorous comment on a job well done or a remark well made. Coined by ESPN's Dan Patrick to describe a great shot in golf and basketball US, 1997 nothing doing! used as an expression of rejection or denial UK, 1910 nothing flat adverb very quickly US, 1947 notice noun a contract to do a job, especially an illegal commission UK, 1970 no tilt! used as a euphemism for 'no shit!' in expressing surprise or affirmation US, 1983

no time flat adverb very quickly US, 1957 not in my name; not in our name used worldwide by various humanitarian and anti-war protesters as a slogan of disavowal of prevailing attitudes. 'Not In My Name' (NITM) was adopted, in November 2000, as the name of a Chicago-based Jewish peace group opposed to Israel's occupation of Palestinian Territories US, 1994 not likely! used for registering refusal UK, 1893 not many yes, a term of emphatic agreement UK, 1998 not many benny a great deal, a lot; an intensifying agreement UK, 1999 not much to look at adjective unattractive, ugly UK, 1861 not off adjective of a horse – or, more precisely, of a jockey – that is considered not to be trying to win a race UK, 1991 not on adjective unacceptable; impossible; not permissible UK, 1984 not on your life! used for registering emphatic refusal or denial US, 1896 not on your nelly used as an absolute denial, refusal or rejection. Rhyming slang, 'not on your Nellie Duff' for PUFF (breath, hence life), thus NOT ON YOUR LIFE! UK, 1941

no-top noun a convertible with its top down US, 1976 not Pygmalion likely! not very likely! Formed on the shocking-in-its-day 'Not bloody likely!' in George Bernard Shaw's play Pygmalion, first seen in London in 1914 UK, 1948 no-trump noun a life prison sentence without chance of parole US, 1976 not the full quid adjective lacking NEW ZEALAND, 1984 nottie noun an unattractive person. A back-formation from HOTTIE (an attractive person) US, 2002 not tonight, Josephine! a catchphrase used by a man to defer his sexual duties to a wife or lover; hence, applied to any postponement. Originally a quotation, apocryphally attributed to Napoleon dashing his mistress's hopes. In its current sexual context there is obviously a reliance on jocularity of delivery to deflect any serious subtext. Familiar from a music hall poem: 'I'll tell you in a phrase, my sweet, exactly what I mean: / . . . Not tonight, Josephine' (Colin Curzon, 'Not Tonight, Josephine') UK, 1960 noughties noun the years 2000 through to 2009 UK, 2001

no VERB about it!; there is no VERB about it! by enclosing the active verb from a preceding statement, an absolute negation of that verb UK, 1924 nowhere adjective unattractive; unpleasing. A mock German or Dutch accent US, 1955

Novie boat noun a large, low cost lobster boat built in Nova Scotia US, 1888 now adjective fashionable, in style, current US, 1955 now adverb soon; in time; in a vaguely specified time. A stereotypical example of 'Wenglish' (a blending of English and Welsh typical of the valleys of southeast Wales) UK: WALES, 1985

Now American Friends Take All noun the North American Free Trade Agreement. Back-formation from the agreement's initials CANADA, 2002

now and then noun in horse racing, a horse that is an uneven or inconsistent performer US, 1951 no way! used for expressing disbelief at that which has just been said US, 1968 no way, Jose used as a humorous, if emphatic, denial. The catchy reduplication makes this a favourite early in a young person's process of slang acquisition US, 1981 now cut that out used as a humorous attempt to end a tease. A signature line of comedian Jack Benny, heard often on The Jack Benny Show, 1950–65. Repeated with referential humour US, 1954 no what adverb certainly not. Adapted from Afrikaans nee wat SOUTH AFRICA, 1900 nowhere adjective 1 unaware of what is happening, extremely naive, utterly at a loss US, 1843. 2 badly defeated in a race; utterly unsuccessful, to be out of the running US, 1853. 3 without money. Usually in the phrase 'ain't nowhere' GUIYANA, 1998. ► get nowhere fast to try hard to do something and yet be frustrated in your endeavour UK, 1984. ► the middle of nowhere any place that is remote, any place that is an inconvenient distance away from urban 'civilisation' or your personal lifestyle requirements UK, 1960

nowhereness noun the state of complete unawareness of current trends or complete lack of grounding in reality US, 1958 now it's time to say good-bye used as a humorous farewell. A catchphrase television sign-off on The Mickey Mouse Club (ABC, 1955–59). Repeated with referential and reverential humour US, 1956 now-now adverb in the immediate past; immediately; very soon. Adopted from synonymous Afrikaans nou-nou SOUTH AFRICA, 1948 now now used as a gentle admonition to cease UK, 1959 no worries 1 do not worry about that; everything is all right AUSTRALIA, 1969. 2 you're welcome US, 2001. 3 yes indeed; certainly AUSTRALIA, 1986

nowt noun nothing; a worthless person. Dialect word from northern England for conventional 'naught'; made popular by the television programme Coronation Street, and in clichéd phrases such as 'nowt so queer as folk' UK, 1998

now then! used as a mild rebuke, or a call for attention UK, 1791 nowty adjective moody, grumpy. Manchester dialect into wider use UK, 1999 no wucking furries do not worry about that! An intentional Spoonerism of 'no fucking worries', both euphemistic and jocular. Also, in the shortened forms 'no wuckers' and 'no wucks' AUSTRALIA, 1996

now what? can you top what I just said? US, 2001 now you're asking! used in response to a difficult question UK, 1959 now you're railroading! used on the railways as an all-purpose expression of praise US, 1977

now you tell me!; now he tells me! used when information that has just been supplied is given too late to be of use. A Hebraism US, 1969 nozzle noun the penis US, 1994

NRC adjective (by police) nobody really cares US, 1992

'n stuff used either as a substitute for 'et cetera' or to complete a sentence that has run out of steam US, 2001

NT noun in pornography, a scene showing nipple teasing (or torture) US, 2000

NTBH adjective unavailable for sexual encounters; ugly. Gay usage. The definition varies with the point of view; either way it derives from 'not to be had' UK, 2002

nu adjective in rock music, new UK, 2002

nub noun the clitoris UK, 2002

nubbies noun short, matted hair on its way to growing into dreadlocks JAMAICA, 1980 nubbin noun 1 the clitoris. Making 'rubbin' the nubbin' female masturbation UK, 2004. 2 the penis US, 1968 nub bush noun a black female. A shortened 'nubian' and a coarse BUSH. Vietnam war usage US, 1991 nubian noun in homosexual usage, a black man US, 1987 nuddy adjective nude, naked AUSTRALIA, 1953

nude adjective (used of a car) stripped of chrome US, 1977 nudge noun in pinball, subtle physical force applied to the machine to affect the trajectory of the ball without activating the tilt mechanism US, 1979 nudge verb 1 to nag; to annoy. Yiddish. Various transliterations including 'nudzh', 'nudi' and 'noudge' US, 1968. 2 to drink (alcohol) heavily AUSTRALIA, 1979. 3 in pool, to touch the cue ball with the cue stick accidentally while preparing to shoot US, 1993 nudge-nudge adjective gossipy, especially of gossip with a sexual inference. From NUDGE NUDGE – WINK WINK! UK, 2003 nudge nudge – wink wink! used as an indicator of lust or an inference a lewd sexual behaviour. A catchphrase, originally 'nudge nudge – wink wink – say no more!', written by Eric Idle for BBC television comedy Monty Python's Flying Circus ('Is your wife a...goer...eh? Know what I mean? Know what I mean? Nudge nudge. Nudge nudge. Know what I mean? Say no more...know what I mean?'), 1969 UK, 1979

nudger noun 1 the penis UK, 2001. 2 a pickpocket UK, 1996 nudge show noun a safe family comedy US, 1973

nudie noun a performance or film featuring naked women but no sexual activity US, 1935

nudie adjective featuring naked or near-naked women US, 1966

nudie book noun a men's magazine featuring pictures of naked women UK, 1977

nudie booth noun a private enclosure affording privacy while a paying customer views a nude woman or nude women, usually through a glass partition US, 1994

nudie-cutie noun a genre of sex film popular in the 1960s, featuring frolicking, cute, nude women US, 1967

nudnik; noodnik noun a pest, a fool US, 1925

nuff adjective enough. Once abbreviated, 'enough' could not be spelt 'nough' and understood, hence this phonetic variation. UK school dinner ladies in the 1960s accompanied their service with the question, slowned by repetition, 'nuff?'. Since the 1980s it has been widely used in the black community US, 1840 nuff respect used as a greeting and to register admiration, assent or approbation. Misspelling of 'enough respect'. West Indian and UK black usage UK, 1994

nuff said used as an assertion that nothing more needs to be said US, 1840 nug noun 1 a female US, 1993. 2 marijuana. Variant 'nugs' US, 1997 nugget noun 1 a fool, an idiot, especially if prone to violent behaviour or mentally handicapped. Figurative use of 'nugget' (a lump) for 'the head' US, 1990. 2 a new, inexperienced soldier or pilot US, 1966. 3 an attractive girl US, 1998. 4 a young enthusiast of heavy metal music US, 1983. 5 an amphetamine tablet US, 1994. 6 a piece of crack cocaine US, 1994. 7 a one-pound coin. Prison slang, current February 2002 UK, 2002 nuggets noun the testicles US, 1963 nuggety; nuggetty adjective 1 (of a person) compact, strong and tough; stocky AUSTRALIA, 1856. 2 (of an animal) small, sturdy and strong AUSTRALIA, 1893

nugs noun 1 female breasts US, 1994. 2 great waves for surfing US, 1991 nuisance noun ► the nuisance the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. Euphemism US, 1999 nuisance grounds noun a rubbish dump CANADA, 2002 nuke verb 1 to attack with a nuclear bomb US, 1962. 2 to lay waste, to ravage, to devastate. A metaphorical, if less dramatic, sense US, 1969. 3 to heat in a microwave oven US, 1984. 4 in computing, to delete US, 1991 nuke; nook noun a nuclear weapon US, 1958 nuke and pave verb to reformat the hard drive of a computer US, 2001 nuke-and-puke noun a microwave frozen dinner US, 1990 nuke-knob noun a bald or shaved head US, 1997 number noun 1 a person, particularly someone attractive, originally of a woman US, 1896. 2 a prostitute's client (especially in a male homosexual context) US, 1967. 3 a casual sex-partner US, 1970. 4 sex involving more than two people US, 1973. 5 a situation US, 1908. 6 a job, a position UK, 1948. 7 used as a vague catch-all susceptible of several meanings, usually related to sex or drugs US, 1978. 8 in prison, a sex offender; a convicted paedophile. Such prisoners are kept apart from the main body of the prison on rule number 43 UK, 1996. 9 in craps, any roll except the shooter's point or a seven US, 1950. 10 a marijuana cigarette US, 1963. 11 a song UK, 1878. ► do a number on 1 to use emotional pressure, to humiliate US, 1971. 2 to kill US, 1982. ► have your number; get your number to understand you, to know your weaknesses, to be in a position to criticise you UK, 1853 number 3 noun 1 cocaine. c (cocaine) is the third letter of the alphabet US, 1953. 2 heroin UK, 2003 number 9 noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003 number cruncher noun a computer designed especially for arithmetic operations UK, 1966 number dummy; number grabber noun a clerk in a railway yard US, 1946 numbered off; on the numbers adjective in prison, used of sex offenders, convicted paedophiles, etc. Such prisoners are kept apart from the main body of the prison on rule number 43 UK, 1996 number four; number 4 noun heroin UK, 1998 number one noun 1 yourself, your own interests UK, 1705. 2 urination. The plural variant 'number ones' is also used UK, 1902. 3 a closely cropped haircut. Originally military, from the most extreme setting on the clippers; it is also possible to have a 'number two', etc UK, 1925 number one; numba one adjective the very best. Although coined in the 1830s in a pure English sense, it took on a pidgin or mock pidgin tone in the C20; very popular in the Vietnam war US, 1838 numbers noun 1 an illegal lottery based on guessing a number determined by chance each day US, 1897. 2 a telephone number US, 2002. ► by the numbers precisely, correctly US, 1918. ► do numbers to urinate or defecate TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1990. ► take the numbers down in horse racing, to disqualify a horse from a race and announce a new winner US, 1947. ► the numbers in prison, Rule 43, which allows a prisoner to be kept apart from the main prison community for 'safety of self or others'. Explained by former Cabinet Minister Jonathan Aitken, describing his prison experience 1999–2000, Have I Got News for You, 28th November, 2003 UK, 2003 numbers banker noun the operator of an illegal numbers racket or lottery US, 1959 numbers drop noun a place where bets on an illegal lottery are turned in or made US, 1957 numbers game noun sex expressed in numeric terms. The most common is, of course, 69, with other lesser known variants US, 1964 number ten; numba ten adjective the very worst. Southeast Asian pidgin, commonly used during the Vietnam war UK, 1953 number ten thousand adjective worse than the very worst. Vietnam war usage US, 1968 number three noun sexual relief, by any means (conventional, non-conventional or unaccompanied). The next in a logical sequence: NUMBER ONE (urination); NUMBER TWO (defecation) UK, 1984 number two adjective applied to illegal or irregular activity. 'Number one' is all things legal and above-board INDIA, 2003 number two; number twos noun defecation. Adult usage of children's bathroom vocabulary US, 1936 number two man noun a skilled card cheat adept at dealing the second card instead of the top card in a deck US, 1979

Numbies noun Players' Number 6™ cigarettes UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

numbnuts noun an idiot US, 1960

Numbo noun Number 6, a branded cigarette UK, 2001 numb out verb to feel or show the effects of crack cocaine UK, 1996 numbskull; numskull noun a dolt; a fool UK, 1742 numerologist noun a person who claims to have devised a winning system for an illegal numbers gambling lottery US, 1949 numero uno noun 1 the very best. Spanish for 'number one' US, 1960. 2 yourself US, 1973 nummy noun a fool, a dim-witted person. A shortened 'numbskull' US, 1902 nummy adjective delicious. Probably after YUMMY (delicious) US, 1989 num-nums noun the female breasts US, 1993 numpty; numptie noun a fool UK: SCOTLAND, 1911 nunce; nince noun a fool. Student use; derogatory UK, 2002 nunga noun the penis AUSTRALIA, 1971

nunga-muncher noun a person who performs oral sex on men AUSTRALIA, 1971

nut's cunt noun used as a comparison for something that is cold, dry or tight CANADA, 1985 nut's fart noun a treat made with leftover piecrust dough, cinnamon and sugar CANADA, 1992 nunu; nuzni noun the vagina TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1994 nutny noun used for conveying that something is 'none of your business' US, 2000

nurds noun the testicles US, 1981

Nuremburg trials; nuremburbs noun haemorrhoids. Rhyming slang for 'piles' UK, 1998 nurse verb in a card game, to nervously fondle and adjust your cards US, 1988 nursery noun 1 a reformatory for juvenile offenders US, 1950. 2 a gentle slope where beginning skiers practice US, 1963 nursery race noun in horse racing, a relatively short distance race for two-year-olds US, 1976 nursery rhyme noun time served in prison. Rhyming slang UK, 2000 nursery rhymes noun the Times. Rhyming slang; ironically, perhaps, suggesting that some content of the esteemed newspaper is of a similar character to the more newsworthy nursery rhymes UK, 1998 nu-skool adjective applied to a new variation on an old theme UK, 2003 nut noun 1 a regular and recurring expense US, 1909. 2 an act of sexual intercourse; sex as an activity. Extending back from NUT (an orgasm) US, 1991. 3 an orgasm, especially of a male US, 1968. 4 semen US, 1991. 5 the female breast. Usually in the plural UK, 2002. 6 the head; hence, brains, intelligence UK, 1846. 7 a crazy person, an eccentric, a crank. Probably by back-formation from NUTTY (crazy) US, 1908. 8 an enthusiast US, 1934. 9 a person UK, 1856. 10 in horse racing, a horse picked by a racing newspaper to win a race US, 1951. 11 in horse racing, the tax levied on bets by the track and the state US, 1990. 12 a bankroll US, 1951. 13 a rugby ball NEW ZEALAND, 1998. ► crack the nut in gambling, to make enough money to meet the day's expenses US, 1961. ► do your nut 1 to explode with anger UK, 1919. 2 to go mad, to feign madness UK, 1959. ► make the nut to suffice US, 1966. ► nod the nut to plead guilty. Formed on NUT (the head); from bending the head in unspoken affirmative AUSTRALIA, 1975. ► off your nut 1 in a state of drunkenness or drug intoxication. Parallel to the sense as 'mad'; possibly the original sense, a variation of OFF YOUR HEAD UK, 1860. 2 in a state of madness. A variation of OFF YOUR HEAD UK, 1873. ► on the nut in horse racing, to have lost a large amount of money betting US, 1951. ► out of your nut drunk or drug-intoxicated. A variation of OUT OF YOUR HEAD UK, 1999.

nut verb 1 to head-butt an opponent's face. Derives from NUT (the head) UK, 1937. 2 to execute IRELAND, 2001. 3 to have sex US, 1971. 4 to orgasm, especially of a male US, 1999.

nut and gut adjective mental and physical UK, 2002 nutbag noun a mesh restraint used by police to restrain violent people US, 1997 nutbox noun a mental hospital US, 1965 nutcake noun an eccentric or crazy person US, 1967 nut case noun an eccentric; a madman. Combines NUT (a lunatic) with conventional medical use of 'case' AUSTRALIA, 1944 nut-chokers noun men's underpants. Formed on NUTS (the testicles) AUSTRALIA, 1971 nutcracker noun 1 a stern person; a strict disciplinarian, especially a woman who crushes a man's spirit US, 1977. 2 a railway roundhouse mechanic US, 1977 nutcrackers noun the testicles. Rhyming slang for KNACKERS; extending, and, possibly deliberately, disguising, NUTS (the testicles) UK, 1998 nutcrusher noun a hard man (or woman); a strict disciplinarian. Crushed nuts are a standard ingredient in many sweet recipes, hence this readymade pun and variation of BALLBREAKER UK, 1999 nutcut noun the critical point in an enterprise or operation US, 1972 nut-cutting noun the most critical and distasteful stage in a project or operation. An image from the West and cattle raising US, 1968 nut farm noun a hospital for the mentally ill US, 1940 nut flush noun in poker, a hand with all cards of the same suit and an ace as the high card US, 1979 nut graf noun in journalism, the key paragraph in an article UK, 2005 nut hatch noun a mental institution US, 1942 nuthouse noun a mental hospital US, 1906 nut hustle noun a swindle involving a prostitute and a confederate US, 1978 nut job noun someone who is mentally unstable US, 1972 nut man noun a male homosexual AUSTRALIA, 1985

nut mob noun a group operating three-shell games in carnivals US, 1950 nut nectar noun semen US, 1996 nut-nut noun 1 a crazy person. By reduplication of NUT (a crazy person) UK, 2000. 2 in high-low poker, a hand that is the best possible hand either high or low US, 1996 nut off verb to send a prisoner to a secure psychiatric hospital. From NUT (a crazy person) UK, 1996 nut out verb 1 to think out; to work out AUSTRALIA, 1919. 2 to act mentally ill US, 1966 nut player noun in poker, a player who only plays a hand that is excellent as dealt. From NUTS (the best possible hand in a given situation) US, 1979 nutrients noun food US, 1993 nut role noun the act of feigning eccentricity or mild insanity US, 1969 nut-role; nut-roll verb to feign mental instability US, 1967 nut-runner noun in car repair, a pneumatic wrench US, 1993 nuts noun 1 the testicles; the scrotum US, 1863. 2 in poker, the best possible winning hand at a given moment US, 1977. 3 the advantage in a bet US, 1990. ► do your nuts over to become infatuated with someone AUSTRALIA, 1987. ► get your nuts off to ejaculate US, 1932. ► have your nuts in the wringer to be trapped in a very weak position UK, 1998. ► the nuts excellent, outstanding, very impressive. Possibly, a shortening of MUTT'S NUTS UK, 2000. ► the nuts are running the fruitcake used of any situation that is managed by those who are incapable. A neat variation, formed on NUT (a mad person) and FRUITCAKE (a mad person) of THE LUNATICS ARE RUNNING THE ASYLUM UK, 2001 nuts adjective enthusiastic about; having a strong liking for; sexually infatuated UK, 1785 nuts! used as an expression of defiance. From the sense as 'testicles', thus BALLS! US, 1910 nut sack noun the scrotum US, 1971 nutso noun a crazy person, an eccentric. From 'nuts' (crazy) US, 1975 nutso adjective crazy US, 1979 nut splitter; nut buster noun a railway machinist US, 1903 nuts to...! when combined with a name, a noun or a pronoun, used for expressing defiance of that person or thing. Used as a euphemism for 'balls to...!' UK, 1984 nutsy adjective eccentric, odd, crazy US, 1923 nuttied adjective drug-intoxicated UK, 1997 nutter noun a crazy person; a lunatic; an eccentric. Extended from NUT (a lunatic) UK, 1958 nutters adjective crazy, wildly mad UK, 1982 nutty noun any confectionery, used generically for all chocolate and sweets. Royal Navy slang UK, 1987 nutty adjective 1 crazy, eccentric US, 1892. 2 excellent. A variation on 'crazy' US, 1953 nutty as a fruitcake adjective insane, crazy. An elaboration of NUTTY UK, 1935 nutty putty noun in electric line work, a compound formally known as Seal-A-Conn, used for covering connectors US, 1980 nut up verb 1 to lose your composure completely US, 1972. 2 in poker, to shift into a more conservative mode of betting US, 1982 nut ward noun the psychiatric ward of a prison US, 1984

NWAB adjective (of a girl) promiscuous, because she will neck with any boy. Youth usage US, 1949 n-word noun the word 'nigger'. This clumsy euphemism was popularised during the 1995 O.J. Simpson murder trial by F. Lee Bailey's cross examination of Mark Fuhrman about a taped interview that Fuhrman had given in 1985 US, 1987 nyaff noun an irritating or contemptible person, especially if that person is short. Probably derived from Scots nyaff (of a dog, to bark) UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 nyam noun food; something to eat. From the verb. West Indian, hence UK black UK, 1828 nyam verb to eat. African origins, from 'yam' (a sweet potato) JAMAICA, 1790 nylon disgusters noun a pair of men's close-fitting and revealing nylon swimming trunks AUSTRALIA, 2003 nymph noun a nymphomaniac US, 1916 nymphet noun a sexually attractive, or sexually adventurous, young girl. First applied to a real, as opposed to mythic, creature by Vladimir Nabokov, Lolita, 1955 UK, 1999 nympho noun a nymphomaniac. A creature of men's dreams; used to disparage a woman whose sexual appetites may threaten to make the dream come true US, 1910

Oo

O noun 1 an OBE (Officer of the Order of the British Empire). Used by civil servants; suggestive of a casual familiarity with the honour UK, 1961. 2 opium US, 1933. 3 an ovation. Most commonly heard in the term 'standing O' US, 1984

O nickname the Nuestra Familia prison gang US, 2000

-o suffix used for making colloquial or slang nouns and nicknames. In Australia, where there was no influence from Spanish, this suffix originated from early nominal uses of the cries of various street vendors. Thus the milkman used to sing out 'milk-oh!' and so became the MILKO, the rabbit seller cried 'rabbit-oh!' and so became the RABBIT-O. It is appended to monosyllabic words or to the first syllable of polysyllabic words AUSTRALIA, 1865

OAE noun anybody who has spent at least one winter in Antarctica. An abbreviation of 'old Antarctic explorer' ANTARCTICA, 1960

oaf noun an oaf, a socially inferior fool, a lout. A conventional 'oaf' embellished UK, 1959

Oak; the Austrian Oak nickname Arnold Schwarzenegger (b.1947), the dominant bodybuilder in the steroid-enhanced 1970s US, 1984 oak and ash noun cash. Rhyming slang UK, 1960 oaktoe noun the numbing of toes by cold water, creating the sensation that your toes are wooden. Surfing usage US, 2004

OAP noun an over-anxious patient. Doctors' shorthand, playing on the conventional abbreviation for 'old age pensioner' UK, 2002

oar noun ► put your oar in; put in your oar; shove in your oar to interfere in someone else's business UK, 1730 oars and rowlocks noun nonsense. Rhyming slang for BOLLOCKS UK, 1998

oasis noun 1 a bar US, 1956. 2 in motor racing, a refreshment stand US, 1965 oatburner; oatmuncher noun in horse racing, a racehorse that does not perform well US, 1916

oater noun a cowboy film, story or song US, 1946 oatie noun ► go for an oatie to go to the toilet. A darkly humorous Antarctic euphemism recalling Captain Oates's heroic last words to his tent-mates in 1912: 'I am going outside, and may be some time' NEW ZEALAND, 1996 oatmeal noun a small, mushy wave US, 1991

oatmeal Chinaman noun in mining in the Cariboo, a Canadian CANADA, 1963

oatmeal savage noun a Scotsman CANADA, 1954

oats noun 1 sexual gratification. Usually in phrases such as: 'have your oats', 'get your oats', 'need', 'want', etc. Perhaps from 'sow your wild oats' (to commit youthful indiscretion) UK, 1923. 2 money which a carnival worker steals from his boss US, 1985. 3 enthusiasm US, 1831. ► off your oats off your food UK, 1890. ► on his oats (used of a racehorse) racing without the benefit of a stimulant US, 1994 oats and barley; Oats noun Charley or Charlie. Rhyming slang. Ostensibly and rarely a man's given name but usually in its older slang senses (a nightwatchman; to make a Charlie of; a ponce; etc) UK, 1859 oat soda noun beer. An evolution of BARLEY POP US, 1994 obbo; obo; obbs; obs noun surveillance, observation; a lookout. Varying abbreviations for 'observation' UK, 1933

OBE adjective overcome by events; overtaken by events US, 1986

OBE (used of a bettor in debt) owes bookies everywhere AUSTRALIA, 1989

OBH noun someone who smokes marijuana constantly. An abbreviation of 'original buddha head' US, 1995

obies; OB's noun old brown sherry, a drink especially popular among students. Formed on the initials OB SOUTH AFRICA, 1979

obit noun an obituary UK, 1874 obliterated adjective very drunk US, 1987 oblivion noun the state of complete intoxication US, 1984 oboy noun marijuana. Presumably this drug is, on occasion, greeted with an exclamation of delight: 'Oh boy!' UK, 2001 obs noun 1 observation. Probably military origin UK, 1999. 2 in a hospital, obstetrics UK, 1985 obscure adjective in computing, completely beyond all understanding US, 1991 obsuro adjective weird, strange (or simply obscure) US, 1997 obzocky adjective lacking grace and coordination TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1956

OC noun 1 organised crime US, 1975. 2 the synthetic opiate oxycodone used recreationally US, 2001

OC nickname Orange County, California. Immediately south of Los Angeles US, 2001

ocal; opal noun the eye. Punning variations on OGLE (the eye) UK, 2002 occy; occi noun an octopus AUSTRALIA, 1968

occy strap; ockie strap noun an elastic strap. An abbreviation of 'octopus strap' AUSTRALIA, 1981 ocean noun 1 in pool, the expansive centre of a table US, 1993. 2 in oil drilling, salt water encountered while drilling US, 1954 ocean liner noun a black eye. Rhyming slang for SHINER UK, 1992 ocean Rambler noun a herring; a sardine UK, 1961 oceans noun a large amount of something UK, 1840

-ocentric suffix used with humour as a suffix attached to a person's name, suggesting that they believe that the world revolves around them US, 1996

ocker; Ocker noun 1 an Australian male who is especially boorish and uncouth; the stereotypical Australian male yob. Originally a colloquial nickname for someone named Oscar. It became associated with typical male boorishness in the 1970s partly under the influence of a character named Ocker in the television comedy The Mavis Bramston Show (1965–68) AUSTRALIA, 1971. 2 Australian English AUSTRALIA, 1979

ocker; Ocker adjective characteristic of an ocker AUSTRALIA, 1972

ockerdom noun the state of being an ocker AUSTRALIA, 1974

O club noun in the US armed forces, an officer's club US, 1986

-ocracy suffix when linked with a subject, used to designate (and mock) a grouping that may be dominant, or aspiring to dominance, or pretending superiority within that subject-area. A sarcastic or humorous application of '-cracy' (power, rule), found in such words as 'democracy', 'plutocracy', etc. The root in all conventional senses ends with an 'o'; in colloquial or journalistic usage the 'o' is incorporated UK, 1860

ocs noun the synthetic opiate oxycodone used recreationally US, 2000 octopus noun a sexually aggressive boy US, 1932

OD noun a drug overdose US, 1959

OD verb to overdose, to take an excessive dose of a drug, usually heroin US, 1966

o-dark-hundred noun very early in the morning. Mock military time US, 1982

oday noun money. A Pig Latin construction of DOUGH US, 1928 odd noun 1 a small number over and above a round number UK, 1845. 2 the police; a police-officer UK, 1958

oddball noun an eccentric US, 1948

oddball adjective eccentric, peculiar US, 1957 oddball trick noun a prostitute's customer who pays for fetishistic sex US, 1973 odd bod noun 1 an eccentric UK, 1955. 2 an extra person in a given situation NEW ZEALAND, 1984

odd-lot noun a police car UK, 1958 odds noun 1 a vague number, as a part of a greater number. A variation on ODD UK, 1958. 2 (of money) small change. A shortening of 'odd coins' UK, 2002. ► make no odds to make no difference, not better or worse. Originally (from 1776) conventional, now colloquial UK, 1826. ► over the odds more than is expected; more than is tolerable UK, 1922. ► what's the odds? what's the difference? UK, 1840 odds verb to risk, to chance; to avoid. Perhaps deriving from 'to bet against the odds' UK, 1958 odds and sods noun bits and pieces. Now used as a variant of conventional 'odds and ends'; originally military slang for 'miscellaneous men or duties' UK, 1935 odds-on adjective 1 very probable, most likely. Adopted from gambling use to denote any form of actuarial or notional likelihood UK, 1888. 2 in horse racing, said of odds that pay less than even money US, 1974

o-dom noun an odometer (a milometer) US, 2000

OD's noun a drab olive military uniform US, 1955

OE noun Old English™ malt liquor US, 1997

Oedipus Rex; Oedipus noun sex. Rhyming slang, based on a king of ancient Thebes used by psychiatrists as a model for the sexual relationship between a boy and his mother UK, 1979

ofaginz noun a white person US, 1946 ofay noun a white person. Origin unknown. Suggestions of a Pig Latin etymology (foe) are implausible. More plausible are suggestions of a basis in an African language or the French au fait (socially proper) US, 1925

ofer; o-for adjective used to describe a male pornography performer who either cannot achieve an erection or cannot ejaculate when needed. Borrowing from sports lingo, identifying the performer as 'oh' (zero) for however many tries US, 1995 off noun 1 the start of a race; the beginning of something, the start of a journey. From racing UK, 1959. 2 time off, a day off, etc. By ellipsis SOUTH AFRICA, 1966. 3 a warning given to an illegal betting operation by corrupt police of a pending raid US, 1952. 4 in dominoes, a piece that does not contribute to the value of your hand US, 1959 off verb 1 to kill US, 1967. 2 to sell, especially contraband US, 1960 off adjective 1 distant, aloof, negative UK, about 1555. 2 having lost interest in; averse to UK, 1908. 3 disgusting, revolting AUSTRALIA, 1987. 4 of a street-prostitute, being with a client (and, therefore, off the street where the service is offered for sale) UK, 1959. 5 not using drugs US, 1952. ► be off!; be off with you! go away! Old-fashioned, but still in use UK, 1842

offbeat adjective unconventional, but not unique US, 1938 off-brand cigarette noun a marijuana cigarette US, 1980 off-brand stud noun a male homosexual US, 1962 off-by-one error noun in computing, any simple and basic error, such as starting at 1 instead of 0 US, 1991 off colour adjective 1 applied to jokes that may be considered impolite or indecent UK, 1875. 2 unwell UK, 1876 offensive potatoes noun canned potatoes ANTARCTICA, 2003 offer verb ► offer someone out to challenge someone to a fight AUSTRALIA, 1943

office noun 1 a warning; a private signal UK, 1818. 2 any secret signal used by gambling cheats to communicate among themselves US, 1950. 3 a hint or tip AUSTRALIA, 1874. ► give the office in prison, to explain the way things are, especially to a new inmate UK, 1996 office bike noun a woman who readily has sexual intercourse with fellow staff in an office AUSTRALIA, 1945 office hours noun 1 minor discipline issued by a US Marine Corps company commander US, 1898. 2 in poker, pairs of 9s and 5s, or a straight from 9 to 5 US, 1963

office piano noun a typewriter US, 1945 officer material noun a mentally deficient enlisted soldier US, 1945 office worker noun a shirker. Rhyming slang, used by manual labourers, with a subtext of bitter irony UK, 1992 offie; offy noun an off-licence (a shop licensed to sell alcoholic drinks for consumption off the premises) UK, 1977 off it adjective drug-intoxicated. A variation of OFF YOUR HEAD UK, 1998

offshore adjective foreign US, 1997 offsider noun an assistant. Originally (late C19) an assistant/apprentice to a bullock-driver who worked on the 'off side' AUSTRALIA, 1903

offski verb to go away, to leave UK, 2001 off to another NASA convention used for humour when someone who has been displaying their ignorance leaves a room US, 1991 off-trail adjective unconventional, eccentric US, 1954

Offy noun a racing engine or any other piece of equipment manufactured by Meyer-Drake US, 1993

OG noun 1 your mother. An abbreviation of OLD GIRL US, 1878. 2 a founding member of a youth gang. An abbreviation of ORIGINAL GANGSTER US, 1993

oggin noun the ocean ANTARCTICA, 2003 ogle noun the eye. Survives mainly as a part of the polari vocabulary; usually in the plural UK, 1676 ogle; ogale verb in homosexual use, to look longingly or amorously at a man. From the wider conventional sense first recorded in the 1680s UK, 1682 ogle and leer noun gonorrhoea. Rhyming slang UK, 2003 ogle fake; ogle riah fake; ogle fake riah noun a false eyelash. Polari; literally 'articles (of hair) made for the eye' UK, 1992 ogle fakes noun spectacles. Polari; literally 'articles made for the eye' UK, 2002 ogle filters noun sunglasses. Polari; based on OGLE (the eye) UK, 2002 ogle riah noun eyelashes. Polari; a combination of OGLE (the eye) and RIAH (the hair) UK, 2002

ogle riders noun the eyebrows or eyelashes UK, 2002 ogle shades noun glasses; sunglasses. Polari; based on OGLE (the eye) UK, 2002

Ogopogo noun a legendary monster in Okanagan Lake, British Columbia CANADA, 1964

ogoy noun heroin US, 1977

oh, behave used as a catch-all catchphrase, usually in the context of a sexual innuendo. Wildly popular for several years after the release of the first Austin Powers film in 1997 US, 1997

oh, fiddle-faddle! used as a non-profane expression of frustration. Used with regularity by the Aunt Bee character on The Andy Griffith Show (CBS, 1960–68). Repeated with referential humour US, 1963

Ohio bag noun one hundred grams of marijuana. Under Ohio's decriminalisation laws, this is the maximum amount for a fine for simple possession US, 1982 ohmigod!; omigod! used for expressing surprise or horror US, 1982

oh my Gawd; oh my good Gawd adjective bald. Rhyming slang; the second variation is reserved for extreme baldness UK, 1992 oh my stars! used for expressing frustration. Popularised by the sexy blonde witch Samantha on Bewitched (ABC, 1964–72). Repeated with referential humour US, 1966

oh nelly! used for humorously expressing surprise or upset US, 1997 ohnosecond noun an instant of realisation when you have made a mistake, especially in computing. A punning combination of 'nanosecond' and the exclamation 'oh no!' UK, 2002

oh-shit noun a criticism US, 1997

oh snap! used as a mild oath US, 2002

oh the pain, the shame! used as a humorous comment on humiliation. Coined on the television programme Lost in Space (1965–68), and then revived and popularised by Keith Olberman on ESPN US, 1997

oh yeah? used in questioning veracity or likelihood, or confirming that a person being addressed has understood or is in agreement US, 1930 oil; oy! a meaningless noise used to draw attention or cry in protest. Derives from the obsolete 'hoil', which was a combination of 'hol' and 'hullo!' UK, 1936

oicery noun the sleeping quarters of the officer in charge (OIC) ANTARCTICA, 1959

-oid suffix used as a suffix that embellishes without changing the base word's meaning US, 1978

oik noun someone considered to be a social inferior; a disagreeable youth. Originally a public school coinage used to categorise status: 'a townee'; then generalised as 'working-class'; also used within that circle as general abuse for an unpopular fellow pupil or someone from a rival school. Generated from HOICK (to hawk and spit) UK, 1925 oil noun 1 alcohol US, 1912. 2 a potent distillate of marijuana or hashish US, 1996. 3 heroin UK, 1998. 4 news; information about something. Metaphorically because oil is essential for the smooth running of a machine AUSTRALIA, 1915. 5 in horse racing, confidential and reliable information about a horse AUSTRALIA, 1989. 6 in pool, extreme spin imparted to the cue ball to affect the course of the object ball or the cue ball after striking the object ball US, 1912.

► the oil the complete truth, the lowdown NEW ZEALAND, 1998 oil verb 1 to inject yourself with a drug, especially heroin US, 1981. 2 to bribe US, 1982. ► oil it to study late into the night US, 1975 oil and water king noun aboard ship, the engineer controlling fresh water distillation US, 1986 oil burner noun 1 a serious drug addiction US, 1938. 2 in trucking, a diesel engine US, 1971. 3 in horse racing, a fast horse US, 1951 oil-burning adjective (used of a drug addiction) severe US, 1972 oil can noun a railway tank wagon US, 1946 oil-can verb (of a boat) to make a hollow booming sound striking the water US, 1990 oiled; oiled up adjective 1 drunk US, 1737. 2 readied; well-prepared UK, 1999

oilies noun work clothes US, 1954 oil in the can noun in horse racing, a horse believed by its backers to be a sure winner US, 1951 oil leak noun a Sikh. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 oil merchant noun a smooth-talking swindler US, 1935 oil patch noun the oil industry US, 1980

oil slick noun a Spaniard. Rhyming slang for SPIC UK, 1992 oil tanker noun used as an all-purpose form of abuse. Rhyming slang for WANKER UK, 1992 oil well noun in a deck of playing cards, an ace. From the visual comparison of an 'A' with an oil well US, 1988 oily adjective mean-spirited, tough US, 1958 oil rag noun 1 a worker's assistant UK, 1994. 2 a cigarette. Rhyming slang for FAG (a cigarette). Also shortened to 'oil-rag' and 'oily' UK, 1932 oink noun a police officer. A far less common usage than the related PIG (police) US, 1970 oink verb to lure by greed US, 1954

oinseach noun a female fool IRELAND, 2001

Oirish adjective Irish. From the stereotypically Irish pronunciation of 'Irish' UK, 1962

OJ noun 1 marijuana. Possibly, an initialism of 'oint-jay' (JOINT) US, 1970. 2 a marijuana cigarette dipped in liquid opium or heroin. In other words, an 'opium joint'. Popular with US troops in Vietnam US, 1970. 3 an online jockey who hosts Internet discussions. Initialism, on the model of DJ (disc jockey) UK, 1998

OK when appended to a slogan, used as a strengthening affirmative, especially when phrased 'X rule (or rules) OK'. Nigel Rees, Graffiti Lives, OK, 1979, writes: 'The addition of "OK" to slogans first became noticeable in Northern Ireland during the early 1970s, as in "Provos Rule, OK" referring to the Provisional IRA' UK, 2002

OK; okay noun 1 consent, approval US, 1841. 2 a bribe paid by an illegal gambling establishment to the authorities to stay in business US, 1979

OK; okay verb to approve US, 1988

OK; okay adjective 1 comfortable, at ease. Especially common as 'OK about' or 'OK with' US, 1978. 2 safe, unhurt US, 1839. 3 decent, mediocre, satisfactory. In 1963, the late Allen Walker Read published his extensive and definitive research on the term, tracing its coinage to 1839 as an abbreviation of 'oil korrekt', itself a then-popular slang term US, 1839

OK; okay used for expressing assent, approval, understanding, or agreement US, 1839

OK Corral noun a group of men masturbating while watching a female. An extrapolation of the GUN DOWN image, alluding to the site of a famous American gun battle in 1881 US, 2002

oke noun used as an affectionate or patronising term of address or reference to a man or boy. A shortened form of OKIE SOUTH AFRICA, 1970

okey-doke noun 1 a swindle or deception US, 1969. 2 a wallet, especially its contents. Rhyming slang for POKE used by pickpockets. Sometimes shortened to 'okey' UK, 1961 okey-doke used for communicating agreement. A shortening of OKIE-DOKEY US, 1936

okey-doke adjective acceptable US, 1942 okey-doke used for communicating agreement. An old-fashioned, affected, still popular perversion of OK US, 1932

Oki; Okie noun Okinawa. Coined in World War 2, still used in Vietnam US, 1945

Okie noun a poor, white resident or native of rural Oklahoma; a poor, white resident or native of the south-central US. Used with derision or pride but not neutrally US, 1938 okie; ookie noun used as an affectionate or patronising term of address or reference to a man or boy. Anglicised form of Afrikaans Outjie SOUTH AFRICA, 1943

Okie blower noun in trucking, an air scoop attached to the air-intake system US, 1971

Okie chrome noun aluminium paint US, 1961

Okie trap noun a confusing, complicated traffic interchange US, 1962

Oklahoma credit card noun a hose used to steal petrol by siphoning it from a parked car. Presenting the myth of Oklahoma as a state filled with poor, crafty and dishonest people US, 1962

Oklahoma toothbrush noun the penis. In Oklahoma, known as a 'Texas toothbrush' US, 1994

OK Yardie noun a stereotypical Briton of the upper- or middle-class who lives in west London's gangland. A conflation of 'OK, yah' (a catchphrase cliché of the social grouping) and YARDIE (a Jamaican gangster) UK, 1998

-ola suffix a meaningless embellishment of a suffix US, 1919 olalliechuk noun (on the Pacific coast) a homebrew made from berries. The name comes from Chinook jargon CANADA, 1966 old noun a dark lager-style beer brewed by the top-fermentation method. As opposed to NEW AUSTRALIA, 1935 old; ol'; ole adjective 1 used to intensify some intensifiers. A slight narrowing of use since first recorded in the 1440s as 'grand, great, plentiful' now mainly seen in such constructions as: 'high old time' (1858) and 'gay old boys' (1887) UK, 1844. 2 old. The first headword is, of course, standard English; the second and third variants are variously colloquial, informal and slang as circumstances dictate UK, 1844. 3 used as a signal of familiarity with the person so described. As spoken in the southern US, not necessarily indicative of affection, cordiality, or good humour US, 1984. 4 tiresome US, 1864

old bag noun 1 an unattractive or unloveable old woman.

Disparaging; possibly a variant of OLD BAT, cognisant of the following sense as 'an elderly prostitute' which itself may derive from OLD BAT UK, 1949. 2 an elderly, slatternly prostitute; hence pejorative for a younger prostitute UK, 1961 old bastard noun a man; fellow. Used as an ironic form of friendly personal address, generally amongst males. Such is the love for this expression amongst working-class Australians, a charity organisation was formed in the 1970s under the name the Australasian Order of Old Bastards. Part of the rules of the order is that 'On encountering other O.B.'s in a bar one must administer a hearty slap on the back, accompanied with the cheerful salutation, "Hello you Old Bastard!". Membership card must be carried at all times. Failure to produce same when challenged by fellow O.B. incurs a penalty of one round of drinks' AUSTRALIA, 1944 old bat noun a disagreeable, middle-aged or elderly woman. An elaboration of BAT (an ugly woman), originally 'a prostitute' UK, 1886 old bill noun 1 the penis UK, 1998. 2 a signal, by hand or word, asking 'Are there any other cheaters in this game?' US, 1979

Old Bill noun a police officer; the police. Original usage was singular, now mainly collective. Feasible etymologies, in no particular order of likelihood: i) 'Old Bill', a cartoon strip character created by Bruce Bairnsfeather (1888–1959), was a veteran of World War 1 with a distinctive 'authoritarian-looking' moustache – a status and description shared by many pre-World War 2 policemen. This derivation may be reinforced by the 1917 UK government's advertising campaign, featuring Old Bill dressed as a special constable, using the heading 'Old Bill says...' to disseminate important wartime information. ii) Derived from a blend of popular song 'Won't You Come Home, Bill Bailey' punning with 'The Old Bailey' (London's Central Criminal Court). iii) 'Old Bill' was King William IV (1765–1837), during whose reign (1830–37) the police force is wrongly thought to have been established. iv) 'Kaiser Bill', Kaiser Wilhelm I of Prussia (1797–1888), visited England in 1864 when the police uniform changed to helmet and tunic. v) Constables of the watch were nicknamed for the bills or billhooks that they carried as weapons. vi) In Victorian times the 'old bill' was the bill, or account, presented by police accepting bribes, or for services rendered. vii) New laws are introduced as parliamentary bills. viii) The London County Council registered all public service vehicles (police, fire and ambulance) with number plates BYL, leading villains to spot unmarked police cars as 'old Bill'. ix) Similarly, Scotland Yard's 'Flying Squad' (established 1921) was reportedly issued with BYL registrations so that the Squad became known as 'old Bill', and hence the police in general. x) In the 1860s, Limehouse police sergeant Bill Smith, of apocryphal memory, was nicknamed 'Old Bill' UK, 1958 old bird noun a mature, older or old woman UK, 2003 old bird adjective of a prisoner, having traditional values UK, 2001 old blind Bob noun the penis UK, 1974 old bloke noun the penis AUSTRALIA, 1992

Old Blue Eyes nickname Frank Sinatra, US singer (1915–98) US, 1984

old bollocks noun an older man UK, 2000 old boot; boot noun an unattractive woman, a woman with qualities that are considered unattractive UK, 1958 old boy noun 1 the penis US, 1943. 2 used as a friendly form of address to another man. A colloquial vocative since the C17 UK, 2000. 3 an old man UK, 1500. 4 a father UK, 1892 old boy network; Old Boy network noun a social and, especially, business connection between former public school pupils which is presumed, by those without such a connection, to give unfair advantages in matters of employment and social advancement; also applied to connections made at university, and at other institutions which may be considered as for the privileged UK, 1959 old breed noun the First Marine Division, US Marine Corps, which saw service in World War 2, North China, Korea and Vietnam US, 1991

old cat noun A Morris Minor car. Citizens' band radio slang UK, 1981 old chap noun 1 used as a friendly form of address to another man UK, 1822. 2 the penis UK, 1992 old comic noun a Vauxhall Victor car. Citizens' band radio slang; it sounds like a name a music hall comedian would use UK, 1981

Old Corncob nickname General Douglas MacArthur (1880–1964) of the US Army. From his love for a corncob pipe US, 1982 old country noun 1 to the US armed forces at the end of World War 2, the United States US, 1949. 2 Beverly Hills, California. Used with irony by transplants, especially Jewish transplants, to the San Fernando Valley US, 2004

Old Country nickname England or the United Kingdom AUSTRALIA, 1834

old cow noun a despicable old woman AUSTRALIA, 1864

old D noun a mother. Initially 'dear' or 'darling' UK, 1996

Old Dart nickname England or the United Kingdom; specifically, London. First recorded in use in England in 1832 (Wilkes). 'Dart' represents the pronunciation of the word 'dirt' in the Essex dialect, and so 'Old Dart' would correlate with 'old sod' (one's native district or country) AUSTRALIA, 1892 old dear noun an old woman UK, 1958 ▷ see: OUL ONE old dog noun a Rover car UK, 1981

old face noun a chorus dancer whose long tenure makes her unmarketable US, 1948 old faithful noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1954 old fart noun an old or older person, especially one who is unpleasant or disliked. Often elaborated as 'boring old fart.' US, 1971 old-fashioned look noun a glance of quizzical disapproval UK, 1961 old fellow noun 1 the penis AUSTRALIA, 1968. 2 a father (regardless of age) AUSTRALIA, 1954. 3 used as a friendly form of address to another man; a man UK, 1825 old fogey noun a small lump of dried nasal mucus. Rhyming slang for BOGEY UK, 1998 old folks noun 1 parents (regardless of age) AUSTRALIA, 1957. 2 in circus and carnival usage, monkeys US, 1981 old fruit; my old fruit noun used as a friendly form of address to another man UK, 2003 old gent noun the penis UK, 2000 old girl noun 1 a mother; a wife UK, 1887. 2 an old woman UK, 1791 old git noun any man who is considered past his prime UK, 2000 old grinder noun a promiscuous woman UK, 2000 old hand noun an experienced person, an expert UK, 1785 old hat adjective old-fashioned, out-of-date UK, 1911 old head noun 1 an older prisoner US, 2002. 2 a returning student to a school US, 1963 old horsey noun strong, illegally manufactured whisky US, 1999 old house noun on the railways, a warehouse of salvaged parts US, 1977 oldie noun 1 an older or elderly person UK, 1874. 2 a song from the past that is still popular. A shortened form of GOLDEN OLDIE or 'oldie but goodie' US, 1939 oldies noun parents (regardless of age) AUSTRALIA, 1964 old iron and brass; old iron noun 2 a pass. Rhyming slang, in military use UK, 1992 old iron and grass; old iron noun 1 grass. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 old Joe noun any sexually transmitted infection US, 1967 old King Cole noun unemployment benefit; a government office from which unemployment benefit is managed. Rhyming slang for THE DOLE; formed on the name of a nursery rhyme character – he was ‘a merry old soul’ so this rhyme may be intentionally ironic UK, 1960 old kit bag noun a cigarette. Rhyming slang for FAG; possibly from the song by George Asaf and Felix Powell: ‘Pack up your troubles in your old kit bag and smile, smile, smile’, 1915 – but still familiar UK, 1998 old lad noun used as a friendly form of address to another man UK, 1588 old lady noun 1 a mother US, 1877. 2 a wife, common-law or legal; a girlfriend US, 1836. 3 the more passive member of a same-sex couple US, 1937. 4 any old woman UK, 1824

Old Lady of Threadneedle Street nickname the Bank of England. From a cartoon by James Gillray UK, 1797 old lady white; old white lady noun a powdered drug: cocaine, heroin or morphine US, 1942 old lag noun 1 a regular prisoner or one who has become institutionalised, a recidivist. From LAG (a prisoner) UK, 1950. 2 a prisoner who has been in jail for a long time AUSTRALIA, 1950. 3 a former prisoner AUSTRALIA, 1812. 4 a person who has been contracted to a single employer for a very long time, especially of the armed services. Humorous use of the sense as ‘a convict who has been imprisoned for many years’ UK, 2001 old man noun 1 a father US, 1811. 2 a boyfriend or husband UK, 1768. 3 a commanding officer, military or police US, 1830. 4 a pimp in relation to a prostitute US, 1891. 5 an elder amongst the Australian Aboriginals AUSTRALIA, 1848. 6 used as a form of address to another man UK, 1885. 7 the penis UK, 1984. 8 a shark US, 1965 old man comforts noun high-top shoes with ankle support and extra laces US, 1973 old man kangaroo; old man 'roo noun an adult male kangaroo AUSTRALIA, 1834 old man's aid noun in pool, a device used to support the cue stick for a hard-to-reach shot. As the terminology suggests, the device is scorned by skilled players US, 1977 old man's milk noun coconut water mixed with gin TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

old Mick adjective nauseated, sick. Rhyming slang UK, 1967

Old Miss nickname the University of Mississippi US, 1989

old money noun an earlier system of measuring, when applied to anything except money UK, 2000 old navy noun heroin US, 2002

Old Nick noun mischief. Nearly obsolete US, 1817 old oak noun London. Probably rhyming slang for THE SMOKE; used by trainspotters; however, Garth Andrews, a retired deputy head of Records and Archives at the British Railways Board, wrote to this dictionary in May 2003, to suggest that ‘this has nothing to do with rhyming slang for “smoke”’. Old Oak Common was the premier engine shed on the Great Western Railway, providing the motive power for crack expresses out of Paddington. It is, of course, possible that Old Oak Common provided the inspiration for the rhyme – if rhyme it is UK, 1970 old pair noun parents IRELAND, 2001

old people noun parents (regardless of age) AUSTRALIA, 1941

old person's friend noun pneumonia CANADA, 1987

old rag noun a flag. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 old reliable noun the Ninth Infantry Division, US Army US, 1991

olds noun parents AUSTRALIA, 1979 old sailor noun a Morris Marina car. Citizens' band radio slang; pun on ‘mariner’ UK, 1981 old school noun a past generation with an old-fashioned but reliable way of doing things US, 1970 old shaky noun a C-124 long-range transport aircraft US, 1986 old skool; old school noun the original style of hip-hop music viewed retrospectively; subsequently, any hip-hop music that could not be categorised as house music; finally, any style of music under the hip-hop umbrella that is not absolutely current US, 1989

Oldsmobile noun in hold ‘em poker, a nine and an eight as the first two cards dealt to a player. An allusion to the Oldsmobile 98, a popular model US, 1981

Old Smokey noun the electric chair US, 1929 old soak; soak noun a drunkard. From the verb sense (to drink immoderately) UK, 1820

Old Sod noun Ireland UK, 1891

old sort noun a wife, a husband or any partner in a living-together relationship UK, 2000

Old Sparky noun an electric chair, especially Florida's electric chair US, 1971 old stager noun a person of considerable age or experience UK, 1570 oldster noun an older person UK, 1848 old Steve noun heroin US, 1936 old style noun fashion sense that is excessive to the point of ridicule TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1956 old sweat noun an old soldier; a veteran police officer UK, 1919 old thing; dear old thing noun used as a term of address, usually as an endearment UK, 1864

oldtimer's disease noun Alzheimer's disease US, 1988 old Tom noun an aggressive, ‘mannish’ lesbian US, 1978 old woman noun 1 a wife; a woman you cohabit with UK, 1775. 2 a mother UK, 1829. 3 a male who behaves like an old woman AUSTRALIA, 1963

ole gal noun a male roommate US, 1947

o-levels noun oral sex, especially when advertised as a service offered by a prostitute. A play on the name given to ‘ordinary-level’ examinations in the British education system UK, 1978 olive oil; olive noun silver foil (used in the preparation of heroin). Rhyming slang UK, 1996

Oliver noun in circus and carnival usage, a police officer US, 1981

Oliver Reed; Ollie; Olly noun 1 tobacco; marijuana. Rhyming slang for WEED (tobacco/marijuana), based on the name of actor Oliver Reed, 1938–99 UK, 1992. 2 amphetamine. Rhyming slang for SPEED (amphetamine), based on the name of actor Oliver Reed, 1938–99 UK, 1992

Oliver Twist adjective drunk. Rhyming slang for PISSED, formed from Charles Dickens' eponymous hero UK, 1998

Oliver Twist!; oliver! a derisive suggestion that accompanies the offensive gesture of a raised middle finger. An elaboration and extension of TWIST!, formed from Charles Dickens' famous hero UK, 2001

Ollie Beak noun a Sikh. Rhyming slang, formed from a puppet – a Liverpoolian owl – that used to introduce children's television programmes in the 1960s UK, 1998

Ollie, Molly and Dolly noun in poker, three queens US, 1948 olly; ollie noun in skateboarding, a jumping manoeuvre, the basis of most skating tricks US, 1989

Oly nickname Olympia, Washington US, 1997

om noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Possibly from the Buddhist mantra ‘Om’, playing on the drug's association with ‘trance’ (a contemporary dance music genre formed on repetitive rhythms), or, perhaps, an abbreviation of OMEGA UK, 1996

OM noun a male; a partner; a husband. An abbreviation of ‘old man’. Frequent usage by shortwave radio operators, carried over into citizens' band radio slang US, 1976

-omatic suffix used as an embellishment that adds nothing to the meaning of the word embellished US, 1982 omee; ome; omer; ome; homee; homi; homie; homey noun a man; a master; a landlord. Polari, from Italian uomo (a man) UK, 1845 omee-palone; omee-paloney; ome-palone; homee-palone; omi-palome; omie-palome noun a homosexual man. Polari; a combination of OMEE (a man) and POLONE; PALONE (a woman) UK, 1966 omega noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Possibly a play on 'the end' or, perhaps, an elaboration of OM UK, 1996 omen noun low grade phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1993 omo; OMO adjective used for signalling that a woman's husband is not at home: old man out. OMO™ is an established branded soap powder UK, 1995 omygod noun a Plymouth Omega US, 1992 on adjective 1 in the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. Euphemistic abbreviation of, or an alternative to, ON THE RAG or 'on (your) period' UK, 1971. 2 ready and willing UK, 1888. 3 willing to take part AUSTRALIA, 1880. 4 willing to take part in an amorous liaison AUSTRALIA, 1907. 5 dating AUSTRALIA, 1945. 6 (of a fight or dispute) begun in earnest AUSTRALIA, 1945. 7 persistently asking AUSTRALIA, 1969. 8 of a criminal enterprise, under way UK, 1969. 9 possible, feasible, worthy of an attempt. Originally recorded in use among billiard and snooker players UK, 1935. 10 having secured a bet AUSTRALIA, 1903. 11 protected from policy action by bribes US, 1973. 12 of a food dish, on the menu UK, 1949. 13 drug-intoxicated US, 1946. ► not on not going to happen; forbidden AUSTRALIA, 1972 on preposition 1 (used of a drug) under the influence of US, 1925. 2 so as to affect or disadvantage IRELAND, 1880. 3 to the detriment of, or the disadvantage of, or the ruin of, etc UK, 2000. 4 at or in (a place) AUSTRALIA, 1853. 5 to be paid for by US, 1871. ► be on about to talk in such a manner that the speaker is not entirely understood or listened to by the auditor. As in, 'What's he on about now?' UK, 1984. ► be on at to nag, to constantly reprove UK, 1974. ► go on about; be on about to grumble; to complain, especially loudly; to talk on a subject for far too long UK, 1863

on and off noun a cough. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 on bob adjective happy. Variation of BOB (pleasant) UK, 2001 once a week noun 1 a magistrate. Rhyming slang for BEAK UK, 1960. 2 impudence. Rhyming slang for CHEEK UK, 1925 once in a blue moon very rarely UK, 1959 once-over noun a brief look that assesses something or someone US, 1913 oncer noun 1 something or someone unique AUSTRALIA, 1966. 2 a person who has sex only once with any given partner US, 1959. 3 a one-pound note UK, 1931. 4 an impudent person. Derives from rhyming slang ONCE A WEEK for CHEEK UK, 1992 one noun 1 an eccentric, amusing or outrageous person UK, 1880. 2 a devotee, or an adherent, or a champion, of something UK, 1888. 3 a grudge; a score; a blow; a kiss; a drink; an act of sexual intercourse; any non-specified noun. By ellipsis of the specific noun UK, 1830. 4 a lie; a joke or an anecdote UK, 1813. 5 an act of urination. An abbreviation of NUMBER ONE TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987. ► do one for me; have one for me a jocular catchphrase addressed to someone on the way to the lavatory UK, 1984. ► in one in bar dice games, to make a hand in one roll of the dice US, 1971. ► on one in a state of intoxication as a result of use of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 1999 one adjective used as an emphatic indefinite article UK, 1828

one goodbye. An abbreviation of ONE LOVE. US, 2002

one and a half noun a prison sentence of eighteen months UK, 1961 one and eight noun a plate (in all uses, conventional or slang). Rhyming slang UK, 1992 one and half noun a scarf. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 one and one noun 1 an inhalation of cocaine using both nostrils UK, 2003. 2 a dose of heroin accompanied by a dose of cocaine US, 1997. 3 a bag of deep-fried cod and chips IRELAND, 1963 one and t'other noun 1 a brother. Rhyming slang UK, 1981. 2 a mother. Rhyming slang UK, 1932 one-armed bandit noun 1 a slot machine gambling device US, 1938. 2 a petrol pump. From a vague similarity in appearance to a fruit machine UK, 1981. 3 that part of an automatic warning system mounted in a diesel locomotive's cab UK, 1970 one away! used by prison officers to raise the alarm when a prisoner escapes UK, 1950 one day for thief, one day for police used for expressing the conviction that wrongdoers will eventually be caught TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1990

one day job noun a car that can be disassembled and sold in one day after being stolen US, 1992

One Day of the Year noun Anzac Day AUSTRALIA, 1962

one day, one day, congotay one day there will be justice TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

one-digit midget noun during the Vietnam war, a soldier with less than 10 days to serve before his date of expected return from overseas US, 1984 one 'em verb in the gambling game two-up, to throw a head and a tail AUSTRALIA, 1966 one-eye noun 1 the penis. A variation of the 'one-eyed bestiary' US, 1961. 2 in a deck of playing cards, a face card drawn in profile, the jack of hearts, the jack of spades or the king of diamonds US, 1967. 3 a car with only one headlight working US, 1962 one-eyed adjective used in combination with a variety of suitably shaped or characterised nouns to depict the penis UK, 1775 one-eyed jack noun a car with only one headlight working US, 1998 one-eyed monster noun the penis. Neither Cyclops nor the character from the film Monsters Inc US, 1972 one-eyed snake noun the penis. A short 'one-eyed trouser snake' US, 2001 one-eyed trouser snake noun the penis AUSTRALIA, 1971

one foot in the grave adjective old, perhaps very old. Used as the title of a popular BBC situation comedy about an ageing (but not elderly) couple, written by David Renwick and broadcast from 1990–2000 UK, 1632 one for his nob noun a shilling. Rhyming slang for BOB that fell into disuse following decimalisation in 1971 UK, 1961 one for Ron noun an extra cigarette taken when one is offered. Typically the person cadding cigarettes says they'll take one 'and one for Ron', when the person giving the cigarettes asks 'Who is Ron?' the answer given is 'one for later on' AUSTRALIA, 1966 one for the boy noun in horse racing, a bet placed on a horse by the owner and given to the jockey before the race US, 1951 one for the road noun a final drink before leaving a bar US, 1943 one goer noun a race in which only one horse is being run to win AUSTRALIA, 1966 one-hand magazine; one-handed magazine; one-handed literature noun a pornographic magazine. The image of one hand free UK, 1978 one hitter noun a device designed for holding a single inhalation worth of marijuana US, 2003 one hitter quitter; one hitta quitta noun a powerful variety of marijuana. It takes just one HIT (an inhalation) to get an intoxicating effect UK, 1995 one-hit wonder noun a recording artist or group with a single hit song US, 1994 one-holed flute noun the penis. Variation of FLUTE (the penis) UK, 1984 one-horse adjective of little consequence, unimportant, inferior, small US, 1853 one hundred noun a marijuana cigarette dipped in an opium solution US, 1991

One Hung Low nickname used as a name for a Chinaman. Intended to be humorous, as in the imagined book title 'The Ruptured Chinaman' by One Hung Low UK, 1984 one love used as a farewell US, 2002 one lugner noun a single cylinder motorcycle. Motorcyclists' slang, noted by Partridge, 1979 US, 1908 one man noun first degree manslaughter US, 1982

one-nighter noun a sexual relationship lasting a single night US, 1969 one-night stand noun a sexual relationship lasting a single night UK, 1937 one-off noun a unique person, object or event. From manufacturing jargon UK, 2000 one off the wrist; quick one off the wrist noun (of a male) an act of masturbation. The adjective 'quick' (or occasional variations) does not denote an especially speedy endeavour, its purpose is to elaborate the basic term UK, 1973

one of the original twelve noun an extremely high-ranking officer. US naval aviator usage US, 1986 one of these fine days at a vague point in the future. Minor variations abound: 'some fine day', 'one of these fine mornings', etc UK, 1846 one of those; one of them noun a homosexual UK, 1933 one of those days noun a day when everything seems to go wrong, or is more hectic than usual UK, 1936 one of us noun a male homosexual. Especially in the phrase, 'he's one of us' UK, 1961 one on! used as a shouted warning that a train is approaching UK, 1970

one-one noun in horse racing or harness racing, the position one off the rail and one behind the challenger. A favoured position, close enough to challenge the lead and benefiting from the wind broken by the challenger US, 1997

one-on-one house noun a place where cocaine and heroin can be bought UK, 1998 one-o-one adjective basic. Alluding to basic college courses such as 'English 101' US, 1993 one out by oneself, on one's own; alone AUSTRALIA, 1950

one over the eight adjective drunk; the final drink that makes you drunk UK, 1925 one over the pocket noun a woman who is easily available for sex. Adopted from snooker terminology UK, 2002 one pen used by small children to ask foreign tourists for money. A request, sometimes a demand. Derives, perhaps, from a 1961 visit to India by US Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson who handed out ballpoint pens marked with his name INDIA, 2003

one-percenter; two-percenter noun used as a self-identification by members of outlaw motorcycle clubs. When the president of the American Motorcycle Association proclaimed that 99% (or later 98%) of motorcyclists are 'decent, hardworking, law-abiding citizens', outlaw bikers did the maths and proclaimed themselves the remainder US, 1966

one-piece overcoat noun a condom UK, 1984 one-pipper; one pip noun a second lieutenant. Army, from the sleeve or shoulder insignia UK, 1915 one-plus-one sale noun heroin and cocaine sold together UK, 2002

one-pub adjective (of a town) small enough to have only one public hotel; inconsequential AUSTRALIA, 1901

oner noun a one-pound note UK, 1889 ones noun 1 the first landing or floor level in a prison UK, 1996. 2 in the gambling game two-up, a throw of a head and a tail AUSTRALIA, 1911. ► all the ones eleven. In Bingo, House or Housey-Housey calling, the formula 'all the' announces a double number UK, 1943. ► on the ones and twos in prison, used of a sex offender, convicted paedophile, etc. A variation of NUMBERED OFF; ON THE NUMBERS UK, 1996 ones and twos noun shoes US, 1928 one-shot wonder noun a man who is unable to achieve a second erection within a short time after orgasm UK, 1937

one-side verb to hit without warning Fiji, 1995

one singer, one song; wan singer, wan song used as a call for order when many people are contributing to a debate at the same time. Originally shouted at people who, uninvited, join in a singer's song, and, inevitably, fail to add a pleasing harmony. Popularised by Glaswegian actor, comedian and folk-singer, Billy Connolly (b.1942) UK: SCOTLAND, 1996 one-skin joint noun a marijuana cigarette made with just one cigarette paper UK, 2003 one-skinner noun a marijuana cigarette made with just one cigarette paper UK, 1999

one-spot noun a prison sentence of one year US, 1949 one star artist noun a second lieutenant. Military, from the sleeve or shoulder insignia. In World War 1 one star – 'one stunt' was an army catchphrase that reflected the frequency with which second lieutenants got killed in their first battle NEW ZEALAND, 1984

onesy noun an act of urination AUSTRALIA, 1995

one-time noun the police US, 1990 one toke no joke powerful marijuana. Rhyming elaboration on TOKE (to smoke marijuana) UK, 2000 one-toke weed noun marijuana of such potency that only a few inhalations induce intoxication US, 1982

one to one noun in betting odds, evens UK, 1991

one-track mind noun an overwhelming interest in a single topic, especially sex. Especially familiar, to some, in the catchphrase 'you've got a one-track mind', and various elaborations along the lines of 'and it's a dirt-track' UK, 1984 one way noun LSD. Possibly plays on the type of ticket you would purchase for a conventional 'trip'; TRIP (a hallucinatory drug experience) US, 1970

one-way adjective heterosexual US, 1964

one-way taxi noun a hearse UK, 1981

one-wire noun an electrician. US Navy usage US, 1998 one-woman show noun (of a female) an act of masturbation. Figurative sense of a theatrical presentation that itself is often critically described as 'intellectual masturbation' US, 2001 one word from you and he does as he likes he ignores your commands. With various pronominal variations. Especially popular amongst parents and pet-owners UK, 1977

oney noun one UK, 2002

on for young and old adjective having begun in earnest AUSTRALIA, 1951 onion noun 1 one hundred dollars US, 1988. 2 crack cocaine UK, 2003. 3 a native Bermudian BERMUDA, 1985. 4 a Ford Orion car. Motor trade slang UK, 2004. 5 an absolutely unskilled skateboarder. Teen slang; because 'it makes you cry to watch' UK, 1978 onion ballad noun a painfully sad song. An allusion to the relationship between onions and tears US, 1981 onion church noun the Greek Orthodox church. From the dome on many Greek Orthodox churches US, 1997 onion hotel noun a boarding house used by oil field workers US, 1954 onion peeler noun a switchblade knife US, 1973 onions noun ► get up your onions to irritate, to anger. A variation of GET UP YOUR NOSE UK, 1988. ► pain in the onions an irritation; an annoying person UK, 1988 on it adjective prepared and ready US, 2000

onk noun the nose UK, 2002 onkaparinga; onka noun a finger. Rhyming slang, from Onkaparinga, a steeplechase track in Australia AUSTRALIA, 1967 onkus adjective no good. Origin unknown AUSTRALIA, 1918

onliest adjective only US, 1907 only adverb very. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982 only suckers beef used as a catchphrase in Chicago to affirm a guiding principle of that city, that losers should not complain US, 1982 on my honour as a Rocket Ranger used as a humorous oath or pledge. On the US children's television programme Rod Brown of the Rocket Rangers (CBS, 1953–54), the children in the television audience were asked to pledge on their honour, among other things, 'to chart my course according to the Constitution of the United States of America'. Used in following years with irony by those who had been children during the dark years of the early 1950s US, 1954 on my skin used as a profound oath of honour by white prisoners US, 1989

OnO used as an Internet shorthand farewell to mean 'over and out' US, 1997 on offer adjective available UK, 2000 on point adjective alert, ready for anything. Military; the man 'on point' leads a patrol UK, 2001 on the floor, hit the door ▶ see: DIE ON THE FLOOR, SEVEN AT THE DOOR on the hob noun the penis. Rhyming slang for KNOB UK, 2003 on the in in prison UK, 2000 on the strength! seriously! US, 1989 on time adjective excellent US, 1992 on top adjective 1 about to happen UK, 1978. 2 wrong; destroyed or defeated UK, 1999 on top! used as a warning that a prison officer is close. From the sense 'something is about to happen' UK, 1996 onya used as praise for a job well done AUSTRALIA, 1948 on your bike! go away! UK, 1967

o-o noun a quick inspection, a once-over US, 1913 oo-ah verb (used of a woman) to sit or lie with legs spread immodestly NORFOLK ISLAND, 1992

oodles noun a large number; a large amount US, 1867 oo-er!; ooo-er! used for expressing surprise, disgust or embarrassment UK, 1912 oo-er missus! used for stressing a sexual innuendo, or as a catchphrase-response to such a double-entendre. A narrowing of the senses used for OO-ER! UK, 2001 ooga-booga-land noun a non-specific African location. A racist notion based on the presumed phonetics of African tribal chants, probably filtered through a Hollywood reality UK, 1998 oogley adjective good, excellent. Teen slang US, 1955 ooh and aah verb to express admiration US, 1957 ooh la la noun a brasserie. Rhyming slang for 'bra' UK, 1998 ooh-la-la used as an expression of admiration US, 1957 oojah; oojar; oojamafli; oojah-ma-flip noun a gadget; a non-specific thing. Etymology is unknown, however it has been theorised that it may come from Hindustani, or derive as a corruption of the nautical term 'hook-me-dinghy'; earlier variations include 'ooja-ka-piv' and 'ooja-cum-pivvy' UK, 1917

Ookpik noun a doll that looks like an owl CANADA, 1964

oolies noun marijuana UK, 2003

ooloo noun a knife used by Eskimo women CANADA, 1966 oomph noun the quality of sexual attraction; hence enthusiasm, vigour, energy. Echoic, from the mating bellow (perhaps of a bull) US, 1937 oonock noun an Eskimo implement for harpooning seals CANADA, 1941 oop north adjective in the North of England. A parodic use of a non-specific northern accent UK, 2002 oop-pa-a-da used as a greeting by bebop musicians and followers. A highly stylised greeting, widely publicised in the early years of bop jazz, used sparingly US, 1949

oops! used in response to an accident or mistake, suggesting an acknowledgement of fault US, 1989 ooroo goodbye. Variant of HOOROO AUSTRALIA, 1967 ooze verb to move, especially slowly, carefully, without enthusiasm US, 1929 op noun 1 a surgical operation UK, 1925. 2 an operator US, 1930. 3 a private detective; a private operator US, 1947. 4 a military operation UK, 1996 op verb to operate; to do; to set up US, 1953

OP adjective other people's US, 1972

OPB noun used as an initialism for other people's brand, a mythical and humorous brand of cigarettes US, 1970 ope noun opium; heroin. An abbreviation of 'opium' UK, 1929 open noun in computing, a left parenthesis – the (US, 1991 open verb 1 used of a film actor who is a big enough box office attraction that success of a film project is almost guaranteed, to start and carry such a film production US, 2003. 2 to turn on CANADA, 2002. ▶ open the kimono of a business, to reveal company accounts, to publish business information. Business slang UK, 1998. ▶ open the lunchbox to fart US, 1997 open adjective 1 excited; drunk or drug-intoxicated; infatuated. From HAVE YOUR NOSE OPEN US, 1995. 2 in organised crime, safe for anyone without fear of violence US, 1963 open at both ends adjective in poker, four cards in sequence that could form a five-card straight with a draw at either end of the sequence US, 1988

open door noun in surfing, a wave that breaks such that the surfer can ride away from the peak onto the shoulder US, 1963 openers noun ▶ for openers to begin with; for starters AUSTRALIA, 1969 open go noun a total lack of restriction AUSTRALIA, 1940 open heifer noun a woman looking for a mate CANADA, 1987 open-kimono adjective characterised by complete honesty and full disclosure. Sometimes formulated as OPEN THE KIMONO or a variation thereon. Ronin International, a computer consulting firm, promises 'open-kimono' in its published mission statement, explaining that the term 'stems from feudal Japanese times where the term signified that the party will hide nothing within his clothing (the kimono was the dominant clothing of that era) that could conceivably be used as a weapon' US, 1974 open-mike adjective said of a club where anybody may perform briefly and without payment US, 1999 open room noun an establishment where it is possible to bet on sporting events and listen to or watch the event as it takes place US, 1978 open season noun said when there are a lot of police monitoring vehicle speeds on a stretch of road US, 1976 open shadow noun in a surveillance operation, a follower who lets himself be spotted US, 1958 open slather noun unrestrained freedom. From British dialect slather (to spill, to squander) AUSTRALIA, 1919 open work noun safecracking US, 1949 opera noun a travelling show US, 1980

Operation Big Switch noun the final exchange of prisoners of war in Korea in 1953 US, 1964

Operation Killer noun a main US offensive in the Korean war, 20th February–6th March 1951 US, 1968

Operation Little Switch noun a preliminary exchange of prisoners of war in Korea in 1953 US, 1964

Operation Yo-Yo noun the battle for Wosan, North Korea, in October 1950. So named by the US Marines who arrived at Wosan too late to take part in the capture because they had sailed back and forth around Wosan as the harbour was cleared of mines US, 1964

- operator noun 1 someone who is popular, crafty and perhaps manipulative US, 1944. 2 a drug dealer US, 1952
- opie switch noun in car repair, an oil pressure switch US, 1992
- OPM noun other people's money US, 1901
- oppo noun a friend, a pal. Short for 'opposite number' UK, 1939
- opposite adjective obscene, especially of language SOUTH AFRICA, 1946
- op shop noun a charity store. From 'opportunity shop' AUSTRALIA, 1976
- optic noun 1 an eye UK, 1600. 2 a look. Short for OPTIC NERVE AUSTRALIA, 1974
- optical illusions noun LSD. From the effect of the drug UK, 1998
- optic nerve noun a look. Rhyming slang for PERV AUSTRALIA, 1977
- orace noun an offensive, despicable person; a clumsy person; a socially awkward person. Recorded in contemporary gay use UK, 2003
- oral noun oral sex. A 2002 Incident Report from the Sausalito (California) Police Department describes the activities at a local massage parlour as follows: 'Only a few girls will do full service (sexual intercourse) and oral (oral copulation) massages' US, 2002
- orale hello. Border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans US, 1950
- orange noun a tablet of dextroamphetamine sulphate (trade name Dexedrine™), a central nervous system stimulant US, 1967
- orange barrel noun a type of LSD UK, 2003
- orange bud noun marijuana. From the colour UK, 2001
- Orange Crush noun in Canadian prisons, a special squad used to restore calm after a disturbance CANADA, 2002
- orange cube noun a dose of LSD given on a sugar cube US, 1975
- orange haze noun a type of LSD UK, 2003
- orange line noun heroin UK, 2002
- orange magic noun a type of LSD UK, 1996
- orange micro noun a type of LSD UK, 2003
- orange peel noun a highly visible orange jacket worn by railway workers UK, 1970
- orange-peel verb (used of freshly applied paint) to wrinkle or form small ridges US, 1998
- orange pip; orange noun a Japanese person. Rhyming slang for NIP UK, 1979
- orange squash; orange noun money. Rhyming slang for DOSH UK, 1998
- orange sunshine noun a type of LSD US, 1988
- orange wedge noun a type of LSD UK, 2003
- orbit verb to engage in oral sex US, 1985
- orbital noun 1 a person who lives permanently in the vicinity of one travellers' settlement. Used by late 1980s – early 90s counterculture travellers UK, 1999. 2 a breast. Recorded in contemporary gay usage UK, 2003
- orchestra stalls; orchestras; orchestra; orks noun the testicles. Rhyming slang for BALLS, based on the front seating in a theatre auditorium. Probably late C19 or early C20 but not recorded until 1960 UK, 1979
- orchid noun a beautiful woman US, 1948
- order; orderly verb 1 to go, to leave UK, 1997. 2 to orgasm. From an earlier sense as 'leave', thus 'to come' (to orgasm) UK, 2002
- orderly daughters noun the police UK, 2002
- order of the boot noun dismissal from work; the sack UK, 1917
- ordinary adjective 1 not very good; below standard AUSTRALIA, 1992. 2 used by bookmakers for describing a losing day AUSTRALIA, 1989
- Oregon boots noun leg irons US, 1949
- or else used for indicating consequences that will be unwelcome UK, 1833
- Oreo noun a black person whose values are seen as white values. Borrowed from a trade name of a chocolate biscuit with a white filling. Never used kindly US, 1968
- orft adverb off. A deliberately illiterate pronunciation for jocular effect; especially familiar in 'orft we jolly well go', a catchphrase of broadcaster Jimmy Young (b.1923) UK, 1980
- organ noun 1 a car radio. From the language of used car sales US, 1978. 2 the penis. Euphemistic UK, 1903
- organ-arse noun a person who deliberately farts in company AUSTRALIA, 1998
- organ donor noun a motorcyclist who is not wearing a crash helmet US, 1994
- organ grinder noun a criminal's bodyguard or enforcer. Rhyming slang for MINDER UK, 1992
- organized chicken shit noun Officer Candidate School. From the initials US, 1992
- orgasm! used for registering any transitory pleasure UK, 2001
- orgasmic adjective great, excellent. Hyperbole, probably US, 1999
- orge verb to indulge in an excess of 'sinful' pleasures, especially of food, drugs, shopping or sex. Based on 'orgy', informed by 'gorge' UK, 1999
- orgy room noun a room designated for group sex US, 1969
- Oriental dancer noun in circus and carnival usage, a sexually explicit female dancer US, 1987
- Orient Express noun 1 any route used to smuggle opiates from Southeast Asia to Europe, especially via Amsterdam. An allusion to the famed Paris-to-Istanbul train US, 1982. 2 the #7 subway line to Flushing, Queens, New York. An allusion to the large number of Asian-Americans who commute on this line US, 1997
- orifice noun 1 an office. Jocular UK, 1984. 2 a (police) officer. Jocular; certainly since the late 1990s UK, 1996
- original noun 1 an unconventional or eccentric person UK, 1824. 2 a male prisoner who selects and maintains a primary sexual partner in jail US, 1972
- original gangster noun a member of the founding generation of a youth gang; somebody who is so committed to a gang that he remains a gang member at all costs US, 1995
- originals noun the clothes worn by a member of Hell's Angels when he is initiated into the gang, and worn thereafter in perpetuity US, 1966
- or, in English used as a humorous bridge between a butchered attempt at verbalisation and an attempt to correct. Coined as a self-parody by ESPN's Keith Olbermann US, 1997
- O-ring noun a novice surfer; a dolt US, 1992
- orinoco; orinoko noun 1 cocoa. Rhyming slang. Also shortened to 'ori' UK, 1992. 2 a poker. Rhyming slang. Also variant 'orinoker' UK, 1992
- or is he?; or am I?; or are you? a catchphrase added to a statement for rhetorical effect UK, 1984
- o'river goodbye. An intentional mispronunciation of the French US, 1991
- ornament noun on the railways, a stationmaster US, 1977
- ornery adjective ill-humoured and uncooperative US, 1816
- orphan noun 1 in craps, a bet on the table that a gambler has forgotten belongs to him US, 1981. 2 a computer that has been phased out due to technological advances US, 1986
- orphan Annie; orphan noun the vagina. Rhyming slang for FANNY, formed from the character Little Orphan Annie, introduced to the US in comic strip form in 1924, but best known to British audiences from Annie the stage-musical, 1977, and film, 1982 UK, 1998
- or something used as a final tag, a vague et cetera UK, 1961
- ort noun the anus. Origin unknown AUSTRALIA, 1952
- orthopod noun an orthopaedist UK, 1960
- or what? used as an all-purpose, sentence-ending intensifier TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1983
- or whatever used as a non-specific alternative to a previously stated noun UK, 1967 or what-have-you used as a non-specific continuation of a list or suggestion of further details UK, 1948

Osama yo mama used as a general-purpose insult. Teen slang; combines 'yo mama!' (a general-purpose insult) with the name of Osama bin Laden, presumed to be ultimately responsible for the atrocities of 11th September 2001 US, 2002

Oscar noun 1 a male homosexual. Surely a reference to Oscar Wilde US, 1967. 2 an offensive, unlikeable person US, 1905. 3 a prejudiced, narrow-minded person US, 1973. 4 a handgun US, 1949

Oscar Asche; Oscar Ash; oscar noun cash; money. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of Australian actor, producer and director, Oscar Asche (1871–1936) AUSTRALIA, 1905

Oscar Slater adverb later. Glasgow rhyming slang, formed from a man who, in 1909, was wrongly convicted of murder in a famous and scandalous travesty of justice; Arthur Conan Doyle, author of the Sherlock Holmes stories, took an interest and caused uproar by publishing The Case of Oscar Slater in defence of the man UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

O-sign noun the open mouth of a very sick hospital patient. Medical wit; an especially humorous image when the 'O-sign' becomes the Q-SIGN (as above but with the tongue hanging out) US, 1980

Ossie Potter noun water. Rhyming slang, from the name of a prominent Australian racehorse owner of the 1950s AUSTRALIA, 1989 ossifier; occifer noun a police officer. An intentional metathesis, spoken in imitation of the slurred speech of intoxication US, 1819

ossified adjective very drunk US, 1901

OT and E adjective over-tired and emotional. Upper-class society usage to describe children who are behaving unsociably. To be TIED AND EMOTIONAL (drunk) is usually a condition for older family members UK, 1982 other noun sexual intercourse, especially heterosexual but also homosexual. Mainly used as a BIT OF THE OTHER. Partridge, in the 1st edition of his Dictionary of Slang and Unconventional English, 1937, suggests that the unqualified term indicates 'homosexuality as a criminal offence' and that the other alternative is 'prostitution' UK, 1937 other half noun a significant other, husband or wife UK, 1976

other lot noun the police UK, 2001

Other People noun among criminals, the police UK, 2000 others noun homosexuals FJI, 1996 other side noun homosexuality. Usually in a phrase such as 'gone over to the other side'. Collected in 1960 BARBADOS, 1960 other thing noun ► do the other thing! used as an expression of contemptuous dismissal: do as you please! UK, 1848. ► the other thing 1 the penis. Euphemistic UK, 1923. 2 sexual intercourse. Euphemistic UK, 1846

OTL adjective distracted, foolish, stupid. An abbreviation of OUT TO LUNCH US, 1968

OTOH used as Internet shorthand to mean 'on the other hand' US, 1995

OTR adjective literally, experiencing the bleed period of the menstrual cycle; figuratively, complaining. An initialism of ON THE RAG US, 1968

OTT adjective to excess; beyond the boundaries of conventional expectations; exaggerated. Ultimately from World War 1 troops leaving the trenches to attack the enemy; 'going over the top' UK, 1999

otto; otter; otta adjective eight, eight (pre-decimal) pence. Polari, from Italian otto via parleyaree UK, 1893

ouch noun an injury US, 1962

ouch! how unfortunate! US, 1997

ouchy adjective (used of a racehorse) sore US, 1976

oudish adjective used for expressing approval UK, 2003 ought hole noun in trucking, the shifting position for the lowest gear US, 1971 oughties noun the first decade of the 21st century UK, 2003 ouija board noun in horse racing, the official odds board at the racetrack US, 1951

oul fella noun a father IRELAND, 1989

oul one; auld wan; old dear noun a mother IRELAND, 1989 ounce man noun a drug dealer at the wholesale level, buying and selling in ounces US, 1966 ounce of baccy; uncner noun a Pakistani. Rhyming slang for PAKI, formed from a measurement of tobacco UK, 1992 our concrete brethren noun members of the US Air Force. US Army usage US, 1998 our friend with the talking brooch noun a uniformed police officer. A reference to the police radio worn on the uniform's breast UK, 1992 out noun an excuse, an alibi, a means of avoiding responsibility or difficulty US, 1910. ► on the out used of a prisoner when not imprisoned UK, 1984 out verb 1 to disclose another person's homosexuality. Usually done to a public figure, and most commonly to one who is publicly anti-homosexual, such as J. Edgar Hoover or the cadre of gay men who surrounded Lt Col. Oliver North in the Reagan White House US, 1990. 2 to suspend or ban a player or competitor AUSTRALIA, 1962. ► out someone's light to kill someone TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987 out adjective 1 publicly and openly homosexual. An abbreviation of the full 'out of the CLOSET' UK, 1979. 2 unfashionable; no longer fashionable UK, 1966. 3 no longer imprisoned UK, 1974. 4 experiencing the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 2000 out used in farewell US, 1993

outa here; outta here adjective about to leave US, 1980 out-and-out adjective complete, absolute, thorough-going UK, 1813 out-and-outer noun a thorough-going person or thing; an absolute lie UK, 1812 outback noun the remote regions of Australia AUSTRALIA, 1893. ► go outback to go to the toilet for the purpose of defecation AUSTRALIA, 1979

outback adjective situated in a remote country area AUSTRALIA, 1893 out-country noun during the Vietnam war, used for reference to any other country in Southeast Asia US, 1991 outdoors adverb ► all outdoors a great amount US, 1830 outer noun ► on the outer excluded from the mainstream; out of favour; ostracised AUSTRALIA, 1902 outerlimits noun a combination of crack cocaine and LSD UK, 1998

outers noun an excuse, an alibi; a means of escape, or of avoiding responsibility UK, 1977 outers adjective drug-intoxicated. From a number of phrases that commence 'out of' UK, 2000 outfit noun 1 a criminal organisation US, 1933. 2 a still used in the illegal production of alcohol US, 1974. 3 heroin UK, 2003. 4 the needle and syringe used to inject a drug US, 1951. 5 a vehicle. Idaho usage US, 1997 out for the count adjective fast asleep. From boxing UK, 1984 out front adjective direct, honest US, 1968

outgribing noun a written contribution to a single-interest fan magazine US, 1982

outhole noun in pinball, the hole beneath the flippers through which a ball leaves play US, 1977 outhouse noun in poker, a full house (three of a kind and a pair) that is inferior to another full house hand US, 1996

outie noun an outward-turned navel US, 1966

outie adverb ► be outie to leave US, 1995 outlaw noun 1 a prostitute working without the services of a pimp US, 1935. 2 a worker who has been identified as an activist troublemaker and thus blacklisted US, 1977. 3 a horse that cannot be tamed or is very difficult to handle AUSTRALIA, 1900

outlaw verb on the railways, to exceed the 16-hour maximum legal work limit US, 1968 outlaw adjective in roller derby, outside the official Roller Derby League US, 1999 outlet noun a bootlegger's house CANADA, 1999 out like a light adjective suddenly and deeply unconscious UK, 1944 out of here used as a farewell US, 1991 out of it adjective 1 crazy, mentally ill US, 1979. 2 in an advanced a state of drug- or drink-intoxication US, 1963 out of order; bang out of order adjective used to describe behaviour that is unacceptable UK, 1979 out of sight; outasight adjective excellent, amazing. Nearly a hundred years old before being swept up as a core adjective of the 1960s hippie lexicon US, 1876 out of the money adjective in horse and dog racing, finished below third place US, 1988 out of this world adjective extraordinary US, 1928 out of town adjective used to describe behaviour that is unacceptable US, 1942 out of whack adjective out of tune, malfunctioning US, 1885 out-out verb to put out BARBADOS, 1965 outro noun the concluding section, especially of music or broadcast-programmes. The opposite of INTRO (introduction) UK, 1967 outrun verb ► outrun the note (of a car) to last longer than it takes to pay off the loan incurred to buy it US, 1992 outs noun in poker, the playing of a weak hand in the hope of a drastic improvement in drawing US, 1979 outside noun 1 in Alaska, anywhere in the US other than Alaska US, 1900. 2 the world outside the armed forces US, 1898 outside adjective 1 out of the ordinary US, 1969. 2 (of a child) illegitimate TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1952. 3 (of a lover) adulterous TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1971. 4 in surfing, seaward of the swell US, 1963 outside adverb not in prison US, 1871. ► get outside of to eat US, 1869 outside! used for calling to the attention of other surfers the presence of an approaching series of waves seaward US, 1964 ► see: COME OUTSIDE!

outside child noun an illegitimate child CAYMAN ISLANDS, 1985 outside work noun any external alteration of dice for cheating US, 1963 outstanding adjective excellent. Conventional English converted to slang by attitude and a drawn-out pronunciation US, 1964 out there adjective 1 in a state of extreme marijuana-intoxication US, 1977. 2 in the alternative society, out of the mainstream US, 1975. 3 crazy, mentally ill UK, 1996 out ticket noun in horse racing, a winning bet not presented for payment on the day of the race US, 1982 out to lunch weird, being in a state that does not conform to peer-group expectations; distracted; crazy US, 1955 oven noun ► in the oven pregnant. Especially in the phrase 'bun in the oven' UK, 1937 over adjective 1 popular with the audience. Professional wrestling usage US, 1999. 2 disgusted by, done with US, 1983 overamp verb to overdose on narcotics US, 1967 over-and-under noun 1 a capsule containing both a barbiturate and an amphetamine US, 1973. 2 an M-16 rifle with an M-79 grenade launcher tube under the rifle barrel US, 1972 overboard adjective drunk US, 1948. ► go overboard 1 to be over-enthusiastic about something, to exaggerate US, 1931. 2 to refuse or fail to pay a gambling debt US, 1947 over-boogie verb to over-indulge in the pleasures of vice US, 1982 overbroke adjective used of betting with no profit margin for the bookmaker UK, 1991 overcoat noun 1 a coffin US, 1949. 2 in pool, a player who has mastered the foibles of a particular table US, 1990 overcoat maker noun an undertaker. Rhyming slang, with more than a passing reference to (wooden) OVERCOAT (a coffin) UK, 1992 overdue adjective used of a criminal who, not having been convicted of a crime, is statistically likely to, or should, be found guilty of something (if there is any justice). Police use UK, 1984 overfix verb to overdose using a drug US, 1972 overground noun a commercialised milieu for a previously underground culture UK, 2001 overjolt noun a drug overdose US, 1959 overjolt verb to suffer a drug overdose UK, 1983 overland route noun ► to take the overland route in horse racing, to race on the outside portion of the track because a horse prefers passing around a pack to accelerating through it US, 1947 overlay noun in horse racing, a situation where a horse that should win a race is given higher odds than it should US, 1965 over-much adjective astonishing, difficult to believe US, 1968 over my dead body used as an expression of the strongest will to resist. Hyperbole UK, 1936 overparted adjective having been cast in a part that demands more of an actor than he or she is capable of UK, 2003

overripe fruit noun an older homosexual man UK, 1979 over-round adjective used of betting when the probable or actual profit margin is entirely in a bookmaker's favour UK, 1991 overs noun 1 more money than you need UK, 2000. 2 surplus or undivided profits from a crime UK, 1977. 3 money a bookmaker has overpaid UK, 1991. 4 a wager at odds better than those prevailing elsewhere; any extravagance AUSTRALIA, 1989. 5 in a game of poker, the small amount of money left in the centre of the table after a pot is divided among two or more players, held over for the next hand US, 1988 over there noun in Europe. Originally used of the military during World War 1 AUSTRALIA, 1967 over the shoulder boulder holder noun a brassiere UK, 1998

ovies noun overtime pay UK, 2002 ow noun ► on the ow not in prison. A shortening of 'on the outside' UK, 2002

OW noun a wife, a girlfriend. Citizens' band radio slang, abbreviated from OLD WOMAN UK, 1981

owf; owff verb to steal UK, 2003 owie noun any minor injury. Children's vocabulary US, 1988

o-without noun an act of oral sex performed without the protection of a condom, especially when advertised as a service offered by a prostitute. From O-LEVELS (oral sex) UK, 2003 owl noun 1 on the railways, anything related to the night, such as a late-night train US, 1946. 2 marijuana. A possible play on HOOTER (a large marijuana cigarette) UK, 2003 owlhead noun a revolver. Originally referred to a revolver manufactured by Iver Johnson Arms, featuring an owlhead logo; later applied to any revolver US, 1927

Owl Shit Junction noun any extremely remote town US, 1977 own verb to dominate; to command complete deference US, 1997 ownio adjective ► on your ownio alone IRELAND, 1922

ownsme adjective ► on your ownsme alone UK, 1939 own up verb to admit, to confess US, 1853 own-way adjective obstinate, mulish BARBADOS, 1965

Owsley; Owsley acid; owsley noun high quality LSD. From the name of legendary LSD manufacturer Augustus Owsley Stanley III. Other variations include: 'Owsley blue dot'; 'Owsley blues'; 'Owsley power'; 'Owsley purple'; PURPLE OWSLEY 'pink Owsley'; 'white Owsley'; 'Owsley's stuff'; 'Owsleys' US, 1967 owt noun something, anything. A dialect word from northern England for conventional 'aught'; made popular by the television programme Coronation Street, and in clichéd phrases such as ‘you don’t get owt for nowt’ UK, 1847 owzat?; zat? as an appeal to a cricket umpire, how’s that? UK, 1934

Oxford noun a dollar AUSTRALIA, 1990

Oxford bag noun a cigarette. Rhyming slang for FAG UK, 1998

Oxford scholar; Oxford; scholar noun 1 (of pre-decimalisation currency) five shillings; (post-1971) 25p. Rhyming slang for DOLLAR (five shillings). The Oxford English Dictionary notes reported usage in southwest England in the 1870s UK, 1938. 2 a dollar. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1937

Oxo cube noun the London Underground. Rhyming slang for THE TUBE based on the branded beef extract, manufactured in cube form since 1909 UK, 1960 oxy noun the synthetic opiate oxycodone used recreationally; a capsule of OxyContin™ US, 2000 oxy adjective having a second-hand or dated appearance. Derives from the appearance of goods sold in the charity shops of Oxfam UK, 2003 oxygen section noun seats in a stadium or coliseum that are high up and far from the action US, 1993 oy gevalt! used for expressing a lament, protest, dismay or delight. Yiddish from German US, 1968 oyster noun 1 the vagina. From an image of the labia, but note also the following sense as ‘the mouth’ UK, 1707. 2 the mouth, especially as an instrument of homosexual oral sex. Following from the previous sense UK, 2002. 3 a gob of thick phlegm. From the appearance. First recorded in A Classical Dictionary of the Vulgar Tongue, Francis Grose, 1785, with the further observation ‘spit by a consumptive man’ UK, 1785 oyster stew noun cocaine UK, 2002 oy vey! used for expressing surprise. Yiddish US, 1992

Oz nickname Australia. Although the pronunciation would always have had a final ‘z’ (the ‘s’ becomes voiced) it was first recorded as ‘Oss’ in 1908 (Australian National Dictionary), and not as ‘Oz’ until 1944, which spelling is partially influenced by the immensely popular 1939 film The Wizard of Oz. Became common in the 1970s AUSTRALIA, 1908

Oz adjective Australian AUSTRALIA, 1974

OZ; oh-zee noun an ounce of marijuana or other drugs. Spelling out the standard abbreviation for ‘ounce’ US, 1933 ozone noun 1 the highest seats in a stadium or auditorium, farthest from the action US, 1980. 2 a state of drug or alcohol intoxication US, 1971. 3 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1994. 4 marijuana UK, 2003

ozoner noun an outdoor cinema US, 1948 ozone ranger noun a person who appears to live in an inner-world, not necessarily as a result of drug or alcohol consumption US, 1978

ozone theatre noun an outdoor cinema US, 1957

Ozzie adjective Australian. Variant spelling, representing pronunciation, of AUSSIE AUSTRALIA, 1918 ozzy; ozzie noun >see: HOZZY

Pp

P noun 1 pure or nearly pure heroin US, 1971. 2 a Vietnamese piastre US, 1965

P adjective 1 pretty. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982. 2 a price UK, 1997

-p suffix used for turning a word into a question US, 1987

P-38 noun 1 a police-issue .38 calibre revolver US, 1976. 2 in Vietnam war usage, the small can-opener included with individual field rations. A humorous application of bureaucratic nomenclature US, 1968

P45 noun ► give someone their P45 to break off a romantic relationship with someone. A P45 is the form given by an employer to a dismissed employee UK: SCOTLAND, 1996 pa noun a father; used to address your father. An abbreviation of 'papa' UK, 1811

PA a prosecuting attorney US, 1992

Pablo noun cocaine. In memory of Colombian Pablo Escobar (1949–93) of the Medellín Cartel UK, 1996

Pachuco noun a young Mexican-American, especially a tough or gang member. A highly stylised fashion sense, a private language and a rage against white oppression of the 1940s US, 1943

Pacific steroid noun the Southeast Asian plant, taro. Common in conversation in New Zealand since the 1990s NEW ZEALAND, 2002 pack noun 1 a package of illegal drugs, especially heroin. Also variant 'packet' US, 1952. 2 marijuana UK, 2003. 3 in the used car business, a fixed amount that is added to the price the dealer has paid for the car US, 1975. ► go to the pack to deteriorate AUSTRALIA, 1919 pack verb 1 to carry a weapon, usually a concealed one US, 1949. 2 to tuck the male genitals into the left or right trouser leg US, 1972. 3 to be fearful. A shortening of PACK SHIT AUSTRALIA, 1988. 4 while snowboarding, to hit the snow hard US, 1990. 5 to take someone along on a motorcyle cruise US, 1966. ► pack a punch of a thing, to be powerful. A figurative use of the pugilistic sense US, 1938. ► pack a rod to carry a gun. In literature by 1940 US, 1940. ► pack a sad to break off a relationship NEW ZEALAND, 1994. ► pack a shitty 1 to sulk AUSTRALIA, 1985. 2 to become angry NEW ZEALAND, 1998. ► pack death to be fearful AUSTRALIA, 1975. ► pack double to carry a passenger on a motorcyle US, 2000. ► pack fudge to play the active role in anal sex US, 1987. ► pack heat to carry a gun US, 1930. ► pack it to be fearful. Euphemistic for PACK SHIT AUSTRALIA, 1945. ► pack shit; pack the shits to be fearful. The metaphor is of one so scared that they are straining not to shit themselves AUSTRALIA, 1971. ► pack the cracks to endure injections of collagen US, 1997. ► pack the payment in new car sales, to make a sale for a price slightly below what the customer has said they are willing to spend US, 1989. ► pack'em; pack them to be fearful. Euphemistic for PACK THE SHITS AUSTRALIA, 1944 package noun 1 a man's genitals as seen through trousers US, 1997. 2 a good-looking woman US, 1945. 3 the female posterior US, 2001. 4 a sexually transmitted infection, especially gonorrhoea US, 1950. 5 AIDS or HIV US, 2002 package of trouble noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1999 pack away verb to consume food or drink with gusto AUSTRALIA, 1972

Packer-backer-maki noun a beer-drinking, snow-suit wearing, Skoal-chewing, snowmobile-riding fan of the Green Bay Packer professional football team. Michigan Upper Peninsula usage US, 2004 packet noun 1 the genitals, especially as may be hinted at or imagined when dressed, usually male. Gay slang UK, 2002. 2 a large sum of money UK, 1922 packet of three; pack of three noun a packet of three condoms. A dated semi-euphemism that was widespread before the onset of AIDS and the subsequent positive marketing for condoms UK, 1996 pack horse noun a person, usually a guard, who brings contraband into prison US, 1984 packie noun an off-licence. From US states where off-licences are known as 'package stores' US, 1991 pack in; pack up verb to stop; to cease an activity; to retire US, 1942 pack of rocks noun a packet of ready-to-smoke marijuana fashioned in the manner of cigarettes. An abbreviation of 'pack of rockets' UK, 2003 pack out verb to unpack SOUTH AFRICA, 1969 pack-rape noun rape by a gang of men in succession AUSTRALIA, 1969 pack-rape verb (of a gang of men) to serially rape a woman AUSTRALIA, 1965 pack-rapist noun a person who commits pack-rape AUSTRALIA, 1972 pack-sack citizen noun a short-term resident of any place, living, as it were, out of a packsack (backpack or rucksack) CANADA, 1966 pack up verb to cease doing something; to retire from work (of a machine, etc) to stop working because of a fault UK, 1925. ► pack up shop to cease trading UK, 2003 pacotee noun a sexually available woman. From the French and Spanish for 'inferior goods', at times corrupted back into English as 'pack o' tea' TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1950 pacy; pacey adjective fast, speedy UK, 1906 pad noun 1 an apartment or house; a room, especially a bedroom. In the C18 'pad' referred to a bed. By the 1930s, it took on the new meaning and was spread by jazz musicians. Still heard, with a retro feel US, 1938. 2 a bed UK, 1718. 3 a prison cell US, 1943. 4 a padded cell UK, 1996. 5 the bribery paid by a criminal enterprise to police US, 1970. 6 an animal track AUSTRALIA, 1893. ► on the pad bribed US, 1971 pad verb 1 to reside US, 1963. 2 (used of police) to add to the narcotics confiscated from a suspect in order to render the charge against them more serious US, 1972. ► pad the ring in horse racing, to place many small bets on several horses in a race while placing a large bet on one horse away from the track, hoping that the small bets on other horses will drive the odds on your horse up US, 1951 paddle noun on the railways, a semaphore signal US, 1977 paddle verb in horse racing, to try hard without success AUSTRALIA, 1989. ► paddle the pickle (of a male) to masturbate US, 1967. ► paddle the pink canoe (of a female) to masturbate UK, 2004 paddle bull noun a young male moose, whose unbranched antlers look like table tennis bats CANADA, 1989 paddle pop noun a block of ice. Rhyming slang NEW ZEALAND, 1998 paddock-basher noun a worn-out old vehicle used to drive around a country property AUSTRALIA, 1983 pad down verb to go to sleep US, 1993 paddy noun 1 a white person US, 1945. 2 a police officer US, 1946. 3 a temper, a rage UK, 1894

Paddy noun an Irish person UK, 1780

Paddy nickname used as a nickname for any Irishman. Diminutive of the name Patrick UK, 1959

Paddy and Mick noun a pick-axe. Rhyming slang, drawing on the stereotype of Irish labourers UK, 1998

Paddy and Mick adjective stupid. Rhyming slang for THICK, drawing on an Irish stereotype UK, 1992 paddy hustler noun a criminal who targets white people as victims US, 1970

Paddy McGuigan noun dancing, jigging. Glasgow rhyming slang for 'jiggin', formed on no Irishman in particular UK: SCOTLAND, 1996

Paddy McGuire noun a fire. Glasgow rhyming slang, formed on no Irishman in particular UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

Paddy O'Rourke verb to talk. Rhyming slang; derivation unknown UK, 1998

Paddy's Day nickname St Patrick Day. A national holiday in Ireland to celebrate St Patrick, Ireland's patron saint IRELAND, 2003

Paddy's pig noun the epitome of ignorance NEW ZEALAND, 1974

Paddy's taxi noun a police 'Panda' car UK, 1969 paddy strength noun in the Vietnam war, the combat strength of a unit, measured by the actual number of troops in the field US, 1974

Paddy's Wigwam nickname the Roman Catholic Metropolitan Cathedral in Liverpool. 'Wigwam' is an obvious simile for the shape of the 1960s building, PADDY (an Irishman) reflects a cultural perception of Roman Catholics UK, 2003

paddy wagon noun a police transport van US, 1909

Paddy water noun Guinness™ Irish stout. From PADDY (an Irish person) UK, 2000

paddywood noun a white person. Not used kindly US, 1980 padiddle noun a car with only one headlight functioning. A childish word for the childish activity of spotting cars with one broken headlight US, 1976 padlock noun the penis. Rhyming slang for COCK UK, 1972 pad mate noun in prison, the inmate with whom a cell is shared. From PAD (a cell) UK, 1996 pad roll noun a controlled roll of the dice by a skilled cheat, best made on a blanket spread on the ground US, 1950 pad-roll verb to roll dice in a controlled fashion. So called because it can best be made on a blanket, rug or other soft pad US, 1950 padrone; padroni noun a boss (especially in a gangster-related context). From Italian padrone (an owner, master), via films about the mafia. The plural is 'padroni' ITALY, 2000 pads noun tyres. Biker (motorcycle) usage US, 2003 pad shark noun a prisoner who steals from others' cells. From PAD (a cell) UK, 1996 paedie-pump noun a prison-issue training shoe worn by sex offenders. Based on an abbreviation of 'paedophile'. In use August 2002 UK, 2002

paedo noun used as a short form of paedophilia, paedophile and related terms. The Greek for 'child', used as the root for many conventional terms, has lately been associated in the public imagination with the worst of its uses UK, 2002

Pag noun the short opera Pagliacci by Ruggero Leoncavallo UK, 1987 page noun one thousand doses of LSD soaked into paper US, 1999

page biz noun the publishing business. Combines BIZ (a business) with a small example US, 2002

page oner noun a screenplay in need of a complete rewrite US, 1997 page three girl noun a girl whose scantily clad, or nude, picture appears as a newspaper pin-up. From a 'Page Three' feature in The Sun but applied far more widely UK, 1975

pagger verb to break or smash; to wreck. Market traders' use; influenced by BUGGER (to ruin) UK, 1979 paggered adjective drunk. From PAGGER, hence 'smashed' (drunk) UK, 2002

pagne noun a hangover caused by drinking champagne. A pun UK, 1999 pagoda noun in horse racing, the stand where race officials are seated US, 1951 paid adjective financially stable if not wealthy US, 1998 pail noun the stomach. An abbreviation of 'lunch pail' (a container) US, 1945 pain noun an irritation; an annoying person UK, 1933

Pain noun Main Street in Winnipeg, which at its crossing of Portage is the exact centre. 'Pain' for 'Main' at the intersection of Portage Street is evocative of windy, very cold winter weather CANADA, 2001 pain in the ass; pain in the arse; pain in the backside noun a great nuisance US, 1934 pain in the neck noun 1 an irritating nuisance UK, 1941. 2 a cheque. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 pain in the net noun a person who posts inflammatory attacks on Internet discussion groups US, 1991 pain slut noun a person who derives sexual satisfaction from physical and verbal abuse UK, 1996 paint noun 1 make up UK, 1660. 2 the inside rails of a horse racing track AUSTRALIA, 1965. 3 in card games, a face card or a ten US, 1985. ► come round on the paint of a racehorse, to take a bend on the inside AUSTRALIA, 1953 paint verb 1 to apply make up UK, 1382. 2 in lowball poker, to draw a face card to a hand of four low cards US, 1967. 3 in hearts, to play a heart on a non-heart trick US, 1987. 4 to mark a target with laser beams. Gulf war usage US, 1991. ► paint the barn to apply makeup CANADA, 2002. ► paint the bus to change something's appearance without changing its basic foundations US, 1974. ► paint the town red to have a raucous time on the town US, 1884 painted pony noun in circus and carnival usage, a zebra US, 1981 painter noun 1 a card cheat who marks cards for identification in another player's hand US, 1993. 2 a firefighter assigned to a hook-and-ladder truck. Owing to the ladder US, 1954 painters noun ► have the painters in; painters are in to be in the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. A euphemistic fact of life UK, 1961 paint-stripper noun cheap and nasty alcohol UK, 1999 paipsey adjective ugly BARBADOS, 1965 pair noun 1 a pair of female breasts US, 1957. 2 a pair of testicles, hence manliness or courage US, 1985 pair of ducks; pair noun in cricket, the score of a batsman who is out for no score in each leg of a match. From DUCK (zero) UK, 2003 pair of fives; pair of nickels noun fifty-five miles an hour, the nearly uniform road speed limit in the US in the mid-1970s US, 1976 pair of nostrils noun a sawn-off shotgun. From the appearance of the gun UK, 2002 pair of panties noun paragliding. From the French term parapente (paragliding) US, 1992 paisan; paisano noun an Italian-American; used as a term of address that evokes a common heritage, especially Italian US, 1947 pajama noun the vagina. Something you slip into at bedtime US, 1998

pajama wagon noun in trucking, a truck cab with a factory-manufactured sleeping compartment US, 1971

Pak noun Pakistan UK, 2004

pakalolo noun a variety of marijuana from Hawaii US, 1981 pakapoo ticket noun something indecipherable or overly complicated. Pakapoo is a Chinese gambling game that appears to outsiders to be quite complicated AUSTRALIA, 1951

Paki adjective Pakistani UK, 1984

Paki; paki; pakki; Pak noun a Pakistani; any Asian or Afro-Asian immigrant, loosely, any native of the Indian subcontinent; Pakistan. Derogatory or patronising UK, 1964

Paki-basher; Pakki-basher noun a violent racist who, usually as part of a group, attacks members of the Asian community UK, 1970

Paki-bashing; Pakki-bashing noun an organised or opportunistic assaulting of Asian immigrants by gangs of white youths. Political and racist agenda are claimed in an attempt to dignify these attacks by thrill-seeking youths; however, it is worth noting that an average PAKI-BASHER is unable to draw a distinction between targeted races. This social phenomenon seems to have originated in London and continues, sporadically, nationwide UK, 1970

Paki pox noun smallpox. From ill-informed racist opinion UK, 1984

Pakistaner noun a big-breasted girl. Teen slang SOUTH AFRICA, 2003

Pakistani black; paki black noun a potent, black-brown marijuana cultivated in Pakistan. In other contexts the use of 'Paki' may be seen as derogatory, in this case it is attached to a high quality product UK, 1998

Paklish adjective of Anglo-Pakistani birth AUSTRALIA, 2003 pal noun 1 a close friend; used as a term of address, usually sarcastically. From the English, Turkish and Transylvanian Romy tongues UK, 1681. 2 a studio musician US, 1982 palace noun a brakevan (caboose) US, 1946

Palace of Varieties nickname the House of Commons. A derisive allusion to a place of entertainment UK, 1999 pal around verb to associate with; to socialise with US, 1879 palatic adjective drunk. A drunken slurring of PARALYTIC (drunk) UK, 1885

palaver noun business; any activity or business that is complicated or annoying, an unnecessary fuss UK, 1899 palaver verb to talk; to chat; to argue UK, 1733 paleets noun used as a male-to-male term of address. An embellished 'pal' TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1976 pale-face noun when spoken by a black person, a white person. From C18 American Indian usage US, 1945

palf noun Palfium, a heroin substitute IRELAND, 1996

palintosh adjective drunk UK, 2002

palled-in adjective cohabiting with a woman UK, 1931 palliness noun comradeship, the condition of being pals UK, 1937

pallish adjective friendly UK, 1892

Pall Mall noun a girl. Rhyming slang, formed on the London street; recorded as 'now obsolete' by Julian Franklyn, A Dictionary of Rhyming Slang, 1960, who explained the rhyme as 'Cockney dialect makes Paow Maow – Gaow'. Despite Franklyn's assertion, it is apparently still in circulation UK, 1998 pally noun a friend; a comrade US, 1979

pally adjective friendly UK, 1895

pally up verb to make friendly overtures; to make friends UK, 2002 palm noun napalm. Vietnam war usage US, 1991 palming noun masturbation BAHAMAS, 1982

palm oil noun 1 a bribe UK, 1627. 2 a gratuity US, 1949 palm shiner noun in gambling, an object that reflects the image of cards, small enough to be held in the user's hand US, 1997

palm-walmer noun a person who tips US, 1951 palone-omee noun a lesbian. Polari; a combination of 'palone' (a woman) and 'omee' (a man), the reverse order 'omee-palone' means a male homosexual UK, 2002

palonie noun a circus pony used in comedy routines UK, 1953 palooka noun a person who is mediocre at their craft. Originally a boxing term US, 1925 palsy-walsy adjective friendly, often with an undertone of insincerity US, 1937 pal up verb to make friends US, 1953

pamp verb to place or put something somewhere UK: SCOTLAND, 1990

pamphlet noun one ounce of a drug US, 1976 pan noun the face US, 1923. ► on the pan (used of a truck driver) summoned to appear before a public utility commission for violations of driving laws US, 1961 pan verb 1 to criticise something as unsuccessful US, 1911. 2 to utterly defeat someone in a fight; to thrash someone UK, 2002. 3 to beg. An abbreviation of 'panhandle' US, 1997

Panama cut noun a variety of marijuana cultivated in Panama UK, 1998

Panama gold; Panamanian gold noun a potent, gold-leafed marijuana cultivated in Panama US, 1968

Panama red; Panamanian red noun a potent variety of marijuana cultivated in Panama US, 1967 panatella noun 1 a marijuana cigarette US, 1944. 2 potent marijuana, especially that originating in South or Central America US, 1956 panatic noun a devoted, die-hard fan of steelband music TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1988 pan breid adjective dead. Glasgow rhyming slang for 'pan bread' (a type of crusty loaf) UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 pancake verb using hydraulic lifts operated from inside the car, to drop suddenly first the back and then the front of a car US, 1980

pancake saddle noun in western Canada, an English saddle CANADA, 1987

panda car; panda noun a black and white police patrol car, hence a police patrol car. The logic is black and white: the car was introduced at a time when the pandas at London Zoo were making headlines UK, 1966

Pandemonium World Scareways nickname US airline company Pan Am. Most airlines attract jocular variations of their names: Pan Am's include: 'Painful, Nauseating and Miserable' and 'Passengers Always Neglected at Mealtimes' US, 2002

P and Q noun solitary confinement in prison. Abbreviated 'peace and quiet' US, 1982 pane noun a dose of LSD on a tiny, clear gelatin chip. A shortened form of WINDOWPANE US, 1994 panel-beater noun an employee in a car body shop AUSTRALIA, 1984 panel house noun a brothel with sliding walls through which thieves steal from the clothes of customers US, 1848 panels of fences noun in horse racing, a long lead AUSTRALIA, 1989

pangonadalot noun heroin US, 1977 panhandle verb to beg US, 1884 panhandler noun 1 a beggar US, 1897. 2 a nurse. Jocular reference to bedpans US, 1976 panic noun 1 a widespread unavailability of an illegal drug US, 1937. 2 a very good time US, 1958 panic button noun any switch or button which activates an emergency alarm, or summons urgent assistance, or stops a mechanical operation UK, 1971 panic flip noun in pinball, the premature activation of a flipper US, 1977 panic merchant noun a person who habitually panics AUSTRALIA, 1962 panic stations noun a frenzied state of alarmed or confused thinking. A jocular adaptation of the military term 'action stations' UK, 1961 pan-loaf adjective of a superior social status or well-to-do. Glasgow rhyming slang for TOFF – a good rhyme in the local accent – formed from a type of bread with a soft crust UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

pannikin boss noun a person with a modest amount of authority; a minor boss; a foreman AUSTRALIA, 1898 panno noun 1 a panel van AUSTRALIA, 1998. 2 a foreman. An abbreviation of PANNIKIN BOSS AUSTRALIA, 1957

panoramas noun pyjamas. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 pan out verb (of an event) to turn out; to result. A figurative application of panning for gold US, 1871 pansy noun a male homosexual; an effeminate man UK, 1929

pansy-ass adjective effeminate, weak US, 2002 pansy-boy noun an effeminate male homosexual AUSTRALIA, 1976

pansy-man noun a male homosexual ANTIGUA AND BARBUDA, 1999

pansy patch nickname an area in west Hollywood, California, largely populated by homosexual men since the 1960s US, 1971

Pansy Potters noun the documents given to someone who is dismissed from employment. Glasgow rhyming slang for JOTTERS, formed on a comic strip character UK: SCOTLAND, 1996

pansy prattle noun the snide remarks and witty insults characteristic of male homosexual banter US, 1980

pant noun trousers INDIA, 1979 panther noun a condom. The image of a large black beast. Collected from UK prisoners in May, 2002 JAMAICA, 2002 panther breath noun strong, illegally manufactured whisky US, 1999 panther juice noun strong, homemade alcohol US, 1960 panther piss noun illegally manufactured, low quality alcohol US, 1971 panther sweat noun 1 surgical spirit and Italian vermouth mixed as a potent drink. After the US slang for inferior whisky. Reported by a correspondent of Partridge as in Beatnik use around 1959, but not recorded until 1984 UK, 1984. 2 low quality whisky US, 1977 pantload noun a great deal of something US, 1968 pant moustache noun a fringe of pubic hair that escapes the confines of a female's underwear or swimwear UK, 2003 pantomime cow noun a row; an argument. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 pants noun 1 rubbish, nonsense, often applied adjectivally UK, 1998. 2 sex. In the spirit of 'cunt', 'ass' or 'leg', but a bit more restrained US, 1965. ► frighten the pants off; scare the pants off to frighten or scare someone, especially severely or (when horror is presented as entertainment) thrillingly UK, 1967. ► get into someone's pants to seduce someone; to have sex with someone US, 1952 pants verb to pull someone's trousers down as part of a prank or practical joke US, 1989 pants adjective applied to something that is very easily done UK: SCOTLAND, 1996 pants and vest; pants noun best bitter beer. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 pantsful noun a great deal, especially of something bad. A suggestion of a lot of excrement US, 1993 pantsman noun a womaniser AUSTRALIA, 1968 pants rabbits noun pubic lice; body lice; fleas US, 1949 panty hamster noun the vagina UK, 2002 pantyman noun an effeminate heterosexual man; a homosexual man TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1993

pantypop verb to fart US, 2003 panty raid noun a college fad in which male students invade the dormitories of female students, seizing underwear as trophies. The practice and term faded quickly with the onset of 1960s culture US, 1952 panty-stretcher noun a heavy woman. Also recorded in UK usage US, 1976 pantywaist noun a weakling or coward; a homosexual man US, 1936 pantzilla noun Sildenafil citrate marketed as Viagra, an anti-impotence drug taken recreationally for performance enhancement, in combination with other chemicals that stimulate the sexual appetites. A jocular reference to the monster in your underpants. The monster, of course, is Godzilla UK, 2001 pan up verb to prepare a powdered drug for heating prior to injection US, 1971

Panzer noun a Mercedes-Benz car US, 1997 pap verb to work as a press photographer who specialises in the sensational and the celebrated. A back-formation from PAPAARAZZI UK, 2004 paparazzi noun press photographers who specialise in the sensational and the celebrated, or a single photographer similarly engaged. From the Italian paparazzo which is the correct, though rarely used, singular form. Named after a character in La Dolce Vita, a 1960 film by Federico Fellini UK, 1968 pape noun a Roman Catholic. A shortening of 'papist' UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 paper noun 1 money US, 1974. 2 a cigarette paper UK, 1950. 3 personal identification papers US, 1982. 4 promotional literature produced as part of a telephone sales swindle US, 1988. 5 a free pass to a performance UK, 1785. 6 a cheque US, 1972. 7 a speeding ticket US, 1976. 8 a deck of cards that have been marked for cheating US, 1977. 9 heroin sold in a paper packet; a folded paper containing any powdered drug US, 1953. 10 probation in lieu of a jail sentence; parole from prison US, 1973. 11 an underworld contract to have someone killed US, 1983 paper verb ► paper the house to give away free tickets to an event in order to secure a large audience UK, 1859 paper acid noun LSD, especially on blotting paper US, 1977 paper and plastic noun in gambling, a combination of cash and betting chips. A play on the grocery clerk's query to a customer – 'Paper or plastic bag?' US, 1996 paper asshole noun an adhesive reinforcement attached to holes punched on a piece of paper to prevent the page from ripping out of a binder. The object is shaped like a small life buoy, visually evocative to some of an anus. Collected from union negotiating committee members in northern California, September 2002 US, 2002 paper bag noun ► go pop like a paper bag (of a woman) to copulate vigorously AUSTRALIA, 1984. ► you couldn't fight your way out of a paper bag; you couldn't punch your way out of a paper bag addressed to (or, in the third person, used of) a person boasting of strength or fighting ability AUSTRALIA, 1961 paper bag; paper verb to nag someone. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 paperbag case noun an ugly woman. A suggestion that the paper bag be worn over her head US, 1976 paper blunt noun a marijuana cigarette UK, 2003 paper boy noun a drug dealer, especially a heroin dealer. Because heroin is often sold in paper envelopes; punning on a newspaper delivery boy US, 1970 papered adjective used of a stadium or an auditorium filled by people given free tickets US, 1978 paper grower noun a recycling bin for paper CANADA, 1989 paper-hang noun the passing of counterfeit money or forged securities US, 1976 paper-hanger noun 1 a criminal whose expertise is the use of fraudulent securities US, 1954. 2 in trucking, a police officer writing a ticket US, 1976 paper hat noun a fool. Rhyming slang for TWAT UK, 1998 paper mushrooms noun LSD. LSD on blotting paper having the hallucinogenic properties of MAGIC MUSHROOM(S) UK, 1998 paper-puncher noun used as a jocular description of a handgun target shooter US, 1957 paper-pusher noun 1 a bureaucrat; in the military, anyone with a desk job and not in combat US, 1980. 2 a person who places counterfeit money into circulation US, 1985 papers noun in prison, a person's background US, 2000 paper soldier noun a rear-area military personnel who supported those in combat US, 1990 paper time noun the additional years added to a prison sentence because of publicity surrounding the crime, criminal and/or trial US, 1962 paper top noun a convertible car top US, 1973 paperweight noun 1 in horse racing, a very small weight allowance in a weight-handicapped event AUSTRALIA, 1989. 2 a railway office clerk US, 1946 paperwork noun 1 any alteration of playing cards as part of a cheating scheme US, 1962. 2 a speeding ticket US, 1976. 3 money; currency notes UK, 1997 papes noun 1 cigarette rolling papers US, 1997. 2 money US, 2000 pappy noun a father. A childish, rural ring UK, 1763 pappy-mammy noun a homosexual man TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1956 pappyshow noun a fool, or someone who presents the appearance of a fool. A corruption of 'puppet show' TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1940 paps noun press photographers who specialise in the sensational and the celebrated. An abbreviation of PAPAARAZZI UK, 2002 par noun ► below par; under par less than average or less than projected. A term that migrated from conventional English into golf and then back into broader slang usage UK, 1767 para noun 1 a paratrooper US, 1990. 2 paranoia, especially as a result of drug abuse UK, 1996 para; parro adjective 1 paranoid UK, 1996. 2 drunk. A shortening of PARALYTIC AUSTRALIA, 1988 parachute noun 1 a combination of crack cocaine and phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust UK, 1998. 2 heroin. From its effect of slowing down other drug highs UK, 2002 parade noun in a striptease show, the dancer's fully clothed walk across the stage before beginning to strip US, 1945 paradise noun the highest gallery in a theatre UK, 1952 paradise stroke noun (generally plural) the final thrust before male orgasm UK, 1984 paradise white; paradise noun cocaine UK, 1998 paraffin lamp; paraffin noun a tramp, a homeless person; used as an insult for someone in need of a wash. Rhyming slang UK, 1997 paraffin oil; paraffin noun style. Glasgow rhyming slang (a good rhyme in a local accent) UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 parakeet noun a Puerto Rican US, 1962 parallel adjective lying down. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982 paralysis by analysis noun inaction produced by over-thinking a situation US, 1971 paralytic; paraletic adjective very drunk; drunk and incapable. 'Paraletic' is a phonetic misspelling AUSTRALIA, 1891 parboiled adjective drunk US, 1960 parcel noun a quantity of stolen goods being delivered to the receiver. A specialisation of the conventional sense UK, 1981 pard noun partner. A definite Western flavour; a highly affected shortening of 'partner' US, 1850 pardner noun used as a term of address, male-to-male. Used with an intentional folksiness that harkens to cowboy films US, 1795 pardon me for living!; pardon me for breathing! used as an elaborate mock apology offered in answer for a minor error or trivial criticism UK, 1961

Paree; Gay Paree noun Paris, France. From the French pronunciation UK, 1848 parental units noun your parents US, 1982 parish bull noun a man with illegitimate children BERMUDA, 1985 park verb 1 to (temporarily) place something or someone in a position of some safety or convenience. Often extended – in worldwide variations – as an invitation or imperative: 'park your arse!' 'park your carcass!' 'park your fanny!' 'park your frame!' and, the nautically inspired, 'park your stern!' UK, 1908. 2 to stay at a place for a short time AUSTRALIA, 1961. 3 to engage in sexual foreplay in a parked car US, 1972. 4 to give. A shortening of obsolete PARKER UK, 1972. ► park a custard to vomit. Upper-class society usage UK, 1982. ► park a tiger; park the tiger to vomit AUSTRALIA, 1985. ► park it (of a person) to sit down AUSTRALIA, 1962. ► park the ball in pool, to leave the cue ball roughly in the centre of the table after an opening break shot US, 1992. ► park your carcass (of a person) to sit down AUSTRALIA, 1977. ► where I'd like to park my bike said by a man of a woman considered as a sexual object. The wheel of a bicycle is held in a slot, which puns on vagina UK, 2003

parked out adjective in horse racing, said of horses forced to the outside on turns US, 1994

Parker noun a chauffeur. The name of Lady Penelope's chauffeur in Thunderbirds (a cult television series of the early 1960s, relaunched in the 90s) adopted as a generic nickname UK, 1999 parker verb to pay; to give. From 'parleyaree', an early form of POLARI UK, 1914

Parkheid smiddy noun the female breast. Glasgow rhyming slang for, DIDDY, from the local pronunciation of Parkhead Smithy, a famous forge in Glasgow's East End UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

parkie; parky noun a park keeper UK, 2001 parking lot noun 1 a traffic jam US, 1976. 2 the vagina. An obvious pun until you start to seek an appropriate vehicle for the penis US,

1974. ► in the parking lot in gambling, without further funds US, 1996 parking space noun a grave UK, 1998

Park Lane No. 2's noun marijuana from Cambodia, often pre-rolled into cigarettes. The term was coined and popularised by US soldiers in Vietnam US, 1970 parky adjective of the weather, chilly, cold, very cold UK, 1895

parlay noun crack cocaine US, 1994

parlay verb to socialise at clubs, bars or parties US, 2000 parloo verb to masturbate NORFOLK ISLAND, 1992

parlour noun a brakevan (caboose) US, 1946 parlour maid noun a rear railway brakeman US, 1946 parlour pink noun a wealthy person who espouses socialist views from the safety of luxury US, 1920 parma violet noun a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. From the purple colour of the tablet and overall similarity to a sweet of the same name UK, 2002 parnee verb to rain. From the noun sense UK, 1859 parnee; pannie; parny noun 1 rain; tears. Polari, originally Anglo-Indian, from 'parnee' (water) UK, 1859. 2 water. Current in English gypsy use, from Romany pāni (water) UK, 1859 parole dust noun fog. A term coined at the San Quentin state penitentiary just north of San Francisco, where fog invites escape attempts US, 1976

Parra noun in the Sydney region, a visting non-resident of a beachside area. Derogatory. Perhaps from Parramatta, a western suburb of Sydney AUSTRALIA, 1985

Parry nickname the Paremoremo maximum security prison NEW ZEALAND, 1982 parsley noun 1 marijuana. From the similarity of appearance between one HERB and another UK, 1996. 2 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust. Because one method of administration of the drug is to sprinkle it on parsley US, 1981 parsley bud noun in British Columbia, a local variety of marijuana CANADA, 2002 part adjective of mixed race FUJI, 1995 partial noun a partial fingerprint US, 1996. ► partial to having a fondness or liking for something UK, 1696

Partick Thistle noun 1 a whistle. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of a Scottish football club; also serves as a verb UK, 1992. 2 a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy, identified by PT embossed on the tablet. Disguising PT with the name of a Scottish football team UK, 2002 partied out adjective exhausted from excessive party-going US, 1992 partner noun 1 a very close associate who can be counted on in almost any situation US, 1994. 2 any Audi car. Motor trade slang. A pun on 'Howdy, partner' UK, 2004

partridge noun a good-looking girl or woman US, 1947 parts noun ► get parts to engage in sexual activity short of intercourse US, 1979 parts changer noun in car repair, a mechanic who replaces parts until a problem is solved instead of diagnosing the problem at the outset US, 1993 part timer noun a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy, identified by PT embossed on the tablet UK, 2002 party noun 1 a person. In conventional use from 1650 but considered to be slang since later C19. Not to be confused with a party to a legal action UK, 1956. 2 a woman; a girlfriend. Royal Navy slang UK, 1987. 3 sex, especially with a prostitute. A prostitute euphemism US, 1956 party verb 1 to enjoy a good time. From the conventional noun sense US, 1922. 2 to have sex, especially with a prostitute US, 1963. 3 to use drugs US, 1999 par-ty! used as an exhortation to relax and enjoy yourself. The break between syllables is key US, 1988 party animal noun a person dedicated to making merry and having a good time. A creature born of the 1990s US, 1997 party central noun an apartment or house where parties are frequently in progress US, 2000 party favours noun drugs US, 1989 party foul noun a faux pas; a substantial breach of etiquette US, 2004 party girl noun a prostitute US, 1960 party hat noun 1 the signal light(s) on the roof of a police car. When the light is flashing the police are said to have a 'party hat on' US, 1976. 2 a condom US, 1989 party hearty verb to party in a diligent fashion US, 1979 party lights noun the coloured, flashing lights on top of a police car US, 1992 party line noun the 'official version' that must be adhered to whether truthful or not. Originally (1834) a political party's policy; thence into much wider usage UK, 1937 party nap noun a nap taken in anticipation of a night of drinking and partying US, 2004 party on! used as an encouragement for revelry US, 1989 party pack noun a packet of ten rolled marijuana cigarettes for sale in Vietnam during the war US, 1991 party piece noun a woman who makes herself sexually available at Hell's Angels gatherings'. A pun formed on PIECE (a woman as a sexual object) UK, 1982 party pooper; party poop noun a killjoy; a spoilsport US, 1954 party powder noun cocaine UK, 2003 party reptile noun an enthusiastic party-goer US, 1986 pash noun 1 a romanticised affection for someone; an infatuation UK, 1914. 2 a fiancée; the woman you enjoy more than a casual relationship with; the primary girlfriend. Royal Navy slang; an abbreviated form of 'passion' US, 1960. 3 a passionate kiss or kissing session, especially French kissing AUSTRALIA, 1962

pash; pash off verb to kiss someone passionately AUSTRALIA, 1979 pashing noun kissing and petting AUSTRALIA, 1964 pash on verb to spend time kissing and petting AUSTRALIA, 1983 pashpie noun an attractive boy or girl. Teen slang US, 1951 pash rash noun sore lips or irritation of the area surrounding the mouth as a result of kissing AUSTRALIA, 2002 pashy noun a passionate kiss. An elaboration of PASH UK, 2000

pashy adjective passionate US, 1949 pasray verb (used of a woman) to sit in an immodest position TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 pass noun an amorous approach to someone; an introductory attempt at seduction UK, 1928 pass verb to seek acceptance as white because of fair skin colouring US, 1933. ► pass change to bribe TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1989. ► pass the time of day to exchange greetings; to chat and gossip UK, 1851 pass-by noun a stranger JAMAICA, 1958 passenger noun 1 a member of any group who does not fully contribute and is 'carried' by the rest. Originally sporting UK, 1852. 2 a member of a prison clique. Formed from CAR (a clique) US, 1989 passenger stiff noun a railway passenger US, 1977 passer noun 1 a person who places counterfeit money into circulation US, 1981. 2 a drug dealer US, 1952 passers noun dice that have been altered so as to roll a seven less often than normal US, 1950 passion-killers noun sensible knickers. Originally of military-issue knickers UK, 1943 passion mark noun a bruise caused by extended sucking US, 1966 passion pit noun a drive-in cinema. Teen slang US, 1951 passion wagon noun a panel van or the like used for sexual encounters AUSTRALIA, 1966 pass out verb to lose consciousness. From an earlier sense 'to die' UK, 1915 passover noun a seizure BARBADOS, 1965 passover party noun a party where those who have been passed over for promotion drown their sorrows US, 1998 passport noun standing permission from a youth gang to enter the territory which they consider their 'turf' US, 1972 past adjective ► past it because of your age or infirmity, to be no longer able to do that which you used to. Applied generally or to a specific inability UK, 1928. ► past its sell-by date no longer of interest; out of fashion. Adopted from product information on packaged goods UK, 2001 pasta noun cocaine. From 'paste', a step in the production process US, 1984 pasta rocket noun any Italian sports car US, 2004 paste noun 1 finely crafted fake gems US, 1950. 2 the peanut butter in combat rations US, 1991. 3 crack cocaine. From an intermediary step in the production of crack US, 1994 paste verb to thrash someone UK, 1846 pasteboard noun in horse racing, a dry track in good condition US, 1971 pastie noun a fool; used as a friendly term of abuse. Possibly from the thick crust of a Cornish pastie UK, 2004 pasties noun decorative coverings for a female dancer's nipples US, 1961 pasting noun a beating. Either physical or figurative UK, 1851 pasto noun marijuana. From Spanish pasto (pasture, grass), thus GRASS (marijuana) US, 1980 pastry cutter noun a person who applies pressure with the teeth while performing oral sex on a man UK, 2002 pastry wagon noun a truck owned by the Pacific Intermountain Express. Back-formation from PIE, the company's initials US, 1976 pasture noun a place where teenagers engage in various levels of sexual activity in parked cars at night US, 1960. ► out to pasture incarcerated US, 1992

Pat noun ► on your Pat on your own. A shortening of PAT MALONE AUSTRALIA, 1908

Pat nickname used as a nickname for an Irish man; also used in jokes which need a stereotypical Irishman as the butt. Pat, a diminutive of Patrick, is a stereotypically Irish name UK, 1806 pat verb ► pat the pad to go to bed US, 1955 patacca adjective used for describing inferior or fake jewellery, especially of a counterfeit Swiss watch. An Italian slang term, pronounced 'pataka', meaning 'worthless; rubbish'; used at the less-honest end of the jewellery trade, and amongst air stewards UK, 1977

Pat and Mick noun the penis. Rhyming slang for PRICK, formed from two stereotypical Irish names, often featured in jokes. As the butts of these jokes Pat and Mick are inevitably thick, a characteristic which may well pun here as an implied quality of girth UK, 1961

Pat and Mick adjective sick. Rhyming slang UK, 2003

Pat and Mike noun a bicycle. Rhyming slang for 'bike' UK, 1931

Pat Cash noun to urinate. Rhyming slang for SLASH, based on the name of Australian tennis player Pat Cash (b.1965) UK, 1998 patch noun 1 a district which is the responsibility of a specified police authority; a geographical area designated as the responsibility of public servants, e.g. probation officers, social workers; an area of specialist responsibility. Originally northern and Midland police, by the mid-1960s it had become common to all public services UK, 1963. 2 the territory claimed by a prostitute, a drug dealer or a gang UK, 1996. 3 a small community US, 1997. 4 the zone assigned to a military reconnaissance team US, 1991. 5 a small piece of material covering a striptease dancer's vulva US, 1973. 6 a gang emblem sewn to the back of a member's jacket, signifying full membership in the gang NEW ZEALAND, 1975. 7 in computing, a temporary modification of code to repair an immediate problem

US, 1991. 8 in the circus or carnival, the person who adjusted legal problems US, 1960. 9 an ad hoc payment to a police officer to allow a crime to take place US, 2001. 10 the proceeds of a crime, confiscated and kept by corrupt police in lieu of arrest US, 1987.
► not a patch on not in any way to be compared with UK, 1860 patched adjective thirsty US, 1968 patches noun 1 a prison uniform issued to inmates who have been assessed as potential escapees UK, 2000. 2 a prisoner considered likely to attempt an escape. From the yellow patches worn on the prisoner's jacket and trousers UK, 1996 patch money noun in a carnival, the money paid by concession operators to the 'patch' or 'fixer' for adjusting legal problems US, 1985 pate noun a father. Abbreviated from Latin pater US, 1988 patent noun a multiple bet, gambling on three different horses in separate races in a total of seven bets UK, 1991 pater noun a father. A familiar use of Latin pater (a father), mainly as schoolboy slang, and often considered pretentious UK, 1728 path adjective pathology, pathological. Originally medical use now widely known, mainly in 'path lab' (a pathology laboratory) UK, 1937 pat hand noun in blackjack, a hand with points totalling between 17 and 21. A 'pat hand' is a potentially winning hand US, 1991 pathetic adjective ineffectual, contemptible. From the conventional sense (worthy of pity) UK, 1937 pathy noun a pathologist UK, 1956 patico noun crack cocaine. Spanish slang used by English-speakers who would not know what the word means in Spanish US, 1994 patient zero noun the first person to transmit a disease. Usually used in the context of AIDS US, 1987

Pat Malone noun alone. Rhyming slang for 'on your own' AUSTRALIA, 1908 patoot noun the vagina US, 1974 patootie noun the arse US, 1948 pat poke noun the hip pocket. Pickpocket usage US, 1949

Pats nickname the New England Patriots professional football team US, 1971 patsy noun 1 a dupe; someone blamed for a crime or accident. Perhaps the most famous maybe-patsy of the C20 was Lee Harvey Oswald, who told reporters shortly before being killed: 'They're taking me in because of the fact that I lived in the Soviet Union. I'm only a patsy' US, 1903. 2 in poker, a hand that requires no draw. Conventionally known as a 'pat hand' US, 1988. 3 a half-gallon jar filled with beer. A fairly complicated rhyme: Patsy Riggir is a country music singer, and her last name evokes RIGGER, which is another term for a half-gallon jar of beer NEW ZEALAND, 1998

Patsy Cline; Patsy noun a dose of cocaine prepared for inhaling. Rhyming slang for LINE, based on country and western singer Patsy Cline, 1932–63 UK, 1996

patsy mouth noun a dryness of the mouth as a result of smoking marijuana or hashish CANADA, 2004

Patsy Palmer and her five daughters noun the hand (seen in the context of male masturbation). A variation of MRS PALM AND HER FIVE LOVELY DAUGHTERS, formed on the name of an actress who came to prominence playing Bianca in the BBC television soap opera EastEnders from 1994–99 UK, 2003 patter noun talk, speechifying UK, 1778

Patty Hearst noun a first class degree. Rhyming slang for 'first', formed from the name of the heiress, who was kidnapped by left-wing extremists, and involved in bank-robbery, before becoming a professional actress (b.1954) UK, 1998

Paul Anka noun used as an all-purpose form of abuse. Rhyming slang for WANKER; formed from the name of the US singer (b.1941) UK, 2004

Paul Weller noun branded Belgian lager Stella Artois™. Rhyming slang for 'Stella', based on the name of musician Paul Weller (b.1958) UK, 2002 pause verb ► pause for a cause to pull off the motorway to use a toilet US, 1977 pav noun a pavlova. A type of meringue desert topped with fruit, named after Russian ballerina Anna Pavlova AUSTRALIA, 1966

Pavarotti noun ten pounds, £10. Punning TENNER on 'tenor'; formed on the great Italian tenor Luciano Pavarotti (b.1935) UK, 1998 pavement noun ► the pavement the streets, especially as an area of criminal operation UK, 1998 pavement artist noun a criminal specialising in street fraud UK, 2001 pavement oyster noun an expectoration of phlegm that has been deposited in the street UK, 1981 pavement pizza noun a splash of vomit AUSTRALIA, 1996 pavement-pounder noun a prostitute who solicits customers on the street US, 1960 pavement princess noun a prostitute, especially one who works at truck stops US, 1977 pavement surfing noun being thrown from a motorcycle. Biker (motorcycle) usage US, 2003 pavilion noun a brakevan (caboose) US, 1977 paw noun the hand UK, 1605 pawn noun ► got out of pawn; got out born UK, 1992 paws up adjective dead. New York police slang US, 1997 pay noun a debtor US, 1989 pay verb ► get paid to commit a successful robbery US, 1987.

► pay black to pay a blackmailer's extortion. Combines conventional 'pay' with 'black' (blackmail) UK, 1984. ► pay crow tax to lose a farm animal by accidental death or disease CANADA, 1992.

► pay the grandstand in horse racing, to place a bet that will generate a huge earning AUSTRALIA, 1989. ► pay through the nose to pay a high (financial) price for something UK, 1672. ► pay your dues to persevere through hardship US, 1956 pay and lay noun used for describing the exchange of payment and services involved in prostitution US, 1969 pay ball noun in pool, a shot that, if made, wins a wager US, 1993 pay dirt noun money; success UK, 1857 pay-for-play noun sex that is paid for US, 1969 pay hole noun in trucking, a truck's highest gear US, 1971 pay lawyer noun a privately retained lawyer, as contrasted with one provided for indigents by the state US, 1992 pavola noun 1 an illegal payment to a radio station or individual to encourage the playing of a particular song. The word leapt into the American vocabulary in late 1959 as pay-off scandal after pay-off scandal toppled the first generation of rock 'n' roll disc jockeys. Later broadened to include other forms of bribery US, 1938. 2 reward money for anonymous police informants UK, 2002. 3 oil US, 1984 pay out on verb to upbraid someone for a wrongdoing. Originally 'to get revenge; to mete out corporal punishment', from British dialect pay (to beat/thrash). Now only referring to verbal dressing down AUSTRALIA, 1977 pay school noun a school charging a tuition fee US, 1992 payware noun commercially available computer software US, 1991

PB nickname Pacific Beach, San Diego, California US, 1993

PB and J noun a peanut butter and jelly (jam) sandwich. A culinary staple of American youth for decades US, 1981

PC noun 1 a latex finger glove used during digital examinations. A 'pinkie cheater' US, 1958. 2 probable cause to arrest someone US, 1995. 3 a percentage. Applied to drug sales US, 1956

PC adjective politically correct. Originally used of left-on-left criticism, appropriated and exploited by the right to marginalise any and all dissent from the left US, 1986

PCH nickname the Pacific Coast Highway, US route 1 in Los Angeles US, 1981

PCOD noun pussy cut-off date. When soldiers were returned to the US from the war in Vietnam, they were tested for sexually transmitted diseases. To be sure that any problems were identified and cured before that test, most stopped having sexual relations before the end of their rotation to avoid any delay in returning home US, 1991

P'cola noun Pensacola, Florida, home to a naval air station known as the 'cradle of Navy aviation' US, 1991

PCP noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1969

PD adjective pretty disgusting UK, 1996

PDA noun a public display of affection US, 1968

P-dogs noun cocaine UK, 2003

P-dope noun relatively (20%–30%) pure heroin US, 1997

PDQ pretty damn quick UK, 1975

p'd up adjective paranoid UK, 2001 pea noun 1 in Keno, a small ball with a number between one and 80 painted on it, drawn to establish winning numbers US, 1987. 2 in pool, a small tally ball used as a scoring device US, 1993. 3 a bullet US, 1988. 4 a person expected to win; in racing, a favourite AUSTRALIA, 1911 pea-brain noun a person lacking common sense, intelligence or both US, 1950

pea-brained adjective 1 very stupid UK, 1950. 2 under the influence of LSD US, 1982 peace goodbye. Dave Garroway, host of the morning television news programme The Today Show from 1952 to 61, closed each programme raising one hand and saying the single word 'Peace'. In 1988, comedy host Arsenio Hall, whose programme ran until 1993, began to use the same sign-off, at times embellishing it with 'Peace, and think number one' US, 1991 peace and quiet noun 1 solitary confinement in prison US, 1982. 2 a diet. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 peacemaker nickname the MX missile. Originally applied to the Colt .45 revolver, which made peace by death. Applied by US President Reagan and his administration in 1982 to the missile that carries thermonuclear warheads, apparently unaware of the irony of the term US, 1982

peacenik noun a person who is opposed to war or a war US, 1963 peace 'n' love adjective in the style of 1960s counterculture. The twin aims of the counterculture packaged as a marketing slogan; often derogatory UK, 2001 peace out used as a farewell US, 1992

peace pill noun a combination of the hallucinogen LSD and the stimulant methedrine US, 1971

PeaCe Pill; peace noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust. A rather clumsy back-formation from the initials US, 1977 peace tab noun a tablet of psilocybin, a mushroom-based hallucinogen US, 1971 peace tablet noun a tablet (of any description) with a drop of LSD on it US, 1982 peaceweed noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1981 peach noun 1 an excellent person or thing UK, 1863. 2 a sexually attractive person, usually a woman UK, 1754. 3 the vagina US, 1997. 4 a tablet of amphetamine sulphate (trade name Benzedrine™), a central nervous system stimulant US, 1967 peach verb to inform against or on someone. In conventional use from C16 to mid-C19, thereafter considered slang or colloquial UK, 1991 peach picker noun a cabover truck that is built high off the ground US, 1971 peachy adjective good, pleasing, attractive. If used at all, used with irony UK, 1926 peachy-keen adjective excellent US, 1960

peacocky adjective used of a racehorse, high-headed US, 1976 pea-eye noun an English-speaking person from Canada's Maritime Provinces. From, if awkwardly, 'Prince Edward Island' US, 1975 peak verb 1 to become highly excited; to thrill AUSTRALIA, 1985. 2 (of a wave) to reach its highest point before breaking AUSTRALIA, 1987 peaker plant noun a power-generating facility that is brought online only during periods of peak demand US, 2000s peaky adjective feeling unwell, or appearing sickly UK, 1821 peanut noun 1 the penis. An unusually modest pet name; similar to the derogatory joke-description 'hung like a cashew' UK, 2001. 2 a transvestite. From northern England, likely to derive from the sense as 'a small penis' UK, 1966. 3 a capsule of a barbiturate or other sedative US, 1967 peanut butter noun low quality, impure amphetamine US, 1989 peanut gallery noun the least expensive seats in a theatre; more abstractly, an audience US, 1888 peanut grifter noun a small-time swindler US, 1953 peanut heaven noun the uppermost gallery in a theatre or arena US, 1946 peanut poker noun poker played for very small stakes US, 1988 peanuts noun a very small sum of money US, 1934 peanuts and donkey farts noun in poker, three two's US, 1948 peanut smuggler noun a woman whose nipples, especially when erect, are apparent through her clothing AUSTRALIA, 2003 peanut wagon noun in trucking, a small tractor pulling a large trailer US, 1946 pea-picker noun a gambler who only bets very small sums. A pun on 'p' (pence) UK, 1984 pea, pie, and pud noun a meal consisting of a meat pie, peas and mashed potatoes NEW ZEALAND, 1984 pea pod noun ► on your pea pod alone. Glasgow rhyming slang on Cockney rhyming slang 'on your tod' (TOD SLOAN) UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 pearl noun 1 an ampoule of amyl nitrite US, 1971. 2 cocaine US, 1984 pearl dive noun when surfing, an occasion when you are forced deep under the water by a wave US, 1957 pearl dive verb to perform oral sex on a woman. From the metaphor of the clitoris as a pearl US, 1994 pearl-diver noun 1 a dishwasher in a restaurant US, 1913. 2 a five-pound note; the sum of £5 UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 pearl diving noun oral sex US, 1949 pearler noun something exceptional. Variant of PURLER AUSTRALIA, 1941

Pearl Harbour adjective of weather, cold. From the Japanese air attack on Pearl Harbour, 7th December 1941; punning NIP (Japanese) and the conventional phrase 'a nasty nip in the air' (cold weather). This term seems to have emerged following the 2001 release of the film Pearl Harbor UK, 2002 pearlies noun 1 the teeth. A shortened form of PEARLY WHITES. Also variant 'pearls' UK, 1914. 2 a chronic shaking of the bowing arm suffered by violinists UK, 1974 pearl necklace noun semen ejaculated on a woman's throat and breasts, especially after penis-breast contact US, 1984 pearl of a great price noun in horse racing, a pure-bred Arabian racehorse AUSTRALIA, 1989 pearly gate noun a plate. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 pearly gates noun 1 LSD US, 1971. 2 morning glory seeds, rumoured to have hallucinogenic powers US, 1971

Pearly Girl noun in British Columbia, a local variety of marijuana CANADA, 2002 pearly king; pearly noun the anus. Rhyming slang for RING, formed on a traditional, well-decorated Cockney character UK, 1992 pearly whites noun the teeth US, 1935 pear-shaped adjective no longer perfect; describing anything that is now wrong UK, 2001 peas and rice boongy noun large buttocks BAHAMAS, 1995 peasant noun 1 a person below your station. Originally British military slang UK, 1943. 2 in circus and carnival usage, a customer who does not show proper appreciation for a performance US, 1981 peasants noun ► the peasants are revolting a catchphrase that is applied to a general swell of grumbling, used by more senior officers of junior ranks in the military, of a workforce as distinct from management, of students in relation to their educators, etc. A tireless pun on 'revolting' UK, 1984 pease pudding hot; pease pudding noun nasal mucus. Rhyming slang for SNOT, formed on a traditional rhyme: 'Pease pudding hot / Pease pudding cold / Pease pudding in the pot / Nine days old'. This is not a pun on the colour of peas – pease pudding is a golden-hued dish, made from yellow split-peas UK, 1992 peashooter noun 1 a small-calibre handgun US, 1950. 2 the nose. Rhyming slang for HOOTER UK, 1992 peas-in-a-pot; peas in the pot; peas; peasy adjective hot. Rhyming slang UK, 1960 peas on a drum noun small female breasts UK, 1980 pea-soup noun a French-Canadian. In the citation, Richler is referring indirectly to the Montreal hockey team, the Canadiens CANADA, 2002 pea-souper noun 1 a dense yellowish fog. From the adjective PEA-SOUPY UK, 1890. 2 a French-Canadian. This term derives from the ubiquitous Quebec pea-soup, made with ham, still a favourite despite the negative connotations CANADA, 1978 pea-soupy; soupy adjective descriptive of dense, yellowish fog UK, 1860 peasy; peasie adjective used of hair, short and curled tightly BAHAMAS, 1982 peata; pata noun a spoiled child; a favourite child IRELAND, 1999 pebble noun a piece of crack cocaine. The ROCK metaphor used again; the plural means crack generally US, 1989 pebble-dash verb to splatter a lavatory bowl with faeces as the result of a dramatic expulsion of diarrhoea UK, 2003

Pebble Mill noun 1 a pill, especially one that is taken recreationally. Rhyming slang, formed from an area of Birmingham that is best known as the address of BBC television studios, and the title of a programme broadcast from there, 1973–86 UK, 1998. 2 a slight or perfunctory kiss UK, 1893. 3 on the railways, the lunch period US, 1977 peck verb 1 to eat UK, 1665. 2 to kiss someone in a slight or perfunctory manner UK, 1969 pecker noun 1 the penis UK, 1902. 2 by extension, a despicable person US, 1988. 3 courage, especially in the phrase 'keep your pecker up' UK, 1853 pecker checker noun 1 a military doctor or medic who inspects male recruits for signs of sexually transmitted disease US, 1967. 2 a member of a police vice squad targeting homosexual activity US, 1970 pecker-foolish noun used of a woman, overly obsessed with men and sex US, 1977 peckerhead noun a despicable or offensive person. Formed from PECKER 'penis', not PECKERWOOD 'racist' US, 1802

peckerman noun a rapist US, 1990 peckerneck noun on the railways, a newly hired apprentice US, 1975 pecker pole noun an undersize tree, not worth logging CANADA, 1989 pecker tracks noun stains from seminal fluid US, 1964 peckerwood noun 1 a non-Italian US, 1980. 2 a white rural southerner, especially an uncouth and racist one. Not praise. Also shortened variants 'peck' and 'wood' US, 1904

Peckham Rye; Peckham noun a tie (an article of menswear). Rhyming slang, after an area of south London UK, 1925 pecks noun food US, 1958 pecky adjective characterised by well developed chest muscles US, 1997 pecs noun the pectoralis major muscles US, 1966

ped noun a pedestrian UK, 1999 pedalling with both feet; pedalling verb (used of a vehicle, or driver of that vehicle) to achieve top speed. Conjures a misleading image of pedalling a bicycle; the pedal in question is an accelerator US, 1976 pedal pusher noun a bicyclist US, 1934 pedal-pushers noun calf-length trousers for women or girls. Originally designed to be suitable for a PEDAL PUSHER (a bicyclist), and variously in and out of fashion since US, 1944 pedal to the metal adjective used of a motor vehicle, throttled to the maximum US, 1993

'ped boy noun a young, male, moped rider; a younger, male, BMX cyclist UK, 2003 peddle and crank verb to masturbate. Rhyming slang for WANK UK, 2003 peddler noun 1 a prisoner who sells goods to other prisoners US, 1980. 2 on the railways, a local freight train US, 1960 peddle run noun in trucking, a job with frequent stops for deliveries US, 1971 pedestrian spear noun a large, sharp car radiator ornament US, 1962

'ped-head noun a motor-scooter enthusiast. Apparently derived from 'moped' and -HEAD (an enthusiast) UK, 2004 pedigree noun a person's background US, 1976 pedigree chum noun semen; an orgasm. Rhyming slang for COME, formed on branded dog food Pedigree Chum™ UK, 1992 pedlar's pack noun dismissal from employment. Rhyming slang for 'sack' UK, 1992 pedo noun trouble; nonsense. Border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans US, 1974

Pedro noun 1 cocaine. Given a Spanish name (Peter) to suggest a South American nationality for the supplier UK, 1999. 2 a survival winch mounted on a military helicopter US, 1991 pee noun an act of urination; urine UK, 1902 pee verb to urinate UK, 1879. ► pee yourself laughing to laugh uproariously UK, 1946 pee halt noun a brief stop during a combat patrol so soldiers could urinate US, 1991 peek noun ► the peek in prison, the observation cell UK, 1950 peekaboo adjective 1 said of a garment with decorative holes or slashes US, 1895. 2 used of a mirror, see-through from outside the room US, 1992

peeker noun a thief who operates by observing the numbers given at a clockroom and then using a counterfeit check to retrieve valuable items that have been checked in US, 1954 peek freak noun 1 a voyeur US, 1967. 2 a casino blackjack gambler who consistently tries to see the dealer's down card US, 1981 peek man noun a lookout during an illegal or forbidden activity in prison US, 1976 peel noun a caustic chemical treatment of the skin (dermabrasion) US, 1997 peel verb 1 to undress UK, 1785. 2 to perform a striptease. Originally a term used by and with athletes, later by and with strippers US, 1948. 3 to pry something open US, 1968. 4 (used of a pimp) to entice a prostitute away from her current pimp US, 1993. 5 to fire a gun US, 2001. ► get peeled when filming a film or television programme, to extend the shooting into overtime for the crew US, 1997. ► peel caps to shoot someone US, 1993. ► peel one off to fart. Perhaps this should be 'peal' for the ringing tones UK, 1978. ► peel wheels to accelerate a car quickly, squealing the tyres and leaving rubber marks on the road. 1989 US, 1989. ► peel your banana to pull back the foreskin of your penis for inspection or as part of masturbating US, 2002 peeled adjective of the eyes, open, thus alert and observant. 'Keep 'em peeled' is a catchphrase associated with Shaw Taylor, presenter of a television police assistance programme Police 5 since the early 1970s US, 1853 peeler noun 1 a police officer. After Robert Peel, as founder of the Irish constabulary IRELAND, 1817. 2 a striptease dancer US, 1948. 3 a fast, well-developed wave US, 1964 peel-off noun a theft of part of a common booty. Criminal and police slang UK, 1959 peel out verb to accelerate a car suddenly from a stopped position, squealing the tyres on the road US, 1973 peelywally adjective drunk. From Scottish peelie-wallie (sickly) UK: SCOTLAND, 2002 peeny adjective very small BARBADOS, 1965

peeny-weeny adjective tiny TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1993 peep noun 1 a quick glance UK, 1730. 2 a two-way mirror US, 1975. 3 a clandestine photographer US, 1982. 4 a sexually desirable woman. An abbreviation of the somewhat coarse 'perfectly elegant eatin' pussy' US, 1977. 5 something spoken, especially in a negative context UK, 1903 peep verb 1 to look at something, to discover something. Variation of conventional 'peep' (to look) US, 1992. 2 to listen to someone or something US, 2000. 3 to read music US, 1964. ► peep the holecard to gain deep insight into someone's character US, 1981 pee pad noun a motorcycle passenger seat US, 2003 peepee noun the vagina US, 1998 pee-pee noun 1 urine; urination. Childish UK, 1923. 2 the penis. Children's toilet vocabulary. Also variant 'pi-pi' US, 1967 peeper noun 1 an eye. A definite old-fashioned feel to the term. Popularised in 1938 with the film Going Places and the song by Harry Warren: 'Jeepers, creepers/ Where'd you get them peepers?' UK, 1700. 2 a voyeur UK, 1652. 3 a private investigator or private detective US, 1943. 4 a police detective. From an earlier sense as 'policeman' UK, 1996. 5 a card player who tries to see another player's cards US, 1988. 6 a one-way eye-hole in a door allowing the person on the inside to see who is outside; a peephole US, 1996 peepers noun 1 a vehicle's headlights US, 1976. 2 night-vision enhancing equipment US, 1991 peep freak noun a voyeur US, 1975 peep-hole special noun sex in a public toilet US, 1966 pee pill noun a pill containing an agent that increases the excretion of urine US, 1968 peeping Tom noun 1 a voyeur; a person who spies on others UK, 1795. 2 in poker or other card games, a player or spectator who tries to see a player's hand US, 1996. 3 a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy, identified by PT embossed on the tablet UK, 2002 pee-poor adjective very poor. A variation on the much more common PISS-POOR US, 1964 peep out verb to look at something carefully; to examine something US, 1990 peeps noun people; friends. A probably coincidental usage, based on accidental English, was popularised in the UK by 'Stavros the Greek kebab seller', a character created by comedian Harry Enfield for Channel 4 television's Friday Night Live in 1988 US, 1995 peep show noun an arcade where it is possible to view pornographic videos or a nude woman in private booths; formerly an arcade where it was possible to view photographs of scantily clad women US, 1947 peep this look at this US, 1997 peer queer noun a male homosexual who takes pleasure in watching others have sex US, 1970 pee-spout noun the penis UK, 1998 peeties noun dice that have been altered with small weights to produce a desired number when rolled US, 1962 peeve noun alcohol; drink. Market traders and English gypsy use UK, 1979 peevied adjective drunk UK, 2002 peewat noun a person of neither importance nor significance TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1982 pee wee verb in dice games with no bank, to roll the dice to see who will play first US, 1950 peewee adjective composed of children US, 1877 peewee; pee wee noun 1 the penis US, 1998. 2 a very young member of a youth gang US, 1981. 3 a small, tightly rolled marijuana cigarette US, 1970. 4 crack cocaine US, 1994. 5 in craps, a roll of three US, 1999 peg noun 1 a look AUSTRALIA, 1973. 2 a person's leg UK, 1878. 3 heroin US, 1994. 4 a golf tee US, 1946. ► give a peg to reconnoitre, especially with criminal intent AUSTRALIA, 1975. ► on the peg of driving, at the speed limit. Citizens' band radio slang UK, 1981 peg verb 1 to watch or look at someone AUSTRALIA, 1970. 2 to identify someone or something US, 1940. 3 to push a disabled motorcycle with a second motorcycle by reaching out and putting your leg on the foot-rest (peg) of the disabled motorcycle US, 2000. 4 to throw something AUSTRALIA, 1941. 5 to put someone on report. Originally military, then recorded in use in borstals and detention centres UK, 1948. 6 in a card cheating scheme, to prepare a deck for a manoeuvre US, 1962. 7 to fix the market price of something. Originally Stock Exchange slang, then more general UK, 1882. ► peg it 1 to walk; to walk fast; to run; to hurry. A variation of LEG IT formed on PEG (the leg) UK, 2004. 2 to die. A variation of PEG OUT UK, 1994 peg away verb to labour persistently; to continue to toil UK, 1818 peg boy noun in male homosexual intercourse, a passive partner US, 1960 pegged adjective under surveillance UK, 1996 pegged out adjective dead. From PEG OUT (to die) US, 2000 pegger noun a tooth BARBADOS, 1965

peggy noun a person employed to make tea and lunch for labourers AUSTRALIA, 1971

Peggy Lee fastball noun in baseball, a fast ball that is not particularly fast. From Peggy Lee's hit recording of 'Is That All There Is?' US, 1980

Peggy's Leg nickname a sweet in the form of a longish stalk; a stick of rock IRELAND, 1983 peg leg noun a wooden or artificial leg UK, 1833. ► peg out to die. Possibly from the game of cribbage, less likely from croquet UK, 1855 pegs noun 1 tapered trousers very fashionable in the US in the late 1950s and 60s US, 1969. 2 the external vaginal lips TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

peke-a-poo noun a crossbreed of a pinese and a poodle US, 2001

Pekinese adjective ► do the Pekinese pop-out to become wide-eyed with shock or wonder. An allusion to the appearance of a pedigree Pekinese dog US, 1999 pekkie; perkie noun a black person. Offensive SOUTH AFRICA, 1963 pelican noun a water bomber, for firefighting CANADA, 1997 pellet noun a tablet or capsule of LSD US, 1990 pelt noun a woman's pubic hair; sex; a woman as a sex object. Building on the vulva-as-BEAVER image US, 1980. ► stroke the pelt (of a female) to masturbate US, 2001 pelt verb ► pelt wood to thrust with vigour during sex TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

pelter noun in poker, a non-standard hand consisting of a 9, a 5, a 2, one card between 5 and 9 and one card between 2 and 5 US, 1963 pen noun 1 a jail or prison. Shortened from 'penitentiary.' US, 1884. 2 a detention or holding room at a jail or courthouse US, 1979 penalty box noun the area behind the back seat of an SUV or station wagon US, 2004 pen and ink; pen noun 1 a noisome smell; a stink. Rhyming slang UK, 1859. 2 a mink as an item of wardrobe. Rhyming slang UK, 1956. 3 a drink. Rhyming slang NEW ZEALAND, 1963 pen and ink; pen verb 1 to smell rank; to stink. Rhyming slang UK, 1977. 2 to drink AUSTRALIA, 1983 pen and pencil set noun in electric line work, a digging bar and spoon shovel US, 1980 pen bait noun a girl under the age of sexual consent. A variation on the more common JAILBAIT US, 1964 pencil noun 1 the penis. Perhaps borrowing a Mark Twain pun: 'the penis mightier than the sword' UK, 1937. 2 in a casino, the authority to give a gambler complimentary drinks or meals. Often phrased as 'power of the pencil' US, 1977 pencil verb to work as a penciller AUSTRALIA, 1919 pencil dick noun a thin penis; used, generally, to insult a man by attacking a perception of his masculinity US, 1998 penciller noun a bookmaker's clerk who writes out betting tickets AUSTRALIA, 1891 pencil-neck geek noun a bookish, timid, weak man. The term was popularised, if not coined, by US professional wrestler 'Classy' Freddie Blassie to describe his opponents. Blassie recorded a novelty song so titled, written by Johnny Legend and Pete Cicero, in 1979 US, 1985 pencil-pusher noun 1 a person who works with words; a clerk or secretary. Usually derivative US, 1881. 2 in the US Air Force, the navigator on a bomber aircraft US, 1946 pencil-sharpener noun the vagina. Corresponds, quite logically, with PENCIL (the penis) UK, 2003 pencil stiff noun a clerical worker. Derivative US, 1957 pencil talk noun bargaining over a price in a bazaar carried on by writing down the offer. Vietnam war usage US, 1968 pencil-whip verb 1 to file constant lawsuits and complaints against prison authorities US, 1992. 2 to write someone a traffic ticket or notice of a criminal infraction US, 2001

pend verb to listen; to pay attention US, 1968 pendejo noun a fool. From the Spanish of Mexican-Americans, literally translated as 'a pubic hair' US, 1974

Penelope noun a well-built, attractive, somewhat dim woman. The personification of a BIMBO, probably named after an identified celebrity, recorded in contemporary gay usage UK, 2003 penetrate verb to understand something after analysis JAMAICA, 2003 penguin noun 1 LSD. Presumably from the picture printed on the blotting paper dose UK, 1998. 2 a prison officer. From the black and white uniform UK, 1996. 3 a nun US, 1980. ► go penguin in pool, to enter a formal tournament. A reference to the tuxedo that is mandated by the dress code of some tournaments US, 1990 penguin adjective pregnant AUSTRALIA, 1985

penguin food noun anchovies. Limited usage, but clever US, 1996 penguin suit; penguin outfit noun a tuxedo or formal evening dress UK, 1967 penis breath noun used as a general-purpose insult US, 1986 penitentiary pull noun influence within a prison US, 1985 penitentiary punk noun a male who starts taking part in homosexual sex in prison US, 1972 penitentiary turn-out noun a man who begins engaging in homosexual sex in prison US, 1972 penman noun a forger UK, 1865 pennies noun a substantial amount of money UK, 1999 penn'orth of chalk; penn'orth noun a walk. Rhyming slang UK, 1938

Pennsy nickname the Pennsylvania Railroad US, 1953

Pennsylvania caps noun in trucking, tyres that have been recapped with a seamless tread line US, 1971 penny noun one dollar US, 1972. ► the penny drops; the penny's dropped; the penny will drop in minute; did I hear a penny drop? used in marking the belated understanding of something, often of a delayed appreciation of humour. There are more variations on this theme than are shown here UK, 1951 penny verb to force pennies into the space between a door and the jam near the hinges, making it difficult or, if done correctly, impossible to open the door from the inside US, 1989 penny a mile noun a smile. Rhyming slang UK, 1960 penny-ante adjective petty, insignificant. From a poker game with a one-cent 'ante' or buy-in, an insignificant stake US, 1935 penny a pound; penny noun the ground. Rhyming slang UK, 1932 penny banger noun a mistake. Rhyming slang for CLANGER UK, 1992 penny black; penny noun 1 the back. Rhyming slang, based on a famously rare stamp UK, 1992. 2 the floor. By extension from 'penny black' (the back) via the sense to be knocked on your back, thus onto the floor UK, 2002 penny bun noun 1 one, especially in connection with racing odds. Rhyming slang UK, 1984. 2 the sun. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 penny for the guy noun a pie. Rhyming slang, formed from the catchphrase of children collecting funds to celebrate Guy Fawkes' night UK, 1998 penny game noun the gambling game two-up AUSTRALIA, 1966 penny locket noun a pocket. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 penny-nickle-nickle noun an M-114 155-mm howitzer. The standard infantry heavy artillery weapon during the Vietnam war US, 1990 penny-pinching adjective frugal US, 1920 penny stamp noun a tramp. Rhyming slang UK, 1984 pension noun ► on a pension of a policeman, having been bribed UK, 1996 pension run noun in trucking, an easy, undemanding, regular route US, 1971

Pentagon East noun the US military command in Tan Son Nhut air base, South Vietnam US, 1975

penthouse noun a brakevan (caboose) cupola US, 1977 pen yan noun opium; heroin. Originally used of opium only and thought to be from a Chinese term for opium. Many variants, including 'pen yang', 'pan yen', 'pen yen', 'pen yuen', 'pin yen', 'pinyon' and 'pin gon' US, 1922 peon noun an ordinary computer user with no special privileges US, 1995 people noun 1 narcotics police US, 1957. 2 a prisoner's closest friends and associates US, 1992

People noun ► the People the masses, at least to the extent that the masses support the agenda advocated by the speaker. Egalitarian or communist undertones US, 1961 people zipper noun a Vehicle Mounted Active Denial System or VMADS, a tank or jeep-mounted crowd control weapon US, 2001 pep noun 1 energy UK, 1912. 2 pepperoni US, 1996. 3 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1982 pep-em-up noun an amphetamine or other central nervous system stimulant US, 1980 pepper noun 1 an inexperienced, gullible victim of a gambling cheat. Playing on 'green' as a colour and as a slang badge of inexperience US, 1974. 2 cinders spread on a snowy road US, 1976 pepper and salt punter noun a bettor who places bets by telephone from home AUSTRALIA, 1989 pepperbelly noun a Mexican or Mexican-American US, 1970 pep pill noun a central nervous system stimulant in a tablet form. A deceptive yet accurate euphemism that persisted for several decades, especially with students US, 1937

Pepsi adjective sexually frigid. Presumably because Pepsi™ is 'best served chilled' UK, 2001

Pepsi; pepper noun a French-Canadian. Originally directed as an insult, because it was said by anglophones that French-Canadians chose Pepsi™ over Coca-Cola™ because they thought the cans were larger, it has been adopted as a badge of pride, especially in the derived form 'pepper' CANADA, 1978

Pepsi habit; Pepsi Cola habit noun the occasional use of a drug, short of an all-out addiction US, 1970 pep talk noun a brief, emotional speech made to encourage or increase morale US, 1925 pep up verb to invigorate someone; to strengthen or enhance something UK, 1925 per noun percentage US, 1974

perambulator noun a brakevan (caboose) US, 1977 percentage noun a profit; an advantage. Originally military UK, 1948 percentage dice noun dice that have been altered to favour a certain roll US, 1975 percentage joint noun a carnival concession that relies on volume for profit US, 1985 percentage player noun a gambler who appreciates odds and percentages, absorbing losses in the belief that the odds will ultimately favour him US, 1961

percenter noun an ex-girlfriend BAHAMAS, 1982 perch noun ► drop off the perch; fall off the perch to die UK, 1937 percher noun among the police, an easy arrest or an easy victim; in cricket, a very easy catch UK, 1977

percia noun cocaine UK, 2003 percolate verb to meander; to be doing fine US, 1945

percolator noun a carburettor US, 1971 percussion adjustment noun a blow to mechanical equipment with a large hammer. A jocular term for a popular technique, in Royal Air Force use UK, 2002

Percy noun 1 the penis. Used as the title of a 1971 British film comedy about a penis-transplant UK, 1977. 2 an effeminate male US, 1955. 3 a rock band's road manager UK, 1985. 4 cocaine UK, 1999

percy adverb per se (intrinsically) UK, 1994

Percy Thrower noun a telephone. Rhyming slang for BLOWER, formed on the name of television's first 'gardening superstar', 1913–88 UK, 1992 perdue noun in poker, an unplayable hand abandoned by a player. From the French for 'lost' US, 1988

perf noun a performance UK, 2004

perf verb to retire someone on medical grounds. From the acronym of the Police Employment Rehabilitation Fund NEW ZEALAND, 1991

perf adjective perfect AUSTRALIA, 1979 perfect high noun heroin UK, 1998 perfection noun perfect surfing conditions AUSTRALIA, 1992 perfecto adjective first-class, perfect, wonderful. A simple embellishment in the Spanish style US, 1988 perfects noun dice that are true to an extremely minute tolerance, approximately 1/1000th of an inch US, 1950 perform verb to behave histrionically AUSTRALIA, 1891 performer noun a person who behaves histrionically AUSTRALIA, 1960

perf surf noun excellent surfing conditions AUSTRALIA, 1987

perico noun cocaine. Spanish slang, adopted by some English speakers; in Spanish Perico is a pet name for Pedro, and the name PEDRO also serves in English slang as another alias for cocaine US, 1994 perish noun ► do a perish to suffer great deprivation, especially of water or sustenance AUSTRALIA, 1897 perisher noun a person. Usually contemptuous or pitying. The Perishers cartoon strip by Maurice Dodd and Dennis Collins/Bill Melvin has appeared in Mirror Group newspapers since 1957 UK, 1896 perishing adjective very cold. Shortened from 'perishing cold' UK, 2003 perishing infix used as an intensifier UK, 1999 perjohnny noun a poor white person BARBADOS, 1965 perk noun 1 an advantage, in addition to salary, that is offered by a particular employment. An abbreviation of 'perquisite' UK, 1869. 2 a tablet of Percodan™, a painkiller. Also variant 'perc' US, 1971

perk verb to vomit AUSTRALIA, 1941 perk up verb to recover good spirits or vigour UK, 1656

perky adjective said of a woman with large buttocks but otherwise a slender body US, 2004

perlix verb to flaunt your technical skills BARBADOS, 1965 perm noun in hairdressing, a permanent wave UK, 1927 perm verb to give hair a permanent wave hair treatment UK, 1928 perma- prefix permanent; permanently. Acts as adjective or adverb as required UK, 2004 permafried adjective drug-intoxicated UK, 2003 perma-tan noun a permanent suntan UK, 2003 perp noun 1 a criminal suspect. From 'perpetrator' US, 1987. 2 wax and baking soda made to look like crack cocaine US, 1994 perpetrate verb to start a fight US, 2001

perp walk noun a purposeful display of a charged criminal, especially when being transported from jail to court US, 1994

Perry noun a member of a 1970s youth movement identified by a uniform of casual wear. From the branded Fred Perry casual shirts they wore UK, 1996

Perry Como noun a homosexual. Rhyming slang for HOMO formed, for no apparent reason other than rhyme, on the popular singer, 1912–2001 UK, 1992 pers adjective personal UK, 1997

Persian noun heroin purportedly grown in or near Iran US, 1981

Persian brown noun heroin US, 1993

Persian mafia noun a group of influential Iranians US, 1997

Persian rugs noun drugs. Rhyming slang UK, 2003 persnickety adjective fussy, snobbish. An alteration of 'pernickety' US, 1905 personality girl noun a popular woman who works in a bar, encouraging customers through flirtation to buy drinks, both for themselves and for her US, 1950

persuader noun 1 any weapon, the more deadly the more persuasive UK, 1796. 2 a whip, as used by a bullock driver or a jockey AUSTRALIA, 1890. 3 a linear amplifier for a citizens' band radio US, 1977 persuasion noun nationality; sex; kind. From the conventional sense (religious belief or opinion) UK, 1864

Peruvian noun cocaine, probably from Peru UK, 1998

Peruvian flake noun a powerful type of cocaine. From its country of origin US, 1984

Peruvian lady noun cocaine US, 1994

Peruvian marching powder noun cocaine. A variation of BOLIVIAN/COLOMBIAN MARCHING POWDER US, 1995

Peruvian pink noun a type of cocaine originating in Peru UK, 2002

perv; perve noun 1 a sexual pervert. Sometimes 'perv' carries the same force as its origin 'pervert', thus 'someone with a kinky sexual bent', 'a person obsessed with sex', 'a lecher' or 'a homosexual' (by those who regard this as unnatural). Can also be used in a weaker sense to refer to anyone whose sexual behaviour is unwanted AUSTRALIA, 1942. 2 in prison, a sex offender; a convicted paedophile. An abbreviation of 'pervert' AUSTRALIA, 1949. 3 a person watching or staring sexually, a voyeur AUSTRALIA, 1944. 4 a voyeuristic look AUSTRALIA, 1963. 5 a look AUSTRALIA, 1993

perv; perve verb 1 to lust after another person; to behave as a voyeur AUSTRALIA, 1941. 2 to look at or watch sexually AUSTRALIA, 1944. 3 to look at; to observe AUSTRALIA, 1984

pervert squad noun a police sex crime investigative squad US, 1996

pervy noun sexual ogling; voyeurism AUSTRALIA, 1967

pervy adjective sexually perverted; pornographic UK, 1944 pesky adjective annoying, disagreeable US, 1775 peissimal adjective as bad as bad can be. Computer slang US, 1983 pest control noun a psychiatrist; psychiatrists. Medical slang UK, 2002 pet verb ► pet the cat to stroke the air or water while getting through a difficult moment surfing US, 1991

petal noun used as an informal or affectionate term of address UK, 1980

Pete noun 1 a truck manufactured by Peterbilt US, 1971. 2 nitroglycerin US, 1949. ► for Pete's sake used as a mild, non-profane oath used in times of exasperation or annoyance US, 1924

pete man noun a criminal specialising in breaking into safes US, 1931

Pete Murray noun a curry. Rhyming slang, formed on the name of a radio DJ (b.1928) UK, 1998 peter noun 1 the penis UK, 1902. 2 a cell in a prison or a police station. The likely derivation is in the the proper name Peter, which comes from Greek petros perhaps influenced by petra – with the implication 'firm as a rock' AUSTRALIA, 1890. 3 a safe US, 1859

Peter and his fuzzy pals noun the male genitals. An elaboration of PETER (the penis) US, 2001

peter-crazy adjective obsessed with having sex with men US, 1972

peter drops; peter; petes noun specifically, knock-out drops; generally, any central nervous system depressant US, 1933

peter-eater noun a person who enjoys performing oral sex on men US, 1978 peter-gazer noun a prisoner who cannot hide his interest in other men's penises while in the showers US, 2001

peter heater noun 1 an act of urination while wearing a wetsuit US, 1991. 2 in Canadian military aviation, the pitot heater. The 'pitot tube' is a small tube pointed forward into the airstream, to compare inside and outside pressure and measure airspeed. In cold weather, it can freeze up and must be heated electrically CANADA, 1995

peterman noun a safe-breaker UK, 1900

Peter O'Toole noun a stool, especially a bar stool. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the celebrated Irish actor (b.1932) UK, 1998

peter out verb to gradually cease; to come to an end US, 1854 peter pan noun 1 a van. Rhyming slang, formed from J.M. Barrie's immortal hero Peter Pan UK, 1992. 2 a pan used by prostitutes while washing a customer's penis. A crude if smart allusion to J.M. Barrie US, 1974

peter parade noun a mass inspection of soldiers for signs of sexually transmitted infections US, 1947

peter pilot noun a co-pilot, especially one in training US, 1987 peter pocket noun the vagina. Seen as a container for a PETER (PENIS) US, 2001

peter-puffer noun a person who performs oral sex on a man US, 1987

Peters and Lee; peters noun an act of urination. Rhyming slang for PEE or WEE, formed from a 1970s recording act UK, 1998 peter thief noun a prisoner who steals from others' cells. From PETER (a cell) AUSTRALIA, 1950

peter thin noun a prisoner who steals from others' cells. From PETER (a cell) UK, 1996

peter tracks noun stains from seminal fluid US, 1993

Pete Tong noun a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy, identified by PT embossed on the tablet. Disguising PT with the name of a UK DJ associated with the RAVE scene UK, 2002

Pete Tong adjective wrong. Rhyming slang, based on the name of popular club and BBC Radio 1 DJ, Pete Tong (b.1960) UK, 1996 peith noun Pethidine™ a branded central nervous system depressant UK, 1998 petro adjective anxious, nervous, afraid US, 2003 petrol bowzers; petrols noun trousers. Rhyming slang. Petrol bowser is a proprietary name for a pump AUSTRALIA, 1971 petrol head noun 1 a motor vehicle enthusiast AUSTRALIA, 1985. 2 a fast and reckless driver NEW ZEALAND, 1998 petrol tank noun an act of masturbation. Rhyming slang for WANK UK, 1998

Petticoat Lane noun a physical pain; a pain (a nuisance). Rhyming slang, formed on London's famous Sunday market UK, 1992

Petula noun central London. Almost certainly a reference to singer Petula Clark (b.1932) who enjoyed lasting success with the songs 'Downtown' and 'Don't Sleep in the Subway' UK, 2003

Peyton Place noun the face. Rhyming slang, formed from the title of 1956 novel by Grace Metalious, probably remembered here for the television drama series, 1964–69 UK, 1998 pezzzy; pez adjective inferior, of poor quality. Derives from 'peasant' UK, 2003

PFC noun a private fucking citizen. What a private first class became upon his discharge from duty in Vietnam US, 1985

Pfizer riser noun sildenafil citrate marketed as Viagra™, an anti-impotence drug. Viagra™ is manufactured by Pfizer, and 'riser' is a convenient rhyme that suggests the drug's power to stimulate an erection US, 1998

PFO adjective a hospital patient who was injured while drunk. From 'pissed, fell over' AUSTRALIA, 1987

PFQ adjective pretty fucking quick. A variation of PDQ (pretty damn quick) UK, 1998

pfund noun ► see: FUNT p-funk noun 1 heroin. After the drug-driven music of George Clinton's Parliament-Funkadelic UK, 1998. 2 crack cocaine and phencyclidine mixed for smoking US, 1994

PG noun 1 paregoric elixir, a flavoured tincture of opium designed to assuage pain US, 1953. 2 a paying guest. An initialism UK, 1963

PG adjective excellent. An abbreviation of 'past gone' US, 2004

PG&E noun electric shock treatment. From the electric utility Pacific Gas and Electric Company US, 1962

PG bag noun a small bag for carrying your personal effects, your personal gear US, 2000

PGT adjective doctors' shorthand for the facetious diagnosis (applied to a casualty patient): pissed (drunk), got thumped. Recorded in an article about medical slang in British (3 London and 1 Cambridge) hospitals UK, 2003

PG Tips noun the lips. Rhyming slang, formed from a well-known brand of tea; a product which is famously, perhaps not coincidentally, advertised by chimpanzees UK, 1992 phantasmagoria noun an astonishing visual display. The term was coined for an 1802 exhibition of optical illusions in London. It was used throughout the C19, forgotten, and then briefly revived in the hippie era of the 1960s and 70s UK, 1802 phantom gobbler noun an anonymous giver of oral sex UK, 2002 phantom off verb in surfing, to end a ride voluntarily AUSTRALIA, 1977 phantom punch nickname the punch thrown by Muhammed Ali (then Cassius Clay) that was not seen but which knocked out his opponent Sonny Liston on 25th May 1965 US, 1998

Phar Lap odds noun in horse racing, very high odds. Phar Lap (1926–32), one of the greatest racehorses of all time, often ran with very high odds AUSTRALIA, 1989

pharmies noun prescription medication US, 2003 pharming noun the mixing and then consumption of the mixed prescription drugs US, 2001 phase 4 noun a pill of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy, mixed with sufficient amphetamine for a 4-hour effect. Similarly, a 'phase 8' has an 8-hour effect UK, 2002 phat adjective excellent, admirable. A deliberate misspelling of FAT (good); originally black usage, now widespread via hip-hop culture US, 1999 phat 2 death adjective extremely good US, 1999 phat-phat; put-put noun a motorcycle; a three-wheeled motor-scooter taxi. Echoic INDIA, 2003

phatty! great! US, 1997

P-head noun a frequent user of phenobarbital, a central nervous system depressant US, 1982

pheasant noun in a gambling cheating scheme, a victim US, 1974 pheasant plucker noun a 'pleasant fucker'. A popular Spoonerism that is also part of the well-known tongue-twisters: 'I'm not a pheasant plucker / I'm a pheasant plucker's son / And I'm only plucking pheasants / 'Til the pheasant plucker comes' and 'I'm not the pheasant plucker / I'm the pheasant plucker's daughter / And I'm not plucking pheasants / When some pheasant plucker oughta'. Often used ironically with the sense 'unpleasant fucker' UK, 1973 phenie noun a capsule of phenobarbital, a central nervous system depressant US, 1971 phennie noun a capsule of phenobarbital, a central nervous system depressant US, 1974 pheno noun a capsule of phenobarbital, a central nervous system depressant UK, 1966 phenomenon noun a prodigy; a remarkable person, animal or thing UK, 1803 phet freak noun an amphetamine addict US, 1975

phew! used for expressing relief or suffering, as in the legendary, clichéd tabloid weather headline 'Phew! What a scorcher!' UK, 1604

Philadelphia bankroll noun a single large-denomination note wrapped around small-denomination notes, giving the impression of a great deal of money US, 1968

Philadelphia lawyer noun a shrewd and skilled lawyer who is not guided by scruples or ethics. One of many unwarranted slurs on a fine city US, 1788

Philadelphia mafia noun recording artists, record producers and radio personalities based in Philadelphia in the late 1950s US, 1982

Philadelphia roll noun a Philadelphia bankroll US, 1972 phile noun a computer file intended to assist computer hacking US, 1996 philharmonic noun tonic water. Rhyming slang UK, 1992

Philistine noun a usurer US, 1974

Phillies Blunt; Phillies; Philly; Phillie noun a cigar re-made to contain marijuana. Generic usage but originally made with a brand name Phillies Blunt™ cigar US, 1992

Philly noun Philadelphia, Pennsylvania US, 1891 philosopher noun a card cheat US, 1967

Phil the fluter; phil noun a gun. Rhyming slang for SHOOTER, from the eponymous hero of an Irish comic ballad, 'Phil the Fluter's Ball', 1915 UK, 1992

Phil the Greek nickname His Royal Highness Prince Philip (b.1921), Duke of Edinburgh, Earl of Merioneth and Baron Greenwich, born Prince of Greece and Denmark. Probably coined by satirical magazine Private Eye; it overlooks the fact that Prince Philip is actually Danish UK, 1994 phish noun an instance of stealing credit card data on the Internet US, 2004 phish verb to steal credit card data on the Internet US, 2003 phishing noun the act of stealing credit card data on the Internet US, 1997 phiz noun 1 physics, especially as a subject of study HONG KONG, 1984. 2 the face; the expression on the face. An abbreviation of 'physiognomy'. Also variants 'phizz' and 'phyz' UK, 1688 phizzig noun a police informer. Variant of FIZGIG AUSTRALIA, 1956 phizog; physog; fizzog noun the face; the expression on the face. An abbreviation of 'physiognomy' UK, 1811

Phoebe noun in dice games, a roll of five US, 1945 phoenix noun LSD UK, 2003

phone noun in prison, the toilet bowl in a cell. When the bowl empties of water, it is possible to talk to prisoners in other nearby cells using the pipes to carry the soundwaves AUSTRALIA, 1978

phone verb ► phone it in of an entertainer, to go through the motions; to produce a half-hearted performance UK, 2003

phone box noun a temporary latrine US, 2002

phone call noun in prison, a remark that someone wants to talk to you US, 1990 phonecard deal noun in prison, a trade that values a marijuana cigarette at one phonecard UK, 1996 phone phreak; phone freak; phreaker noun a person who electronically and fraudulently manipulates international telephone calls. UK use. The original phone phreaks thought of themselves as telecommunications hobbyists (John Markoff, Wired Style, 1996) US, 1972 phone phreak; phreak verb to hack into a telecommunications system. A play on 'freak' US, 1998

phone spot noun a telephone location used in a bookmaking operation US, 1973

phone wench noun a female customer service representative US, 1996 phoney; phony adjective fraudulent; fake; without substance US, 1894 phoney; phony noun a person who lacks sincerity and substance US, 1900

phoney-baloney adjective utterly false US, 1989 phonus balonus noun nonsense. An elaboration of PHONEY-BALONEY US, 1932 phony noun a deck of playing cards that is either stacked or marked for cheating US, 1979

phooey used for registering disbelief or disgust US, 1929 photies noun photographs UK, 2002

photo finish; photo; photer noun Guinness™, the branded Irish stout. Rhyming slang UK, 1960

photog; fotog noun a photographer US, 1913 photogenic verb to remember something or someone in photographic detail UK, 1996 phucked adjective drug-intoxicated. Deliberate misspelling of FUCKED (intoxicated) inspired by widespread use of PHAT (excellent) UK, 1999 phull on adjective enthusiastic. Deliberate misspelling of FULL ON (absolute) probably inspired by the widespread use of PHAT (excellent) UK, 1999 phunky; phungky adjective funky in all its senses, but especially fashionable or as a descriptor of music. Deliberate misspellings inspired by the widespread use of PHAT (excellent) UK, 1994 phus-phus noun whispering, murmuring TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1984 phwoar noun a sexually attractive person. From the lecherous exclamation 'phwoar!' UK, 2002 phwoar!; phoor!; fwoarrgh! used for registering an enthusiastic, possibly lecherous, reaction to a sexy someone or something UK, 1980 phy noun methadone. An shortening of Physeptone™, a branded methadone hydrochloride UK, 1971 physical adjective ► get physical to become violent US, 1996 physical jerks noun physical exercises. Originally jocular, now commonplace UK, 1919 physio noun 1 a physiotherapist AUSTRALIA, 1960. 2 physiotherapy AUSTRALIA, 1988

physsie noun a physical fitness enthusiast BARBADOS, 1965

PI noun a pimp US, 1955

pi adjective pious UK, 1891 piano noun ► on the piano lost US, 1968. ► play the piano to search for particles of crack cocaine with your fingers in an obsessive and compulsive manner US, 1992

PIB noun someone who dresses completely in black. A 'person in black' US, 1990 pic noun 1 a picture UK, 1884. 2 a phonograph record US, 1960

Picasso noun a card cheat who marks cards for identification in another player's hand US, 1993

Picasso arse noun a woman whose knickers are too tight. The works of celebrated artist Pablo Picasso (1881–1973) inspire this abstract image of a multi-buttocked female UK, 2002

Piccadilly; picca adjective silly. Rhyming slang, based on the famous central London location UK, 1992

Piccadilly Percy noun mercy. Rhyming slang UK, 1979 piccalilli noun the penis. Rhyming slang for WILLY, formed on a popular pickle UK, 1998 piccaninny noun 1 an Australian Aboriginal child. Considered offensive AUSTRALIA, 1817. 2 a small black child; children; occasionally any black person. From Spanish pequeño (small) or Portuguese pequeno (small). Originally applied in the West Indies and US without being considered racist; now highly offensive and derogatory or, in a black-on-black context, judgemental and negative. Also variants 'piccanin', 'picaninny', 'pickaninny' and 'pickney' UK, 1785 piccaninny daylight; piccaninny dawn noun the beginning of dawn; first light AUSTRALIA, 1866 piccie; piccy noun a picture AUSTRALIA, 1967

piccolo noun 1 the penis, especially as the object of oral sex US, 1967. 2 a record player US, 1953 piccolo and flute; piccolo noun a suit (of clothes). Rhyming slang; a variation of WHISTLE AND FLUTE UK, 1960

Piccy noun Piccadilly, London UK, 1962

piche noun the vagina US, 1998 pick noun 1 a pickpocket US, 1949. 2 an oversized comb, used for bushy hair US, 2000. 3 a needle and syringe NEW ZEALAND, 1995. ► on the pick drinking (alcohol). Based on PICK AND CHOOSE, this is the rhyming slang equivalent of ON THE BOOZE UK, 1992

pick verb 1 to challenge someone to a fight AUSTRALIA, 1953. 2 to tease or kid someone US, 2003. ► pick fruit to find and select a homosexual partner US, 1950. ► pick lint to focus on petty imperfections in a play or performance US, 1973. ► pick the cherry to drive through a red traffic light US, 1997. ► pick up your marbles and go home to quit an effort, especially to do so with a lack of good sportsmanship US, 1991. ► pick your arse to waste your time UK, 1995. ► pick your brains to seek and obtain information from someone with specialist knowledge UK, 1838

pick and choose; pick noun alcohol, drink. Rhyming slang for BOOZE UK, 1960 pick and pay noun in a casino, a method of paying off bets in blackjack, in which the dealer evaluates each player's hand and pays or collects that player's bet, and then moves to the next player US, 1980 pick-ed wiss noun urination after a period of discomfort. An intentional spoonerism of 'a wicked piss' US, 1968 pick 'em noun in sports betting, a game in which neither team is favoured and the bettor must pick the winner US, 1991 pickem up truck noun a pickup truck. Jocular US, 1976 picker noun 1 a finger US, 1945. 2 a pickpocket US, 1950

Pickettywitch noun a ditch. Rhyming slang, jocularly contrived from the name of a UK pop group of the late 1960s and early 70s UK, 2004 pickle noun 1 a predicament; a sorry plight; an unpleasant difficulty UK, 1562. 2 a torpedo US, 1948. 3 a handgun US, 1950. 4 in horse racing, a regular but uninformed bettor AUSTRALIA, 1989. 5 in lobstering, the brine that accumulates in a bait box produced by decomposing bait fish and the salt used to preserve the bait fish US, 1978. ► off your pickle drunk UK, 2002 pickle verb to embalm a corpse US, 1949 pickled adjective drunk UK, 1633 pickled onion noun a bunion. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 pickled pork noun chalk. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 pickled punks noun in a carnival, a side-show display of jars, each with a foetus preserved in formaldehyde US, 1960 pickle fork noun in electric line work, an insulated line tool formally known as a prong tie stick US, 1980 pickle me tit! used for expressing surprise NEW ZEALAND, 1964 pickle party noun male masturbation US, 2001 pickle, pull and climb verb to drop a load of bombs and then climb to evade groundfire US, 1991 picklepuss noun an overtly and infectiously unhappy person. In the same vein as SOURPUSS, with 'pickle' conveying the sour quality US, 1963 pickle-stabbers noun shoes or boots with sharply pointed toes CANADA, 2001 pickle tickle noun an act of sexual intercourse US, 2001 pick-me-up noun 1 an alcoholic drink US, 1982. 2 a dose of a central nervous system stimulant US, 1984 pick mooch noun in sports betting, a bettor who will not pay for handicapping information, but instead bets as those who have paid for the information bet US, 1997 pick off verb in poker, to catch a player bluffing US, 1979 pick on verb to tease or victimise someone UK, 1937 pick the bones out of that! 1 used as a challenge to unravel, or retort to, or refute, an argument UK, 1961. 2 a catchphrase that accompanies expectoration UK, 1984 pickup noun 1 a short-term sexual partner US, 1871. 2 a police order to detain and bring a person to the station for questioning US, 1977. 3 in the entertainment industry, a commitment to finance production of a set number of episodes of a television programme US, 1993

pick up verb 1 to meet someone and form a casual liaison in which at least one of the pair has sexual ambitions involving the other UK, 1698. 2 to pay a bill, especially when the accounting is for more than one person; to meet the expense of financing or sponsoring something US, 1945. 3 to smoke marijuana US, 1952. ► pick up on to comprehend something US, 1959

pickup girl noun a street prostitute AUSTRALIA, 1956 pickup man noun in an illegal lottery, a person who takes bets from players to a central location and pays off winning bets US, 1963 picky adjective used of hair, tightly curled and short BAHAMAS, 1982 picky-head noun a black person with short hair BARBADOS, 1965 picky-puck noun a one-cylinder, two-stroke engine; a boat powered by such an engine CANADA, 1986 picnic noun 1 oral sex, especially on a man US, 1964. 2 extended foreplay and/or sexual intercourse US, 1993. 3 sex involving many people and many acts; an orgy US, 1964. 4 a difficult situation NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 5 something difficult, unpleasant, messy, confusing, etc. An ironic use AUSTRALIA, 1896. ► no picnic a difficult situation or circumstance UK, 1888 picnic verb (used of fishing boats) to congregate in one area where fish are plentiful BARBADOS, 1965 pic pac noun in the film industry, a contract to make a set number of films. An abbreviation of 'picture package' US, 1990 picture noun a beautiful person or thing. Often in the phrase 'pretty as a picture' UK, 1815. ► get the picture to understand a situation UK, 1938. ► in the picture aware of what is going on UK, 1900 picture card; picture noun in a deck of playing cards, any jack, queen or king US, 1967 picture gallery noun in circus and carnival usage, a heavily tattooed person US, 1960 picture of the queen noun a sterling currency note. Basically a copy of US 'picture of Abe' (a $5 note), except that the queen's face appears on all denominations issued in England and Wales UK, 2002 pictures noun money US, 1972. ► take pictures to use radar to measure a vehicle's speed US, 1976 picture-taker noun a police officer using radar US, 1976 picturize verb 1 to explain something; to put someone in the picture. Royal Navy slang UK, 1987. 2 to film something INDIA, 1979 piddle noun urine; an act of urination UK, 1901 piddle verb 1 to urinate UK, 1796. 2 to rain UK, 1887. 3 to steal something US, 1952. 4 in bar dice games, to roll the dice to determine who will go first in the game US, 1971. 5 in tiddlywinks, to make a minute change in a pile US, 1977. 6 to build something with matchsticks US, 1989 piddle about verb to busy yourself doing nothing NEW ZEALAND, 1984

piddle around verb to loaf or fool around UK, 1545 piddler noun in prison, a prisoner assigned to work in a craft shop US, 1990

piddling adjective small; trivial, insignificant UK: SCOTLAND, 1559 pie noun 1 the vulva US, 1981. 2 a woman as a sexual object US, 1975. 3 a person who is overweight. Probably from the chant 'who ate all the pies?' UK, 2003. 4 a pizza. An abbreviation of the rarely used, full 'pizza pie' US, 1997 pie and chips used by women as a generic instance of the difference between the sexes, especially with an ironic regard to equal opportunities UK, 1996 pie and liquor; pie and lick noun a vicar. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 pie and mash noun 1 an act of urination. Rhyming slang for SLASH UK, 1974. 2 radio interference. Rhyming slang for citizens' band radio jargon 'hash' (channel interference) UK, 1981. 3 cash. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 pie and mash adjective showy. Rhyming slang for FLASH UK, 2002 pie and one noun a son; the sun. Rhyming slang UK, 1961 pie book noun a railwayman's meal ticket US, 1977 pie car noun in the circus, a dining car on the circus train US, 1980 pie card noun a meal ticket; a means of surviving; a union card US, 1909 pie cart noun a catering truck NEW ZEALAND, 1959 piece noun 1 a woman as a sexual object; sex US, 1942. 2 an ounce of drugs US, 1936. 3 cocaine UK, 2003. 4 crack cocaine UK, 2003. 5 a handgun. Conventional English from C16 until the late C19, then dormant, then slang, chiefly used in the US US, 1930. 6 a snack US, 1970. 7 a slice of bread, especially bread and spread; a sandwich. Originally just 'a slice of bread'. Also seen in English dialect use from Northumbria to Cornwall UK: SCOTLAND, 1787. 8 (especially with children) a sandwich. Used in the south and west of mainland Australia AUSTRALIA, 2003. 9 a well executed work of graffiti art. An abbreviation of 'masterpiece' US, 2001. 10 a domicile, be it a room, apartment or house US, 2001 piece book noun a graffiti artist's notebook containing ideas, outlines, sketches and plans for future graffiti pieces US, 1990 piece man noun an armed bodyguard; a hired killer US, 1974 piece of ass noun a woman as a sexual object; sexual intercourse US, 1930 piece of brass noun a prostitute. Elaboration of BRASS NAIL; BRASS (a prostitute), playing on 'piece of arse' (an attractive woman) UK, 2001 piece of cake noun anything that is considered to be easily achieved or acquired. Originally Royal Air Force usage US, 1936 piece of change noun a sum of money US, 1946 piece of cunt noun sex with a woman; a woman as a sexual object US, 1947 piece of duff noun a young male homosexual prostitute, a rent boy. On the model of PIECE OF ASS (a woman as a sex object); from DUFF (the buttocks), probably informed by DUFF (inferior), and possibly by a rhyme of PUFF (a homosexual male) UK, 1996 piece off verb to divide an ounce of drugs. From PIECE (an ounce) US, 1984 piece of leg noun sex US, 1977 piece of meat noun a woman as a sexual object; sex US, 1965 piece of piss noun anything that can be achieved easily. This alliterative variation on PIECE OF CAKE was originally Royal Air Force slang UK, 1949 piece of pistachio noun anything that can be achieved easily. Euphemistic elaboration of PIECE OF PISS UK, 2002 piece of shit noun something disgusting or of very poor quality; a person who is greatly disliked US, 1986 piece of skin; piece of flesh noun an attractive woman UK, 1956 piece of steel noun in prison, a homemade knife UK, 1996 piece of trade noun a male who self-identifies as a heterosexual but will let homosexual men perform oral sex on him US, 1965 piece of wet shit noun something disgusting or of very poor quality; a person who is greatly disliked. A slight intensification of PIECE OF SHIT US, 1979 piece of work noun 1 a contemptible person UK, 1928. 2 a killing US, 2001 piece-o-idiot noun a complete fool BARBADOS, 1998 pieces of eight; pieces noun weight. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 piecey noun a slice of bread with a topping. Used especially in Victoria AUSTRALIA, 2003 pie-chopper noun the mouth US, 1953

piecrust noun a thin layer of hard snow over soft snow ANTARCTICA, 1911 piedras noun crack cocaine. From the Spanish for 'hailstones', thus the image of small white rocks UK, 1998 pie-eater noun a person of no consequence. Calling to mind an image of someone whose principal fare is the meat pie, in other words, a person with a mundane and narrow view of the world judging by their culinary habits. It is claimed that the word was coined during World War 2, and referred then specifically to conscripted criminals who deserted and thence scrounged free pies from the army buffet in Hyde Park, Sydney. There may be some truth in this, but there is an example of 'pie-biter' dating to 1911, and so perhaps 'pie-eater' may also predate the war AUSTRALIA, 1944 pie-eating adjective inconsequential AUSTRALIA, 1944 pie-eyed adjective extremely drunk US, 1904 pie factory noun a mental institution US, 1967 pie hole noun the mouth US, 1994 pie horse noun a racehorse that has performed very poorly. So named because of the horse's figurative future as the makings of a meat pie AUSTRALIA, 1989 pie in the sky noun unattainable dreams. Often, 'there'll be pie in the sky when you die' denoting an illusory happy ever after; taken from a parody of the hymn 'In the Sweet Bye and Bye': 'You will eat, bye and bye, / In that glorious land in the sky; / Work and pray, live on hay, / You'll get pie in the sky when you die' by radical labour activist Joe Hill (aka Joel Haggstrom and Joseph Hillstrom), 'The Preacher and the Slave', ?1911. Joe Hill was executed in Utah in 1915 US, 2000 pierced up adjective used of someone who is ornamented with body piercings UK, 1996 piercing noun graffiti US, 1997 piercing adjective overbearing US, 1960 pier rat noun a surfer with no regard for surf etiquette US, 1977 pier six brawl noun an all-out brawl US, 1929 pies noun the eyes US, 1945 pie taster noun a person who enjoys performing oral sex on women US, 1981 pie wagon noun a police transport truck or van US, 1904 piiff verb to throw something. Chiefly used in Victoria; onomatopoeic of something whizzing through the air AUSTRALIA, 1999 piuffle noun nonsense. From the verb (to talk or act in a feeble manner) UK, 1890 pig noun 1 a police officer; in the plural it may mean a number of police personnel or the police in general UK, 1811. 2 a male chauvinist US, 1992. 3 a person who has a large or indiscriminate appetite. A shortened form of 'greedy pig' UK, 1546. 4 a chorus dancer US, 1948. 5 a promiscuous woman US, 1955. 6 an unattractive female UK: SCOTLAND, 1988. 7 a prostitute CANADA, 1960. 8 an inferior or bad example of anything. From an earlier sense as 'an unpleasant person' UK, 1925. 9 a 'Humber' one-ton 4x4 armoured personnel carrier. Nicknamed by troops serving in Northern Ireland during the 1970s; taken out of service in the early 1990s UK, 1974. 10 an M-60 machine gun. Each squad in Vietnam was assigned an M-60, the army's general-purpose machine gun which entered the service in the 1950s. It was designed to be lightweight (23 pounds) and easy to carry. It produced a low 'grunting' sound and thus the porcine allusions US, 1974. 11 in circus usage, an elephant, male or female UK, 1934. 12 in a split-pot game of poker, a player who declares both high and low US, 1988. ▶ see: PIG IN THE MIDDLE. ▶ in pig pregnant UK, 1945. ▶ kill your pig to spoil your chances of doing something UK: NORTHERN IRELAND, 1996

pig board noun a surfboard with a narrow, tapered point and a broad tail US, 1963 pig book noun a student directory with photographs of each student US, 1969 pig-dog noun a bull terrier AUSTRALIA, 1982

pig down verb to alter a car's body or frame US, 1947 pigeon noun 1 a gullible victim of a swindle UK, 1593. 2 a young woman, especially an attractive one UK, 1586. 3 a new participant in a twelve-step recovery programme such as Alcoholics Anonymous US, 1998. 4 an informer. A shortened form of STOOL PIGEON US, 1849. 5 in horse racing, a losing ticket that someone tries to cash in for winnings US, 1947. 6 in shuffleboard, a disc straddling the 7/10 off line US, 1967. 7 a urinary bottle used in hospital IRELAND, 1999 pigeon verb to betray someone; to inform on someone US, 1959 pigeon drop noun a swindle in which two confederates pretend to find a wallet and convince a third person to share in the proceeds of the find US, 1940

pigfoot noun marijuana US, 1960

pigfucker noun a despicable person US, 1994

piggie bank noun the stockings worn by an overweight woman US, 1981

piggies noun ▶ make piggies to have sex US, 1969 pigging adjective used as an all-purpose intensifier, generally to negative effect; euphemistic for 'fucking', 'sodding', etc UK, 1974 piggle noun the penis. Children's vocabulary TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1980 piggy noun the toe. Childish, from the nursery rhyme 'This little piggy went to market, / This little piggy stayed at home' UK, 1984 piggyback verb 1 in casino blackjack, to place a bet in another player's square US, 1996. 2 to transport loaded tractor trailers on railway flat wagons US, 1971

piggyback adjective used of a vehicle, stacked on top of another vehicle for transport US, 1936

piggybacking noun the reclamation of an abandoned building, floor by floor US, 1989 piggy bank noun 1 savings. After the traditional money box UK, 1984. 2 a toll booth on a turnpike road US, 1976. 3 an act of masturbation. Rhyming slang for WANK. Also shortened form 'piggy' UK, 1992 piggy in the middle; pig in the middle noun a person caught in the middle of a dispute. From the traditional children's game UK, 1962 piggy parts noun ham US, 1996 pig-ignorant adjective very ignorant UK, 1972 pig in knickers noun a very unattractive female. An elaboration of PIG UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 pig in shit noun ▶ happy as a pig in shit; like a pig in shit very happy UK, 1944 pig in the middle; pig noun urine; an act of urination. Rhyming slang for PIDDLE or WIDDLE UK, 1992 pig in the wall noun an error in bricklaying in which opposite ends of a new wall meet at different heights UK, 1978 pig iron noun 1 in horse racing, any illegal drug given to a racehorse AUSTRALIA, 1989. 2 a carnival ride; the metal assembly of a carnival ride US, 1960

Pig Iron Express noun the steel-hauling division of Pacific Intermountain Express company US, 1971 pig iron monkey noun in oil drilling, a derrick construction worker US, 1954 pig killer noun phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or 'angel dust' US, 1981 pig-out noun a session of gorging on food US, 1978 pig out verb to eat a lot quickly and messily US, 1978 pig party noun serial consensual sex between one person and multiple partners UK, 1988 pigpen noun 1 a police headquarters US, 1993. 2 an illegal gambling operation US, 1982. 3 in nine wicket croquet, the crossed centre wickets US, 1977 pig pile noun an orgy with homosexual men US, 1972 pig-root verb (of a horse) to prop with the front legs and kick up the back legs AUSTRALIA, 1900 pigs noun ▶ pigs to to hell with AUSTRALIA, 1906 pigs! used for registering derision or contempt. An abbreviation of PIG'S ARSE! AUSTRALIA, 1933 pig's arse! nonsense! Although the earliest record of this exclamation is from 1951, the existence of euphemistic forms such as 'pig's ear' (dating to 1919) show that it was clearly in use much earlier AUSTRALIA, 1951 pigs' ballroom noun a bar or club where unattractive females congregate UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

pig's bum nonsense AUSTRALIA, 1998

pig scabs noun pork scratchings, a packaged snack sold in bars UK, 2003 pig's ear noun beer. Rhyming slang. Sometimes shortened to 'pigs' in UK usage AUSTRALIA, 1924. ▶ make a pig's ear; make a pig's to bungle; to blunder; to make a mess of something UK, 1954 pig shit run noun a supply transport flight in the early years of US involvement in the Vietnam war, including transport of live farm animals that left reminders of their presence in the planes US, 1990 pig-sick adjective irritated; annoyed and disgusted UK, 1961 pigskin noun a saddle AUSTRALIA, 1989

pig's Latin noun any coded language used by prison guards US, 1984 pig's lattie noun a sty. Polari; a play on LATTIE (a house) giving 'pig's house' UK, 2002 pig slices noun ham US, 1996 pig station noun in prison, a guard control room US, 1984 pig-sticker noun 1 a knife, especially a large knife UK, 1890. 2 a stick with a nail or sharp metal point on one end used for picking up paper litter US, 1996 pig's trotter noun a squatter (an unauthorised occupant). Rhyming slang UK, 1998 pigsty noun 1 a untidy or ill-kept place UK, 1820. 2 a police station US, 1976

pigtail noun 1 in trucking, an electrical cable that connects the electrical systems of the trailer and the tractor cab US, 1971. 2 in electric line work, an insulated line tool formally known as a spiral link stick US, 1980

pig water noun weak, low quality alcohol US, 1958 pike noun 1 a toll road, a toll motorway US, 1971. 2 a railway US, 1946. 3 a glance US, 1950 pike verb 1 in a card game, to peek at an opponent's cards US, 1962. 2 (of a man) to tape the penis and testicles to the body as part of an effort to pass as a woman US, 1987 pike out verb to back out of a commitment NEW ZEALAND, 1984 piker noun 1 a rank amateur or beginner; a gambler who makes small, cautious bets US, 1872. 2 a person who opts out of an agreement or abandons someone; a weak, cowardly person. A term of high contempt in Australia AUSTRALIA, 1950

pikey noun a tramp; a gypsy; a traveller. Generally used of travellers by non-travellers. Ultimately from early C16 'pike' (to depart). The actor Brad Pitt played a 'pikie' in the film Snatch, written and directed by Guy Ritchie, 2000 UK, 1847 pikkie noun 1 a photograph or film NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 2 a small person, a child, a small child; a small thing. Directly from Afrikaans pikkie. Between children, usage may be contemptuous. Also shortened form 'pik' SOUTH AFRICA, 1948

pilchard noun a fool UK, 2001 pile noun 1 a great deal of money UK, 1741. 2 in poker, the amount of money (cash and/or chips) a player has in front of him available for betting US, 1979. ► on the pile in prison US, 1970 pile verb (from the male point of view) to have sex US, 1968. ► pile it on to exaggerate; to show-off. A variation of PILE ON THE AGONY [see: AGONY] US, 1876 pile driver noun 1 a sexual position in which the woman stands on her head and the man enters her directly and powerfully from above. A term (and practice) found more commonly in pornography than real life US, 1995. 2 the active participant in anal sex US, 1979. 3 a hole in a road, jarring to the driver when encountered US, 1962 pile in verb to enter en masse, especially a vehicle or a bar US, 1841 pile of rocks noun a type of bet in an illegal numbers game lottery US, 1957 pile-on noun an offensive, despicable person; a clumsy person; a socially awkward person. An image, perhaps, of this person as victim INDIA, 2002 piles noun crack cocaine UK, 1998 pileup; pile-up noun a crash involving multiple vehicles. Originally World War 1 Royal Air Force for 'a plane crash', from an earlier verb sense used by the navy. Widely used by mid-C20, this sense was virtually conventional by the mid-1970s UK, 2000 pilgrim noun 1 in northwestern Canada, a tourist or newcomer; also, a cow newly imported to the region CANADA, 1962. 2 a newcomer to a game of poker US, 1988 pill noun 1 any central nervous system stimulant US, 1966. 2 a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. A generic usage UK, 1996. 3 a pellet of opium US, 1946. 4 a cigarette UK, 1914. 5 a rugby ball NEW ZEALAND, 2002. 6 in pool, a small tally ball used as a scoring device US, 1993. 7 an unpleasant person UK, 1871. ► the pill 1 the contraceptive pill. Not in practical currency until the early 1960s UK, 1957. 2 the weekly anti-malaria pill taken by US troops in Vietnam. Playing on the birth control pill, then very much in vogue back home US, 1991 pillar and post noun a ghost. Rhyming slang UK, 1960 pilled; pilled up adjective under the influence of central nervous system stimulants or depressants US, 1966 pillhead noun a habitual user of amphetamines, barbiturates, or MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy US, 1966 pillion pussy noun a woman attracted to motorcyclists. A 'pillion' (probably from the Scottish Gaelic or Irish Gaelic for 'rug') is a motorcycle saddle NEW ZEALAND, 1956 pillock noun a fool. From a variation of dialect pillicock or pillcock (the penis) UK, 1967 pillow noun 1 a weak, effeminate, gutless male AUSTRALIA, 1992. 2 a sealed polyethylene bag of drugs US, 1970. ► an extra pillow used as a coded references for a prostitute arranged by a hotel concierge UK, 2005 pillow-biter noun a homosexual male; specifically the passive partner in anal intercourse AUSTRALIA, 1981 pillow-biting adjective homosexual AUSTRALIA, 1985 pillowcase noun an empty-headed fool US, 1988 pillow pigeons noun bedbugs US, 1947 pillow talk noun intimate discussions in bed. Suggests secrets shared, not sexually oriented talk US, 1977 pill party noun execution in the gas chamber. Pills of cyanide dropped into a bucket of water produce the lethal gas, hence the blackly humorous term US, 1971 pill popper noun a habitual user of drugs in pill form US, 1979 pill-pusher noun 1 a doctor, especially a specialist in internal medicine UK, 1909. 2 a pharmacist US, 1980 pill-roller noun a doctor US, 1951 pills noun the testicles UK, 1937. ► on pills dieting. Teen slang US, 1958 pilly noun an abuser of drugs in pill form US, 1970 pilot noun 1 a person who remains drug-free to guide another through an experience on a hallucinogenic drug US, 1966. 2 a driver of any heavy-load vehicle; a bus driver UK, 1936. 3 in horse racing, a jockey US, 1983. 4 a pimp BARBADOS, 1965 pilot error noun in computing, a user's misconfiguration that produces errors that at first appear to be the fault of the program US, 1991

pim noun the clitoris TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 pimp noun 1 a man who, for a percentage of the income derived, arranges clients for a prostitute; a man who lives off the earnings of a prostitute UK, 1600. 2 a charming man who attracts women US, 1997. 3 in a deck of playing cards, a jack or knave US, 1988. 4 an informer to the police or other authorities AUSTRALIA, 1899. 5 cocaine US, 1994 pimp verb 1 to work as a pimp; to exert control over a prostitute US, 1972. 2 to take advantage of US, 1942. 3 to act in a stylised, fashionable way US, 1970. 4 to inform; to betray AUSTRALIA, 1938. 5 to win away the affection of another person's date US, 1966. ► pimp your pipe to loan or rent a pipe used for smoking crack cocaine US, 1994 pimp adjective excellent, fashionable, stylish US, 1970 pimp-ass adjective in the manner of a pimp US, 1995 pimp-crazy adjective psychologically controlled by a pimp US, 1972 pimp dust noun cocaine. Before the era of crack cocaine, cocaine was an expensive drug enjoyed only by the wealthy, notably by pimps US, 1980 pimped-up adjective flashy; of a car, laden with flashy accessories, usually not related to the car's performance US, 1993 pimping adjective expensive, fashionable US, 2003 pimple noun a steep hill. Hauliers' slang UK, 1951 pimple and blotch; pimple noun Scotch whisky. Rhyming Slang for 'Scotch' UK, 1960 pimple and wart noun port (wine). Rhyming slang, always used in full UK, 1961 pimplie; pimply noun a youth, especially a spotty-faced youth UK, 1980 pimpmobile; pimp-car noun a large, expensive and ostentatious car, whether or not it is actually owned by a pimp US, 1973 pimp playa noun a man who presents himself in the style and manner of a pimp but without, necessarily, trading as an agent for prostitution. Urban black slang UK, 2005 pimp post; pimp rest noun an armrest or console between the driver's seat and the passenger seat of a car. Used for the GANGSTER LEAN US, 1980 pimp roll noun a highly stylised manner of walking, projecting an image of control and dispassion US, 1990 pimp's arrest noun used to describe a pimp causing the arrest of a prostitute who has left his control US, 1972 pimp shoes; pimping shoes noun flashy, expensive shoes US, 1972 pimp slap verb to strike someone forcefully, usually with the back of the hand across the face US, 1997 pimp steak noun a frankfurter US, 1970 pimp stick noun a cigarette holder US, 1967 pimp sticks noun wire coathangers used by pimps to beat prostitutes US, 1972 pimp suit noun a showy, extravagant, tasteless suit US, 1980 pimpsy; pimps adjective too easy. Upper-class society use; possibly the result of silly word play (simple, simps, pimps, pimpsy) UK, 1982 pimp title noun a pimp's claim on the loyalty, services and earnings of a prostitute US, 1979 pimp up verb to add flashy touches to something; to dress something up US, 1993 pin noun 1 the leg or foot. Usually in the plural UK, 1530. 2 a hypodermic syringe and needle used for the injection of narcotics US, 1973. 3 a very thin marijuana cigarette US, 1967. 4 a person who serves as a lookout US, 1992 ▶ see: PIN POSITION pin verb 1 to scrutinise someone or something to look at someone or something intently US, 1965. 2 to inject a drug UK, 2003. 3 to tattoo something with improvised equipment US, 1972. 4 (from the male perspective) to have sex UK, 1961. ▶ pin for home on the railways, to leave work and go home US, 1977. ▶ pin on to fix the blame on someone UK, 1979. ▶ pin one on to consume a drink AUSTRALIA, 1957 pin and needle noun a beetle. Rhyming slang. The plural is 'pins and needles' UK, 1992 pin artist noun an illegal abortionist US, 1962 pin-brain noun an idiot UK, 1998 pinch noun 1 an arrest US, 1900. 2 a technique used by a man to maintain an erection, compressing the base of his penis US, 1995. 3 very potent heroin, bought and used in small amounts US, 1993. 4 a small amount of marijuana UK, 1996. 5 a five-dollar note or five-dollar betting chip US, 1988. 6 a steep incline AUSTRALIA, 1846 pinch verb 1 to arrest someone UK, 1837. 2 to steal something UK, 1656. 3 in horse racing, to win. A jockey may, 'pinch' a race. A bookmaker might manage to 'pinch a little.' AUSTRALIA, 1989. ▶ pinch a loaf to defecate US, 1994 pinch adjective substitute. Back-formation from 'pinch-hit' (in baseball, to bat as substitute) US, 2002 pinch and press verb to cheat at gambling, secretly taking back chips from your bet when dealt a bad hand and adding chips when dealt a good hand US, 1985 pinche adjective used as an intensifier, roughly the same as 'fucking'. Border Spanish used in English conversation by Mexican-Americans US, 1974 pinchers noun shoes, especially tight shoes US, 1945 pinch hit noun a single inhalation of marijuana US, 1993 pinch pipe noun a small pipe designed to hold enough marijuana for a single inhalation. Small, easily hidden from parents and teachers, and economical US, 1993 pin dick noun a male with a small penis US, 2003 pin-drop silence noun absolute silence. Indian English, from the familiar phrase 'so quiet you could hear a pin drop' INDIA, 2001 pine noun marijuana UK, 2001 pineapple noun 1 a hand grenade, especially a MK-2 hand grenade or Type 59 grenade US, 1918. 2 a combination of cocaine and heroin US, 1973. 3 a male homosexual. Perhaps as a specialisation of FRUIT, possibly punning on anal sex as 'taking the ROUGH END OF THE PINEAPPLE' UK, 1972. 4 a fifty dollar note. From its yellowish colour AUSTRALIA, 1992. 5 a chapel. Glasgow rhyming slang, with a stress on the second and third syllables UK: SCOTLAND, 1982. 6 in electric line work, a spool insulator US, 1980. 7 unemployment benefit UK, 1937 pineapple chunk; pineapple noun 1 a bunk bed; a bunk (an act of running away) UK, 1961. 2 semen. Rhyming slang for SPUNK UK, 2003

Pineapple Express noun a wind from the south, onshore in British Columbia, which is said to have the scent of Hawaiian pineapples and is warm, occasionally blowing in the winter. An explanation for the warmer climate on Canada's west coast than inland CANADA, 2001 pineapple juice noun a rain storm in Hawaii US, 1991 pine box release; pine box parole noun death while in prison US, 1978 pine top noun strong, illegally manufactured whisky US, 1999 ping noun 1 an attempt; an effort; a shot AUSTRALIA, 1988. 2 an injection of a drug NEW ZEALAND, 1982. 3 the sound caused in a car engine by low quality fuel or bad timing US, 1992 ping verb 1 to recognise or identify someone or something. Royal Navy slang; probably echo of a radar's noise UK, 1987. 2 to hit something with a projectile AUSTRALIA, 1934. 3 of a racehorse, to jump well UK, 2003. 4 to penalise or fine someone for breaking a rule or law AUSTRALIA, 1934. ▶ ping the pill to remove a small amount of a drug from a capsule or packet for your later use US, 1970

pinger noun a chunk of gold that makes a noise as it hits the pan CANADA, 1958 pingers noun money, especially coins. Commonly used in New Zealand since the 1950s NEW ZEALAND, 2002 ping-in-wing; ping in the wing; ping-wing; ping shot verb to inject a drug into the arm. An elaboration of PIN (a syringe) combined with WING (the arm) US, 1949 ping-pong noun a small photographic portrait BARBADOS, 1965

pingpong verb (used of a doctor engaged in insurance fraud) to needlessly refer a patient to a number of specialists US, 1982 pinhead noun 1 a fool; an imbecile US, 1896. 2 a person whose interest in playing pinball approaches the level of obsession US, 1977. 3 an amphetamine user US, 1971. 4 in the language of snowboarding, a skier US, 1990. 5 a railway brakeman US, 1946 pink noun 1 a white person US, 1945. 2 a liberal; a socialist; a communist sympathiser US, 1927. 3 the open vagina. Widely used in pornography, and beyond US, 1991. 4 proof of car ownership. A shortened form of PINK SLIP US, 1965. 5 a capsule of secobarbital sodium (trade name Seconal™), a central nervous system depressant US, 1967. 6 a casino gambling token worth $2.50 US, 1991. 7 in poker, a flush consisting of either hearts or diamonds US, 1963. 8 in horse racing, a track police officer. Derived from the Pinkerton Agency US, 1947

Pink noun a 'detective' from the Pinkerton Agency. Strikebreaking was among the several roles played by the Pinkerton Agency US, 1904 pink adjective 1 homosexual. Traditionally 'pink for a girl, blue for a boy'. As an absolutely negative association the colour pink was used in Nazi Germany to label homosexuals for segregation, internment and extermination; in post-World-War-2 Britain, pink had connotations of effeminacy, in the 1970s politically active homosexuals adopted the colour-coded symbolism and pink slowly took on a generally positive tone both in the gay and wider community, especially as a marketing designation UK, 2003. 2 white; Caucasian US, 1945. ▶ all pink in poker, a flush consisting of all hearts or all diamonds US, 1967 pink 125 noun a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. From the colour and the 125 mg dosage UK, 2002 pink-assed adjective somewhat angry US, 1962 pink blotters noun a type of LSD UK, 1998

Pink Cadillac noun a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. The colour of the tablet inspires the ultimate in rock 'n' roll luxury transport UK, 1996 pink champagne noun 1 methamphetamine with a pinkish colour produced by the presence of the stimulant pemoline US, 1989. 2 a mix of cocaine and heroin UK, 1996

pinker noun in poker, a timid bettor US, 1967 pinkers noun a pink gin. Naval in origin UK, 1961 pink eye noun 1 cheap, low grade whisky CANADA, 1953. 2 special contact lenses worn by card cheats to see luminous markings on the back of cards US, 1988

Pink Floyd noun a potent type of LSD. Honouring the rock group Pink Floyd, from their early days in the late 1960s when they were considered avant garde and psychedelic UK, 1999 pink heart noun an amphetamine tablet US, 1997 pinkie noun 1 the little finger. Originally Scottish, mostly among children, but now widespread. Also variant 'pinky' UK, 1808. 2 a white person, especially a male. Recorded in use by black teenagers UK, 1967. 3 a pink-eyed albino. Also variant 'pinky' UK, 1962. 4 the vagina TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1986. 5 a bruised eye US, 1970. 6 in Vancouver, a warning ticket CANADA, 1962. 7 a racing greyhound that races best from the outside position AUSTRALIA, 1989. 8 in Newfoundland, cheap wine CANADA, 1958. 9 an early model long-wheel base '110' Land Rover. Used by the British military UK, 1995

 ▷ see: PINK SPEEDBALL

pinkie cheater noun a latex finger glove used during digital examinations US, 1973 pinkie-load noun in caving and pot-holing, a piece of equipment so light that it can be picked up by a little finger; hence, a person in a group who is not carrying his or her fair share. From PINKIE (the little finger) UK, 2004 pinkie ring; pinky ring noun a ring worn on the little finger, especially an ostentatious ring worn by a criminal US, 1975

pinkies noun underwear US, 1954 pink lady noun a capsule of secobarbital sodium (trade name Seconal™), a central nervous system depressant US, 1968 pink lemonade noun cleaning fluid injected intravenously. An often lethal substitute for methedrine US, 1971 pink lint adjective having little or no money, penniless. Rhyming slang for SKINT UK, 1961 pink mafia noun any group of women banded together, especially lesbians US, 1997 pinko noun a liberal; a socialist; a communist. Originally applied to Communist party members, subsequently (in the late 1950s) to anyone who disagreed with the dominant culture and politics. Also used attributively US, 1936 pink oboe noun the penis. Coined by satirist Peter Cook (1937–95) for a sketch performed in Amnesty International's The Secret Policeman's Ball UK, 1979 pink palace noun 1 a homosexual venue. Combines PINK (homosexual) with an alliterative location UK, 2000. 2 the prison at Hobart AUSTRALIA, 1995

Pink Panther noun a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy, identified by the colour and embossed Pink Panther motif UK, 2002 pink pants noun rubbish. An elaboration of 'pants' (rubbish) UK, 2004 pink piccolo noun the penis UK, 2001 pink puffer noun a patient suffering from emphysema US, 1973 pink-ribbon case noun a criminal case that has been thoroughly and professionally investigated by the police. It is said that the police hand the prosecutor a case like this with a pink ribbon tied around it US, 1962 pink robots noun a type of LSD US, 1998 pink slip noun the proof of car ownership US, 1963 pink snapper noun the vagina. Combines PINK (the open vagina) with 'snapper' (various fish are so-called), thus FISH (the vagina); 'snapper' also suggests the image of a mouth that closes US, 2001 pink speedball; pinkie noun a mixture of pharmaceutical cocaine and Dipipanone, an opiate marketed under the brand name Diconal™ UK, 2001 pink tea noun an effeminate male homosexual US, 1957 pink-top noun a small vial of heroin sealed with a pink plastic cap. The pink plastic cap denotes a variation in purity and price US, 2002 pink torpedo noun the penis, especially when erect. Aggressive imagery US, 1984

Pinkville noun an area in the province of Quang Ngai, South Vietnam. Either named because of the area's appearance on maps or because of the strong presence of communist forces in the area US, 1970 pink wedge noun a type of LSD US, 1970 pink witch noun a type of LSD US, 1970

pinky verb in dice games with no bank, to roll the dice to see who will play first US, 1950

Pinky and Perky; pinky noun turkey (meat). Rhyming slang, formed on the puppets of twin pigs who, from 1957, became children's television stars and recording artists UK, 1992 pinky's out of jail! your slip is showing! US, 1955 pin-money noun spending money. Originally a C16 practice of a husband allotting to his wife a certain amount each year for personal expenses UK, 1697 pinned adjective 1 (used of eyes) constricted after opiate use US, 1966. 2 addicted to drugs. From PIN (a hypodermic syringe) US, 1997 pinned up adjective drug-intoxicated. From PINNED (the condition of the pupils when intoxicated) UK, 1996 pinny noun a pinafore US, 1851 pinny adjective very small BARBADOS, 1965 pin position; pin noun the front position in an authorised taxi rank UK, 1977 pin shot noun an improvised injection of a drug in which the skin is pricked and an injection made directly into the wound US, 1949

pinster noun a bowler US, 1953 pint noun a short person US, 1997 pinta noun 1 a pint of milk. From the advertising slogan, 'Drink a pinta milka day' UK, 1958. 2 a prison. Spanish slang used by English-speaking Mexican-Americans US, 2000 pint pot noun a pint glass, usually for draught beer UK, 1999 pint-size; pint-sized adjective used of a person's stature, small UK, 1938 pin-up noun a photograph or printed reproduction of a sexually attractive person; the person who is the subject of, or has the characteristics required for, such a picture. Originally, from the fact that such images were pinned up on walls US, 1941

PIO's noun in the language of hang gliding, over-control by the flier. An abbreviation of 'pilot-induced oscillations' US, 2004 pip noun 1 the best, the finest. From 'pippin' (the best) US, 1897. 2 a star worn by military officers as an indication of rank UK, 1917. 3 an unidentified spot on a radar screen US, 1947. 4 a woman's menstrual period US, 2001. 5 in the whe-whe lottery game, a bet that is close to the winning number TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003. ► give someone the pip to annoy someone UK, 1896 pip verb to defeat someone by a narrow margin. Sometimes elaborated to 'pip at the post' UK, 1939 pipe noun 1 the penis US, 1962. 2 any large vein, well suited for drug injection US, 1952. 3 any wind or reed instrument US, 1964. 4 an exhaust pipe US, 1952. 5 a telephone UK, 1951. 6 the firing chamber of a handgun US, 1987. 7 an electric outlet BARBADOS, 1965. 8 a sufficient measure of marijuana for smoking in a pipe. Recorded as Afrikaans pyp in 1967 SOUTH AFRICA, 1970. 9 a measurement of time: the distance that could be travelled between rest periods at which a pipe could be smoked CANADA, 1957. 10 the vertical bar (|) on a computer keyboard US, 1991. 11 an academically unchallenging course US, 1968. ► do the pipe to smoke crack cocaine US, 1996. ► on the pipe 1 addicted to crack cocaine US, 1991. 2 used of a conversation between two jail cells conducted through plumbing emptied of water US, 1992. ► put that in your pipe and smoke it!; stick that in your pipe and smoke it! accept the situation, or what you have been told, whether you wish to or not UK, 1824. ► take the pipe to commit suicide US, 1982. ► The Pipe General Douglas MacArthur (1880–1964) of the US Army. From his love of a corncob pipe US, 1982. ► the pipe the Greenwich tunnel (under the River Thames) UK, 2001 pipe verb 1 to smoke crack cocaine in a pipe UK, 2000. 2 to look at someone or something UK, 1874. 3 to fabricate a story US, 1976 pipe and drum; pipe noun the anus. Rhyming slang for BUM, especially in the retort 'up your pipe!' UK, 1961 pipe course noun an easy course in college. From the older, largely forgotten sense of 'pipe' as 'easy to accomplish' US, 1927 piped adjective drunk or drug-intoxicated US, 1949 pipe down verb to be quieter; to shut up. Often exclamatory. From the nautical sense (to dismiss by sounding the pipe) UK, 1965 pipehead noun a crack cocaine addict US, 1992 pipe job noun 1 oral sex performed on man US, 1973. 2 an elaborate, fanciful fabricated story US, 1968 pipeline noun 1 a citizens' band radio channel which is popular US, 1976. 2 in the era of analogue phone exchanges, a telephone number with a recorded message which several people could call at the same time, circumvent the recorded message, and speak to each other US, 1997. 3 the rapidly spreading curl of a breaking wave US, 1965

pipeliner noun in the era of analogue phone exchanges, a person who called a number with a recording, where it was possible to communicate with others calling at the same time US, 1997 pipe-opener noun in horse racing, a short, intense workout several days before a race US, 1976 pipecracker noun a crack cocaine addict TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1993 pipes noun 1 the vocal chords US, 1969. 2 the upper arm muscles US, 1997 pipesmoker noun a homosexual male. An allusion to oral sex US, 1997 pipe up verb 1 to commence speaking, especially in a situation which may require a degree of boldness on the speaker's part UK, 1889. 2 to smoke crack cocaine US, 1992 pickpocket noun a stupid person. The word is a combination of the Yiddish pick (navel/bellybutton) and the English word CANADA, 2002 pip jockey noun a radar operator US, 1947 pipped adjective drunk US, 1982 pipper noun in Canadian military aviation, an aiming device on a fighter's gunsight CANADA, 1995 pippie noun the penis BAHAMAS, 1982

pips noun the female breasts US, 1981 pipsqueak; pip-squeak noun an insignificant person UK, 1910 piranha noun a poker player who bets aggressively on any hand with any chance of winning US, 1988 pirate noun an unlicensed taxi driver UK, 1977 pirate's dream noun a flat-chested woman. From the association of pirates enjoying sex with captive teenage boys, or perhaps from the punning association of a girl with 'a sunken chest and a box full of treasure' US, 1972 pish noun rubbish, nonsense UK, 1988 pish verb used as an alternative spelling for 'piss' (to urinate); hence, to rain heavily UK, 1997 pished adjective drunk. A variation of PISSED (drunk) UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 pisher noun a person of no consequence. Yiddish from German, literally 'a bed-wetter' US, 1968 piso adjective someone who is miserly with money. Military usage; derives from Indian currency: a pais or pice is one quarter of an anna which, in turn, is one sixteenth of a rupee UK, 1987 piss noun 1 alcohol, especially beer AUSTRALIA, 1945. 2 the act of urination; urine. The verb produced the noun. Late Middle English then standard English, until it was deemed vulgar during C19. The sound of the word echoes the sound of urination UK, 1958. ► on the piss on a drinking binge AUSTRALIA, 1965. ► take the piss out of to satirise someone or something; to make a joke of someone or something; to send up someone or something AUSTRALIA, 1976. ► the piss the hell AUSTRALIA, 1976

piss verb 1 to urinate. Derives from Old French pisser and has been perfectly good English since C13, but from mid-C18 it has been considered a vulgarism UK, 1290. 2 to rain heavily IRELAND, 1991. 3 to accomplish a task easily UK, 1983. 4 to whinge US, 1995. ► I wouldn't piss in your ear if your brain was on fire I could not care less about you AUSTRALIA, 1985. ► I wouldn't piss on you if you were on fire used for expressing the utmost personal contempt UK, 1994. ► piss in someone's pocket to ingratiate yourself with someone; to flatter someone AUSTRALIA, 1944. ► piss in the wind to engage in a hapless, futile activity US, 1974. ► piss into someone's tent to impinge upon another's interests UK, 2002. ► piss it in to win easily AUSTRALIA, 1996. ► piss money against the wall; piss it up the wall to squander or waste money, especially on drinking UK, 1785. ► piss on 1 to despise or feel contempt for someone or something UK, 2000. 2 to drink heavily, to continue a drinking binge AUSTRALIA, 1998. ► piss your trousers; piss your pants to soil your clothing by accidental urination UK, 1966. ► piss yourself to laugh uproariously. Abbreviated from 'piss yourself laughing', from the notion that loss of physical control is a consequence of overwhelming laughter UK, 1951

piss- prefix extremely AUSTRALIA, 1963

piss about verb to play the fool, to waste time; to make a mess of something; to inconvenience someone UK, 1961 piss and moan verb to complain loud and long US, 1971 piss and punk noun bread and water US, 1970 piss and vinegar noun energy, enthusiasm, vigour US, 1942 pissant noun a small person US, 1946 pissant adjective insignificant, small-time US, 1981 pissaphone noun a funnel-shaped urinal used by the military AUSTRALIA, 1943

piss around verb to play the fool, to waste time; to make a mess of something; to inconvenience someone UK, 1998

piss-arse about verb to play the fool, to waste time; to make a mess of something; to inconvenience someone UK, 1948

piss artist noun a heavy drinker AUSTRALIA, 1968

piss-ass adjective despicable, unworthy, inconsequential US, 1974 piss away verb 1 to waste or to squander something US, 1948. 2 to move away, especially at speed UK, 1978

piss-can noun a local police station or jail US, 1950 piss-cutter noun 1 a clever, resourceful and tough person US, 1941. 2 a person who disparages a friend BAHAMAS, 1982. 3 in oil drilling, the third man on a cable tool rig US, 1954

piss down verb to rain heavily UK, 1950 piss easy adjective very easy NEW ZEALAND, 1988 pissed adjective 1 drunk UK, 1929. 2 angry, annoyed. An abbreviation of PISSED OFF US, 1971 pissed as a bastard adjective very drunk UK, 2003 pissed as a cunt adjective extremely drunk UK, 1961 pissed as a fart; pissed as a brewer's fart adjective very drunk UK, 1998 pissed as a newt adjective very drunk AUSTRALIA, 1977 pissed as an owl adjective very drunk AUSTRALIA, 1986 pissed as a parrot adjective extremely drunk AUSTRALIA, 1977 pissed as a rat adjective very drunk UK, 1980 pissed as arseholes adjective extremely drunk UK, 1984 pissed as a twat adjective very drunk UK, 2003 pissed off adjective fed up, disgruntled; annoyed; angry US, 1946 pissed out of your mind; pissed out of your skull adjective very drunk AUSTRALIA, 1969 pissed up adjective in a drunken condition. A variation of PISSED UK, 1999

piss-elegant adjective conceited, haughty US, 1957 pisser noun 1 a urinal UK, 1961. 2 the penis; the vagina UK, 1901. 3 a criminal who urinates in their clothing when caught by authorities AUSTRALIA, 2001. 4 an extraordinary person or thing US, 1943. 5 an annoyance. Literally something that will PISS OFF (annoy) US, 1943. 6 during the Vietnam war, an observer of enemy supply trails US, 1991. 7 solitary confinement in prison US, 1990. 8 a pub NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 9 an electric pylon. Perhaps from as sense as 'the penis' after its phallic shape UK, 1977. 10 a type of cicada which releases a liquid when held AUSTRALIA, 1980. ► pull your pisser to befool, or mislead, or tease someone. A variation of PULL YOUR LEG UK, 1969 piss-fart around verb to waste time AUSTRALIA, 1988

piss flap noun an erection caused by a full bladder AUSTRALIA, 1984

piss flaps noun the vaginal lips. Roger's Profanisaurus, 1997, also offers its use as an exclamation of disappointment: 'Oh piss-flaps! I never win the Lottery!' AUSTRALIA, 1985 piss-head noun a drunk; a habitual drinker. A combination of PISS (alcohol) with -HEAD (a user) UK, 1961 piss-hole noun 1 the entrance to the urethra US, 1996. 2 a urinal UK, 1959. 3 an unpleasant location UK, 1973

piss-hole bandit noun a homosexual man who seeks sexual contact in a public urinal UK, 1977

piss house noun a public toilet US, 1947

piss in verb to win or achieve something easily NEW ZEALAND, 1998

pissing adjective used as an intensifier, generally denoting disapproval UK, 1984

pissing contest noun a duel of unpleasanties US, 1983 pissing match noun a dispute based on mutual negative attacks. From the graphic if vulgar image of two men urinating on each other US, 1992

pissing rain noun heavy or persistent rainfall UK, 2000

piss in the hand noun something that is very simple NEW ZEALAND, 1984

piss it verb to succeed or achieve very easily UK, 1982

piss-off noun an annoyance, an irritation UK, 2000 piss off verb 1 to depart. Also used in an exclamatory or imperative sense UK, 1958. 2 to irritate or annoy someone. First recorded in the normally slang-free poetry of Ezra Pound US, 1937. 3 to get rid of someone AUSTRALIA, 1972 piss play noun sexual behaviour involving urination and urine US, 1999 piss-poor adjective extremely poor or feeble. Brought into general usage from British service usage during World War 2 UK, 1946 pisspot; piss-pot noun 1 a vessel for urine. Originally conventional; it slipped into vulgar use during the C18 whilst still being very much a household necessity UK, 1440. 2 a terrible thing or place US, 1964. 3 a drunkard; a despicable person. Figurative use of the sense as 'a chamber pot' AUSTRALIA, 1969. 4 a US military M-1 helmet US, 1990

piss-proud adjective having an erect penis as a result of urinal pressure UK, 1788

piss-take noun an act of mockery or teasing UK, 1977 piss-take verb to mock; to tease; to deride; to ridicule UK, 2002

piss-taker noun a mocker; a person who ridicules something UK, 1976

piss-taking noun mockery UK, 1967

piss-to-windward noun an entirely inept person BARBADOS, 1965

piss tube; pee pipe noun a metal tube partially buried in the ground, into which soldiers urinate. Vietnam war usage US, 1977 piss-up noun a drinking session UK, 1952. ► couldn't organise a piss-up in a brewery used of an inefficient person or organisation. Formed on PISS-UP (a drinking session) UK, 1984 piss up; piss up large verb to drink beer or other alcoholic beverages NEW ZEALAND, 1998

piss-weak adjective puny and cowardly AUSTRALIA, 1971

pisswhacker noun a type of cicada which releases a liquid when held AUSTRALIA, 1981

piss-willie noun a despicable coward US, 1977

pissy noun a heavy drinker AUSTRALIA, 1979

pissy adjective 1 unpleasant, distasteful UK, 1997. 2 puny; insignificant; weak AUSTRALIA, 1985. 3 angered, crotchety, fussy US, 1973. 4 given to drinking AUSTRALIA, 1979. 5 drunken AUSTRALIA, 1971

pissy adverb extremely BAHAMAS, 1982

pissy-ass adjective dirty, inconsequential US, 1975

pissy-eyed adjective drunk NEW ZEALAND, 1998 pistol noun 1 the penis US, 2002. 2 a hired gunman US, 1964. 3 a reliable person US, 1984. 4 a lobster that has lost one or both claws US, 1975. 5 in electric line work, an underground cable terminator US, 1980 pistola noun a cigarette enhanced with freebase cocaine US, 1979

Pistol Pete noun a chronic male masturbator US, 2002 pistorically; pistoratically adverb very (drunk) BARBADOS, 1965 pit noun 1 the armpit US, 1965. 2 the vein at the antecubital site, opposite the elbow, commonly used for drug injections US, 1964.

3 Pitocin™, a drug used for inducing labour US, 1994.

4 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 1994. 5 the area in a club or concert hall where dancers can slam dance. An abbreviation of MOSH PIT US, 1995. 6 a bed UK, 1948. 7 an inside jacket pocket US, 1958. ► no pit no trouble. From 'armpit' to 'pit' to 'sweat' to 'trouble' US, 1968 pit verb to sweat under the arms US, 1966

PITA used as Internet shorthand to mean 'pain in the ass/larse' US, 1995 pit bull noun a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 1996 pitch noun a persuasive or exaggerated sales act or talk UK, 1876 pitch verb to play the active sexual role in a homosexual relationship US, 1966. ► pitch a stink to complain loudly BAHAMAS, 1982.

► pitch a tent to have an erection US, 2001. ► pitch it strong; pitch it high to make a forceful case for something UK, 1837.

► pitch woo; pitch the woo to commence a courtship US, 1867 pitch and toss noun a boss. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1945 pitcher noun 1 the active partner in homosexual sex US, 1966. 2 a dealer in a casino card game US, 1973

pitchhole noun a deep pothole in a road CANADA, 1962 pitch in verb 1 to commence work in a vigorous manner; to join in with another, or others, doing such work US, 1847. 2 to start eating; to eat heartily US, 1937 pitch up; pitch verb to arrive UK, 2003 pit cupcake noun in motor racing, a female hanger-on in search of romance with drivers or members of the pit crew US, 1992 pit girl noun a female casino employee whose job is to provide company and encouragement for heavy-betting gamblers US, 1963 pit guard noun an underarm deodorant US, 1968 pit lamp verb to engage in illegal jacklighting in hunting; also, to dismiss someone from employment. The first meaning of this slang term comes from the use of a lamp like a miner's lamp CANADA, 1966 pit room noun a bedroom ANTARCTICA, 2000 pits noun in a hospital, the medical screening area US, 1978. ► the pits the very bottom; the depths; the nadir; the worst. Perhaps from 'armpits' US, 1953 pit stop noun 1 while driving, a stop at a restaurant, petrol station or rest area to use the lavatory and/or buy food and drink; a visit to the toilet US, 1968. 2 a short stay in prison, especially one occasioned by a parole violation US, 1984. 3 an underarm deodorant US, 1969

Pitstop nickname used as a humorous nickname for Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania US, 1981 pitter-patter verb 1 to walk in small, quiet steps US, 1864. 2 to talk persuasively or glibly UK, 1979

Pittsburgh feathers noun coal US, 1949

Pitt Street farmer noun (especially in New South Wales) a city person with a small country property, often run at a loss for tax purposes. From Pitt Street, a principle street in Sydney AUSTRALIA, 1945 pitty noun a pit bull dog. Formerly known as a Staffordshire Terrier or an American Pit Bull Terrier US, 1990 pitty adjective messy, dirty US, 1975 pity pot noun used in twelve-step recovery programmes such as Alcoholics Anonymous as a name for the imaginary place where the addict sits feeling sorry for himself US, 1995

pivvy noun a very small amount BARBADOS, 1965

pix noun photographs or films. An abbreviation of the pronunciation of 'pictures' US, 1932 pixie noun 1 a male homosexual. The term was enshrined in US popular/political culture during the McCarthy hearings in April, 1954. Joseph Welch, the lawyer for the US Army, demanded to know the origins of a doctored photograph, asking if it had come from a 'pixie', alluding to a suspected homosexual relationship involving Roy Cohn, a member of McCarthy's staff. Senator McCarthy asked Mr Welch to define the term, which he happily did: "I should say, Mr Senator, that a pixie is a close relative of a fairy" US, 1941. 2 a frequent user of marijuana UK, 1983. 3 an amphetamine tablet US, 1994. 4 hair that has been chemically straightened US, 1972

pixies noun ► away with the pixies daydreaming NEW ZEALAND, 1998

pixilated adjective whimsical, slightly crazy; befuddled; drunk US, 1848 pizlum noun a pig's penis US, 1952 pizza noun 1 marijuana US, 1965. 2 a large area of grazed skin. Skateboarders' slang; from the appearance of the wound UK, 1998 pizza cutter noun in drag racing, an extremely narrow front wheel US, 1993 pizza dude noun the pizza delivery person US, 1988 pizzaface noun a person with a bad case of acne US, 1971 pizza plate noun in electric line work, an insulated tool attachment formally known as a fork suspension attachment US, 1980

pizzazz; pizazz; p'zazz noun energy, vim, vigour, excitement US, 1937

PJ noun an unofficial, unlicensed if not illegal, job. An abbreviation of 'private job' TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1990

PJ's noun pyjamas US, 1964

PK noun preacher's kid. Used without regard to denomination or even religion, applied even to children of rabbis; denoting a certain bond among those who have grown up in the shadow of organised religion US, 2004 placa noun a nickname, especially the artistic representation of the nickname on a public wall. Spanish slang used by English-speaking Mexican-Americans US, 1974 placcy; placky; plakky; plaggy; plazzy adjective plastic UK, 1999 place noun ► you make the place untidy; you are making the place untidy used as an ungracious or jocular invitation to be seated UK, 1978 placenta poker noun the penis. Jocular UK, 2003 plague noun ► the plague 1 the bleed period of the menstrual cycle UK, 1961. 2 HIV US, 1990 plague verb to trouble, torment, tease, bother or annoy someone. A weakening of the conventional sense UK, 1594 plagued adjective infected with HIV US, 1990

plaguer noun a person infected with HIV US, 1990 plain Jane noun 1 an unremarkably ordinary or unattractive woman UK, 1912. 2 an innocent looking, performance-enhanced unmarked motorway patrol car US, 1992 plait your shit! used for registering dismissal, either of a notion or a person AUSTRALIA, 1971

plamas noun flattery, exaggeration IRELAND, 1999 plane verb in the language of wind surfing, to hydroplane US, 1985 planet noun when combined with a personal characteristic or interest, applied to a person's narrow or exclusive focus on that characteristic or interest. A remote place that it is hard to contact UK, 2001. ► on another planet very drug-intoxicated UK, 1999

Planet Zog noun a supremely unrealistic place; the home of unrealistic ideas; where daydreamers go. To be said to have arrived from Planet Zog is 'to have no idea what's going on' UK, 2003 plank noun 1 a stupid person. The phrase THICK AS TWO SHORT PLANKS (stupid) gave rise to the adjective PLANKY (stupid), hence 'plank' UK, 1999. 2 an electric guitar. From the instrument's original construction in the late 1940s, and an insult hurled at early Fender guitars UK, 2000. 3 a heavy surfboard, especially an older wooden one US, 1957. ► make the plank in homosexual usage, to take the passive position in anal sex US, 1981. ► put the plank to someone (from a male perspective) to have sex with someone. A variation of PLANK (to have sex) in which 'plank' is understood to be a 'penis' UK, 2001 plank verb 1 to have sex with. A 'plank' may be a 'floorboard' or, possibly, a 'table'; hence this probably originates from an occurrence on a wooden surface in much the same way as BED (to have sex); it may also be a reference to the erect penis which is, no doubt, 'stiff as a board' US, 1972. 2 to conceal something UK: SCOTLAND, 1823 plank-spanker noun a guitarist. From PLANK (a guitar) UK, 1998 plank-whacker noun a guitarist. From PLANK (a guitar) UK, 2001

planky adjective stupid. From THICK AS TWO SHORT PLANKS UK, 1984

plant noun 1 a person, such as a magician's assistant, who has been secretly placed in an audience, in order to assist whoever is addressing or manipulating that crowd US, 1926. 2 a police surveillance action US, 1984. 3 a cell used for solitary confinement US, 1976. 4 an electrical generator US, 1985. 5 the equipment and work animals of a drover or other rural worker travelling through the countryside AUSTRALIA, 1867

plant verb 1 to bury a body US, 1855. 2 to deliver a blow; to drive a ball UK, 1808. 3 to station a person for use in an underhand manner UK, 1693. 4 to incriminate someone suspected of a crime by hiding evidence where it is certain to be found by the appropriate authorities UK, 1865. ► plant it in motor racing, to accelerate to the fullest extent possible US, 1965 plantation noun any small garden CAYMAN ISLANDS, 1985 planting noun a burial US, 1977 plant you now, dig you later used as a farewell US, 1947 plaque whacker noun a dental hygienist US, 2001 plaster-caster noun a groupie who makes plaster casts of celebrities' penises US, 1968 plastered adjective drunk US, 1912 plaster of Paris; plaster noun the backside, the buttocks. Rhyming slang, extending the sequence ARIS – ARISTOTLE – BOTTLE; BOTTLE AND GLASS – ARSE UK, 1998 plastic noun 1 a credit card; consumer credit in general US, 1979. 2 a person who is liable to act in an unpredictable manner UK, 2003. 3 a condom US, 1993. ► on the plastic using stolen credit cards, etc UK, 1977. ► pull plastic (used of a prisoner) to place your belongings in a plastic rubbish bag when you are transferred US, 1997 plastic adjective conventional; superficial; shallow US, 1967 plastic badge noun a private security guard US, 2001 plastic fantastic noun 1 a credit card or credit card transaction NEW ZEALAND, 1995. 2 a yacht with a fibreglass hull NEW ZEALAND, 1986 plastic fantastic adjective wonderful. If not coined, widely popularised by Jefferson Airplane's 1967 song, 'Plastic Fantastic Lover' US, 1970 plastic gangster; plastic noun a tough guy who is not anywhere near as tough as he pretends UK, 1996 plastic hippie noun a person who assumes the outer trappings of the counterculture without fully immersing himself in it US, 1967 plastic job noun cosmetic surgery US, 1953 plastic money noun a credit card or cards; consumer credit in general US, 1974

plastics noun prison-issue plastic cutlery UK, 1996 plate noun 1 a plate of food brought by a guest to a party. The notion of 'bringing a plate' to supplement the food laid on by the host is an Australian social tradition AUSTRALIA, 1961. 2 a badge US, 1949. 3 a phonograph record US, 1935. ► on a plate; on a platter easily acquired; with little or no effort required UK, 1935 plate verb 1 to engage in oral sex. Rhyming slang for 'plate of ham', GAM (to perform oral sex) UK, 1968. 2 to engage in oral stimulation of the anus UK, 2003 plate and dish noun a wish. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 plater noun 1 in horse racing, a horse that competes in minor, low-paying races. From the practice of awarding a silver plate instead of a cash prize US, 1923. 2 in horse racing, a farrier US, 1976 plates and dishes; plates noun a wife. Rhyming slang for Missis UK, 1960 plates of meat; plates noun the feet. Rhyming slang, since 1857; abbreviated to 'plates' since 1896 UK, 1857 plats noun platform shoes US, 1997 platter noun a phonograph record US, 1931 platter pusher noun a radio disc jockey US, 1973 platters of meat; platters noun the feet. Rhyming slang; an elaboration of PLATES OF MEAT since 1923; the abbreviation 'platters' since 1945 UK, 1923 play noun 1 sexual activity US, 1995. 2 a manoeuvre; a tactical move US, 1982. 3 a legitimate scheme or a criminal venture. From the previous sense US, 2000. 4 the deception surrounding a confidence swindle US, 1940. 5 in horse racing, a bet US, 1994. ► in play falling into a confidence swindle US, 1997 play verb to work as a pimp; to hustle US, 1977. ► play ball 1 to have sex. Punning on BALL (to have sex) and 'play ball' (to cooperate with) US, 2001. 2 to stop idling and start working US, 1977. 3 to cooperate with someone else; occasionally applied to inanimate objects such as computers US, 1957. ► play bingo to try to determine the reason for a cash shortage by comparing orders with receipts US, 1996. ► play catch-up in an athletic contest, to try to catch up and surpass an opponent that at the moment is leading US, 1971. ► play checkers to move from empty seat to empty seat in a cinema, looking for a sexual partner. Homosexual usage US, 1972. ► play dead to act dumb US, 1953. ► play for the other team to be homosexual US, 1997. ► play handball to smoke crack cocaine. A highly euphemistic code US, 1993. ► play hard to get to resist amorous advances (especially while intending to acquiesce); hence, more generally, to be reluctant to comply with what is expected UK, 1945. ► play hookey; play hooky to absent yourself from school or work US, 1848. ► play inside right to be mean with money. Rhyming slang for TIGHT, elaborated into football terminology UK, 1998. ► play it by ear to improvise as circumstances dictate. As a musician picking up a tune without sheet music to guide UK, 1984. ► play it cool to remain calm and composed UK, 1942. ► play mums and dads; play dads and mums to have sex. An adult version of a children's game. 'Play fathers and mothers' is also recorded but in the strongest current usages it seems that the female comes first UK, 1967. ► play past something to overcome an obstacle or impediment to progress US, 1972. ► play silly buggers to be a nuisance; to cause trouble or disruption; to 'mess about' UK, 2001. ► play someone cheap to assume that someone is stupid US, 1947. ► play the blocks to idle on a street corner BAHAMAS, 1982. ► play the chill 1 to act calm US, 1920. 2 to snub someone US, 1985. ► play the kerbs to sell drugs on the street US, 1989. ► play the queens to have sex with a passive, effeminate male prisoner US, 1984. ► play the whale to vomit AUSTRALIA, 1971. ► play them as they lay used as a wisely humorous acceptance of the need to work with what has been given to you US, 1992. ► play too close to take advantage of another's good nature by excessive teasing or abuse US, 1992. ► play took and banjo to sing or whistle a secular tune on a Sunday or religious holiday BARBADOS, 1965. ► play up to someone to humour someone; to flatter someone, to take your cue from another; to behave according to expectations. Originally in theatrical use UK, 1809. ► play with yourself to masturbate. The earliest usage recorded of this sweet little euphemism is by James Joyce IRELAND, 1922 play around verb to have an extra-marital amorous liaison US, 1943 play-away noun a weekend at someone else's place in the country. Upper-class society usage; predates BBC television childrens' programme Playaway, 1984 UK, 1982 playback noun a scheme by which the odds on a particular horse race are engineered lower by heavy betting on that horse US, 1963

Playboy noun a tablet of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2004. ► the Playboy a public hairstyle UK, 2002 play dough noun bread found in a US Army combat ration. Word play on the inedible mix of flour, water and salt called 'play dough' and played with by children US, 1991 played adjective out of money US, 1984 player noun 1 a person who takes pride in the number of sexual partners they have, not in the depth of any relationship; a selfish pleasure-seeker US, 1968. 2 a pimp US, 1972. 3 a schemer; an important figure in a field US, 1995. 4 a drug user or drug seller US, 1971. 5 an active member of a terrorist organisation. Used by police, military and other security services UK, 1995. 6 in casino gambling, a craps player US, 1974. 7 a hip-hop artist. Also variant 'playa' US, 1995 player hater noun someone who is envious or jealous of another's social success US, 1999 player of the pink oboe noun a person who performs oral sex on a man. Coined by satirist Peter Cook (1937–95) for a sketch performed in Amnesty International's The Secret Policeman's Ball. UK, 1979 play-for-pay adjective 1 available for paid sex US, 1956. 2 receiving compensation while competing as an amateur athlete US, 2003 playground's muddy noun experiencing the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 2001 playing noun amongst women prisoners, homosexual flirtation and involvement UK, 1980 playing bingo adjective in prison, said of a sex offender. From the call of the numbers in RULE FORTY-THREE UK, 1996 playing with confederate money adjective having silicone breast implants. Very impressive to look at but ultimately valueless. Coined for US television comedy Seinfeld, 1993–98 US, 2003 play-lunch noun a mid-morning break at primary school; also, the food eaten during this break AUSTRALIA, 1962

playmates noun the testicles UK, 2002 play out verb 1 (of a DJ) to perform in public; (of a dance record) to be included in a DJ's repertoire UK, 2003. 2 to escape from confinement US, 1972 play-play adjective make-believe BARBADOS, 1965 playtime noun a time in a prison's schedule when the inmates are out of their cells mixing with each other. From school usage UK, 1996

please; per-lease; puh-lease used for humorously asking please or expressing scepticism. An affectation popularised in any number of television situation comedies in the mid- to late 1980s and thereafter a staple of US popspcak US, 1990 pleasure and pain noun rain. Rhyming slang UK, 1960 pleb noun 1 an unsophisticated or uneducated person. An abbreviation of conventional 'plebeian' (a lower-class person) UK, 1865. 2 an annoying person; a nuisance. A generally derogative application of the sense as 'a plebeian' UK, 1981

pleb; plebbie; plebby adjective of a plebeian character; coarse; uneducated UK, 1962 pleckie noun a plectrum UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 pledges noun cash US, 2003

plenty adverb very UK, 1934 plenty-plenty adverb to a great extent BAHAMAS, 1982

plier noun in a confidence swindle or sales scheme, an agent who for a commission locates potential victims US, 1988

pliers noun a railway ticket inspector's punch US, 1946 plimmie noun a plimsoll (a rubber-soled canvas shoe) UK, 1994 pling noun an exclamation mark (!) on a computer keyboard US, 1991

pling verb in circus and carnival usage, to beg US, 1981 plink noun cheap wine. Variant of PLONK with a change of vowel influenced by other couplets such as 'ding dong', 'sing song' AUSTRALIA, 1943

plinker noun an inexpensive, simply designed gun marketed for casual use US, 1982 plod; plodder; PC Plod; Mr Plod; the plod noun a uniformed police officer; the police. Derives from Mr Plod the Policeman, a character in the Noddy stories of Enid Blyton (1897–1968), possibly a pun on ‘plodding the beat’ or, simply, ‘to plod’ (to proceed tediously) UK, 1977

ploddite noun a police officer UK, 2003

plod shop noun a police station UK, 1996

plokta verb in computing, to press keys randomly in an effort to obtain a response from the computer. An acronym of ‘press lots of keys to abort’ US, 1991 plonk noun 1 cheap wine. Alteration of French blanc, from vin blanc (white wine); occasionally used of other alcoholic drinks AUSTRALIA, 1930. 2 alcohol, especially beer NEW ZEALAND, 1984. 3 a woman police constable UK, 1996. 4 the surreptitious wagering of a large amount of money AUSTRALIA, 1981 plonk verb 1 to place something, especially with a lack of finesse AUSTRALIA, 1942. 2 (of a male), to have sex. In use among National Servicemen in the 1950s UK, 1984. 3 to wager money AUSTRALIA, 1981 plonker; plonk noun 1 the penis UK, 1947. 2 a fool; used (often humorously) as an everyday form of abuse. Euphemistic extension of the previous sense for name-calling as PRICK. Popularised from the early 1980s by BBC television situation comedy Only Fools and Horses UK, 1966 plonkie adjective foolish; displaying the qualities of a plonker UK, 2001 plonko noun an alcoholic AUSTRALIA, 1963

ploo adjective a ‘plus’ attached to a grade US, 1968 plooky adjective pimply, spotty. Extended from PLUKE; POOK (a spot) UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 plootered adjective drunk. Probably from Scottish plouter (to splash in water) UK, 1984 plop noun excrement US, 1984

plop verb to fall or to drop heavily UK, 1839

plod down verb to lay down forcefully; to lie down with abandon US, 1986

ploppy noun an unskilled gambler who describes his systems to all around him UK, 1996 plot up verb 1 to establish a singular, group or gang presence in an area and represent it as the territory of that individual, group or gang UK, 1999. 2 to conceal something UK, 2001

plotzed adjective drunk. From German plotzen (to burst) via Yiddish plotz (to burst) US, 1962 plow noun marijuana. The means by which you become PLOWED (drug-intoxicated) UK, 2003. ► get your plow cleaned to be killed in combat US, 1968 plow verb (used of a male) to have sex US, 1970. ► plow the field to drive off the road at a high rate of speed into a field US, 1962 plowboy noun a rustic; an unsophisticated person from the far reaches of the countryside. Disparaging UK, 1569 plowed adjective 1 drunk US, 1974. 2 drug-intoxicated. From the previous sense US, 1981 plow jockey noun 1 a farmer US, 1951. 2 a soldier who cannot keep cadence when marching, who appears to be walking as if behind a plough with one foot in the furrow US, 1946

plu noun tea AUSTRALIA, 1960

pluck noun 1 wine US, 1964. 2 the recruiting of a prostitute to work for a pimp; a prostitute recruited to work for a pimp US, 1973

pluck verb 1 to recruit a prostitute into the services of a pimp US, 1973. 2 (used of a male) to have sex with a virgin BAHAMAS, 1982. ► pluck the chicken to swindle a victim in a phony investment or sales scheme US, 1988

plucky adjective brave, daring UK, 1842 plug noun 1 a piece of publicity, a promotional pitch US, 1902. 2 a tampon. Understood to be a variation on conventional ‘plug’, possibly from abbreviation of technical jargon ‘catamenial plug’ (a tampon) US, 2001. 3 a bullet hole UK, 2001. 4 a poker player with a steady, competent and predictable style of play US, 1988. 5 a horse that has seen its best days US, 1860. 6 a temporary worker US, 1997 plug verb 1 to support, to endorse, to promote US, 1927. 2 to shoot someone US, 1870. 3 (of a male) to have sex with someone UK, 1888. 4 to insert contraband items into the anus during a prison visit UK, 1996. 5 to engage in a fist fight without any weapons US, 1992. 6 on the railways, to use the reverse gear to help stop a train US, 1977. 7 to tease or taunt someone US, 2002. ► plug in to help. In the usage of counterculturalists associated with the Rainbow Nation gatherings US, 1997. ► plug in both ways (of a male) to be bisexual. A play on AC/DC UK, 1980. ► plug your mug to stop talking US, 1947 plug away; plug verb to continue doing something or making an effort, to persist doggedly UK, 1865 plugged in adjective connected to something fashionable US, 1989 plugged nickel noun literally, a five-cent piece that has been altered by the insertion of a plug of base metal; figuratively, something of no value US, 1988 plugger noun a person whose job it is to promote a record or recording artist US, 1945 plughole noun ► go down the plughole to become lost; to go to waste; to fail. A variation of DOWN THE DRAIN UK, 1973 plug-ugly noun a violent, rough person US, 1856 pluke; plook noun a spot, boil or other pus-filled skin blemish. Directly from Scottish dialect plook UK, 1997 plum noun 1 the testicle. From its shape and fruitfulness. One notable precursor to its unambiguous sense as a testicle is in the innuendo-laden song ‘Please Don’t Touch My Plums’ by Sammy Cahn, 1913–93, written for the film The Duchess and the Dirtwater Fox, 1976, in which it was sung in a Golden Globe-winning performance by Goldie Hawn UK, 2003. 2 a fool; used as a general term of abuse. From the previous sense UK, 1982. 3 an exceptional person or thing AUSTRALIA, 1956. 4 in marketing, a married man with above-average income who is keen to improve his pension. A specific sense of the general use of ‘plum’ as ‘something desirable’. The opposite is a LEMON UK, 1998. 5 in pool, the plum-coloured four-ball US, 1990. 6 in pool, an easy shot US, 1970 plumb; plum adverb absolutely, completely, utterly. From the earlier, conventional sense (exactly) UK, 1587 plumbay noun the vulva; a woman’s pubic mound TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003

plumber noun 1 a urologist US, 1961. 2 a male pornography performer US, 1995. 3 in the Royal Air Force, an armament tradesman. Still in Royal Air Force use, 2002 UK, 1942. 4 a golfer who is a good putter. Built on ‘drain’ in the sense of putting into the hole US, 2000 plumbing noun 1 the reproductive system US, 1960. 2 any wind instrument US, 1935 plumbing problem noun the inability of a male pornography performer either to maintain an erection or to ejaculate on demand US, 1995

plum-in-the-mouth adjective upper-class, privileged UK, 1926 plummer noun a pickpocket. Misspelling of ‘plumber’ recorded in prison use August 2002 UK, 2002 plummy adjective used for describing an affectedly upper-class manner of speech. The original meaning was ‘rich, desirable’ UK, 1926 plum pud; plum pudd noun good. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1927

plums noun no sexual contact (when the expectation of intimacy is high). Royal Navy slang; derives, possibly, from a ‘plum’ representing the figure 0 (hence 00 = nothing, nowhere). Alternatively PLUM (the testicle) hence BOLLOCKS (used as a general negative). A ‘plums rating’ is a sailor who has little luck with the opposite sex UK, 1989 plunderphonics noun in music, a style of sampling that alters the original, usually without seeking permission from the copyright holder. A compound of ‘plunder’ (to rob) and ‘phonic’ (of sound). Coinage is credited to electronic music artist John Oswald (b.1953) CANADA, 1985

plunge noun 1 a surreptitious wagering of a great amount on a high-odds horse; a large bet. If bookmakers become aware that a great deal of money is being bet on a horse, they shorten the odds AUSTRALIA, 1895. 2 a large cumulative amount of money wagered on a competitor AUSTRALIA, 1960 plunge verb 1 to stab someone; to kill someone by stabbing UK, 1996. 2 to wager a great deal of money AUSTRALIA, 1877 plunger noun a heavy bettor AUSTRALIA, 1895

plungeroo noun a pinball enthusiast US, 1945 plunked adjective pregnant NEW ZEALAND, 2002 plurly adjective bloody. The Australian Aboriginal English pronunciation of the word BLOODY, occasionally used in a jocular or euphemistic way by non-Aboriginals AUSTRALIA, 1950

plurly adverb bloody AUSTRALIA, 1988

PL-US noun like-minded individuals. Initialism contrived from 'people like US' UK, 1990s plus-15s noun (pedestrian) overpasses connecting buildings in Calgary, Alberta CANADA, 2002 plush noun stuffed animals US, 1985

Plush family noun used as a humorous personification of empty seats in a theatre UK, 1052 plush out verb to completely refurbish a car's upholstery and interior US, 1993 plus-minus adverb approximately, about. As the mathematical formula represented by the symbol \pm SOUTH AFRICA, 1970

Pluto pup noun a deep-fried battered saveloy on a stick AUSTRALIA, 1986

Pluto water noun a natural mineral water that acts as a strong laxative US, 1972 plut adjective wealthy; upscale. An abbreviation of 'plutocratic' NEW ZEALAND, 1984

Plymouth Argyll noun a file (a tool). Rhyming slang, formed on the name of a football club UK, 1992

PM noun 1 a post mortem examination of a corpse US, 1989. 2 in horse racing, the odds listed before a race. Also known as the 'PM line' US, 1955

PMJ used as Internet discussion group shorthand to mean 'pardon my jumping in' US, 1997

PMS noun something or someone irritating or unpleasant. Ascribing the stereotypical symptoms of pre-menstrual syndrome US, 2001

PMS verb (of a woman) to feel the emotions associated with pre-menstrual syndrome; thus to feel angry, irritable, irrational, anxious, etc. PMS is the recognised abbreviation for 'pre-menstrual syndrome' US, 1990 pneumonia hole noun a car window US, 1973 pneumonia sedan noun a truck with no window glass or being driven with the windows down in cold weather US, 1971 po noun 1 a chamber pot. From the pronunciation of 'pot' in French pot de chambre. Survives, mainly, through the efforts of the antique trade UK, 1880. 2 in pool, position. A horrid contraction, but one that is in actual use US, 1993. 3 a promiscuous girl, one who will 'put out' US, 1963

PO noun a probation officer or parole officer US, 1966 po' boy noun a public assistance cheque US, 1971 pocaution noun contraception BAHAMAS, 1982 poc doc noun a short television documentary. An abbreviation of 'pocket documentary' CANADA, 1995 pocket noun ► in pocket in possession of drugs to be sold US, 1989. ► in the pocket in poker, dealt face-down US, 1990. ► in your pocket of someone else, under your control or direction UK, 1851. ► out of pocket out of line; inappropriate US, 1972 pocket verb ► pocket the red to put the penis in the vagina. A pun from the game of billiards. Snooker offers a wider choice of puns with PINK and BROWN UK, 1937 pocket billiards noun the manipulation of your testicles for masturbation or comfort, performed by your hand hidden in your trouser pocket. Often in the phrase 'play pocket billiards' UK, 1940 pocket change noun a small amount of drugs when that is all that is left. From private correspondence with rock musicians UK, 2001 pocket club noun a police truncheon US, 1962 pocket engine noun a large pocket watch TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1939 pocket man noun in a functionally compartmentalised criminal enterprise, the person who holds the cash US, 1987 pocket pistol noun a roasted cob of corn BARBADOS, 1965 pocket pole noun the penis. Plays on branded Pocket Pals™, a range of collectible 'whimsies' US, 2001 pocket pool noun used of a man, self-stimulation or masturbation while clothed. Word play based on ball play; the title of a song by Killer Pussy on the 'Valley Girl' soundtrack US, 1960 pocket rocket noun 1 the 1973–74 Oldsmobile Cutlass, the first small car from Oldsmobile US, 1992. 2 any small, fast, imported car US, 1994. 3 an improvised syringe filled with a drug and ready for injection US, 1989. 4 marijuana UK, 1998 poco loco adjective crazy, eccentric. Directly from Spanish poco (little) and loco (mad) UK, 2003 pod noun 1 marijuana US, 1952. 2 a marijuana cigarette CANADA, 1958. 3 the head US, 1960. 4 an orthopaedist US, 1994. 5 the tail of a surfboard CANADA, 1977

PO'd adjective angry, pissed off US, 1957 poddle verb in bowling, to roll the ball into the gutter US, 1962 poddy noun 1 a user of an iPod™ branded digital music player; often used as a nickname for an iPod UK, 2004. 2 a young, unbranded calf. From British dialect poddy (obese) AUSTRALIA, 1872 poddy verb to handfeed a young calf, lamb or foal AUSTRALIA, 1960

poddy-dodge verb to steal unbranded cattle AUSTRALIA, 1919

poddy-dodger noun a person who steals unbranded cattle AUSTRALIA, 1919

poddy-dodging adjective the theft of unbranded cattle AUSTRALIA, 1919 podge noun a short and fat person; fatness. From conventional PODGY UK, 1876 podger verb to have sex. A possible conflation of POKE and ROGER UK: SCOTLAND, 1996 podgy noun a girlfriend, mistress or prostitute. Korean war usage; from the Korean word for 'vulva' US, 1968 podgy adjective fat UK, 1846 podner noun used as a jocular term of address. Approximating a Western drawl of 'partner' US, 1986 pods noun the female breasts US, 1968

Podunk noun any remote, small town US, 1977 podunk adjective worthless, remote US, 1968 poegaai adjective exhausted; drunk SOUTH AFRICA, 1942

poep noun a fart; faeces; hence, contemptuously, of a person SOUTH AFRICA, 1969 poep verb to fart. From Afrikaans into impolite South African English SOUTH AFRICA, 1983 poep adjective bad, unpleasant. From the noun sense as 'faeces' SOUTH AFRICA, 1970 poetical adjective drunk UK, 2001 poets' day noun Friday, especially when used as an excuse to finish work early on a Friday. An acronym for 'piss off early – tomorrow's Saturday' or 'push off early – tomorrow's Saturday' UK, 1984 po-faced adjective having an impassive expression. Influenced by POKE FACE, but most likely to derive from PO (a chamber pot) or 'poh!' (an old exclamation of rejection) UK, 1934 pogey noun 1 a male homosexual who prefers the passive role in anal sex US, 1950. 2 unemployment insurance or welfare CANADA, 1976 pogey bait noun any food with high calorific, low nutritional content. In prison, sweets, cigarettes or other inducements given to men willing to play the passive role in anal sex US, 1950 poggled adjective of a car, having had crash damage repaired. A car dealers' term UK, 1968 poggler noun 1 a purse; a wallet UK, 1977. 2 a motor vehicle that has had crash-damage repaired. A car dealers' term UK, 1977 pogo noun 1 a form of dancing (essentially wildly jumping up and down on the spot) associated with punk rock music UK, 1978. 2 a contemptible person. In army use, a member of the administrative personnel, anyone not in the arms corps. From POGO STICK, rhyming slang for PRICK but influenced by imagery of aimlessly bouncing around as one does on a pogo-stick AUSTRALIA, 1972

pogo-pogo noun cocaine US, 1970

pogo stick noun 1 the penis. Rhyming slang for DICK or PRICK, influenced by apt imagery UK, 2003. 2 a Chinese rocket launcher, used in Vietnam by the Viet Cong US, 1966. 3 in electric line work, any telescoping insulated line tool US, 1980. 4 in poker, a player with wildly fluctuating play and success US, 1996 pogue noun 1 a homosexual male who plays the passive role during anal sex, especially if young. Deriving perhaps from Irish Gaelic pogue (to kiss) US, 1941. 2 a member of the armed forces assigned to the rear echelon, safely away from combat; a soldier newly arrived in combat. Seemingly unconnected to the C19 sense as 'purse' with 'pogue-hunter' as 'pickpocket' US, 1975

pogy noun a jail or prison US, 1970 poindexter noun a serious student US, 1981 point noun 1 a hypodermic needle and syringe US, 1961. 2 a pen; a pencil. Gay slang UK, 1971. 3 a percentage point US, 1981. 4 a man who ensures that order reigns at a brothel US, 1987 point verb ► point Dennis at the Doulton (of a male) to urinate. Doulton is a manufacturer of china AUSTRALIA, 1971. ► point Percy (of a male) to urinate. A familiar shortening of POINT PERCY AT THE PORCELAIN AUSTRALIA, 1971. ► point Percy at the porcelain (of a male) to urinate. Conventionally 'point PERCY (the penis) at porcelain (the china of a lavatory). Popularised in the UK in the late 1960s and early 70s via a Private Eye magazine cartoon strip and two films featuring Barry Mackenzie, an OCKER (a loutish Australian) created by Barry Humphries (b.1934). Coincidentally, the famously Australian Mr Humphries appeared in a 1974 film called Percy's Progress, about a man who had a penis transplant. All of which lends credence to the unproven assertion that this phrase is an Australian coinage AUSTRALIA, 1968. ► point the bone to point blame at someone; to accuse someone. Figuratively recalling the Australian Aboriginal ritual practice of pointing a bone at a person in order to wish death upon them AUSTRALIA, 1943. ► point the finger to testify on behalf of the prosecution NEW ZEALAND, 1982. ► point the finger at to identify someone or something as having a specific responsibility UK, 1833 pointer noun 1 a criminally inclined youth, especially a youth gang member US, 1963. 2 a large facial blemish US, 1976 pointers noun female breasts with prominent pointed nipples US, 1983 point-five noun a homosexual FJI, 1995 point-out noun a member of a confidence swindle who introduces the intended victim to someone whom he identifies as a former acquaintance with good connections, who then lures the victim further into the swindle US, 1997 pointy-head noun an intellectual. Derogatory US, 2000 pointy-head; pointy-headed adjective intellectual, if at the expense of common sense. Derogatory US, 1972

Poirot noun a Belgian police officer. After Hercule Poirot, Agatha Christie's famous fictional detective UK, 2002 poison noun 1 a narcotic or an alcoholic drink, especially a person's favourite. Used in a jocular tone US, 1805. 2 narcotics, especially heroin US, 1984

poisoner noun a cook to a group of rural workers, especially shearers AUSTRALIA, 1905 poison shop noun a pharmacy US, 1988 poke noun 1 a wallet or purse US, 1859. 2 money; a roll of money US, 1926. 3 the stomach US, 1975. 4 power, especially horsepower UK, 1965. 5 a punch; a hard hitting verbal thrust. Both uses derive from the conventional sense (a thrust, a push) UK, 1788. 6 an inhalation of marijuana or opium smoke US, 1955. 7 marijuana. From 'pokeweed', Phytolacca americana, a strong smelling shrub native to North America UK, 2001. 8 a woman sexually objectified UK, 1937. 9 a poor person who attempts through demeaning behaviour to be accepted by upper-class people BAHAMAS, 1982 poke verb 1 (from a man's point of view) to have sex with a woman UK, 1868. 2 used as an emphatic rejection. Synonymous with STUFF or FUCK IT! UK, 2003. 3 to smoke marijuana US, 1982. 4 to inject a drug UK, 2003. ► poke borak to make fun of someone or something; to deride someone or something; to ridicule someone or something. Contextually in this phrase 'borak' means 'rubbish; nonsense'. It has its origins in the Australian Aboriginal language Wathawurung where it expressed negation AUSTRALIA, 1873. ► poke mullock at to deride someone; to make fun of someone AUSTRALIA, 1916. ► poke squid (of a male) to have sex US, 1982 poked adjective exhausted NEW ZEALAND, 1978

pokee noun the vagina. Children's vocabulary TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1974 poker noun 1 the erect penis US, 1969. 2 in fencing, any weapon with a stiff, heavy blade. A derisory term, from the similarity to a conventional poker UK, 1988 pokerarse noun someone who is not relaxed or easy going IRELAND, 1992 poker face noun a blank expression that gives nothing away US, 1885 poker voice noun an even speaking tone that does not reveal any underlying emotion US, 1986

pokey noun a jail US, 1919

pokey adjective 1 of an enclosed space, small and dark; inadequate UK, 1849. 2 dawdling, slow. From SLOWPOKE US, 1991 pokie noun an electronic poker machine NEW ZEALAND, 2002

pol noun a politician US, 1942

Polack; Polak noun a Polish immigrant or a Polish-American. Disparaging US, 1898

Polack; Polak adjective Polish US, 1964

Polack fiddle noun a bucksaw, a one-man tool. Because of the skill attributed to Polish loggers in handling a bucksaw US, 1975

Poland-and-China noun a black and white police car US, 1962 polari; palare; parlare noun a slang vocabulary used by theatricals and homosexuals. Variants include: 'polare' and 'parlare'. Probably from Italian parlare (to talk). This 'language' itself derives in great part from Italian and Romany roots, incorporating back slang, Cockney rhyming slang and Yiddish among its influences. The earliest form, known as 'parleyaree', was used by C17 actors who, as a despised section of society, needed a discreet means of communication; as theatricals achieved a degree of respectability so the use of the language changed and polari emerged. By the late 1930s the tolerance of theatre-life had attracted many homosexuals who, as a despised section of society, needed a discreet means of communication UK, 1966 polari; palare; parlare verb to talk, especially to talk in polari UK, 1997 polari lobe noun the ear UK, 2002

polari pipe noun a telephone UK, 2002

Polaroid noun a police radar unit used for measuring vehicles' speed US, 1976 pole noun 1 the penis UK, 1972. 2 an aircraft's control column UK, 1981. 3 in planespotting, a telescope UK, 2003. ► up the pole 1 pregnant IRELAND, 1922. 2 in a bad way, at a disadvantage AUSTRALIA, 1906. 3 insane UK, 1896 pole verb 1 from a male perspective, to have sex UK, 1984. 2 to steal something NEW ZEALAND, 1964. ► pole on to impose on someone; to not do one's fair share of work AUSTRALIA, 1906 poleaxe verb to shock someone into helplessness; to stupify someone. From the antique weapon that combines an axe and a hammer UK, 2003 poleaxed adjective drunk. From the sense 'to render helpless; to stupify' UK, 2002 pole buddy noun in electric line work, a transformer gin US, 1980 polecat noun 1 a police car. From the animal's black and white fur US, 1976. 2 in the television and film industries, a lamp support US, 1990 poleclimbers noun heavy work boots with steel-reinforced toes and arches US, 1995 poledad noun an annoying, new-to-the-sport skateboarder US, 1964 pole dance noun a sexual dance performed with a vertical pole as a main prop US, 2000 pole day noun in motor racing, the first day of qualifying heats when the pole position is decided US, 1973 pole hog noun in Canadian military aviation, a pilot who tries to keep his hand on the control column CANADA, 1995 pole in the hole nickname the Spire monument in O'Connell Street, Dublin IRELAND, 2003 pole jockey noun a telephone or power lineman US, 1960 pole orchard noun the half-acre of utility poles at the Fort Gordon, Georgia Signal Corps School where linemen are given climbing instruction US, 1968 poles noun trousers. Vietnam war slang US, 1991 pole work noun utilisation of a pole by a dancer in a sex club US, 2001

poley; poly noun a hornless cow or bull AUSTRALIA, 1843

poley adjective 1 of a beast, hornless. From British dialect poly, polly, poll, variant of polled (de-horned) AUSTRALIA, 1843. 2 of a container, missing a handle AUSTRALIA, 1901 polgarize verb during the Vietnam war, to give unrealistic and optimistic reports of the US progress in the war. Named after Thomas Polgar, CIA station chief in Saigon in the early 1970s US, 1990 po-lice noun the police. By stressing the first syllable, the conventional term becomes unconventional US, 1970 police discount noun a great, if not complete, reduction in the price of goods or services provided to police in their area of duty US, 1975

policeman noun in horse racing, a horse entered in a claiming race solely for the purpose of permitting the owner to claim another horse in the race US, 1951 policeman lesion noun in an x-ray, a lesion that is unmissable. Medical wit; the lesion must be so obvious that a policeman would spot it UK, 2002 policeman's helmet noun the glans of the erect penis. From a similarity in shape to the traditional headwear of the British constable UK, 1961 police pimp noun an informer to the police AUSTRALIA, 1956 police psychology noun brute physical force US, 1973 policy noun an illegal lottery. Better known as the NUMBERS racket US, 1843 policy banker noun the operator of an illegal numbers racket or lottery US, 1975 polio weed noun extremely potent marijuana. Marijuana so strong as to reduce the user to a 'polio-like' condition US, 1982 polis noun the police; a police officer. Mainly Scottish and Irish use UK, 1878 poli sci noun political science. College shorthand US, 1971 polish noun oral sex performed on a man NEW ZEALAND, 1998 polish verb ► polish the mug to wash your face US, 1962 polish and gloss; polish verb (of a male) to masturbate. Rhyming slang for TOSS UK, 1992 polisher noun an alcoholic who drinks metal polish UK, 1966

Polish jew noun a firecracker US, 1991

Polish martini noun a shot of whisky and a glass of beer US, 1982

Polish matched luggage noun two shopping bags from Goldblatt's, a low-end Chicago department store chain US, 1982 polish off verb to defeat someone; to finish or get rid of something; to eat something without leaving anything (especially with gusto) UK, 1873

Polish smoking jacket noun a sleeveless tee-shirt or undershirt vest US, 2002

Polish victory lap noun circling a track in the opposite direction to which a race has been run in celebration of victory. A calculated creation in 1988 of driver Alan Kulwicki, who died in an aeroplane crash in 1993 US, 1990 political holy water noun alcohol CANADA, 1999 politician noun in prison, a trusted prisoner given responsibilities and liberties exceeding those of normal prisoners US, 1946 politico; politicko noun a politician either ambitious or unscrupulous, or both. From the Italian or Spanish UK, 1893 pollakaun noun a hoard of money; savings IRELAND, 2000

Pollard's cellar noun a notional representation of homelessness BARBADOS, 1965

pollatic adjective drunk UK, 2002 pollie noun a politician AUSTRALIA, 1967 pollutant noun amphetamine; MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. It makes you POLLUTED (intoxicated) UK, 2003 polluted adjective 1 drunk US, 1976. 2 warped, perverse US, 1988

polly noun a politician US, 1974

Polly Flinder noun 1 a window. Rhyming slang, noted as a 'shiner's (window cleaner's) term' UK, 1961. 2 a cinder, especially when used to describe over-cooked food. Rhyming slang, formed from the nursery rhyme character Polly Flinders UK, 1992 polly parrot noun a carrot. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 polo noun a mixture of heroin and a motion-sickness drug. From the middle syllables in 'scopolamine' UK, 2002 polo mint noun 1 without money. Rhyming slang for SKINT, based on the famous 'mint with the hole' UK, 2002. 2 a girlfriend; a young woman. Rhyming slang for BINT. Also based on the branded mint sweet UK, 2003. 3 a traffic roundabout. Citizens' band radio slang, from the similarity of shape with Polo™ branded peppermints UK, 1981

polone; pollone; polony; polonee; noun a woman; a girl; an effeminate man. Polari. Also variants with an 'a' to include 'palone', 'paloney' and 'palogne' UK, 1934

Polski noun a Polish immigrant or Polish-American US, 1997

polvo noun 1 phencyclidine, the recreational drug known as PCP or angel dust US, 2001. 2 powdered drugs; heroin; cocaine. Directly from Spanish polvo (powder): POWDER (heroin). Also variant 'polvito' UK, 1980 polvo blanco noun cocaine. From Spanish for 'white powder' UK, 1998 poly noun 1 a person who loves and has sex with multiple partners. An abbreviation of 'polyamorous' US, 2000. 2 a polytechnic UK, 2002. 3 marijuana of a supposedly Polynesian origin UK, 1997. 4 a surfboard manufactured with polyurethane US, 1963 ► see: POLEY polyster queen noun a girl or woman with no fashion sense US, 1985

Pom; pom noun an English person, or more loosely, a person from Britain. Shortening of POMMY AUSTRALIA, 1912

Pom; pom adjective English, or more loosely, British AUSTRALIA, 1960

Pomland nickname England AUSTRALIA, 1984

Pommified adjective having taken on an English character AUSTRALIA, 1936

Pommy; Pommie noun an English person, or more loosely, a person from Britain. Originally used of English immigrants to Australia, it is a shortening of the now obsolete 'Pomegranate', rhyming slang for 'immigrant'. The rhyming slang term and the shortened variants 'Pom' and 'Pommie' all appear in the lexical record at the same time. The occasional spelling 'pommigrant' shows the rhyming pronunciation. Although this word carries a definite negative connotation, it also can be used as a term of affectionate abuse (see POMMY BASTARD and WHINGEING POM). The suggestion that Pommy is actually a respelling of P. O.M.E., standing for the reputed term Prisoner Of Mother England, or P. O.H.M.I.E., standing for Prisoner Of Her Majesty In Exile, and other variations on this theme, are implausible on phonetic grounds and are in themselves anachronistic as acronyms were not a common feature of English in the early part of C20 AUSTRALIA, 1912

Pommy; Pommie adjective English, or more loosely, British AUSTRALIA, 1915

Pommy bastard noun an English person (stereotypically viewed as noisome to the Australian) AUSTRALIA, 1951

pommy cock noun an uncircumcised penis AUSTRALIA, 1985

Pommyland nickname England or the British Isles AUSTRALIA, 1915 po-mo; postie noun a postmodernist philosopher UK, 2003 pomosexual noun a person who will not be defined by his or her sexuality. A contrived play on 'post-modern' and 'homosexual'. 'Pomosexual' is first recorded in 1995 US, 1997 pom-pom noun sex. Used by US soldiers in Japan and the Philippines US, 1947 ponce noun 1 a pimp UK, 1872. 2 a despised or unpleasant person UK, 1953. 3 an effeminate male AUSTRALIA, 1971 ponce verb 1 to obtain something by poncing, usually money UK, 1938. 2 to live on the earnings of another's prostitution; to act as a pimp (a prostitute's manager) UK, 1932. 3 to scrounge; to sponge. A general sense of acquiring something for nothing extended from the previous sense UK, 1915. ► go out poncing (of the police) to search for pimps UK, 1996. ► ponce off; ponce on to live on the earnings of another's prostitution, but not taking any active part in the trade UK, 1936

ponce about; ponce around verb 1 to behave in an exaggeratedly camp manner AUSTRALIA, 1978. 2 to act the fool; to show off UK, 1996 ponce up verb to dress up smartly; to decorate something. Originally military UK, 1965 poncey adjective 1 affectedly stylish UK, 1964. 2 blatantly, affectedly homosexual NEW ZEALAND, 1984

Poncho nickname a Pontiac car US, 1965 poncified adjective affectedly stylish; effeminate. From PONCE UK, 2001 pond noun ► the pond a sea, especially the Atlantic Ocean. An ironic understatement of the distance between the UK and the US, shortened from earlier 'great pond' which it replaces UK, 1780 pond life noun an unintelligent person or people UK, 1998 pond scum noun a person with no redeeming features US, 1997 pone noun in a card game, the player immediately to the right of the dealer UK, 1901 pong noun an unpleasant smell AUSTRALIA, 1919 pong verb 1 to stink UK, 1927. 2 in the theatre, to substitute lines when the correct lines are forgotten UK, 1952

ponga noun the vagina BAHAMAS, 1982

Pongo; Percy Pongo; Perce noun a member of the British Army. The Royal Navy perpetuate the wicked myth that this derives from PONG (a smell) suggesting that soldiers' smell and sailors don't. 'Percy' appears to be merely alliterative UK, 1987

Pongo Pete nickname General Sir Peter de la Billiere (b.1934), commander of British armoured forces during the Gulf war UK, 1991

pongy adjective smelly UK, 1936 ponies noun 1 horse races held for ponies AUSTRALIA, 1950. 2 horsepower US, 1993. ► push ponies to work as a pimp US, 1987. ► the ponies horse racing UK, 1961

Ponsford odds noun in horse racing, odds of 100–1 or greater. An allusion to Bill Ponsford, a high scoring cricket legend AUSTRALIA, 1989 pont verb in the harsh climate of Antarctica, to pose for a photograph, especially in an uncomfortable position. Eponym from Herbert George Ponting, photographer on Scott's 1910–13 expedition ANTARCTICA, 1911

PONTI; ponti noun in military terms, a person of no tactical importance. An acronym UK, 2002 pontoon noun a period of twenty-one months' imprisonment; also twenty-one years in prison or in military service. From the card game 'pontoon' in which the winning hand scores twenty-one UK, 1950

Ponty nickname Pontypridd, Pontypool, Pontefract in West Yorkshire, or any town so constructed. From Welsh pont y (bridge of) UK: WALES, 1937 pony noun 1 twenty-five pounds UK, 1797. 2 in betting, odds of 25–1. Adapted from the previous sense UK, 1991. 3 a racehorse. Used especially in the phrase 'play the ponies' US, 1907. 4 a chorus girl or dancer, especially a small one UK, 1908. 5 a female who moves quickly from sexual relationship to sexual relationship, manipulating and using her partners US, 1999. 6 crack cocaine US, 1994. 7 a Pontiac car US, 1967. 8 in Western Australia, a small glass of beer. Now generally 5 fluid ounces, though formerly 4, or even 2 fluid ounces. Obsolescent AUSTRALIA, 1895. 9 dried nose mucus BAHAMAS, 1982. 10 a literal, line-by-line translation of a work in a foreign (usually classical) language US, 1827 pony verb in horse racing, to send a stable pony out with a racehorse to limber up US, 1947 pony and trap; pony noun an act of defecation; hence excreta; rubbish, nonsense. Rhyming slang for CRAP (excrement); it can substitute for any sense of 'crap' UK, 1960 pony and trap; pony verb to defecate. Rhyming slang for CRAP, usually reduced to 'pony' UK, 1984 pony and trap; pony adjective rubbishy, trashy, valueless. Rhyming slang for CRAP UK, 1979 pony pecker noun sausage; unidentified pressed meat US, 1968 ponyplay noun an animal transformation sexual fetish, in which the dominants train, ride and groom people who dress and act like ponies US, 2000 pony up verb to contribute your share of a bet or collection US, 1979 poo noun 1 faeces, excrement; the act of defecation. Childish or jocular. Many variant forms, including 'pooh', 'poo poo' and 'pooh pooh' UK, 1960. 2 the buttocks; the anus BAHAMAS, 1982. ► in the poo in trouble. Euphemistic for IN THE SHIT AUSTRALIA, 1961 poo; pooh verb to defecate UK, 1963

-poo; -poos suffix used for creating an informal elaboration of a person's name UK, 2000 poo and spew syndrome noun amoebic dysentery or similar complaint AUSTRALIA, 1988 poo butt noun a coward. Black street gang terminology US, 1995 pooch noun 1 a dog. Also used as a term of address for an unknown dog US, 1924. 2 the buttocks BARBADOS, 1965

Pooch noun a Porsche car US, 1965 poochi noun the vagina. Sounds more like a dog – (a POOCH) – than the traditional PUSSY (the vagina); probably a play on Poochi™, an electronic toy dog promoted with such phrases as: 'The more you play with me the happier I will be!' and 'Feed me my special dog bone whenever I get hungry' US, 1998

pooch out verb to purse your lips US, 1989 poodle; pootle verb to travel or move forward without urgency UK, 1999 poof adjective of a male homosexual AUSTRALIA, 1992 poof; pouf; pouff noun a male homosexual. In origin probably connected with French slang poufasser, which Barrère (Argot and Slang, 1889) defines as a person 'of either sex whose fondness for the opposite sex leads them into a life of questionable description', that is, presumably, a life of prostitution including homosexual prostitution, and pouffiance or pouffiasse 'a low prostitute' AUSTRALIA, 1833

poof-juice noun after-shave lotion, eau-de-cologne for men UK, 1997 poofster noun a homosexual man; an effeminate man. Variation of POOFER US, 1995 poofteenth noun a very small amount; an umpteenth AUSTRALIA, 1996

poofter noun 1 a homosexual male. Variants include 'poofteh' and 'poofdah' AUSTRALIA, 1903. 2 an effeminate looking man, not necessarily homosexual. Also variant 'pooftha' AUSTRALIA, 1903. 3 a contemptible person. Used as a general term of abuse AUSTRALIA, 1986. 4 a braggart NEW ZEALAND, 1990 poofter adjective 1 (of a male) homosexual AUSTRALIA, 1964. 2 befitting or suitable for an effeminate homosexual man AUSTRALIA, 1984

poofter bash verb to beat up a male homosexual AUSTRALIA, 1983

poofter basher noun a man, usually as part of a group, who beats up homosexual men AUSTRALIA, 1974

poofter bashing; poofter-bashing noun the practice of physically assaulting male homosexuals AUSTRALIA, 1978

poofterism noun male homosexuality AUSTRALIA, 1971

poofter rorter noun 1 in a men's prison, a prisoner who induces another inmate into homosexual relations AUSTRALIA, 1945. 2 a person who entices a male homosexual, especially a prostitute, to a secluded place and then robs them AUSTRALIA, 1938 poofy adjective overtly homosexual. Also variant 'poufy' AUSTRALIA, 1962

pooh noun an act of defecation. Children's vocabulary NEW ZEALAND, 1984

pooh bah noun an important person. The name of a character in the Gilbert and Sullivan light opera The Mikado UK, 1888 pooh-bum noun a female fan of a rock band who is willing to have sex with band members UK, 1985

pooh-butt noun a despicable person US, 1994

pooh-pooh verb to belittle someone or something; to dismiss someone or something as inconsequential UK, 1827 poo-jabber noun 1 a male homosexual AUSTRALIA, 1994. 2 a contemptible person. Used as a mild insult, especially amongst children AUSTRALIA, 1996 pooker noun a signpost. English gypsy use from Romany pūkinger (to tell) UK, 2000

pooke; pookie noun used as a term of contempt IRELAND, 1989

pooki noun the vagina US, 1998

pooky noun marijuana US, 2001 pool noun in horse racing, the total amount bet in the win, place and show bets for a race US, 1947

Pool noun ► the Pool Liverpool UK, 1962

pooley noun urine IRELAND, 1995

poolhall cowboy noun a pool player who has perfected a reckless manner US, 1976 pool harpy noun a pool player who plays for money, relying on a combination of skill and deceptive behaviour US, 1966 pool shark noun an expert pool player who makes a living by feigning a lack of expertise and convincing strangers to play against him US, 1908

poom verb to fart TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1992

pooma noun a dilapidated car BARBADOS, 1965

poom bag noun large buttocks TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987

poomp noun to fart BAHAMAS, 1982

poon noun 1 the vagina; a woman; a woman as a sex object; sex with a woman. A shortened form of POONTANG US, 1957. 2 a fool; a contemptible person. Used as a mild insult AUSTRALIA, 1940

poonce noun an effeminate male AUSTRALIA, 1941 pooner a male with sexual experience and apparent expertise US, 1968

poon light noun in the pornography industry, a light used to illuminate the genitals of the performers US, 1995 poontang noun the vagina; sex; a woman regarded as a sexual object. Suggestions that the term comes from an American Indian language, Chinese, Bantu, Peruvian or a Filipino dialect notwithstanding, it almost certainly comes from the French putain (prostitute) US, 1929

poon up verb to dress in a flashy manner in order to impress AUSTRALIA, 1972 poony noun the vagina; women as sexual objects. A variation of PUNANI UK, 1994 poop noun 1 information, news. Probably from the sense as 'nonsense' (SHIT) US, 1942. 2 the buttocks BAHAMAS, 1982. 3 faeces; an act of defecation. Children's toilet vocabulary US, 1948. 4 rubbish, nonsense UK, 2003. 5 a pledge to a college fraternity US, 1955. ► in the poop in trouble AUSTRALIA, 1971 poop verb 1 to defecate UK, 1927. 2 in poker, to raise a bet US, 1951 poopadoop noun the rectum US, 1977 poop-butt noun a lazy person US, 1972 poop chute; poop shute; poop shooter noun the rectum and anus US, 1970

pooped adjective exhausted US, 1932

poopelu noun the vagina US, 1998

pooper noun the rectum and anus. From POOP (excrement) US, 1997 pooper-scooper noun an implement for gathering canine excrement, designed to meet the social responsibilities or legal requirements placed upon dog owners. Combines POOP (faeces) with a conventional tool. Also shortened forms 'pooper-scoop' and 'poop-scoop' US, 1972 poop file noun a collection of (school, college, university) examinations given in the past US, 1976

poophead noun a boring, conventional person US, 1955

poopi noun the vagina US, 1998 poo-poo head noun an objectionable person. A variation of SHITHEAD, perhaps more insulting by the use of childish, 'poo-poo', (excrement) US, 1995 poop-poop noun a slow motorboat BAHAMAS, 1982

poop pusher noun a male homosexual UK, 1983

poops verb to fart TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987

poop sheet noun a bulletin or other document containing news and information US, 1964 poopy adjective 1 filthy with excrement. From POOP (faeces) US, 2003. 2 bad, awful; of poor quality. A euphemistic synonym for SHITTY US, 2002. 3 in a bad mood. A euphemistic form of SHITTY US, 1990. 4 afraid SOUTH AFRICA, 1963

poopy suit noun in the Canadian military, any bulky official garment CANADA, 1995 poor adjective cruel, heartless; lacking good taste US, 2003 poor-ass adjective wretched, unimportant US, 1998

poorboy noun a small bottle of alcohol US, 1952 poor-donkey noun a sandal of plaited rope or one cut from a piece of tyre or wood BARBADOS, 1996 poor-great adjective foolishly pompous GUYANA, 1996

poor-man blanket noun the sun BAHAMAS, 1982 poor man's adjective describes the lesser status or inferior quality of someone by comparison and reference to the greater name with which it is combined. Only colloquial when applied to people UK, 1984 poor man's roulette noun the game of craps US, 1953 poor man's velvet noun a drink of mixed stout and cider. An economic variation of BLACK VELVET (stout and champagne); remembered from the 1970s, notwithstanding the drink's amnesiac effects UK, 2001 poor man's weather glass noun seaweed, especially kelp CANADA, 1974 poor pearl noun an unpopular girl US, 1960 poor-rakey noun thin, gaunt BARBADOS, 1965

poot noun 1 faeces. Children's vocabulary; a variation of POOP US, 1981. 2 anything which is considered to be contemptible US, 1989. 3 a very small thing; anything at all. Usually heard in the negative, as 'that ain't poot' US, 1978

poot verb 1 to defecate US, 1945. 2 to fart US, 1972. 3 (used of a hospital patient) to become suddenly more ill, especially without hope of reversing the course US, 1989

poot-butt noun a lazy fool US, 1972 pootenanny; pooties noun the female buttocks. Probably derived from Jamaican PUNANI (the vagina) US, 1997 pootie noun the vagina US, 1999 pootle verb ▷ see: POODLE poov; poove noun food, especially grass for grazing. Circus and English gypsy use UK, 1933 poov; poove verb ► poov the gry; poov the grey to graze a horse, especially without permission from the land's owner. English gypsy use; a combination of POOV (grass) – thus 'pooving' (grazing) – and GRY (a horse) UK, 1968 poove; pouve noun a homosexual. Variations of POOF UK, 1967

pooze noun the vagina US, 1975

poozle noun a scavenged object NEW ZEALAND, 1971

poozle verb to strip fixtures from buildings scheduled for demolition NEW ZEALAND, 1984 pop noun 1 an instance or occurrence US, 1868. 2 an attempt, a try UK, 1929. 3 an arrest US, 1972. 4 an attack. Combination and variation of the senses 'attempt' and 'go' UK, 2001. 5 an ejaculation US, 1986. 6 one event of sexual intercourse US, 1982. 7 in prison, an escape attempt UK, 1996. 8 a father, especially as a term of address US, 1838. 9 the 'masculine' or 'active' member of a lesbian relationship US, 1957. 10 a musical genre, characterised as trivial and without serious artistic intent. Originally widely used to cover the opposite of 'classical music', now denotes just a particular type of popular music: carefully crafted, packaged or manufactured for mass-market appeal US, 1935. 11 any non-alcoholic sparkling drink. From the sound of a bottle being opened UK, 1812. 12 champagne UK, 2000. 13 a drink, usually at a bar US, 1977. 14 cough syrup containing codeine US, 1970. 15 an injection of a drug US, 1952. 16 a strong crowd reaction. Professional wrestling usage US, 2000 ▷ see: POP GOES THE WEASEL. ► go off pop to lose your temper NEW ZEALAND, 1946. ► have a pop at to attack verbally UK, 1999. ► on the pop drinking alcohol UK, 2000 pop nickname used as a nickname for any male stagedoor manager US, 1952 pop verb 1 to ejaculate; to experience orgasm US, 1961. 2 to have sex with someone US, 1965. 3 (used of a male) to have sex with a virgin BAHAMAS, 1982. 4 to give birth US, 1990. 5 to fart. Childish; used in the US, UK and Australia. Also phrased as 'pop off' and 'pop a whiff' UK, 1998. 6 to administer medication UK, 1991. 7 to inject a drug US, 1952. 8 to take a pill US, 1968. 9 when using amyl nitrate, to break the glass ampoules containing the gas US, 1995. 10 to inhale a powdered drug UK, 1998. 11 to steal something. Originally in black use US, 1994. 12 to obtain confidential or classified information about someone as part of an investigation US, 1997. 13 to arrest someone US, 1975. 14 to fire a gun UK, 1725. 15 to hit someone US, 1980. 16 to kill someone US, 1952. 17 to pay for something US, 1958. 18 to praise or promote someone or something US, 1984. 19 to applaud and cheer enthusiastically. Professional wrestling usage US, 2000. 20 to send an e-mail to someone UK, 2004. 21 to go to or from somewhere, especially swiftly or suddenly. Usually used with 'up', 'down', 'in', 'out', 'over', 'about', 'off', 'between', etc UK, 1530. 22 in pinball, to win a replay or additional ball, activating the sound effect known as a knocker US, 1977. 23 (of a car boot or bonnet) to open remotely US, 2000. ► pop a cap to shoot a gun US, 1965. ► pop a top to open a can of beer. An inevitable reduplication with the advent of aluminium cans with pull-tabs in the early 1970s US, 1967. ► pop corn to engage in a swindle or dishonest scheme US, 1995. ► pop junk to gossip US, 1990. ► pop smoke to detonate a smoke grenade US, 1982. ► pop the chute in sailing, to release the spinnaker US, 1990. ► pop ya collar to respect yourself UK, 2003. ► pop your clogs to die. Literally, 'to put your shoes in the pawnbroker's' (because you have no further use for them) UK, 2000. ► pop your nuts to ejaculate US, 1970. ► pop your pumpkin to lose your temper US, 1954. ► pop your rocks to ejaculate US, 1977. ► pop your water to ejaculate BAHAMAS, 1971

pop bumper noun in pinball, a bumper that scores and kicks the ball on contact US, 1977 popcorn; poppy noun an erect penis. Rhyming slang for HORN UK, 1992 popcorn pimp noun a small-time pimp, a pimp who fails to live up to pimp standards US, 1972 pope noun ► for the pope used of work without pay US, 1963

Pope noun ► The Pope Frank Sinatra, US singer (1915–98) US, 1963

Pope's phone number noun VAT 69™ Scotch whisky. Dating from a time when telephone exchanges were given as the first three letters of the area name UK, 1961 popeye noun a car or truck with only one headlight working US, 1977

Popeye the sailor noun a tailor. Rhyming slang, formed on the cartoon character UK, 1992 pop goes the weasel; pop noun diesel. Rhyming slang, formed, possibly with an ironic regard to the high costs of motoring, on the traditional rhyme: 'That's the way the money goes, / Pop goes the weasel' UK, 1992

popla noun beer SOUTH AFRICA, 1977

po-po noun the police; a police officer US, 1995

pop-off noun someone who talks too much US, 1951 pop off verb 1 to die UK, 1764. 2 to brag, to boast, to speak out when discretion would suggest silence US, 1940. 3 to kill someone UK, 1824. 4 to ejaculate US, 1969 pop-out noun a mass-produced surfboard with little or no handwork involved in the making US, 1964

poppa noun in prison, a lesbian US, 1953

poppa-lopper noun used as a euphemism for 'motherfucker' US, 1977 pop party noun a party where drug users inject drugs US, 1971 popped out adjective drug-intoxicated US, 1954

popper noun 1 a finger US, 1947. 2 a pistol US, 1976. 3 a popcorn wagon US, 1985. 4 a pneumatic drill. Mining slang NEW ZEALAND, 1986. 5 a fart UK. Childish, descriptive. Also called 'multipopper', 1998. 6 a capsule containing vapours of amyl nitrate or (iso)butyl nitrate inhaled as a stimulant. Often used in the plural form US, 1967. 7 any drug addict. A very loosely defined, or understood, usage UK, 1967 poppet noun 1 used as an endearment. A 'puppet', hence a 'doll' UK, 1729. 2 the object of ridicule BARBADOS, 1965 popplin noun kindling wood, used to start a fire CANADA, 1984 poppy noun 1 opium. Earlier pharmaceutical usage into slang UK, 1935. 2 heroin UK, 1998. 3 money UK, 1977 ▷ see: POPCORN poppy verb to pay UK, 1979

poppycock noun nonsense US, 1857 poppy love noun an older Jewish man US, 1987 poppy pad noun a room or apartment where heroin users congregate US, 1959 pops noun 1 used as a term of address for a man, especially an older man US, 1844. 2 father US, 1989 pop shop noun a place where criminals sell stolen goods US, 1949 pop shot noun a scene in a pornographic film or photograph depicting a man ejaculating US, 1991

popsicle noun used as a term of abuse US, 1984

popsie noun an ampoule of amyl nitrite US, 1971

popskull noun strong, homemade whisky US, 1999

popsy; popsie noun a young woman who is the object of a romantic or sexual attraction UK, 1862 poptastic adjective fantastic. Created for the BBC television programme Harry Enfield's Television Programme, 1990, written by Harry Enfield and Paul Whitehouse for the comedy characters Smashie and Nicey UK, 2003 pop top noun a truck carrying bottled soft drinks. Citizens' band radio slang, elaborated on POP (a carbonated drink) UK, 1981 population noun the general population in a prison US, 1975

pop-up noun 1 an electronic advertisement delivered to a computer via the Internet that is superimposed over the original browser window US, 1996. 2 any mushroom with an hallucinogenic effect UK, 2000 pop-up hell noun an unfriendly web-surfing environment characterised by multiple console advertisements in pop-up windows. A term used frequently on the web but not in conventional print sources US, 2004 porcelain god noun a toilet US, 1986 porcelain king; porcelain queen noun someone who habitually drinks alcohol to the point of vomiting US, 1993 porch climber noun homemade alcohol or cheap British Columbia wines CANADA, 1989 porch monkey noun a black person. Offensive, slurring the stereotype of laziness (porch) and the African jungle (monkey) US, 1981 porcupine head noun in hot rodding and motor racing, the cylinder head on the big-block engines manufactured by Chevrolet. John Edwards, Auto Dictionary, 1993, gives a neat etymology: 'When the valve covers are removed, the valve stems appear to stick out at odd angles, like the needles on a porcupine' US, 1993

Po' Rican noun Puerto Rican US, 1975

pork noun 1 flesh, especially in a sexual context UK, 1996. 2 the genitals, male or female BAHAMAS, 1982 pork verb to have sex with someone US, 1968 pork and bean noun a male homosexual. Rhyming slang for QUEEN AUSTRALIA, 1944 pork chop noun in electric line work, a wire grip used for holding a conductor under tension US, 1980

Pork Chop Hill noun a hill which was the site of extensive fighting in the final months of the Korean war, from 16th April to 18th April and again from 6th July to 10th July, 1953 US, 1964 pork chop in a synagogue used as a simile for anything that is badly, especially embarrassingly, out of place or unwelcome UK, 1984 pork-dodger noun a Jewish person. From the dietary restrictions of observant Jews US, 1997 porker noun 1 a fat person US, 1959. 2 a police officer. An extension of PIG US, 1998

pork-man noun a white man UK, 2000

pork patrol noun a police car US, 1993 pork pie noun 1 a lie. Rhyming slang. Now stands alone in the reduced form PORKY UK, 1984. 2 a serious bruise NEW ZEALAND, 1998 pork pies; porkie pies; porkies noun the eyes. Rhyming slang UK, 1999 pork scratch noun a match. Rhyming slang, contrived from the savoury snack pork scratchings UK, 1996

pork sword noun the penis US, 1966 porky noun 1 a lie. Abbreviated from rhyming slang PORK PIE UK, 1992. 2 the vagina BAHAMAS, 1982. 3 a police officer US, 1973 porky adjective obese UK, 1852

Porky Pig adjective big; generous. Rhyming slang, from the name of a Warner Bros' cartoon character. The sense of 'big' is often heavily ironic UK, 1992 porn; porno noun pornography UK, 1962 porn and prawn adjective of a party, arranged for the purpose of showing pornographic films and catered for with epicurean food including prawns AUSTRALIA, 1996 pornbroker noun a seller of pornographic literature. A pun on 'pawnbroker' UK, 1967 pornflakes noun crusty, dried semen. A pun on the branded name of a popular breakfast cereal, Corn Flakes™ AUSTRALIA, 2003 porn flick noun a pornographic film UK, 1970 porn mag; porno mag noun a pornographic magazine UK, 1972

porno noun a pornographic film or video UK, 1997

porno adjective pornographic US, 1952 pornographically adverb used in a sexual context for more than averagely UK, 2002 pornshop noun a shop where pornography is sold. A pun on 'pawnshop' UK, 1984 porn weed; horny weed noun marijuana with, allegedly, aphrodisiac properties. Combines WEED (marijuana) with sexual possibilities, HORNY (sexually stimulating), PORN (pornography) and 'love' UK, 1999

porny adjective pornographic US, 1969 porpoise noun a landing by an aeroplane in which the plane bounces from the main gear to the nose gear US, 1963

porpoise verb in mountain biking, to ride responding to, instead of controlling, the bike US, 1992

Porra; porra noun a person of Portuguese descent SOUTH AFRICA, 1975

porridge noun 1 a sentence of imprisonment; the time served in prison. Possibly puns on STIR (prison) and the staple prison diet of porridge. The term settled in the wider public consciousness during the 1970s with BBC television prison situation comedy Porridge UK, 1955. 2 the brain. A visual link between varying consistencies of grey matter UK, 1997. 3 sludge removed from drains UK, 1970

porridge gun noun the penis UK, 2003

porridge pot noun in motor racing, a crash helmet that covers only the top of the head US, 1965 porridge wog noun a Scot. Combines WOG (a foreigner) with a stereotypical Scottish dish UK, 2002 port noun 1 in New South Wales and Queensland, a suitcase or schoolbag. From 'portmanteau' AUSTRALIA, 1898. 2 a railway porter US, 1977

portable noun a foot-patrol police officer US, 1987

Portagee noun a person from Portugal, or of Portuguese heritage US, 1978. ► go Portagee on me to back out of an agreement. Portuguese immigrants, mostly fishermen, fishbuyers and sailors, settled near where this phrase is current CANADA, 1999

Portagee beer noun any beer in a quart bottle BERMUDA, 1985

Portagee chrome noun aluminium paint US, 1961

Portagee lawnmower noun a goat US, 1989

Portagee lift noun in manual labour, said when one worker does not carry his fair share US, 1960

Portagee overdrive noun to coast down a hill while driving US, 1961 port and brandy adjective sexually aroused; feeling lecherous. Rhyming slang for RANDY UK, 1992 portapotty noun a portable toilet, transported to construction sites, campgrounds, outdoor concerts, etc. US, 1993 porthole duff noun homosexual anal sex. A naval use – another dish on the NAVY CAKE menu; the 'porthole' may refer to the anus or, in specialised use, mean that the passive partner has his 'head out of a porthole' UK, 1961 portion noun an act of sexual intercourse as something given to a woman UK, 2000 portnoy noun a male masturbator. A reference to Portnoy's Complaint, a novel by Philip Roth, 1969 UK, 1970

Port of Spaniard noun a resident of Port of Spain, Trinidad TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1990 portrait painter noun speed radar; a police officer operating a speed camera US, 1976

port-sider noun a left-handed person US, 1971

Portuguese parliament noun a meeting where everybody talks and nobody listens US, 1951

Portuguese shop noun a small grocery shop attached to a rum shop, whether or not it is owned by Portuguese people TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1989

Portuguese straight noun in poker, a straight formed with different suits, thus without value. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982

porty noun a portable telephone US, 1996 pos noun position US, 1986 ▶ see: POSS

POS noun a patient regarded by hospital personnel as a piece of shit US, 1978 pose verb to pretend a station in life that has yet to be achieved US, 1946 poser noun a person who imitates that which he is not US, 1990 posh adjective 1 being stylish, smart; of the best class; elegant and sophisticated. In popular folk etymology, reinforced by the song 'Posh' in the 1968 film Chitty Chitty Bang Bang, 'posh' is an acronym of port out starboard home, supposedly the location of the 'best' cabins on an England to India P&O line cruise; unfortunately P&O has no record of such a phrase ever being used. Other suggested derivations: a contraction of 'polished', an earlier sense as 'money', and a corruption of Scottish tosh (smart). However, this is slang and 'port out starboard home' is the more entertaining etymology and therefore likely to continue as the popular favourite UK, 1918. 2 being in possession of drugs UK, 2002

Posh and Becks; Posh 'n' Becks noun sex UK, 2003

Posh and Becks; Posh 'n' Becks nickname singer Victoria Beckham and her husband, footballer David Beckham, considered as a single celebrity icon UK, 2000 poshie noun a posh person IRELAND, 1997

posho noun a member of the middle- or upper-classes UK, 2001 posh totty noun a sexually attractive upper-class woman UK, 2001 posh wank noun 1 an act of male masturbation while the penis is sheathed in a condom. Combines POSH (upper-class) with WANK (to masturbate) UK, 1999. 2 used as abuse of a contemptible person, especially one you consider to be of a superior status. A combination of POSH (upper-class) with WANK (an act of masturbation); informed by contemporaneous 'posh wank' (the act of masturbation in a condom) UK, 1999 poshy adjective elegant and sophisticated. Later variation of POSH UK, 2000 poshy-poshy adjective extremely elegant and stylish. Reduplication of POSHY for emphasis UK, 2002 pository yes, affirmative. Citizens' band radio slang US, 1976 poss; pos adjective possible UK, 1886 poss; pos noun a possibility UK, 1964 posse noun 1 a group of close friends US, 1985. 2 a gang US, 1994 possible noun 1 the vagina. A probably Freudian etymology US, 1998. 2 in target shooting, a perfect score US, 1957. 3 in poker, any hand that can be completed with the draw of one card. Variant 'possibulletee' US, 1951 possie; possy; pozzie; pozzie noun a position. Originally in World War 1 a soldier's chosen position from which to snipe, observe, etc AUSTRALIA, 1915 possum noun darling. A term of affectionate address AUSTRALIA, 1894

Possum; Ole Possum nickname George Jones, a country singer and songwriter (b.1931) US, 1995 possum belly noun the tool box located on the underside of a brakevan (caboose). US, 1946 post noun an autopsy. From the more formal 'post mortem' US, 1942. ▶ left at the post (of a horse in a race) to lose badly AUSTRALIA, 1895 post verb to leave someone in the lurch, especially during the commission of a crime AUSTRALIA, 1975. ▶ post a flyer to use coded language in a conversation to advertise your homosexuality and sexual availability UK, 1987. ▶ post a letter to go to the toilet TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 postage stamp noun 1 a woman. Citizens' band radio slang, etymology unknown, although licking is almost certainly a component US, 1976. 2 a public house bar counter. Rhyming slang for RAMP. Shortened to 'postage' UK, 1992. 3 in horse racing, a very small weight allowance in a weight-handicapped event AUSTRALIA, 1989 postal adjective extremely angry; furious to the point of violence.

From a series of highly publicised workplace shootings by frustrated and furious employees of the US Postal Service US, 1994

postcode adjective used for describing any matter in which domestic, economic or political status may be defined by geographic location; where your postal address affects the provision of medical care, education and publicly funded services, or insurance, or credit rating; especially as 'postcode lottery', 'postcode prescribing' and 'postcode discrimination' UK, 1999 poster boy noun a very good example of an attitude or condition. Used facetiously US, 1993 posteriors noun the penis and testicles BAHAMAS, 1982 postie noun 1 a postman or postwoman UK, 1887. 2 The Royal Mail, the Post Office UK, 2001 ▶ see: PO-MO postman noun in horse racing, someone who can be counted on for inside tips on horses and races. A term built on MAIL as 'inside information' AUSTRALIA, 1989 postman's knock noun 1 a lock. Rhyming slang, ascribed to burglars when used by locksmiths Chubb's in an advertisement UK, 1962. 2 a clock. Rhyming slang, sometimes seen in an abbreviated form as 'postman's' UK, 1992. 3 in pool, a shot in which the cue ball hits the object ball twice in rapid succession, producing a knock-like sound US, 1993 post-mortem noun in poker, an analysis of a hand after it has been played US, 1988 postop noun a transsexual who has undergone all surgery necessary to complete a sex change US, 1995 post up verb to idle US, 1998 pot noun 1 marijuana. The most popular slang term for marijuana in the 1950s. No agreement on the etymology, with competing conjectures and little supporting evidence US, 1938. 2 heroin US, 1999. 3 in Queensland, Victoria and Tasmania, a 10 fluid ounce glass of beer AUSTRALIA, 1915. 4 a tooth. Polari; usually in the plural UK, 1992. 5 in poker, all of the chips or money bet on a single hand US, 1947. 6 the jack in a game of bowls. In Midlands' use. The southern equivalent is 'kitty' UK, 1979. 7 in electric line work, a transformer. An abbreviation of 'potential transformer' US, 1980. 8 a carburettor US, 1941. 9 a hospital patient with many trivial complaints US, 1980. ▶ not have a pot to piss in; not have a pot to pee in to be extremely poor CANADA, 1961 pot verb 1 to shoot or kill someone US, 1860. 2 to put a baby on a potty (a chamber pot) UK, 1961. ▶ pot the white to have sex. An allusion to billiards UK, 1955

-pot suffix a person of a type defined or suggested by the word to which it is joined. The best known current forms are FUSSPOT and SEXPOT UK, 1880 pot A noun a prisoner who has received a minimum of ten years is regarded as a potential Category A prisoner UK, 1996 potable noun drinking water US, 1968 pot and pan; old pot and pan; old pot noun a man; a husband; a father. Rhyming slang AUSTRALIA, 1905 potater juice; potato juice; potata juice noun vodka US, 1976 potato noun 1 marijuana. An elaboration of POT UK, 1999. 2 LSD UK, 1998. 3 a woman. Short for POTATO PEELER AUSTRALIA, 1959 potato digger noun an amphibious tracked personnel carrier fitted with a dozer blade used for clearing mines during the Vietnam war US, 1991 potatoed adjective sluggish; in a non-responsive state (possibly as a result of drug use) UK, 1999 potatoes noun money. One of life's basics US, 2001 potato hook noun in electric line work, an insulated line tool formally known as a fixed prong tie stick US, 1980 potato-masher noun a German fragmentation hand grenade. Korean war usage US, 1982 potato patch noun a group of neurologically depressed patients US, 1978 potato peeler noun a woman. Rhyming slang for SHEILA AUSTRALIA, 1971 potato soup noun vodka US, 1970 potato wagon noun a police van US, 1970 pot belly noun in trucking, a trailer with a dropped frame middle used for hauling cattle or hogs US, 1971

potch verb to spank or smack someone US, 1969 potchkeh verb to dawdle; to spend time inefficiently. Yiddish from German. Also variants 'potchee' and 'potchky' US, 1954 pot head noun a user of marijuana US, 1959 pot hook noun in a deck of playing cards, a nine US, 1967 pot hound noun a despised, inferior person TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1956 pot house noun a mad or psychotic person UK, 2000

Pot. Kettle. Black. used as Internet shorthand to criticise someone for engaging in precisely the same conduct or reasoning that they are attacking in another US, 1995 potless adjective without money UK, 1984 pot-licker noun an older dog NEW ZEALAND, 1981 pot likker; pot liquor noun 1 tea brewed with marijuana leaves. The intentional spelling error gives a rustic, moonshining feel to the term US, 1967. 2 strong, homemade whisky US, 1972 pot lot noun a used car business specialising in old, inexpensive cars US, 1975 pot of glue noun 1 a Jew. Rhyming slang. Also shortened form 'potter' UK, 1992. 2 a clue. Glasgow rhyming slang. Shortened forms include 'pot' and 'potter' UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 pot of honey; honey noun money. Rhyming slang UK, 1961 pot pig noun a marijuana user who takes more than a fair share UK, 2001 pots noun a large amount of money UK, 1871

POTS noun plain old telephone service US, 1997 pots and dishes noun wishes. Rhyming slang UK, 1979 pot shot noun in poker, an early and aggressive bet designed to drive other players from the field of play. Borrowed from hunting and punning on 'pot' as the collective bets US, 1951 potsy noun a firefighter's or police officer's badge US, 1954 potted adjective 1 tipsy, drunk US, 1924. 2 in a state of marijuana intoxication US, 1955 potten bush noun hashish US, 1977 pottit heid adjective dead. Glasgow rhyming slang, 'deid' in the local accent, formed from local dialect for 'potted meat' UK: SCOTLAND, 1996 pottsville noun a notional location or state of consciousness imagined by marijuana smokers. Compared to Utopia, Nirvana and Xanadu US, 2001 potty noun ► go potty to use a toilet. Children's toilet vocabulary US, 1942 potty adjective crazy; silly; eccentric. From 'pot' (a tankard), hence to be inebriated and to have the characteristics of drunken logic UK, 1920

potty about in love, infatuated or obsessed (to some degree) with something or someone UK, 1923

potty mouth noun a person prone to use profanity; profanity US, 1968 potty talk noun speech that is considered obscenely offensive. From childish 'potty' (a chamber pot or toilet); an almost euphemistic variation of TOILET TALK US, 2002 pot-walloper noun a person employed to wash dishes US, 1975 pot-wrestler noun a restaurant cook or dishwasher US, 1860 poultice noun a large sum of money, especially a large wager AUSTRALIA, 1904 pound noun 1 a five-dollar note US, 1935. 2 a five-year jail sentence US, 1967. 3 an 's' unit (five decibels) in measuring the level of a citizens' band radio signal US, 1976. 4 an amount of heroin worth five dollars US, 1982. 5 a prison cell used for solitary confinement AUSTRALIA, 1950. 6 a jail or prison US, 1977. 7 in poker, a heavy bet US, 1988. ► have a pound on yourself to be conceited; to think very well of yourself. From betting terminology UK, 1959 pound verb to drink (alcohol) US, 1995. ► pound cotton to strain the residue of a narcotic from a bit of cotton used to strain the drug for a previous injection US, 1990. ► pound ground to march US, 1977. ► pound her pee-hole from the male perspective, to have energetic sex US, 1994. ► pound sand to engage in futile behaviour. Usually used as a command, where the term takes on a meaning not unlike 'go fuck yourself' US, 1981. ► pound the bishop (used of a male) to masturbate US, 1977. ► to get pounded while surfing, to be knocked from your surfboard and thrashed by the wave US, 1988

poundage noun weight that should be lost US, 1972 pound and crown noun a lot of money TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1993 pounder noun 1 a police officer assigned to foot patrol US, 1945. 2 a powerful, hard-breaking wave US, 1964. 3 a 16-ounce can of beer US, 1997 pound note noun a coat. Rhyming slang, now fallen into disuse, a victim of the pound coin introduced in 1983 UK, 1992 pound of butter noun a crazy person; a lunatic; an eccentric. Rhyming slang for NUTTER UK, 1998 pound off verb (used of a male) to masturbate US, 1969 pounds noun money US, 1971 pounds and pence noun sense. Rhyming slang, an updated form of SHILLINGS AND PENCE UK, 1992 pound to a penny a certainty, a sure thing. A ludicrously confident wager UK, 2001 pour verb to move or place a drunk UK, 1948. ► pour on the coal to throttle up an engine. A borrowing from steam-powered train engines US, 1956. ► pour on the coals in trucking, to drive fast US, 1971. ► pour the pork (from the male point of view) to have sex US, 1973 poured into adjective said of someone wearing very tight clothing, usually of a woman, and generally complimentary UK, 1960 pour (it) out verb to urinate US, 1990

pouve noun ► see: POOVE pov noun a person who is judged to be less well off than the speaker. Shortened from poverty or impoverished UK, 2006 poverty pimp noun a person who makes their living from the poverty of others, especially by working for government-funded programmes for the poor. The Coalition on Homelessness in San Francisco presents a Poverty Pimp Award each year US, 1979 poverty poker noun a style of poker in which a player who loses their bankroll may play for free until they win a hand US, 1988 povo adjective cheaply produced for a poor marketplace. Derives from 'poverty' UK, 2001 pow! used as a register of instant excitement UK, 1881 powder noun a powdered narcotic, usually heroin or cocaine US, 1975. ► take a powder 1 to leave US, 1934. 2 to inhale or ingest powdered drugs US, 1982 powder verb ► powder your nose 1 to sniff cocaine US, 1983. 2 to use the lavatory. A euphemism UK, 1984. ► powder your schnoz to inhale cocaine. Variation of POWDER YOUR NOSE with SCHNOZ; SCHNOZ (the nose) UK, 2000

powderbox noun the vagina US, 1998 powder diamonds; powdered diamonds noun cocaine. From the crystalline appearance, and the cost US, 1977 powdered adjective under the influence of cocaine US, 1986 powdered chalk noun a walk. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 powder monkey noun 1 an explosives expert on a work crew US, 1949. 2 a cocaine user. Plays on POWDER (cocaine) UK, 2002 powder puff noun 1 an effeminate homosexual male US, 1997. 2 in trucking, a small convex mirror mounted on the outside of the cab US, 1971 powder puff adjective in various sports, describing an event limited to female competitors US, 1973 powder train noun a US Navy SEALs diver with expertise in underwater explosives US, 1991 power noun a charge of explosives US, 1949 power adjective in a concentrated, intense manner. Almost always used mockingly US, 1989 powerdyke noun a militant feminist, whether she is a lesbian or not US, 2003 power hit noun the act of inhaling marijuana smoke and then exhaling it into another's mouth as they inhale US, 1970 power lunch noun a lunch meeting where business or deals, not eating, is the central focus US, 1986 power pill noun a tablet of any variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 1996 powerplant noun a variety of marijuana SOUTH AFRICA, 2003 power rangers noun a variety of LSD. Named after the fantasy television programme UK, 1996 power table noun a prominent table at a restaurant, seating at which is a recognition of fame or power. Used in the entertainment industry US, 1984 power trip noun any activity that is motivated by a desire for power US, 1967 pow-pow noun powder snow. Snowboarders, usage US, 1995 pow-wow noun a meeting. Originally an Algonquin word for an 'Indian priest' or 'ceremony' US, 1812 pox noun 1 syphilis; hence any sexually transmitted infection. Altered spelling of 'pocks', originally applied to the pustules of any eruptive disease UK, 1503. 2 marijuana; hashish UK, 1996. 3 opium; heroin US, 1942 pox verb to spoil something. From an earlier sense, 'to infect with syphilis' UK, 1802 poxbottle noun a despicable person IRELAND, 1991 pox docs noun doctors at a clinic for sexually transmitted diseases. A happy rhyme enjoyed in the medical profession UK, 2002 pox doctor's clerk noun used as the epitome of someone dressed in a flashy manner AUSTRALIA, 1950 poxy adjective loathsome, objectionable, disgusting. From pox (syphilis), equating the target of the adjective with venereal diseases UK, 1922 pozzie noun a location NEW ZEALAND, 1984

pozzle noun the vagina US, 1962

pozy noun ▷ see: POSSIE

PP *noun 1 a person whose regular appearance in a hospital casualty department has earned him the label professional patient US, 1978. 2 influence within a prison. A shortened form of 'penitentiary pull' US, 1985*

PP nine verb to attack someone with a weapon improvised with a PP9 battery, often by concealing the battery in a sock UK, 1996

PPP noun a severely debilitated hospital patient, with piss-poor protoplasm US, 1978

PQ noun a half-pint of rum. An abbreviation of 'petit quart' TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1987

PR *noun 1 Puerto Rico US, 1909. 2 a Puerto Rican. Also attributed as an adjective US, 1957. 3 panama red, a variety of marijuana cultivated in Panama US, 1969* practice bleeding noun engaging in night-training flights off an aircraft carrier US, 1986 prad noun a horse. From Dutch paard (a horse). Not recorded separately before 1799 but implied in 'prad-lay' (to steal property from horses), now obsolete, noted in Grose's Dictionary of the Vulgar Tongue, 2nd edition, 1788 UK, 1953 prairie chicken noun a grouse, or a newcomer to the prairies CANADA, 1961 prairie nigger noun a native American Indian US, 1989 prairie oyster noun an anti-hangover tonic: an unbroken raw egg in a glass of dry red wine, or an unbroken raw egg in Worcestershire Sauce and sherry US, 1883 praise verb ► praise the porcelain god to vomit US, 1986 pram noun ► get out of your pram to become very angry or over-excited UK, 1970. ► throw your toys out of the pram to become angry; to lose your temper; to become over-excited UK, 2002

prang noun car accident or collision US, 1959 prang verb 1 in aviation, to crash-land an aircraft UK, 1941. 2 to crash a car UK, 1952. 3 to make a short call to a mobile telephone with the sole purpose of registering yourself on the receiving phone's 'caller ID' (thus delivering a private signal but avoiding the cost of a connection) UK, 2003 prang adjective scared. Urban youth slang UK, 2005 prannet; prannie; pranny noun a fool; a general term of contempt. After an obsolete sense of 'prannie' (female genitals, hence CUNT) UK, 1977 prat noun 1 used as a general insult with no particular meaning beyond the derogatory tone; a fool. Variant 'pratt'. From the earlier use as 'buttocks' UK, 1968. 2 the buttocks UK, 1567. 3 the vagina. From the earlier sense as 'buttocks' UK, 1937. 4 in horse racing, interference during a race AUSTRALIA, 1989

prat verb to engage in coy or fawning behaviour US, 1969 prat about verb to mess about; to play the fool. From PRAT (a fool) UK, 1961 pratfall noun in the theatre, a comedy fall, especially one that lands buttocks-first. Often applied figuratively: UK, 1939 prat in verb in pickpocket usage, to back into the potential victim, getting him into position for a confederate US, 1981 prat powder noun powdered amphetamine. From the power of the powder to make you behave like a PRAT (a fool) UK, 2002 pratt noun a woman objectified sexually. Extended from the sense as 'vagina' UK, 1977 pratt boy noun a weak or effeminate person; an outcast US, 1952 pratty adjective stupid, foolish. From PRAT (a fool) UK, 1998 prawn noun 1 a fool; a worthless individual AUSTRALIA, 1893. 2 an ugly person with an attractive body UK, 2004 prawnhead noun a fool; a worthless individual AUSTRALIA, 1961 prawn-headed adjective stupid AUSTRALIA, 1962 pray verb ► pray to the porcelain god; pray to the enamel god to vomit into a toilet US, 1980 prayer bones noun the knees US, 1946 prayer meeting noun 1 a private dice game US, 1949. 2 a propaganda session conducted by Viet Cong with South Vietnamese villagers US, 1990 praying John noun a gambler who believes that he can influence the fall of the dice by uttering the right, magical words US, 1950 pre; pre-game; pre-party verb to drink before going to an event where there will be drinking US, 2001 preach verb ► preach to the choir to talk to those who are already convinced US, 1986 preacher noun 1 a traffic police officer who is too kind-hearted to issue citations US, 1962. 2 a log that is partially submerged in a river US, 1974

preacher's car noun in the used car business, a car with no accessories at all US, 1968 preacher's pasttime noun the shell game US, 1966 precious adjective egregious, arrant; very, exceedingly; especially as an intensifier of something bad or worthless UK, 1430 pre-cum noun penile secretions prior to orgasm. A refinement of COME (orgasm/semen) UK, 1995 predator noun heroin UK, 1998 preemie noun a premature baby US, 1927 preesh! I appreciate that! US, 1987 prefab noun a prefabricated house, specifically a temporary dwelling (usually a bungalow) that served as a stop-gap measure in the years immediately following World War 2. Some are still in use nearly 60 years later UK, 1942

prefab adjective prefabricated US, 1937 preggers adjective pregnant UK, 1942 preggo adjective pregnant AUSTRALIA, 1951

preggy; preggie adjective pregnant UK, 1938 pregnant duck noun the B-24 Liberator bomber. A nod to the plane's clumsy appearance US, 1946 pregnant rollerskate; pregnant skateboard noun a Volkswagen 'Beetle' car. Citizens' band radio slang US, 1976

prelim noun a preliminary sporting match UK, 1923 prellies noun Phenmetrazine, a chemical stimulant marketed as Preludin™, used in the US as a diet drug UK, 2002 premie noun a premature sexual ejaculation; a man who is subject to such a thing US, 1975 premium noun a brand name manufactured cigarette US, 1992 prenup noun an agreement entered into before marriage concerning the division of property in the event of divorce. Shortened from 'prenuptial' US, 1983 pre-op noun a transsexual who has yet to undergo all surgery necessary to complete a sex change US, 1986

pre-op adjective in a hospital, pre-operative US, 1997 prep verb to prepare someone or something US, 1927 pre-papier noun in Quebec, advance publicity about cultural events (production teams, casts and plays) prior to reviews. This word is a French term adapted fully into English CANADA, 2002

pre-party verb ▶ see: PRE prepone verb to rearrange something for a future date. A definite variation of 'postpone' INDIA, 2003 preppy; preppie noun a well-groomed, well-heeled, conventional young person with upper-class prep-school values US, 1968

Presbo noun a presbyterian AUSTRALIA, 1965

Presbyterian poker noun low-key, low-limit, friendly poker US, 1996 prescription noun a marijuana cigarette. An assertion that marijuana is just what the doctor ordered UK, 1998 prescriptions noun commercially manufactured drugs used for non-medicinal purposes US, 1980 presence noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy US, 1989 presento noun during the Korean war, a piece of merchandise used by US servicemen to trade with Koreans for services US, 1960 prish adjective good, pleasing. An abbreviation of the conventional 'precious' US, 1986 president noun an established, respected graffiti artist, often the leader of a group US, 1997

President nickname Lester Young (1909–59), jazz saxophonist US, 1949 press noun 1 in betting, a doubling of the bet in effect US, 1962. 2 cocaine; crack cocaine UK, 1998 press verb 1 to pursue criminal charges US, 1993. 2 to dress up US, 1974. ▶ press the blocks to idle on a street corner BAHAMAS, 1982. ▶ press the bricks to walk US, 1949. ▶ press the flesh to shake hands, especially in a political context US, 1926. ▶ press the meat; press the sausage while gambling, to continue betting your winnings after several consecutive wins US, 2003. ▶ press the sheets to sleep in a bed US, 1976 pressed adjective 1 worried, stressed US, 1989. 2 dressed stylishly US, 1980 pressed duck noun a human corpse that has been flattened by traffic. A truly grim comparison US, 1962 pressed ham noun the bare buttocks pressed against a car window as a rude prank US, 1966

pressie; prezzie noun a gift, a present UK, 1937 pressure cooker noun a sports car. Citizens' band radio slang UK, 1981 pressure out verb to lose your composure completely under pressure. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1981 pressurize verb to intimidate; to threaten; to coerce US, 2001

pre-stiff noun a patient close to death US, 1994

pretender to the throne noun a heterosexual who is attempting to pass as a homosexual US, 1980 pretendica noun poor quality or counterfeit marijuana. A play on 'pretend' mixed with cannabis indica (a major genus of marijuana) UK, 1998 pretendo noun a poor quality or counterfeit marijuana. An elaboration of 'pretend' UK, 2003

Pretentious? Moi? used self-satirically as an admission of pretentious qualities. A somewhat tired catchphrase UK, 1975

pretties noun 1 the female breasts UK, 1973. 2 on a film or television crew, the makeup, hair and wardrobe departments US, 1997. 3 in trucking, state permit stickers affixed on a cab window US, 1971 pretty noun a youthful, sexually inexperienced male who is the object of an older homosexual's desire US, 1979 pretty boy noun 1 an effeminate young man AUSTRALIA, 1942. 2 a sexually active young man US, 2003 pretty face noun ▶ not just a pretty face used, often ironically, when claiming to be intelligent UK, 1968 pretty pictures noun in computing, graphical representations of statistics US, 1991 pretty please an emphatic or wheedling intensification of please UK, 1959 pretty-print verb in computing, to format code so that it looks attractive US, 1983 pretzels noun a small amount of money. An evolution from the more common PEANUTS US, 1988 previous noun a criminal record. An abbreviation of 'previous convictions' UK, 1999 previous adjective premature; early; hasty US, 1885

Prez nickname Lester Young (1909–59), jazz saxophonist. Singer Billie Holiday nicknamed Young 'Prez' as a shortened form of 'President of the Tenor Saxophone' US, 1957 prez; pres noun president IRELAND, 1922 prezzies noun paper money. An abbreviation of the common DEAD PRESENTS US, 1997 prezzo noun a gift or present AUSTRALIA, 1968 price noun 1 a chance. Sporting slang, from bookmakers quoting a 'price' (betting odds) UK, 1977. 2 in betting on horse racing, the approximate equivalent odds to $1 US, 1951. 3 a discount. A euphemism that saves face for both the seller and buyer US, 1991

pricey adjective expensive UK, 1932 prick noun 1 the penis. From the basic sense, 'anything that pricks or pierces'; in conventional English until around 1700. William Shakespeare (1564–1616) played word games with it, Robert Burns (1759–96) used it with vulgar good humour and the Victorians finally hid it away UK, 1592. 2 a despicable man; a fool; used as a general term of offence or contempt, often as an abusive form of address, always of a male or an inanimate object. Since the 1940s, when qualified by the adjective 'silly', the sense need not be derogatory or contemptuous, as 'you silly prick', 'the silly prick' etc. An unembellished prick, however, is considered very offensive US, 1929. 3 a marijuana cigarette. Presumably based on phallic imagery UK, 1984 pricked off adjective annoyed, angry US, 1968

prickface noun a contemptible person AUSTRALIA, 1971

pricklick noun a homosexual male US, 1972 prick parade noun a group inspection by a military doctor or medic of male recruits for signs of sexually transmitted disease US, 1964

pricksmith noun a military doctor or medic who inspects male recruits for signs of sexually transmitted disease US, 1967 prick-teaser noun a woman who invites sexual advances but does not fulfil that which she seems to promise US, 1970 pride and joy noun a boy, especially a new-born son. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 pride of Deadwood noun in poker, a hand consisting of aces and eights. From the belief, true or legendary, that when Wild Bill Hickock was shot and killed in Deadwood, Dakota Territory, he was holding a hand consisting of aces and eights, all black US, 1988 pride of the morning noun the erection experienced by a man upon awakening in the morning US, 1972 priest's dick noun something of little or no worth UK, 2000 prim verb (used of a female) to walk in a sexually inviting fashion BAHAMAS, 1982 prime verb ► prime the spunk gun (used of a male) to masturbate UK, 2003 primed adjective drunk or under the influence of drugs US, 1950 prime time noun 1 time spent with a spouse or lover. Trucker slang, punning on television terminology US, 1976. 2 cocaine; crack cocaine UK, 2003 primo noun 1 a very high grade of marijuana, consisting of a high degree of potent flowering tops of the plants US, 1971. 2 marijuana mixed with crack cocaine US, 1995. 3 a conventional tobacco cigarette laced with cocaine and heroin UK, 1998. 4 heroin UK, 2002

primo adjective excellent US, 1977

Prince Albert; PA; Albert noun a piece of jewellery for a penile piercing; also applied to the piercing itself. This etymology is the stuff of romantic myth: the procedure and bejewelling is named after Queen Victoria's consort who, it is claimed, endured the embellishment of his member to enhance his Queen's pleasure UK, 2001

Prince Alberts; Alberts noun rags worn by tramps in the place of socks. Folk etymology suggests the alleged poverty of Prince Albert before marriage to Queen Victoria AUSTRALIA, 1888

Prince Charming nickname used ironically of someone who is anything but UK, 1998

Prince of Darkness nickname Joseph Lucas, British electrical equipment manufacturer of unreliable headlight systems US, 1997

Princess Di noun a pie. Rhyming slang, formed on a familiar name for Diana, Princess of Wales, 1961–97; recorded in use before and following a respectful pause, after her death UK, 1998

Princeton rub; Princeton style noun the rubbing of the penis between the thighs of another boy or man until reaching orgasm. Princeton is a prestigious and cultured East Coast university US, 1971 pringle noun multiple orgasms. From the advertising slogan for Pringles™, a savoury snack: 'once you pop you can't stop' UK, 2001 print verb to take the fingerprints of a prisoner during the after-arrest process US, 1939 prior noun a prior arrest or prior conviction US, 1985

Priscilla noun a police officer. Gay slang, using a female name, probably elaborating the initial 'p' for 'police' SOUTH AFRICA, 2000 prison air conditioning noun a wet towel CANADA, 2002 prison bent; prison gay adjective used of a heterosexual prisoner who adopts a homosexual or lesbian lifestyle for the duration of his or her sentence UK, 1996 prissy adjective 1 prudish, 2001. 2 effeminate. Perhaps a blend of 'prim' and SISSY US, 1946 prissy lad noun a homosexual man US, 1954

priv noun a privilege UK, 1996 private dance noun a one-on-one sexual performance by a woman for a man US, 1991 private dick noun a private detective. Conventional use of 'private' combined with DICK (detective) US, 1912 private eye noun a private detective US, 1938 privates noun the genitals of either sex UK, 1602 private slick noun a physician in private practice US, 1994 private star noun a private detective US, 1958 privy queen noun a homosexual male who searches for sexual partners in public toilets US, 1941 prize adjective describes a prime example (of whatever it is appended to); complete, utter UK, 1976 prize jewels carrier noun the scrotum UK, 2002

pro noun 1 a professional, especially in a field of endeavour that is also enjoyed by amateurs (such as sport or theatre); also used as an Internet domain name for a professional practitioner UK, 1866. 2 a professional prostitute UK, 1937

prob noun a problem US, 1992 probate noun in a criminal case, a sentence of probation. A person who is arrested for the illegal production of alcohol and is sentenced to probation is said to 'get probate' US, 1974

probie noun a probationary employee US, 1973 procesh noun a procession or graduation parade NEW ZEALAND, 1977 process noun a chemical straightening of curly hair US, 1967 procon noun a professionally run fan convention US, 1978 procure verb ► procure for a cause to steal something US, 1970 prod noun 1 the penis US, 1975. 2 in horse racing, an illegal, battery-powered device used to impart a shock to a horse during a race US, 1976. ► on the prod looking for something; on the offensive; provoked US, 1904

Prod; Prot noun a Protestant. Mainly Catholic use across the UK UK, 1942

Proddie; Proddy adjective Protestant; a Protestant. Mainly Catholic use across the UK UK, 1954

Proddy dog noun a Protestant AUSTRALIA, 1979

proddywhack adjective Protestant UK, 1998 prodigal boy noun a person who excels at the game of footbagging US, 1997 produce noun food US, 1957 producer noun 1 an official requirement that you produce your driving licence, motor insurance and any other necessary documentation for police scrutiny. In police use, form HO/RT/1 (Home Office/Road Traffic/1) UK, 1994. 2 a serious gambler who, like most gamblers, usually loses US, 1963 product noun illegal drugs US, 1982

prof noun a professor; also as a form of address US, 1838 professional scene noun a sado-masochistic encounter for pay US, 1979 professor noun 1 a diligent student US, 1955. 2 a piano player in a brothel US, 1939. 3 a skilled and experienced poker player US, 1979

proffing noun stealing UK, 2002 profile verb 1 (used of the police) to stop, question and search someone based on their race and age US, 1992. 2 to act in an arrogant and conceited fashion US, 1997 profiles noun in a deck of playing cards, the king of diamonds, jack of spades and jack of hearts, all one-eyed and drawn in profile US, 1963 pro from Dover noun an expert US, 1970 prog noun a radio or television programme. Particularly associated with the JY Prog presented by Jimmy Young, a BBC radio DJ and presenter from 1959, especially on Radio 2, which he joined in 1973 until his retirement in 2001 UK, 1975

prog adjective progressive, as used of a school or method UK, 1969 progy adjective having the characteristics of progressive house music UK, 2002 programme noun the twelve-step Alcoholics Anonymous programme for recovery from alcoholism US, 1991 programme verb in prison, to follow the rules and avoid trouble in hope of an early release US, 1981 prohi noun a federal law enforcement official. Used by those in the illegal production of alcohol US, 1974

prole noun a member of the proletariat US, 1887

prole adjective proletariat; of the working-class US, 1965 prom noun a dance at a school or college US, 1894 promise noun ► on a promise having been promised sexual intercourse AUSTRALIA, 1960 prommer noun a member of the audience, especially a promenader, at a Henry Wood Promenade Concert (now branded the BBC Proms). So named by James Loughran, in the conductor's traditional last-night-of-the-Proms speech, 11th September 1982 UK, 1982 promo noun public relations; promotional item(s); in the music business, an advance copy of an unreleased tune sent to an influential DJ US, 1966 promo adjective promotional US, 1963 promote verb in the circus or carnival, to obtain illegally something that is badly needed US, 1980 prong noun the penis US, 1968 pronger noun the penis US, 1977 prong me! used for registering disbelief, despair, surprise, or satisfaction. From PRONG (the penis), in the manner and sense of FUCK ME!, suggesting that 'prong' is also used for FUCK (to have sex, etc) US, 1962 pronto adverb immediately. From the Spanish US, 1911 proof noun an identification card establishing you as old enough to buy alcohol US, 1983 proof verb to show identification proving that you are old enough to be where you are, buying what you are buying US, 1987 proof shot noun a photograph, or a scene in a pornographic film, of a man ejaculating. US, 1995 prop noun 1 a proposition UK, 1871. 2 any portable article used in acting. An abbreviation of 'property': theatrical, film-making, television, etc. also used by those seeking to create an impression UK, 1864. 3 in casino gambling, a casino employee who poses as a player to draw interest to a game. An abbreviation of 'proposition player' US, 1996. 4 the leg US, 1969. 5 a prisoners' strike NEW ZEALAND, 1985 prop verb 1 to organise a criminal enterprise UK, 1956. 2 to take part in a prison strike NEW ZEALAND, 1982 propellerhead noun an expert computer enthusiast US, 1997 propeller key noun the command key on an Apple Macintosh™ computer keyboard US, 1991 proper noun proper respect US, 1974 proper adjective 1 excellent, complete, perfect. In conventional use until during the C19 UK, 1375. 2 of a criminal, respected UK, 2001 proper adverb excellently, superbly; without subterfuge; handsomely. An intensifier UK, 2000 proper little madam noun ► see: LITTLE MADAM proper lush adjective great, excellent, wonderful. An intensified variation of LUSH UK, 1999 propper; prop noun in youth-oriented holiday resorts, a person who encourages custom into clubs and bars. Probably adapted from a reduction of 'proposition' UK, 1997 props noun 1 proper respect; due credit. Variant 'proppers' US, 1993. 2 false breasts US, 1967 prop up verb to suggest or arrange a story or an explanation, especially through a third person. UK, 1977 pros noun in circus and carnival usage, a prosecutor US, 1981

Prosecute Coppers Association noun the Police Complaints Authority. A cynical alternative meaning for the PCA; in police use UK, 2001 prospect noun a prospective member of a club or gang US, 2000 prospect verb over a period of time, to prove yourself to be a worthy recruit before initiation as a full member of a motorcycle club US, 1971

pross; pros noun a prostitute UK, 1905 pross collar noun an arrest of a prostitute for a direct solicitation US, 1973 prossie; prossy; prozzy noun a prostitute AUSTRALIA, 1941 prossio noun a prostitute AUSTRALIA, 1965

pross van noun a police van used in mass arrests of prostitutes US, 1973 prosty; prostie noun a prostitute US, 1930 protection noun 1 contraception, especially a condom US, 1967. 2 an extortion scheme in which the victim pays the extorting party to protect him from crime, especially crime committed by the extorting party US, 1999 protein shake noun in the pornography industry, semen that is swallowed US, 1995 proto noun protection from prosecution by law enforcement US, 1945 proverbial; proverbials noun used as a general-purpose euphemism. Always reliant on context for sense UK, 1984 provo noun 1 a 1960s Dutch counterculture revolutionary NETHERLANDS, 1970. 2 a military police officer. From provost marshal. Can be used with a capital: 'Provo' AUSTRALIA, 1943

Provo; Provie; Provvie noun a member of the Provisional wing of the IRA, subsequently Provisional IRA. More than a simple abbreviation, Provo is probably influenced by 'Provo' (a member of a group of 1960s Dutch political activists) derived from French provocateur (an aggressor) UK: NORTHERN IRELAND, 1971 provvy noun an approved school (for juvenile offenders) UK, 1974 prozie noun a branded antidepressant Prozac™ tablet UK, 2001 prozine noun a professionally published fan magazine US, 1978 prozzy noun a girl who is (allegedly) sexually available. Derogatory, shortened from 'prostitute' UK, 2002

Pru noun ► the Pru the Prudential Insurance Company UK, 1927 prune noun the anus. An allusion to the wrinkles found on each US, 1967 prune verb to out-race someone in a car race from a stationary position US, 1962 prune and plum; prune noun the buttocks; occasionally and specifically, the anus, the rectum. Rhyming slang for BUM UK, 1998 prune pusher noun the active participant in anal sex US, 1979 prunes noun testicles; courage US, 1984

pruno noun a potent, homemade alcohol, often made with fermented prune juice US, 1990

Prussian noun a male homosexual who prefers the active role in anal sex US, 1950

P's noun parents US, 1989

PS noun penal servitude. An abbreviation. This type of prison sentence was ordered from the C19 until 1948 UK, 1923 p's and q's *noun shoes. Rhyming slang UK, 1992. ► mind your p's and q's to be careful, exact, prudent. Perhaps from the old custom of alehouse tally, marking 'p' for pint and 'q' for quart, care being necessary to avoid over- or under-charging. Whether the source is in printing, or 'pints and quarts', or learning to read, is unknown UK, 1779* pseud noun a pretentious, image-conscious person. Usage popularised by 'Pseud's Corner' in Private Eye magazine UK, 1954 pseudo adjective pretentious. From the conventional prefix UK, 1945 pseudy adjective pretentious. A variation of PSEUDO UK, 1989

psst; psst! used for attracting someone's attention discretely IRELAND, 1922 psych noun 1 psychology; psychiatry US, 1895. 2 a psychiatrist or psychologist US, 1971 psych adjective psychedelic, when used in combination with a type of music or musicians, e.g. 'psych rock' or 'psych band' UK, 2003

psych; psych up verb to use psychological techniques to stimulate, to enthuse, to excite US, 1957 psyche! I fooled you! US, 1990

psyched adjective excited, enthusiastic US, 1970 psychedelic martini noun DMT, a short-lasting hallucinogen US, 1970 psycher; neo-psycher noun a musician or fan of psychedelic rock or neo-psychodelia. From PSYCH UK, 2003 psychic energizer noun an amphetamine or other central nervous system stimulant US, 1967 psycho noun a psychopath, or someone who is otherwise psychologically disturbed US, 1942 psycho adjective 1 psychiatric or psychological US, 1927. 2 crazy. An abbreviation of 'psychopathic' US, 1936 psychobabble noun psychological and pseudo-psychological jargon. Derogatory. Popularised, but not coined, by R.D. Rosen in Psychobabble, 1977 US, 1976 psycho block noun an area in a prison where the most violent prisoners are held US, 1985 psychopathic noun traffic. Rhyming slang, inspired, perhaps, by the state of mind that you (or the driver behind you) get into when stuck in traffic UK, 1998

psych out verb 1 to intimidate someone completely on a psychological level US, 1994. 2 to lose your mental composure or stability UK, 1971. 3 to figure out or discover something US, 1978

PT noun 1 a woman who promises more sex than she delivers. An abbreviation of PRICK-TEASER US, 1958. 2 in sports, playing time US, 2001

PTA noun a hasty washing by a female. The most common association with PTA is the school-support Parent-Teacher Association. The PTA in question here refers to the woman's pussy, tits and ass US, 1971

ptomaine palace noun a restaurant serving inexpensive, low quality food UK, 1952 ptomaine wagon noun a catering truck US, 1937

P-town nickname Provincetown, Massachusetts US, 1980

PUI used for registering disgust of anything that smells. A jocular spelling (pronounce each letter) of the two syllable stretching of 'p'hew' US, 1960

pub noun a public house, an inn, a tavern UK, 1859 pub band noun a band of musicians who play principally in public hotels. Pub rock, an umbrella genre for such bands and their music, was popular in the UK in the mid-1970s and is seen as the precursor to PUNK ROCK AUSTRALIA, 1988 pubber noun a publisher, especially of a single-interest fan magazine US, 1982 pub-crawl noun a drinking session that moves from one licensed premises to the next, and so on. Combines PUB (a public house, licensed for the sale of alcohol) with a less-and-less figurative sense of 'crawl' UK, 1915

pub-crawl verb to move in a group from one drinking establishment to the next, drinking at each UK, 1937 pub dog sex noun an act of sex performed under a pub table UK, 2001

pube noun a high school girl US, 1969. ► get pube in the categorisation of sexual activity by teenage boys, to touch a girl's vulva US, 1986

pube adjective pubescent US, 1995

pubes noun pubic hair US, 1970 pubies noun pubic hairs US, 1968 public relations noun a member of a swindling enterprise who promotes the swindle US, 1977

pub pet noun a two-litre plastic container for draught beer NEW ZEALAND, 1988 puck noun 1 in a number of casino games, a disc used to mark a point or position US, 2003. 2 car brake pad US, 1993

pucker noun the anus US, 1995 pucker factor noun the degree of fear or anxiety. From the image of the sphincter tightening in a frightening situation US, 1982 puckeroo adjective useless, broken NEW ZEALAND, 2002

pucker paint noun lipstick. Teen slang CANADA, 1946

pucker palace noun a drive-in cinema. High school student usage US, 1961 pucker up verb 1 to tighten your rectal and anal muscles US, 1972. 2 to behave sycophantically UK, 2000

pud noun a pudding UK, 1943. ► pound your pud; pull your pud; pull your pudding (of a male) to masturbate UK, 1944 pudding noun 1 money US, 1993. 2 the penis. The abbreviation 'pud' does not appear until the 1930s UK, 1719 pudding and gravy; the pudding noun the Royal Navy. Rhyming slang UK, 1961 pudding-basin noun a hairstyle that looks as though a basin has been inverted over the head and the hair cut up to the rim of the basin UK, 1951 pudding club noun ► in the pudding club pregnant UK, 1980 pudding wagon noun in circus and carnival usage, a frozen custard truck US, 1981 puddle noun a generous dose of liquid LSD US, 1994 puddle about verb to busy yourself doing nothing NEW ZEALAND, 1984

puddle-jumper noun 1 a small plane making a relatively short journey US, 1961. 2 in trucking, a lightweight truck US, 1971 puddy tat noun a cat. From the Looney Tunes cartoons with Sylvester the cat and Tweety Bird, with Tweety Bird's constant mantra of 'I taut I taw a puddy-tat' (I thought I saw a pussy cat) US, 1986 pudge noun a short squat person; anything short and thick; someone who is overweight. A probable variant of PODGE (a short and fat person) UK, 1999

pudgy adjective short and fat UK, 1836

pud puller noun a male masturbator US, 1990 pudwapper noun a male masturbator; hence, a despicable person. Combines 'pud' (the penis) with 'W(h)ap' (to hit) US, 1988 puff noun 1 a homosexual man; a weak, effeminate man. Pejorative; probably a variation of POOF UK, 1902. 2 marijuana. From PUFF (to smoke marijuana). Also variant 'puffy' UK, 1987. 3 breath. A puff of wind UK, 2001. 4 existence; life-span UK, 1921. 5 a charge of explosives US, 1949. ► on your puff on your own, alone UK, 1995 puff verb to smoke marijuana UK, 1996. ► puff the dragon; puff the magic dragon 1 to smoke marijuana. 'Puff, The Magic Dragon', 1963, a song by Peter, Paul and Mary, is, according to a popular myth, about smoking marijuana or a weapon of war – nothing in the lyric sustains this but nevertheless the song inspired this term, 1998. 2 to perform oral sex on a man. Plays on DRAGON (the penis) and the song 'Puff, The Magic Dragon' US, 2001 puffa; puffa jacket noun an extravagantly bulky jacket generally made of lightweight synthetic materials. Surely coined by marketing experts to account for the fashion-garment's puffed-up appearance UK, 1991 puff and dart noun in the dice game crown and anchor, a heart. Rhyming slang, probably dating from about 1860 but first recorded in 1936 UK, 1936 puff and drag noun a cigarette. Rhyming slang for FAG UK, 1992 puffed adjective exhausted NEW ZEALAND, 1984

puffer noun 1 a marijuana smoker UK, 2002. 2 a crack cocaine user US, 1994. 3 in drag racing and hot rodding, a supercharger US, 1968 puff-juice noun men's toiletries. Based on PUFF (a male homosexual) UK, 2001

Puff the Magic Dragon; Puff nickname a C-47 aircraft modified as a gunship and redesignated an AC47, heavily used by the US Air Force in Vietnam. From the gentle 1963 folk song recorded by Peter, Paul and Mary US, 1983 pug noun 1 a boxer; a fighter. A shortened form of the conventional 'pugilist.' UK, 1858. 2 a male homosexual US, 1992. 3 in trucking, a cabover tractor US, 1971

pug verb to fight US, 1994 puggie noun a hardened criminal US, 1965 pugged adjective given to foolish behaviour; tipsy UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 puggy noun a kitty in a card game; a one-armed bandit; an ATM cash dispenser. From a Scots word for 'monkey' UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. ► full as a puggy very drunk; having eaten too much UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. ► take a puggy to become very angry UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 puggy work noun hard physical labour. From a Scots word for 'monkey' UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 pug-ugly adjective very ugly. Probably a confusion with PLUG-UGLY (a thug); based on the appearance of a PUG (a boxer) or the broad wrinkled face of a 'pug' (a breed of dog) UK, 2000

pug up verb to hide something UK, 2001 puke noun 1 vomit US, 1967. 2 a despised person. In the mid-C19, the term was applied with some degree of scorn to residents of the state of Missouri; it later gained a broader sense. In Rogue Warrior, Richard Marcinko gives a virtual litany of pukes – Academy puke, admin puke, fleet puke, jet puke, puke ensign, staff puke and Team-puke US, 1966 puke verb 1 to vomit UK, 1600. 2 in the illegal production of alcohol, to allow the still to boil over US, 1974. 3 while on a combat air mission, to separate out from formation while under attack US, 1986. ► puke your ring up to vomit violently UK, 2001

Puke hole noun a shabby, shoddy, dirty place US, 1973 pukepot noun a despicable person US, 1973 puker noun a tourist. In Alaska, an allusion to the tendency of tourists on fishing charters to get seasick US, 1997 pulling buzzards nickname the 101st Airborne Division, US Army. From the official nickname of 'Screaming Eagles' US, 1991 pukka adjective certain; reliable; genuine; hence excellent; fashionable. Derives from Hindu pakka which has the meaning of 'substantial' UK, 1776 pulborn; pulboron; polboron noun heroin. Possibly from Spanish polvo grande (big powder) or polvorón (a sweet made with almonds) US, 1977 pull noun 1 in policing, an act of temporarily detaining a suspicious person or vehicle for investigation. Derived from PULL (to arrest) UK, 1977. 2 a woman as a sex object UK, 1985. ► on the pull engaged in a casual or recreational quest for a sexual partner UK, 2002 pull verb 1 (of police) to stop a vehicle; to stop someone for questioning. A broader usage of the earlier sense 'to arrest' UK, 1970. 2 to arrest someone UK, 1811. 3 to engage in a casual or recreational quest for a sexual partner UK, 1965. 4 to recruit someone into prostitution US, 1967. 5 to serve time in prison or in the armed forces US, 1961. 6 to leave US, 1960. 7 (of an adult) to buy beer or cigarettes illegally for a minor. This term is especially, almost exclusively, used in Saskatchewan CANADA, 2001. 8 (of a jockey) to deliberately ride a racehorse to lose AUSTRALIA, 1895. ► pull a fast one to do something daring (often a criminal act) and hope to get away with it by being smarter, faster and more deceitful than those set to prevent you; to play a dirty trick. Originally military UK, 1943. ► pull a stroke to do something daring (often a criminal act) and get away with it by being smarter, faster and more deceitful than those set to prevent you; to play a dirty trick UK, 1970. ► pull my mouth to try to get me to say something in particular CANADA, 1999. ► pull on to tackle someone; to contend with someone to test someone; AUSTRALIA, 1953. ► pull on the rope to masturbate a man US, 1972. ► pull out (all) the stops to apply maximum effort to the task in hand. From the stops that limit the full sound of a pipe-organ UK, 1974. ► pull pud (used of a male) to masturbate UK, 1994. ► pull someone's coat to warn someone; to alert someone, US, 1954. ► pull someone's covers

to reveal a person's true character US, 1970. ► pull someone's leg 1 to tease someone; to make fun of someone UK, 1888. 2 to good naturedly hoax or deceive someone UK, 1888. ► pull someone's pisser to good-naturedly hoax or deceive someone. A variation of PULL SOMEONE'S LEG UK, 1984. ► pull someone's plonker 1 to fool someone; to tease someone; to take a liberty with someone. Variation of PULL SOMEONE'S LEG, similar to PULL SOMEONE'S PISSER, with PLONKER (the penis) supplying the image UK, 2000. 2 to waste time. From the sense 'to masturbate' UK, 1982. ► pull someone's tit to good-naturedly hoax or deceive someone; to make a fool of someone AUSTRALIA, 1959. ► pull the head off it (of a male) to masturbate UK, 2002. ► pull the monkey to pull a rubber disc through a cess drain in order to clean the drain UK, 1970. ► pull the pin to resign or retire from a job. Based on the US railroad imagery of uncoupling train wagons by pulling a pin on the couplers US, 1927. ► pull the plug 1 to stop; to finish. An electrical image UK, 1988. 2 in submarining, to dive US, 1948. ► pull the rein to advise. The 'right rein' is good advice, the 'bad rein', bad advice AUSTRALIA, 1989. ► pull the rug out to disturb the status quo UK, 1974. ► pull the wool over someone's eyes to deceive someone, especially as regards the deceiver's intentions US, 1842. ► pull time to be sentenced to imprisonment US, 1950. ► pull up stakes to depart; to move house AUSTRALIA, 1961. ► pull wires to use personal influence to achieve a desired outcome. A variation of 'pull strings' UK, 1984. ► pull your head in mind your own business AUSTRALIA, 1942. ► pull your pud; pull your pudden; pull your pudding (of a male), to masturbate UK, 1944. ► pull your punches to exercise moderation, especially in punishment or blame. From boxing UK, 1934. ► pull your wire (of a male), to masturbate UK, 1937 pull away verb to divert attention from the scene of of a crime AUSTRALIA, 1975 pull down verb 1 to earn money US, 1917. 2 to rob a place US, 1992 pulled up adjective former US, 1972 puller noun 1 a sneak thief US, 1984. 2 a dealer in stolen or smuggled goods US, 1956. 3 a racehorse that strains to run at full speed US, 1994. 4 a crack cocaine user who obsessively/compulsively tugs at different body parts US, 1992

pulleys noun suspenders US, 1945 pullie; pullly noun a pullover, a jumper UK, 1984 pull in verb to earn (money) UK, 1929 pulling noun 1 casual or recreational questing for a sexual partner UK, 2004. 2 a challenge from a gang, or from one of its members. Teddy Boys' slang UK, 1959 pulling gear noun in trucking, the gear best suited for climbing a hill US, 1971 pulling time noun in an illegal numbers gambling lottery, the time of day when the winning number is drawn or selected US, 1949 pull off verb 1 (used of a male) to masturbate IRELAND, 1922. 2 to succeed in doing, or effecting, something UK, 1887 pull out of verb to be released US, 1973 pull the other one!; pull the other one – it's got bells on! used as a sarcastic response from 'leg-pulling' (a humorous act of bluff or deception). The invitation is to pull the other leg UK, 1964 pull through noun a Jew. Rhyming slang UK, 1974 pull up verb 1 (of a jockey) to deliberately ride a racehorse to lose AUSTRALIA, 1936. 2 to stop (doing something) US, 1972

pummel verb to skateboard fearlessly, without regard to the effect on the board or body US, 1984

pummelled adjective very drunk US, 1990 pump noun 1 the heart US, 1946. 2 a fart UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. 3 a fire hydrant US, 1979. 4 an illegal linear amplifier for a citizens' band radio US, 1976 pump verb 1 to have sex, usually from the male perspective UK, 1730. 2 to exert yourself in a labour US, 1992. 3 to obtain a free ride BARBADOS, 1965. 4 to interrogate someone UK, 1656. 5 to fart UK: NORTHERN IRELAND, 1937. 6 to sell drugs, especially crack cocaine US, 1989. 7 in poker, to increase a bet made by another player US, 1983. ► pump the stump to shake hands US, 1947 pumped adjective pregnant US, 1969 pumped up adjective 1 with muscles inflated and defined US, 1997. 2 excited, energised. Current usage is informed by bodybuilding jargon with muscles 'pumped up' for display UK, 1971 pump gas noun petrol as it is available to the general public, which must be used in some drag racing events US, 1970 pumpie noun a pump-action shotgun AUSTRALIA, 1995 pumping adjective 1 (used of contemporary dance music, and of the atmosphere it generates) exciting, energetic UK, 1999. 2 (used of surf conditions) powerful, excellent US, 1977 pump iron; pump verb to exercise by lifting weights. Sports jargon; possibly from PUMP UP (to inflate muscles) US, 1972 pump jockey noun a petrol station attendant US, 1966 pumpkin noun 1 used as a sentimental term of address. The affectionate tone of the term of address runs counter to the earlier sense of an 'ineffective, incompetent person' US, 1998. 2 in car repair, a pumpkin-shaped differential cover US, 1992. 3 in trucking, a flat tyre US, 1971 pumpkin belly noun the abdomen of a pregnant woman TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1973 pumpkin positive adjective unintelligent. A doctors' joke: if you shine a light in the mouth, the head will light up. Recorded in an article about medical slang in British (3 London and 1 Cambridge) hospitals by UK, 2003 pumpkin seed noun a yellow, oblong mescaline tablet US, 1971 pumpkin time noun a curfew. An allusion to the Cinderella tale US, 1970 pump monkey noun a petrol station attendant US, 1961 pump off verb (of a male) to masturbate UK, 1937 pumps noun 1 the female breasts US, 1949. 2 trainers, sneakers BARBADOS, 1996

pum-pum noun the vagina JAMAICA, 1972

pump up verb 1 to increase something, to inflate something, to turn something higher US, 1987. 2 when lifting weights, to enrage the muscles with blood in order to inflate and define them US, 1984. 3 to conduct an exhaustive and detailed briefing US, 1986. 4 while gambling, to lose at a steady rate US, 1980

punani noun the vagina; hence a woman regarded as a sexual object; hence sex with a woman. Probably West Indian. The etymology is uncertain, possibly rooted in POONTANG (the vagina, hence sex). Variant spellings include 'punany'; 'punyani'; 'punaany'; 'punanny'; 'pudenany'; 'punnanny'; 'punaani'; 'poonani'. Black slang, popularised in the wider community by comedian Ali G (Sacha Baron-Cohen, b.1970) and rap music UK, 1972. ► ride the punani to have sex. West Indian slang popularised in the UK in the late 1990s by comedy character Ali G (Sacha Baron-Cohen) UK, 2003 punch noun 1 an act of sexual intercourse; a person viewed only in terms of sex US, 1983. 2 in volleyball, a one-fist overhead pass or volley US, 1985 punch verb 1 to open something by force. Most commonly, but not exclusively, applied to breaking into a safe US, 1931. 2 to have sex US, 1971. 3 in a card cheating scheme, to prepare a deck for a manoeuvre US, 1962. ► punch it 1 to accelerate to high speed US, 1987. 2 to escape (from prison) US, 1990. ► punch someone's ticket 1 to kill someone US, 1983. 2 to have sex with someone US, 1992. ► punch the sun while driving, to accelerate to make it through an intersection on a yellow light US, 1997

Punch and Judy noun deception; an unbelievable story. Formed on traditional puppet characters whose tale of domestic disharmony and dishonesty, perhaps, informs the sense UK, 1992 punchboard noun a sexually available and promiscuous woman. A 'punchboard' is a game which used to be found in shops, where for a price the customer punched one of many holes on the board in the hope of winning a prize US, 1977

Punch Bowl noun a valley on the east-central coast of Korea formed by the Taebaek-San Maek Mountains, home to some of the bitterest battles of the war US, 1989 punch buggy noun a Volkswagen 'Beetle' car. Shouted by the first child in a car to see it, which entitles him or her to slug all other children playing the game US, 1997 punch-drunk adjective of a boxer, deranged or debilitated to some degree as a result of punches received. Hence the condition of being punch-drunk: 'punch-drunkness' US, 1918

puncher noun a safe cracker US, 1949 punching bag noun a promiscuous woman. From PUNCH in its sexual sense US, 1974 punch-in-the-mouth noun oral sex on a woman US, 1967 punch job noun a safe robbery in which the combination lock is punched out to gain access to the safe US, 1958 punch-out noun in Keno, a template with 20 holes punched out for the numbers called in a game, used to compare a player's ticket with the winning numbers US, 1972 punch out verb 1 to beat someone up US, 1969. 2 to leave US, 1998. 3 to eject someone from a fighter plane US, 1986 punch-up noun a fist fight UK, 1958 punch up verb to enhance something, especially to enhance a script with humour, more lively dialogue, or the like. In the 1950s, the entertainment industry used the term to mean to increase the volume of the sound track or brightness of the picture. Towards the end of the century, the meaning changed to a writing term US, 1984 punchy adjective discomposed, deranged. Abbreviated from punch-drunk UK, 1985

punga noun the penis NEW ZEALAND, 1998

punishing adjective exhausting, gruelling UK, 1882 punishment noun severe handling; pain, misery UK, 1811. ► put to the punishment in horse racing, to use any physicality such as whipping or kicking to an extreme degree US, 1951

punk noun 1 a fan of punk rock music and the associated fashions UK, 1976. 2 a young and/or weak man used as a passive homosexual partner, especially in prison US, 1904. 3 a child US, 1985. 4 a lesbian BAHAMAS, 1982. 5 in horse racing, a mildly talented jockey US, 1951. 6 marijuana UK, 2003. 7 the middle position in the back seat of a car US, 1980

punk verb 1 to have anal sex with someone US, 1949. 2 to assault someone US, 1991 punk adjective poor, lousy, inferior US, 1896 punkasals noun trainers, sneakers GRENADA, 1996

punker noun 1 a fan of punk music US, 1989. 2 a punk rock song UK, 2003 punkette noun a female follower of punk music and fashion US, 1982 punkfucker noun a male prisoner who has sex with homosexual prisoners, especially taking the active role US, 1972 punk-hunt verb to search for homosexuals and assault them for the sole reason of their homosexuality US, 1968 punki; punkin noun the vagina. Children's vocabulary TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1973 punk in the bunk noun used for expressing the fact that the speaker has an effeminate homosexual prisoner under his control US, 1984

punk out verb 1 to withdraw from a task out of fear US, 1920. 2 to inform on or betray a compatriot US, 1976 punk pill noun any central nervous system depressant US, 1968

punk ride noun an amusement ride for children US, 1985 punk rock; punk noun a genre of basic, high-energy rock music that came to prominence in the mid-1970s US, 1972

punks noun an unsophisticated, rural audience US, 1952 punksy adjective spunky BARBADOS, 1965

punk tank noun a holding cell in a jail or prison reserved for homosexuals US, 1972 punny ecy; punny noun in school, a piece of written work given as a punishment. From a shortening of 'punishment exercise'; used by Glasgow teachers and pupils UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 punt noun 1 a gamble; a chance *AUSTRALIA, 1958. 2 gambling *AUSTRALIA, 1988 punt verb 1 to gamble *UK, 1873. 2 to do poorly; to give up in some fashion because you are doing poorly. A metaphor from American football, where a team that has not advanced the ball ten yards after three plays will often choose to punt the ball to its opposition rather than risk giving up field position US, 1968. 3 to vomit IRELAND, 1996. ► punt the pail to die. A jocular variation of KICK THE BUCKET *UK: SCOTLAND, 1988 punta-rosa noun a hybrid marijuana from Mexico MEXICO, 2003 punter noun 1 a customer; a consumer; in the plural, an audience UK, 1965. 2 a prostitute's customer UK, 1970. 3 a gambler UK, 1873. 4 a drug dealer's customer UK, 2000. 5 a confidence trickster's victim UK, 1934 pup noun 1 a young person US, 1964. 2 the early part (of some specified period). Most commonly in the phrase 'the night's a pup' (the night is still young) AUSTRALIA, 1915. 3 in the television and film industries, a 500-watt light source mounted on a stand UK, 1960 puppies noun the female breasts US, 2000. ► like two puppies under a blanket; like two puppies fighting under a blanket used by men as an appreciation or critical commentary of a female posterior, especially one in undulating motion UK: SCOTLAND, 2003. ► the puppies greyhound racing or coursing. A play on THE DOGS AUSTRALIA, 1984 puppies in a box noun in the pornography business, a group of bare-breasted women cavorting US, 1991 puppy noun 1 a person of a specified type US, 2004. 2 a pit bull terrier, especially a fierce one. New York police slang US, 1997. 3 a small penis US, 1980. 4 in pool, a shot that cannot be missed or a game that cannot be lost US, 1990. 5 a small bottle of wine US, 1980. 6 a gun. Jamaican gang terminology US, 1995 puppyfoot noun in a deck of playing cards, a club, especially the ace US, 1967 puppy love noun a youthful infatuation US, 1834 puppy lover noun a person who is completely infatuated with someone US, 1970 puppy paws; puppy feet noun in craps, a ten rolled with a pair of fives US, 1981 puppy show noun an act that makes you look foolish BAHAMAS, 1995 pup tents noun in circus and carnival usage, overshoes US, 1981

Purdey noun a Hillman Avenger (a popular car manufactured in the UK from 1969–82). Citizens' band radio slang; from the tongue-in-cheek spy adventure television series The New Avengers (1976–77) which featured actress Joanna Lumley as Purdey, a character named by the actress after a world-renowned shotgun UK, 1981 pure noun pure, unadulterated heroin US, 1967 pure adverb absolutely, entirely, utterly; used as a general intensifier UK, 2001

pure! surely! US, 1993

pure-food law noun on the railways, a crew sent to relieve a crew that has reached the maximum work hours allowed by law US, 1977 pure laine noun in Quebec, a French person who claims direct ancestry among the original French settlers. The phrase means 'pure wool', but even anglophones say 'pure laine' CANADA, 2001

pure love noun LSD US, 1977

pure merino noun a person who can trace their ancestry back to free settlers (as opposed to convict transportees) AUSTRALIA, 1826

purge noun an alcoholic drink NEW ZEALAND, 1994

purl; pearl verb (used of the nose of a surfboard) to plunge under the surface of the ocean US, 1963

purler; pearler noun a thing of outstanding excellence or beauty AUSTRALIA, 1941 purple noun the recreational drug ketamine US, 1994 purple adjective sexually suggestive but not explicit. Not quite BLUE US, 1986 purple death noun inexpensive red wine NEW ZEALAND, 1987 purple gnome noun a variety of LSD UK, 1996

purple haze noun 1 LSD. Whether the drug inspired the song – 'Purple Haze all in my brain' (Jimi Hendrix, 'Purple Haze', 1967) – or the song inspired the branding is uncertain US, 1967. 2 a potent variety of marijuana. Named after the 1967 song by Jimi Hendrix UK, 1996 purple-headed love missile noun the erect penis. Jocular UK, 2003 purple-headed warrior; purple warrior noun the erect penis. This could almost be the superhero identity into which an ordinary comic book penis transforms US, 1998 purple-headed womb ferret noun the penis UK, 2003 purple heart noun 1 a capsule of phenobarbital (trade name Luminal™), a central nervous system depressant US, 1966. 2 a tablet of amphetamine Drinamyl™ used as a recreational drug. From the lilac colour of the pill; playing on the US military decoration awarded to any member of the armed forces wounded by the enemy. Also shortened to 'heart' or 'purple' US, 1962 purple-helmeted warrior noun ► send in the purple-helmeted warrior to have sex US, 2001 purple hempstar noun in British Columbia, a local variety of marijuana CANADA, 2002 purple Jesus noun an alcoholic drink based on grape juice CANADA, 1991

Purple Nike Swirl E noun a tablet MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy, with a Nike logo UK, 2001 purple nurple; purple herbie noun a violent gripping and twisting assault on someone's (usually a male's) nipples UK, 2003 purple ohm; purple om noun a type of LSD UK: NORTHERN IRELAND, 2001 purple Owsley noun a powerful type of LSD. From its colour and the name of legendary LSD manufacturer Augustus Owsley Stanley III. Other variations include 'purple dot'; 'purple dragon'; 'purple microdot'; 'purple owsky'; PURPLE OZOLIN and 'purple wedge' US, 1970 purple ozolin; purple ozoline; purple ozzy noun a powerful variety of LSD US, 1986 purple passion noun red wine US, 1966 purple patch noun a string of good luck AUSTRALIA, 1989 purple piccolo noun the erect penis UK, 2003 purple pickle noun the bar awarded to US Air Force flight officers US, 1946 purple-suiter noun a military officer assigned to the US Department of Defense US, 1986 purple Thai noun a variety of marijuana CANADA, 2002

purple warrior noun ► see: PURPLE-HEADED WARRIOR purr noun the belly. English gypsy use UK, 2000 purse play noun croquet played for money US, 1997

pus-ball noun ► see: PUSS-BALL push noun 1 a group of friends or associates; a clique. Originally 'push' referred to 'an organised gang of street hoodlums' AUSTRALIA, 1884. 2 in betting, a doubling of the bet in effect US, 1986. 3 in British Columbia logging, the boss, the foreman CANADA, 1953. 4 in blackjack, a tie between the dealer and a player US, 1978. 5 a radio frequency. As in 'the battalion push'. Vietnam war usage US, 1968. ► the push a dismissal from employment or romantic involvement UK, 1875 push verb 1 to sell something, especially drugs US, 1938. 2 to make a special effort to promote a professional wrestler's image and status US, 2000. ► push poo-poo to take the active role in anal sex Fiji, 1997. ► push some leg to have sex US, 1983. ► push the boat out to be more generous or extravagant than usual, to act generously, especially with money. Originally naval slang, used of someone buying a round of drinks UK, 1937. ► push the bush (used of a male) to have sex with a woman US, 1984. ► push the envelope to challenge current parameters. From aviation where ENVELOPE is the limit of a plane's range and powers, via 1990s' marketing speak US, 1998. ► push up the daisies; pushing up the daisies to be dead, especially dead and buried; use is occasionally extended to the dying. An image first sketched as dated 'turn up your toes to the daisies' in 1842 – from which we derive turn up your toes, (to die). Other variations that have slipped from use: 'under the daisies', 'kick up daisies' and, less certainly, 'grin at the daisy-roots', which may also relate to 'roots' (boots) UK, 1918. ► push your luck to take a risk UK, 1911 push-bike noun a bicycle. The 'push' providing a motive distinction from a motorbike UK, 1913 pushed adjective short of something, usually time or money UK, 1942 pusher noun 1 a drug dealer US, 1935. 2 in the circus or carnival, a foreman US, 1980 push-in noun a robbery accomplished by knocking on a door and pushing your way into a house or apartment US, 1982 pushing adverb of years of age, approaching, nearly UK, 1974 push in the bush noun vaginal sex US, 1980 push in the truck noun an instance of sexual intercourse. Rhyming slang for FUCK in the transport industry UK, 1992 pushke noun a drive soliciting funds. The term comes from Yiddish, and derives from a charitable collection box in Jewish homes passed around on Sabbath eve to collect for philanthropic purposes CANADA, 2002 push-me-toe noun any thong sandal TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 2003 push-oline noun gasoline, petrol US, 1977 push out in the language of hang gliding, used as an all-purpose greeting or farewell US, 1992 pushover noun 1 someone who is gullible or easily manipulated; a person who is easily persuaded into sexual activity US, 1944. 2 something that is easy to do US, 1906 pushunder noun a chamber pot BARBADOS, 1965 push water noun petrol or diesel fuel US, 1977 pushy adjective 1 self-assertive, especially when unpleasantly so US, 1936. 2 used of a woman, in the second stage of labour US, 1994 pusillanimous polecat noun used as a general term of disapproval. A term used by George 'Gramps' Miller, played by George Cleveland, on the television drama Lassie (CBS, 1954–57). Repeated with referential humour US, 1957 puss noun 1 the vagina; sex UK, 1958. 2 a girl or woman; an effeminate man UK, 1991. 3 a 'feminine' lesbian UK, 1977. 4 the mouth; the face. A term hatched simultaneously in Ireland and the US US, 1891. 5 a disgruntled facial expression. From Irish pūs IRELAND, 2004

puss-ball; pus-ball noun a contemptible person UK, 2003

puss boots noun trainers, sneakers JAMAICA, 1996 pusser; pusser's adjective official. Royal Navy slang, adapted from the old navy rank of Purser; used in many combinations UK, 1987 pusser's noun rum. Royal Navy slang; derives from 'pusser's' (official issue), not to be confused with branded Pusser's Rum UK, 1989 pusser's brown noun toilet paper. Royal Navy slang UK, 1984 pusser's cow noun tinned milk. Naval slang AUSTRALIA, 1943 pusser's dip noun a candle. Royal Navy slang; originally 'purser's dip' UK, 1948 pusser's dirk noun a service clasp-knife. Royal Navy slang; a variant of 'pusser's dagger' UK, 1960 pusser's dust noun instant coffee powder. Royal Navy slang UK, 1988 pusser's fix-all noun WD40™, a multi-purpose lubricant. Royal Navy slang UK, 1988 pusser's hard noun navy-issue soap. Royal Navy slang UK, 1962 pusser's leaf noun navy-issue rolling tobacco. Royal Navy slang UK, 1988 pusser's medal noun a food stain on clothing. Royal Navy slang UK, 1988 pussified adjective effeminate US, 1994 pussin noun the vagina; a woman as a sexual object TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1993 pussy noun 1 the vagina; a woman as a sexual object; sex UK, 1880. 2 the mouth (as an object of sexual penetration) US, 1988. 3 a weak or effeminate boy or man; a coward US, 1942. 4 a fur skin or fur garment. Criminals' slang UK, 1937. 5 anchovies. Based on the puerile comparison of the smell of fish and the vagina US, 1996. 6 the middle position in the back seat of a car US, 1980. ► pet the pussy (of a female) to masturbate US, 2001. ► sling pussy to work as a prostitute US, 1990

pussy adjective weak; effeminate; not manly US, 1986 pussy; pussy in verb to move quietly; to enter unobtrusively. To a degree synonymous with conventional 'pussyfoot' AUSTRALIA, 1975

pussy-ass noun a weak or effeminate man; a coward US, 1995 pussy beard noun female pubic hair US, 1967 pussy bumping noun genital-to-genital lesbian sex US, 1949 pussycat; pussy cat noun 1 the vagina US, 1980. 2 a sexually attractive woman US, 1965. 3 a pleasant, surprisingly gentle or amenable person US, 1978 pussy cat has a nosebleed a woman who is in the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. A euphemistic elaboration on PUSSYCAT (the vagina) US, 2001 pussyclot; pussyclaat noun someone despicable. Combines PUSSY (vagina) and 'clot' (West Indian pronunciation of 'cloth') to mean 'sanitary towel'; however 'clot' may be understood conventionally as coagulated blood which intensifies the insult JAMAICA, 1978 pussy cloth noun any improvised sanitary towel JAMAICA, 1985

pussy collar noun a desire for sex US, 1963 pussycratic adjective obsessed with sex JAMAICA, 1976

pussy drunk noun a sex offender; a rapist UK, 1996 pussy eater noun a practitioner of oral sex on women US, 2002 pussy fart noun an eruption of trapped air from the vagina during sexual intercourse US, 1995 pussyfence noun a receiver of stolen furs UK, 1956 pussy finger noun the index finger US, 1977 pussyfoot verb to act with such caution that your behaviour appears evasive or cowardly. From the cautious progress of cats US, 1903 pussyfooter noun a railway police officer US, 1977 pussy game noun prostitution US, 1978 pussy hair noun female pubic hair US, 1969 pussy holder noun the passenger seat on a motorcycle US, 1967 pussy hole noun a despicable person or object; used abusively. A synonym for CUNT; seemingly euphemistic but possibly more derogatory than the original PUSSY (the vagina), with extra detail UK, 1994 pussyhole noun a despised person UK, 2006 pussy hook noun a thief who specialises in stealing furs. A combination of PUSSY (a fur) and HOOK (a thief) UK, 1956 pussy hound noun a man obsessed with sex and women US, 1984 pussy lips noun the labia US, 1969 pussy man noun a pimp US, 1967 pussy Nellie; pussy Nelly noun a male homosexual. Mainly naval usage, apparently from early in the C20 UK, 1984 pussy out verb to back out of a task because of fear US, 1992 pussy patrol; pussy posse; pussy squad noun a police vice squad focusing on prostitution US, 1973

pussy posse noun 1 a police vice squad UK, 1963. 2 a group of female friends US, 2001

pussy queer noun a lesbian US, 1982 pussy-seller noun a prostitute BAHAMAS, 1982

pussysucker; pussysugger noun the mouth US, 1964 pussywhip verb (used of a woman) to dominate a man US, 1974 pussy-whipped adjective dominated by a woman US, 1956 pussy whisker noun a pubic hair US, 1986 pussy willow noun a pillow. Rhyming slang UK, 1968 pussy-wood noun stolen firewood. Coalminers' use UK, 1984 put verb to dilute a drug US, 1992. ► put a (number) on to dilute a drug by the identified numerical factor US, 1971. ► put it about to be sexually promiscuous UK, 1975. ► put it on to declare hostilities with another youth gang US, 1953. ► put it to someone to have sex with someone UK, 2001. ► put me in give me some drugs UK, 1985. ► put next to to introduce one person to another or to acquaint one person with another US, 1906. ► put on to fool someone, to tease someone, to deceive someone US, 1958. ► put one on 1 to plan a crime UK, 1996. 2 to hit or punch someone UK, 1974. ► put paid to to put a stop to something UK, 1919. ► put yourself about 1 to get around and be seen. Originally police usage, now widespread probably as a result of television and film crime dramas UK, 1970. 2 to work as a prostitute. A variation of the previous sense UK, 1980 puta noun a sexually promiscuous woman; a prostitute. From Spanish puta (a whore) US, 1964 put away verb 1 to eat or drink something especially in large quantities UK, 1878. 2 to put someone in jail UK, 1883. 3 to bribe a jockey to lose a race UK, 1978 put-down noun a verbal belittling or criticism UK, 1984 put down verb 1 to belittle someone; to treat someone with humiliating contempt US, 1958. 2 to euthanise an animal UK, 1899. 3 to implicate someone as guilty US, 1965 put it there used as a greeting, soliciting a handshake US, 1978 puto noun a male homosexual. Border Spanish used by English-speakers in the American southwest US, 1965 puto mark verb to cross something out. Puto is Spanish slang for 'a male prostitute' US, 2000 put-on adjective affected, insincere UK, 1621 put out verb 1 to consent to sex US, 1947. 2 to be deserving of some punishment IRELAND, 1997 put-put noun ► see: PHAT-PHAT putrid adjective excellent; brilliant AUSTRALIA, 1993 put some water on it! used as a demand that a person using a communal toilet flush to rid the room of the smell of faeces US, 2001 putt verb to fart. Also used as noun; a childish variation of POOT, probably coined in the mid-1990s by Sylvia Branzei for Grossology US, 1996 putter noun in hot rodding, a car that has been customised for show rather than performance and is used for 'putting around' US, 1993 put the name in the hat verb to inform UK, 1996 putting green noun in pool, the largest regulation-size table US, 1990 putt-putt noun a boat or vehicle with a puny motor US, 1959 putty noun ► up to putty no good AUSTRALIA, 1916 put up verb to serve time in prison US, 1976 put-up job noun a pre-arranged deception UK, 1838 put up or shut up! used as a challenge to take action to defend what you say, or be quiet US, 1878 put you up to verb to incite, induce or persuade you to do something UK, 1824 putz noun 1 the penis US, 1934. 2 by extension, an inept, contemptible person US, 1964 putz verb ► putz around to idle; to do nothing; to waste time US, 1972

PW adjective dominated by a female. An abbreviation of PUSSY-WHIPPED US, 1966

p-whipped adjective dominated by a female. An abbreviated and euphemised PUSSY-WHIPPED US, 1999 pyjama cricket; pyjama game noun one-day cricket. So-called from the colourful uniforms worn by players instead of the usual cricket whites AUSTRALIA, 1982 pyjama-python noun the penis AUSTRALIA, 1971

pylons noun the legs US, 1947

PYO Pick-Your-Own, applied to soft fruits and farm vegetables. Usually seen in roadside advertising UK, 1982 pyro noun a pyromaniac; pyrotechnics UK, 1977 python noun the penis AUSTRALIA, 1971

Pythonesque adjective of an event, or series of events, more than bizarre but less than surreal. From the television comedy series Monty Python's Flying Circus, BBC, 1969–74 UK, 1979

Qq

Q noun 1 a homosexual. An abbreviation of QUEER US, 1968. 2 of drugs, generally marijuana, a quarter of an ounce UK, 1997. 3 the recreational drug methaqualone, best known as Quaaludes™ US, 1977. 4 in a deck of playing cards, a queen US, 1991. 5 barbecue US, 2001. 6 in American casinos, a $25 chip. An abbreviation of QUARTER US, 1983

Q nickname the San Quentin state prison in San Rafael, California US, 1957

Q and A a question and answer session US, 1997 qat noun 1 methcathinone US, 2003. 2 leaves of catha edulis, a stimulant also called K, khat or kat, originating in the Horn of Africa and the Arabian peninsula, legally available in the UK and similar to amphetamine in effect when chewed. Also known as 'qaadka' UK, 1996

Q boat noun an unmarked police car with plain clothes officers. From the name given to disguised naval vessels in World War 1 UK, 1977

QE verb to turn Queen's Evidence (to give evidence for the prosecution against your alleged accomplices) UK, 1996

Q-ship noun among hot rodders, a high-performing car that appears to be a conventional car. Taken from the early C20 meaning of an armed and camouflaged merchant ship used as a decoy US, 1965

Q-sign noun of a very sick hospital patient, the open mouth with the tongue hanging out. Medical wit; the 'Q' is an image of the mouth and tongue as described. The O-SIGN is not quite as serious UK, 2002

QT noun ► on the QT quietly, in strict confidence UK, 1884

Q tip noun in poker, a queen and a ten US, 1996 quack noun 1 a doctor of medicine. Following an earlier (mid-C17) sense as 'a pretended doctor', abbreviated from 'quacksalver' (one who sells his salves by noisy patter or 'quacking'). The current sense, spread through military use, does not imply any lack of qualification or a degree of salesmanship AUSTRALIA, 1919. 2 a hospital patient who feigns symptoms in order to receive attention, prescription medication or both US, 1978. 3 in poker, a player who complains loudly when losing US, 1979. 4 the recreational drug methaqualone, best known as Quaaludes™ US, 1985. 5 a firefighter. New York police slang US, 1997. 6 a novice surfer US, 1977 quacker noun a Kawasaki motorcycle UK, 1979 quackery noun forensic scientists; a forensic science department. Police use; always used with 'the'. Probably a pun on QUACK (a doctor) UK, 1971 quackie noun a white person TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1971 quack-quack noun 1 a duck. An echoic term, used by, or to, infants UK, 1865. 2 a commotion TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1982 quad noun 1 a quadriplegic US, 1980. 2 in trucking, a quadruplex transmission that provides twenty forward gears and four reverse US, 1971. 3 the recreational drug methaqualone, best known as Quaaludes™ US, 1980. 4 a carburettor with four barrels US, 1965. 5 a clumsy, inept fool. An evolved SQUARE CANADA, 1993 quad-fifty noun a quadruple mount .50 calibre machine gun, a devastating truck-drawn trailer-mounted weapon. Originated in World War 2 US, 1953 quadruplets noun in poker, four cards of the same rank US, 1979 quads noun 1 the quadriceps muscles US, 1984. 2 in poker, a hand with all four cards of the same rank US, 1996

quaff verb to drink alcohol UK, 1955 quail noun 1 a woman US, 1859. 2 a girl under the legal age of consent. A shortened form of SAN QUENTIN QUAIL US, 1976. 3 a twenty-five cent betting token used in of craps US, 1983

Quaker oat noun a coat. Rhyming slang, formed from Quaker Oats™, a brand of porridge UK, 1932 quality noun ► the quality anyone who is not a member of the travelling community IRELAND, 1993 quango noun a government-financed, notionally independent body with a powerful interest in a given field of interest. An acronym for Quasi Non-Government(al) Organisation or Quasi-Autonomous National Government Organisation UK, 1973 quanker noun in Nova Scotia, a duck-calling device CANADA, 1945

quare adjective mediocre UK, 1983 quare hawk noun someone who is unconventional in some way IRELAND, 1989 quare one noun wife IRELAND, 1997 quar ice noun water that has oozed through the ground through snow and frozen on the surface CANADA, 1955 quarked out adjective under the influence of drugs US, 1999 quarm verb (used of a man) to behave in an exaggerated, effeminate manner BAHAMAS, 1982 quart noun 1 a twenty-five cent piece BARBADOS, 1965. 2 in poker, four cards of the same suit in sequence US, 1979 quarter noun 1 a quarter of an ounce of drugs, especially cocaine US, 1968. 2 a quarter of a kilo of drugs UK, 1996. 3 twenty-five dollars' worth of drugs. Also called a 'quarter bag' US, 2001. 4 a prison sentence of 25 years US, 1964. 5 a jail sentence of three months. Also referred to as 'quarter bit' and 'quarter stretch' UK, 1977. 6 in American casinos, a $25 chip US, 1980. 7 twenty-five pounds of weights used in lifting US, 1989. 8 a cigarette US, 1958 quarter bird noun one quarter pound of cocaine US, 1999 quarter-deck verb during US Marine Corps basic training, to administer physical discipline or Incentive Physical Training US, 2004 quarter house noun a place where mid-level heroin dealers do business US, 1978 quarter rock noun crack cocaine US, 1993 quart store noun a store that sells beer on the retail level US, 1997 quartz noun methamphetamine that is smoked UK, 1988

Quasar noun a woman. A strained allusion to a Quasar television advertising slogan – 'works in a drawer', and then punning on 'drawers' as an item of female underwear US, 1976 quashie noun a country-dweller; an unsophisticated peasant. Possibly from C18 Quashee, an African name, adopted by white people as a general name for any black person UK, 1997

Quasimodo noun soda water. Rhyming slang, formed from 'The Hunchback of Notre Dame' UK, 1992 quat noun in betting, odds of 4–1 UK, 1991 quater noun twenty-five cents. A corruption of 'quarter' US, 1980 quater; quarter; quaterer adjective four. Polari, from Italian quattro UK, 1996 quaver verb 1 to dither, especially over whether or not to make a purchase UK, 1979. 2 to potter about; to tinker UK, 1979 quaverer noun a vacillating, or uncertain, customer. From QUAVER UK, 1979 quawk noun uncooked frozen meat or fish CANADA, 1947 quay; quas noun the recreational drug methaqualone, best known as Quaaludes™ US, 1997 quean noun 1 an effeminate male homosexual; an ageing passive homosexual UK, 1935. 2 a lesbian. A term used by male homosexuals UK, 1984 quean up verb in male homosexual society, to adopt girlish mannerisms and affectations; to use cosmetics and to primp. British gay slang UK, 1972

queased out adjective nauseated, sick US, 1993

Quebec wrench noun a beer bottle opener. The high consumption rate of beer in Quebec is the source of this oral slang item CANADA, 2001 queber noun a social outcast US, 1987 queeb noun a bisexual US, 1988 queef noun the passing of air from the vagina US, 2002 queef verb to expel air from the vagina, intentionally or not US, 2000 queen noun 1 an obviously homosexual male AUSTRALIA, 1924. 2 a mother. As the ruler of the house UK, 2002. 3 a popular girl US, 1959. 4 a girlfriend, mistress or prostitute US, 1968. 5 an enthusiast of the preceding thing or activity US, 1999

Queen noun ► for the Queen used to describe extra days added as punishment to a sentence of imprisonment UK, 1996. ► go Queen's; turn Queen's to turn Queen's evidence, that is, to give evidence against co-defendants, usually to your own advantage UK, 1996. ► the Queen the National Anthem. Before this we stood for 'the King' UK, 1952

Queen Anne is dead a catchphrase retort on old news. Later variations – 'Queen Elizabeth and my Lord Baldwin' – have not survived UK, 1722 queen bee noun 1 the alpha male in a group of homosexuals. Punning on QUEAN. The Guild Dictionary of Homosexual Terms, 1965, offers this definition: 'usually, but not always, an auntie with money, an entourage, and numbers (sex-partners). Frequently he is elderly and, most always, an agreeable person.' US, 1965. 2 a heterosexual woman who seeks out the company of homosexual men US, 1957

Queen Charlotte tuxedo noun a heavy grey Stanfield's undershirt CANADA, 1989

queenie noun a prostitute US, 1964

Queenie nickname Queensland, Australia AUSTRALIA, 1994

Queen Mary noun 1 a surfboard that is too big for the surfer using it. Named after the ocean liner, not a royal female US, 1964. 2 a large tank truck. An ocean liner reference US, 1954

Queen of Mean nickname Leona Helmsley (b.1920), American hotelier and prototype of greed during the Reagan era US, 1997

Queen of the Jukebox nickname Dinah Washington (1924–1963), a brilliant vocalist in the jazz, pop and R&B genres US, 1975

Queen of the South noun the mouth. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of a Scottish football club UK, 1992

Queen's Cowboys nickname the Royal Canadian Mounted Police CANADA, 1989 queen's gaff noun the anus. An allusion to WINDSOR CASTLE, a royal GAFF (residence) in Berkshire which also serves as rhyming slang for 'arsehole' UK, 1992

Queenslander noun a type of weatherboard house raised on stilts AUSTRALIA, 1994

Queen's Necklace nickname in Mumbai, the view after dark of the sparkling lights on Marine Drive (now Netaji Subhash Road) INDIA, 2002

Queens Park Ranger noun a stranger. Rhyming slang, formed from the full name of QPR, the London football club, Queens Park Rangers UK, 1961 queen's row noun an area in a prison reserved for blatantly homosexual prisoners US, 1967

Queen Street bushie; Queen Street cowboy; Queen Street ringer noun in Queensland, a city person with pretences to country living, such as dressing like a cowboy or driving a 4WD AUSTRALIA, 2003 queen tank noun a jail holding cell reserved for flamboyantly effeminate homosexual men US, 1988 queeny adjective 1 blatantly homosexual US, 1979. 2 showy, melodramatic, affected US, 1997 queer noun 1 a homosexual man or a lesbian. Usually pejorative, but also a male homosexual term of self-reference within the gay underground and subculture US, 1914. 2 counterfeit money UK, 1812 queer verb to spoil something; to ruin something; to interfere with something UK, 1812. ► queer a pitch to spoil a situation or a circumstance; to undermine someone's efforts UK, 1875 queer adjective 1 homosexual. Derogatory from the outside, not from within US, 1914. 2 catering to or patronised by homosexuals US, 1957. 3 driven by deep and perverse sexual desires US, 1967. 4 not good; out of fashion. Like 'gay', 'queer' has been hijacked from its homosexual context US, 1997. 5 counterfeit US, 1951. ► to be queer for to be fond of someone or something US, 1953 queer and nasty, try another service nickname the Australian airline QANTAS. Most airlines seem to be the subject of jocular puns. 'Queers and Nancies Trading as Stewards' had some circulation in the 1980s AUSTRALIA, 2002 queer as a clockwork orange adjective 1 obviously homosexual. Plays on QUEER (unusual/homosexual) UK, 1973. 2 unusual or suspicious. Predates the novel Clockwork Orange (1962) by Anthony Burgess UK, 1980 queer as a four-speed walking stick adjective unusual; ostentatiously homosexual. Popularised by raconteur 'Blaster' Bates (b.1922) UK, 1984 queer as a left-handed corkscrew adjective unusual; ostentatiously homosexual UK, 1970s queer as a nine-bob note adjective 1 ostentatiously homosexual. Plays on QUEER (unusual/homosexual) UK, 1984. 2 unusual or suspicious. The most 'queer' (unusual) thing about a nine BOB (shilling) note is that it has never existed; the phrase survived decimalisation in 1971, which 'bob' failed to do UK, 1984 queer as a nine-bob watch adjective suspicious. So cheap it must be suspect UK, 1984 queer as a three-dollar bill adjective ostentatiously homosexual US, 1966 queer as fuck adjective definitely homosexual; ostentatiously gay. QUEER (homosexual) plus 'as fuck' (an intensifier); punned in the popular television drama series about gay culture, Queer As Folk AUSTRALIA, 1997 queerbait; queer-bait noun a man who commands the attention of homosexual men, whether he is homosexual or not US, 1957 queer-bashing verb an attack (usually physical) of a homosexual because of his sexuality UK, 1970 queer beer noun weak, watery beer. More commonly reduplicated as 'near beer' US, 1976 queerie noun a homosexual NEW ZEALAND, 1998 queer jack noun counterfeit money US, 1949 queer-rolling noun the practice of attacking and robbing homosexuals UK, 1977 queer's lunch box noun the male crotch US, 1964

Queer Street noun ► in Queer Street; on Queer Street experiencing difficulties, especially financial difficulties; in a vulnerable position UK, 1952 queeve verb to experience a loss of energy US, 1984 quegg noun a homosexual. Possibly a compound of QUEER (homosexual or odd) and EGG (a person) UK, 2007

Quel Chagrin noun Queen's Counsel. From the initials QC CANADA, 2002 query noun a test or examination US, 1976 ques noun the question mark (?) character on a computer keyboard US, 1991 queue noun ► put on a queue (of a woman) to have sex with a line of partners, one after the other AUSTRALIA, 1970 quezzie noun a question UK, 2002 quiche-eater noun a sensitive male; an effeminate male US, 1984 quiche out verb to concede defeat in a cowardly manner; to behave in a weak or effeminate manner. Probably from the notion that 'real men don't eat quiche' UK, 2006 quick and dirty adjective constructed as quickly as possible US, 1991

Quickdraw McGraw noun the US Secret Service agent who is closest to the president. Quickdraw McGraw was a Hanna Barbera cartoon that first aired in 1959; ironically, the character Quickdraw McGraw was not a quick draw, but his name has survived, implying that which the character was not US, 1981 quick-go noun in a sport, a player who does not last very long on a team US, 1972 quickie noun 1 a sexual encounter that is carried out quickly US, 1950. 2 an alcoholic drink taken hastily AUSTRALIA, 1969. 3 something that is accomplished quickly US, 1940. 4 an unexpected, quickly executed manoeuvre or piece of trickery US, 1950 quickie adjective carried out quickly US, 1940 quick-lunch noun a fast-food small restaurant CANADA, 1959 quickness noun ► with a quickness as soon as possible US, 1997 quick one noun an unexpected act of betrayal US, 1950 quick one off the wrist noun ► see: ONE OFF THE WRIST quick pussy noun a secure NATO communications system CANADA, 1995 quick-smart adverb quickly AUSTRALIA, 1952 quick-starts noun running shoes US, 1990 quick thinking, Batman! used for a humorous, if sarcastic, response to another's observation or conclusion. From the Batman comic and television series (1966–1968). The television series launched several catchphrases into the vocabulary to a far greater extent than the comic books had US, 1968 quick-turn burn noun the refuelling and reloading of an F-18 fighter jet in less than five minutes US, 1991 quid noun 1 a pound sterling; pounds sterling. Deriving perhaps from Latin quid (what?), later suggesting 'the wherewithal'. Note too UK dialect quid (a wad of tobacco). The quid has survived decimalisation (1971) and several centuries of inflation; originally coined as 'a guinea' (1 pound, 1 shilling), in C 19 it became 'a sovereign' UK, 1688. 2 some money. Still in use despite the fact that pounds went out in 1966 when Australia changed over to decimal currency (dollars and cents) AUSTRALIA, 1976. 3 five dollars. If a pound is five dollars, so must be a quid US, 1988. ► not the full quid without a full complement of intelligence AUSTRALIA, 1944 quid deal noun a drug sale involving one pound's worth of drugs, usually marijuana UK, 1983 quids noun a large amount of money AUSTRALIA, 1930. ► not for quids not for anything AUSTRALIA, 1941. ► wouldn't be dead for quids I am generally happy with my life and circumstances AUSTRALIA, 1986 quids in adjective prospering; at an advantage. Figurative use of actual profit measured by the QUID (£1) UK, 1919 quietie noun a quiet drink AUSTRALIA, 1995 quiet-side adjective secret US, 1976 quiff noun 1 the vagina; a woman as sex object; a prostitute. Archaic in the US, but understood in context UK, 1923. 2 by extension, a male homosexual US, 1977 quill noun 1 anything used to snort powdered drugs; the drugs themselves US, 1935. 2 cocaine UK, 1998. 3 heroin UK, 1996 quill pig noun a porcupine. Michigan Upper Peninsula usage US, 2003 quilty adjective luxurious US, 1976 quim noun the vagina; used objectively as a collective noun for women, especially sexually available women UK, 1735 quimby noun a person completely lacking in social graces US, 1997 quimmo noun a fool; an unpleasant individual. Extending QUIM (the vagina) as a synonym for CUNT UK, 1999 quince noun an effeminate male; a homosexual AUSTRALIA, 1941.

► get on your quince to annoy you AUSTRALIA, 1941 quinella noun in horse racing, a bet on the first two to finish in either order US, 1991 quinine noun in the game of craps, the number nine US, 1950 quint noun in poker, five cards of the same suit in sequence US, 1979 quint major noun in poker, a sequence of five cards, same suit, ending with the face cards US, 1988

quitter noun a suicide US, 1982 quiver noun 1 a selection of surfboards used for different surf conditions US, 1977. 2 cocaine UK, 1999 quiver-giver noun an attractive person US, 1947 quiz noun a roadside sobriety test US, 1976 quiz room noun a room where the North Vietnamese interrogated US prisoners of war US, 1990 quizzly adjective nousey NEW ZEALAND, 1988

quoit noun the anus; the backside AUSTRALIA, 1919 quokka soccer noun on Rottnest Island, running around kicking quokkas as a type of entertainment. The 'quokka' is a small rare native marsupial, Setonix brachyurus, of southwestern West Australia AUSTRALIA, 1999 quong noun the testicle. Usually in the plural UK, 2002 quorum noun in poker, the agreed-upon minimum number of players to continue a game US, 1979 quote verb in criminal circles, to vouch for someone UK, 2000 quo vadis noun unfashionable or unpopular music. Probably refers to the 1951 film Quo Vadis and the rock group Status Quo, formed in 1967 and, in 2003, still working, with the implication that both entertainments are dated UK, 2003 quozzie; quoz noun a disabled or deformed person. Derived from Quasimodo, 'The Hunchback of Notre Dame' UK, 2000

Rr

RA noun ► the RA the Irish Republican Army IRELAND, 2003 raas noun 1 an arse; hence your being JAMAICA, 1994. 2 a contemptible person. Probable origin in the phrase 'your arse', although some suggest Dutch raas (rage). The early, especially West Indian, sense was considered extremely offensive, however modern UK black usage is roughly equivalent to ARSE or ARSEHOLE. There is a, possibly disingenuous, belief amongst some Jamaicans that Raas was a king of Africa JAMAICA, 2000. 3 nonsense. From West Indian. Black usage UK, 2000. ► the raas used in order to intensify. Synonymous with 'the hell', 'the fuck', etc UK, 1994 raasclat noun used as an extreme derogative. Combines RAAS (arse) and 'clat' (West Indian pronunciation of 'cloth') to mean 'a sanitary towel' JAMAICA, 1978 raashole noun a contemptible person; used as a general term of abuse. A cross-cultural variation on ARSEHOLE, using West Indian and UK black RAAS (an arse) UK, 2000

rabbi noun a mentor or protector US, 1970 rabbit noun 1 a woman who has a large number of children. Collected at a UK prison, August 2002 JAMAICA, 2002. 2 a man who ejaculates with little stimulation US, 1987. 3 a white person US, 1991. 4 a nervous, timid, cautious person US, 1951. 5 a new member of a Rastafarian gang NEW ZEALAND, 1988. 6 a prisoner who is known for attempting to escape prison US, 1972. 7 a person who regularly borrows money from an illegal money lender and pays back promptly US, 1950. 8 on the railways, a side track on a downhill incline used to divert runaway trains and prevent crashes US, 1946. 9 a poor poker player US, 1967. ► go like a rabbit to demonstrate eagerness during sex UK, 1972. ► the rabbit died used for indicating a state of pregnancy. From the (former) methodology used to test pregnancy that was introduced in 1949 UK, 1998. ► the rabbit's hopping experiencing the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. A reversal of the phrase THE RABBIT DIED (pregnant) US, 2001 rabbit verb to run away UK, 1887 rabbit and pork; rabbit noun the act of talking; a conversation. Rhyming slang for 'talk' UK, 1980 rabbit and pork; rabbit verb to talk. Rhyming slang. 'To rabbit on' is 'to talk at length' UK, 1941 rabbit blood noun a seemingly unstoppable urge to try to escape from prison US, 1950 rabbit ears noun 1 a v-shaped aerial placed on top of a television set US, 1967. 2 in a casino Keno game, the two clear plastic tubes through which the number balls are blown US, 1993. 3 an athlete or official who is quick to take offence at teasing US, 1967 rabbiter's breakfast noun a visit to the toilet and a cigarette NEW ZEALAND, 1975 rabbit fever noun the urge to try to escape from prison US, 1962 rabbit food; rabbit's food noun any salad vegetable, especially lettuce. A generally dismissive term from the carnivorous lobby UK, 1936 rabbit hunt verb in poker, to look through undealt cards after a hand is completed to see what might have been US, 1967 rabbit hutch noun the crutch or crotch. Rhyming slang UK, 1980 rabbit-killer noun a short and vicious punch to the neck, generally with the open hand AUSTRALIA, 1941 rabbit-oh; rabbit-o noun a door-to-door seller of slaughtered rabbits. From the cry 'rabbit oh!', used by the vendor to attract attention AUSTRALIA, 1902 rabbit season noun spring, when prisoners are inclined to try to escape US, 1967 rabbit's paw; rabbit verb to talk. Rhyming slang for JAW. The shortened form is identical in sense to the shortened form of RABBIT AND PORK UK, 1961 rabbit tracks noun in craps, a six rolled with a pair of threes US, 1985 rabbit turds noun Italian sausage. Limited usage, but graphic US, 1996 race noun 1 a single game in an illegal numbers lottery US, 1963. 2 a single game of Keno US, 1973. ► not in the race not having any chance of success AUSTRALIA, 1904. ► the race the game of roller derby US, 1960s and 70s race verb ► race for pink slips (pinks) in drag racing, to compete for the prize of ownership of the opponent's car US, 2003. ► race off to conduct a person away to some other place for the purpose of seduction AUSTRALIA, 1965 race bird noun an enthusiastic fan of horse racing US, 1971 race face noun in motor racing, the look of total concentration and focus seen on drivers just before a race begins US, 1993 racehorse noun 1 an accomplished, sought-after prostitute US, 1972. 2 a thinly rolled cigarette AUSTRALIA, 1944 racehorse Charlie; racehorse Charley noun heroin; cocaine. Perhaps from the long-ago brand name White Horse US, 1936 race record noun a recording by a black artist; rock 'n' roll before whites discovered rock 'n' roll US, 1927 racerhead noun in mountain biking, someone who competes in races. A mild put-down to describe riders so into competition that they have lost their perspective on the cosmic absurdity of mountain biking US, 1992 racers noun close-fitting nylon swimwear used for competitive swimming. So-called because they are used in competitive swimming AUSTRALIA, 2003 racers noun ► at the races unsuccessful, uncompetitive IRELAND, 2003 racetracker noun in horse racing, a person who makes their living in some capacity at racetracks US, 1951 racing stripe noun a faecal stain in the underpants US, 1991 racing tackle noun amphetamines or other central nervous system stimulants UK, 1983 rack noun 1 a woman's breasts US, 1982. 2 a set of antlers US, 1945. 3 bed US, 1955. 4 a room or apartment US, 1993. 5 a maximum security prison cell US, 1982. 6 a hotel's front desk US, 1954. 7 a foil-wrapped package of amphetamines US, 1997. 8 a packet of five barbiturate capsules or other drugs, give or take several US, 1972. 9 a one-month supply of birth control pills US, 1980. 10 a six-pack (of beer) US, 1991. 11 a case (24 cans) of beer US, 2000. ► hit the rack to go to bed, to go to sleep US, 1973. ► on the rack available for prostitution US, 1977

rack verb 1 to go to sleep US, 1993. 2 to steal US, 1997. 3 to shoplift US, 2001. 4 to perform well US, 1955. 5 to load (a gun) US, 1997. 6 in the television and film industries, to adjust the camera lens in the middle of a shot to keep the subject in focus US, 1990. ► rack the bars to open or close a prison cell door US, 1992 rack attack noun a nap; sleep US, 1975 racked adjective asleep US, 1075 racked up adjective upset US, 1970 racket noun 1 a criminal enterprise; a swindle or a means of deception. Any illicit or dubious enterprise may be termed a 'racket' by prefixing the area of criminal operation, hence 'narcotics racket', 'loan-shark racket', etc UK, 1894. 2 a job, trade or profession. A jocular reference: 'What racket are you in?' or 'What's your racket?' UK, 1891. 3 a private, police-only party US, 1987. 4 any rigged carnival game or attraction US, 1960

racket boy noun a member of an organised criminal enterprise US, 1953 racket jacket noun the jacket of a zoot suit US, 1945 racketty coo noun a Jewish person. Rhyming slang for 'Jew' AUSTRALIA, 1971 rackety adjective noisy US, 1975 rackey noun a boy who affects a style of dressing reminiscent of a gangster. Teen slang US, 1955 rack face noun lines on your face left from a blanket, sheet or pillow US, 1996 rack monster noun a person who spends a great deal of time in bed US, 1976 rack off verb to go away. Commonly but not exclusively used in the imperative. A euphemistic alternative to PISS OFF and FUCK OFF. Origin unknown. The Oxford English Dictionary (supplement) suggests a connection with 'rack' meaning 'of a horse, to move by alternately raising two legs on one side', but this seems hardly creditable due to the rarity of that term in Australia AUSTRALIA, 1975 rack off hairy legs! go away! An intensive form of the usual RACK OFF with the rather feeble insult 'hairy legs' tacked on AUSTRALIA, 1988 rack out verb to go to sleep US, 1991 rack up verb 1 to accumulate things; to score points US, 1961. 2 in a casino or gambling establishment, to have your chips placed in a chip rack to be cashed in US, 1982. 3 to prepare lines of cocaine UK, 1997. 4 in prison, to return prisoners to their cells US, 1990 racy bopper noun a female fan of motor racing whose attraction to the sport is a function of her attraction to the race participants US, 1993 rad noun 1 a political radical UK, 1973. 2 a radiator UK, 1935. 3 a radio UK, 1996 rad adjective extreme; intense; exciting; good. An abbreviated 'radical' US, 1982 radar noun a petty thief. Someone who will 'pick up anything' AUSTRALIA, 1989 radar alley noun any stretch of a motorway heavily patrolled by radar; especially, Interstate 90 between Cleveland and the New York state line US, 1971 radar Charlie noun a poker player with a strong intuitive sense of other players' hands US, 1988

RadCan noun Radio Canada, the francophone side of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. The 'Rad' in RadCan suggests 'radical', a view held by Canadian federalists of Radio Canada (pronounced, even by anglophone speakers, in the French way, as 'Raaahdio Canada') CANADA, 2002 raddie noun 1 an Italian or Anglo-Italian living in London. From the raddled-seeming complexion of some Italians compared to that of a pale Londoner, possibly influenced by REDDY (an Italian). Originally used of Italian families in Clerkenwell UK, 1938. 2 a political radical UK, 1964 radge noun a psychotic; a madman UK, 1995 radge adjective 1 used in order to express approval UK, 2003. 2 mad; psychotic UK, 2003. 3 silly. Northern dialect radgy (mad) UK, 1961 radgepot noun a fool. Probably direct from Northern dialect radge (mad). Natural derivations are 'radgy' and 'radgified' UK, 1979 radiate verb ► radiate a mortgage in Quebec, to cancel a mortgage CANADA, 2001 radiator whiskey noun strong, homemade whisky US, 1999 radic noun a police officer, especially armed police. Shortened from 'radicator' UK, 1994 radical adjective extreme; outrageous; good. Originally surfer slang, then migrated into the argot of the San Fernando Valley and then into mainstream US youth slang US, 1967 radio noun a prisoner who talks loudly and without paying attention to who might be listening US, 1976

Radio Ones noun diarrhoea. Rhyming slang for THE RUNS, formed on (the verbal out-pourings of the DJs on) BBC Radio One UK, 1992 radio rental; radio rentals; rentals adjective wonderful, amazing; insane, crazy. Rhyming slang for MENTAL; based on Radio Rentals, a high street shop UK, 1973 radio that!; radio that shit! used in prison as a demand for quiet US, 1981

'rado noun a Cadillac El Dorado car US, 1980

rad pad noun in skateboarding, a rubber wedge used as a shock pad that changes the angles at which the axle assembly is mounted US, 1976

rads noun the police UK, 2000

Rafferty's rules; Rafferty rules noun an entire lack of rules altogether. From the Irish surname Rafferty, with the implication that the Irish were unruly. Connection with the Northumberland dialect word raffety 'irregular; applied by sinkers to stratified deposits', and the Lincolnshire term raffatory 'refractory' (see English Dialect Dictionary), amount to nothing more than hopeful guesswork AUSTRALIA, 1918 raffle ticket; raffle noun a mistake. Rhyming slang for RICKET UK, 1992 raft noun a large amount US, 1830 rag noun 1 a sanitary towel US, 1966. 2 the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1971. 3 a despicable person US, 1997. 4 a newspaper, especially a disreputable one UK, 1889. 5 a used car that is in very poor condition US, 1980. 6 a well-worn tyre US, 1961. 7 a banknote; paper money UK, 1817. 8 in pool, a cushion US, 1985. 9 in horse racing, an outsider (a horse considered unlikely to win a race) UK, 1991. 10 in poker, a useless card in the dealt hand or a drawn card that does not improve the hand US, 1978. 11 in a carnival midway game, a small prize in a plastic bag US, 1985. 12 a railway pointsman US, 1946. ► get your rag out to lose your temper. A combination of LOSE YOUR RAG and the earlier 'get your shirt out' UK, 1956. ► lose your rag to lose your temper UK, 1959. ► on the rag; have the rag on 1 experiencing the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1974. 2 figuratively, to be distracted and irritable US, 1963 rag verb to mock, bully, tease or ridicule someone UK, 1808 rag adjective unpleasant, bad NEW ZEALAND, 1998 ragamuffin noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. A play on RAG (a sanitary towel) AUSTRALIA, 2001 rag and bone noun 1 a telephone. Rhyming slang UK, 1984. 2 a lavatory pedestal and receptacle, especially the lavatory seat. Rhyming slang for THRONE UK, 1992 rag and boner noun a telephone. Extended from rhyming slang RAG AND BONE (telephone) UK, 1984

raga-raga adjective of clothes, worn-out, ragged. A variation on conventional 'ragged' JAMAICA, 1943 ragbag noun 1 an odd assortment UK, 1999. 2 an untidily or shabbily dressed person UK, 1888. 3 in circus and carnival usage, a show that has fallen on hard times or is fundamentally dishonest US, 1981 rage noun a large wave US, 1991 rage verb 1 to enjoy a party with great enthusiasm US, 1992. 2 to dominate someone or something US, 1984

-rage suffix when combined with a subject noun, an outburst of enraged hostility within or occasioned by that subject area UK, 1998 rager noun 1 a skilled, aggressive surfer or skateboarder US, 1997. 2 a large party US, 1990 ragga; ragamuffin; raggamuffin noun a ruffian, usually of West Indian racial origin. Originally a West Indian and UK black term with an approving tone; probably derived from the conventional sense of a 'raggedy' (a disreputable person); ultimately from Ragamoffyn, a demon in the Middle English poem 'Piers Plowman' by William Langland (perhaps 1330–86). The derivation is likely to be influenced by Jamaican 'raga-raga' (ragged) and 'ragamofi' (ragged clothes) UK, 1996 raggagansta; raggagangsta noun a West Indian/UK black gangster. Compounds RAGGAMUFFIN (a ruffian) with GANGSTA (a gangster) UK, 1997

raggastani noun a member of a British Indian (Hindi) urban youth gang or subculture UK, 2006 ragged adjective 1 without money US, 1990. 2 tired; unwell AUSTRALIA, 1958 ragged edge noun in hot rodding, drag racing, and motor racing, the absolute limit of the car's ability US, 1965 raggedy adjective ragged; rough; dishevelled US, 1890 raggedy jack noun in Newfoundland, a homemade pile rug CANADA, 1979 raggedy jacket noun in Newfoundland, a harp seal moulting from the white coat to the bedlamer stage CANADA, 1976 raggin' adjective dressed in fashionable and expensive clothing US, 1987 raggy-ar-se adjective of poor quality UK, 2002 rag head noun 1 an Arab person, or a native of any race that wears a cloth-covering on the head; by extension a native of Muslim countries. Offensive US, 1927. 2 in circus and carnival usage, a gypsy US, 1981 raging adjective very good; very exciting US, 1995

Raging Bull nickname Jake LaMotta (b.1921), a middleweight boxer who fiercely made his presence felt in the ring in the 1940s and 50s US, 1980 raging queer noun a particularly ostentatious or importunate male homosexual. An intensification of QUEER (a male homosexual) UK, 1984 rag joint noun a carnival concession in a canvas booth US, 1985 ragman's coat noun on a woman, an untrimmed and naturally abundant mass of pubic hair UK, 2002 rag order noun chaotic disorder, a mess. Military UK, 1983 rag store noun a big con swindle in which the lure is the promise of wealth from stocks traded based on allegedly inside information US, 1969 rag stuffer noun a parachute rigger US, 1991 ragtime noun the bleed period of a woman's menstrual cycle. A play on ON THE RAG (menstruating), after the musical style US, 2007 ragtop noun a convertible car US, 1955 rag town noun a town built in prosperous times, bound to fall into poverty with the end of prosperous times US, 1954 ragweed noun 1 poor quality marijuana. After botanical genus Ambrosia the which grows wild across North America US, 1969. 2 poor quality heroin UK, 1998 rag week noun the week of the month when a woman has a menstrual bleed. Combines RAG (a sanitary towel), as in 'on the rag', with conventional 'week' to form a play on university rag week UK, 2001

rah!; rah rah! used as a cheer, a shouted expression of support or encouragement. A shortening of 'hurrah!' in college sports use. As 'rah! rah! rah!' it is the climax of a Maori war cry that has been adopted by New Zealand rugby teams US, 1870

rah-rah adjective characterised by excessive spirit and enthusiasm, usually associated with college or high school US, 1914 rahtid; raatid; rhaatid adjective used as an intensifier that implies anger or strong disapproval. Urban black usage UK, 1994 rail noun 1 a line of cocaine or other powdered drug, laid out for snorting US, 1984. 2 any railway employee US, 1946. ► on the rail in American casinos, observing the gambling but not playing US, 1985 rail verb to arrest or detain someone US, 1995 railbird noun 1 in horse racing, an enthusiast who watches morning workouts, carefully clocking performances US, 1937. 2 in American casinos, a thief who steals chips from inattentive gamblers US, 1985. 3 in pool, a spectator US, 1993 raildog noun a backstage technician who works with set rigging on a catwalk US, 1991 railfield verb a thief who simply grabs shop merchandise and runs from the shop US, 1960 rail job; rail noun a drag racing car with a chassis made of rail-like metal bars; a drag racing car regardless of the chassis construction US, 1963 rail lugger noun in horse racing, a horse that prefers to run near or next to the inside rail US, 1947 rail on; rail verb to criticize or reprimand someone US, 1987 railrat noun in the language surrounding the Grateful Dead, a member of the audience who prefers to see the show from as close as possible to the band, right on the rail US, 1994 railroad verb to move your jaw from side to side obsessively and involuntarily after sustained amphetamine use US, 1989 railroad bible noun a deck of playing cards US, 1976 railroad dick noun a private guard employed by a railway company US, 1958 railroad flat noun an apartment consisting of connected long, narrow rooms US, 1956 railroad tracks noun the bars on a captain's uniform signifying his office US, 1947 railroad weed noun marijuana, especially of inferior quality. From the weeds that flourish alongside railway lines, not necessarily WEED (marijuana) US, 1974 rails noun that part of a racecourse where the rails bookmakers are situated; hence, big-time bookmaking AUSTRALIA, 1981 rail sandwich noun a surfboard between your legs US, 1978 rails bookmaker; rails bookie noun one of the more prestigious bookmakers AUSTRALIA, 1950 railway station noun an 'allocation' prison from which prisoners are forwarded UK, 1999 ráiméis noun foolish, nonsensical, ill-founded talk IRELAND, 2001 rain verb ► if it was raining ... I am extremely unlucky AUSTRALIA, 1965. ► rain pups and pussies to rain very hard US, 1990 rain and pour; rain verb to snore. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 rainbow noun 1 a capsule of amobarbital sodium and secobarbital sodium (trade name Tuinal™), a combination of central nervous system depressants US, 1966. 2 in casinos, a bet comprised of different colour and different value betting chips US, 1991. 3 in oil drilling, a very small showing of oil in a hole US, 1954. 4 a soldier who joins a fighting unit after conflict has ceased. Used in both World Wars; a rainbow comes after a storm AUSTRALIA, 1919. ► go up the rainbow to experience sexual ecstasy UK, 1972 rainbow hand noun a poker hand with cards of all four suits US, 1950 rainbow jumper noun in basketball, a high, arcing jump shot US, 1974 rainbow party noun oral sex on one male by several females, all wearing different colours of lipstick US, 2003 rainbow roll noun a multi-coloured assortment of barbiturate capsules US, 1973 rainbows noun 1 LSD. Presumably from the pictures printed on the blotting paper dose UK, 1998. 2 the recreational drug methaqualone, best known as Quaaludes™ UK, 1983 rain check noun 1 a request or promise to take up an invitation at a convenient time; a postponement of any arrangement. From the ticket given to a spectator at an outdoor event providing for a refund/admission at a later date, should the event be interrupted by rain US, 1930. 2 the reduction of a criminal penalty, parole, probation US, 1949 raincoat noun a condom. Figurative use of waterproof wear US, 1970

Raincoat Charlie noun a striptease audience member who masturbates beneath the safety of his raincoat US, 1981 raincoater noun a stereotypical perverted pornography fan US, 2000 raincoat job noun a sexual fetish involving urination on your partner US, 1993 rain dance noun in computing, an action that is expected to be taken but will likely produce no results US, 1974 rained out adjective postponed. A term from sports, especially baseball, but applied more broadly to refer to, for example, a class on a given day that has been postponed US, 1995 raining and pouring; raining noun snoring. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 rainmaker noun a member of an enterprise whose job includes procuring clients or business by the use of charm US, 1985 rain room noun a shower room US, 1968

Rainy City nickname Manchester, UK UK, 1981

rainy day woman noun marijuana. This seems to have been inspired by the following lyric: 'Everybody must get stoned' by Bob Dylan, 'Rainy Day Women #12 & 35', 1966 US, 1982 raise noun 1 stake money; a monetary profit UK, 2000. 2 parents US, 1972. 3 the arm US, 1973 raise verb 1 (used of a male) to achieve an erection BAHAMAS, 1971. 2 to identify yourself to a fellow traveller US, 1957. 3 to bail someone out of jail US, 1973. ► raise Cain to make a disturbance; to complain or quarrel noisily and angrily US, 1930. ► raise hell to make a disturbance; to make a din; to cause trouble US, 1896. ► raise sand to argue loudly, creating a problem US, 1965 raiser noun 1 a lookout who warns confederates of approaching police US, 1992. 2 a criminal who specialises in forging increases in the amount payable to an otherwise legitimate cheque or security US, 1950 raise up verb 1 to make someone angry US, 2001. 2 to warn someone US, 1992. 3 to be released from prison US, 1990

raisinhead noun a black person. Offensive US, 1978

raisin jack noun a potent and vile alcoholic beverage brewed by letting raisins ferment, usually in prison US, 1986 raisin picker noun on the railways, a worker from Fresno, California. Fresno is regarded as the raisin capital of the US US, 1975

raisin snap noun alcohol made from fermented raisins US, 1988 raise verb to annoy or harass someone US, 1991

rajah noun an erection NEW ZEALAND, 1991

rajamuffin noun a member of a British Indian (Hindi) urban youth gang or subculture. A play on raggamuffin UK, 2006

Rajputana noun a banana. Rhyming slang, formed from a ship that berthed in London's Royal Docks UK, 1998 rake noun 1 an amount of something; a large quantity IRELAND, 1995. 2 a comb US, 1960. 3 in pool, a device used to support the cue stick for a hard-to-reach shot US, 1990

rake verb to lower the front end of a car US, 1970. ► rake a game to charge card players for the privilege of playing US, 1977. ► rake the leaves to drive at the back of a group of trucks travelling on a motorway together, watching for police from the rear US, 1976 raked adjective drunk US, 1990

rakehell noun an utter scoundrel UK, 1554 rake-in noun the financial results of an enterprise US, 1947 rake in; rake verb to make money, especially in generous quantities or at an enviable speed UK, 1583 rake-off noun money obtained from a crime or as a bribe US, 1899

Rakkasans nickname the 3rd Battalion, 187th Infantry Regiment. Distinguished airborne and air assault soldiers in World War 2, Korea, Vietnam and the Persian Gulf. From the Japanese for 'parachute', named during the first four years of occupation duty in Japan US, 1989 rakli noun a girl; a woman. Romany in current English gypsy use UK, 2000

Raleigh bike noun a lesbian. Rhyming slang for DYKE, formed on a product of a well-known bicycle manufacturer UK, 1992 rally verb to go out drinking US, 1974

ralph noun 1 a right turn US, 1968. 2 vomit US, 1975

ralph verb to vomit US, 1966

Ralphed up adjective dressed in a smart casual style. From Ralph Lauren (b.1939), designer of the Polo™ range of casual clothing UK, 1997 ram noun amyl or butyl nitrite. Reflecting popular male gay use, possibly deriving from a brand name US, 1998 ram verb (from a male perspective) to have sex, perhaps violently. Mainly derived from 'ram' (a male sheep), but the thrusting action echoes 'ram' (to batter with a long pole) UK, 2001

-rama; -erama; -orama suffix used for conveying a superlative quality or quantity. From Greek orama (a view) US, 1954 rama-lama noun rock 'n' roll music. From the doo-wop song 'Rama Lama Ding Dong' recorded by the Edsels in 1959, and somehow thought to capture the joie de vivre of the music UK, 2001

Rambette noun a female Rambo – reckless, fearless, the warrior woman US, 1992 rambler noun a (portable) radio UK, 1996 rambling ROK's noun ground troops of the Army of South Korea (the Republic of Korea) US, 1964

Rambo noun 1 a soldier with too much of a sense of drama and too little intelligence. After the 1982 film starring Sylvester Stallone as an invincible if mentally unstable Vietnam veteran US, 1989. 2 an intolerant prison officer who would rather punish inmates. From the 1982 film starring Sylvester Stallone as a military man who uses the most extreme measures to quell his opponents. In use in UK prisons in 2002 UK, 2002. 3 heroin UK, 1998

Rambo rag noun a handkerchief worn on the head. Worn by Stallone in the film US, 1991 ramjam adverb absolutely crammed UK, 1879 rammed adjective crammed, stuffed full UK, 1996 rammies noun trousers; pants. Rhyming slang. Shortening of 'rammy rousers', rhyming slang for 'trousers' AUSTRALIA, 1906

rammy noun a brawl; a noisy argument, a row; a bustling crowd UK: SCOTLAND, 1935

rammy verb to take part in crowd violence UK: SCOTLAND, 1996 ramp noun 1 a search of a prisoner or prison cell. Conducted to search for contraband, though often carried out with much destruction in order to harass the prisoner AUSTRALIA, 1919. 2 a public house bar counter; hence, a public house. From an earlier, more general, sense as a shop counter UK, 1935 ramp verb 1 to swindle, to con; to rob, to mug; to make trouble. Contemporary use is mainly West Indian and UK black UK, 1812. 2 to pretend. A variation of the sense 'to swindle, to con' UK, 2000. 3 to search a prisoner or a prison cell AUSTRALIA, 1919

ramped adjective drunk US, 1992

ram-raid verb to rob a premises using a vehicle as a battering ram and driving it through a window or a wall UK, 1987

ram-raided; ram-raiding noun a method of robbery that utilises a motor vehicle as a battering ram to gain entry, often using the vehicle to make off with stolen goods UK, 1991

ramraider noun 1 a criminal involved in ram-raiding UK, 1991. 2 a powerful amphetamine sulphate UK, 1990s ramrod noun the penis; the erect penis UK, 1902

Ramsgate Sand; Ramsgate noun the hand. Rhyming slang, formed on the Kent seaside resort UK, 1992 ram's pasture noun in oil drilling, non-productive land US, 1954 ram tube noun in a drag racing car, an injector that forces air into a carburettor US, 1970 ranch noun 1 a house US, 1960. 2 any place where marijuana is sold US, 1945. 3 to a trucker, anywhere you spend the night US, 1976 ranch verb to idle; to spend time doing little US, 1991

Ranch Hand noun a C-123 aircraft equipped with tanks filled with defoliants used on the Vietnam jungle US, 1969 rancid adjective 1 in poor taste US, 1989. 2 excellent; brilliant AUSTRALIA, 1993

randan noun a spree of wild, debauched, hedonistic behaviour, especially if heavy drinking is involved. Usually in the phrase 'on the randan' UK: SCOTLAND, 1985

Randolph Scott; Randolph noun a spot. Rhyming slang, based on the name of film actor Randolph Scott, 1903–87 UK, 1992 random adjective ordinary if unexpected. A major word of the 1990s US youth, just a tad to the slang side of conventional English US, 1968

R and R noun 1 rest and rehabilitation; rest and recovery; rest and recreation; rest and recuperation; rape and restitution; rape and ruin; rape and run. Despite disagreement on the 'R's', the meaning is the same – a brief stint away from combat or regular duty US, 1953. 2 rock 'n' roll UK, 1977. 3 rape and robbery. A cynical play on the US military 'r and r' (rest and recreation) UK, 1996

randy adjective 1 sexually aroused; feeling lecherous. From Scottish dialect randy UK, 1847. 2 homosexual, perhaps seen as a threatening or predatory characteristic. Public schools use, probably deriving from the more general sense as 'lecherous or sexually aroused' when applied in a single-sex environment UK, 1968

Randy Andy nickname Prince Andrew; any man named Andrew UK, 1984

randy comedown noun a desire for sex as the effects of drug use wear off UK, 2002

rane noun cocaine; heroin UK, 2003 rang noun a person who is acting very oddly. An abbreviation of 'orangutan' US, 1966 rangdoodles noun in poker, a temporary increase in the betting limit after a player has won a hand with an agreed-upon, rare and excellent hand US, 1967

Ranger's Bible noun the US Army Ranger handbook, a supplemental training document for long-range reconnaissance patrols US, 1990 rangood noun wild marijuana. Probably a playful misspelling of RANGOON UK, 2003 rangoon noun wild marijuana US, 1968

Rangoon noun a prune. Rhyming slang, formed from the Burmese capital UK, 1992 rank verb 1 to disparage; to insult, especially in a formulaic or ritual manner US, 1945. 2 to bungle or ruin something US, 1950 rank adjective unpleasant; stupid; bad-smelling. In the world of bad-is-good alienated youth, 'rank' can be good or bad US, 1955 ranking adjective 1 excellent; admirable. Also shortened to 'ranks' UK, 1985. 2 average, mediocre JAMAICA, 2000 rank out verb to offend or disgust someone by doing something rank US, 1997 ran-tan noun ► on the ran-tan on a drinking spree IRELAND, 1977 rap noun 1 a criminal charge US, 1903. 2 blame or responsibility US, 1927. 3 a prison sentence US, 1927. 4 a clever line of improvised chat, speech or conversation. Black coinage, adopted and popularised by hippies US, 1967. 5 a popular music genre in which a rhythmic lyric is spoken over a musical background US, 2002. 6 a meandering, unstructured group discussion US, 1967. 7 the way in which a person expresses himself or herself US, 1975. 8 a very small amount US, 1973. ► ride the rap to serve a prison sentence without losing control, hope or sanity US, 1991 rap verb 1 to talk without an agenda, aimlessly but honestly. Found before the 1960s, but truly a word of the 60s US, 1929. 2 to criticise someone US, 1957. 3 to accuse someone falsely or to seek a more serious sentence for someone than their crime deserves US, 1965. 4 to perform semi-spoken lyrics over a musical background US, 1979 raparazzi noun an elite grouping within hip-hop culture. Extends RAP (the pre-eminent hip-hop music style) on the model of PAPARAZZI (photographers who prey on celebrities); the suggestion of preying remains UK, 2002 rape verb in computing, to destroy a program or data without hope of recovering it US, 1991 rape tools noun the penis and testicles US, 1962 rapid adjective excellent IRELAND, 2003

rapo; rape-o noun a rapist US, 1972 rap parlor noun a brothel in disguise as a massage parlour in disguise as a business where you pay to talk to women. For those entrepreneurs who do not have what it takes to obtain a massage licence US, 1982 rap partner noun in a criminal enterprise, a person who will accept responsibility for a venture gone poorly and serve a jail sentence US, 1977

raper noun 1 a performer of rap lyrics US, 1979. 2 the mouth; the voice US, 1969. 3 the chief witness for the prosecution in a criminal trial US, 1962

rappie noun a partner in crime US, 1981 rap session noun a group discussion, unstructured and uninhibited US, 1969 rap sheet noun a record of a person's past arrests and convictions US, 1960 rapt adjective delighted. Variant of WRAPPED AUSTRALIA, 1963 raptor noun a rap performer who is also an actor US, 1998

Raquel Welch noun a belch. Rhyming slang formed from the name of the film actress (b.1940) UK, 1992

Raquel Welch verb to belch. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the US actress (b.1940) UK, 1971 rare adjective 1 excellent; very enjoyable UK: SCOTLAND, 1985. 2 of someone, unusual, eccentric. Sometimes 'wild rare' is also used IRELAND, 1992 rare as rocking horse shit adjective extremely rare or scarce AUSTRALIA, 1944 rare groove noun a fashionable style of dance music and its presentation. Coined by pirate radio presenter Norman Jay UK, 1999 raring to go adjective eagerly impatient to get started US, 1935

rark-up noun an argument or rebuke NEW ZEALAND, 1995

rark up verb to rebuke or annoy someone NEW ZEALAND, 1997

ras! used for expressing surprise US, 2004 rash noun ► be all over someone like a rash 1 to smother someone with affection, kisses, etc AUSTRALIA, 1965. 2 to be easily outdoing an opponent AUSTRALIA, 1961 rashie noun an upper garment worn by surfers. Originally worn under a wetsuit in order to prevent WETTIE RASH AUSTRALIA, 1996 raspberry noun 1 a disapproving fart-like noise. From out-of-date rhyming slang, 'raspberry tart' for FART UK, 1890. 2 a light grazing of the skin. Skateboarders' slang; from the appearance UK, 1998. 3 a sore or abscess on an intravenous drug user from repeated injections in the same spot US, 1973. 4 a male who trades sex for drugs US, 1995 raspberryland nickname Tasmania. From the crop. Hence, a Tasmanian is called a 'raspberrylander' AUSTRALIA, 1966 raspberry ripple; raspberry noun a disabled individual. Rhyming slang for 'cripple' UK, 1977 raspy adjective 1 excellent US, 1982. 2 bad, unpleasant US, 1977

rass noun the buttocks; hence, used as a term of abuse. From ARSE JAMAICA, 1790 rasta box noun a large portable stereo system associated, stereotypically, with black youth culture US, 1988

Rastafarian noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. Specifically used of any tablet of MDMA stamped with a stylised image of a dreadlocked head UK, 2004 rasta weed noun marijuana. Marijuana is famously central to Rastafarian ritual US, 2001

Rastus noun used as a derogatory personification of a black male US, 1949 rat noun 1 a person who informs on or otherwise betrays compatriots UK, 1902. 2 a despicable person UK, 1594. 3 an enthusiast of the preceding activity or thing US, 1864. 4 a railway detective US, 1977. 5 a prostitute BARBADOS, 1965. ► like a rat up a drainpipe; like a rat up a drain very swiftly. Often used with 'up that/her', in which case it is usually of a woman objectified in a sexual context AUSTRALIA, 1971. ► like a rat up a rhododendron very swiftly. A jocular variation of LIKE A RAT UP A DRAIN AUSTRALIA, 1971.

► like a rat up a rope/shoreline with great speed AUSTRALIA, 1945. ► not give a rat's ass; not give a rat's arse to not care at all US, 1971. ► rat's died up your arse used of an especially noxious fart UK, 2001 rat verb 1 to inform. Perhaps from an earlier political sense of changing political parties US, 1934. 2 to rob or loot a person or place AUSTRALIA, 1898 rat adjective disloyal, untrustworthy, US, 1955 rat and mouse noun 1 a house. Rhyming slang; first recorded in Songs and Slang of the British Soldier: 1914–1918, John Brophy and Eric Partridge, 3rd edition, 1931. Recorded in the US in 1943 UK, 1931. 2 an informer. Rhyming slang for LOUSE (a despicable person) UK, 1961 rat-arsed; ratarsed adjective drunk UK, 1982 ratatouille noun a nightclub that caters to a mix of gay and straight customers. A culinary allusion UK, 2003 ratbag noun a contemptible person. A 'ratbag' can be merely a person with odd notions, an eccentric, or someone whose ideas or behaviour verge on the insane AUSTRALIA, 1890 ratbaggery noun behaviour which is eccentric, despicable or otherwise contemptible AUSTRALIA, 1943 rat belt noun in computing, a self-locking cable tie US, 1991 rat bite noun a skin bruise caused by sucking. Hawaiian youth usage US, 1982 ratboy noun 1 among a group of drug users, a person who will sample any drug before the group uses it. An allusion to the rat as the subject of laboratory experiments US, 1987. 2 a member of a subcultural urban adolescent grouping defined by a hip-hop dress and jewellery sense UK, 2000 rat caper noun a minor crime CANADA, 1976

ratchet noun any weapon US, 2003 ratchet jaw noun a person who talks too much and says too little US, 1965 ratchet-mouth verb to talk incessantly US, 1981 rat-cunning noun craftiness AUSTRALIA, 1979 rat cunning adjective crafty AUSTRALIA, 1970

rat-drawn adjective used of shoes, pointed US, 1976 rat-eyed adjective drunk UK, 1998 ratfink; rat fink noun 1 a despised person. Combines RAT (someone unpleasant) and FINK (someone despised, an informer) US, 1964. 2 an informer. Combines RAT (an informer) and FINK (an informer) US, 1965 rat fuck noun 1 a chaotic military disaster US, 1930. 2 a despicable person US, 1922. 3 a damn US, 1971. 4 a prank US, 1965

Rat Fuck noun the Reaction Forces of the South Vietnamese Army US, 1990

ratfuck verb to pull a prank US, 1965 ratfuck operation noun any operation characterised by poor planning, confusion or chaos. Frequently used in the Vietnam war US, 1990 rat head noun a person, especially a woman, who conveys a complete lack of taste and finesse US, 2004 rat hole noun 1 a small, messy, cluttered place UK, 1812. 2 a railway tunnel US, 1975 rat-hole verb to stash something away, usually secretly US, 1948 rat house noun an insane asylum AUSTRALIA, 1900 rat jacket noun a reputation for being an informer US, 1973 rat-legged adjective drunk. A variation of RAT-ARSED UK, 2002 rat motor noun in hot rodding, a Chevrolet engine, usually 396 cubic inches or larger US, 2007 rat-on noun an erection NEW ZEALAND, 1995

rat out verb to inform on someone US, 1990 rat pack noun 1 in competition surfing, competitors vying for the lead US, 1988. 2 a group of young gang members US, 1951. 3 a ration of food issued to South African soldiers; a package of food SOUTH AFRICA, 1984 rat-pack verb to surround and attack someone US, 1971 rat race noun 1 any hectic and non-productive situation, activity or lifestyle US, 1947. 2 the face. Rhyming slang UK, 2003 rat row noun an area in a jail or prison reserved for police informers who would not be safe in the general population of the facility US, 1982 rat run noun a narrow way between buildings; a back alley; a side road, especially if used in a short-cut; a route through back streets that is used by motorists avoiding heavy traffic UK, 1977

rats noun combat rations US, 1976 rats! used as an expression of annoyance or dismissal US, 1886 rats and mice; rats noun 1 dice. Rhyming slang UK, 1932. 2 rice. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 rat's coffin noun a meat pie AUSTRALIA, 2003

ratshit noun a despicable person or thing US, 1994. ► go to ratshit to go very wrong UK, 1995 ratshit adjective no good; dreadful AUSTRALIA, 1970

ratted adjective drunk UK, 2002

ratter noun 1 a police informer; a traitor to a cause or enterprise US, 1975. 2 a thief, especially one who steals opal from another's mine AUSTRALIA, 1932 rattle noun dice US, 1983. ► give a rattle to have sexual intercourse with a female IRELAND, 2001 rattle verb to agitate or to unnerve someone US, 1887. ► rattle beads to complain US, 1970. ► rattle your cage to annoy or to aggravate you; to arouse your indignation UK, 1990. ► rattle your dags to hurry NEW ZEALAND, 1968 rattle and clank; rattle noun a bank. Rhyming slang UK, 1962 rattle and hiss; rattle noun an act of urination; urine. Rhyming slang for PISS UK, 1998 rattler noun 1 a train UK, 1871. 2 Boston's underground system, the Massachusetts Transit Authority US, 1997 rattler-jumping adjective travelling by illegally catching trains AUSTRALIA, 1969 rattlesnake noun ► like a rattlesnake of a woman, describes vigorous participation in sexual intercourse UK, 2000 rattlesnakes; rattles noun delirium tremens. Rhyming slang for SHAKES UK, 1992 rattling adjective in an energetic state, possibly as a result of drug abuse UK, 2000 rattling adverb used as an intensifier, especially when describing adventure fiction UK, 1829 rattling-cove noun a taxi. Derived from late C17-C18 usage (a coachman) UK, 2002 rat trap noun 1 a dilapidated, shoddy building UK, 1838. 2 a fox hole that accommodated two or three Viet Cong who hid and slept there during the day US, 1990. 3 a Japanese person. Rhyming slang for JAP, a pejorative term dating from World War 2 and lingering among veterans of that conflict (especially prisoners of war). Also shortened to 'rat' UK, 1992 rat turds noun an Oak Leaf Cluster, a military decoration indicating that the soldier has received another decoration more than once US, 1990 ratty adjective 1 wretched, miserable, mean; stained, tattered US, 1867. 2 angry, irritated UK, 1909. 3 foolish, odd, eccentric NEW ZEALAND, 1998. 4 crazy AUSTRALIA, 1895

raunch noun in the usage of youthful model road racers (slot car racers), a slow car US, 1997 raunchy adjective 1 sexually provocative, risqué; used as a euphemism for pornographic US, 1967. 2 inept, poorly done; unpleasant, contemptible; dirty US, 1939. 3 used of music, abrasive, aggressive US, 1982 ravaged adjective drunk UK, 2002 rave noun 1 a party; a bottle party; a party open to the public, often announced and sited clandestinely, featuring drugs, music and sensory overload. Variant of 'rave up'. First used of wild parties in the late 1950s, then by MOD(s) in the 60s; revived in the 80s for parties on such a scale that both UK culture and law were significantly changed UK, 1992. 2 an enthusiastic review US, 1926. 3 the object of a passionate liking or craze UK, 1959 rave verb 1 to express an enthusiasm for something UK, 1704. 2 to enjoy the music and other sensations of a rave US, 1995. 3 to persist in discussing something that does not interest anyone else involved in the discussion US, 1981 rave drug noun any chemical or 'designer' drug associated with dance and club culture UK, 2003 rave energy noun MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. The rave culture was fuelled by MDMA UK, 2003

raven adjective gluttonous; greedy GRENADA, 1996

raver noun 1 a dedicated hedonist, party-goer, sexual adventurer or drug taker. Extended from the sense as a 'passionate enthusiast'. Defined as 'a young woman who is enthusiastically promiscuous or merely of a passionate (but not promiscuous) nature' UK, 1968. 2 someone who goes to a rave UK, 2000. 3 a homosexual male UK, 1996 rave-up noun a social gathering. Used ironically of a mild, as opposed to wild, party, by people old enough to remember the rave-ups of the 1960s UK, 1984

ravey adjective characteristic of raving UK, 2000 raving adjective used as an intensifier; complete, excellent, utmost, etc UK, 1959

Ravi Shankar noun a wanker. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the celebrated Indian musician (b.1920) UK, 2003 raw noun crack cocaine US, 1994. ► in the raw naked US, 1934 raw adjective 1 exciting; excellent US, 1987. 2 naked US, 1931. 3 undiluted US, 1974. 4 unembalmed US, 1987 raw fusion noun heroin UK, 2002 rawhide noun heroin UK, 2002 rawhide verb to drive those under your supervision to work very hard US, 1962 raw-jaw verb to ignore someone; to bless someone with silence US, 1992 raw meat noun a new recruit in the US Army US, 1948 raw prawn noun a raw deal AUSTRALIA, 1957 raymond yes, affirmative. Citizens' band radio French vraiment (truly, indeed) UK, 1981 rays noun radiology US, 1994. ► bag some rays; catch some rays; cop some rays to sunbathe US, 1963 razed adjective drug-intoxicated UK, 1998 razoo noun 1 the smallest amount of money. Only ever used in negative contexts, generally 'to not have a razoo', but also 'not worth a razoo', 'not get a razoo', etc. Contextually referring to a low value brass coin, the origin of this term remains a mystery despite many guesses over the years. Needless to say no such coin ever existed. Also commonly a 'brass razoo', and formerly spelt 'rahzoo' or 'razzoo' though only rarely AUSTRALIA, 1919. 2 harassment US, 1949 razor verb to slash something with a razor UK: SCOTLAND, 1999 razorback noun a worker on a circus train; any circus worker other than a performer. Circus historian and linguist Joe McKennon suggested that the term may have derived from the common work command of 'Raise 'er back, let 'er go' when placing circus equipment on train wagons US, 1904 razor blade; razor noun a black person. Rhyming slang UK, 1970 razored adjective muscular and sculpted US, 1984 razor edges noun dice that are true to an extremely minute tolerance, approximately 1/1000th of an inch US, 1950 razoring noun an attack on someone with a razor. From RAZOR (to slash with a razor) UK, 1996 razz noun a telling-off; a harangue. An Eton school term UK, 1967.

► on the razz; on the razzle a period of drinking, partying and other self-indulgent pleasures. Derives from a shortening of 'razzle-dazzle' (excitement). 'Razzle' (a good time) is first recorded in 1908 UK, 1915. ► the razz a beating IRELAND, 1962 razz verb to heckle; to show contempt; to jeer. Short for RASPBERRY, a derisive sound US, 1919 razzberry noun a jeering, derisive, farting noise. Extends RAZZ (to jeer) back to a variation of its source: RASPBERRY US, 1922 razzled noun drunk. Derives from ON THE RAZZLE, (having a good time, partying) UK, 2002 razzle-dazzle noun 1 confusion; chaos; bewilderment US, 1889.

2 sexual intercourse UK, 1973. 3 in circus and carnival usage, a prostitute US, 1981 razzmatazz noun 1 old-fashioned, sentimental jazz. The term was originally used, before use of the word 'jazz', to describe an early jazz-like music US, 1936. 2 a showy outward appearance UK, 1958. 3 extreme pleasure US, 1953

razzy adjective tattered; unkempt BARBADOS, 1965

RB noun an enthusiastic sportsman whose character is formed by the aggressive pursuit of masculinity and frequently demonstrated by his boorish behaviour and drunken socialising. An abbreviation of RUGGER BUGGER SOUTH AFRICA, 1991

RC adjective Roman Catholic UK, 1762

RCH noun a tiny notional unit of measure. An abbreviation of RED CUNT HAIR, perceived as a smaller unit even than a simple CUNT HAIR US, 1968

RCMP noun in Canada, a Roman Catholic Member of Parliament CANADA, 1985

RD noun a red-coloured capsule of secobarbital sodium (trade name Seconal™), a central nervous system depressant. An initialised RED DEVIL US, 1977 reach verb to be prepared to fight US, 2004. ► reach out and touch someone to telephone. From a 1982 American Telephone and Telegraph advertising slogan US, 1989 reach-around noun manual stimulation of the passive partner's genitals by the male penetrating from behind US, 1987 read verb 1 in poker, to try to discern an opponent's hand US, 1979. 2 in sports, to anticipate an opponent's movement US, 1984. 3 in transsexual usage, to detect a person's genetic sex US, 1987. ► read (someone) the riot act to give someone a very stern lecture or reprimand. From a law enacted by George I limiting the activities of groups of 12 or more UK, 1906. ► read a shirt to look for signs of body lice US, 1981. ► read between the lines said when three fingers are raised in an insolent gesture. The index finger is the one 'between the lines'; this is, therefore, a catchphrased elaboration of a familiar insulting gesture. Reported by a variety of mothers in Cardiff and Bristol during April 2005 and generally credited to 8-year-old children UK, 2005. ► read the riot act to instruct a prisoner who is about to be released on the legal restrictions concerning firearms. From the sense 'to give someone a very stern lecture or reprimand' UK, 1996. ► you wouldn't read about it you wouldn't believe such bad luck! AUSTRALIA, 1950 readable adjective used of a casino blackjack gambler, sloppy in dealing or generous with body language, in either event revealing to players the strength of his hand US, 1991 read and write noun a fight. Rhyming slang, never used in a shortened form UK, 1857 reader noun 1 a book; a magazine; a newspaper. From the early C18 usage as a 'pocket-book' which moved into the current sense during the mid-C19 UK, 1996. 2 a 'Wanted' poster or handbill US, 1926. 3 a counterfeit driving licence US, 1985. 4 a prescription for a narcotic US, 1950. 5 a marked card US, 1894 readers noun 1 reading spectacles UK, 1961. 2 special tinted eye glasses used for reading marked cards US, 1985 readies; reddies noun cash money. A variation, not a plural, of READY, in turn an abbreviation of 'ready money' UK, 1937 read my lips pay attention to what I am saying, for it is the bedrock truth. A pop phrase embraced in a show of bravado by George Bush when he was running for president of the US in 1988: 'Read my lips – no new taxes' and then the gist of endless ridicule when, two years later, he advocated a new tax. Actor Tim Curry named an album that he recorded in 1978 Read My Lips, later explaining to William Safire that he took the phrase to mean 'Listen and listen very hard, because I want you to hear what I've got to say' US, 1988 ready adjective competent US, 1946 ready; red dy noun cash money. An abbreviation of 'ready money' UK, 1639 ready eye noun a police trap. From READY-EYED (well informed or betrayed to the police) UK, 1996 ready-eye verb (of police) to operate an official surveillance UK, 2000 ready-eyed adjective 1 used by criminals of a planned crime that has been betrayed and is therefore a police trap UK, 1975. 2 in police use, well informed, knowing the detailed truth of a situation UK, 1977 ready for Doctor Jesus adjective about to die US, 1966 ready, Freddie used for signalling readiness US, 1952 ready-made noun a commercially manufactured cigarette US, 1952 ready rocks; redi rocks noun a form of cocaine prepared for smoking US, 1989 ready-rolls noun commercially manufactured cigarettes US, 1951 ready-to-run noun in the usage of youthful model road racers (slot car racers), a shop-bought car that has not been modified or enhanced US, 1997 ready whip noun a non-commissioned officer fresh out of training. From the pressurised sweet topping advertised as instant whipped cream US, 1991 real noun the truth US, 1972. ► on the real 1 genuine. Black usage UK, 2000. 2 seriously US, 1993 real adjective homosexual US, 1997 real adverb really, truly, hence, used as an intensifier, greatly. The Oxford English Dictionary offers both Scottish and US origins, but the earliest slang sense is from English writer R.H. Froude UK, 1827 real bikini noun something that is excellent. Teen slang US, 1955 real bush noun a white woman. Used by US troops in Vietnam jaded by their experiences with Vietnamese prostitutes US, 1991 real case noun a serious medical emergency US, 1994 real deal noun 1 an authentic item or person; the plain truth US, 1991. 2 a youth gang member who is fully committed to the gang US, 1995

Real Deal nickname Evander Holyfield (b.1962), three times world heavyweight champion boxer US, 1992 real estate noun in war, territory to be taken, held, abandoned or lost US, 1982 reality check noun in computing, a simple test of a computer's or program's operating ability US, 1991 real live adjective genuine, actual. Jocular; often used of an inanimate article UK, 1887 really! used for expressing emphatic agreement US, 1973

Really Canadian Modest Police noun the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. A back-formation from the initials RCMP CANADA, 2002

Real McCoy noun a variety of marijuana CANADA, 2002

real McCoy; McCoy noun the genuine article US, 1883 real thing noun ► the real thing the genuine article. Figurative slang from the conventional sense UK, 1939 real world noun the non-pornographic entertainment industry; the world outside the pornography industry US, 1995 ream verb 1 to have anal intercourse US, 1942. 2 to cheat someone. Figurative from the more literal sense of poking something up one's rectum. Also variant 'rim' US, 1933. 3 to scold or punish someone. From the sense of 'ream' as widening a hole. 'Ream out' is also used US, 1950 ream adjective excellent. An intensification of the C19 sense as 'good, genuine, honest' UK, 2002 ream job noun 1 anal sex US, 1995. 2 a difficult situation US, 1968 rear noun the buttocks. Euphemistic UK, 1796. ► get your rear in gear to get going US, 1972 rear admiral noun a proctologist US, 1973 rear-area hawk noun an officer stationed away from the field of battle who has strong, bellicose opinions about what should be done in battle. Vietnam war usage US, 1989 rear-area pussy noun a support personnel safely away from combat. Occasionally abbreviated to RAP US, 1991 rear-echelon commando noun a soldier assigned to duty safely away from combat US, 1947 rear-echelon motherfucker noun a member of the armed forces serving behind lines well away from combat. Often abbreviated to REMF US, 1976 rear-end loader noun a prisoner who hides items in their rectum AUSTRALIA, 2001

rear exit noun a retreat or flight from danger US, 1957 rear-gunner; rear seat gunner noun a male homosexual. A masculine image that employs weaponry in a metaphor for anal intercourse UK, 2000 rearrange verb ► rearrange the deck chairs on the Titanic; rearrange the deck chairs to focus on petty matters while ignoring major problems. From the image of the folly of worrying about the arrangement of deck chairs on the Titanic as the ship sank US, 1972 reat pleat noun fashionable trousers. Usage by Mexican-American youth (Pachucos) in the southwestern US US, 1947

reb noun any poor, rural, white southerner US, 1978 rebbish adjective poor, white and racist. From the shortened REB or JOHNNY REB, harkening to Confederate soldiers US, 1945

rebellious henchman noun the penis UK, 2003 rebel trap noun in pool, the largest regulation-size table. In the US, the large tables were unknown in the south, giving rise to this term in the north US, 1990 rebound noun 1 a person with whom you have a romantic relationship in close proximity to the unhappy ending of a prior relationship US, 1997. 2 in trucking, a return trip US, 1976. ► on the rebound emotionally vulnerable following rejection by a loved-one UK, 1864

rec noun 1 a recreation ground (a municipal park) UK, 1931. 2 in prison, a recommendation given by the judge on sentencing UK, 1998

recap noun a recapitulation US, 1926 recap verb to recapitulate UK, 1950 recce; recyy noun a reconnaissance. Originally military, wider usage tends toward vaguer and more figurative shadings of the sense UK, 1941 recce verb to go on a reconnaissance; to look around. Originally military UK, 1943 receipt noun in professional wrestling, an arguably unacceptable manoeuvre that is acceptable in the context of justifiable revenge US, 2002 reck verb to consider; to think. A shortening of RECKON UK, 1997 reckon verb to esteem someone or something as worthwhile UK, 1964 recognize verb to pay attention US, 2001 recon noun reconnaissance. Often used in an adjectival sense US, 1918 recon verb to reconnoitre. Shortened for military purposes US, 1966 recon by fire noun in a military situation, random gunfire designed to ascertain the presence of the enemy by return fire US, 1971

record noun ► change the record!; put another record on! used to demand a change of style, subject or substance in what is being said UK, 1966

recovery room noun a golf course's bar US, 2000 rec room noun a recreational room. A mandatory feature of suburban 1960s life in the US, where the family gathered to watch television, play table tennis, set up model trains, etc US, 1962 rectum rocket noun a fast-moving vehicle UK, 1981 recycle noun LSD UK, 1988 recycle verb ► recycle the dice in bar dice games, to roll again after a roll that produces no points for the player US, 1971 red noun 1 any central nervous system depressant, especially a capsule of Seconal™ or another barbiturate US, 1979. 2 marijuana. A generic term for golden-red marijuana, clipping PANAMA RED etc US, 1982. 3 morphine US, 1945. 4 blood. Professional wrestling usage US, 2002. 5 in a deck of playing cards, any heart or diamond. A flush of hearts or diamonds is referred to as 'all red' US, 1988. 6 in American casinos, a five-dollar betting chip US, 1982. 7 a penny US, 1950. 8 a liberal; a socialist; a Marxist; a Marxist-Leninist; a Maoist; a Trotskyite; a communist; an anarchist UK, 1848. ► in the red in debt. From the use of red ink to show debt in account ledgers UK, 1926 red adjective 1 made of gold, golden. In conventional use from C14, slipped into slang during C17. Also in occasional use as a noun UK, 1987. 2 of a mixed (black and white) racial heritage US, 1969. 3 drug-intoxicated. From the reddening of the smoker's eyes JAMAICA, 1998 red and blue noun a capsule of amobarbital sodium and secobarbital sodium (trade name Tuinal™), a combination of central nervous system depressants US, 1969 red ass noun anger US, 1975 red-ass verb to annoy or tease someone US, 1994 red-assed adjective very angry US, 1962 redback noun in western Canada, a Hereford cow or steer CANADA, 1962 red badge of courage noun a notional badge awarded to someone who performs oral sex on a woman who is experiencing the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1994 red ball noun 1 a fast freight train US, 1946. 2 a trail, path or road used by the Viet Cong or North Vietnamese during the Vietnam war US, 1991 red band; red-band noun a prisoner with privileges; a trusty UK, 1950 red biddy noun cheap red wine; also a drink of cheap red wine and methylated spirits UK, 1928 red bike noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle AUSTRALIA, 2002 red bird noun 1 a capsule of secobarbital sodium (trade name Seconal™), a central nervous system depressant US, 1953. 2 the AH-1G Cobra helicopter. Used purely as a gunship in the Vietnam war from 1971 until the end of the conflict US, 1991 red blanket noun the corpse of a person who died with massive injuries US, 1987 red board noun in horse racing, the official sign announcing that a race's results stand US, 1947 red box noun an ambulance US, 1976 red bread noun payment for donating blood US, 1971 red bud noun marijuana UK, 2003

Red Bull nickname Black Label™ beer. Scamto youth street slang (South African townships) SOUTH AFRICA, 2005

red bullet nickname a capsule of secobarbital sodium (trade name Seconal™), a central nervous system depressant US, 1977 red button noun a foreman US, 1955 red can noun a can of Melbourne Bitter™ beer AUSTRALIA, 2003 red cap noun a member of the military police. From the red-topped cap that forms part of the uniform. Generally familiar from television drama series such as: Red Cap (ABC, 1964–66) and Red Cap (BBC, 2001–03) UK, 1931 red caps noun crack cocaine UK, 1998 red cent noun the lowest value denomination, hence the least amount possible. A copper cent, thus 'red' US, 1839

Red Centre noun the central desert regions of the Australian mainland AUSTRALIA, 1935 red chamber club noun the Senate in the Canadian Parliament. The source of the term is that the senate (the 'Red Chamber') has red carpets, leather chairbottoms and desk blotters CANADA, 1963 red chenke noun a light-skinned person; an unlikeable person ANTIGUA AND BARBUDA, 1996 red chicken noun heroin, especially Chinese heroin US, 1969 red cross noun marijuana UK, 2003 red cunt hair noun a very small unit of measure. Sterling Johnson, in *English as a Second F*cking Language*, 1995, notes: 'The term originated with the master carpenters of Cape Cod and is now universally used' US, 1968 redders noun harness racers. Rhyming slang, from 'red hots' to 'trots' AUSTRALIA, 1989 red devil noun 1 a capsule of secobarbital sodium (trade name Seconal™), a central nervous system depressant US, 1959. 2 a type of amphetamine tablet UK, 1997. 3 heroin UK, 2003. 4 a woman's menstrual period US, 1954 red diaper baby noun a person who was raised by Communist parents who instilled Communist beliefs and values US, 1970 red dirt marijuana; red dirt noun uncultivated marijuana US, 1960 red doll noun a capsule of secobarbital sodium (trade name Seconal™), a central nervous system depressant US, 1977 red dollars noun US military scrip in Vietnam US, 1965 red dope noun wild cannabis that has been sprayed with a bright red herbicide. The colour plus DOPE (marijuana) US, 2001 red dot noun ► the red dot the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 2001 red dot special noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 2001 red dragon noun a variety of LSD UK, 1996 reddy noun an Italian. May derive from RADDIE (an Italian living in London), or take root in Italian red wine UK, 1961 ► see: READY red-eye noun 1 a long, aggressive stare US, 1985. 2 an overnight aeroplane flight, arriving at its destination early in the morning US, 1968. 3 potent, impure homemade alcohol, especially whisky US, 1819. 4 fermented catsup. A prison concoction US, 1976. 5 on the railways, a stop signal US, 1946. 6 in pinball, an activated special scoring device, usually lit in red US, 1977. 7 a flashing red light on top of a police car US, 1976. 8 the anus US, 1966

Redfern noun ► get off at Redfern to practise coitus interruptus. Redfern is the railway station immediately prior to Central Station, the principal station in Sydney AUSTRALIA, 1956 red flag noun 1 an obvious indication that all is not well US, 1968. 2 when injecting a drug into a vein, the practice of drawing blood up into the syringe to verify the finding of a vein and to control the pace of the injection US, 1987. 3 a show of menstrual blood on outer clothing; hence, the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 2001. ► be flying the red flag to be in the bleed period of the menstrual cycle UK, 2000 red flag day noun any day during the bleed period of a woman's menstrual cycle UK, 2000 red flag week noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. Also used in Scotland CANADA, 2000 red goddess noun a firefighting vehicle that is generally used for training but made available (for operation by the military) when regular firefighters and their fire-engines are out of service UK, 2002 red gunyon noun smashed marijuana seeds or gum hashish smoked in a pipe US, 1973 red head noun a match US, 1981 redheaded aunt from Red Bank noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1999 redheaded friend noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1999

Red Heart nickname the central desert regions of the Australian mainland AUSTRALIA, 1931 red hot noun 1 a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 1996. 2 a frankfurter US, 1950

red hot adjective extremely unfair AUSTRALIA, 1896 red hots noun 1 diarrhoea. Rhyming slang for TROTS UK, 1992. 2 trotting races. Rhyming slang for TROTS AUSTRALIA, 1966 red Ibo noun a light-skinned person of mixed black and white heritage JAMAICA, 1996 red Leb noun hashish with a reddish colour produced in the Lebanon UK, 2002 red-leg noun a poor white person BARBADOS, 1892 red-legs noun the artillery. From the red stripes on the trousers of Union artillerymen during the US Civil War US, 1971 red letter noun a letter that is smuggled out of prison UK, 1996 red letter day noun the day each cycle that the menstrual bleed commences. A neat pun on the colour of blood and the date in a calendar US, 2001 red light noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. As in 'red light – stop – there will be no sex' US, 1954 red-light verb (used of a police car) to activate flashing lights and pull a vehicle off the road US, 1976 red-light adjective pertaining to prostitution US, 1900 red lilly noun a capsule of secobarbital sodium (trade name Seconal™); any central nervous system depressant. From the colour of the capsule and the name of the manufacturer US, 1977 red line noun in the used car business, the minimum which a dealer will accept for a car US, 1975 red lips noun a type of LSD. Possibly from an image printed on the drug UK, 2003

Red Mary noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1980

Red Mike noun a woman-hater CANADA, 1946 red Mitsubishi noun PMA (paramethoxyamphetamine) or PMMA (paramethoxymethylamphetamine) when taken as a recreational drug UK, 2000 redneck noun a country-dweller, especially one whose views are considered bigoted by 'sophisticated' citizens. Generally derogatory US, 1830 redneck radio noun citizens' band radio US, 1977

Red Ned noun cheap red wine AUSTRALIA, 1941 redner noun ► take a redner to be embarrassed IRELAND, 1996 red nigger noun a native American Indian US, 1998 red one noun 1 in carnival usage, a profitable engagement US, 1973. 2 a very short distance. A euphemized abbreviation of RED CUNT HAIR US, 1980 red onion noun on the railways, an eating establishment US, 1977 red-out noun a flood of the colour red in your vision just before you pass out from lack of oxygen US, 1990 red-penny man noun a procurer of prostitutes, a pimp AUSTRALIA, 1975 red phosphorus noun smokeable metamphetamine. From a process in the synthesis of the drug UK, 2003 red pill noun ► take the red pill to go all-out for the active option. From a choice between reality and euphoria offered in the film The Matrix (1999) UK, 2005 red pussy hair noun a very short distance. Slightly less offensive than RED CUNT HAIR US, 1987

red-ragger noun a Communist AUSTRALIA, 1916 red-ragging adjective Communist AUSTRALIA, 1938 red rattler noun a type of passenger train with dark red carriages that became noisy when travelling at speed AUSTRALIA, 1981 red river noun the bleed period of a woman's menstrual cycle US, 1954 red rock noun granulated heroin originating in China; heroin generally US, 1969 red rock opium noun a mixture of heroin, barbitol, strychnine and caffeine UK, 2002 red rum noun 1 a variety of heroin. An allusion to the qualities of the legendary racehorse (steeplechaser Red Rum won the UK Grand National a record three times). Also rhyming slang for 'dumb' and 'murder' spelt backwards UK, 2001. 2 a mixture of heroin, barbitol, strychnine and caffeine. Also known as RED ROCK OPIUM from which this may be formed by elision; it is interesting to note with regard to the dangerous nature of this cocktail that 'red rum' is 'murder' backwards UK, 2002 red rush noun amyl nitrite UK, 1996 reds noun 1 the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1999. 2 a sense of anger US, 1951 red sails in the sunset the bleed period of the menstrual cycle AUSTRALIA, 1968 red seal noun a variety of cannabis resin. Branded with a red seal UK, 1996

Red Sea pedestrian noun a Jewish person. Offensive, intended as jocular; from the crossing of the Red Sea (Exodus 14: 21–22) UK, 1979 red shirt noun 1 a troublemaker US, 1967. 2 a volunteer firefighter US, 1954. 3 a college athlete who, because he did not play in his freshman year, may matriculate and play at the varsity level for a fifth year US, 1950. 4 in roller derby, a skater who engages in rough, 'bad guy' tactics US, 1999. 5 a professional wrestler who is regularly scripted to lose matches to advance the careers of other wrestlers US, 2002

redskin noun in a deck of playing cards, any face card US, 1967 red snapper noun in blackjack, a dealt hand of two red cards that add up to 21 US, 1996

Red Sox are in town experiencing the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. The colour of blood signals this euphemistic adoption of the Boston baseball team US, 2001 red squad noun a police unit that engages in systematic investigation and record-keeping about leftist political and social action organisations unrelated to criminal conduct US, 1970 red steer noun a bushfire AUSTRALIA, 1936

red stuff noun gold UK, 1956 reds under the bed noun the communist presence lurking in Western society UK, 1972 red tape noun excessive formality; bureaucratic obstacles. Originally a literal term, referring to the red-coloured tape used in securing legal documents; later used figuratively UK, 1837 red tide noun 1 hordes of communists seen as ready to overwhelm western civilisation US, 1991. 2 the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1999 red-top noun a tabloid newspaper at the more populist end of the readership. From the red masthead characteristic of such papers UK, 1997 reducer noun in gin, any card drawn or held for the sole purpose of reducing the number of points in unmatched cards in a hand US, 1965 red up; rid up verb to clear and clean a table after eating CANADA, 1998 red wedge noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. Combines 'red', for the colour of blood, with a pun on conventional 'wedge' (something that fills a gap) and 'wedgie' (a trick with underpants) suggesting underwear; the whole being a play on Red Wedge (a 1980s alliance of musicians and actors with the UK Labour party) UK, 2001 red week noun the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 2001 red, white and blue noun a shoe. Rhyming slang UK, 1972 red wings noun sexual intercourse or oral sex with a woman who is experiencing the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. From motorcycle gang culture US, 1971 reeb noun beer. Back slang, noted as current in the UK due to its use in the US, possibly reinvigorated by The Simpsons television cartoon UK, 1859 reebs noun marijuana US, 1988 reeds noun long shorts, favoured by surfers US, 1985 reef noun a marijuana cigarette US, 1958 reef verb 1 to fondle another person's genitals. Probably from the earlier sense 'to pick a pocket' UK, 1962. 2 to remove something from someone's pocket US, 1949 reefdogger noun a marijuana cigarette US, 1982 reefer noun 1 a marijuana cigarette. Almost certainly from the Spanish word meaning 'to twist'. Still used, with a nostalgic air to it US, 1931. 2 marijuana US, 1931. 3 a refrigerator; a refrigerated railway wagon US, 1914. 4 a pickpocket US, 1949 reefer madness noun a unusually great appetite or determined devotion to the use of marijuana. An ironic adoption of the title of a 1936 film that famously exposed the immoral excesses of marijuana addicts AUSTRALIA, 1996 reefer room noun in a morgue, a refrigerated room where bodies are stored US, 1997

reegie noun a police officer in the Regional Crime Squad UK, 2002 reeker noun a bad-smelling hospital casualty department patient US, 1978

reek-ho adjective drunk UK, 2002

reekstick noun a conventional tobacco cigarette laced with cocaine UK, 2003 reel verb ► reel someone in to triumph over gullibility, especially regarding a piece of trivial teasing. Often accompanied by the action of reeling in a fish; sometimes the action may replace the words UK, 1999 reeling and rocking noun a stocking. Rhyming slang, inspired by the fashions of the rock 'n' roll era; usually seen in pairs UK, 1992 reels adjective without money. Rhyming slang, from 'reels of cotton' to 'rotten' (without money) AUSTRALIA, 1989 reels of cotton adjective rotten. Rhyming slang UK, 1979

reet; reat adjective good, pleasing US, 1934 reeve verb to cheat CANADA, 1999

ref noun in a sporting contest, a referee UK, 1899?

ref verb in a sporting context, to referee UK, 1929?

reffo noun a migrant to Australia who is a refugee from their home country AUSTRALIA, 1941 refusenik noun a non-conformist. Adopted without a full understanding from the name given in 1970s to Jews in the Soviet Union who were refused permission to emigrate to Israel UK, 2002

reg noun 1 a regular customer or guest UK, 2001. 2 marijuana of average quality. An abbreviation of 'regular'. The variant 'regs' also exists US, 1973 regale noun a festive occasion. The term is adopted from French, where it has a similar meaning CANADA, 1947 reggaematic adjective in or of a reggae style UK, 1992 reggin noun a black person. The offensive NIGGER spelt backwards US, 1981

Reg Grundies; grundies; grunds; reginals; reggies noun underwear. Rhyming slang, playing on UNDIES, formed from the name Reg Grundy, an Australian television producer AUSTRALIA, 1984

Regiment noun ► the Regiment the SAS (22 Special Air Service regiment) UK, 1995

regmaker; reggie noun a drink, pick-me-up or medication taken to relieve (or 'cure') a hangover. A compound of Afrikaans reg (right) and English '-maker' SOUTH AFRICA, 1954 rego; reggo noun vehicle registration AUSTRALIA, 1967

regreen verb while working in the office of the US Department of Defense, to receive an update briefing on affairs in the army US, 1986 regroup verb to recover from a surprise or a setback US, 1966 regs noun regulations. Military in origin UK, 1996 regular noun 1 a prisoner who serves his sentence with dignity and strength US, 1974. 2 a skateboarder who skates with the left foot to the front UK, 2004 regular adjective 1 complete; absolute; thorough UK, 1821. 2 kind; decent; honest US, 1946 regular P noun crack cocaine UK, 1998 regulars noun common black ants BARBADOS, 1965 rehab noun rehabilitation (a medical regime for the cure of alcohol and drug addiction); also, the clinic or hospital environment where rehabilitation takes place. Both senses may serve concurrently UK, 1961 rehash verb in the circus or carnival, to resell ticket stubs to patrons and pocket the funds US, 1980

rehitch verb to re-enlist; to re-marry US, 1953 reindeer dust noun any powdered drug; cocaine; heroin. A play on SNOW US, 1942 reject noun a socially inept person; a pathetic individual; a person who does not fit in with the fashionable, trendy majority US, 1968 relate verb to understand; to like or appreciate someone or something. A quintessential, over-used vague verb of the 1960s US, 1959 relay spot noun a room with a telephone used to relay calls placing bets in a bookmaking operation US, 1973 release noun in the coded language of massage parlours, ejaculation. A 2002 Incident Report from the Sausalito (California) Police Department describes the activities at a local massage parlour as follows: 'Every massage ends with some type of "release" (orgasm). The release is accomplished by the employee masturbating the client to an orgasm' US, 2002 release verb ► release a chocolate hostage to defecate UK, 2002.

► release the hounds to defecate US, 2003

relievers noun shoes US, 1962 re-light noun a cigarette butt retrieved and smoked US, 1996 religious issue noun in computing, a topic that is bound to launch an endless debate which cannot be resolved US, 1991 rellie noun a relation, a relative AUSTRALIA, 1981

rello; relo noun a relative AUSTRALIA, 1987

reload verb to give the victim of a confidence trick or fraudulent gambling game a false sense of confidence, then cheat the by-now willing victim of all he or she possesses UK, 1977

rels noun relatives AUSTRALIA, 1991

Rembrandt noun in poker, a hand of face cards US, 1988 remf noun a soldier assigned to a combat support role. Acronym of a 'rear-echelon motherfucker' US, 1982

Remington warrior noun a rear support troop. Named after the Remington typewriter, the 'warrior's weapon' US, 1990

remish noun remission (of a prison sentence) UK, 1958 remodel verb in car repair, to damage a vehicle or part severely US, 1992

remould noun a sex-change operation UK, 2002

Ren and Stimpy noun the female breasts. Ren and Stimpy are shamelessly gross cartoon characters created by John Kricfalusi, first seen in 1991 UK, 2001

Ren Cen nickname the Renaissance Center in Detroit, Michigan. An expensive, bold and risky attempt to revive the dying Detroit central district in the 1970s US, 2003 rendered adjective drunk UK, 2002 renk adjective impudent; offhand; rude; yobbish. Variation of 'rank' (offensive) JAMAICA, 1994

Reno noun in bar dice games, two dice that add up to seven US, 1976

renob noun a person who acts foolishly US, 2001 rent noun 1 a youthful, attractive homosexual male prostitute UK, 1967. 2 road tax. Motor trade slang UK, 2004. ► up me for the rent! used to register pleasurable astonishment AUSTRALIA, 1971 renta- prefix hired, rented. In commercial usage often used to create a company name, for instance: 'Rentacar' (examples found in Australia, Ireland, Spain, UK, US) and 'Rentavan' (examples found in Australia, Ireland, Mexico, UK). Both 'rentacar' and 'rentavan' are also used informally of a hired vehicle. Other use is often derogatory: 'rentacrowd' (a hired clique), 'rentamob' (a crowd assembled at political demonstration) and 'rentamouth' (a speaker for hire) US, 1921 rent-a-cop noun a private security guard. A tad disparaging US, 1968 rent-a-gob noun a citizens' band radio user who chats on a channel reserved for making contact; a person who talks too much and to little effect UK, 1981 rental units noun parents. From PARENTAL UNITS, a neat pun describing parental worth from a youth perspective US, 1996

Rent-a-Svend nickname Canadian politician Svend Robinson, the first openly gay, New Democratic member of Parliament. The controversial Svend Robinson has drawn criticism for his espousal of unpopular causes, such as the Palestinian side in the Arab-Israeli war and gay rights CANADA, 2002 rent-a-tile noun dancing very closely, barely moving your feet TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, 1993 rent boy noun a young male prostitute UK, 1969 renter noun a homosexual male prostitute UK, 1893 rent party noun a party thrown for the purpose of collecting donations from friends to pay your rent US, 1925 rents noun parents. Teen slang that cuts parents down to size US, 1968 renzos noun Lorenzo™ decorative wheel rims US, 1993 reo noun 1 a reinforcement AUSTRALIA, 1931. 2 a difficult surfing manoeuvre on the breaking lip of a wave. An abbreviation of 're-entry' US, 1988 rep noun 1 reputation US, 1705. 2 a repetition, or complete cycle of an exercise US, 1984. 3 a repertory theatre or theatre company; a repertoire US, 1925. 4 in prison, a written representation UK, 2002. 5 a representative, often a travelling salesman UK, 1896. 6 a repellent UK, 1995 rep verb 1 to represent someone; to give someone a reputation UK, 2002. 2 to work as a representative of a company UK, 1938

Repat noun 1 the Repatriation Commission which gave assistance to ex-service personnel returning to civilian life AUSTRALIA, 1920. 2 a hospital for repatriated service personnel AUSTRALIA, 1968 repeater noun in horse racing, a horse that won the last race it entered US, 1974

repo noun repossession US, 1971

repo depot noun the Replacement Detachment of any large military force or installation US, 1968 repo man noun an agent of a finance company who repossesses, by an assortment of techniques, cars which have not been paid for. From 'repossess' US, 1984 repple-depple noun a replacement depot where soldiers arriving in Vietnam were assigned to units and soldiers leaving Vietnam were processed for homecoming US, 1945 reppoc; reppock noun a police officer. Back slang for COPPER UK, 1996 represent verb 1 to serve as a pimp for a prostitute US, 1991. 2 to project a positive image and attitude US, 1997 reptile noun a railway pointsman US, 1977

Republic of Mali noun cocaine. Rhyming slang for CHARLIE (cocaine) UK, 2003 re-rub noun a re-mixed dance music recording UK, 2002 res noun 1 a resident physician in a hospital US, 1994. 2 a dormitory or residence at a university or college CANADA, 2001. 3 the oily residue in a pipe after crack cocaine has been smoked US, 1992 resemble verb to resent. Usually in the jocular 'I resemble that remark' UK, 1984 resin noun cannabis resin UK, 1996 respec; respect; respeek; rispeck used for registering approval of someone's action or attitude. An abbreviation in all variant spellings of 'respect due'; occasionally ironic. Originally West Indian and UK black UK, 1994 respect due used for registering approval of someone's action or attitude. Originally West Indian and UK black UK, 1998

ressie noun a resident DJ UK, 2001 rest noun ► give it a rest to stop talking, especially to stop talking about a specific topic. Often as an imperative UK, 1984 rest verb ► rest your mouth to stop talking BAHAMAS, 1982. ► rest your neck to stop talking US, 1989 rest cure noun in the car sales business, sending a car into the shop while the customer waits and then returning it, claiming that work which has not been done has been done US, 1953 resting adjective of an actor, unemployed. Originally positive thinking, now arch UK, 1999 rest in peace noun crack cocaine. Imagery of death. UK, 2003 restroom noun a brakevan (caboose) US, 1977 result noun 1 the winning score in a sporting contest; a victory in any sport. Conventionally 'result' means 'outcome', hence a 'good result'; this usage clips and implies the positive adjective, exclusively acquiring the result for victors and so denying losers any achievement UK, 1981. 2 a satisfying or appropriate outcome; an achievement UK, 1973. 3 a successful or profitable robbery UK, 1998. 4 an arrest or a criminal conviction UK, 2004 ret noun a cigarette US, 1971 retail action noun recreational shopping US, 1997 retail therapy noun shopping when considered as an empowering leisure activity US, 1986 retard noun a slow, dim-witted person. From 'mentally retarded', but not necessarily indicative of actual mental retardation US, 1970 retarded adjective 1 stupid, foolish US, 2003. 2 drunk US, 2003. 3 in Quebec, delayed, late CANADA, 2001 retardo noun a mentally challenged person US, 1981 retread noun 1 in the military: a short-service officer on a second commission; a retired officer recalled to service; a retired officer re-employed as a civilian in an administrative post; an officer who has been promoted from the ranks; an aviator returned to flying duties after a period of ground service. The origin is in the new life given to a tyre by the application of a new tread; there is also a pun on 'retired/re-tyred'. The earliest use is for a World War 1 veteran recalled to serve in World War 2 AUSTRALIA, 1943. 2 a recently divorced person US, 1985 retread verb in the language surrounding the Grateful Dead, to tape over a tape that has been recorded once US, 1994

retriever noun a prisoner who intimidates other prison inmates for the purpose of 'retrieving' drugs that those inmates are suspected of carrying UK, 1996 retro verb to return something or someone from Antarctica to the country of origin. An abbreviation of 'retrograde' ANTARCTICA, 2003 retrosexual noun a heterosexual man who enjoys traditional male pastimes and spends as little time and money as possible on his appearance. A play on METROSEXUAL (a man with aesthetic tastes), suggesting a throwback to an earlier type US, 2004

rette noun a cigarette US, 1997 reunion in my bureau noun in Quebec, a meeting in my office. Both 'reunion' and 'bureau' are used in their French sense in English in Montreal CANADA, 2001 re-up verb to replenish a stack of something; to re-supply something; to re-sign or re-enlist. Originally a military slang term for re-enlisting US, 1906

rev verb to leave, to go US, 1952

RevCan noun Revenue Canada, the federal tax collection agency CANADA, 2002 revenge of the cradle; revenge of the nursery noun Quebec's high birthrate, perceived as being in retaliation for the loss of the province to England by France CANADA, 1964 revenoo; revenuer; revenooer noun a federal law enforcement official. Used by those in the illegal production of alcohol US, 1974

Reverend Ronald Knox; the Reverend; the Right Reverend noun syphilis; hence any sexually transmitted infection. Rhyming slang for POX, formed from the Catholic priest and detective storywriter, 1888–1957 UK, 1980 reverse adjective ► reverse gears to vomit US, 1989 reverse cowgirl noun a sexual position in which the woman straddles the prone man, facing his feet US, 1991 reverse o noun a position for mutual, simultaneous oral sex between two people, or the act itself, especially when advertised as a service offered by a prostitute UK, 2003 rev-head noun a motor vehicle enthusiast AUSTRALIA, 1987 revolt of the admirals noun a highly public clash between the US Navy and the US Air Force in 1949 over basing of the country's strategic airpower US, 1949 rev up and fuck off go away and don't annoy me; don't annoy me IRELAND, 1991 rewind noun in trucking, a return trip US, 1977 rex noun a (small) quantity of money IRELAND, 1989

Rexall ranger noun someone who wears cowboy clothes but has never worked on a ranch. Rexall is a chain drugstore, giving a touch of specificity to the more common DRUGSTORE COWBOY US, 1970 rez noun a Native American Indian reservation US, 1998

RF verb to play a prank. An abbreviation of RATFUCK US, 1965

RFB noun room, food and beverage – the basic components of a complimentary pass at a casino or hotel US, 1996

RG noun in homosexual usage, a biological female. A fellow homosexual is a GIRL, while a woman is a 'real girl', or RG US, 1971 rhine noun heroin. Probably by abbreviation of a particular pronunciation UK, 1998 rhino noun 1 money UK, 1688. 2 a large and powerful wave US, 1991 rhino chaser noun a large surfboard made for big-wave conditions US, 1987

RHIP rank has its privileges US, 1968

Rhodey noun a white Zimbabwean. Derogatory. A reference to Rhodesia, the country which became Zimbabwe in 1980 SOUTH AFRICA, 2000

rhody; rhodie noun a rhododendron UK, 1851 rhubarb noun 1 nonsense. From its use by actors as an 'unintelligible murmur' UK, 1963. 2 said repeatedly by muttering actors to give the impression of background conversations; hence, spoken nonsense. Theatre slang UK, 1934. 3 a fight, an uproar; a riot US, 1943. 4 an advance of wages, a loan; as 'rhubarbs': a membership subscription. Rhyming slang, pronounced 'roobub', for SUB (a subscription) UK, 1929 rhubarb and custard noun a variety of MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy. From the red and yellow colour of the pill; the syllable 'barb' is possibly an indication that the tablet contains barbiturate UK, 1996 rhubarb pill; rhubarb noun a bill (for payment). Rhyming slang, based on a homeopathic remedy for constipation; noted by Julian Franklyn, A Dictionary of Rhyming Slang, 1960, who suspected (or perpetrated) the pun 'that both necessitate an outpouring' UK, 1998 rhubarbs noun 1 suburbs. Rhyming slang, pronounced 'roobubs', formed on an elision of 'suburbs' UK, 1960. 2 a variety of LSD UK, 1996 rhyme off verb to recite; to talk. From Scottish dialect rame (to talk nonsense; to reiterate) UK: SCOTLAND, 2000 rhythm noun an amphetamine tablet US, 1993 rhythm and blues; rhythms noun shoes. Rhyming slang UK, 1998 rhythm method noun a method of cheating while playing a slot machine by controlling the spins of the inner-wheels. Playing on the name of the least successful method of birth control US, 1977 riah noun the hair. Polari back slang UK, 1967 riah zhoocher; riah shusher noun a hairdresser. A combination of ZHOOSH (to tidy) with RIAH (the hair) UK, 2002

riah-zshumpah noun a hairdresser UK, 1992 rib noun 1 a wife or girlfriend. From the Biblical creation tale, with Eve springing from Adam's rib UK, 1589. 2 Rohypnol™ (flunitrazepam), popularly known as the 'date-rape drug' US, 1995. 3 MDMA, the recreational drug best known as ecstasy UK, 2003 rib verb 1 to make fun of someone US, 1930. 2 to insult someone in a semi-formal quasi-friendly competition. A variation of 'rib' (to tease) US, 2000 ribbon and curl noun a girl. Rhyming slang UK, 1992 ribbon clerk noun a poker player who withdraws from a hand at any sign of serious betting US, 1988 ribena on toast adjective awful; tasteless; in bad taste. Possibly a literal translation of a bad taste; coinage is credited to ballet master David Kerr UK, 1992 ribtapper noun a heavy-duty boot UK: SCOTLAND, 1988

Rican noun a Puerto Rican US, 1975 rice noun effort. Royal Marine slang UK, 1989 rice-and-peas boongy noun large buttocks, especially those of a woman BAHAMAS, 1998 rice-and-ring verb to get married US, 1947 rice-a-roni noun in necrophile usage, a badly decomposed corpse. A comparison to the branded soft-boiled rice product US, 1987 rice bandit noun a Japanese person. Offensive AUSTRALIA, 1995 rice belly noun the protruding stomach of a child GUAYANA, 1996 rice-burner noun a Japanese car or motorcycle UK, 1979 rice eye noun a Japanese person. Hawaiian youth usage, especially in the taunt 'No lie, rice eye' US, 1982 rice machine noun a car manufactured in Japan or by a Japanese manufacturer US, 1993 riceman noun a Chinese person. Offensive US, 1945 rice paddy Hattie noun any rural Chinese prostitute US, 1949 rice queen noun a gay man attracted to men of South Asian origin US, 1972 ricer noun a person from South Asia. Offensive US, 1980 rice rocket noun a motorcycle made by a Japanese manufacturer. Offensive US, 1993

Richard noun 1 any police official, especially a detective. An embellished DICK US, 1950. 2 the penis. An extension of DICK (the penis), which is the short form of the first name Richard UK, 2001.

► had the Richard to be ruined or irreparably broken; to be finished. In the Australian National Dictionary it is claimed that this is from British rhyming slang 'Richard the Third' (the bird), from theatrical slang 'to get the bird' (to get a bad reception on stage), but there is little semantic overlap to warrant this explanation. Rather if something has 'had the dick' then it is 'fucked', and therein lies the metaphor. Richard here is merely euphemistic for DICK (the penis). Supporting this explanation are the other variants HAD THE STICK, HAD THE ROD and of course HAD THE DICK AUSTRALIA, 1967

Richard and Judy adjective moody. Rhyming slang, formed from husband and wife television presenters Richard Madeley and Judy Finnegan UK, 2004

Richard Burton noun a curtain. Theatrical rhyming slang, formed from the name of the Welsh actor, 1925–84 UK, 1992

Richard the Third; Richard noun 1 a young woman; a sweetheart. Rhyming slang for BIRD UK, 1950. 2 a bird. Rhyming slang; originally recorded in Songs and Slang of the British Soldier, John Brophy and Eric Partridge, 1930. In theatrical use as THE BIRD (a farting noise masquerading as criticism) UK, 1979. 3 a piece of excrement. Rhyming slang for TURD UK, 1961

Richard Todd noun a portion of fried cod. Rhyming slang formed on the name of the British actor (b.1919) UK, 1992

Richibucto goose noun a salted shad. Named after a town in Nova Scotia CANADA, 1939 rich man's drug noun cocaine. Because of its high cost. Although the phrase sounds a bit literary, it was used by those without any particular literary background US, 1972 rick noun 1 a mistake. Probably a shortening of RICKET (a mistake) UK, 1991. 2 an accomplice who pretends to be a client in order to encourage trade, originally used of a cheapjack or showman, later of a less than scrupulous bookmaker UK, 1898 rick adjective fake; spurious. From the noun UK, 1967 rick; ric verb to make a mistake. From RICK (a mistake) UK, 1996

ricket noun a mistake UK, 1958. ► drop a ricket to make a mistake UK, 1998

rickety-raw adjective attractive, fashionable US, 1987

Rick Stein noun a fine. Rhyming slang, formed from the name of the UK television chef (b.1947) UK, 2004

Rick Witter noun a shitter (in all senses). Rhyming slang, formed from the lead singer of Shed Seven UK, 2003

Ricky Martin; Ricky noun a side-parting. Popney rhyming slang, from popular singer Ricky Martin (b.1971). Popney was contrived for www.music365.co.uk, an Internet music site UK, 2001

Ricky Racer noun a fanatic mountain bike enthusiast who rarely if ever rides US, 1997 ricky-ticky; ricky-tick adjective used of a jazz rhythm, old-fashioned, even, boring US, 1952 rid verb ► rid a fit to get rid of an outfit of clothes US, 1994 riddle verb in Newfoundland, to weave up-and-down rods between rails to make a fence CANADA, 1966 riddle-me-ree noun urine; an act of urination. Rhyming slang for PEE or WEE; always used in full to avoid confusion with other slang, such as JIMMY RIDDLE or PIDDLE UK, 1992 riddle me this, Batman answer this question. From the Batman television series (1966–68) and one of its arch-villains, The Riddler US, 1993 riddy noun (as a result of embarrassment) a red face. Glasgow slang UK: SCOTLAND, 1985 ride noun 1 a car US, 1930. 2 a person who you are counting on to drive you somewhere US, 2001. 3 a sexually desirable person. From RIDE (to have sex) UK, 2002. 4 an act of sexual intercourse UK, 1937. 5 a companion, especially a companion who is a fellow gang member US, 1981. 6 a criminal enterprise US, 1995. 7 a style of jazz music with an easy-going rhythm US, 1930. ► get a ride in circus and carnival usage, to receive unfavourable publicity US, 1981 ride verb 1 to have sex. Usually from the female perspective US, 1994. 2 (used of a lesbian) to straddle your prone partner, rubbing your genitals together US, 1967. 3 to engage in sycophantic flattery US, 1988. 4 to irritate or worry someone US, 1918. 5 to play jazz with an easy-moving rhythm US, 1929. ► let it ride 1 in gambling, to continue a bet from one play to another, increasing the bet with winnings US, 1980. 2 to tolerate something; to take no action about something UK, 1921. ► ride a beef to accept a charge for a crime that you did not commit US, 1967. ► ride a g-string; ride in a g-string to drive a BMW car. Scanto youth street slang (South African townships) SOUTH AFRICA, 2005. ► ride a pony to cheat on a test in college or school US, 1959. ► ride bitch to sit in the middle of the front seat in a pickup truck, between the driver and another passenger US, 1992. ► ride dirty to drive under the influence of alcohol US, 2001. ► ride ghost to drive at night without headlights US, 1995. ► ride it to endure or cope with imprisonment UK, 1996.

► ride it a treat in horse racing, to ride a skilled and intelligent race AUSTRALIA, 1989. ► ride old smokey to be executed by electrocution US, 1950. ► ride rubber to ride in a car US, 1981.

► ride Santa's sleigh to use cocaine. A phrase that combines SNOW as 'cocaine' with 'flying' as 'intoxication' UK, 2001. ► ride shotgun 1 to act as a security or military escort. From the time when stage coaches carrying valuables were protected by a man carrying a shotgun who sat on top of the coach alongside the driver UK, 1979. 2 to be prepared for any eventuality in business US, 1974. 3 to travel in the passenger seat US, 1921. 4 to oversee and control someone with a firm hand US, 1972. ► ride the broom to threaten someone; to predict harm US, 1990. ► ride the bubbles in hot rodding and drag racing, to rise slightly off the ground as a result of aerodynamics US, 1965. ► ride the bus to defecate US, 1990. ► ride the card to ride a winner on every race at a race meeting AUSTRALIA, 1984. ► ride the circuit to move someone who has been arrested from stationhouse to stationhouse, making his timely release difficult US, 1949. ► ride the cotton pony; ride the cotton horse to experience the bleed period of the menstrual cycle. This 'cotton pony' is a 'sanitary towel' US, 1954.

► ride the grub line to travel and survive by scrounging food wherever it can be found CANADA, 1987. ► ride the Hershey Highway to engage in anal sex US, 1989. ► ride the lightning to be put to death by electrocution US, 1935. ► ride the pine to sit on the sidelines of an athletic contest as a substitute player US, 1938. ► ride the pipe to pilot a jet after engine failure. Korean war usage US, 1991. ► ride the red tide to experience the bleed period of the menstrual cycle US, 1999. ► ride the short bus to be mentally deficient. From the literally short bus that special education students use in the US US, 1995. ► ride the showing to tour an area evaluating billboards for potential advertising use US, 1980. ► ride the sick book to feign illness; to malingering US, 1968. ► ride the silver steed to participate in bismuth subcarbonate and neoarsphenamine therapy for syphilis US, 1981. ► ride the splinters to sit on the sidelines of an athletic contest as a substitute player. The 'splinters' are an allusion to the bench which the substitute 'warms' or 'rides' US, 1949. ► ride the turtles to drive on the raised reflective road markers that delineate motorway lanes US, 1997. ► ride the white horse to experience euphoria after using heroin US, 1955. ► ride the wire to travel by tram US, 1970 ride along verb in poker, to remain in a game without betting because you have bet your entire bankroll on the hand US, 1967 ride and a rasher noun sexual intercourse followed by breakfast IRELAND, 1999 ride man; ride jock; ride monkey noun the operator of a carnival amusement ride US, 1985 ride out noun a group motor-scooter excursion UK, 2001 ride out verb to depart. Used by London teenagers in the late 1950s. UK, 1958

